They were the Florida State Federation of Colored Womens' Club; Benevolent Fund District, Grand Lodge Number Seven, Grand United Order of Odd Fellows of N.C., Raleigh, N.C.; Edward Cross, Orange, N.J.; Professor S. Ralph Harlow, Oak Bluffs, Mass.; Myron E. Halpern, Boston, Mass.; and Dr. George Cannon, New York.

Dr. George W. Gore Jr. Reveals:

TEACHERS' TENURE

FAMU President Heard In Vital Address At ATA

National Meeting of Educators From Many States Gets Important Data On Plans Made For Change-over To Integrated Schools; Voluntary Continuation of Some Separate Schools Explained Veteran Teacher of Baltimore

Colored teachers who have enlisted as members of the National Education Association (NEA) will get the benefit of the powerful "Defense Commission" of this the world's greatest organization of teachers in cases where they are discriminated against in the matter of their right to hold their positions as teachers in the integrated school systems of the country.

This was the assurance given teachers attending the 51st annual session of the American Teachers Association this week by Dr. George W. Gore, Jr., native Nashvillian, former dean of Tennessee A&I State College and now president of Florida A&M University.

Dr. Gore is a member of the NEA Defense Commission, having been chosen to that high position following his retirement from the vice presidency of the NEA, to which he was elected two years ago. Dr. Gore was one of the speakers at the symposium hour of Monday morning when the ATA heard several addresses advising the members what to expect and "how to behave" as the nation gets ready to implement the epoch-making U. S. Supreme Court decision of last May 17, when the great tribunal outlawed compulsory racial segregation in public schools.

Dr. Gore did not look through rose-tinted glasses and see the integration of colored school teachers and principals as something that would come to pass as a matter of course. He was frank in stating that the NEA is expecting the Defense Commission to have the matter of protecting colored teachers in their just demands as the principal problem with which the commission will have to deal with in the near future, although problems outside of the realm of racial discrimination will also be of concern to the commission.

It was stated that the commission has a fund of $190,000 with which to make its appeal for just treatment of NEA members of both races. The commission also is alerted to unjust attacks on public education and to the need to promote real academic freedom and support the demand for Federal Aid to Education on a fair basis.

Persons who have been reading and listening to political speeches by the Hon. Gordon Browning of Tennessee, in which the former governor has been saying he will "find a way" to preserve the pattern of white and colored schools legally in Tennessee, may have gotten a tip-off as to how this will be carried out in some southern states and communities at least.

Dr. Miles W. Conner, a veteran educator of Baltimore gave an interesting talk on how they are going ahead with "integrating" in that city, which he says has the largest array of separate schools of any city in the nation. Dr. Conner stated that it was after the assignment of teachers in Baltimore had been made for the next school year that City Superintendent John A. Fisher called all of his teachers together and requested their help in promoting integration in Baltimore, ahead of any directive that would come from the State Board of Education, which is waiting until the Supreme Court hands down its decrees in the fall.

It seems that in Baltimore they are going to put school attendance on a "democratic" basis for the children. Parents will be permitted either to send their children to the school in the immediate neighborhood or get them transferred to another school outside of the neighborhood.

Teachers will be assigned to the various schools on a "democratic" basis, but each teacher after being assigned is to be interviewed to find out if she is ready and willing to teach where she has been assigned. Where it appears the teacher will not be able to do her best work where she has been assigned, she will be transferred to another school more satisfactory to her.

It will be strictly on a voluntary basis, it seems, for pupils as well as for teachers and it does seem that Baltimore will have schools in which white pupils are in the majority and also colored schools where colored pupils predominate.

With "democracy" at work in the matter of assigning pupils and teachers it can be seen that in the Deep South one will hardly notice the difference in the "complexion" of pupils and teachers under the new arrangements. But, everything will be carried out on a voluntary basis.

This idea already has been advertised as the plan Mississippi was going to put into operation and the white authorities have already predicted that "volunteering" would be carried out on a wholesale basis, without any friction whatever.

It would seem however, that it will be the "Baltimore Plan" rather than the "Mississippi Plan" that voluntary separated schools will be known by in the not too distant future.

It was predicted by Dr. Conner that persons who elect to pay bus fares to send their children to schools outside of their particular zones will probably soon tire of the extra expense and begin sending pupils to the school in walking distance of the pupils. Dr. Conner was confident that this "democratic" arrangement would not be carried out by the authorities in any spirit of racial discrimination because his city, he stated, has a very vigilant NAACP that would be continually on guard to prevent it.

Another speaker on the Monday morning program was Mrs. Bonita Valien of the department of social studies at Fisk University. She based her belief on the security of colored teachers on the fact that school population will be the same after integration as before and all of the present teachers will be needed, as in the past. Mrs. Valien's "citations" to support her views were what have been reported from states "out West." Out there integration has been carried out without any trouble whatever, she assured her audience.

Mrs. Valien also made an objective review of the book by Harry Ashmore which deals with separate schools and which has been the subject of articles published in the daily newspapers.

Mrs. Valien did mention the fact that there were some superintendents who have discouraged colored teachers seeking "more education" and held this was for the purpose of not letting them get ahead of white teachers in training for the teaching jobs.

Teachers Plan For Integration

MONTGOMERY — More than 2,000 members of the American Teachers Association are expected to attend the 51st annual convention of the association when it convenes in Nashville, Tenn., July 25-27 to map plans for public school integration.

The convention will hold forth on the campus of Tennessee State A & I university. Its theme will be "Preparing for De-segregation."

In its last report several weeks ago the ATA membership was reportedly over the 16,000 mark. At its last annual convention at Orangeburg, S. C., the association made a $5,000 contribution to the legal defense fund of the NAACP.

Among officers of the ATA expected to attend the annual confab are:

Gerard Anderson, Florence, S. C., president; Mrs. Lillian Rogers Johnson, Clarksdale, Miss., vice president; Dr. H. Councill executive secretary: Dr. Howard H. Long, Wilberforce, Ohio, treasurer; C. L. Harper, Atlanta, Ga., executive committee; Dr. Miles W. Connor, Baltimore, Maryland, and George Key, Chattanooga, Tenn., board of trustees; J. T. Brooks, Montgomery, Ala., regional vice president; and Dr. Robert C. Hatch, Montgomery, Ala., past president.

tion was held on the campuses of Benedict College and Allen University here June 20-21.

The general theme of the convention was "the Responsibility of Educational Forces in an Integrated Society."

Speaking before an audience of over 800 delegates and summer school students of the Benedict-Allen summer school in Antisdel Chapel June 21, Dr. Alfonso Elder, presider of North Carolina College at Durham, admonished the teachers to move enthusiastically behind the U.S. Supreme Court's ban against segregated schools and to work for "the principle of nonsegregation" in all areas of living.

He pointed out that colored educators should take "high ground positions" in working for race integration.

Fight Jim-Crow Housing

Areas in which education can take the lead in the fight for integration were listed by the president as a better understanding between white and colored teachrs, pupils and parents.

Dr. Elder also stressed the need for educators to put forth more effort in erasing segregated housing conditions.

We "should understand that residential segregation perpetuates educational segregation, that educational segregation in turn promotes social prejudices and that social prejudices lead to further insistence upon residential segregation," Dr. Elder laxity in professional progress. Dr. Elder said that the court decision removed "the use of segregation as an excuse for inferior work."

"There is no longer any justification for those who have been inclined to relax in the quality of their performance because they were forever bound, they thought, to operate in a segregated situation," he declared.

The first general session was held in Allen University Auditorium on Sunday evening with Dr. Walter N. Ridley, chairman of the department of psychology, Virginia State College, Petersburg, as speaker.

Dr. Ridley spoke on "How To Meet the Demands of an Integrated Society in a Changing World." He pointed out that "we must understand man's real nature" and "we must have faith in the part that a minority can play in building the moral fabric in a democracy."

'Liberty Is Not Freedom'

The audience was admonished to note the difference between freedom and liberty. "The slaves had liberty when they were emancipated, but they soon found that they did not have freedom to work, to move and to enjoy rights in a democracy." said Dr. Ridley.

Dr. Ridley said, "We must realize our responsibilities in an integrating society by being willing to stand up and be counted for what is right."

On Monday, a symposium was held on "Facing The Real Issues of an Integrated Society."

Participants were Dr. Joseph H. Taylor, North Carolina College at Durham; Dr. Henderson Davis, Allen University; Elliott Palmer, president of Student ing officer, was re-elected vice president for 1954-55.

Miss Hazel Clarke, department of commerce, North Carolina College at Durham, was recommended as secretary. The 1955 convention will be held at St. Paul Polytechnic Institute, Lawrenceville, Va.

ATA Has Fifth Woman Pres.

MONTGOMERY, Ala —When the Executive Committee of The American Teachers Association meets here in Montgomery at its Executive Office in the Alabama State Association Building on Wednesday, September 1, to begin officially its 1954-55 ATA fiscal year, its administration direction will be placed in the hands of the fifth woman president which NATCSAT has had in its 51 year of operation.

Chosen at the recent convention at Nashville to serve as president for the ensuing ATA year is Mrs. Lillian Rogers Johnson, a Jeanes Supervisor for Coahoma County with headquarters at Clarksdale, Mississippi. Mrs Johnson has served president of the Mississippi Teachers Association.

Preceding her as presidents of this national association have been Dr Mary McLeod Bethune of Florida in 1924, Miss Fannie C Williams of Louisiana in 1931, the late Mrs. Willa Carter Burch of the District of Columbia in 1937 and Miss Mary L Williams of West Virginia for the four year period of 1941-44.

To be associated with Mrs. Johnson will be Mr. Elmer T. Hawkins of Maryland as General Vice President, Dr. H Councill Trenholm of Alabama as Executive Secretary, Dr Howard H. Long of Ohio as Treasurer and Dr Miles W. Connor of Maryland as Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Mr. Gerard A. Anderson of South Caolina is completing the now statutory one year term as ATA president and presided at the recent 51st ATA convention at Tennessee A and I State University

ATA gives NAACP $19,000 in 16 years

MONTGOMERY, Ala.— The American Teachers Association brought its total contributions to NAACP up to $19,000 through its annual contributions which was received in person by Thurgood Marshall at its recent convention in Nashville.

Sixteen years ago at its convention held at Tuskegee, the ATA authorized that one tenth of its membership income would be donated annually to the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund.

Each year the ATA has contributed this allotment which has grown as its annual membership has increased. In 1953 at Orangeburg, an extra $3,400 was contributed to make the total $5,000 in recognition of the special needs of the fund.

Courier Poll:

U. S. Teachers Vote 'Yes' On Integration

EDITOR'S NOTE: America knows that school integration is the law of the land! It became so at 12:51 P. M. on the afternoon of Monday, May 17, 1954 . . . when Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Earl Warren read his now famous unanimous opinion, outlawing the practice.

How do Negro teachers in the South feel? The following poll story gives the "lie" to the Talmadge-Byrnes contention that Negroes . . . and Negro teachers . . . don't want integration.

Alex Rivera, an expert in this field, tells the story as "told to him" in this remarkable article.

By A. M. RIVERA JR.

NASHVILLE, Tenn.— sociation began its second with a future as bright as

The American Teachers As half-century here last week the face of a first-grader on his first day in school.

The ATA adopted resolutions urging its membership to comply actively with and seek the immediate implementation of the May 17

U. S. Supreme Court decision.

Replying to the basic question of a Courier three-query questionaire, "Do you favor integration?" 182 of the 300 assembled teachers participated in the survey. Of those voting, 173 voted in favor of integration, three or 1.6 per cent voted against it and three were undecided whether they wanted it or not.

* * *

Thus 95.1 per cent of the assembled teachers, representing 16,500 teachers from

Teachers urged to push integration

North Carolina College head talks at Region 3 convention

COLUMBIA, S.C.—The annual convention of Region Three of the American Teachers Associadeclared.

Raise Professional Standards

Warning the teachers against

Government North Carolina College at Durham and Dr. Frank A. De Costa, State A & M College, Orangeburg, S.C.

Dr. Speigner Presides

Dr. Thodore R. Speigner, vice president, Region 3, ATA director of the division of resource-use education, North Carolina College at Durham and presid-seventeen Southern and border states, made false the prosegregationists' assertion that Negroes don't want integrated schools.

Response to the second question, "Do you feel that the U. S. Supreme Court's decision jeopardizes the Negro teacher's job," was both significant and revealing. Of the 182 who filled out the questionnaire, four did not answer this question, seven were undecided and ten were of the opinion that the decision did jeopardize the jobs of the Negro teacher. Contrary to the sputterings of Southern politicians 161 or 85.5 per cent of the voting teachers expressed no concern about prospective loss of jobs in the face of impending integration.

In reply to the third question, "Do you think that Negro children will be unhappy in integrated schools?" It was shown that whereas 82.4 per cent of the respondents felt that Negro children would not be unhappy in schools with white children, the feeling was that the bigger adjustment would have to be made at the high school level. This is believed to reflect the result of parental indoctrination and feelings about peer culture.

* * *

MRS. LILLIAN R. JOHNSON, of Clarksdale, Miss., newly elected president of the ATA, said in an interview, "Competent Negro teachers will find jobs where school systems are integrated . . . however, Negro teachers place the welfare of colored people above their jobs."

Quite mindful that practical considerations influence that in which a man believes and that for which a man stands, Mrs. Johnson expressed the belief that "If our teachers were faced with the choice of losing jobs in integrated systems they would place the advancement of the race above their self-interest."

Sensing the fact that perhaps the greatest human story of a race of people is mixed up in the varying and contradictory reports that are being published about the attitude of Negroes toward this threshold of a new and different life, the Courier is interested in learning the true feeling of a representative cross-section of Negroes.

There are many questions that in the past few weeks have been passed across the fence by neighbors, by workmen on their jobs, in taverns, on street cars and on street corners, civic clubs, by families around the dinner table, in churches and by just plain people across the width and breadth of this nation.

* * *

MOST OFTEN asked questions, however, involve: (1) the student, and (2) the teacher. Politicians declared even before the decision was announced that the Negro wanted to go to "his own school" and that the "Negro teacher does not want integration," and further that "Negro teachers will lose their jobs in an integrated system."

The Courier prepared a questionnaire which did not require the respondent to give his name, but required him to give his state and such pertinent information which would give educational researchers an insight into factors which might be influential in making a decision.

The poll, which was tacitly approved by the ATA, was not officially sanctioned by the group, but was conducted independently by the Courier.

Some of the participants in the poll, who took time to enlarge upon their views, expressed the general feeling that a period of adjustment will be necessary. One woman answered, "Children will not be unhappy unless the parents or teachers make them so." Another commented, "They get along happily in my backyard. I can't see why the schoolroom would make any difference."

* * *

THE THREE "no" votes to the question, "Do you favor integration?" came one each from Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina. Two of the replies came from women teachers who indicated that their answers were not motivated by any fear of losing jobs or that they felt Negro and white children would not

AT ATA SESSIONS—On hand for the annual meeting of the American Teachers Association at Nashville recently were, left to right, Dr. F. M. Drake, president, Alabama A. and M. College; Dr. W. S. Davis, president, Tennessee State University, host-institution; NAACP legal counselor Thurgood Marshall, and Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president, Morehouse College. During the sessions, the ATA presented the NAACP counselors with a check to be used in furthering the work of the organization.

500 Attend Sessions At Nashville

Dr. Mays, Thurgood Marshall Keynoters, Association Aided

By MABEL B. CROOKS

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — It was a cool, calculating American Teachers Association that met here July 25 - 27, pondered aspects of the Supreme Court's decision, celebrated the 50th anniversary of its founding in Nashville, and gave $1809.90 to the NAACP.

The meeting held at Tennessee State University drew the largest attendance of any ATA meeting in almost two decades. More than 500 delegates and teachers representing 19 states considered approaches and reactions and proposals as to what should be the teacher's attitude to the Supreme Court's decision and suggested plans and proposals. Gerard A. Anderson of South Carolina, president, presided over the sessions.

* * *

DR. BENJAMIN E. Mays, led the consideration of the convention theme speaking on "What Should Be the Teacher's Attitude Toward the Supreme Court Pronouncement." In his keynote address he gave seven attitudes he thought teachers should take toward the pronouncement.

"We should rejoice over the decision," Morehouse College's president emphasized, "because as I see it, it marks one of the fundamental distinctions between a democratic government and a totalitarian government such as Russia...it seems to me that it indicates the genius of American democracy..."

* * *

"OUR ATTITUDE must be one of obedience to the law," Dr. Mays continued. "This is not a local issue. . it is not a decision for Negroes; it is a decision for America. I wish we could take a positive attitude and not a negative one. . .I wish we would assume that if there is a shortage of 75,000 teachers in America. . .that we are not going to need fewer teachers but more teachers. . .that if Negro teachers are comptent, if they have tenure, if they meet the standard of excellence as set by the stat and by the regional board that we will have jobs, and we will have schools in which to teach and students to teach."

The meetings crowning moment was the ATA's presentation to the NAACP of $500 for a life membership and the customary 10 per cent of annual memberships to the legal and educational defense fund, amounting to $1,809.90. The presentation was made to Thurgood Marshall by ATA Trustee C. L. Harper amid the applause of a standing ovation.

* * *

"WHEN THE story of this fight is finally written, one of the most important chapters will deal with the contributions and the co-operation of Negro teacher groups such as ATA," Mr. Marshall said in his acceptance.

"There is no cause for fear or for worry, although the job is a tough one," he counseled as he accepted the contributions. He announced the NAACP's plan to have four give full time to field work in behalf of teachers.

* * *

SYMPOSIUM speakers during the convention were Dr. Walter N. Rialey, NEA-ATA Joint Committee secretary, Virginia State Colleve; Mrs. Bonita Valien, Jr., NEA Defense Commission member and president of Florida A. and M. University; Dr. Miles W. Connor, Coppin State Teachers College president; Mrs. Minnie D. Bell, Washington, D. C.; and George D. Brantly, principal of, Sumner High School, St. Louis.

Other program participants included Dr. George C. Mitchell, director, Southern Regional Council; Miss Mary L. Williams, NEA-ATA committee chairman; Dr. Robert C. Hatch, State Department of Education, Montgomery, Ala.

Major officers elected were: Mrs. Lillian Rogers Johnson, Mississippi, president; Elmer T. Hawkins, Maryland, vice president; Mrs. Minnie D. Bell D. C. and C. L. Harper, Georgia, executive committee; G. A. Key, Tennessee and Dr. J. H. Taylor, N. C., board of trustees; Dr. H. Council Trenholm, Ala., executive secretary; Dr. Howard H. Long Ohio, treasurer.

Top Speakers Here For Meet On Negro Life

Several outstanding speakers and historians, from different parts of the country are in the city this weekend for the annual meeting of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History.

With registration being held all day Friday at the Pine Street YMCA., the first session of the meeting will begin at 10 a. m., Friday, in Room 106, Chouteau at St. Louis University, 3673 West Pine Blvd. 10-29-54

Dr. I. Sobel, of Washington University, will lecture to delegates on the "Present Economic Status of the Negro in the St. Louis Area." He will be followed by Herman Dreer, of Harris Teachers College, speaking on "Joseph E. Mitchell, the Father of a New Era in Politics."

At two o'clock Friday afternoon, delegates will assemble at Harris Teachers College, 5351 Enright Ave., to hear Dr. Ralph Bieber, of Washington University and Dr. Augustus Low from Maryland State College.

IN GOLD RUSH

Dr. Bieber's subject will be "Negroes in the California Gold Rush" and Dr. Low will report on "Substitution of Slavery in Maryland, 1863-1865."

At 8 p. m., at Louderman Hall, Washington University, Dr. Lorenzo Turner of Roosevelt University, will address the delegates on the "Education of Africans South of the Sahara."

A reception in honor of the delegates will be staged at Achievement House, 7[illegible] Vandeventer Place, Friday night at ten o'clock, under the direction of Mrs. J. E. Mitchell, Dr. Lawrence E. Nicholson, and Mrs. Pearl White. Hostesses from local sororities will also be present.

The Saturday program of the Association begins at 10 a. m., with a panel discussion on "The Teaching of Negro History in the Schools".

It will take place at the Public Library, Fourteenth and Olive Streets, in the assembly room.

VARIOUS PANELISTS

Panelists will include Dr. Merl R. Eppse, Tennessee State University; Miss Elsie O. Scott, Vashon High School, moderator; Harvey Jackson, of Detroit, counsellor in the public schools; James Egbert Allen, the public high schools of New York City, and Miss Lucy Turner of East St. Louis.

A business session will be held at two o'clock in the afternoon at the library.

Dr. J. Erroll Miller, of Lincoln University at Jefferson City, will be the main speaker Saturday night at the Lincoln high school in East St. Louis. The program begins at 8:00 p.m., and his subject will be "Changing Status of Negro Suffrage."

An Author's Breakfast, beginning at 9:30 Sunday morning will be hled at the Pine Street YMCA. Dr. Ulysses Lee of Lincoln University will discuss "Some Contemporary Novelists of the Caribbean Islands."

The feature and closing event will be the appearance of Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, Sunday at 4 p.m., at the Pine Street "Y."

Dr. Mays will speak on "Desegregation in Education". The choral groups of Lovejoy High School, Lincoln High School, the Walton Choraliers and the Kingsway Baptist Church will provide music.

Dr. Benjamin Mays Is Guest Speaker For Negro History Association Meet

Argus St. Louis, Mo.

The Association for the study of Negro Life and History has scheduled a three-day meeting here, October 29 through 30, during which a campaign will be launched to raise $2,000 to aid in completion and publication of an Encyclopedia on the Negro.

Observing the 40th Anniversary of the Association, the local committee has lined up several outstanding speakers, among whom is Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College.

Dr. Mays will address the final session of the meeting Sunday, October 31, at the Pine Street YMCA.

Dr. Lorenzo Turner, of Roosevelt University in Chicago, will also speak at a session on "The Education of Africans South of the Sahara." Dr. Turner recently completed a tour of Africa.

Meetings will be held at St. Louis University, Harris Teachers' College, Pine Street "Y" and the Lincoln High School of East St. Louis, Illinois.

The late Dr. Carter G. Woodson, at the time of his death, had spent 25 years gathering data for the proposed encyclopedia. A debt of $40,000, incurred by this work, was partially paid off within a three-year period under the leadership of Dr. Charles H. Wesley, president of Central College at Wilberforce Ohio.

An exhibit, showing achievements of Negro citizens in Missouri, is currently on display at the Central Public Library.

All sessions of the Association meetings are free.

American Negro History

This month, October 29 to 31, the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History will observe its Fortieth anniversary in St. Louis. Argus

An impressive program has been scheduled by the local committee, one which should attract a number of people to all sessions. p. 14

The committee is hoping that the St Louis meeting will help in the raisng of $2000 to help liquidate an Association debt incurred in the gathering of data for an Encyclopedia on the Negro.

Such a work is sorely needed in this land to aid in the program of human relations education which public school integration has popularized in the last few weeks. In St State where such significant events have taken place in the fight for equality it would be no more than proper that the Association find succor.

Here is a program in which even school children can lend considerable support financially and through encouraging their parents to take part in the observance.

The contribution of the Negro American to the development of this powerful nation has too long been camouflaged. This encyclopedia would place before the public information of tremendous value in offsetting the stereotypes so prevalent among both Negro and white regarding our contribution to this democracy.

Watch the newspapers for the announcements and go out to hear from men who know just how great is our heritage.

Speaker Says:

Argus Editor Founded New Political Era Here

Argus St. Louis, Mo.

Herman Dreer, of Harris Teachers' College, addressing a session of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History meeting here last week-end, called the late Joseph E. Mitchell, founder of the St. Louis Argus, "the father of a new era in politics for the Negro in St. Louis."

The speaker traced Mr. Mitchell's activities in the political world from 1916, when the Citizens Liberty League was founded, through 1921, crediting the well-known publisher as the outstanding force in bringing about a change from the old era of Negroes laboring solely for appointive positions to obtaining elective offices.

On the same program Dr. L. Symington Curtis, of Harris Teachers' College, reviewed the contributions of Negroes in local history. Dr. Irving Sobel, of Washington University, spoke on the present economic status of the Negro in St. Louis.

Dreer said Mitchell was responsible for the election of several Negroes to political positions which they had not previously held. According to Dreer, Charles E. Turpin, an elected constable, was inspired to enter the political race by Mitchell, and Walthal Moore, first Negro legislator of Missouri, was coached by the editor during his campaign.

Other speakers appearing before delegates to the Association meeting included Dr. Benjamin Mays, president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga.; Dr. Charles Wesley, president of Central State College, and president of the National Association for the Study of Negro Life and History; Dr. H. C. Prenholm, president, Alabama State College; Dr. Merle Eppse, A. & I. State College, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. Harvey Jackson, Detroit; Dr. Norman Walton, Alabama State College; Mrs. Troos Lattimer, Professor, Albany State College, Albany, Ga.; Dr. L. A. Thorpe, Alabama A. & M. College; Dr. Benjamin Quarrel, Morgan College, Baltimore, Md.; Dr. Henry Cobb, Florida A. & M. College; Dr. Hugh Roberts, Va. State College; Prof. Charles H. Hayes, Talledega College; Albert Brooks, principal of Patterson Junior High School, Washington, D.C., treasurer of the Association and editor of the Negro History Bulletin; G. Arnett Lindsey, Washington, D.C.; Dr. C. A. Bacote, Atlanta University; Dr. T. E. Wilson, Morris Brown College; Dr. J. Ruben Sheeler, Texas Southern University; Dr. W. L. Howell, Western Baptist Seminary, Kansas City, Mo.; Princess Bowen, A. & I. State College, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. Lorenzo Greene, professor of History, Lincoln University, Jeff City, Mo., and Dr. W. Sherman Savage, Lincoln University, Jeff City, Mo.

32b 1954

AMERICAN YOUTH INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION

Industrial pupils elect officers at nat'l meeting

TUSKEGEE, Ala.—The annual conference of the American Youth Industrial Association was held here last week.

The conference consists of high school pupils in the following states: North and South Carolinas, Mississippi, Georgia, Louisiana, Florida, Arkansas, Alabama, and Tennessee.

In competitive tournaments Friday, the following winners and runners-up emerged:

Tailoring: Frank Tasker, Macon, Ga.; Katherine Wood, South Carolina; Nursing: Mary Lanking, Natchez, Miss.; Ruby Devrans, Alabama; Brick Masonry: Toy L. McSwain, Spartanburg, S.C.; Frank Massenburg, North Carolina, and Wilbert Johnson, Miss.

Top Shoe Repairers

Shoe repairing: William Golden, Augusta, Ga.; Willie McCollie, Charlotte, N.C.; Plastering: Don Davis, Macon, Ga.; Walter C. Hunter, South Carolina; Cosmetology: Jessie Kelly, Columbia, S.C.; Colgene Watkins, Georgia;

P. 76

Carpentry; James Presser, Vicksburg, Miss.; Samuel Williams, Georgia; Mechanical Drawing: Fred D. Brown, Elberton, Ga.; Carnegie Greene, Alabama; Electricity: Robert Alford, Meridian, Miss.; James E. Hayden, Arkansas;

Radio: Melvin Thomas, Montgomery, Ala.; Willie D. Richards, Georgia; Auto Mechanics: Jesse Gilmore and Ken Maynard Scott of South Carolina.

Conerence Officers Named

Otis Williams Jr., Columbia, S.C., retiring president, presided over the general conference session, during which the following officers were elected:

Williard Perry, N.C., president; George Barnes, Ark., 1st. vice president; Aaron Hooks, Miss., 2nd vice president; Reuben Parler, N.C., 3rd vice president;

Dat 5-22-54

Shirley Jones, Miss., secretary; Robert Alfrod, Miss., assistant secretary; Marion Johnson, S.C., treasurer; Jesse Gilmore, S.C., chaplain, annd Cleveland Fisger, Ark., sergeant at arms.

During a meeting of the Teacher Training Group, Advisory Board members elected were as follows:

Chairman, F. D. woodard, Miss.; fist. vice chairman, A. C. Crater, Ark.; 2nd vice chairman, Aaron Cook, Ga.; 3rd vice chairman, S. L. Hamlin, N.C.; secretary, S. C. Smith, N.C.; and chaplain, J. C. Abercrombie of South Carolina.

AYIEA membership has increased by states each year. The 1955 conference will be held at Pine Bluff, Ark.

32b 1954

FEDERATION ON WOMEN'S CLUBS (ALABAMA)

Federated Women's Clubs Meet With Dora Beverly Members

The Dora Beverly Club was host to the regular monthly meeting of the City Federation of Womens Clubs at the Community House on Sunday afternoon. Each of the 17 club groups comprising the federation had representation, with the largest number coming from the host club followed by the Ten Times One Is Ten Club. The program featured a TV program presented by the host group headed by Miss Willie M. Stone. The dramatic production was entitled "Women Builders" and was written and directed by Mrs. Janie Lowe Clayton who also served as narrator. Portraying the contributions of a selected group of distinguished Negro women were the following club members: Mesdames Josie S. Lawrence, Maggie Y. Forte, Jewett Anderson, Louvenia P. Boddie, Idabelle Smiley, Emma Williams and Thelma S. Morris.

They represented and dramatized the contributions of the following well-known characters; respectively: Lucy Laney, Maggie Walker, Janie Porter Barrett, Mary McLeod Bethune, Charlotte Hawkins Brown and Jane Hunter. Delightful music by the club, with Mrs. Atnalie Smiley as soprano soloist highlighted the inspiring program.

Mrs. Sadie Brooks, federation president, presided over the business session which included reports from the committee on legislation of which Mrs. Leola H. Whitted and Miss Tessie M. Oliver are co-chairmen, the report being read by the committee secretary, Mrs. Geneva Johnson; from the trustee board, headed by Mrs. Bertha McClain, and also a special report from Mrs. Hattie Alexander, representing the trustee board.

It was agreed that the constitution be revised to meet the needs of an expanding program for a growing organization. The group endorsed the proposals for the slum clearance project in the area of the Cramton Bowl and members were urged to submit resolutions to the Montgomery Housing Authority indicating same. There was a report of the party staged at the Community House on Saturday for the underprivileged children of the community and sponsored by the Ten Times One Is Ten Club. More than 80 children played games under the supervision of the club members and the Community House workers and were served cookies and ice cream. Other clubs will sponsor similar programs during the year.

The new program director of the Community House, Mrs. Harvey Cole, was presented and gave some indication of her plans for utilization of the resources of the house. Mrs. Cole, a graduate social worker with the Masters degree from the Atlanta University School of Social Work, is a dynamic young woman who has been elected to succeed Mrs. Louise Saxton Young, who finds it necessary to resign at this time after a period of successful operations at the Community House.

Plaudits go to the Anna M. Duncan Club, of which Mrs. Elizabeth M. Arrington is president. It is the only organization in the city which received a citation from the United Appeal Council for distinguished service during the recent city-wide financial campaign for charity.

From a service table beautifully decorated with white and blue iris, representing the club colors of the Dora Beverly group, punch was poured to one of the largest crowds in the City Federation's history.

Of special interest is the announcement that the "Know-Your-State Federation" Day speaker for the third Sunday in March will be Mrs. Jessie Guzeman, of Tuskegee Institute, who recently has entered the campaign for a seat on the Board of Education of Macon County. The program committee headed by Mrs. Zelia S. Evans announces also that on the occasion, music will be furnished by the Dora Beverly Club and by other singing aggregations.

A great occasion is being planned which will attract the interest of the entire community and all are urged to make plans to attend. Details of the program itself will be made in a later release.

P. B. Young New Head Of Frontiers Chapter

Dr. P. B. Young Sr., publisher of the Journal and Guide, was elected president of the Tidewater Area Chapter of the Frontiers of America Inc. at its meeting Wednesday evening in the Ebenezer Baptist Church social center, Portsmouth.

Other officers elected at the meeting were W. E. Waters, first vice-president; Dr. J. J. Quarles, second vice-president, Dr. Hugo Owens third vice-president; S. H. Bell, executive secretary; W. L. Clarke, recording secretary; Dr. F. G. Elliott, treasurer, and Rev. Dr. J. D. Cauthen, chaplain.

MEMBERS OF the board of directors are E. J. Taylor, Charles H. Bowens, Dr. S. F. Coppage, Dr. Harvey N. Johnson outgoing president of the chapter; Dr. E. D. Burke, Dr. G Hamilton-Francis, and Dr. G. W. C. Brown.

Prior to the election various committeemen made reports on their activities. Dr. Lyman B. Brooks, chairman of the Institute Committee, reported on plans for the annual Business Institute which will be sponsored jointly in the spring by the Norfolk Division of Virginia State College and the Tidewater Area Chapter of the Frontiers.

* * *

DR. JOHNSON thanked chapter members for the cooperation they gave him during his two years as president. He assured the members that he will continue to support the chapter.

* * *

THE FRONTIERS of America founded November 10, 1936 at Columbus, Ohio, to further the business and welfare interests of Negroes and their respective communities.

The organization grew out of the realization of several people who were constantly called upon for advice in race questions that they should not speak for all Negroes unless they were part of an organization composed of a cross-section of Negro citizens.

* * *

THE FRONTIERS brought together business, professional and institution heads, and grew from the one chapter in Columbus to 22 chapters scattered throughout the United States, with an estimated 500 members.

Among the founders were Nimrod Allen, presently executive secretary, who served as president for about 10 years and R. T. Flemming of Dayton, Ohio, second city to have a chapter. Mr Flemming was formerly secretary of the organization.

* * *

CHAPTERS ARE now located in Dayton, Columbus, Cleveland and Akron, Ohio; Norfolk, Richmond, Suffolk, Petersburg and Prince George County, Va.; Pittsburg, Pa., Baltimore, Annapolis and Easton, Md.; Memphis, Tenn., Atlantic City, N. J., New York City, Washington, D. C., Des Moines, Iowa, Louisville, Ky., Tallahassee, Fla., Bricks, N. C., and New Orleans, La.

National officers are: Dr. Bernard Harris, Baltimore, president; P. L. Prattis, Pittsburgh, vice-president; Melvin E. Farris, second vice-president; J. Harvey Kearns, Dayton, third vice-president Carroll Sawyer, Columbus, treasurer; Andrew G. Freeman, Dayton, secretary; Augustus D. Knox, Baltimore, sgt.-at-arms; Rev. Albert D. Cooper, Suffolk, chaplain; Richard B. Lynch, Columbus, editor of the Frontiersman

Also: Mr. Allen, executive secretary; Charles Sparks, Philadelphia, eastern organizer; P. J. Chesson, Norfolk, southern organizer; Raymond R. Davis, Columbus, mid-western organizer; J. A. McDaniel, Memphis Tenn., south-western organizer

THE BOARD OF directors is composed of C. M. Cain, Atlantic City, chairman; Rev. E Deedom Alston, Louisville Jerry O. Gilliam, Norfolk; William R. Hammond, Paul Henderson, Columbus; Wayne Hopkins, Philadelphia, and Arnett Mitchell, Baltimore.

Thomas . Reid, Portsmouth Va. attorney, is a former national president of the organization.

J. E. Scott heads D.C. Frontiers

WASHINGTON

James E. Scott prominent real estate and insurance man was elected president of the Washington chapter, Frontiers of America at its Tuesday luncheon meeting.

Other officers elected were: Harry E. Polk, vice - president; Lawrence L. Whaley, secretary; Herman A. Johnson, assistant secretary; Albert Thompson, treasurer, and the Rev. J. L. S. Holleman, chaplain.

These officers and the following constitute the club's executive committee: Frank Coleman, Lawrence F. Hunt and West A. Hamilton. Colonel Hamilton, retiring after a four - year tenure as president, was elected President Emeritus.

Frontiers D. C. Meet To Aid In Vitiligo Study

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Approximately 1,000 delegates are expected to arrive in the Nation's Capital this week for the annual national convention of Frontiers of America, Inc. The four-day meeting begins Wednesday, July 28th, at 9:00 a. m.

The Frontiers is a community service organization made up of Negro business and professional men. Founded in 1936 by Dr. Nimrod B. Allen of Columbus, Ohio, the organization now has chapters in 43 cities throughout the country.

SAMUEL SPENCER, president of the D. C. Board of Commissioners, will officially welcome the organization at 9:15 a. m., Thursday when he presents the key to the city to Frontiers President Dr. Bernard Harirs of Baltimore. Following the welcoming ceremony, which will be held in the District Building, the delegates will go to the Lincoln Memorial where a memorial service will be held and a wreath held at the statue of the Civil War president.

The Frontiers' only public meeting during the four-day convention will be a dinner meeting Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Raleigh Hotel. The principal speaker will be Senator Francis P. Case (R., S. D.), chairman of the Senate District Committee. Following Senator Case's address the organization will present its first cash award for research into vitiligo, a disease which causes the loss of skin pigmentation. A $10,000 grant will go to an institution yet unnamed.

* * *

A PROPOSAL to establish a research foundatiion to finance studies of the disease was approved at the organization's 1953 convention, and the foundation was established earlier this year.

A panel discussion on "Techniques of School Integration" is scheduled for 10:00 a. m., Friday at the Dunbar Hotel. Participating in the discussion will be Dr. Margaret J. Butcher, member of the D. C. Board of Education; John H. Fisher, superintendent of public education in Baltimore; William S. Schmidt, superintendent of public education in Prince George's County, Md.; and Furman Templeton, executive secretary of the Baltimore Urban League.

* * *

BUSINESS MEETINGS during the convention are scheduled for 10:00 a. m. and 2:00 p. m., Thursday, 9:00 a. m. and 2:00 p. m., Friday, and 9:00 a. m., Saturday. At the latter meeting national officers for 1954-55 will be elected.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Frontiers' Washington Chapter will be host to delegates at two social events. A hospitality hour is screduled for the Dunbar Hotel at 10:30 p. m., Thursday and the annual convention dance will be held in the Terrace Room at the National Airport Friday at 11 p. m.

* * *

GEORGE C. Fleming, local insurance executive, will serve as convention chairman. The host chapter is headed by James E. Scott, local realtor.

Negro Service Group Opens Session With 1,000 Delegates

Frontiers of America, a Negro national service organization, opened its 13th annual convention here today.

Registration and social events were taking up the day for the approximately 1,000 delegates. Tomorrow, Dr. Bernard Harris of Baltimore, national president, will receive the key to the city from Commissioner Samuel Spencer at 9:25 a.m. in the District Building.

At 9:45 a.m., the group will lay a wreath at the statue in the Lincoln Memorial.

Senator Case, Republican, of South Dakota, will speak at a Frontiers banquet in the Raleigh Hotel tomorrow. At that time, the group will present a $10,000 grant to the Howard University College of Medicine for research on vitiligo. Vitiligo is a skin disease, marked by the development of white spots and blotches.

A panel discussion on techniques of school integration will be held at 9 a.m. Friday in the Dunbar Hotel. Participants will include Dr. Margaret Just Butcher of the District School Board, John Fisher, Baltimore School superintendent; William Schmidt, Prince Georges County school superintendent, and Furman Templeton, executive secretary of the Baltimore Urban League.

The convention will end with election of officers on Saturday.

Frontiers Meet In D.C. Grants Howard $10,00

WASHINGTON — The Frontiers of America 1,000 strong took over Washington last week after Commissioner Samuel Spencer presented Dr. Bernard Harris of Baltimore, president of the group with the keys to the city in special ceremonies at the District building.

The Community service organization which is made up of Negro business and professional men was founded in 1936 in Columbus, Ohio by Dr. Nimrod Allen. It now has chapters in 43 cities throughout the country.

Following the presentation of the key to the city, a delegation went to the Lincoln Memorial to lay a wreath at the statue. Sen. Francis P. Case (R., S. Dakota, chairman of the District Committee of the Senate, was the principal speaker at a banquet at the Raleigh hotel.

At the banquet a grant of $10,000 to Howard university school of Medicine for the study of vertiligo was made by the organization. Vertiligo is the disease which causes the loss of skin pigmentation, and for which science has no known cure.

Highlights of the meet were a panel discussion on the "Technique of School Integration" with Dr. Margaret Just Butcher, member of the D. C. school board, and Dr. John Fisher, superintendent of Baltimore Schools participating. Dr. Fisher recently announced the complete integration of Baltimore schools.

The annual convention dance was held at the National Airport in the Terrace Room. The host chapter is headed by James E. Scott, local realtor and George C. Fleming insurance man was the convention chairman.

FRONTIERS' CONFERENCE—Fifty-five delegates from 12 chapters attended the one-day Eastern Regional Conference of the Frontiers of America, Inc., at the King Hiram Craftsmen Masonic Center (A.F.& A.M.), in Newark, N.J., on Saturday. National officers and conference hosts shown in front row, left to right; James F. King, general conference chairman Newark Chapter; Henry (Hank) Sparks Philadelphia, Eastern regional organizer; Harold L. Pilgrim, Philadelphia, national first vice president; Bertram C. Bland, president, host chapter; Dr. Melvin E. Farris, Akron, national president; Nimrod Allen, Columbia, Ohio, founder, past president and national executive secretary; Dr. Bernard Harris, Baltimore, past president; and Logan McWilson, vice president, Newark chapter. (Photo by Reginald Duvalier).

Also Charles Simmons, Newark; Also Charles Whigham; Dykes Brookins, Logan McWilson, James F. King, Carl R. Andrews, Theodore Pettigrew, Herbert H. Tate, William Malloy and Dr. J. C. Mayberry, Newark.

Also Oliver Brown, Harry Hazelwood, Cornelius Downey, Lucius Tompkins, Edward Bolden, Governor Brown, Donald Stokes, P. M. Brown, Joseph Clarke, and Roscoe Fields, Newark.

Frontiers hold area session in Jersey

1 local, 2 national officers honored; workshops featured

NEWARK — Fifty-five delegates from 12 chapters attended the Eastern regional conference of the Frontiers of America, Inc., at King Hiram Craftsmen Center, 105 Broad St., on Saturday.

Speakers included Dr. Melvin E. Farris of Akron, Ohio, national president; Nimrod B. Allen of Columbus, Ohio, founder, past president and national executive secretary; and Dr. Bernard Harris of Baltimore, Md., past president.

Both Dr. Farris and Mr. Allen were presented with mementos in recognition of their leadership.

BERTRAM C. BLAND, attorney and president of the host chapter, was honored by the chapter in a surprise skit entitled "This is your Life." He was presented with a trophy presented by Oliver W. (Butts) Brown, local editor, who gave highlights of Bland's career in the skit.

Mayor Leo P. Carlin who brought greetings at the dinner meeting was made an honorary member of the Frontiers.

— o O o —

LEO B. MARSH, guest speaker for the dinner meeting, emphasized that we should be more concerned now about "integration rather than desegregation."

Mr. Marsh who lives in Montclair, N.J., is secretary of counselling and Interracial services of the national board of the YMCA.

Arthur Chapin, civil rights director of the New Jersey State CIO Council, discussed the civil rights program in labor.

* * *

TOPICS FEATURED at the Frontiers' workshops were:

Is there a need for constitutional revision? What suggested changes can we recommend to the National Board?

What role should the local chapters play in community affairs?

How can we promote the national program within our chapters (vitiligo, Little Buddy and special events)?

* * *

NATIONAL OFFICERS conferred in a lounge set aside for Dr. Farris.

Mr. Bland presided at the luncheon session; Henry C. Sparks of Philadelphia, Eastern organizer, presided at the afternoon assembly; and Herbert H. Tate, Newark attorney, and co-publisher of a Newark newspaper, was toastmaster for the dinner meeting.

Members of the conference committee were:

* * *

JAMES F. KING, chairman; Herbert H. Tate, Ollie T. Daly, John M. Dabney, Ralph T. Holt, Silas L. Hogan, James G. Eastman, Carl R. Andrews, Theodore Pettigrew, Oliver W. Brown, Dr. William Malloy, Joseph Kent.

Delegates in attendance were:

Emmer Lancaster, George Ward and W. L. Tancil, Washington, D.C.;

Lawrence Reeves, John Logan Jr., Clarence Dockens, F. Beckett, Harold Pilgrim and Henry Sparks, Philadelphia.

H. A. Ferrell, Westchester, Pa.; J. B. Judkins, Trenton, N.J.; Dr. Melvin E. Farris, Akron, Ohio; Nimrod Allen, Columbus, Ohio; Charles E. Tribbett, Salem, N.J.; Also Ralph Tilgham and Gilmore Bentley, Frederick, Md.; Dr. Bernard Harris, Baltimore, Md.; Also Bertram Bland, Earl Koger, Baltimore, Md.; Also Joseph Shockley and Edward Brown, Easton, Md.; William Johnson, Kent. Ollie Daly, James East, Samuel A. Haynes, William Stubbs, John Dabney and

Conventions will net Atlantic City 36 Million plum

Fetes, exhibits to draw throngs from all corners of the world; make hotel reservations now

By SAMUEL A. HAYNES

ATLANTIC CITY—If you are planning to spend your vacation or a week end next spring or summer in this famous resort, you'd be wise to make your hotel reservations right now.

1954 is the city's Centennial Year, and convention delegates, tourists and visitors will be coming here as never before from the four corners of the world.

Albert H. Skean, manager of the Convention Bureau, announced on Christmas Eve that all records for attendance at conventions here alone will be broken.

327 Conventions Booked

He said that 327 meetings and exhibits have already been scheduled, representing an estimated attendance of 300,000 persons.

These convention delegates and visitors alone will spend more than thirty-six million dollars, Skean emphasized.

When you add the conventions yet to be booked, the special holiday and week-end trek to the resort by train, plane, bus and private cars, and thousands of visitors who will flock here to see the Centennial displays, you can draw your own conclusions.

June, a favorite vacation month, will be the busiest convention month, with 24 scheduled.

Minority On Spot

The importance of making hotel reservations now has special meaning for colored Americans.

On two occasions in 1953, delegates to two colored conventions, the National Alliance of Postal Employees, and the National Association of Business and Professional Women, were refused hotel accommodations here, even though their reservations were accepted.

When protests were made, in both instances, the offending management tried to hide behind the excuse that the reservations either came "too late," or were accepted "by mistake."

Tips On Reservations

Much progress has been made in breaking down hotel discrimination here since the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers, through the New Jersey AFRO, launched a campaign to stop it three years ago.

Securing first-class hotel accommodations here by colored Americans depends upon two main factors:

1. What time of the year you request accommodations; and
2. The period between the time you request accommodations and the time you arrive to claim your reservation.

Law On Your Side

New Jersey's anti-discrimination laws strictly forbid discrimination by public places, but the burden of proof rests with the patron.

Some simple rules will avoid embarrassment and assure you prompt accommodations in first class hotels:

1. Make reservations by telegraph, letter or telephone after Labor Day, at least three months in advance, if you plan to visit Atlantic City during the slack winter months.

2. Make reservations at least six months in advance if you plan to be here between Easter and Labor Day.

Keep Record

3. Get written confirmation of acknowledgement of your reservations.

4. Keep a record of the time you applied for reservations, the time it was granted, and the name and classification of the person who handles the reservations.

You will have a very difficult time proving that you were refused first or second-class hotel accommodation here in this Centennial Year, if you wait until two or three months before you arrive to request reservations.

Where They Meet

National Alumni Association, Daytona Beach, Fla., April 23-24.

American Nurses Association, Chicago, Ill., April 26-30.

Conference to Combat Juvenile Delinquency, Washington, D. C., April 29-30.

College Language Association, Atlanta, Ga., April 30-May 1.

Association of Social Science Teachers, Richmond, Va., April 29-May 1.

* * *

Regional Council of Negro Leadership, Mound Bayou, Miss., May 7.

* * *

National Pan-Hellenic Council, St. Louis, Mo., May 7-8.

* * *

Associated Hair Dressers and Cosmetologists of Missouri, St. Louis, May 16-18.

* * *

Grand Masters of Prince Hall Masonic Grand Lodges, Los Angeles, May 19-22.

* * *

National Science Institute, New Orleans, May 22-24.

* * *

National Baptist Sunday School and BTU Congress, Birmingham, Ala., June 21-27.

* * *

AME Zion General Conference of Christian Education, Louisville, Ky., July 31-Aug. 6.

Convention Calendar

JULY

JULY 15-18—Links Incorporated, Bluefield State College in Bluefield, W. Va.

JULY 15-18—Pentecostal Singers and Musicians Alliance in Detroit.

JULY 31-AUG. 4—Knights and Daughters of Peter Claver in New Orleans.

JULY 31-AUG. 6—National Association of Colored Women in Washington, D.C.

AUGUST

AUGUST 2-12—National Beauty Culturalist League, Inc., in Chicago.

AUGUST 3-5—National Pharmaceutical Association in Philadelphia

AUGUST 7-12—Iota Phi Lambda Sorority in Chicago.

AUGUST 8-12—American Woodmen Camp Session in Denver, Colo

SEPTEMBER

SEPTEMBER 7-1—National Baptist Laymen's Convention of National Baptist Convention in St. Louis, Mo.

Convention Calendar

JULY

JULY 25-27—American Teachers Association (51st), Nashville, Tenn.

JULY 29-30-31—National Frontiers Clubs of America, Washington, D. C.

JULY 31-AUG. 4—Knights and Daughters of Peter Claver in New Orleans.

JULY 31-AUG. 6—National Association of Colored Women in Washington, D. C.

JULY 31-AUG 6—AME Zion Church General Convention of Christian Education, Louisville, Ky.

AUGUST

AUGUST 1-4—Grand United Order of Odd Fellows, Los Angeles.

AUGUST 1-6—National Dental Association, Indianapolis, Ind.

AUGUST 2-12—National Beauty Culturalist League, Inc., in Chicago.

AUGUST 3-5—National Pharmaceutical Association in Philadelphia.

AUGUST 9-13—National Medical Association, Washington, D.C.

AUGUST 7-12—Iota Phi Lambda Sorority in Chicago.

AUGUST 8-12—American Woodmen Camp Session in Denver, Colo.

AUGUST 9-15—National Federation of Post Office Motor Vehicle Employees, Los Angeles.

AUGUST 14-21—National Supreme Council Scottish Rite Masons 90th annual convention, Baltimore, Md.

AUGUST 15-19—Ancient Egytptain Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine (Shriners), Atlantic City.

AUGUST 15-20—International Conference Grand Chapters of Eastern Star, Atlantic City.

AUGUST 16-19—The Knights and Daughters of Tabor, Los Angeles.

AUGUST 16-20—National Housewives League, Durham, N.C.

AUGUST 30-SEPT. 2—American Legion, Washington, D. C.

AUGUST 31-SEPT. 4—National Negro Insurance Association, Durham, N.C.

SEPTEMBER

SEPTEMBER 2-4—National Bar Association, Kansas City, Mo.

SEPTEMBER 7-14—National Baptist Laymen's Convention of National Baptist Convention in St. Louis, Mo.

Convention Time

American Teachers Association, Nashville, July 25-27.

National County Agents Association, Tuskegee, Ala July 26-28.

Frontiers of America, Washington, D. C., July 28-31.

Knights of Peter Claver, New Orleans, July 31-Aug. 4.

National Association of Colored Women, Washington, D. C., July 31-Aug. 6.

Texas Negro Chamber of Commerce, Houston, Tex., Aug. 1-2.

Veterans of Foreign War, Philadelphia, Aug. 1-6.

National Dental Association, Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 2-6.

National Pharmaceutical Association, Philadelphia, Aug. 3-5.

Iota Phi Lambda Sorority, Chicago, Aug. 7-12.

Knights Templar of Ohio (P. H. A.), Wilberforce, Ohio, Aug. 11.

Royal Arch Masons of Ohio (P. H. A.), Wilberforce, Ohio, Aug. 11.

A. E. A. O. N. M. S., Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 15-20.

World Council of Churches, Evanston, Ill., Aug. 15-31.

National Primitive Baptist Convention, USA, Miami, Fla., Aug. 18-22.

National Bar Association, Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 2-4.

National Baptist Convention, St. Louis, Sept. 7-12.

Second World Congress of Cardiology and the American Heart Association, Washington, D. C., Sept. 12-17.

Alpha Phi Alpha, Miami, Fla., Dec. 27-30.

Convention Calendar

Runover line indention is 6-EM 1-EN and a thin space

JULY

JULY 15-18—Links-Incorporated, Bluefield State College in Bluefield, W. Va.

JULY 15-18—Pentecostal Singers and Musicians Alliance in Detroit.

JULY 25-27—American Teachers Association (51st), Nashville, Tenn.

JULY 29-30-31—National Frontiers Clubs of America, Washington, D. C.

JULY 31-AUG. 4—Knights and Daughters of Peter Claver in New Orleans.

JULY 31-AUG. 6—National Association of Colored Women in Washington, D. C.

AUGUST

AUGUST 1-4—Grand United Order of Odd Fellows, Los Angeles.

AUGUST 1-6—National Dental Association, Indianapolis, Ind.

AUGUST 2-12—National Beauty Culturalist League, Inc., in Chicago.

AUGUST 3-5—National Pharmaceutical Association in Philadelphia.

AUGUST 7-12—Iota Phi Lambda Sorority in Chicago.

AUGUST 8-12—American Woodmen Camp Session in Denver, Colo.

AUGUST 9-15—National Federation of Post Office Motor Vehicle Employees, Los Angeles.

AUGUST 14-21—National Supreme Council Scottish Rite Masons 90th annual convention, Baltimore, Md.

AUGUST 16-19—The Knights and Daughters of Tabor, Los Angeles.

AUGUST 30-SEPT. 2—American Legion, Washington, D. C.

SEPTEMBER

SEPTEMBER 2-4—National Bar Association, Kansas City, Mo.

SEPTEMBER 7-14—National Baptist Laymen's Convention of National Baptist Convention in St. Louis, Mo.

Convention Time

American Teachers Association, Nashville, July 25-27.

National County Agents Association, Tuskegee, Ala., July 26-28.

Connectional Council and Board of Bishops, Louisville, Ky., July 27.

National Association of Fashion and Accessory Designers, Inc., New York City, July 29-30.

Frontiers of America, Washington, D. C., July 28-31.

Knights of Peter Claver, New Orleans, July 31-Aug. 4.

AME Zion Church Christian Education, Louisville, Ky., July 31-Aug. 6.

National Association of Colored Women, Washington, D. C., July 31-Aug. 6.

Texas Negro Chamber of Commerce, Houston, Tex., Aug. 1-2.

Pennsylvania Knights Templar, PHA, Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 1-3.

Veterans of Foreign War, Philadelphia, Aug. 1-6.

International Spiritualistic Federation, Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 2-5.

National Dental Association, Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 2-6.

National Gospel Choirs and Choruses, Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 2-6.

National Pharmaceutical Association, Philadelphia, Aug. 3-5.

National School of Wisdom and Young Peoples, Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 3-8.

Iota Phi Lambda Sorority, Chicago, Aug. 7-12.

Knights Templar of Ohio (P. H. A.), Wilberforce, Ohio, Aug. 11.

Royal Arch Masons of Ohio (P. H. A.), Wilberforce, Ohio, Aug. 11.

Grand United Order of Odd Fellows, Boston, Mass., Aug. 9-13.

American Bridge Association, Oakland, Calif., Aug. 14-21.

Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 15-20.

World Council of Churches, Evanston, Ill., Aug. 15-31.

National Housewives League of America, Durham, N. C., Aug. 16-20.

National Primitive Baptist Convention, USA, Miami, Fla., Aug. 18-22.

National Bar Association, Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 2-4.

National Baptist Convention, St. Louis, Sept. 7-12.

Second World Congress of Cardiology and the American Heart Association, Washington, D. C., Sept. 12-17.

Alpha Phi Alpha, Miami, Fla., Dec. 27-30.

What Is Negro Organization?

The August-September issue of The Crisis magazine, official organ of the NAACP, has an article entitled "Our Life Members." The first paragraph says: "The largest single gift to the NAACP from a Negro organization was presented by the Links, Inc., in July, in the form of some fifty life memberships for the various local Links chapters." When the NAACP thus refers in a respectful as well as a grateful vein to "a Negro organization," this is something which seems to indicate that the boom has not been completely lowered on things Negro.

This is not an idle thought, because there has been something approaching a mad rush in some quarters to get away from things Negro and to be ashamed of the word "Negro" in the names of organizations and in describing the makeup of organizations. Fraternities and sororities do not want to be known as Negro organizations. Groups of Negro teachers do not want to be called Negro teachers associations. So it goes down the line. There was even much urging that the NAACP should take the word "Colored" out of its name at the Dallas convention not so long ago.

But the Crisis, which speaks for the NAACP, does not have any qualms at calling the Links "a Negro organization," and doubtless the Links themselves, since they are all Negro women, are not averse to letting the world know that such a Negro organization has presented "the largest single gift to the NAACP from a Negro organization." Indeed, the question might be asked, What is a Negro organization? It might also be asked, Why should any group of Negroes be ashamed to have an organization or not be proud to let the world know about itself by having the word "Negro" in its name? It would seem that, whether or not an organization is a Negro organization depends upon its makeup or its control or its objectives, or a combination of all of these. In other words, it is the same kind of criteria as those which go to determine whether or not an organization in community life is a Jewish organization.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

More About Negro Organizations

Negroes in organized labor will have to organize themselves (whether they are CIO, AFL, or Independent) into a racial group for their protection and advancement like the Italian Chamber of Labor, United Hebrew Trades, Jewish Labor Committee,etc., in every industrial center from coast to coast. The Negro Labor Committee of New York,headed by veteran labor leader Frank R.Crosswaith, has shown the way." This was written by George S. Schuyler in his weekly column recently on the editorial page of the Pittsburgh Courier concerning the Labor Day special edition of the Courier, which was "devoted to the story of the Negro's contribution to American Labor and Industry," and which he says "did not have the support of organized labor despite the professed interest of labor leaders in worker's education and better race relations," although he said that "a few unions did respond and they are to be commended."

This comment is not concerned with the pros or the cons of the support or non-support of the Courier's special Labor Day edition or Mr. Schuyler's protest based on his charge of non-support. What this comment is directed to is the question of how it happens that the Jews and the Italians have found desirable and helpful special organization of their groups in th elabor movement in addition to their membership in the regular labor unions. This question comes into special focus for the Jews, since it was a Jew, Samuel Gompers, who founded the American Federation of Labor.

Most of our Negro leaders, in the labor movement and elsewhere, seem to be operating on the theory that all of our problems as Negroes are going to be solved by getting into what have heretofore been exclusively white organizations and institutoins, and that beyond this integration there is no need or place for special organizations and institutions established and run by Negroes to take care of the special interests and problems affecting Negroes in areas not fully or satisfactorily served by the erstwhile white organizations and institutions. In line with this theory, Negro groups are being advised and urged to take the word "Negro" out of their names and to dissolve their organizations and institutions just as soon as the former all-white group in their field opens up its membership rolls to Negroes.

What is it about the Jews and other groups which makes desirable and helpful these special Jewish organizations and institutions, while we can depend entirely upon organizations and institutions from which we have been heretofore excluded to solve our problems and meet our needs as fully and as satisfactorily as we would like to have them met? It is a question of considerable importance as we go into the era of integration.

32b 1954

National Organization Of Housewives Meets In N. C.

DURHAM, N. C. — With the theme, "Building Better Business is our Business," the 17th annual convention of the Housewives' League of America got under way this week with chapters in Durham and Chapel Hill acting as hostesses.

During the convention activities are including a tour of the Planetarium at the University of North Carolina under the sponsorship of the Chapel Hill Chapter. The Durham Business and Professional Chain was host to the delegates at a social on Wednesday, and the convention banquet highlighted the day's activities Thursday.

* * *

CLOSING REPORTS and election of officers were held Friday during the final session.

Several wholesale food producers sent representatives to the sessions to give information to houswives on various aspects of homemaking, and noted workers in business and professional fields spoke to the delegates on means of raising the level of Negro businesss and in promoting fair practics in the use of the Negro market.

* * *

MRS. MARJORIE Paige, president of the Housewives' League in Chapel Hill.

She is an outstanding promoter of Negro business affairs in her city, and is a registered nurse employed at the newest hospital in the city. Under her influence, a Negro Businessman's League has been organized and the two organizations mee t joinly to discuss and plan means of improving their business.

* * *

MRS. CHRISTINA M. Fuqua, who became president of the National Housewives' League in 1944 following the resignation of the founder and president emeritus, Mrs. F. B. Peck, is a teacher in the public school system in Detroi tMich.

She has been instrumental in continuing the work of the league, which was begun by Mrs. Peck with the idea to improve Negro businesses by directing the buying power of Negro consumers.

* * *

MRS. FANNIE B. Peck of Detroit, Mich., founder-president emeritus of the league, perceived the idea of the organization on hearing an address by a noted business man and leader early in 1941 at the church pastored by her husband.

She became the league's first president in 1933.

* * *

MRS. N. E. Black, od Detroit, Mich., president of the Detroit Chapter of the organization, is recording secretary of the National League.

She is a teacher in the public school system in Detroit.

* * *

MRS. CALLIE B. Daye, of Durham, N. C., who is president of the Durham Chapter, is also third vice president of the national organization.

Under her leadership, several activities, such as a Mother's Day contest and an oratorical contest, are sponsored annually.

Mrs. Daye is one of Durham's leading cosmetologists.

HOUSEWIVES' LEAGUE OF AMERICA

Enthusiasm Mounts As Housewives Meet Opens

MRS. DAYE

MRS. PECK

MRS. BLACK

MRS. FUQUA

MRS. PAGE

DURHAM, N. C. — Every member of the Durham and Chapel Hill, N. C. chapters of the Housewives' League of America has worked untiringly to round out planning details for the 17th Annual Convention which opened in Durham August 16.

Mrs. Callie B. Daye and Mrs. Marjorie Page, of the Durham and Chapel Hill Leagues, respectively, and the Durham Business and Professional Chain members planned activities for the more than 250 delegates. A tour to the Planetarium at the University of North Carolina will be sponsored by the Chapel Hill Chapter during the week.

"Building Better Business Is Our Business," is the convention's theme this year. Among the speakers for the sessions will be Mrs. Fannie B. Peck, founder of the League, and Mrs. Christina M. Fuqua, president of the National League, both of Detroit, Michigan.

A number of local businessmen and women will welcome delegates and deliver addresses at the five-day meeting. Horace Sudduth, president of the National Negro Business League, is expected to represent Negro businessmen of the nation.

The Durham Business and Professional Chain will be host to the League delegates and friends at a social Wednesday, August 18, at the Algonquin Club House in the Convention City.

The convention banquet will highlight the day's activities on Thursday with several prominent business and professional women being featured speakers. Closing reports, and election of officers will be held Friday during the final sessions.

During the week several wholesale food producers will have representatives at the sessions to give information to housewives on various aspects of homemaking noted workers in business and professional fields will speak to the delegates on means of raising the level of Negro businesses and in promoting fair practices in the use of the Negro market.

International Negro Florist Assn. will meet at 18th-st Branch YMCA Monday through Wednesday.

P. 18 A

The public meeting of the association will be Monday night at Payne Chapel AME Church at 18th-st and Fourth-av, s.

The flower and style show will be at the Y Tuesday night. This also is for the public.

Birm. News 3-28-54

W. O. Perry, Miami, Fla., national president, of the association will preside. S. F. Robinson is local president.

Florists Drop 'Negro'

Birm. News 4-18-53

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—It's the International Florist Association now, since the group voted to delete the word "Negro" from its title during their annual session held here last week. W. O. Perry of Miami, Fla., was elected president.

P. 4 A

32b 1954

INSTITUTE OF AFRICAN-AMERICAN RELATIONS

African-American Group Outlines Plans

Call

WASHINGTON. — (ANP) — The Institute of African-American relations, which is now sponsoring Prof. Leo Hansberry's tour of Africa, is a non-profit organization established last year for the purpose of cultivating closer relationship between the peoples of Africa and those of the United States of America.

Kansas City Star 9-13-54

In its first bulletin, released last week, the institute stated that it believes that close cooperation between African and American peoples will be a vital factor in solving the problems of Africa as it becomes more prominent on the world scene.

It further believes that Africans welcome more extensive contacts with Americans if offered on the basis of friendship, dignity and equality.

The institute has set up a six-point program for action. In the field of education it plans (1) to assist and advise African students in the U. S. (2) to assist American teachers and research personnel to teach and study in Africa. (3) to encourage more African students to study in the United States and (4) to assist in the formation of alumni associations in Africa of graduates of American institutions.

In the field of information it hopes (5) to provide information about the U. S. to select groups of Africa and (6) to provide information about Africa to institute members, American businessmen, tourists, and others interested in Africa.

The institute was founded in 1953 by Dr. Horace Mann Bond, Prof. William Leo Hansberry, William M. Steen, James P. Grant, Robert W. Williams Jr., and Mrs. Vernon Van Noy.

Massachusetts Union of Women's Clubs holds 40th annual convention in Lynn

LYNN, Mass.— The exclusive Oxford club here was the scene recently of one of the best sessions of the Massachusetts State Union of Women's Clubs ever held in its 40 year organization.

Hostesses for this year were members of the Sunshine Circle of Lynn. Over 32 clubs were represented by 82 delegates and over more than 200 attended.

Mayor Arthur J. Frawley spoke at the opening meeting. Mrs. Melnea Cass, chairman of the executive board, presided.

Others participating were the Rev. Charles N. Bourne, pastor of Bethel AME church; Mrs. Bessie Bankett, chaplain; Mrs. Rachael Saunders, president; and Mesdames Edna G. Taylor and Mabelle Scott.

Guest Speaker

Guest speaker at the afternoon session was Elwood S. McKenney, commissioner of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination.

The Rev. Toussaint L. Davis, pastor of Zion Baptist church; and Mrs. Inez Tinsley, of the National Association of Colored Women; Mrs. M. Cass, of the Northeastern Federation of Women's clubs also spoke.

Mesdames Geneva Shaw of Haverhill, first vice - president; Charlotte Simmons, Ruth Brown of Lynne, Mary Luck of Boston, Irene Canada of Sharon appeared on program.

Closing Session

Mrs. Saunders, assisted by Mesdames Ethel Tavernier and Brown, presided at the closing session.

The awards to the arts and crafts, which included many beautiful articles of crocheting, knitting, needlepoint, embroidery and ceramic, donated by Mrs. Helen Black.

Silver cups were presented to the Handicrafters Guild winner of first prize;

The Thrifty Arts club, second prize; and the Independent Hobby Club, third prize.

One of the features of the session was a birthday cake with forty candles in honor of the 40th anniversary.

Corsages were given to the president, the chairman of the various boards, and the members.

Miss Gladys Holmes, former president, presided at the election of officers, Mrs. Viola Mason, also a former president, installed the newly elected officers:

They include:

Mrs. Melnea Cass of Roxbury, president; Mrs. Marie T. Jones of Springfield, first vice - president; Mrs. Madeline D. Garnett, of West Medford, second vice-president; Mrs. Ruth Brown of Lynn, third vice-president; Mrs. Nellie Smith of South Weymouth, relected treasurer;

Also Mrs. Elizabeth Critchlow of Boston, chairman of the executive board; Miss Mabelle Diggs of Hingham, recording secretary; Mrs. Frances Moore of Roxbury, corrresponding secretary; Mrs. Catherine Thomas of Haverhill, re-elected financial secretary; Mrs. Christine Coleman of Boston, organizer; Mrs. Marion Parks of Roxbury, historian;

Re - elected also were Mrs. Irene Canada of Sharon, supervisor of Girls; Mrs. Helen High of Everett, custodian; Mrs. Bessie Bankett of Roxbury, chaplain; Mrs. Edna Morgan of Roxbury, inspectress; Mrs. Florence Heggie Taylor of Boston, parliamentarian and Mrs. C. Maude Brown, chairman of the finance committee.

Special Guests Listed

Among the special guests attending the convention were Mrs. Marion Webber, president of the Business and Professional Women of Lynn; Mrs. Adelaide Caswell, president of the Lynn United War Mothers and Mrs. Blanche Matthieson, a member of the Lynn chapter of the United War Mothers.

Of the several resolutions agreed upon were those interest of the Freedom Fund of the NAACP and one concerning the jazzing of Negro spirituals sent to the several broadcasting stations.

Plans were made concerning donations to the new headquarters of the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs and delegates to be sent to the national convention of the organization to be held in Washington, July 31 to August 6th.

Heads Nation's Postmen— This is James B. Cobb, Washington, D.C. attorney, who is the new president of the National Alliance of Postal Employees. Vice president of the NAPE since 1949, Mr. Cobb succeeds the late Ashby B. Carter, who died October 28.

NAPE To Hold Chicago Memorial For President

CHICAGO — At 3 p. m. on January 31, the Chicago branch of the National Alliance of Postal Employees will hold a city-wide memorial service for the late Ashby B. Carter, former president of the NAPE, who died here last October 28.

Leon J. Hillman, president of the Chicago branch, and James J. S. Keyes, secretary, will preside over the ceremonies which will take place at the Prince Hall Masonic Temple, 4227 Cottage Grove Ave.

The late President Carter was also Grand Master of Prince Hall Masons in Illinois and was the guiding hand in the program which resulted in the erection of this temple for the Illinois consistory. He was also a president of the Chicago branch of the NAPE, having risen from branch president to district president and then to national head of the nation's postmen. The Chicago branch is the second largest branch in the NAPE.

A distinguished list of Chicago leaders will take part in the memorial, which will also be attended by NAPE President James B. Cobb of Washington, D. C., and W. C. Jason, welfare director of the Alliance.

Meanwhile, the presence of several Alliance members was noted in Washington, D. C., where a "pressure" campaign was put on Congressmen and Senators on Capitol Hill by Federal employees in the postal service. Among them were: M. R. Wynn, Chester Hall and T. R. Jackson, all of Birmingham, Ala.; and F. R. Jackson of Memphis, Tenn. Mr. Jackson is recording secretary and reporter for the Birmingham branch of the NAPE.

While in the capital, the postmen also visited national NAPE headquarters where they conferred with President Cobb and were briefed by the new NAPE chieftan. Last week, President Cobb performed a similar chore with a group of NAPE representatives from Baltimore, Md.

NPA MEMBERS AND FRIENDS—Standing under the Statue of Booker T. Washington, here, in Tuskegee Institute are members of the National Postal Alliance of Montgomery, and friends. Making the trip here from Montgomery were J. N. King, Selman Allen, President Grover Dixon, standing between Dixon and Comrade John W. King is president L. H. Foster, Tuskegee, Luther E. Jones, A. L. Storrs, Wm. Martin, Mrs. Lillian Thompson of the Tuskegee Post Office, G. B. Johnson, J. F. Sawyer, Melvin Lowe, A. T. Person, Julius Proyer, Frank Bray, Albert Dorsey, S. A. Thurman, James Walton, H. A. McClain, E. H. Ligons, Freeman Cotton, Richard Lewis, W. M. C. Powell, Warren Conner, Jeff Moore and Joe Dickerson.

George Carver Memorial Is Backed By NAPE

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — Approximately 25 members of the Montgomery Ala. Branch of the National Alliance of Postal Employees, headed by Grover C. Dixon, president, visited Tuskegee Institute last week and pledged NAPE support to the George Washington Carver Memorial.

The Montgomery group also pledged their active support in maintaining the Booker T. Washington heirlooms on the Tuskegee campus. They were taken on a tour of the campus by Larry Robinson, postmaster at Tuskegee Institute, who is also an Alliance member.

John S. Sawyer, member of the Trustee Board of the NAPE's white collar workshop, was the driving force behind the venture to Tuskegee by the Montgomery Alliance group.

NAPE Moves Into New Quarters

WASHINGTON — The National Alliance of Postal Employees last week moved into its new national headquarters building at 11th and R streets, N. W., here in the capital of the nation, and also began the annual meeting of its national executive board.

The dual affair took on the nature of "a christening," when NAPE President James B. Cobb invited Dr. William H. Jernagin, the militant 83-year-old Baptist clergyman and leader, to "bless" the new headquarters.

During the sessions of the executive board — which consists of the national officers and the district presidents — the NAPE held a seminar on administrative processes.

The Beneficial Association — L. B. Allen, Houston, Texas, president and Harold L. Pilgrim of Philadelphia, secretary-treasurer —held its annual meeting along with the executive board session.

Purchase of the new building became necessary when the District of Columbia bought the former NAPE headquarters

Postal Workers Union Into New Quarters, Sets Meet

WASHINGTON, D. C. — This is "the week" for the National Alliance of Postal Employees. This week the NAPE moves into its new national headquarters building at 11th and R streets here in the nation's capital, and also begins the annual meeting of its national executive board.

The dual affair will take on the nature of "a christening," because NAPE president, James B. Cobb, has invited Dr. William H. Jernagin, the militant 83-year-old Baptist clergyman and leader, to "bless" the new headquarters.

"WE ARE re-dedicating the Alliance and this home to the principles of the founding fathers and the implementation of the 14th and 15th Amendments in view of the Supreme Court decision against segregation," President Cobb said.

During the sessions of the executive board—which consists of the national officers and the District presidents — the NAPE will hold a seminar on administrative processes.

ALL BRANCH presidents throughout the jurisdiction have been invited to attend the sessions and take part in the formulative program of the NAPE. The group will go to dinner in a body on a special occasion dedicated to solidarity as a trade union organization.

The Beneficial Association —L. B. Allen, Houston, Tex., president, and Harold L. Pilgrim, of Philadelphia, secretary-treasurer—is holding its meeting along with the executive board session.

PURCHASE OF the new building became necessary when the District of Columbia bought the former NAPE headquarters at 273 N street, N. W., for use in an expanding school system.

The executive sessions are scheduled for Aug. 24-27, inclusive. The new building is a three-story building, housing the NAPE on the first floor in offices for national officers. An "open house" session is also slated during the meetings, during which local citizens and postal workers will view their new headquarters.

New Organization Is Charted In Delaware

By CARTER JEWEL 32b

RICHMOND, Va.—(ANP)—A campaign was launched here last week to enroll members for a local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of White People.

The move was seen by some white and Negro leaders as an outgrowth of a rapidly spreading belief in the South that the Negro drive for equality and integration is going too far.

According to B. P. Robertson, of Washington, D. C., the campaign is being directed by J. C. Miller, also of Washington. Robertson is vice president of the organization. Miller is in charge of the Richmond headquarters of the organization.

The organization was chartered in Delaware on December 14, 1953, but it appears that the main sponsors of new movement are Washington residents who have been alarmed over President Eisenhower's program of integration in the U. S. armed forces and the abolition of segregation in Washington.

White Advancement Group Seeks 10,000,000 Members

Wpred Atlanta, Ga.

WASHINGTON — (ANP)— Some 10,000,000 members and a branch office in every state are the goal of a newly-organized group designed to offset the advancement of minorities. Phila. 2-25-54

It is the National Association for the Advancement of White People, chartered Dec. 14, 1953, in Delaware by Bryant W. Bowles, 33-year-old Florida-born former marine.

Bowles, who recently opened national headquarters in the Dupont Circle Building here, said membership in the group has almost doubled in the last month. He, however, refused to state specifically the organization's strength.

"We've decided for startegic reasons not to announce our membership until it hits 50,000" he said. "No matter where the 50,000th member lives, we're bringing him here as our guest for a week."

The organization, which boasts of being the white man's NAACP, with different goals, plans branch offices in every state capital. Commenting on the purpose of his group, Bowles said in part: P. 1

"We feel that organized minorities have chiseled away at the white man's way of life so successfully it now becomes necessary for him to have an organized voice of his own.

"We will spend money to investigate and expose groups which are Communist-inspired to incite one race against another."

All other officers of the organization are, with the exception of Bowles' wife ,who is serving as secretary, former servicemen. They are:

Bnjamin P. Robertson, 38, first vice president; Paul S. Robertson, 35, treasurer, and John C. Miller, office manager and assistant secretary.

Bowles will get $7,800 annually as head of the organization.

Locale Of School Integration Gets NAACP Branch

NEW YORK — A new branch of the NAACP has been chartered in Greenbrier County, W. Va., scene of a recent school integration disturbance, it was announced here by Gloster B. Current, director of branches for the Association.

Early in September the school board in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., in Greenbrier County, reversed its decision to integrate local schools in line with the Supreme Court decision banning segregation in public education after white parents and students demonstrated against the entrance of Negro pupils into the formerly all-white high school.

Mr. Current said 12 additional NAACP branches located in nine states were chartered as new units of the Association at a meeting of the national Board of Directors on Nov. 8.

These branches are in Brundidge and Fayette, Ala.; Weed, Calif.; Tensas Parish, La.; Queen Ann County ,Md.; Glen Cove, N. Y.; Columbus County and Stanley, N. C.; Zanesville, Ohio; Clinton, Okla. and Oconee County and Varniville, S. C.

Mr. Current noted that 94 new branches have been chartered by the NAACP Board of Directors since the first of the year.

32b 1954

NAACP

MISSISSIPPI

NAACP Leader Called 'Agitator'

JACKSON, Miss. — (ANP) — Frederick Sullens, one-time owner and now editorial writer for the Jackson Daily News, last week lashed out at Daniel E. Byrd, field secretary of the NAACP, whom Sullens called a "radical Negro agitator."

Sullens said, "The vast majority of Jackson's Negro population prefer their own public schools taught by teachers of their own race."

Prejudice Hurts U. S., Vice President Nixon Tells NACW

By ALICE A. DUNNIGAN

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"Prejudice in the United States . . . hurts us just as much as an espionage agent hurts us when he steals a secret document," declared Vice President Nixon, last week.

EXPLOITED ABOARD

His conclusion was based upon observations made on his recent—world trip. All racial prejudice exciting in this country is exploited in foreign countries by the Communists for propaganda purposes, he said. Every instance of prejudice found in America is blown up into tremendous headlines in the East, and is talked about on the radio and on the streets. The incidents are talked about in an effort to prove that the United States does not believe in equality among peoples.

He praised the recent Supreme Court decision as being of "tremendous importance for America."

"If we get our young people together they are not going to have prejudices as they grow older," he said.

PROMINENT GOVT

The nearly 800 members and guests of NACW representing 42 states were addressed by many other prominent government officials during their week-long convention here.

Among the prominent speakers were Maxwell Rabb, special counsel to President Eisenhower; J. Ernest Wilkins, assistant secretary of Labor; Miss Bertha Adkin, director of the Women's Division of the Republican National Committee; Mrs. Alice Leopold, director of the Women's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor; and Mrs. Katie Louckheim, director of Women's Activities of the Democrat National Committee.

The group also heard Charles Beckett of Public Housing; Dan Counihan, assistant in charge of Congressional liaison to the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare; Scoval Richardson, a member of the Federal Control Board; and Jacob Seidenberg, executive director of the President's Committee on Government contracts.

OPENED WITH MASS MEET

The 29th biennial convention opened Sunday, August 1, with a mass meeting at Metropolitan Baptist and ended the following Friday evening with an Installation banquet at the Association's headquarters.

Officers installed by Mrs. Julia West Hamilton were: Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines of Chicago, president; Mrs A. E. S. Johnson, Texas, first vice president; Mrs. H. M. Gibbs of Alabama, second vice president.

Mrs. Inez W. Tinsley, Mass., was elected first recording secretary; Mrs. Vashti Davis Wright, Calif., second recording secretary; and Mrs. Cornelia Lasley, Wash., third recording secretary.

Mrs. Omega V. Mason, N. J., was elected chairman of the executive board; and Mrs. Luella Goff, Va., secretary of the board. Mrs. Susan J. Blackson, Pa., was elected treasury; Mrs. Lucy Roberson, Pa., parlimentarian; Mrs. Dolly Alexander, Ga., statistician; Mrs. Esther Lee Greenly, Calif., chaplain.

Members of the administrative board were: Mrs. G. W. Williams, Miss.; Mrs. Alice Mickens, Fla.; Mrs. Fannie Baster, Ill.; Mrs. Carrie Hackley, D. C.; and Mrs. Mamie Reese, Ga.

LAUDS PRESIDENT

The Association adopted a number of resolutions touching almost every phase of American life. They also voted to send a letter of commendation to President Eisnhower for his fight for racial equality and for the appointment of a number of Negroes to high places in government.

NCNW went on record as approving the Supreme Court's recent decision on school segregation and as commending the NAACP for its violent fight to achieve this accomplishment.

It resolved to urge state organizations to work with other state organizations to improve the required standard of training for teachers, and to urge Negro teachers to meet these standards.

It voted its approval of a permanent FEPC and urged state federations to work with national legislators in an effort to have such a law enacted and with their governors to see that it is implemented.

MAYOR WAGNER

It urged its women to take greater participation in government operations; and voted to send a letter to Mayor Wagner of New York commending him for the appointment of Mrs. Anna Hedgman as his assistant, a position never before occupied by a Negro woman.

The group voted a strong anti-communist resolution vigorously opposing any group that aims to overthrow the United States Government.

Miss Adkins, the banquet speaker, told the delegates that their new spacious headquarters building is "a symbol of progress your organization has made since it was founded in 1896."

She praised NCNW for its work with juvenile delinquency, and for the "tenacity of spirit" which the women have exemplified in their work with the legislatures in various states to take over the work which they had begun so that the scope of the work could be broadened.

FIRST PRESIDENT

She praised the work of the past presidents and especially Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, UCNW's first president. In referring to their leadership, she emphasized that "A successful leader is one who builds upon the best of the past and has vision and faith for the future. She must have patience, tact and great courage. But above all, she must have the spirit of service."

At the very first meeting of the convention, the women received greetings from President Eisenhower, through his aide Maxwell Rabb.

Rabb also read a message of tribute to the late Mrs. Terrell from Mrs. Eisenhower. The First Lady expressed pride in being able to honor the "memory and the great work" of Mrs. Terrell.

INSPIRING RECORD

"For more than 60 years, her great gifts were dedicated to the bettterment of humanity and she left a truly inspiring record," wrote the First Lady.

Assistant secretary Wilkins in his address at the mass meeting reminded the women that new responsibilities come with new gains in civil rights. Pointing out that the recent Supreme Court decision on integration had given freedom a new meaning for all Americans, Wilkins declared that "we must help prepare our children to take their place in a world not bound by the old horizons."

No matter how much the world changes, he added, it must always rely upon women in our society to provide the basic security from which our character and our personality grows, because they are the mothers and the protectors of children.

Speaking on "Women on Politics" in the Thursday afternoon session, Mrs. Leopold pointed out that women are now upon the threshold of a new age, but she feels that they are eager and ready to make it their opportunity.

Mrs. Lockheim stressed the necessity of all women working in politics. Join some political party, she urged, and work constructively for the things in which you believe.

LONG RUN

In addition, she added, "you will be doing your part to make democracy work."

J. E. Wilkins cited by NACW members

Rabb hits 'unwarranted' criticism of U.S. Navy

WASHINGTON

Assistant Secretary of Labor J. Ernest Wilkins was cited by the National Association of Colored Women, during a Sunday afternoon meeting at which he was also one of the chief speakers.

Mr. Wilkins received a certificate of merit from the 58-year-old organization for pioneer service in the advancement of the race. He was accompanied by his wife and son at the meeting, which was held in the air-conditioned Metropolitan Baptist Church.

THE OTHER chief speaker at the session was Maxwell M. Rabb of the White House staff who spoke on the progress toward full citizenship which he said has been made under the present administration.

Without referring directly to Lester B. Granger of the National Urban League, Mr. Rabb mentioned "unwarranted criticism such as the Navy has encountered."

Mr. Granger recently resigned as policy consultant for the Navy. He charged that the Navy was not doing enough to eliminate remaining discrimination.

— o O o —

"WHAT IS NEEDED," Mr. Rabb declared, "is understanding, cooperation and encouragement. Let us reserve our criticism not for our friends but for those who have been found wanting. We are on the frontiers of a new era and it is important that we all pull together, avoiding unwarranted criticism such as the Navy has encountered."

Mr. Rabb also paid a personal tribute to Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, founder and first president of NACW, whose funeral he attended last Thursday.

— o O o —

After reading a statement from Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower honoring the memory of Mrs. Terrell, Mr. Rabb said, in part:

"She left behind her a legacy of greatness for all who cherish freedom of spirit and of mind . . .There must be no letup in the fight to maintain human and civil rights."

— o O o —

MR. WILKINS, in his address, also eulogized Mrs. Terrell's causes which meant the "eradication of discrimination against all minority groups."

"Her death," Mr. Wilkins asserted, "is a deep loss to her country, but her memory will live on in what she contributed to the quality of life in America and to its freedom and democracy."

Mr. Wilkins then detailed the gains in civil rights which have come about since Mrs. Terrell founded NACW in 1896, and particularly during recent years.

"WITH THESE new gains in civil rights come new responsibilities," he told the members of NACW. "We must be sure that we give our children a sense of the new opportunities that await them. We must help prepare them to take their place in a world in which they are not bound by old horizons.

"This is a new day, this is the beginning of a new era; and before our children can make the most of it, they have to have the self-confidence and the inner security to make the most of themselves. People who really think they are first-class citizens usually act as though they were first-class citizens."

"No one loves freedom so much as the man who has not had it. No one understands so well how precious freedom and dignity are as the man who has just gained it. Because of your struggle our children will be better qualified to serve humanity and our God."

Mrs. Gaines Re-elected NACW Prexy

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines of Chicago was re-elected national president of the National Association of Colored Women during the recent biennial sessions held here. She and other newly elected officers were installed by Mrs. Julia West Hamilton of the Phillis Wheatley YWCA.

Others installed were Mrs. A. E. S. Johnson, Texas, first vice president, and Mrs. H. M. Gibbs, Alabama, second vice president.

Mrs. Inez Y. Tinsley, Massachusetts, was elected first recording secretary, Mrs. Vassie Davis Wright, California, second recording secretary, and Mrs. Cornelia Dasley, Washington, third recording secretary.

Mrs. Omega V. Mason, New Jersey, was elected chairman of the executive board, and Mrs. Luella Goff, Virginia, secretary of the board. Mrs. Susan J. Blackson, Pennsylvania, treasurer; Mrs. Lucy Robinson, Pennsylvania, parliamentarian; Mrs. Dolly Alexander, Georgia, statistician; Mrs. Mae Baker, Colorado, auditor, and Mrs. Esther Lee Greenley, California, chaplain.

Members elected to the administrative board were Mrs. G. W. Williams, Missisippi; Mrs. Alice Mickens, Florida; Mrs. Fannie Laster, Illinois; Mrs. Carrie Hackley, District of Columbia, and Mrs. Mamie Reese, Georgia.

NACW Leaders To Hold Next Meeting In Miami

WASHINGTON — (SNS) — Although saddened by passing of the association's first president, Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, delegates at the 29th biennial convention and 58th anniversary celebration of the National Association of Colored women and the National Association of Colored Girls, in session here July 31 to August 6, followed a streamlined business program, h[illegible] standing persons in political and social fields, and el[illegible] the next national meeting in Miami, Fla.

In separate actions the body, in sessions presided over by the president, Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines, voted to launch a $100,000 headquarters expansion drive as a memorial to the late Mrs. Mary Church Terrell and name the auditorium in the building dedicated August 1, in her honor; re-emphasize each state's program to combat juvenile delinquency in cooperation with other local groups; establish a committee on highway safety; support the Crusade for Freedom, sponsored by the American Heritage Foundation; give financial support to Aid to Korean Children; coordinate efforts of health and dietary education and strengthen the junior organization, he National Association of Colored Girls.

Delegates adopted another resolution providing for naming of rooms at the headquarters building for donors of $300 to $1000.

MAJOR OFFICERS REELECTED

At the Thursday session, all major officers were relected the president, being unopposed for a second term Installation was held at a Friday night banquet with Miss Bertha Atkins as speaker. Other convention features included a Public Education meeting, August 1 with the Hon. Ernest C. Wilkins, assistant secretary of Labor as principal speaker. Mr. Wilkins was awarded a certificate of merit by NACW. Dedication of Headquarters building was followed with departmental and executive committee meetings.

A grand affair in the Howard University Quadrangle was a lawn party honoring pioneers, past presidents Mrs. Gaines and delegates. Other events were Grand March of States, Pilgrimage to Unknown Soldiers Tomb; a supper oratorical contest and talent show, a press breakfast with Mrs. Pearl M. Dabney, editor, National Notes presiding, attended by some 200 persons with eight co[illegible]urants, including Mrs. Alice D[illegible]gan, NNPA reporter; a tour [illegible] the White House for more than 500 delegates, made on two different Stadium presented by National Negro Opera company and fashion show, Parade of Stars.

IMPORTANT SPEAKERS

In addition to full reports of the national and state presidents, including Mrs Gibbs, first vice president of Alabama, delegates devoted serious thought to committee reports; a panel discussion, "Know Your Government" with E. Frederick Morrow, U. . Department mission of Public Housing on race relations, Nelson Rockefeller, under secretary of U S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Scovel Richardson, member Federal Parole Board and Maxwell M. Rabb, associate counsel to President Eisenhower who brought greetings from the President and explained workings of the White House.

NACW Workshops, coordinated by Miss Florence O. Alexander, Mrs. Ruth C. Mueller and Mrs. L. J. Johnson covered Arts and Crafts, Education, Health, Human Relations (interracial), legislation, mother, homes and child, women in industry and NACG.

FIRST COLORED WOMAN TO PLACE A WREATH ON THE TOMB OF THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER in Arlington. It was a very impressive and thrilling sight to see the President of the National Association of Colored Women, Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines, escorted by a military officer in full dress uniform, march down the wide stairway from the chapel to the Tomb, followed by the National Officers and Escort committee, and reverently place a large, beautiful wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Five bus loads of Delegates to the NACW meeting also witnessed the ceremony.

Honor founder of oldest NACW house

By HELEN S. JACKSON

NEW YORK (ANP)—The oldest National Association of Colored Womens club house in America, 262 W. 136th St., here, was the scene of a historic event Sunday when a portrait of the last of its founders, Mary L. Lewis, was unveiled.

Miss Lewis died two years ago.

The rustic atmosphere of the three-story graystone, with its square piano and old oak secretary was filled with many fond memories of struggles and triumphs during the 53 years of the home for working girls organization, known as The White Rose Mission and Industrial Association. Many a "city-struck" girl has found it a haven. Even now it has a waiting list for its 10 residential rentals.

The home was a "travelers aid" bureau in the days when Harlem housed principally white families. It also afforded much of the social life for newcomers of those days with its Mothers Club, Arts and Crafts and Sewing class, of which Miss Lewis was instructor, and Strangers Aid Department. Mrs. Anna P. Williams is the present matron of the home, where residents keep house just as if in their own home.

— o O o —

THE HOME was begun in 1897 at a meeting in the home of the honoree's mother, the late Mrs. Richard Lewis, with her daughter and the late Mrs. Victoria Earl Matthews present. Its primary purpose was to help combat the many pitfalls confronting young women coming to the "Big City" alone.

Serving as chairman for the unveiling program was the Rev. Mrs. Carrie T. Hooper, chairman of the association's trustees. Others on the committee were Mrs. Hudsy Smith, president; Mrs. Mattie K. Daniels, vice president; Miss Hattie P. Madison financial secretary. Mrs. Dora N. Lee, president of the Northeast Federation, was guest of honor.

Confab On Human Relations Reveals Part Of Women's Groups

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — The Los Angeles area of the Southwest Regional, an affiliate of the National Association of Colored Women, Inc. last week held its first annual conference on human relations using the theme "Women in Today's World."

The meetings were held in Cosmopolitan hotel at Los Angeles under the leadership of Mrs. Mabel V. Gray, regional president.

Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines, president of the association, made the keynote address on "Interpretation of National Policy and Program." She told the story of the part played by the association with other organized women's groups in changing the status of women from that of being little more than chattel slaves to that legal, social and economic equality.

The national president appealed to the delegates to continue the pattern of social advance laid down 58 years ago by NACW founders.

SERVE WITHOUT LIMIT

She admonished them to use the old principles with new techniques, and to continue the will to serve without limit."

"Let us", she continued, "increase our power for good without measure, and with our motto, "Lifting as We Climb" as our beacon, make this battered old world of ours a better place in which to live."

Other topics discussed at the meeting included an [illegible] "Health," "The Political [illegible] Aspects of Human Relations," "The Legal Aspect," "The Role of Women In Education" and "Human Relations. How to Get Along With People."

CALIF. PREY SPEAKS

The latter subject was discussed by Dr. Henry McClain, dean of the College of Religious Science and Philosophy. The official welcome address to the conference was made by Mrs. Alberta Godwin, president of the California State Association of Colored Women.

Greetings were extended by Mrs. Ida Mae Robertson, president of the southern section and by Mrs. Gertrude Reese Hicks, president of the past state presidents' congress and Mrs. Maggie Marshall, Northern Section of C.S.A.W.

Among those addressing the meeting were: Mrs. Betty Hill, director of public relations of the Women's Political Study club; Judge Fred Houser, candidate for the office of Lieutenant Governor; Mrs. Daniel E. Crowley, Federation of Women's clubs and Mrs. Billie Ashby, past state president and secretary of the executive board of NACW.

SPEAKERS NUMEROUS

Mrs. Vassie D. Wright, national third recording secretary, presided at an inter-group seminar dealing with "Unity to Secure Human Rights."

Participants included Mrs. Anna Rosen, president of Federated Jewish clubs; Mrs. George Washington Cornelius, president of the California Federation of Women's clubs; Mrs. Marie Cruz(Mexican Civic worker; and Mrs. Artisha Jordan, wife of Bishop Frederick D. Jordan, recently returned from Africa.

Still others taking part on the program were Dean Granville W. Reed of Reed College of Religion; Mrs. Ruby Berkley Godwin, author of "It's Good To Be Black"; Mrs. Ella Mays of the Metropolitan Board of the YWCA; and Mrs. Blanche Carter who discussed the church.

Mrs. Chlora Sledge Hayes of Berkley, past president and member of the National Education committee.

A program by youth was sponsored by the National Association of Girls under the direction of the state supervisor, Mrs. Anna Mabry.

Federated CLUBS

ILLINOIS CLUB WOMEN ELECT NEW PRESIDENT

The Illinois Association of Club Women closed its 55th annual convention June 6-9 when more than 300 delegates from all parts of the state met at Metropolitan Community Church of Chicago and reported to the public their stewardship for the past year and for the administration of the out-going president, Mrs. Fannie M. Carter and her staff of officers.

Mrs. Dodson

The regular mass meeting was held Sunday, June 6. The days were given over to the executive work of the organization. Monday night under the chairmanship of Mrs. Beatrice Hall Howard a five dollar plate banquet was served honoring the state president, Mrs. Carter and the National president, Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines. Both were presented all-leather brief cases and flowers.

Tuesday night was girls' night and Miss Jones of Chicago, a Du Sable graduate of this year, who won the oratorical contest spoke. Miss Jean Woods of Rock Island, chairman of the Young Adults Department presented a program.

On Wednesday night the newly-elected officers were installed in office at the headquarters of the Chicago and Northern District Association of Colored Women, Inc., 4441 Drexel Avenue. A reception was tendered the delegates. The 1955 meeting will be held in East St. Louis with the council of Clubs as hostess. Mrs. Lottie Killion is president.

This was general election year. There is a time limit of two years and the officers elected for the next term are as follows: President, Mrs. Ada Lum, public school teacher and civic worker of Madison, Ill.; vice pres. Mrs. Alva Delaney of Chicago for the Northern District; Mrs. Alice Foy of Rock Island for the Central and Mrs. Neeley of East St. Louis for the Southern; Mrs. Ruby Meadows of Bloomington financial secretary; Mrs. Izolz White of Chicago, recording secretary; Mesdames Vivian Cammon, Gertrude Walker and Ethel Lewis are assistant secretaries; Mrs. Etta Jackson, chaplain; chairman of the executive board Mrs. Beatrice Howard; secretary of the board Mrs. Deloris White; chairman of the board of directors Mrs. Katherine Johnson and members of board Mesdames Henrietta Bailey and Jewell Young; chairman of scholarship Mrs. Ossie B. Wiley.

Outstanding speakers and guests were Atty. Jewell Stratton Rogers, Mrs. Faith Rich, chairman of Education for the N.A.A.C.P., Mrs. John Hancock, vice president of the Citizens School Committee and Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines, president of the National Association of Colored Women. J. Wesley Jones and Walter Gossard made fine contributions to the musical program, as did Charles Theodore Stone, Mary Crawley and others. This department is in charge of Mrs. Dorothy O'Bryant.

President Fannie M. Carter, delivered her annual address on Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Jeannette Heard was made chairman of girls.

Mrs. Grace D. Wells reported the new membership of nine clubs and more than 100 new life members. She also inaugurated a membership card system. The Hospitality and annual Tea committees sponsored the reception.

Mrs. Dora I. Robinson as chairman of special awards raised more than $500. Three four year scholaships of $200 each were made to deserving students from the Annia Laurie Anderson Scholarship Loan Fund.

The club women of DuQuoin, Ill., have purchased the Annie Laurie Andersons home as a community center.

The word COLORED was legislated out of the state organization's name. It now is the Illinois Association of Club Women.

A telegram was sent Chief Justice Warren commending the Supreme Court's decision.

Miss Gladys Watts reported having raised more than $100 for the Scholarship Loan Fund.

Mrs. Ella Mitchell reported more than $790 for the Frederick Douglas Home.

Mrs. Carrie S. Horton reports much progress in the raising of funds for the new national headquarters. It is said that $1000 is the set goal.

The National Association of Colored Women will meet in Washington D. C., from July 31 through August 6.

Federated CLUBS

N. A. C. W. HOLDS BIENNIAL MEETING IN WASHINGTON

The Transportation committee of the National Association of Colored Women, inc., which is composed of the national president, Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines, the national chairman, Mrs. Fannie M. Carter and Miss Harriet Jones, consultant, has issued the CALL to the officers, delegates and members of the National Association of Colored Women, inc., for the biennial convention of the organization to take place in Washington, D. C. July 31-August 6, 1954.

Mrs. Dodson

The Pennsylvania railroad has been selected and a post-convention tour to Philadelphia, Valley Forge and New York City has been included. All persons interested are asked to make their reservations early.

Special arrangements have been made for the post-convention tour to Philadelphia for a visit to Valley Forge where the National Association of Colored Women and the Frederick Douglass Memorial and Historical Association, Inc., were awarded the 1953 George Washington Honor Medals by Freedom Foundation for their cooperation in the 16mm film, "The House on Cedar Hill."

From Valley Forge the tour takes the delegates to N. Y. city for two days and two nights headlighted by a visit to the United Nations where they will make a tour of the building and be addressed by a member of the United Nations.

On leaving Chicago a baggage committee will be on hand at check table at the Chicago Union Station two hours prior to train time, 4:40 p. m., Central Daylight Saving Time. Friday, July 30 there will be a special section of streamlined "Liberty Limited," consisting of sleeping cars, offering lower and upper berths, roometts, bedrooms, compartments, drawing rooms — reclining seats, air conditioned coaches, lounge baggage car and dining car.

This train passes through Indiana, Ohio and Pittsburgh Pa. Saturday, July 31, arrives in Washington, D. C. 9:35 Eastern daylight saving time. Baggage on train and bus will be transferred to convention headquarters.

Saturday, July 31, the diner will be open at 7 a. m., then to the convention headquarters where until August 6 the organization will be in session.

On Saturday, August 7, leave Washington from the Union Station at 1:30 a. m. Eastern daylight saving time, arrive Philadelphia, 30th st. station. Personal effects and baggage are left on train during layover in Philadelphia. Motors wait to take delegates on a complete tour of Valley Forge Park.

Stops are made in Washington's headquarters and Memorial Chapel. Returning delegates will see the famous Liberty Bell and Independence Hall. Train leaves Philadelphia 6. p. m. Arrive in New York City 7:45 p. m.

On arriving in New York City, motors transfer delegates to the Empire Hotel, 63rd and Broadway where they will stay for the next two nights. Sunday, August 8, morning will be left open for those who wish to attend church. At 1 p. m. motors take delegates on city tour of Upper Manhattan, stop at Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

The route includes Central Park, Riverside Drive, Columbia university, Grant's Tomb, Fifth ave., etc. Tour ends at 3:30. Special China Town tour is made at 6:30 where a 13 course Cantonese dinner will be served. This trip covers Lower Manhattan. The famous Bowery will be also seen.

Monday, August 9th, delegates board sight-seeing yacht for a complete round trip around Manhattan Island. Return to hotel where motors take delegates to United Nations building. There will be an address by a member of United Nations.

At 4 p. m. motors will transfer those so desiring to Pennsylvania station. Train leaves at 7:10 p. m.

August 10 at 8:00 breakfast is served in the diner and train arrives in Chicago. For further information write the transportation committee at 1114 "O" Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Federated CLUBS

N. A. C. W. HOLDS BIENNIAL MEETING IN WASHINGTON

The Transportation committee of the National Association of Colored Women, inc., which is composed of the national president Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines, the national chairman, Mrs. Fannie M. Carter and Miss Harriet Jones, consultant, has issued the CALL to the officers, delegates and members of the National Association of Colored Women, inc., for the biennial convention of the organization to take place in Washington, D. C. July 31-August 6, 1954.

Mrs. Dodson

The Pennsylvania railroad has been selected and a post-convention tour to Philadelphia, Valley Forge and New York City has been included. All persons interested are asked to make their reservations early.

Special arrangements have been made for the post-convention tour to Philadelphia for a visit to Valley Forge where the National Association of Colored Women and the Frederick Douglass Memorial and Historical Association, Inc., were awarded the 1953 George Washington Honor Medals by Freedom Foundation for their cooperation in the 16mm film, "The House on Cedar Hill."

From Valley Forge the tour takes the delegates to N. Y. city for two days and two nights headlighted by a visit to the United Nations where they will make a tour of the building and be addressed by a member of the United Nations.

On leaving Chicago a baggage committee will be on hand at check table at the Chicago Union Station two hours prior to train time, 4:40 p. m., Central Daylight Saving Time. Friday, July 30 there will be a special section of streamlined "Liberty Limited," consisting of sleeping cars, offering lower and upper berths, roometts, bedrooms, compartments, drawing rooms — reclining seats, air conditioned coaches, lounge baggage car and dining car.

This train passes through Indiana, Ohio and Pittsburgh Pa. Saturday, July 31, arrives in Washington, D. C. 9:35 Eastern daylight saving time. Baggage on train and bus will be transferred to convention headquarters.

Saturday, July 31, the diner will be open at 7 a. m., then to the convention headquarters where until August 6 the organization will be in session.

On Saturday, August 7, leave Washington from the Union Station at 1:30 a. m. Eastern daylight saving time, arrive Philadelphia, 30th st. station. Personal effects and baggage are left on train during layover in Philadelphia. Motors wait to take delegates on a complete tour of Valley Forge Park.

Stops are made in Washington's headquarters and Memorial Chapel. Returning delegates will see the famous Liberty Bell and Independence Hall. Train leaves Philadelphia 6. p. m. Arrive in New York City 7:45 p. m.

On arriving in New York City, motors transfer delegates to the Empire Hotel, 63rd and Broadway where they will stay for the next two nights. Sunday, August 8, morning will be left open for those who wish to attend church. At 1 p. m. motors take delegates on city tour of Upper Manhattan, stop at Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

The route includes Central Park, Riverside Drive, Columbia university, Grant's Tomb, Fifth ave., etc. Tour ends at 3:30. Special China Town tour is made at 6:30 where a 13 course Cantonese dinner will be served. This trip covers Lower Manhattan. The famous Bowery will be also seen.

Monday, August 9th, delegates board sight-seeing yacht for a complete round trip around Manhattan Island. Return to hotel where motors take delegates to United Nations building. There will be an address by a member of United Nations.

At 4 p. m. motors will transfer those so desiring to Pennsylvania station. Train leaves at 7:10 p. m.

August 10 at 8:00 breakfast is served in the diner and train arrives in Chicago. For further information write the transportation committee at 1114 "O" Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Gaines Visits D. C. Committee

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines, president of the National Association of Colored Women, Inc., has just completed a visit to the new national headquarters of the organization at 1601 R Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

While here Mrs. Gaines met with the local committee planning activities for the twenty-ninth biennial and fifty-eighth anniversary Convention of NACW. She further announced a tour of the White House by delegates as part of the convention. In addition to the public affairs workshop formerly announced, there will be workshops held by the Legislation, Mother, Home, Child, Women in Industry and Education Committees.

The National Negro Opera Company, Mme. Mary Cardwell Dawson, chairman, has announced that in addition to its grand musicale, "Stars Under the Stars," it will sponsor a "Parade of Stars" in Northwest Washington and a formal reception at Association House immediately after the musicale at Griffith Stadium.

32b 1954

College Women hold workshop

NEW YORK CITY — The executive committee of the National Association of College Women held its annual Executive Workshop this week, Aug. 26-28 at the Henry Hudson Hotel.

The committee, representing college women throughout the United States, presented a two-fold program on a national and international basis. The group will use as its theme for 1954-55 "Educating Adults for Desegregation."

The body recognizes the responsibility of all groups to aid in training to meet the changes in educational policies that will affect all races as segregation is abolished.

—oOo—

THE PUBLIC and International Affairs Committee will adopt as its project the sending of books to the Lagos City College in Lagos, Nigeria, West Africa. The Prime Minister of Eastern Nigeria, Nnambi Azikiew recently founded this institution in keeping with the new educational policies of that country.

Miss Chung-Wenn-Sheh, a student of Duke University, Raleigh, N.C. was selected as the recipient of the Association's $1,000 Fellowship to complete work on her doctorate degree at Duke University.

Miss Sheh received her bachelor's degree from the University of Nanking in Nanking, China and the master's degree at Duke University. She will receive her doctorate in sementics in June, 1955, completing three years work in two years.

—oOo—

A REPORT of the Inter-National Fiesta, a special fund-raising project sponsored by the Association in cooperation with its local branches located in 37 states was made by Mrs. Lucinda Fox Ward, national vice president. The branches receiving special commendation were Washington and Richmond, Va.

Seven new branches set up since the 1953 workshop are in Queens, N.Y.; Plainfield, N.J.; Fredericksburg, Va.; Houston, Tex., and in the state of Louisiana, St. Helena, Natchitochus and Shreveport.

The social activities for the Executive Committee included a reception given by the New York branch at the 135th St. YMCA Annex with Mrs. Viola Bullock, president, acting as official hostess.

Dinner for the national president, Mrs. Thelma T. Williams and Mrs. Nnambi Azikiwe was given by Mrs. Ward; and a theater party was given by Mrs. Willie Churchill, the North East Section director.

—oOo—

THOSE PRESENT at the meeting were:

Mrs. Thelma T. Williams, president, Chicago; Mrs. Lucinda F. Ward, vice president, NYC; Mrs. Jimmie B. Middleton, treasurer, Raleigh, N.C.; Marion Scott, corresponding secretary, Montclair, N.J.;

Portia Bullock, recording secretary, Washington; Mrs. Charlotte Gordon, execuuive secretary, Washington; Mrs. Willie Churchill, North East Section; N. Ringgold, South Central Section director, Baton Rouge, La.;

Mrs. Frances Gregory, executive member-at-large, Newark, N.J.; Mrs. Rhoda C. Berry, International Public Affairs chairman, NYC, and Mrs. Edna Wells, publicity chairman, Philadelphia. Secretary for the meeting was Mrs. Georgia M. Brown Montclair, N.J.

Philadelphia was chosen as the site of the 1955 convention which is to be held in late August.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGE WOMEN

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGE WOMEN —Seated left to right, Mrs. Jimmie B. Middleton, treasurer, Raleigh, N.C.; Mrs. Willie Churchill, North East Section director, New York; Mrs. Portia Bullock, recording secretary, Washington; Mrs. Viola Bullock, president, New York branch; Mrs. Maggie N. Ringgold, South Central Section director; Miss Marion Scott, recording secretary, Montclair, N.J.; Mrs. Thelma T. Williams, president; Mrs. Charlotte Gordon, executive secretary, Washington; Mrs. Georgia Brown, secretary for the meeting; Standing left to right, Mrs. Rhoda C. Berry, public affairs chairman; Mrs. Lucinda F. Ward, vice president, NYC; Mrs. Edna Wells, publicity chairman, NYC; Mrs. Francis Gregory, executive member-at-large, Newark.

D.C. NACW To Honor Mrs. Mary Church Terrell

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (ANP) — Several local groups affiliated with the National Association of Colored Women have begun the campaign to raise money on the $100,000 headquarters expansion project as a memorial to the body's first president, the late Mrs. Mary Church Terrell.

The memorial which was decided upon at the 29th biennial convention of the association here in August will take the form of eliminating the current debt on the new headquarters building at 1601 R Street. The building was dedicated during the convention in August.

WASHINGTON POST

Mrs. Terrell, who died on July 24 was regarded in America and abroad as one of the most influential and renowned women leaders of her generation. A letter to the Washington Post recently written by Glenn D. Everett said in part:

"By constant pointing out the injustices of racial discrimination and the essentials conflict between the principles of Christianity and democracy on the one hand, and our prevailing racial attitudes on the other." Mrs. Terrell "helped the white people of our nation's capital develop a new sense of morality. She helped them overcome the heritage of the prejudice-ridden rigidity segregated society into which they were born. He added:

GRATITUDE

"This was a tremendous obstacle for the white race to overcome, for it meant making an admission that the social order they had established was unjust. Mrs. Terrell always understood and sympathized with this difficulty ..... for this the white race owes Mrs. Terrell a debt of gratitude. We are visibly the better for her having among us."

The convention made provisions for naming rooms at the headquarters building for donors of $300 to $1,000. It reported several groups are trying to win this honor.

32b 1954

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF FASHION AND ACCESSORY DESIGNERS, INC.

NAFAD Confab To End In Fashion Tour Of Europe

NEW YORK CITY — When the National Association of Fashion and Accessory Designers, inc., holds its fifth annual convention at the Hotel Theresa here on July 29 and 30, the theme will be "Building For An Economic Tomorrow."

An air of expectancy that has permeated the planning stages will doubtless carry over into the sessions of reports, workshops, and committee meetings. Designers look forward eagerly to the culminating activity, the month long trip to Europe. They will visit in London, Paris, parts of Switzerland and Italy.

The national president, Mrs. Freddye Henderson, who considers this tour the culmination of her four year tenure, has for the group a much coveted invitation to lunch with Christian Dior and see his collection show.

In London the group will visit with designer Norman Hertnell, who makes clothes for the Queen of England and the Royal family.

In Switzerland the eight ladies who make the tour will visit house where exquisite fabrics, laces and embroideries are made. In Rome designers Fontana ens Emilio will show their collections.

Highlighting the convention also will be Bon Voyage dinner and dance in the Skyline Room of the Hotel Theresa. Guest speaker for the occasion will be Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, president of the National Council of Negro Women.

This affair will officially close the convention, however, out-of-town delegates will remain in town to join New York members in a motorcade to the Idlewilde Airport where the ladies will board a TWA Constellation to spend the entire month of August on the continent.

32b 1954

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF LETTER CARRIERS

Cit. 10-13-54 P. 6

BERT G. SENTER, left, receivse a life membership and gold card from Edwin C. Stauder, president of Branch 343, National Association of Letter Carriers at the Italian Hall, 623 N. Vandeventer ave., last Saturday. Senter, who lives at 4320a Evans ave., is a retired letter carrier. He is a veteran of the Spanish-American War, where he served in he Philippines with Gen. Lawton's second advance. He was appointed a letter carrier in January, 1904.

32b 1954

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF HOME BUILDERS

Realtors Pledge To Support Plan For Housing Negroes

Albuquerque Tribune 11-16-54

WASHINGTON —(ANP)— The National Association of Home Builders last week pledged its support to administrator Albert M. Cole's drive to construct more houses for Negroes and other minority groups.

The association said it plans to make at least 10 percent of all new housing, estimated at more than 1,200,000 dwellings next year, available to Negroes.

HIGHER PERCENTAGE

The NAHB president, Richard G. Hughes, considers the 10 percentage will be needed in many areas, especially in the South.

Members of the organizations are said to be willing and eager to develop the market for 16,000,000 minority families. whose incomes have risen substantially since World War II.

CITY PLANNING

A NAHP spokesman said adequate credit is available in most areas for Negro housing, but a greater help will be needed from city planning authorities to effect zoning changes to encourage big-scale construction.

Some builders are in agreement with President Eisenhower's "special assistance fund" authorized under the new housing act to supplement credit for minority housing in areas where it is scarce. Under this law, the President can instruct government owned federal national mortgage associations to earmark part of their resources for minority housing.

Officers Of National Association Of Market Developers

Above are seen some of the officers of the newly formed National Association of Market Developers, the national professional organization of sales, advertising and public relations people, which was launched at Tennessee A. & I. State University, in Nashville, last week. Seen standing, left to right, are Wendell Alston, Esso Standard Oil Company, 1st vic president, Moss H. Kendrix, The Moss H. Kendrix Organization; president, Philip Jenkins, B. G. Philips Company, member of the board of directors, William F. Nabors, Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Memphis, assistant treasurer, and Samuel Whiteman, R. Mars, The Contract Company, 2nd vice president. Seated are Nrs. Mary Fuller Smith, Fuller Products Company, assistant secretary, and Ramon Scruggs, Michigan Bell Telephone Company, treasurer.

Jamaica Club Hostess To Business Women's Meet

Defender Chicago Ill 32b

JAMAICA, L. I. — Dr. Lucie E. Thompson, leading business woman of Chicago and national president of the National Association Negro Business and Professional Women's clubs, inc., announced this week that the Jamaica Club of the business association will be hostess to the 19th annual convention on October 29 through 31.

DR. L. E. THOMPSON

The convention, which will be composed of outstanding business and professional women through the United States, Africa, England and France, will hold its sessions at the Jamaica Armoury.

Panel discussions and workshops will be held under the leadership of noted authorities in the business and professional world.

National officers who work with Dr. Thompson are Mesdames Belle Miller, Cleveland, Ohio; Gertrude Anderson, Birmingham, Ala.; Evelyn Benston, Centerville, Md., vice president; Marie Harrison, East Orange, N. J., financial secretary; Marion Bryant, Pittsburgh, Pa., recording secretary and Wilnette B. Price, Atlantic City, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Minnie D. Hurley, New York, serves in the capacity of treasurer. Mrs. Ola Jones of Chicago is editor of Responsibility and Mrs. Alberta Person, Brooklyn, the business manager.

Other national officers and junior leaders are Atty. Eunice Carter, New York City; Catherine Church, Philadelphia; Doris Johnson Stamford, Conn.; Florence Gibson, Easton, Md., and the Parliamentarians, Mmes. Helen Craig Goins and Catherine Richards of Philadelphia.

Past national presidents are Mmes. Ollie M. Porter, New York City; Bertha P. Rhodes, Philadelphia; Anna F. Broadnax, Wilmington, Del.; Ruth A. Handy, Brooklyn; Florence Madison Hill, Philadelphia and Geneva K. Valentine, Washington, D. C.

32b 1954

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF NEGRO MUSICIANS

P.D. St Louis, Mo. 9-17-54

MRS. MATTIE B. ROBINSON has been appointed by the president of the National Association of Negro Musicians, Dr. Roscoe R. Potter to serve the St. Louis Local as his personal representative. Mrs. Robinson is also chairman of all local presidents and it was thru her efforts that more than $900 was raised and awarded in scholarships at the National meeting in New Orleans.

NAREB Bigwigs—The seventh annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Brokers will be held at Philadelphia's Broadwood Hotel, Oct. 11-15. Responsible for planning convention activities are, standing, left to right: Jesse Vann, Brooklyn; William Harps, Washington, D. C.; Wendell Catlin, Cleveland; Ripley B. Mead Jr., Chicago, and Albert Peteson, Philadelphia. Seated: Philathea Hall, Baltimore; Lenerte Roberts, Philadelphia; George S. Harris, national president, Chicago, and W. D. Morrison, Detroit.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REAL ESTATE Brokers holds pre-convention meeting in Broadview hotel, Philadelphia, to map plans for the 7th annual convention to be held in Philadelphia Oct. 11-15. Convention program was outlined and headquarters were established at 101 N. 52nd st., with Lenerte Roberts as convention chairman. Seated left to right, Phliathea Hall, Balimore, Md.; Lenerte Roberts, George S. Harris, national president, Chicago, and W. D. Morrison, founder and member of the board of directors, Detroit, Mich. Standing: Jesse Vann, Brooklyn, N. Y.; William Harps, Washington, D. C.; Wendell Gatlin, Cleveland, Ohio; Ripley B. Mead, jr., representing Dearborn Real Estate Board, Chicago; and Albert Leteson, Philadelphia.

At Philadelphia Meet

Realtists Re-elect Harris as President

Courier Pittsburgh Pa. Sat 10-30-54 P. 3

By RICHARD M. SMYTHE

PHILADELPHIA—The nation's top leaders in the field of mortgage and real estate concluded their national convention in the Quaker City at which time they jointly sought an answer to the primary domestic economic problem of the nation . . . HOUSING.

Concluding one of the most beneficial and stimulating meetings of its seven-year history, the National Association of Real Estate Brokers elected George S. Harris as their national president. Mr. Harris brought to the assembly a complete program for achieving democracy in housing.

The affable and astute real estate broker and investment officer of the Chicago Metropolitan Mutual Assurance Company outlined a program for obtaining the ends set forth in the President of the United States' Housing Act of 1954. Harris set the pace for gathering, which had for its central theme: "Democracy in Housing," by stating "the Negro broker of America could give direction to the Voluntary Credit Extension plan by insisting on being included in the national and local committees and thereby make a direct approach to meeting the needs and problems of all areas of mortgage financing, faced by non-white and minority groups in America today.

MAYOR PRAISES REALTISTS' STAND

Speaking at the realtists' luncheon banquet, Mayor Joseph Sill Clark Jr. of Philadelphia, roundly praised the brokers for their aggressive, cool, impassioned but persistent efforts in striving to solve the housing problems of the American Negro. He told the realtists, "We must do the job from the standpoint of ethics. Morality and maturity of thought and action are the essential bases upon which the salvation of the problem must be founded."

In addition to George S. Harris as national president, the convention named the following as officers: W. B. Muse, vice president; F. Henry Williams, Jacksonville, secretary; Wilbur H. Slaughter, Illinois, treasurer; Willis M. Graves, Michigan general counsel, famed as the attorney in the infamous Sweet case in Detroit more than two decades ago; George W. Crank, assistant general counsel; Norman B. Johnson, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Lina Derritt, national organizer; Robert Newman, assistant national organizer from California; Gladys C. Vaught, registrar; Edith E. Gaddie of Pennsylvania, assistant registrar; Arnett G. Lindsay, historian and editor of Bulletin, from Washington, D. C.

The regional vice presidents consist of Bolin V. Bland of Chicago; Willis E. Carson, California; V. H. Dixon, Tennessee; E. L. Hardy of Texas, L. T. Huff of Cleveland, Ohio; F. A. Jones of St. Louis, Mo.; Irene F. Trulear of Philadelphia; N. T. Williams of Norfolk, Va., and J. R. Wilson of Georgia.

W. B. Muse to direct real estate brokers' campaign

Afro American

CHICAGO — W. B. Muse of Martinsville, Va., associated with the firm of Williams and Muse and the First State Bank of Danville, Va., was recently selected to head the national membership drive of the National Association of Real Estate Brokers, Inc.

The plans for the drive, along with an educational program were outlined during a special meeting in Chicago, called by the president of the association, George S. Harris.

Mr. Harris emphasized the need for a stepped-up program for "Democracy in housing" and said the challenge of a stronger organization should be met by all persons in the profession.

* * *

"WITH THE passage of the new Housing Act of 1954," the president said, "there is the dawn of a new era and we must meet the challenge in terms of new financing and greater responsibility to serve our areas of operation."

Besides the president, who is associated with the Chicago Metropolitan Mutual Insurance Co., others at the meeting were: Mesdames Line Deritt, Cleveland; Irene Trulear, Philadelphia; Messrs. F. Henry Williams, Jackson, Fla.

Also, F. A. Jones, St. Louis, Mo.; Bolin V. Bland, Emore Baker and William M. Slaughter, all of Chiago; L. F. Huff, Cleveland, and Mr. Muse.

M. B. MUSE

Bar Association sets '55 convention in Washington

By J. DELMAS ESCOE

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Meeting here last week, the National Bar Association commended downtown hotels for opening their doors to all delegates without discrimination and voted to hold its next meeting in Washington, D.C.

Resolutions passed during the 29th annual session:

Urged the President and Congress to support efforts being made within the United Nations to expose conditions of enslaved and mistreated peoples in South Africa and other parts of the world;

Denounced attempts in some southern areas to circumvent the recent Supreme Court decision against segregation in public schools and pledged a vigorous fight against such efforts;

—oOo—

CONDEMNED THE policy of systematically excluding from appointment to the Federal judiciary qualified persons of color;

Urged state, county and city authorities to begin at once to integrate qualified persons of color to responsible positions in the executive, judicial and legislative areas of their respective jurisdictions;

Called on NBA members to continue unceasingly their efforts to get every citizen to recognize the power of his vote and to wage a fight against all rules, regulations, laws and customs which control the full and equal use of the ballot by colored citizens; and

Advocated the passage of proposed legislation which would prohibit racial discrimination in interstate commerce and provides adequate enforcement measures.

—oOo—

W. HAROLD FLOWERS, retiring president, urged listeners not to turn their backs on the colored lawyer.

"Where would you be in our fight for full equality"? he asked. "I say to you that the colored lawyer is one of the unsung heroes of our time."

Mr. Flowers shared the platform with Judge Wendell B. Green who challenged the lawyers to have the "faith of your fathers" in the struggle toward full democracy and first-class citizenship.

Missouri's attorney general, John Dalton, described the U.S. Constitution as a "cure for all our problems" and pointed out that that great document, although written many years ago, is still elastic enough to meet the changing conditions of an atomic age.

—oOo—

JUDGE CHARLES E. WHITTAKER, speaking on "The Philosophy and Function of a Bar Association," urged the lawyers to develop a "professional conscience" in their relationships with their clients.

"It is only by observing a rigid code of ethics and by following to the letter the lawyers' oath that you can win the complete and lasting respect of the public," Judge Whittaker said.

State Supreme Court Justice Lawrence M. Hyde, discussing "The Lawyer's Responsibility for Freedom and Democracy," said.

"Freedom is like a bag of sand. If there is a hole anywhere in the bag, all the sand will run out. Likewise, if any group of our people are denied their rights, sooner or later all groups stand to lose their rights.

"Therefore, it is not surprising to find that in many nations where minorities have been oppressed that all freedom has run out."

THE SPEAKER asserted that without the lawyer, free government, justice, freedom or democracy cannot long endure, adding:

"The greatest honor of the lawyer is that he does dare to maintain the rights of citizens."

Harold E. Bledsoe of Detroit was unanimously elected president of the association Saturday at the closing session. A practisting lawyer, for 3 years, he served last year as first vice-president.

Mr. Bledsoe succeeds W. Harold of Pine Bluff, Ark.

—oOo—

OTHER OFFICERS elected at the three-day convention are:

Elmer C. Jackson Jr., Kansas City, Kan.; Israel M. Augustine, New Orleans; Mrs. Cora T. Walker, NYC, and James A. Greene, Chicago, vice-presidents; Julius C. Judkins Jr., Richmond, Ind., secretary; Mrs. Jewel Stradford Rogers, Chicago, assistant, and W. D. Hawkins Jr., Nashville, Tenn., treasurer;

Executive committee: Theodore F. Crawley, Chicago; Mrs. Leona H. Pouncey, Kansas City, Mo.; Charles M. Waugh, Muskegon, Mich.; Moses H. Dixon, Cleveland; Richard R. Atkinson, Washington, and Lawrence R. Bailey, NYC.

Approximately 200 lawyers attended the meeting.

Lawyers Are Urged To Observe Ethics 'Win' Confidence

By J. DELMAS ESCOE

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (ANP)—Harold E. Bledsoe, Detroit, was unanimously elected president of the National Bar Association, at the closing session of its twenty-ninth annual convention, which met here at Municipal Auditorium.

A practicing lawyer in the Motor City for thirty years, Bledsoe served the association last year as its first vice president.

He recently was named to the St. Lawrence Seaway Commission by Gov. G. Mennen Williams. He is a former assistant attorney-general for Michigan and commissioner of corrections.

BLEDSOE succeeds W. Harold Flowers, Pine Bluff, Ark., at the helm of NBA.

Other officers elected at the three-day meet were:

Elmer C. Jackson Jr., Kansas City, Kan., first vice president; Israel M. Augustine, New Orleans; Mrs. Cora T. Walker, New York, and James A. Greene, Chicago, second, third and fourth vice presidents, respectively; Julius C. Judkins Jr., Richmond, Ind., secretary; Mrs. Jewel Stradford-Rogers, Chicago, assistant secretary, and W. D. Hawkins Jr., Nashville, treasurer.

Named to the executive committee were Theodore F. Crawley, Chicago; Mrs. Leona H. Pouncey, Kansas City, Mo.; Charles M. Waugh, Muskegon, Mich.; Moses H. Dixon, Cleveland; Richard R. Atkinson, Washington, and Lawrence R. Bailey, New York.

* * *

APPROXIMATELY 200 lawyers throughout the nation attended the meeting which featured such speakers as Judge Wendell B. Green, Chicago; John M. Dalton, Missouri attorney general; Judge Charles E. Whittaker, recently appointed to the U. S. District Court, Kansas City, and Justice Lawrence M. Hyde, Missouri Supreme Court.

Retiring president W. Harold Flowers sounded the keynote of the convention. In a rousing address at a public meeting Thursday night in Eighth Street Baptist Church, Kansas City, Kan., Flowers urged the audience not to turn their backs on a Negro lawyer.

"Where would you be in our fight for full equality if it had not been for the Negro lawyer?" he asked. "I say to you that the Negro lawyer is one of the most unsung heroes of our time."

He shared the platform with Judge Green, who challenged the lawyers to have the "faith of your fathers" in the struggle toward full democracy and first-class citizenship.

* * *

JUDGE WHITTAKER, speaking on the subject, "The Philosophy and Function of a Bar Association," urged lawyers to develop a "professional conscience" in their relationships with clients.

"It is only by observing a rigid code of ethics and by following to the letter the lawyer's oath that they can win the complete and lasting respect of the public," he said.

The speaker asserted that without the lawyer, free government, justice, freedom or democracy cannot long endure, adding: "The greatest honor of the lawyer is that he does dare to maintain the rights of citizens."

Other subjects and their discussants included "Formation of Legal Partnerships and Firms," Willard L. Phillips, Kansas City, Kan.; "Building a Law Practice," George N. Leighton, Chicago; "Problems of Trial Technique Peculiar to the Southern Practitioner," Z. Alexander Looby, Nashville; Vanue B. Lacour, Shreveport, La., and Thad D. Williams, Little Rock, Ark.

* * *

THE CONVENTION passed resolutions which urged the President and Congress to support efforts being taken within the UN to expose the conditions of enslaved and mistreated peoples of South Africa and other parts of the world; denounced attempts in some Southern areas to circumvent the recent Supreme Court decision against segregation in public schools and pledged to vigorously contest all such efforts.

Commended the Kansas City hotel and restaurant operators in downtown Kansas City for opening their doors to NBA delegates and recommended that they continue to serve all peoples at all times;

Condemned the policy of systematically excluding from appointment to the Federal judiciary qualified persons of color;

Urged state, county and city authorities to begin at once to integrate qualified persons of color to responsible positions in the executive, judicial and legislative areas of their respective jurisdictions;

Called on NBA members to continue unceasingly their efforts to get every citizen to recognize the power of his vote and to wage a fight against all rules, regulations, laws and customs which control the full and equal use of the ballot by Negro citizens; and,

Advocated the passage of proposed legislation which would prohibit racial discrimination in interstate commerce and provide adequate enforcement measures.

ATTORNEY HAROLD E. BLEDSOE

. . . after thirty years, a unanimous choice.

Unanimous Choice of Lawyers

Noted Jurists Address Sessions Of NBA Convention

by J. DELLAS ESCOE

Harold E. Bledsoe of Detroit, Mich., was unanimously elected president of the National Bar association Saturday at the closing session of the 29th annual convention of the organization which met here at the Municipal auditorium.

A practicing lawyer in the Motor City for the past 30 years, Bledsoe served the association last year as its first vice-president. He recently was named to the St. Lawrence Seaway commission by Gov. Mennen G. Williams. He is a former assistant attorney-general for the state of Michigan and commissioner of corrections.

Bledsoe succeeds W. Harold Flowers of Pine Bluff, Ark., at the helm of the NBA.

Other officers elected at the three-day convention were: Elmer C. Jackson, Jr., Kansas City, Kas., first vice-president; Israel M. Augustine, New Orleans, second vice-president; Mrs. Cora T. Walker New York City, third vice-president; James A. Greene, Chicago fourth vice-president; Julius C Judkins, Jr., Richmond, Ind., secretary; Mrs. Jewel Stradford-Rogers, Chicago, assistant secretary; and W. D. Hawkins, Jr., Nashville Tenn., treasurer.

Named to the executive committee were: Theodore F. Crawley, Chicago; Mrs. Leona H Pouncey, Kansas City, Mo.; Charles M. Waugh, Muskegon, Mich.; Moses H. Dixon, Cleveland; Richard R. Atkinson, Washtington, and Lawrence R. Bailey, New York City.

Approximately 200 lawyers throughout the nation attended the meeting which featured such speakers as Judge Wendell E. Green of Chicago, Jown M. Dalton, attorney general of Missouri; Judge Charles E. Whittaker, recently appointed to the U. S. District court in Kansas City, and Justice Lawrence M. Hyde of the Missouri Supreme court.

But, it was W. Harold Flowers, retiring president of the association, who sounded the keynote of the convention. In a rousing address at a public meeting held Thursday night at the Eighth Street Baptist church, Kansas City, Kas., Flowers urged the audience not to turn their backs on the Negro lawyer.

"Where would you be in our fight for full equality if it had not been for the Negro lawyer?" he asked. "I say to you that the Negro lawyer is one of the most unsung heroes of our time."

Flowers shared the platform with Judge Green who challenged the lawyers to have the "faith of their fathers" in the struggle toward full democracy and first-class citizenship.

"It was the faith of our fathers," he said, "that made it possible for the lawyers of today, that gave them the wisdom which finally led to the historic decision of the U. S. Supreme Court abolishing the 'separate but equal' doctrine in the public schools."

The eminent jurist, the first of his race to be elevated to the circuit court bench in Cook county, Illinois, admonished that only through a belief in God can America hope to achieve the full fruition of the concepts set out in the U. S. Constitution and the Declaration of Independence.

Dalton, addressing a luncheon on the opening day of the confab, praised members of the NBA for their militant stand in trying to secure equal rights for all citizens and for their interest in public affairs.

The Missouri attorney general described the U. S. Constitution as a "cure to all our problems" and he pointed out that that great document, although written many EW NBA OFFICERS.—Shown here are eight of the new officers of the National Bar association, following their election Saturday at the closing session of the 29th annual convention of the NBA in Kansas City. From left to right, front row: Mrs. Cora T. Walker, New York City, third vice-president; Harold E. Bledsoe, Detroit, president; Elmer C. Jackson, Jr., Kansas City, Kas., first vice-president; Mrs. Leona H. Pouncey, Kansas City, Mo., member executive committee; back row: Lawrence Bailey, New York City, and Charles M. Waugh, Muskegon, Mich., members of the executive committee; Julius C. Judkins, Jr., Richmond, Ind., secretary, and Richard R. Atkinson, Washington, member executive committee. Officers not shown are Israel M. Augustine, New Orleans, second vice-president; James Green, Chicago fourth vice-president; Mrs. Jewell Stradford-Rogers, Chicago, assistant-secretary; W. D. Hawkins, Jr., Nashville, treasurer, and Theodore Crawley, Chicago; and Moses H. Dixon Cleveland, members of the executive committee.

32b 1954

NATIONAL BAR ASSOCIATION

H. E. Bledsoe Elected NBA President

Det. Free Press 8-16-54

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Harold E. Bledsoe, Detroit, was unanimously elected president of the National Bar association, at the closing session of its 29th annual convention, which met here at Municipal auditorium.

A practicising lawyer in Detroit for 30 years, Bledsoe served the association last year as its first vice-president. He recently was named to the St. Lawrence Seaway commission by Gov. G. Mennen Williams. He is a former assistant attorney-general for Michigan and commissioner of corrections.

Det. Free Press 8-16-54

Bledsoe succeeds W. Harold Flowers, Pine Bluff, Ark.

Other officers elected at the three day meet were:

Elmer C. Jackson, jr., Kansas City, Kans., first vice-president; Israel M. Augustine, New Orleans; Mrs. Cora T. Walker, New York, and James A. Greene, Chicago, second, third and fourth vice presidents respectively; Julis C. Judkins, jr., Richmond, Ind., secretary; Mrs. Jewel Stradford-Rogers, Chicago, assistant secretary, and W. D. Hawkins, jr., Nashville, treasurer.

32b 1954

NATIONAL BEAUTICIANS CONVENTION
UNITED BEAUTY SCHOOL OWNERS AND TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

Beauticians Attend Confab Leave For Paris, London

NEW YORK — The Ninth annual convention of the United Beauty School Owners and Teachers Association and the Alpha Chi Pi Omega sorority and fraternity came to a smashing climax last Saturday after a three-day session when 132 members sailed to Paris and London on the S. S. United States.

It is the largest single organized group ever to sail the high seas on a luxury liner.

In the group were four of the Defender Publications's six prize winners in the "Most Popular Beautician" contest.

Mrs. Addie D. Smiley, first winner and Mrs. Zettie Billingsley, second winner, both of Birmingham, Ala. received all-expense paid trips to Europe and back to Birmingham.

Irene Coleman of Cleveland, O. and Mrs. Hattie H. Roard, of Dallas, Texas and Gary, Ind. third and fourth winners received expense paid trips to New York.

Two days earlier Mrs. Doris Bailey of Gary, Ind., fifth winner also received an all-expense paid trip to New York, sailed for Europe on the French Liner Liberte with the first group of 57.

The Defender's 6th winner, Mrs. Ruth Jackson of Birmingham, who is president of the Southern Beauty Congress, made the trip to attend a 3-day convention at the Theresa Hotel.

convention was attended by 112 delegates from 46 states and joined by hundreds of followers and friends of the UBSOTA.

Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune founder and president emiritus of the Bethune-Cookman college in Daytona, Fla., and Defender columnist, was the honored guest.

Beauticians Begin Gay Paris Holiday

One-hundred and eighty-one excited beauticians were scheduled to dock in France this week to begin a glorious three-week adventure in romantic Paris and other "storybook" points of interest in Europe.

The beauticians, members of the Alpha Chi Pi Omega beauticians sorority and fraternity, include the two top prize winners in the Defender Publications' Most Popular Beautician contest.

The winners, Mrs. Ann Dowdell Smiley and Mrs. Zettie C. Billingsley, both of Birmingham, Ala., stopped in Chicago last week enroute to New York, where the National Beauticians convention recessed its annual session April 9.

Fifty-seven beauticians sailed for France April 8 aboard the French liner Liberte and were scheduled to dock at Le Harve on April 14. The remaining 124, led by Mrs. Marjorie Stewart Joyner, national supervisor of the United Beauty School Owners and Teachers association and Alpha Chi Pi Omega, sailed last Sunday aboard the SS United States and were scheduled to dock at Le Harve Thursday.

Mrs. Joyner said the group would be greeted by the British and French embassies as well as the American embassy in England and France.

Beauticians To Spend $250,000

LE HAVRE, France — One hundred and eighty-four U. S. beauticians docked here this week and after their scheduled 21-day tour of Europe, it is estimated that they will have parted with about $250,000.

The beauty experts are members of the United Beauty School Owners and Teachers association and the Alpha Chi Pi Omega sorority and fraternity and represent the billion dollar cosmetics industry.

They are to spend 21 days touring European Beauty culture centers, learning new beauty methods. Included in the group are the two Chicago Defender beauty contest winners, Mrs. Ann Dowdal Smiley and Mrs. Zettie Billingsly, both of Birmingham, Ala.

Accompanied by Mrs. Marjorie Stewart Joyner, of Chicago, and supervisor of the association, the experts and official left New York April 8 and 9 aboard the French liner Liberte and the U. S. liner, United States.

The Liberte arrived here April 14 and the United States landed a day later.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON RACIAL RELATIONS

Dated Pil Sun. 1-17-54 Columbus, Ga.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER MEETS WITH NEGRO LEADERS—WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Eisenhower, on Jan. 13 met with a group of Negro leaders to discuss a date on which he will make an informal talk to the National Conference on Racial Relations they plan to have here soon. The Sec. of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said the date will be set at the President's convenience. Left to Right—Dr. Channing Tobias, Arthur B. Spingarn, President Eisenhower, Clarence Mitchell, Walter White, Secretary NAACP, and Judge Theodore Spaulding.—(Leffler).

Parents, Teachers End Conclave in Oklahoma

LANGSTON, Okla.—The annual convention of the National Congress of Colored Parents and Teachers ended its twenty-ninth annual session here recently at Langston University.

Eighteen states and the District of Columbia were represented at the confab. Sessions were highlighted by addresses from key people from across the nation.

Opening with an address of welcome by Dr. G. L. Harrison, president of Langston University, other speakers included the Hon. Johnston Murray, Governor of Oklahoma; Mrs. Willie Murray, wife of the Governor; Mrs. Ruth Gaston Mueller, Assistant Republican National Committeewoman, and Mrs. Charles L. Williams, national president of the organization.

Theme of the conclave was "New Responsibilities for a Changing Society." One of the sessions featured a youth panel, "The Challenge of Our Times."

The convention was climaxed with a tour of Oklahoma City sponsored by the Oklahoma City P-TA Council which included a visit to the Governor's mansion.

The 1955 convention will meet in Texas.

Praises High Court Decision

National PT Congress Evaluates Parent Education And Inter-Group Relations

LANGSTON, Okla.—The National Congress of Colored Parents and Teachers at its 28th annual convention held recently at Langston University, Okla., went on record as commending the action of the Supreme Court in its decision of May 17, to completely eliminate segregation in the public schools of the United States and thereby provide first class education for all children.

Mrs. Charles L. Williams, Miami, Fla., speaker, who heads the organization said "We will await with interest the final decree to be handed down. Each state branch will work out its own plan of action. The Congress will be prepared to offer counsel and advice to the states when needed."

* * *

THE CONVENTION theme "New Responsibilities for a Changing Society" was carried throughout the program in addresses, panels, workshops, and a sociodrama. Much time and attention was devoted to the areas of parent-education and inter-group relations. Dr. D. Cannon Partridge, associate professor, Queens College, Flushing, N. Y., is national inter-group relations chairman.

Governor Johnston Murray, guest speaker, emphasized discussing matters together and having a spirit of ambition and a desire to do those things which should be done. A plea was made to impress upon children's minds the fact that freedom exists, that it is not who you are, but what you are doing that counts. The governor said, in regard to the Supreme Court's decision, "Oklahoma stands ready to abide by the law."

* * *

A VERY impressive memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Thelma Pegram, president, Virginia Congress of Colored Parents and Teachers. Participants were: Mrs. S. M. Burrel, W. A. Carter, Richmond; and Mrs. Ada M. Jarnigan, N. C.

The 1955 convention will be held in Texas.

* * *

REGISTERED delegates from middle Atlantic states were:

District of Columbia: Atty. William I. Lee, Robert F. Brooks, Rev. J. D. Pair, Mrs. Marguerite Seldon, Mrs. M. E. Carpenter and Richard Carpenter.

Florida: Mrs. D. B. Sanders, Mrs. Daisy Murrell, Mrs. Mary L. Washington and Mrs. Mayme E. Williams.

Georgia: C. V. Duval, Mrs. Ethel Knight, Mrs. J. S. Morgan, Mrs. Clara G. Gay, J. S. Morgan and Mrs. Berta Everhardt.

Maryland: Mrs. A. Bransford, Mr. and Mrs. Doswell Brooks and Mrs. Mable C. Johnson.

North Carolina: Mrs. Ada M. Jarnigan.

South Carolina: Rev. Z. Townsend and Peter Poinsette.

Virginia: Mrs. Thelma Pegram, Mrs. S. M. Burrell and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Carter.

Council To Hold Meet In Chicago

Journal & Guide Sat. 10-30-54

p. 3

Housing, School And Travel Matters Will Be Discussed

CHICAGO — An estimated 100 delegates from all sections of the nation will meet for three days Nov. 26-28 on the campus of the University of Chicago to discuss current inter-group tensions in America.

32 b

The conference is sponsored by the National Council on Intercultural Relations, and the local chairman is the Rev. George Lawrence, member of the council's national board of directors.

Argus 10-29-54

THE CONFERENCE will pay special attention to incidents resulting from the U .S. Supreme Court's ruling against racial segregation in public schools last May 17. Discrimination and segregation in housing and interstate travel will also be discussed.

Observers and consultants from various organizations will participate, including representatives of the National Students Association.

• • •

DURING THE three-day sessions, final plans will be made by the council's national planning committee for the 10th annual conference and workshop to be held at New York City in December. The council's national board of directors will also meet during the Chicago confab.

The Council on Intercultural Relations was formed in 1944 at New York University, and is composed of students and young business and professional men and women interested in improving human relations in America.

It is a study and educational fellowship, with members in 23 states scattered throughout the country.

Intercultural Council Meets In Chicago

CHICAGO, Ill. —The planning committee of the National Council on Intercultural Relations will meet on the campus of the University of Chicago, Nov. 26-28, to make final arrangements for the 10th annual conference and workshop. The annual session will be held in New York City in December.

Argus

Chairman for the Chicago meeting is the Reverend George Lawrence, a member of the Council's board of directors. The board will also meet in Chicago during the three-day sessions.

Reports will be heard from various Council members on various phases of intergroup relations in America. A special session has been arranged to discuss current racial and religious tensions, including incidents resulting from the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling against segregation in public schools.

The Council on Intercultural Relations was formed 10 years ago in New York City, and is composed of college students and young business and professional men and women. It is not an "action" group, but rather a study and educational fellowship with members in 23 states in all sections of the nation.

The Council has, in the past five years, made three nationwide studies of inter-group tensions. In 1952, a research team visited the Union of South Africa to study problems there.

NCNW Convenes; Plan To Honor Ed Sullivan

Defender Chicago, Ill.

WASHINGTON — The 19th annual convention of the National Council of Negro Women convened in the Capital last week with Mrs. William Thomas Mason, national president, presiding.

Delegates from some 15 states were in attendance. After hearing greetings from President Dwight Eisenhower, the convention opened up with a week-long, activity packed schedule of workshops, panel discussions, sightseeing tours, luncheons and business sessions.

The founder and president-emeritus of the Council, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, was unable to be present because of illness.

Mrs. Mason announced that the council has recently become a member of the board of CARE INC, and that it will place special emphasis on a pilot project for extension of the program in Africa where there is great need.

The most important program for the year upon which the greatest stress will be placed according to Mrs. Mason is the implementation of the Supreme Court decision in the Schools cases. She said she considered this the most single important work which the Council is undertaking.

NEXT YEAR'S PROGRAM

Talking about other phases of the council's work, Mrs. Mason told of the program for the coming year. The Social Welfare Department under Miss Vinita Lewis will emphasize foster home and adoption as well as aiding in curbing juvenile delinquency. One of the first panel speakers was Judge Edith Cockrill of the District Juvenile Court.

The Council will dedicate next year on the occasion of its 20th anniversary a "Bronze Book of the Second Decade."

Seven women were honored by the organization for outstanding contributions to civic and welfare work. They were Harriet Hall, Boston, well-known civic leader; Mrs. J. Ida Jiggetts, Mount Vernon, N. Y. an outstanding psychiatric social worker; Mae Belcher, Washington, D. C., a YWCA worker for more than 30 years; Frances Goss Kelly, Washington, D. C., who taught for 50 years in the rural schools of Georgia; Jeannette Triplett Jones, Chicago, dean of girls at DuSable High school; Helen Buckler, New York, author of the biography on Dr. Dan Williams, famous physician; and Atty. Cora M. Brown, Detroit, state senator from Michigan.

Mrs. Mason announced that the council will confer on Ed Sullivan on Feb. 26 at a Brotherhood Week Dinner in Washington, a citation for his outstanding contribution to human relations in giving opportunities to so many Negro artists.

EDITH SAMPSON SPEAKS

Among the distinguished people chairing or taking part in the various panel discussions on citizenship education, international relations, economics, labor and industry, etc. were Atty. Edith Sampson, Chicago, former delegate to the UN.; Noble Sissle, famous bandleader and artist; Rev. James Robinson, pastor of the Church of the Master, New York; Mrs. Oswald Lord, New York, member of the United States Delegation to the UN; Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota; Mrs. Katie Loucheim, Democratic National Committee and Mrs. Venice Spraggs of the Committee; Mrs. Alice Leopold, chief of the Women's Bureau, Labor Department; and Commissioner Samuel N. Spencer of the District.

The council included in its tour, a coffee hour at the Brazilian Embassy where delegates were guests of the Embassy staff.

Council Of Women To Observe Founder's Day

Daily World Atlanta, Ga.

11-30-54 p. 1

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Sunday, December 5, 1954, marks the beginning of the 20th year since the founding of the National Council of Negro Women.

The entire week of December 5 will find local councils in all parts of the country, along with friends and supporters, conducting public meetings, appearing on TV and radio programs, sponsoring Teas and other social events in observance of this most significant date.

SPECIAL MESSAGE

Highlighting the series of events will be a special message from the beloved and esteemed Founder, President, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, who will speak on the regular weekly program of the United Negro College Fund, over the ABC network on Sunday, December 5, at 10:30 a. m. (EST). The message from her Daytona Beach, Florida, home on the campus of Bethune-Cookman College. Mrs. Bethune, the author of many "firsts" in her long and brilliant career, is the Founder of Bethune-Cookman College, a member of the United Negro College Fund. Journeying to Daytona Beach for the event and to make a presentation to Mrs. Bethune from the thousands of council women whom she represents wil lbe Mrs. William Thomas Mason, the third national president of the National Council of Negro Women.

The National Council of Negro Women was incorporated in the District of Columbia in 1935, with the late Dean Lucy Slowe and the late Mrs. Mary Church Terrell signing the articles of incorporation along with Mrs. Bethune.

In announcing the Founder's Day celebration, Mrs. Mason stated, "Since the days of its founding, the Council has been in the forefront of the lirf of the nation. Its program has been as broad as the interests of women themselves. It has encouraged them to participate more actively in all fields of our nation life — working together to eliminate all forms of discrimination based upon race or religion. It has been heartening and a source of the life of the nation. Its program had the active interest of our Founder in every phase of the program of the Council. As we pause from our regular activities to pay tribute to Mrs. Bethune, may we renew our pledge, to "make a lasting contribution to all that is finest and best in America. to cherish and enrich her heritage of freedom and progress by working for the integration of all of her people, regardless of race, creed or national origin, into her spiritual, social, cultural, civic and political life and thus aid her to achieve the glorious destiny of a true and unfettered democracy."

Federated CLUBS

Defender

DEMOCRACY WILL NOT LIVE LEST WOMEN MAKE IT WORK

The National Council of Negro Women, Inc., definitely pointed the way to the Supreme Court's implementation of its ruling on the desegregation in public schools when it invited 25 national organizations of women to meet at Council House in Washington, D. C., October 1 to discuss the best course of constructive and cooperative action in complying with the Sureme Court decision.

Mrs. Dodson

The organizations invited were the American Association of University Women, American Nurses Association, American Women Broadcasters. Camp Fire Girls, B'Nai B'rith Women's Supreme Council, General Alliance of Unatarian Women, General Federation of Women's clubs, Girls Friendly Society, Girls Scouts, Haddassah League of Women Voters; National Association of Colored Women, National Association of Deans of Women, National Association of Women's Clubs, National Board of the Y. W. C. A., National Business and Professional Women's Clubs, National Congress of Parent Teachers, National Council of Catholic Women's clubs, National Congress of Parent Teachers, National Council of Catholic Women, Notional Council of Jewish Women, National Council of Women of the United States, National Women's Conference American Ethical Union, United CHURCH Women, Women's Auxiliary to the American Legion, Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, Women's National Press club, and the National Council of CHURCH Women.

Chicago, Ill.

Sat. 10-30-54

POWER OF WOMEN

When one considers these word "One woman is useful; ONE HUNDRED women are forceful; ONE THOUSAND women are powerful and ONE MILLION UNITED women were right with God and they would practice the religion they preach — this, the second EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION ISSUED IN THE UNITED STATES in almost one hundred years, would go over by leaps and bounds without much friction.

P. 11

WOMEN ABOLITIONISTS

At one of the meetings of the pioneer American women abolitionists, which marked their fight against slavery, a slave woman, Sojourner Truth, addressed the anxious group of white women and said, "If the first woman (meaning Eve) was able to turn the world upside down, all you women ought to be able to turn it back."

That remark fits the situation today and it is fitting and mean that all women —white and colored — should be sufficiently interested to do whatever they can in making DEMOCRACY real and workable. If Democracy is the best form of government (as we say it is) then we must make it real before we can sell it to Europe, Asia and Africa.

THE SOUTHLAND

When Abraham Lincoln freed 4,000,000 colored people, he freed 4,000,000 poor whites at the same time, for their job of holding the black man down in the ditch for the benefit of the master class, kept the poor white man in the ditch also. The poor whites of the South knew little beyond the confines of the plantations on which they lived.

They had no schools to speak of for the master class employed tutors into their homes for their children and sent them later to finishing schools in the North or to Europe, therefore, the planters were not interested in the education of their poor tenants and slave drivers nor their families.

They used the poor whites as buffers between themselves and the Negro—but that is history—what interests me is that the white women of the South representing the aristocracy had NO VOICE and EXERCISED NO INTEREST in the welfare of either the poor white women or the colored women.

You never heard the word RAPE yet thousands of illigitimate mixed children were gotten by little Negro girls as well as whole families and WHITE MEN — their fathers, husbands, sons, brothers, and even poor white men, and many of these children grew up in their master's homes along with their white half sisters and brothers. This shows that the finest white woman was also a slave to custom and habits.

"They had been down so long that DOWN did not worry them. They tolerated in and must have liked it, for history does not record one revolt against the practice made by southern white women.

INTEGRATION

If the Negro is not ready for integration today, when will he be? Southern slave owners and their poor white minions biologically integrated him for nearly 100 years and although southern white man has usurped control of the governments—city, county, state and dominates the NATIONAL, the Negro has demonstrated without the shadow of a doubt that he is capable of advancement the equal of any man not alone in the U. S. A. but anywhere the human family exists.

Fort Wayne Club Marks 42nd Year, NCNW President Is Speaker

FORT WAYNE, Ind. — Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, president of the National Council of Negro Women, Inc., was the guest speaker on the observance of the Ultra Art Literary club's anniversary. This year's observance highlighted the 43rd year of activity of the Fort Wayne group. The program was recently held at Turner Chapel AME church.

32b

Defender

The Ultra Art Literary Club which was organized in 1911 by Mrs. Adeline Rhodes has been active in Fort Wayne in all phases of community life, giving scholarships and assistants to students, bringing such well known peronalities as Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Marion Anderson, Phillipe Schyuler, and others to the community.

Sat. 10-30-54

They have been recognized for their charity work and cooperation in all civic group work. Mrs. Rhodes was honored not only as the organizer, but she is also the only charter member living. A presentation was made from the club by the president, Mrs. Ernest T. Smith.

Chicago

Mrs. Mason who is well known ardent civic worker and humanitarian gave an aspiring lecture. She stressed the importance of all people asuming the responsibilities that go along with libery and freedom they want and enjoy.

In referring to the recent Supreme Court decision on desegregation of public schools, Mrs. Mason pointed out that the people of north and south who favor the action of the Supreme Court should let it be known, expressing their approval to editors of newspapers, magazines and other publications.

Mrs. Mason, a past Grand Daughter Ruler of the Daughter of Elks, was also welcomed and presented with a lovely bouquet of flowers by the local Daughter Elks, the Morning Star Temple Chapter. The presentation was made by Mrs. Lucille Mosely, Grand Daughter Ruler.

Rev. Clyde Adams, pastor of Union Baptist Church, gave the invocation; Rev. Hilliard Saunders, the Benediction; the Marvelous Grace Choir under the direction of Mr. Lawrence Meriwether, rendered several selections; Mrs. Theo. R. Borders accompanied by Mr. Robert Younger rendered a solo; Mrs. Samuel P. Jones was the organist for the memorial, honoring the deceased members. Mrs. Vernon P. Wickliffe, who is a life member of the Council of Nero Women, introduced the speaker.

Mrs. James W. Brooks, program chairman, served as Mistress of Ceremonies. The other members of the program committee were: Mrs. Howard Ford, Mrs. Adeline Rhodes, Mrs. Ethel Peters, Mrs. Samuel P. Jones, and Mrs. Wickliffe. Mrs. Willard Henry was Chairman of the Reception Committee with Mrs. Herschel Babb, Mrs. Paul Taylor, Mrs. Carrie Wilson, Mrs. Florence Lee and Mrs. Ann Warfield assisting.

The 43rd Anniversary celebration also marks the kickoff for a campaign for funds for a Woman's Club Home in Fort Wayne. The Campaign will go in full force in the very near future. Any contributions may be sent to the president, Mrs. Ernest T. Smith, 623 E. Brackenridge Street, Fort Wayne, In.

WORLD WAR II MOTHERS MEET

The Mothers of World War II held their regular monthly meeting Monday at 11 a.m. at the Central YMCA. Mrs. Sophie Sulski, district president, presided. Southsiders present included Mrs. Prossie Matthews of 5852 S. Michigan, past Illinois State chaplain and Mrs. Hermia Jackson, president Unit 129.

NCNW PREXY SPEAKS. Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, president of the National Council of Negro Women, Inc., who is shown addressing an audence attending the Ultra Art Literary club's anniversary meeting in Fort Wayne, Ind. The program was held recently at Turner chapel AME church. Platform guests included the organizer, Mrs. Adeline Rhodes (reading from left) Mrs. Marjorie D. Wickliffe, past president of the 43-year-old organization; Mrs. Jessie F. Smith, president.

NCNW honors Dr. Bethune

WASHINGTON

The National Council of Women will honor Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, president emeritus, who organized the group, during a week of celebration, beginning Dec. 5.

The Founder's Day will mark the 20th anniversary of the Council's founding.

HIGHLIGHTING the series of events will be a special message from Mrs. Bethune, who will speak on the regular weekly program of the United Negro College Fund, over the ABC network on Sunday, Dec. 5, at 10:30 a.m., EST. The message from Mrs. Bethune to council women everywhere will be broadcast from her Daytona Beach, Fla., home on the campus of Bethune-Cookman College. Mrs. Bethune, the author of many "firsts" in her long and brilliant career, is also the founder of Bethune-Cookman College.

Journeying to Daytona Beach for the event and to make a presentation to Mrs. Bethune from the thousands of council women whom she represents will be Mrs. William T. Mason, the third national president of the National Council.

National Council Plans 19th Convention for Nov. 8-13

Courier p. 8

WASHINGTON — The nineteenth annual convention of the National Council of Negro Women will be held Nov. 8 through 13 in Washington, D. C. Most of the sessions will be held in the beautiful departmental auditorium of the United States Department of Labor, where the delegates will be welcomed by Secretary of Labor Mitchell on Friday afternoon, Nov. 12.

Unusual features will be a citizenship education workshop, to be held Wednesday at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Jeanetta Welch Brown of St. Albans, New York, is the chairman of the department and announced that Rencher Harris, Councilman and well-known Durham, N. C., business man, is one of the speakers, along with two top women in politics —Mrs. Katie Louchheim of the Democratic National Committee, speaking for the Democrats, and Mrs. Alice Leopold, assistant secretary of labor and head of the women's bureau, who will speak for the Republicans. Mrs. Ruth Caston Mueller and Mrs. Venice T. Spraggs will assist as resource consultants.

PANEL

"Freedom Agenda" panel will sift the charges that constitutional liberties are being threatened in the United States. Wreaths will be placed by Mrs. W. A. Scott of Atlanta and Mrs. Edward Perry of Kansas City on the statues of famous women pioneers in the Capitol Building.

The traditional honoree dinner on Saturday night, Nov. 13, at Baldwin Hall, Howard University, will feature Walter White of the NAACP as guest speaker. Juanita Hall of "South Pacific" fame will sing favorite selections from this show.

International Night, Nov. 12, will be celebrated by the presentation of an American flag by the James Reese Europe Post of the American Legion of Washington. Mrs. Oswald Lord will be the principal speaker.

Dr. Arenia Mallory of Lexington, Miss., will give a report of her trip to Helsinki, Finland.

Special music for the occasion will be furnished by Dean Warner Lawson's Community Chorus.

Dr. Howard Thurman, noted minister of Boston University, will deliver the address on the observance of Armistice Day and the memorial services.

— BIGGEST and the BEST —

ON AN AVERAGE, women are six per cent shorter and 20 per cent lighter in weight than men.

Interest Runs High

19th Convention of NCNW Attracts Attention of Foreign Governments

Courier Pittsburgh Pa.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Unusual interest is being manifested by foreign governments in the International Department Workshop to be held in connection with the nineteenth annual convention of the National Council of Negro Women, during the Nov. 8 to 13 confab in Washington. The theme "Women United in a Program of Action to Understand and Help the Peoples of Africa" has attracted wide attention.

The entire morning of Armistice Day, Nov. 11, will be devoted to discussions centering around the Union of South Africa, Nigeria, the Gold Coast, Liberia and Ethiopia. Dr. Rayford Logan, professor of history at Howard University, will give the keynote speech and Mrs. Dorothy Porter of Howard University will be the moderator for the panel to follow.

Other experts taking part are Dr. E. Franklin Frazier who will summarize the discussions; Mrs. Edith S. Sampson, chairman of the department; Dr. William Leo Hansberry, vice president, Institute of African-American Relations; W. A. R. Walker, Gold Coast liaison officer, and A. Babs Safunwa, Nigeria liaison officer. Mrs. Sampson said, "This is a most vital topic in today's world and it is very essential that council women become informed about the people of Africa, their progress and problems. We promise you a very lively and interesting session."

Following the workshop a luncheon will be held at which time Clark Eichelberger, director of the American Association for the UN, will speak. Miss Lois Towles, outstanding concert pianist, will render several selections and Miss Helen Phillips will sing. The International Relations Department program will be held at the Raleigh Hotel while other sessions of the convention will take place at the Departmental Auditorium of the Department of Labor.

Following the luncheon, a president's roundtable will be held, with Miss Dorothy Height, national president of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, as chairman. Mrs. Dorothy Wright, president of the Philadelphia Council, will serve as the moderator.

Top musicians spark NCNW 19th convention

The American p. 11

Baltimore Afro

WASHINGTON

The roster of nationally and internationally known musicians will play starring roles in the 19th annual convention of the National Council of Women, meeting here, November 8-13. According to Mrs. Ethel Ramos Harris, national chairman of the fine arts department of the Council.

Nat. 11-13-54

At the international luncheon to be held at the downtown Raleigh Hotel on Thursday, November 11, Helen Phillips, soprano, and Lois Towles, pianist will be presented.

Hezekiaher Reid, noted bass baritone of Boston, Mass., Dr. Hilda Bolden of this city and the Omega Psi Phi Glee Club will appear at the honoree dinner, on Saturday, November 13, at Baldwin Hall, Howard University.

THE MUSIC for the traditional International Night Program to be held at the Departmental Auditorium of the United States Department of Labor on Friday, November 12 at 8:30 p.m., will feature Dr. Warner Lawson's well known Community Chorus and the U.S. Air Force Ceremonial Band conducted by Lt. Harold L. Copenhaver. Miss Cleomine Lewis will sing the National Anthem with the band.

The National Council of Women announced that Dr. Howard Thurman, dean of the Daniel Marsh Chapel, Boston University, will conduct a Memorial Service on Thursday, November 11, 9:00 a.m. at the Raleigh Hotel.

Miss Francesca Dixon, a member of the Fine Arts Department, will be in charge of the music for the occasion which will include selections from the Howard University School of Religion conducted by Miss Bessie Mayle and from The All Souls Unitarian Church, conducted by Louis Atwater.

Ruth C. Mueller, national historian.

ORGANIZED IN 1935

Mrs. William Thomas Mason, president of NCNW reviewed the historical background of the council which was organized in 1935 by Mrs Mary McLeod Bethune who is now president emeritus.

She also discussed actions which the council has taken toward finding ways and means of helping implement the court's decision, pointing out the recommendations made in their conference held on this matter on June 19; and outlining directives sent down to the local council for action at the grass roots.

Mrs. Naomah Maiso, executive of the council, reports that the conference was very successful. There was a meeting of the minds, she said and a general conclusion that this problem is one of human relations.

"And there is no problem of human relations that cannot be solved" she concluded. "by sane, reasonable people working together."

Negro Women's Unit Told Integration Is Community Problem

Pittsburgh Courier p. 8 Nov. 13, 1954

School integration is a community problem and must be solved at the community level, speakers said yesterday at a workshop session of the National Council of Negro Women.

Dr. Howard Dawson of the National Education Association and Dr. Joseph Douglas, assistant to the Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, said the mobilization of people of good will, white and Negro, will be needed on the community level to make the single-school system work.

Dr. Dawson said some States have indicated they will seek to evade the Supreme Court decision banning segregated schools. "Virginia will be one place where these attempts will be made," he said.

He said efforts to repeal compulsory education laws would be one move such States will attempt. He explained that the reasoning behind such a move is that many Negroes would keep their children at home in the absence of such laws.

Other speakers at the session in the Departmental Auditorium of the Labor Department were Secretary of Labor Mitchell and Dr. Ward Stewart, assistant commissioner for program development in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The six-day convention of the council will end tonight with an honoree awards dinner at 8:30 p.m. in Baldwin Hall, Howard University. Miss Mae B. Belcher, 1901 Fifth street N.W., and Mrs. Frances Goss Kelley, 1509 Evarts street N.E., are among the seven women to be honored for their contributions in their respective fields.

NCNW Reports On Progress In The Area Of Integration

Daily World Atlanta, Ga. p.7

WASHINGTON — (ANP) — The National Council of Negro Women served as hostess to a conference of women leaders from approximately 20 outstanding organizations at the council headquarters last Friday.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Among those attending the conference were Mrs. Maceo Hubbard representing the Girl Scouts of the United States of America; Mrs. Christine Heinig and Mrs. Ruth Tryon of the American Association of University Women; Miss Annabelle Peterson representing the American Nurses Association and Mrs. Joseph Perkins and Miss Chloe Gifford of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Ebony 10-27-54

The National Association of Deans of Women was represented by Miss Barbara Cotton, the National Council of Jewish Women by Mrs. Olga Margolin; the National Council of Women of the United States by Mrs. Thomas G. Evans; and the National Women's Conference of American Ethical Union by Mrs. Irene Lazarus.

The United Church Women was represented by Mrs. Myrtle Haverstock; the Uniterian Women's Allowance by Mrs. A. Powell Davies; the Washington Ethical Society by Miss Sidenie Lioban; the National Women's Press Club by Miss Ann C. Free; the Women's Supreme Council of B'nai B'rith by Mrs. M. A. Goldburg.

Courier P.9 Pittsburgh, Pa

DELEGATE — Mrs. Marian Fletcher Croson, director of public relations of Region I, National Council of Negro Women, Inc., has been named non-governmental organization representative to the United States Mission to the United Nations. Mrs. Croson succeeds Atty. Eunice Hunton Carter.

Negro Women Hear Plea for Western Aid In Developing Africa

Star Phila. Pa. Washington, D.C. Sun. 11-14-54

Delegates to the 19th annual convention of the National Council of Negro Women last night heard a plea for greater assistance from the West in the development of Africa.

Dr. James H. Robinson, minister of the Church of the Masters, New York City, who recently returned from a trip to that continent, said that if "Asia is the land of tomorrow, Africa is the land of the day after tomorrow."

Speaking at Howard University, Dr. Robinson said that unless European leadership meets the needs of the hour, "and I don't see any indication of it," there will soon be a situation in Africa similar to the present one in Korea and Indo-China.

Sees "Social Revolution.

He said a "great social revolution" is taking place in Africa today and in 10 years the continent will be entirely different.

Dr. Robinson said, "The greatest desire in Africa today is for recognition and human dignity." Poverty was not held to be as serious a problem as in Asia. He pointed out that Communists realize this and are making their appeal to those who want a chance to share in the development of their country rather than to those who are hungry.

Asserting that nationalism is more important in the world today than communism, Dr. Robinson appealed for a greater participation by the West in the development of the country. He said more than 200 million people in Africa are as yet uncommitted on the Communist question, thus providing a great opportunity for the West to win these people.

"Colonialism Is Dead."

"We have known for a long time," he said, "that colonialism is dead. If the West doesn't realize this, it will go down with it."

As an example of the nationalistic trend, Dr. Robinson said that Africans, although they do not agree with the methods of the Mau Mau, refer to them as patriots fighting for their country.

He said American Negroes can be the key to African progress more than any other single group.

He urged the United States Government to send more qualified American Negroes to Africa.

Ex-President of St. Louis NCNW Files Another Suit

ST. LOUIS, — (ANP) — Mrs. Sybil Byrd Evrette, former president of the St. Louis chapter of the National Council of Negro Women, last week filed suit in Court of Equity, through her attorney, H. Daniel Jackson to restrain three of the newly-elected officers of the organizations from taking their positions.

Her petition alleges that she has been deprived of a property right and this is adversely affecting her business, health, and happiness, and that she cannot peacefully enjoy her office. The court has been asked to prevent Miss Viola Carter, newly-elected president, and Mrs. Josephine Allen and Mrs. Uxenia Livingston from holding office in the St. Louis council.

The plaintiff's petition states that she was elected by the membership on or about June 1, 1953, and was to serve until reelected or defeated at the 1954 meeting. The petition further stated that the meeting was duly called and held but that she lost the election. The allegations continued, stating, "that when the votes were counted, defendant Carter defeated the plaintiff by a vote of 20-17. Also that four persons voted who had not paid their membership dues and that the same persons cast their ballots against plaintiff and in favor of defendant Carter." However, it is reported that voting was done by secret ballot.

This is the second suit filed by the plaintiff. In March, 1953, following her defeat at a previous election, a suit was filed, naming as plaintiffs, Sybil Byrd Evrette, Viola Carter, Dorothy Beckwith, Fredda Witherspoon, Lucille Fearn, Myrtle Jackson, Fredericka Coleman, Jessie Mae Stitts, Pearl Gray and Minnie Mae Jackson.

However, almost all of the plaintiffs demanded that Mrs. Evrette have their names withdrawn as they had no knowledge they were being used and that they had no intention of filing a suit against anyone. Defendants in that suit were, Valla Abbington, Dr. Ruth Carter, Annie Keaton and Artomose Rabun.

Atty. Frankie Muse Freeman representing the defendants present suit.

National Council of Negro Women Awarded for Outstanding Service

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11, 1954 —The National Council of Negro Women has just been awarded a "Special Service Award" by the 1954 Crusade for Freedom for outstanding services and performance in the program carried by radio to Europe. Mrs. Naomah W. Maise, Executive Director, was cited also for her personal share in this recognition.

Washington, D. C. — Following through on its program of elimination of segregation, the National Council of Negro Women will make an inspection tour of Naval Installations at San Diego, Calif.; Great Lakes, Illinois; Bainbridge, Maryland and Norfolk, Virginia. A group of women — all members of the National Council of Negro Women — was designated by the Executive Committee in meeting on Saturday, September 11, as representatives to inspect the facilities, training programs, advancement opportunities, recreation, religious, hospital and social welfare programs and the Negro members of the Naval services. The group will have ample opportunity for observation and to talk with Navy personnel. They will spend at least two days in each installation guests of the Armed Services. Acting Secretary of the Navy, The Hon. J. H. Smith, expressed pleasure at being able to extend the invitation to the National Council of Negro Women to witness the progress the Navy has made in eliminating racial segregation and providing a uniform Navy set-up for all enlisted personnel. The first inspection will be made at Bainbridge, Maryland on October 14 and 15. On October 18 and 19, inspection will be made at Great Lakes, Ill.; On October 20 and 21, at San Diego, Calif., and on Oct. 28 and 29, at Norfolk, Va.

Washington, D. C.—The National Council of Negro Women announces the formation of a number of new councils in the State of New Jersey, formerly composed of branch units under the leadership of Mrs. Mabel Robinson of Madison, New Jersey.

Mrs. Daisey S George, Regional Director for Region I stated, "This is a great forward step in the development of the National Council of Negro Women in New Jersey. We are proud to welcome into the circle of affiliated organizations the following new councils: Morristown, Hudson County, Bergen County, Passaic County, Newark, Essex County and Union Councils. A statewide Leadership Institute will be held on October 2 to perfect the newly set up groups." The new president of the new councils will be given a course of instructions in their new duties and responsibilites.

Washington, D. C.—The National Council of Negro Women has accepted an invitation to become a member of the Board of Directors of CARE. Mrs. Vivian C Mason, National President, will represent the Council in this Body.

Washington, D. C. —The National Council of Negro Women will be represented at the highly important Ninth Annual Conference on Citizenship called by Attorney General Herbert Brownell, to be held in Washington on the 15th, 16th, and 17th of September at the Statler Hotel. Among the delegates who have indicated their intention to attend and represent the National Council of Negro Women are Miss Edith Paulin of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Deliah Pierce and Mrs. Eleanor S. Singleton of Washington. Mrs. Jeanetta W. Brown is chairman of the Citizenship Education Department of the National Council of Negro Women.

NCNW Reports On Progress Toward School Integration

WASHINGTON — (ANP) — The National Council of Negro Women served as hostess to a conference of women leaders from approximately 20 outstanding organizations at the council headquarters last Friday.

The purpose of this meeting was to share with these leaders the progress which the Council has made to date toward plans for implementing the Supreme Court's decision on school integration, and to solicit their suggestions and cooperation.

Among those attending the conference were Mrs. Maceo Hubbard, representing the Girl Scouts of the United States of America; Mrs. Christine Heinig and Mrs. Ruth Tryon of the American Association of University Women; Miss Annabelle Peterson, representing the American Nurses Association, and Mrs. Joseph Perkins and Miss Chloe Gifford of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The National Association of Deans of Women was represented by Miss Barbara Cotton, the National Council of Jewish Women by Mrs. Olga Margolin; the National Council of Women of the United States by Mrs. Thomas G. Evans; and the National Women's Conference of American Ethical Union by Mrs. Irene Lazarus.

The United Church Women was represented by Mrs. Myrtle Haverstock; the Uniterian Women's Alliance by Mrs. A. Powell Davies, the Washington Ethical Society by Miss Sidonie Lieban, the National Women's Press club by Miss Ann C. Free, the Women's Supreme Council of B'nai B'rinth by Mrs. M. A. Goldburg, and the National Council of Negro Women by Mrs. Ruth C. Mueller, national historian.

Mrs. William Thomas Mason, president of NCNW, reviewed the historical background of the council which was organized in 1935 by Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune who is now president emeritus.

She also discussed actions which the council has taken toward finding ways and means of helping implement the court's decision, pointing out the recommendations made in their conference held on this matter on June 19, and outlining directives sent down to the local council for action at the grass roots.

Mrs. Naomah Maise, executive of the council, reports that the conference was very successful. There was a meeting of the minds, she said, and a general conclusion that this problem is one of human relations.

"And there is no problem of human relations that cannot be solved," she concluded, "by sane, reasonable people working together."

Council Of Negro Women To Meet In Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The 19th Annual Convention of the National Council of Negro Women will be held in Washington, D. C., November 8-13 and is expected to attract large numbers of delegates from the local councils, the affiliated organizations and from the ranks of life members.

Registrations have already been noted from every geographical section of the country, it was announced today by Dr. Gertrude Rivers, Chairman of the Convention and Mrs. William Thomas Mason, National President. In addition to Council women who will journey from far and near it is expected that the splendid program of workshops, seminars, forum and special events will attract an unprecedented number of visitors and observers The public is invited to attend all workshop session and special events. The theme of the convention is "Women United In a Program of Action."

LOCAL COUNCIL

The convention will open with a meeting of the Board of Directors on Monday, November 8 at 8 p. m. Among other items of business, this body, made up of local council presidents, presidents of the heads of the twenty national organizations affiliated with the council and members of the Executive Committee will receive the reports of the Resolution and Citations Committees.

The convention proper will open on Tuesday, November 9. Following the opening business session and greetings from the Founder, President-Emeritus, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, the Social Welfare Department, chaired by Miss Vinita Lewis of Washington, D. C., will conduct the first of the splendid program workshop sessions of the convention "Women United in a Program of Action to Eradicate Juvenile Delinquency." Mrs. Dorothy Banton, Director of the Kruse School for Girls in Wilmington, Delaware and chairman of the Social Welfare Department's Legislation Sub-Committee will serve as discussion leader. Mrs. Rose Cooper Thomas, chairman of the Sub-Committee on Juvenile Delinquency will serve as the summarizer. After a keynote presentation by the noted jurist, Judge Edith H. Cockrell of the Washington, D. C., Juenvile Court, Mrs. Banton will employ the popular medium of Socio-Drama as a discussion guide.

Among the specialists who have been asked to participate as Resource Consultants for this significant workshop are Mrs. Phyllis O'Kelly of the Janie Porter Barrett School for Girls of Virginia; Dr. Raymond Gould, National Institute of Mental Health, Maryland; Mrs. Mae Holmes, North Carolina State School for Girls; Mr. Will Turnblad, National Probation and Parole Association of New York; Mr. John G. Theban, Executive Secretary, Family Child Services of Washington; Miss Doris Handy, Probation Officer in Pittsburgh and Dr. Alma Illery, National Achievement Clubs, Pittsburgh.

LABOR AND INDUSTRY

On Wednesday, November 10th, the Labor and Industry and the Citizenship Education Departments will conduct concurrent sessions at the Department of Labor and at the Old Supreme Court Chambers on Capitol Hill. Mrs. Wiley Hall of Richmond, Virginia, is the chairman of the Labor and Industry Department and Mrs. Jeannetta Welch Brown of New York is the chairman of the Citizenship Education Department. Discussion leader for the Citizenship Education Workshop will be Mrs. W. E. Pannell of Tennessee, National President of the Medical Auxiliary and the Discussion Leader for the Labor and Industry Workshop will be Mrs. Carina Roane, Business woman from Long Island, New York. Mr. Paul Sifton, National Legislative Representative for the Congress of Industrial Organizations, Mr. Julius Thomas, Director, Department of Industrial Relations of the National Urban League and Mr. Noble Sissle, president, Negro Actors Guild of America will participate on the Labor and Industry Panel.

Keynote speakers for the first section of the Citizenship Education Workshop will be Mrs. Katie Louchheim, Director Women's Activities, Democratic National Committee; Mrs. Alice Leopold, Director, Women's Bureau, Department of Labor; others expected to participate in this section are Congressman William Dawson of Chicago; Mr. Rench Harris, Bankers Fire Insurance Company; Mrs. Venice Spraggs, Democratic National Committee; Mrs. Ruth C. Mueller, Republican National Committee; and Mrs. Grace Jackson of Baton Rouge. Section II of the Citizenship Education Workshop will concern itself with our Constitutional rights and the importance of the exercise of these rights. A special feature of this session will be the presentation of the Freedom Agenda, a plan for Community action worked out by the League of Women Voters with the Carrie Chapman Catt Foundation. Attorney Margaret Hawthrone of Washington will chair this section of the Citizenship Education Workshop. Participants invited to participate in this section include: Mr. Louis Stephens, Legal Assistant to Commissioner Frieda B. Hennock Federal Communications Commission; Attorney George E. C. Hayes Washington, D. C.; Attorney Dovey J. Roundtree, Washington, D. C.; and Mrs. Irene Bryant of Jefferson City.

PEOPLES OF AFRICA

On Thursday, November 11 from 10:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., the International Department will sponsor a workshop at the Raleigh Hotel, the theme of which is "Women United in a Program of Action to Understand and Help the Peoples of Africa." Mrs. Edith Sampson, former alternate delegate to the United Nations is the chairman of the Department. Dr. Rayford Logan, Howard University, will give a keynote presentation on the picture of Africa today. Invited as special consultants for the workshop are: Mr. W. A. R. Walker, Gold Coast Liaison Oiffcer; His Excellency Clarence L. Simpson, Ambassador, Liberia; His Excellency Yilma Dressa, Ambassador, Ethiopia; Mr. Reginal Barrett, Nigeria Liaison Officer; Mr. Chester Chartrand, U. S. Information Agency; Dr. William L. Hansberry of Howard University, recently returned from Africa where he interviewed many Africans leaders; Mr. J. Elliott Murphy, Institute of African-American Relations. Dr. E. Franklin Frazier will give a summary of the workshop at the International Luncheon which follows. The Luncheon speaker will be Mr. Clark Eichelberger, Director, American Association for the United Nations. Mrs. Dorothy Porter, Librarian, Howard University and a member of the Council's International Department will be the discussion leader.

ONE SCHOOL SYSTEM

A highlight of the week's program will be the Education Department Workshop-theme, "Women United in a Program of Action for One School System." Two full periods will be devoted to this important workshop to be held on Friday, November 12, 10:30 a. m.-12:30 p. m. and 2:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. The morning session will deal with the subject of Integration in the schools and the afternoon session will be devoted to the overall problems in the fields. Mrs. Ida Nance Givens of Baton Rouge is the chairman.

The final program session will be devoted to a youth conference on Saturday when the young women of the Council will gather for an intensive question and answer period on problems of concern to the Junior Council members of the Council. Among the outstanding and experienced Council leaders who will serve as recource consultants for the Youth Conference are Mrs. Helen Meade, Director of the Youth Division; Miss Dorothy L. Height, National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association and Mrs. Aliene C. Ewell, Regional Director and Founder of Chi Eta Phi Sorority. Miss Ann Tanneyhill of the National Urban League will serve as a specialist on programming for youth groups. Among the youth councils representatives expected to take an active part in the youth conference are the following: Mrs. Connie Lacey McCall, president Manhattan Junior Council; Miss Gloria Gray, president Washington Junior Council; Mrs. Elaine Young, Baltimore Junior Council; Miss Verdya M. Dennard, president St. Petersburg Junior Council; Mrs Kathleen Stevens, president Charleston Junior Council; Attorney Sara J. Harper, president, Cleveland Junior Council and Mrs. Erma Tarver president Denver Junior Council.

Council Of Negro Women To Meet In Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The 19th Annual Convention of the National Council of Negro Women will be held in Washington, D. C., November 8-13 and is expected to attract large numbers of delegates from the local councils, the affiliated organizations and from the ranks of life members.

Registrations have already been noted from every geographical section of the country, it was announced today by Dr. Gertrude Rivers, Chairman of the Convention and Mrs. William Thomas Mason, National President. In addition to Council women who will journey from far and near it is expected that the splendid program of workshops, seminars, forum and special events will attract an unprecedented number of visitors and observers The public is invited to attend all workshop session and special events. The theme of the convention is "Women United In a Program of Action."

LOCAL COUNCIL

The convention will open with a meeting of the Board of Directors on Monday, November 8 at 8 p. m. Among other items of business, this body, made up of local council presidents, presidents of the heads of the twenty national organizations affiliated with the council and members of the Executive Committee will receive the reports of the Resolution and Citations Committees.

The convention proper will open on Tuesday, November 9. Following the opening business session and greetings from the Founder, President-Emeritus, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, the Social Welfare Department, chaired by Miss Vinita Lewis of Washington, D. C., will conduct the first of the splendid program workshop sessions of the convention "Women United in a Program of Action to Eradicate Juvenile Delinquency." Mrs. Dorothy Banton, Director of the Kruse School for Girls in Wilmington, Delaware and chairman of the Social Welfare Department's Legislation Sub-Committee will serve as discussion leader. Mrs. Rose Cooper Thomas, chairman of the Sub-Committee on Juvenile Delinquency will serve as the summarizer. After a keynote presentation by the noted jurist, Judge Edith H. Cockrell of the Washington, D. C., Juenvile Court, Mrs. Banton will employ the popular medium of Socio-Drama as a discussion guide.

Council Of Women Lauds Two Members

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The National Council of Negro Women gave high praise today to two of its outstanding members. A statement was released today by the National President, Mrs. Vivian C. Mason, who said, "The National Council of Negro Women is very proud of Dr. Margaret Just Butcher, member of the District of Columbia Board of Education and the Education Department of the National Council of Negro Women and Dr. Arenia C. Mallory, First Vice President of the National Council of Negro Women and principal of Saints Industrial School at Lexington, Mississippi, for distinguished services in the cause of human welfare."

The statement continues, "Dr. Butcher has conducted an intelligent, relentless campaign for better educational facilities for Negro children, arousing the conscience of the citizens of Washington to the degrading conditions surrounding the education of Negro children in the District. This scholarly advocate of non-segregated schools has cited book, verse and chapter to her one-woman campaign pointing out that the taxpayers are being rooked, the children skimped and the noble concept of democracy in the public schools flouted in contempt. Her research pointed to the maintenance of schools for white children where only a handful of students attended, unjustly burdening the taxpayer, while Negro children are forced into crowded, outmoded buildings frequently within a stone's throw of virtually empty institutions. Dr. Butcher has gone further, she has advocated the mixing of schools now, after proper preparation instead of waiting until forced to by a Court decision. Dr. Butcher," Mrs. Mason concluded, "has made the nation especially women conscious of civic responsibility as an individual duty—she has had the courage of her convictions, she has spoken out in clear and compelling language that segregated schools are wrong, unmoral and that they inflict an agonizing and crippling impediment on all children." Dr. Butcher [illegible] graphic example of public [illegible] Council women who have [illegible] raced the "action and passion [illegible] their times.

Dr. Arenia Mallory is a dynamic, forceful educator who has has achieved astounding results in her one-woman campaign in the field of race relations in the state of Mississippi. By dedicated service to the people of her state, Negro and white alike, by a quiet campaign of education, health programs, a child welfare, community and farm projects, Dr. Mallory has lifted the status of the Negro people, gaining recognition and respect for her dignified but determined approach to what has been considered an almost unassailable fortress, the state of Mississippi.

"Her contributions," declared Mrs. Mason, "have been recognized far and wide. Last week a signal honor was conferred upon Dr. Mallory in that the Mayor and Board of Aldermen in Humboldt, Tennessee made [illegible] community in a colorful and inspiring ceremony. Her citation listed her achievements as outstanding in the field of education and community betterment. Dr. Mallory is another fine example of a National Council of Negro Women leader carrying out in a remote community the National Council of Negro Women's program of progressive human relations."

Cite Two Women For Rights Gains

WASHINGTON — (ANP) — Two members of the National Council of Negro Women were praised last week for the Distinguished Services which they are rendering in the field of human rights.

In a public statement, Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, national president of NCNW, praised the work of Dr. Margaret Just Butcher, member of the Distrcit of Columbia board of education, and Dr. Arenia C. Mallory, founder-president of the Saints Industrial School at Lexington, Miss.

"Dr. Butcher has continued an intelligent, relentless campaign for better educational facilities for Negro children," declared Mrs. Mason.

Mrs. Mason referred to Dr. Mallory as "a dynamic, forceful educator who has achieved astounded results in her one-woman campaign in the field of race relations in Misissippi."

Mrs. Nixon Honored At Tea by Council Of Negro Women

Mrs. Nixon, wife of the Vice President, was honored yesterday at a tea highlighting the annual observance of Brotherhood Week by the National Council of Negro Women

The reception at the Willard Hotel climaxed meetings of the council's executive committee Friday and Saturday at the council house at 1318 Vermont avenue N.W.

Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, several Cabinet wives and wives of ambassadors representing countries visited by the Vice President and Mrs. Nixon during their Far Eastern tour attended the tea.

Mrs William Thomas Mason, council president, said the organization honored Mrs. Nixon for the goodwill created by her visit to other lands, and to point up the council's devotion to the cause of brotherhood and goodwill in this country.

She said proceeds from the tea would be given to CARE for the Korean Children Committee.

Mrs. Robert L. Vann of Pittsburgh was honorary chairman of the event and Mme Lillian Evanti, concert singer, was general chairman.

Council Women Of Region 3 Begin Conference Here Apr. 23

Region III of the National Council of Negro Women, comprising North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee and Florida, will hold its annual conference here, April 23, 24. Theme for the sessions will be "Our Responsibility for Strengthening Community Relations at Home and Abroad." West Hunter Baptist Church will be convention headquarters.

Giving impetus to the meeting will be the public meeting Friday night, 8 o'clock, when Mrs. J. S. Flipper and Mrs. Naomah Maise, national regional director will speak. Miss Pinkie L. Crump, Atlanta Council president, will preside. Miss Anna Hall will give the call to worship.

Greetings will be extended by Federated Clubs, Mrs. M. W. Gaines, Colleges, Mrs. Phoebe F. Burney; Sororities, Mrs. R. O. Johnson; the Bar Association, Atty. R. P. Herndon; Business, Mrs. W. A. Scott, Sr.; Federated Council of Churches, Mrs. Geneva Haugabrooks. Other participants include Mrs. L. D. Shivery, Mrs. Jesse O. Thomas, Mrs. A. F. Fisher, Mrs. Iola Jones, regional director, Mrs. Faustina Hall Tate and the David T. Howard school choir.

SATURDAY WORKSHOP

Mrs. Maise will be the coordinator for the Saturday morning workshop. Consultants will be Mesdames Arnetta Wallace, Tenn.; Henriene Ward Banks, Florida; Ann Hawkins, North Carolina Fannie Ponder, Florida; L. S. Weatherspool, Atlanta, and Mr. George S. Mitchell, Atlanta. Recorders will be Mrs. Laura M Grant, Mrs. Anna Reuben and Mrs. Ellen Watson.

A sight-seeing tour is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, and Saturday evening will feature a reception at the home of Bishop and Mrs. W. A. Fountain, Sr., 242 Boulevard, N. E. Mmes. Alice Ogletree, A L. Woodson, Nazer Mathews and Whigham have arranged this affair.

Mrs. Chrystyne L. Randolph is chairman. Mmes. E. B. Baddoo, C. L. Randolph and Birdie Wallace comprise the program committee; Mrs. L. D. Shivery, souvenirs and Mrs. Maggie Gaines, housing.

MRS. NAOMAH W. MAISE FRIDAY NIGHT SPEAKER — Mrs. Naomah Williams Maise, national regional director of the National Council of Negro Women and a former Atlantan will address the public meeting for the annual conference of Region III at West Hunter Baptist Church. The public is invited to attend this session.

COUNCIL HONOREE—Mrs. Dorothy R. Homer, NYC librarian, received the honoree award of the NYC Council of the National Council of Women, Sunday. Mrs. Vivian C. Mason, left, national president, made the award. In center is Miss Bebe L. Hyslop. The presentation is an annual council affair.

NCNW Makes Plans At General Convention

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The General Committee for the 1954 annual convention of the National Council of Negro Women to be held in November, under the chairmanship of Dr. Gertrude Rivers, held its first general meeting April 15 at 8 p. m. at the Council house.

The National Affiliated Organizations will have two representatives each on this committee together with members of the executive committee.

They include Mrs. Marion H. Blueitt, Mrs. Marjorie McKenzie Lawson, Mrs. June M. Spaulding, Mrs. Ruth Caston Mueller, Mrs. Aliene Ewell and Mrs. Vivian Alleyne.

OTHERS ATTENDING

Additional persons include Mesdames Otelia Jackson, Phyllis O' Kelly, Ercelle Moore, Marion Jackson, Elouise Richardson, Jeanetta Welch Brown, Verda Welcome, Mildred Carr, Sadie Mills Franklin, Regina Chandler and Ann Roberts.

Others are Miss Vinita Lewis, Miss Patsy Graves, Miss Patricia Roberts, Mrs. Muriel Alexander, Mrs. Bessie Freeman, Mrs. Alpha Jones, Mrs. Marion Seymour, Mrs. Bertha Lomack, Mrs. Margaret Key Kelson, Mrs. Eva Ladrey, Mrs. Eleanor Singleton, Mrs. Louise Whitten.

And Mrs. Jenade Walburg, Mrs. Charlotte Lewis, Dr. Inabel B. Lindsay, Mrs. Edna McClellan, Dean Sadie Yancey, Mrs. Wilhelmina Barrow, Mrs. Nikki Keets, Mrs. Helen Ables, Mrs. Margaret Hawthorne, Dr. Margaret J. Butcher, Mrs. Charlotte M. Hubbard, Dr. Maybelle Weaver, Mrs. Catherine Mayo and Mrs Marjorie Duckery and Mrs. Dovie Roundtree.

Mrs. Everett Seeks Order To Restrain

Plans are underway to oust Mrs. Faye P. Everett from the local chapter of the National Council of Negro Women, the Argus learned this week. According to informed sources, the action took place at a meeting of the council Tuesday night and followed closely on the heels of a petition filed by Mrs. Everett seeking a restraining order against three persons named as officers of the group.

Mrs. Everett, wife of an elementary school principal, lives at 4260 West Belle Place. She was defeated for the presidency of the council at its regular meeting June 22.

Named as defendants in the petition are Miss Viola Carter, 2709 Bernard Street; Josephine Allen, 4549a McMillan Avenue, and Uxenia Livingston, 4256 Enright Avenue.

SEEKS INJUNCTION

Mrs. Everett seeks a temporary injunction preventing and restraining the defendants from holding office. She alleges that the election of the council deprives her of her property rights and "has aversely affected ... her... business, health and happiness."

In the petition, drawn by her attorney, H. Jackson Daniel of 506 Olive Street, Mrs. Everett alleges that she was elected to office June 1, 1953, and was to have served until June, 1954. She charges that on the election day in June, a regular meeting was held at which time, new officers "were duly elected" after being nominated from the floor.

NAME PRESENTED

Mrs. Everett states that her name was presented by the regular nominating committee "and when votes were counted (Miss Carter defeated Everett by a vote of 20-17."

The petition further alleges that the election was illegal and void in that a special representative of the national chapter was present as an 'official observer' took charge and permitted four persons to vote who were ineligible to cast their ballots because they had not paid their membership. Mrs. Everett contends those four persons voted against her candidacy.

A member of the council told the Argus that voting is by secret ballot.

NO ADEQUATE REMEDY

The petition further alleges that the election illegally deprives her of her office and that "such deprivation cannot be compensated by an action at law and that there is no adequate remedy that can be afforded by such action at law or for damages...that the...election and the assumption of office has deprived plaintiff of property right and has aversely affected the business, health and happiness of the plaintiff and has caused her humiliation and embarrassment...

She prays for "such relief as to the court may seem just and equitable."

This is the second time Mrs. Everett has filed suit against the council following her defeat in an election. Last year she filed a petition in circuit court naming nine other women as plaintiffs. Following publication of the matter, the women disclaimed connection with the suit and requested that their names be removed from the petition. It was later agreed that another election be held and Mrs. Everett emerged victor.

SENT CORRESPONDENCE

Following this year's election Mrs. Everett's lawyer sent correspondence to Mrs. William Mason, national president of the council in Washington, D. C. threatening legal action if Mrs. Mason was not restored to office.

Mrs. Mason was in St. Louis last week in a last ditch harmony move and it was felt the distinguished leader had been successful in preventing an internal organizational dispute.

Atty. Frankie Freeman, local civil rights attorney, has been retained by the national office to represent the local chapter in the proceedings.

500 attend council tea honoring the wife of U.S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon

WASHINGTON

More than 500 women, from many parts of the United States and several foreign countries, attended the tea honoring Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, wife of the vice president, at the Willard Hotel, Saturday evening.

Sponsored by the National Council of Negro Women, the tea attracted a host of national and international dignitaries, including wives of cabinet members.

The second of its kind ever given by the Council, the affair was called a "tremendous success" by Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, NCNW president.

Welcomed Guests

Strikingly attired in a black dress and hat, Mrs. Mason stood beside the Vice-President's wife in the receiving line.

Both she and Mrs. Nixon, whose dark blue suit was contrasted with a white blouse and hat, spent the entire two-hours session welcoming the guests.

Among the nationally known women who poured tea for guests, was Mrs. Vashti Murphy, wife of Dr. Carl Murphy, president, the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers.

Speaking at the conclusion of the program, which included dances by a group from the Philippine Embassy, Madame Lillian Evanti, general chairman observed:

"This is Brotherhood in action."

The tea concurred with the final day of National Brotherhood Week. Funds will be donated to the Korean Relief Fund.

Receiving Line

In addition to Mrs. Nixon and Mrs. Mason, those in the receiving line were:

Dr. Maybelle Weaver, president NCNW, Baltimore chapter; Mrs. Emilio Abello, Philippines; Miss Bertha Adkins, Mrs. Oscar Ahlgren, Madame Sved Amjad Ali, Pakistan; Mrs. Robert Bernard Anderson, Mrs. James Barrington, Burma; Mrs. Marion Bluitt, Madame Henri Bannet, France; and Mrs. Herbert Brownell;

Mesdames Howard Cofin, Cheever Cowdin, J. Foster Dullis, Joseph Farrington; Dr. D. B. Ferebee, Miss B. Gravin, Miss Dorothy Height, Mrs. Oveta C. Hobby, Mrs. George M. Humphey, Dr. Alma Illery, Mrs. Iola Jones, and Madame Tran Van Kha, Viet-Nam;

Mesdames William Knowland, Daisy Lampkin, Katie Louchheim, Douglas McKay; Dr. Arenia Mallory, Mrs. Sandamani Mehta, India; Madame Moekarto Notowidigdo, Indonesia; Mrs. Fannye Ponder, St. Petersburg, Fla.;

Mrs. Jane M. Spaulding, Mrs. Samuel Spencer, Mrs. Harold Stassen, Madame Inpeng Suryadhay, Laos; Mrs. Shao-Hwa Tan, China; Mrs. Harold Tolbert, Madame You Chan Yang, Korea, Mrs. Thelma Young, Mrs. Robert L. Vans, and Madame Svanti.

RECEIVING LINE—At the tea given by the National Council of Negro Women, Saturday, Mrs. Anna Ruth Greer, of Washington, welcomes Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, president, NCNW, and Mrs. Patricia M. Nixon, wife of Vice President Richard Nixon. At left is Mrs. Robert L. Vann, Pittsburgh, and an unidentified guest.

Poured Tea

Pinch-hitting at the tea tables, in addition to Mrs. Murphy were:

Mesdames Gwendolyn M. Floyd, Alice Leopold, Maxwell Rabb, Henrine Banks, Walter Bedell Smith, Homer Ferguson and Karl Mundt;

Mesdames Ethel Ramos Harris, Hiram Houghton, Helen Meadows, Walter Williams, Dr. Helen Bragdon; Mesdames William Dalton Aliene Ewell, Ruth C. Muller, Ezra Besson, Richard Eaton, Sarah Mills Franklin, and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Guests Listed

Seen here and there among the guests were:

Mrs. Robert A. Taft, Mrs. Darrah D. Wunder, Miss Elizabeth Smart, Miss F. Elizabeth Browne; Mesdames Bernice A. Browne, Gladys Scott Roberts, Edna Scott Robinson, Ada F. Coleman, T. C. Simmons and T. R. Conner, all of Washington.

Mrs. M. E. Henderson, Va., Mrs. Daisy E. Lampkin, Pa., Mrs. Prescott Bush, Washington; Mrs. Helen Calloway, Del.; Mesdames W. H. Young, S. Mills Franklin and Frank Small Jr., all of Washington.

Miss Juanita Means, Pa.; Mesdames Echols Young, George W. Sydney, Ellsworth Roger, and Robert E. Rutledge, all of Delaware;

Miss Irma Pieho, National Council Catholic Women; Miss Letitia Johnson; Mesdames Almeta Austin, Ninley Keets, Louise Mosby, Arena J. Bugg, Ercelle G. Brown, and Celestine B. Harris, Freedmen's Hospital Auxiliary, all of Washington.

Mrs. Berry Attends

Mrs. LeRoy Berry, Va.; Mesdames Joseph R. Farrington, Mayme M. Morgan, Ethel F. Holt, Rena M. Arnold, Ruby S. Wells, Frances L. Brown, Helen Pinkney, Ables, Anna R. Barcus, and Sara Burke, all of Washington.

Mrs. Alice W. Fleet, Va.; Mesdames Clara B. Simms, Washington; Elva P. Belcher, Lillian M. Thompson and Anna Belcher; all of Virginia.

Mesdames John A. Simms, Nettie J. Simms and Ethel L. Heywood, all of Washington; Earl Simms, Pa.; Bessie C. Thompson, Wilbur H. Baldinger, Verda F. Welcome, Md.; Stanley D. Pace, Virginia Harper, and Ellicia Lindo, all of Washington.

Mesdames Kathryn Hughes Wetmore, Edith McCleary, Laura Pinkman, and Mary Gramby, all of N.J.; Mary Reeves, Henrietta Thomas, and Elizabeth Johnson, all of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Thalia Woods, Miss Kate I. Shepppard, Md.; Mesdames Hattie E. Johnson, Carrie Heckley, Mary Walton, Annie M. Black and Doris Fleeson, all of Washington.

From Pennsylvania

Dr. Alma Illery, and Mrs. Goldie Hamilton, both of Pennsylvania; Mesdames Marion H. Jackson, Gertrude Cope, Wilda Marshall, Mamie A. Gates; Major, and Mrs. Harold Hayes, Miss Jessie Bloodworth, Mrs. Wiley Whisonant, Miss Vinita Lewis, Miss Aleta Brownlee, Mrs. Edith Cain, Mrs. Eva Gilmore, Miss Lucille A. Hastings, and Mrs. James W. Irwin - National Board, YWCA, all of Washington.

Mesdames Esther Wallace, Alva Jones, Willie Gilbert, Mattie Pree; Miss Josephine Williams; Mesdames Louise Manson, Thelma Miller, Sarah Whitehurst, Marie Streat; Misses Queen Palmer, Anne Walker; Mrs. Lula Paterson, Mrs. Mary Wall, all of Va.

Mesdames Sarah E. Thomas, and Marie J. Smith, both of Washington; Ralph Allen, Md.; W. A. Scott, Ga.; C. Woods, and Isadore Chinn, both of Mo.; Ruth Blackwell, Md.; Lucius E. Young, and Homer Ferguson, both of Washington;

Mesdames Robert B. Croxton, Md.; Rena Hawkins, N.Y.; Alice J. Willis, Miss Suzanna Blackwell, Miss Eloise Pleasant; and Mrs. Harold Burton, all of Washington.

Mesdames Eva Ladrey, and Elease Dixon, Va.; Elaine Gibson, Pa.; Catherine Spencer, Mary T. Anderson, Eva Cain Robinson, Phenie Ella Morris, Daughter Elks; Hallie Lovinggood, Virginia Smith, and Ellen G. McKenney, all of Washington.

Mrs. Emma Barrow, Ky.; Mesdames Elizabeth G. Pollard, Virginia Perry, Eunice Matthews, Mabel Flegler; Misses Louise Graves, Lucille Washington, Mary Thompson, Berncie Perry, Lillian Surft; Olive D. Blair, Miss Elizabeth Nixon; Mesdames Ethel Rowe, Grace Washington, Mary Waring, Henrietta Washington, Alma Porter, Edna F. Browne; Miss J. C. Smith, Mrs. Martha C. Crichlow, Miss Anna B. Johnson, and Mrs. Flora W. Bell, all of Washington.

Virginians Guests

Mesdames Lee Bettie Mansfield Miles, Va.; Sadie H. James, Ethel M. Evans, and Marion Wrench, of Washington: Retha Wilson, Va.; Laura Nimmons, T. L. Kruse, Moss Kendrix, Sadie Pye, and Genie Brown, all of Washington.

Miss Leona D. Edwards, and Mrs. Emma Watson, both of Va.; Miss Marjorie Temple, Washington; Mesdames Mary Dee Dudley, James B. Cayce, and E. R. Harris, all of Pensylvania; Cordella Wharton, Washington; Irene Hogan, Neoma Green, N. J. Moncrief, and Mary O. Coursey, all of Pa.

Mrs. Jocelyn Chisley, Washington; Mrs. Florence Westfield, Md.; Miss Louise W. Walker, Mrs. Robert Hamlin, Miss Esther C. Peyton; Mesdames Evelyn Chase, (Sigma Gamma Rho); and India J. Watkins, all of Washington.

Mesdames Margaret Barfield, and Jessie W. Jones, Virginia, C. R. Chambliss, and George W. Boyd, Washington; Marian Fletcher Creson, and Hallie Talbert, N.Y.; Florence Harper, Anne M. Roberts, Elaine B. Cox, Shirley R. Butler, Narcissus P. Taylor, Olive Byrd; Miss Gwendolyn Peters; Mesdames Leamond Collins, Warren W Lee Jr., Mabel Terry Cook, Clinton Harris, Josephine B. Maxwell, I. Viola Freeman; and Miss B. R. Fleming, all of Washington.

Mesdames Iola Jones, Vashti Virgel, and Miss Vernita Robinson, S.C.; Mesdames Alice C. Smith, Gertrude Carter, Cecil Renfro, Dorothy Greene, Corine Rogers, Marion H. Bluitt, Josephine C. Smith, Elvin C. Smith and Edna M. Holland, all of Washington.

Mrs. Phillips Listed

Mesdames Zola Phillips, and Elizabeth Martyn, Maryland; Ila B. Hancock, N.J.; Bernice W. Newsome, Audrey S. Kirkland, and Sara B. Taylor, all of Washington; Miss Ida E. Maxwell, Miss Elsa Maxwell, and Mrs. Isabel C. Duckrey, all of Pa.

Miss Myrtle E. Parker, N.Y.; Mesdames Catherine J. Mayo, Genevieve Goldring, Ruby Rann; Miss Ruth Russell; Mesdames Rose Davidson, Margaret Jones, Ada Smith, and Ruth Fortune, all of Md.

Mesdames Virginia A. Carter, Delilah Bassett, Margaret Maurry, Ann Brown, F. W. Gray, Charlotte Lewis, Eudora H. J. Fitzhugh, Ralh E. Johnson, Regina Chandler, Charles S. Lomack, and J. E. Morris, all of Washington.

Mesdames Roma T. Hatcher, Pa.; Martha Tyson, W. Poole, Blonge W. Hawkins, Cecelia C. Smith, Dorothy Taliaferro, Lula U. Lewis, Sylvester Blackwell, Alice Longworth, Frank L. White Dorothy Points, Mary M. Hicks Bessie Clark Singleton, Esther T. Jones, Mary Anderson; Miriam E. Wood; Mesdames Viola M. Gardner, Julia E. King, Miss Lois Laster, Mesdames Estelle Wilson, J. W. Bundrant; Miss Jane Sheppard, Miss Emma Sheppard, Mrs. Annie Mae Ward, and Miss Helen Bolden, all of Washington.

Mesdames Gladys Burton, Anna Ruth Greer, Ada E. Wormley, Miss Lillian Wilson; Mesdames Asn G. Sanford, Branard Duffin, Mattie Parker, Thelma. C. Daniels, Orra W. Spivey, Kathaleen Turner, Hiram Cole Houghton, Dennis Chavies, James, E. Scott; Armmond W. Scott and Miss Mary M. Cannon, all of Washington.

Mrs. Clyde D. Hall, Va.; Mesdames Athalone Carpenter, Carolyn Troupe, Georgie F. Raby, Wm. H. Dayton; Miss Elisabeth Scheibe, Dr. Westanna O. I. Byrom, Miss Vivian Kaufman, Mesdames Aurelia Thompson, Lena Hackett Fletcher, Olya Margolin - National Council of Jewish Women, Eva P. Woody and Eslanda T. Cogdell, all of Washington.

Delta Head Present

Miss Dorothy I. Height, N.Y.; Mrs. Annie Thompson, Rosaland Lee, both of Md., Delilah V. Pierce, Washington; Josephine Brown, Michigan; Doris T. Keith, Sadye J. Leftwich and Andrew Howard, all of Washington.

Mesdames Blanche Jordan, Helen Meade, and Miss Jean Webster, all of N.Y.; Mesdames Dora Chinn, Mo.; Lucille McElvaine, Misses Naomi . Blevins, Joanna Blevins, Iona A. Harris, Thelma A. Harris; and Mrs. Grace C. Robinson, all of Washington.

Mrs. W. H. Pinkett, Md.; Mrs. Frances H. Mason, Miss Lucie Newton; Mesdames Myrtle Valentine, Carrie Washington, Lauretta Sullivan, Amelia Brown, Estelle C. Rogers, Pansy Cox, Addie Garvin, Ruth Filanteau, Willa W. Gibson, Juanita S. Overton, Bertha Samuels, and Blanche McRae, all of Washington.

Dr. Arenia C. Mallory, Miss., Mesdames Ezelle M. Gregory, Washington, Alphonso Harris, Va.; Lodie Johnson, Myrtle Davis, Golden McKenzie, Minnie L. Banks, Margaret Key Kelson, Henrieta Carter, Effie F. Stewart, Jessie P. Brooks; Miss Viola E. Meekins; Mesdames Bettye Williams, Martina Walden and Stanley P. Bridges, all of Washington.

Mesdames Charlotte W. Downie, and Evelyn H. Benson, Md.; Elizabeth Deressa, Marie D. Lane, More D. Tolbert, and Virginia McGuire, all of Washington: Henrine Ward Banks, Ill.; Jennie Walburg, Scovel Richardson, S. Jones Medford, and Florence A. Phillips, all of Washington.

Mesdames Elaine Young, Hortense Bright, Jacqueline Ross, Olivia Henderson; Miss Clara Moon, Miss Edith Friend; Mesdames Malcomia Phillips, Pearl Stanley, Verna Ames, Miss Elsie Allen, Miss Shirley Bennett, Miss Pearl Dyson, and Mrs. Ruth Nichols, all of Md.

Mesdames Pearl V. Newman, Phyllis R. Wallace; Miss Helen Murray, Mrs. Evelyn Truxson, Mrs. Rosalie Foster, Miss Shirley Johnson, Mrs. Mary Cardwell Dawson, Mrs. Jesse J. Madden, and Mrs. Zenobit Hart, all of Washington.

Many Washingtonians

Dr. Lucie Thompson, - Business and Professional Women's clubs, Mrs. Henrietta A. McNair, Mrs. Evalina P. Mitchell, Miss Dolores Mason, Mrs. G. Edgar Patterson, Mrs. Doris M. Patterson, and Mrs. Jeanne W. Johnson, all of Washington.

Mesdames Xenia Mindlin, N.Y Nettie Archer, Peggy Hedgepath Elizabeth Finlayson, Miss Elsie Riggs, Mrs. Mary Bryant, and Miss Katherine C. Blackburn, all of Washington.

Mrs. H. Celestine Johnson, Va. Miss Henrietta Thayer, Mesdames Ruth Roundtree, Henrine Gillis, Irene Bowman, Ruth Caston Mueller, Inez Colvin, Ollie F. Mason; Miss Alyce German, Mesdames Ethelyn Thomas and Eleanor Sears Singleton, all of Washington, Dorothy Orr, and Eunice James, both of N.Y.

FAYE EVERETT

St. Louisian Sues To Keep Reigns Of NCNW

ST. LOUIS — Mrs. Faye Everette, former president of the St. Louis chapter of the National Council of Negro Women, filed suit in Equity Court, through her attorney, H. Daniel Jackson, July 24, to restrain three newly elected officers from taking over.

Her petition alleges that she has been deprived of a property right and this adversely affects her business, health, and happiness.

The court has been asked to prevent Miss Viola Carter, newly elected president, Mrs. Josephine Allen, and Mrs. Uxenia Livingston from holding office in the St. Louis council.

The plaintiff's petition states that she was elected by the membership on or about June 1, 1953 and was to serve until reelected or defeated at the 1954 meeting.

The petition further stated that the meeting was duly called and held but that she lost the election. The allegations continued, stating: "that when the votes were counted, defendant Carter defeated the paintiff by a vote of 20-17" but four of the votes against Mrs. Everett were allegedly cast by members who had not paid required dues in the organization. The voting was done by secret ballot.

Following her defeat Mrs. Everett filed a suit in March, 1953.

Ten others whom Mrs. Everette had named in the suit as plaintiffs, demanded that she withdraw their names, however, since they had no knowledge or intention of a suit against anyone.

32b 1954

NATIONAL DENTAL ASSOCIATION

Dr. Carter named head of dentists

INDIANAPOLIS (ANP) — The National Dental Association ended its 41st annual convention here with the election of Dr. J. E. Carter of Augusta, Ga., as president.

The final speaker, Dr. Percy Julian, noted chemist, warned against over emphasis on science and materialism. He said that stress and strain have been the result of putting excessive importance on technological advance.

Special honors went to Dr. W. B. Reed of Nashville, Tenn., former instructor at Meharry Medical College and several times past president of the National Dental Association. Dr. Reed received the honors for unusual service to the organization.

Dr. A. V. Boston of Virgie, Ky., was honored for his interracial hospital which serves that community.

Teachers OK Desegregation

SOME 20,000 American school teachers attended the recent convention in New York City of the National Education Association, coming from all parts of this country and representing every color and creed.

After a long discussion of the future of integrated schools, they adopted a resolution supporting the abolition of segregation, asserting that "all problems of integration in our schools are capable of solutions by citizens of intelligence, saneness and reasonableness working together in the interests of national unity for the common good of all."

What is most significant about this resolution beyond the textual content is that it was adopted by all of the state delegations except those of Mississippi and South Carolina, the latter arguing that it was premature.

Presumably these school teachers know more about our schools and school children than anyone else, so if they think that desegregation is feasible and desirable, there is no reason why parents and politicians should be doubtful about it.

Nevertheless, there is an increasing number of politicians and groups in Dixie girding to fight the U. S. Supreme Court directive, and this means that there is a world of public relations and educ[illegible]ckeying still to be done, and it will cost much more money than we have contributed.

20,000 Educators at Meet

Dr. Picott Gets Key Post in NEA

NEW YORK—Some twenty thousand teachers, administrators, college authorities and other prominent educators attending the ninety-second annual convention of the National Education Association of the United States at Madison Square Garden adopted a resolution praising the May 17 decision of the U. S. Supreme Court "outlawing segregation in public schools."

This and thirty-three other resolutions submitted by the powerful resolutions committee of the organization received approval and constitute official action of the convention representing 600,000 NEA teacher members throughout the country.

* * *

IN OTHER ACTION, the convention named Waurine Walker, of the Texas Education Agency, Austin, Tex., as new president. J. Rupert Picott, executive secretary, Virginia Teachers Association, Richmond, Va., was also elected a vice president.

Miss Walker succeeds William A. Early, superintendent of schools, Savannah, Ga. Dr. Picott is the second Negro in the ninety-two-year history of the association to hold such a high position in this organization of the nation's teachers.

The convention also voted that teachers be paid "a beginning salary of at least $4,000 for bachelor's degree holders with specific preparation for teaching and a salary of at least $9,000 for a teacher with a master's degree and fifteen years of teaching experience.

* * *

FOR THE FIRST time the NEA representatives spelled out the form of Federal aid they wanted. They urged "Federal assistance to the states" to help raise salaries of teachers. Their resolution asked that funds for increased salaries be apportioned on an objective formula, the money to be administered by the United States Office of Education and channeled through the regular state educational agencies.

Teachers laud Supreme Court decision, elect Negro 'veep'

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Twenty thousand teachers, administrators, college authorities and other educators, representing 600,000 teacher-members, attending the 92nd annual convention of the National Education Association at Madison Square Garden here adopted overwhelmingly a resolution praising the May 17 decision of the U. S. Supreme Court outlawing segregation in the public schools."

DR. PICOTT

In other action, the convention named J. Rupert Picott, executive secretary, Virginia Teachers Association, Richmond, a vice president. Dr. Picott is the second Negro in the 97-year history of the Association to hold a high position in this organization of the nation's teachers.

The resolution on segregation and integration in the public schools stated that the "principal embodied in the recent decision of the U. S. Supreme Court with regard to racial segregation is reflected in long established practices of the NEA." The resolution continued that, "all problems of integration in the public schools are capable of solution by citizens of intelligence, saneness and reasonableness."

32b 1954

NATIONAL FREEDOM DAY
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

National Freedom Day program set

The American p. 5

PHILADELPHIA (ANP) — Philadelphia will be host Feb. 1 to the 13th annual observance of the National Freedom Day.

Scores of civic leaders, together with delegates from various states will meet at the Warwick hotel here for a Freedom Day dinner, highlight of the occasion.

Among speakers at the dinner will be Mrs. Carmel Carrington Marr, advisor to Cabot Lodge Jr., Dr. Charles Hill, Wilberforce university president, and the Rev. Sandy F. Ray, pastor of the Cornerstone Baptist church, Brooklyn.

Mrs. James P. McGranery, wife of the former United States attorney general, will be toastmistress at the dinner.

The dinner will be preceded by a Freedom breakfast at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and a noonday wreath-laying ceremony at the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall.

National Freedom Day program set

Afro-American Newark p. 8

PHILADELPHIA (ANP) — Philadelphia will be host Feb. 1 to the 13th annual observance of the National Freedom Day.

Scores of civic leaders, together with delegates from various states will meet at the Warwick hotel here for a Freedom Day dinner, highlight of the occasion.

Sat 1-30-54

Among speakers at the dinner will be Mrs. Carmel Carrington Marr, advisor to Cabot Lodge Jr., Dr. Charles Hill, Wilberforce university president, and the Rev. Sandy F. Ray, pastor of the Cornerstone Baptist church, Brooklyn.

Mrs. James P. McGranery, wife of the former United States attorney general, will be toastmistress at the dinner.

The dinner will be preceded by a Freedom breakfast at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and a noonday wreath-laying ceremony at the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall.

Feminine Charm At Freedom Day Celebration

Argus p. 8 St. Louis Fri. 2-19-54

MRS. HARRIET WRIGHT LEMON, vice president of the Citizens and Southern Bank and Mrs. Carmel Carrington Marr, advisor to U. S. United Nations Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, chat with Louis B. Toomer, Registrar of the U. S. Treasury, after the Freedom Day Mass Meeting. Other Freedom Day activities included a breakfast program at the Academy of Fine Arts, the placing of a wreath upon the Liberty Bell in ceremonies at Independence Hall, the meeting of state delegates at Congressional Hall and a banquet program at the Warrick Hotel. Annually delegates come from all over the nation to celebrate National Freedom Day, which was made a national holiday under President Truman. One of the largest attendances numbered 12,000 at Convention Hall during the life of the founder, Major R. R. Wright.

32

UNDER SEC. OF COMMERCE FREEDOM DAY TALK ATTRACTS

Calls For Speed In Granting Full Civil Rights To Negroes, Lists Gains

Address by the Honorable Walter Williams, under Secretary of Commerce, at the 13th annual observance of National Freedom Day, scheduled for delivery at the cornerstone Baptist Church, Philadelphia, Pa., 8:30 p. m., Monday, February 1, 1954.

We are met together to celebrate National Freedom Day.

Any great observance, such as this, is the proper time for recalling the original reasons for establishing such a day; for counting the blessings derived from the movement; and for looking forward to the time when the principles of today will be the universal practice of tomorrow.

We Americans cherish freedom as one of our most precious treasures. But freedom was not automatic on this continent and it has never been automatic on any other continent at any time in history.

The patriots of the colonial period fought and died to win freedom from a foreign power.

Brave men also fought and died less than a century ago to win freedom for other Americans who previously had been held in bondage.

Let us never forget that there might not have been a Declaration of Independence or an Emancipation Proclamation if our fathers had not worked hard and shed their blood to win the freedom which all of us now are enjoying.

Moreover our gratitude for our own good fortune should be all the greater as we gaze at certain portions of this troubled world. We find men and women robbed of freedom which we take as the normal condition of life.

We note with sorrow that many once-independent countries have lost their independence and have been imprisoned behind the Iron Curtain. We observe with anguish that millions today wear the heavy chains of slavery. Families have been divided; little children have been torn from their mothers' arms and great masses of helpless, suffering, heartbroken people have been scattered and deported to concentration camps in far distant lands.

All of us pray that sometime an emancipation message will reach these doomed souls and that the entire world will be united in a glorious era of friendship and freedom.

Let us, who enjoy liberty, highly resolve to do all that we can to keep our country strong so that its might can increase the power of the free world. Let us build our country's strength so that from a position of global leadership the United States can work effectively in the cause of lasting peace. And let us remember that in America our liberties finally rest upon the discharge of sober, high responsibility of the individual. In America the individual is supreme.

On this National Freedom Day it is fitting that we examine as to how far the principles of freedom have been directed into channels of action against discrimination, segregation and other barriers in our own country.

Of course, you and I are not satisfied with the entire picture. We shall coninue to do all we can through enlightenment, sound argument, social action, government guidance and legislation to speed the day when all forms of intolerance are eradicated.

We have powerful evidence on which to base hope. Every year we see a spread of better understanding and, as a result, steady progress.

True emancipation means not only greater freedom but greater acceptance of the responsibilities as well as the benefits of freedom.

You and I are justly proud of the continued progress of American Negroes in winning wide respect for their achievements in business, agriculture, education, science, religious institutions and other worthy enterprises.

It still is necessary to have special agencies and private organizations to fight for the provisions of the Constitution and other civil rights. But fully as effective in the battle against injustice is the fine record in citizenship made by American Negroes in all walks of life. Their good deeds, their accomplishments and their high character are influencing others to recognize their worth and to champion their rights.

I am proud to represent the Eisenhower Administration at these ceremonies. My pride has a moral foundation because I can honestly declare that the Administration is dedicated to the noble principles for which this National Freedom Day was founded. And the Eisenhower Administration practices what it preaches.

Th President, as a General in the last war, led the military crusade against the forces which had been carrying on the most wicked campaign of discrimination and racial prejudice of our time. His army of American boys of every color and creed smashed the murder ovens of the Nazis and set at liberty the victims of bigotry and hate. The same spirit of loathing for racial injustice motivates the entire Eisenhower Administration.

I need not enumerate here the many recent steps taken by the government against discrimination because the news has been widely printed and you are acquainted with it. You know that the President has set up an antibias committee to prevent job discrimination in government contracts. You know that segregation is vanishing in the armed forces. You know that Administration lgeal officials are pressing the cause against segregation in our nation's schools.

We are correcting conditions as rapidly as possible. Elimination of ancient wrongs is good as negative action. But we want to do even more by showing in word and deed positive belief in civil rights and respect and trust for ALL Americans, regardless of race, color, creed or national origin.

One example of this trust is the appointment of outstanding Negro men and women to important posts in the government.

Among the many posts to which Negroes have been appointed by this Administration are these:

Register, Treasury Department, an honored guest here tonight.

First Alternate Delegate to United Nations.

Legal Counsel, Post Office Department.

Secretary in the White House.

Ambassador to Liberia.

Caribbean Commission.

Assistant to Secretary, Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare.

Vice Chairman, Government Contract Committee.

Member, Federal Parole Board.

Area Adviser on staff of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., U. S. Mission to United Nations.

Advisory Committee on Government Housing Policies and Programs.

Battle Monuments Commission.

International Development Advisory Board.

Head of the staff of the American Consulate General at Marseille, France.

Attorney, General Services Administration.

You and I are pleased with such appointments. Since Negro soldiers and sailors have a duty—as all Americans do—to fight for their country, they have a right to serve that country in any posts to which they are qualified—the same as other Americans.

Associated with me in the Commerce Department is E. Frederic Morrow, whom you new in the days when he was Field Secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Mr. Morrow holds the past of Adviser on Business Affairs in the Business and Defense Services Administration. This is a great clearing house where government and private business swap services, ideas and opinions in the effort by the Administration to stimulate a high level of business activity and employment.

I want you to keep this fact in mind: Such appointments, as I have listed briefly, were not made because the appointees are Negroes but because they are men and women of ability and character.

In the old days "Negro Advisers" and "Negro Specialists" may have been necessary in government to act as watchdogs. But in your government under the leadership of Dwight D. Eisenhower every official is a watchdog in racial justice today.

Negroes are appointed to all manner of jobs, as these positions are opened, because they can DO these jobs. Thus instead of having Negro talent segregated in Negro specialist posts, we have their skills employed in all branches, the same as other Americans.

There is no second class citizenship on the Eisenhower team. We all are working together as fellow public servants in the interests of all the people of the United States.

32b 1954

NATIONAL FEDERATION OF FEDERAL EMPLOYEES

U.S. Employees Protest New GOP 'Clearance'

Gov. St. Louis, Mo.

WASHINGTON—The following statement was issued this week on behalf of the National Federation of Federal Employees by President Luther C. Steward:

"The National Federation of Federal Employees views with grave concern repeated and unmistakable evidences of efforts to undermine the merit system in the Federal service.

"While it is true that spoils practices have not gained ascendancy on a wholesale scale, there is constant sniping against the career and the odor of political manipulation grows increasingly strong.

Gov. 11-5-54

"The latest reports of the setting up of an elaborate system of political clearances should not be surprising, for the National Federation of Federal Employees has repeatedly called attention to the existence of this situation and to the dangers it holds for the cause of good government and sound public administration.

P. 4

"Political clearance requirements are not limited to top policy-making positions but are known to have extended down to the position of laborer. Unfortunately, spoils-minded persons and groups, both within and outside the Federal service, in various cases have been aided by some supine individuals engaged in government personnel work.

"Pious expressions of stalwart, unwavering support for the merit system constantly emanate from official sources while the same time actions show that ground is being yielded to spoilsmen.

"The public has a deep and a direct interest in maintenance of the Federal career system, built up painstakingly under all Administrations, without regard to political party, over the past 75 years.

"Any return to spoils practices, however plausible the guise, is contrary to the public niterest and a blow to the cause of good government."

Federal Employes Retain 2 Officers

Courier-Post 11-2-54

DALLAS, Tex. — Luther C. Steward and Gertrude M. McNally were re-elected president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the National Federation of Federal Employes, at the organization's biennial convention here recently.

Housewives League Sets Durham Meet

DURHAM, N. C. — The Seventeenth Annual Convention of the National Housewives' League, an affiliate of the National Negro Business League, will be held in Durham, North Carolina, August 16-20, according to an announcement made this week by Mrs. Callie B. Daye, National Publicity Director and president of the Durham Housewives' League.

The local Planning Committee is making extensive preparations for an interesting and rewarding program. The theme of which is "Building Business Is Our Business." All features and discussions will stem from this idea. A highlight of the Convention will be a pageant depicting the history and development of the League.

Mrs. Christine M. Fuqua of Detroit, National President, will chair all sessions an deliver her annual address on Wednesday, August 18.

Mrs. Daye stated that delegates and visitors from approximately 25 states are expected to attend, including Horace Sudduth of Cincinnati, president of the parent organizations, the National Negro Business League, and Mrs. Fannie Peck of Detroit, president-emeritus and co-founder with the late Albion Hosley.

It was during the 1953 meeting of the Business League in Durham that the dream of the Housewives' League became a reality and Mrs. Fannie Peck was elected its first president. To her and others, this convention will be a homecoming.

Officers of N.M.A.

Left to Right: Dr. A. Porter Davis, President; Dr. A. M. Townsend, Jr., Chairman of the Board of Trustees; Dr. W. Montague Cobb, President of Medico-Chirurgical Society and Editor of NMA Journal; Dr. Joseph L. Johnson, Dean of Howard University School of Medicine; Dr. John B. Johnson, Chairman of NMA Scientific Council; Dr. William F. Nelson, General Chairman of Local Committee on Arrangements.

Medics pick directors for western area

Afro-American

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (ANP)—Directors of western activities of the National Medical association were named last week by A. Porter Davis, national president of the association.

Named western area director was Dr. Matthew Walker, Meharry Medical college. Regional directors are as follows:

Dr. Wells S. A. Ford, Los Angeles, Region I; Dr. J. S. Cobb, Pueblo, Col., Region II; Dr. Alden B. Thompson, Tucson, Ariz., Region III;

Zone Directors

Dr. James M. Franklin, Los Angeles, Zone 17, Dr. Edmond F. Noel, Denver, Col., Zone 19, and Dr. David M. Solomon, Phoenix, Ariz., Zone 20. State vice presidents are:

Drs. Robert N. Joyner, Seattle, Wash.; M. Evans, Los Angeles, Brandon Rowlin, Pasadena, Calif.; W. A. Beck, Los Angeles; J. O. Garland, Long Beach, Calif.; Joel E. Lewis, Berkeley, Calif.;

E. R. Plunkett, San Lorenzo, Calif.; Clay M. Wilson, Oakland, Calif.; Hildrus A. Poindexter, American Embassy, Monrovia, Liberia, and Lowell C. Wormley, Phoenix, Ariz.

National Medical society sets 59th session for D.C.

Afro-American p. 5

The Howard University Medical Center will be the scene of the 59th annual convention of the National Medical Association, Aug. 9 to 13.

The association was organized in 1895 and this convention promises to be the scientific crowning point in its career.

To the array of medical talent connected with the Howard University College of Medicine and Freedmen's Hospital there will be addresses and lectures and scientific exhibits by distinguished medical men from all over the country.

Exhibits On Diabetes

The Joslin Diabetic Clinic from Boston, Mass., will send speakers and a scientific exhibit on diabetes. The American Medical Association will send an exhibit and a speaker depicting the physician's role in highway accidents.

In addition to these, there will be exhibits on brain surgery by Dr. Clarence S. Greene, neurosurgeon of Washington, and exhibits on tuberculosis by Dr. Howard Payne of Washington. The United States Government and Howard University Medical School will also hold exhibits. In addition to these features, an outstanding physician in general practice will be selected "Physician of the Year."

Were First Elected In 1936

Drs. Taylor, Givens Into NMA Posts For 19th Time

Special to Journal and Guide

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The National Medical Association closed out one of its largest annual conventions on record Friday with Dr. Matthew Walker, of Nashville Tenn., taking the office of president.

Nearly 1,500 doctors, from practically every state in the union attended the four-day sessions at Howard University, which began on Aug. 9 and ended August 13.

TWO OFFICERS, Dr. John T. Givens, of Norfolk, executive secretary, and Dr. E. T. Taylor of St. Louis, Mo., treaurer, were reelected to posts which they have held since 1936.

Other officers elected were:

DRS. A. C. Terrance, Opelousa, La., president-elect; Charles Lunsford, Rochester, N. Y., first vice-president; Fred E. McClendon, Atlanta, Ga., second vice-president; Walter J. Hughes, Greensboro, N. C., third vice-president; R. W. Hixon, Cleveland, Ohio, speaker of the House of Delegates; J. A. Long, Talakta, Fla., vice-speaker, and Murray B. Davis, High Point, N. C., secretary of the house of delegates.

Newly elected trustees are:

• • •

R. C. BRYANT, Tulsa, Okla.; L. W. Long, Union, S. C.; E. I. Robinson, Los Angeles, Calif.; William F. Nelson, Washington, D. C., and James Parker, Red Bank, N. J.

Mrs. Pannell, of Nashville, Tenn., took office as president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the National Medical Association, and Mrs. Fred E. McClendon, Atlanta, Ga., became president-elect.

THE BISHOP gave the church credit for a contribution to missions "of which we need not be ashamed," but he said "because of our position, we have an added responsibility in this new day to make a significant contribution and especially in the broader field of social reconstruction."

The speaker stressed the changing world scene which is a challenge to the church to press its missionary program. He declared that "the whole of Eastern Europe has been, for all practical purposes, withdrawn from the orbit of the church's influence and power."

HE POINTED out that China with 400 millions "has been closed as a missionary opportunity and the church's

DR. A. C. TORRENCE
President-Elect

Install Meharry dean as president of NMA

WASHINGTON (NNPA) — Dr. Matthew Walker, assistant dean of Meharry Medical College, was installed Friday as president of the National Medical Association.

With the installation ceremony and a business session, the NMA wound up its convention, attended by some 1,400 doctors from throughout the United States. The sessions were held at Howard University.

The new president, a native of New Orleans, received his medical degree in 1934 from Meharry, where he is chairman of the department of surgery. He succeeds Dr. A. Porter Davis, of Kansas City, Kans.

— o O o —

DR. AUGUST C. Terrence of Opelousas, La., was named president-elect to serve in 1955-56.

Elected to serve with Dr. Walker during the coming year were Dr. Charles T. Lunsford, Rochester, N.Y., first vice president; Dr. Fred E. McLendon, Atlanta, second vice president, and Dr. Walter J. Hughes, Greensboro, N.C., third vice president.

Re-elected were Dr. John T. Givens, Norfolk, Va., executive secretary, and Dr. E. T. Taylor, St. Louis, treasurer. Dr. Ralph W. Hixon, Cleveland, Ohio, was elected speaker of the House of Delegates and Dr. William F. Nelson of Washington, who served as chairman of the local convention committee, was named to the board of trustees.

— o O o —

A RESOLUTION commended the Veterans Administration "for its stated policy of integration in VA hospitals," and urged "its swift completion, not only to patients, but as to the appointment of physicians."

A second resolution was adopted commending the NAACP and its legal staff for "a job well done" in connection with the Supreme Court decisions outlawing racial segregation in public schools.

NMA and Auxiliary Take D. C.

Spotlight Shines on Capital As Distinguished Men and Women Convene in 59th Annual Meet

By RUTH SHIPLEY

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The fifty-ninth annual convention of the NMA, combined with the nineteenth gathering of the Women's Auxiliary, turned the scientific and social spotlight on the nation's capital last week. The host group was also celebrating its seventieth anniversary which meant extra detail and planning for one of the largest NMA confabs yet held.

NMA officials and the auxiliary were on the air Monday, on the "Americans All" program, in which Dr. William Montague Cobb, president of the Medico-Chirurgical, Washington, welcomed the delegates and president-elect Dr. Mathews Walker of Tennessee, brought greetings.

Also on the program were Dr. J. L. Johnson, Howard School of Medicine, and Dr. McKinley Thomas, Los Angeles. Mrs. Erma B. Cornish, president of the Washington Auxiliary, brought greetings.

COCKTAILS

The Washington Auxiliary gave a magnificent cocktail party at the Caravan Club, with a Hawaiian setting.

Tuesday night's event was the public meeting held at the new U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare Auditorium. Dr. Montague Cobb, dynamic chairman of the Washington group, presented Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service as the principal speaker.

Greetings via telegram came from President Eisenhower. The Distinguished Service Award was presented to Dr. Peter Murray of New York City, for his outstanding accomplishments. Dr. William McKinley Thomas made the presentation.

SOCIALIZING

Dr. A. C. Terrence, president-elect, of Opelousas, La., poured cocktails for a few friends in his handsome suite at the Statler Hotel, following the public meeting.

Other social events included the art show, a smoker, a card party and the President's Ball held at Masonic Temple.

Friday brought to a close one of the most successful conventions of the association. The new national officers were installed for the year for the NMA and its auxiliary, as follows: Dr. Mathews Walker of Tennessee, president of the NMA and Dr. A. C. Terrance, Louisiana, president-elect of the Women's Auxiliary; Mrs. W. E. Pannell, Tennessee, prsident, and Mrs. F. Earl McLendon, Atlanta, Ga., president-elect.

OFFICERS NMA AUXILIARY—Officers of the Auxiliary of the National Medical Association which convened in D. C. last week. Left to right are Mrs. Erma Cornish, president D. C. Auxiliary; Mrs. F. E. McLendon (Atlanta, Ga.), president-elect of Women's Auxiliary; Mrs. W. E. Pannell (Texas), president of National Women's Auxiliary, receiving the gavel from past president, Mrs. R. S. Smith (Macon, Ga.); Mrs. Eunice Matthews, national program committee chairman; Mrs. Wilhelmina Thomas, national chairman exhibits, and Mrs. Leonora Freeman, national publicity chairman.—Cabell Photo.

32b 1954

NATIONAL MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Meharry Dean Installed As Medical Group President

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (NNPA) — Dr. Matthew Walker, assistant dean of Meharry Medical College, was installed Friday as president of the National Medical Association.

Tag House OQKs Administration Tag House Bill Modifies ein

With the installation ceremony and a business session the NMA wound up its convention attended by some 1,400 doctors from through out the United States. The sessions were held at Howard University.

The new president, a native of New Orleans, received his medical degree in 1934 from Meharry, where he is chairman of the department of surgery. He succeeds Dr. A. Porter Davis of Kansas City, Kansas.

Dr. August C. Terrence of Opelousas, Louisiana, was named president-elect to serve in 1955-56.

TO SERVE WITH FOLLOWING

Elected to serve with Dr. Walker during the coming year were Dr. Charles T. Lunsford, Rochester, New York, first vice president; Dr. Fred E. McLendon, Atlanta, second vice president, and Dr. Walter J. Hughes, Greensboro, North Carolina, third vice president.

Reelected were Dr. John T. Givens, Norfolk, Virginia, executive secretary, and Dr. E. T. Taylor, St. Louis, treasurer. Dr. Ralph W. Nixon Cleveland, Ohio, was elected speaker of the House of Delegates and Dr. William F. Nelson of Washington, who served as chairman of the local convention committee, was named to the Board of Trustees.

VA HOSPITALS

A resolution commended the Veterans' Administration "for its stated policy of integration in VA hospitals," and urged "its swift completion, not only as to patients, but as to the appointment of physicians."

A second resolution was adopted commending the NAACP and its legal staff for" a job well done" in connection with the Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation in public schols.

The diabetic patient, under constant care of a physician, is better off in many ways than the healthy person, an 85-year-old diabetic specialist told the convention Thursday.

Dr. Elliott P. Joslin, founder of the Clinic in Boston, told the NMA members that such diseases as cancer are often spotted earlier in the diabetic because of the condition's need for constant surveillance by a physician.

GENERAL LAXNESS

Dr. Joslin, who started practice in 1897, also stressed that treatment of the diabetic patient even in this age of insulin and proper diet should be rigidly controlled. He hinted at a general laxness on the part of physicians as well as diabetic patients to be satisfied with routine insulin injections.

Dr Joslin pointed out that patients with diabetic are dying now of heart disease instead of diabetic coma and gangrene, which were the chief causes some years ago.

While medicine has been able to greatly reduce deaths from diabetics, other complications still arise if patients fail to follow the doctor's orders religiously, he said.

The NMA's scientific sessions opened at Howard University Tuesday and last through Thursday.

CLINICAL SURGERY

Discussing "Cancer Chemotherapy and Surgery," Dr. Edward L. Howe, associate professor of clinical surgery at Columbia University, declared that "until chemotherapy becomes an accomplished clinical treatment of cancer, surgery remains the best method."

He said cancer chemotherapy offers its greatest possibilities in the field of prevention of cancer.

Through a tiny window in a plastic chamber attached to the back of a laboratory mouse, NMA delegates Wednesday observed the growth and weird behavior of transplanted cancer cells.

The open window technique for observing the growth of living tissues was demonstrated by Dr. Glenn Algire of the National Cancer Institute's laboratory of biology as he discussed "Miscroscopic Visualization of Living Tissues."

He demonstrated the injection of cancer cells into a bit of living tissues raised from the mouse's back. Development of the cancer, housed in a plastic chamber worn by the mouse, is studied through the window.

The cancer cells are viewed with a microscope and can even be phtographed. Some 200 physicians touring the National Institute of Health saw a "speeder-up" moving picture of cancer growth, filed through the window.

Dr. William H. Sebrell, Jr., director, outlined the program of the National Institutes of Health. Various aspects of cancer study were discussed by Dr. J. R. Heller, director of the National Cancer Institute.

The NMA board of trustees Tuesday, announced a contribution of $2,000 to the Howard University Medical School as a student loan fund for the purchase of books and instruments. Another $2,000 contribution was made to the NAACP Legal and Educational Fund.

MORE INTENSIVE

The need for a working partnership between private and public health physicians was explained to NMA delegates Tuesday night by Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele of the United States Public Health Service.

Dr. Scheele said if medical societies and health departments plan joint attacks on leading health problems of the day a more intensive application of preventive medicad science would result.

"It would be a tragedy," he said, "as well as a great economic waste, if the fruits of our vastly expanded medical research effort should be allowed to wither on the vine for lack of mutally satisfying action on the part of private and public health physicians."

Neither the professional medical society nor the health department alone, Dr. Scheele said, can determine what the other should or should not do, nor can either alone give the community the comprehensive advice it needs for the development of community health facilities and services.

SERVICE AWARD

Honored at Tuesday's meeting was Dr. Peter Marshall Murray, New York gynecologist, a Howard graduate, and a past president of the NMA.

The association awarded Dr. Murray its Distinguished Service Award, given each year to the physician who has contributed most to the field of medicine on a national level.

Dr. Murray told NMA members there was a great need for more colored persons to go into medicine

Among speakers Tuesday was Ellsworth Bunker, president of the American Red Cross, who told the NMA convention that the Red Cross owes much of its success in the blood procurement field to the late Dr. Charles R. Drew. "His untimely loss has been keenly felt by us all, for he served humanity rather than self," he said.

A report on studies of the aged was given to the NMA by Joseph F. Fazekas, chief of staff of the District of Columbia General Hospital.

Dr. John P. Turner, a police surgeon in Philadelphia for twenty-one years, termed the nation's illicit drug traffic a billion-dollar racket with 60,000 Americans as drug addicts.

"The addict should be treated kindly, as a patient," he declared, "but the peddler should be sent to jail for a long time."

Another speaker, Dr. Charles B. Wilkinson, Howard University Medical School psychiatrist, said physicians can aid persons needing psychiatric care by helping them to overcome the feeling that psychiatrists treat only "crazy people."

Medic Group Selects '54 Officers

Pat 9-25-54

WASHINGTON, D. C. — New officers of the Woman's auxilliary to the National Medical association which ended its 18th annual meeting here recently will carry forward the organization's work during 1954 and 1955 under a revised theme.

"Building Today for a Better World Tomorrow — Today's Challenge Becomes Tomorrow's Promise" is the goal of the group as set forth by the newly installed president, Mrs. W. E. Pannell of Clarksville, Tenn.

Mrs. F. Earl McLendon, Atlanta, Ga., is president-elect. Vice presidents are Mrs. P. J. Collier, Hot Springs; Charles B. Hayes, Niagara Falls; Mrs. E. Chester Hedgeman of Detroit, general secretary; Mrs. J. B. Harris, Atlanta, recording secretary.

The new officer roster includes also Mmes. J. O. Sheffield, New Orleans, treasurer; E. A. Davis, Nashville, parliamentarian; G. P. Schanck, Orlando, Fla., editor of Mouth-piece; D. R. Green, sr., Atlanta, Ga., assistant editor; W. A. Besson, Memphis, chaplain.

Chairman of the executive board is Mrs. R. S. Smith, Macon, Ga., Mmes. W. R. Tucker, Painsville, Ohio, secretary; M. D. Bryant, Savannah, Ga., sergeant-at-arms and board members at large. M Maude Giles, Chicago; C. A. Lawloh, Pine Bluff, Ark., and Ester Sherard, St. Louis, Mo., complete the new officer slate.

Chairman of the Alma Givens Scholarship fund, an important phase of the auxiliary's program is Mrs. W. D. Denny, Nashville.

Medical Men Give $2,000 To NAACP Defense Fund

NEW YORK — A contribution of the National Medical Association of $2,000 to the NAACP Legal Defense Fund has been hailed as "a tremendous stimulus to . . . the ten-year freedom campaign looking toward full realization of the p rovisions of the Emancipation Proclamation by its centennial in 1963."

In a telegram to Dr. A. M. Townsend, chairman of the NMA's board of trustees, Roy Wilkins expressed thanks for the "generous contribution" and said that he was "certain that it will act as an inspiration to other organized groups so that by our combined and persistent efforts second class citizenship based upon caste and color will be completely eliminated from American life."

The sum was voted unanimously by the House of Delegates of NMA following an appeal by Dr. W. Montague Cobb, member of the N. A. A. C. P. Board of Directors and chairman of the Association's National Health Committee. Dr. A. Porter Davis is president of the national medical society, which is holding its 59th annual convention in Washington

THE NATIONAL MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

"Some 1,400 doctors from throughout the United States" attended the sessions of the National Medical Association not so long ago in Washington, D. C., according to a news account. The members of the NMA are all Negroes. The new president, Dr. Matthew Walker, head of the department of surgery at Meharry Medical College, was elected as the new president of the association. Special honors were awarded to Dr. Peter Murray, a graduate of the Howard University Medical School, for his having become head of the organization of all doctors in New York.

None of this would likely have been possible without these two medical schools or without this association which is composed of Negro doctors, although they undoubtedly would admit white doctors to membership if they should seek membership. Do the implications of this situation almost compel the conclusion that there will still be need for organizations and institutions run by Negroes as we struggle for and move into the era of integration?

32b 1954

New Methods For Historic Agency Given In '54 Call

Officials Of National Negro Business League Deplore Thoughtless Attacks "Sociologists" Made On Philosophy of Booker T. Washington; Plan Expansion of Organization And Women's Auxiliary At Annual Meeting In Chicago

If the officials of the National Negro Business League "follow through" with the program they have outlined for their 1954 meeting, this organization, founded by the famed Booker T. Washington in 1900, will soon become a tremendous force in the economical life of the Negro race and probably accomplish more in getting for the Negro his civil rights than can be obtained by oratory and political maneuvering.

The present President is Horace Sudduth. Mr. Sudduth is sending out interesting literature, dealing with the history of the League and its accomplishments. As an indication that he and his associates mean to profit by any errors made in the previous operation of the organization, here are some important items of history which colored business and professional people are asked to ponder and to take proper action thereafter:

1. It has now been more than fifty years since the far-seeing founder of our League (Booker T. Washington) gave to us an economic philosophy, which had we followed and developed vigorously through organizational procedures, would have advanced our economic position to a point that we cannot conceive of at this time.

2. The losses we have suffered because of the mis-interpretation of Mr. Washington's economic philosophy by a few leading educators and sociologists and other strong forces in days gone by cannot be overestimated. It must not happen again. It is up to YOU and to ME to be alert to any mis-interpretation of our program that may spring up from anywhere.

3. One of the most widely-read magazines, called "TIMES" said in its issue of May 11th, 1953: "It has taken the Negro more than fifty years to discover that Booker T. Washington was a great man' and implied that the Negro is now turning to the philosophy of Booker T. Washington for his salvation.

4. The National League carried on a purely inspirational program until 1948, at which time the Atlantic City Convention recognized a pressing need to expand its program to meet our business needs of today.

League officials are convinced that the educational campaign they have carried on for the past six years without being attacked for urging that more attention be given by Negroes to the establishment of business concerns, has borne fruit.

A national office has been established at 1927 Eleventh St., N. W., Washington, D. C. Steps are being taken to increase the funds of the executive office so as to carry on a bigger program of education.

The officials disclose that some sort of underhand maneuverings were carried out in Washington back in 1952 when the U. S. Department of Commerce which had allocated $25,000 for the purpose of separating white and non-white business statistics. It is stated:

"For reasons not generally known or at least not satisfactory to us the budget committee of the Department re-allocated that money for another purpose. This certainly was to our disadvantage. Such information must be gathered at the expense of the National Negro Business League and Local Leagues and Chambers now."

A report on a survey made recently in Baltimore, showed that Baltimore is a city having a total population of 949,209 and the Negro population is 225,000. There are 4,377 businesses in Baltimore, of which Negroes operate 224; Negroes should own at least 913 business establishments, it is contended. The report continues:

"What the Baltimore survey shows is typical more or less in 184 cities in the United States. With thousands to enter business and with the wealth power of 12 BILLION DOLLARS PER YEAR, it is clear to all of us that we have an almost uncountable number of opportunities to enter business, increase our incomes and become a more important part of the business, financial and commercial life of all of our cities."

The report says that a study of local Leagues showed that "practically all of them carried on an overall program which leaned dangerously close to entertainment."

The League officials have a program for the Local Leagues such as will encourage them to go into enterprises that are real business concerns. Speaking of the pre-occupation of Local Leagues with so much entertainment and what will be a better program for them, the executives state:

"While recognizing the merits of those programs, we found that they could be strengthened and improved by organizing their memberships into special interest groups and forming trade associations with specialized programs for each group or trade association, to illustrate:

"Organize grocers, dry cleaners, tavern keepers, electric appliance dealers and many other businesses and spearhead those programs into local chambers for services of various kinds. At the same time the research department of our National office will send, at frequent intervals, to all Local Leagues or Chambers helpful information for all types of businesses.

The League's program also calls for the organizing of a functioning Housewives' League, if there is none in our community. "They are the spenders of 85 per cent of the money we earn and are best prepared to carry out both by experience and the nature of their program, the kind of mass educational program suited to our racial needs.

It is held that this vast program cannot be carried out with voluntary workers. It must have the direction of a well-paid professional staff.

In a letter to the press about the 1954 meeting of the National Negro Business League, President Horace Sudduth stated the following:

The Annual Convention of the National Negro Business League will be held in Chicago, Ill., Oct. 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, at the South Parkway Ball Room located at 3647 S. Parkway.

The Chicago Negro Chamber of Commerce will be host to the Convention.

The National Office will set up a Convention office at 3647 South Parkway, Chicago, Ill., to which you will please address all letters and communications until the Convention adjourns.

The spade work necessary to provide a program of action and service to Local Leagues has been done.

Our immediate goal is to employ a competent Executive Secretary and four Regional Secretaries who will visit existing Leagues, set up functioning Local Leagues, and do research which will aid Local Leagues in developing programs that will sustain the interest of their members.

One way you can help to get the National Office functioning with paid professional administrators and benefit from its operations, is to give financial support.

The support of the National comes from the sale of individual and corporate supporting memberships ranging from $25.00 to $1000 or more, charter fees of $25.00 from each Local League, plus a per capita tax of $3.00 per member to be remitted during the Convention.

Our economic program has advanced to a point where we need only financial support to become effective. Insufficient financial support could be interpreted by other groups as indifference on our part to our low economic position—the security of our business — the wealth we have gathered—and the economic future of our race.

We feel that you are one of the few persons who understand the need (especially at this time) of our League's program and upon that basis we are asking you to prepare now to come to the Convention this year and give whatever aid you can in helping your Local League to send as many delegates as possible.

Under any circumstance, take out a supporting membership and wherever your influence extends, use it to get as many corporations and individuals to do the same.

The indications are that after six years of unremitting hard work, progressing towards our goal, we will succeed this year in putting our new program of action in operation.

Let the history of the National Business League show that you played your part in our struggle for economic freedom.

It is reasonable to presume that since every business and professional man and woman and corporation of our group will benefit from our League's program—it is again reasonable to presume that it would be profitable to them to support our League's National and Local Economic Programs unstintedly—without equivocations — but with confidence and great assurance.

May I feel confident of your support in our effort to make the Chicago Convention the beginning of a functioning, scientific, economic program, to continuously improve our economic position as American Citizens—and at the same time build the confidence of our masses in our business and professional men and women and corporations.

I beg to remain,

Yours truly,

HORACE SUDDUTH, President.
National Negro Business League.

2 Texans Cop Posts In NNBL

CHICAGO — Delegates to the 54th annual convention of the National Negro Business League last week agreed on the retaining of Horace Sudduth of Cincinnati as president and the retention of the word "Negro" in the organization's name. They also elected two Texans, one from Houston and one from Tyler, to high offices in the organization.

Officers elected by the convention included:

Dr. T. R. M. Howard, Mound Bayou, Mississippi, First Vice President; J. E. Robinson, Houston, Second Vice President; Kit Baldwin, Chicago, Third Vice President and H. M. Morgan, Tyler, Texas, Treasurer.

At the annual banquet, John H. Johnson, head of the Johnson Publishing Company of Chicago, was named "Business Man of the Year' and cited for his contribution to business. In accepting the citation, Mr. Johnson promised "to try to live up to the confidence placed in me."

Among delegates were: J. W. Rice, Dallas, and Milton Wilson and J. V. Anderson of Houston.

NNBL Re-elects Sudduth; Retains Negro in Title

Courier Pittsburgh Pa. Sat. 10-30-54 p. 3

CHICAGO—(ANP)—Delegates to the fifty-fourth annual convention of the National Negro Business League agreed on two things here last week—the retaining of Horace Sudduth of Cincinnati as president and the retention of the word "Negro" in the organization's name.

There was some sentiment to replace the aging Sudduth and a lot of clamor for the deletion of the word "Negro" from the league's name, but neither was strong enough to affect the outcome.

So after a four-day session in the Parkway Ballroom on the South Side, Sudduth was still president and "Negro" was still in the organization's name.

* * *

OTHER OFFICERS elected by the convention include:

Dr. R. T. M. Howard, Mound Bayou, Miss., first vice president; J. E. Robinson, Houston, Tex., second vice president; Kit Baldwin, third vice president, and H. M. Morgan, Tyler, Tex., treasurer.

In a move to strengthen the organization, a plan was endorsed calling for the building up of local units of the league. These units would be expected to send delegates to national affairs of the organization.

Features of the meeting included luncheon meetings, general sessions, business meetings and a public meeting. At these sessions, panel discussions were held on topics of interest to the business world. Representatives of various fields addressed the panels.

* * *

AMONG THOSE who addressed the sessions of the meeting were:

Kit Baldwin, president, Baldwin Ice Company and president, Chicago Negro Chamber of Commerce, host to the meeting; James C. Worthy, assistant secretary, U. S. Department of Commerce; R. Graham Lloyd, head, economics department, Savannah State College; John Sengstacke, publisher - editor, Chicago Defender; Clifford J. Campbell, director, Dunbar Trade School.

James L. Stuart, chairman, department of business, A. and T. College; Joseph Albright, public relations, Curtiss Candy Company; T. K. Gibson Sr., president, Supreme Liberty Life Insurance Company; DeShazer Jackson, Durham, N. C., and Willard S. Townsend, labor leader.

At the annual banquet, John H. Johnson, publisher of several magazines, was named "Business Man of the Year" and cited for his contribution to business. In accepting the citation, Johnson promised "to try to live up to the confidence placed in me."

Among delegates were:

J. W. Rice, Dallas, Tex.; James P. Cobb, Detroit; Dr. W. L. Crump Nashville; Joseph V. Baker, Philadelphia; Samuel Gibbson, Detroit; T. N. Spright and Charles Jackson, both of Durham, N. C.; Ira O. Neal, Chicago; Edward Daves, Detroit; Mrs. Arena J. Buggs, Washington; Elijah Conwell, Mound Bayou, Miss.;

The Rev. C. Arthur Lewis, Chicago; Milton Wilson, Houston; Ira P. Guy, Chicago; S. B. Fuller, Chicago; Charles Crook, Chicago; Dr. S. V. Tothy, Baton Rouge, La.; J. H. Jemison, Houston;

Jesse W. Cook, New Orleans; George H. Valentine, Wilberforce; A. V. Boutte Sr., New Orleans; Daniel J. Faulkner, Chicago; Daryl F. Grisham, Chicago; Leroy Crayton, Cleveland; Archie J. Morgan, Atlantic City; J. J. Henderson, Durham; J. E. Robinson, Houston;

George C. Berry, Columbus; Mrs. Gladys C. Vaught, Jacksonville, Fla.; James A. Jackson, New York; Rufus G. Byars, Washington, D. C.; Lewis A. H. Caldwell, Chicago; Dr. R. G. Lloyd, Savannah, Ga.; J. V. Anderson, Houston; Mrs. C. T. Talliaferro, Perry, Okla.; W. V. Harper, Nashville; Harry G. Johns, Wilberforce; Bige Wyatt, St. Louis; Edgar J. Reed, New Orleans; A. G. Gaston, Birmingham; J. M. Parker, Chicago; Frank E. Petite, Cleveland; A. E. Foster, Chicago; Belmont Hayael, New Orleans; Whitney M. Haydel, New Orleans; R. N. Morgan, Chicago; Oscar C. Brown, Chicago, and Mrs. Mannie E. Black, Detroit.

Sudduth re-elected by Business League

Afro American P. 5

Conservatives block efforts to delete word 'N---o' from name

CHICAGO (ANP) — Delegates to the 54th annual convention of the National Negro Business League agreed on two things here last week — retaining Horace Sudduth of Cincinnati as president and the retention of the word "N---o" in the organization's name.

There was some sentiment to replace the aging Sudduth and a lot of clamor for the deletion of the word "N---o" from the league's name, but neither was strong enough to affect the outcome.

Other officers elected by the convention included Dr. T. R. M. Howard, Mound Bayou, Miss.; J. E. Robinson, Houston, Texas; Kit Badwin, Chicago, vise presidents, and H. M. Morgan, Tyler, Texas, treasurer.

— o O o —

IN A MOVE to strengthen the organization, a plan was endorsed calling for the building up of local units of the league. These units would be expected to send delegates to national affairs of the organization.

Among those who addressed sessions of the meeting were: Kit Baldwin, president, Chicago Negro Chamber of Commerce, host to the meeting; James C. Worthy, assistant secretary, U.S. Department of Commerce; R. Grahama Lloyd, Savannah State College; John Sengstacke, publisher, Chicago; Clifford J. Campbell, director, Dunbar Trade School;

— o O o —

JAMES L. STUART, department of business, A and T College; Joseph Albright, Curtiss Candy Company; T. K. Gibson Sr., president, Supreme Liberty Life Insurance Company; DeShazer Jackson, Durham, N.C., and Willard S. Townsend, labor leader.

J. W. Rice, Dallas, Tex.; James P. Cobb, Detroit; Dr. W. L. Crump, Nashville; Joseph V. Gibson, Detroit; T. N. Spright and Charles Jackson, both of Durham, N.C.; Ira O. Neal, Chicago; Edward Daves, Detroit; Mrs. Arena J. Bugg, Washington; Elijah Conwell, Mound Bayou, Miss.;

The Rev. C. Arthur Lewis, Chicago; Milton Wilson, Houston; Ira P. Guy, Chicago; S. B. Fuller, Chicago; Charles Crook, Chicago; Dr. S. V. Tothy, Baton Rouge, La.; J. H. Jemison, Houston;

— o O o —

JESSE W. COOK, New Orleans, George H. Valetine, Wilberforce; A. V. Boutte Sr., New Orleans; Daniel J. Faulkner, Chicago; Daryl F. Grisham, Chicago; Leroy Crayton, Cleveland; Archie J. Morgan, Atlantic City; J. J. Henderson, Durham; J. E. Robinson, Houston;

George C. Berry, Columbus; Mrs. Gladys C. Vaught, Jacksonville, Fla.; James A. Jackson, New York; Rufus G. Byars, Washington, D.C.; Lewis A. H. Caldwell, Chicago; Dr. R. G. Lloyd, Savannah, Ga.; J. V. Anderson, Houston; Mrs. C. T. Talliaferro, Perry, Okla.; W. V. Harper, Nashville; Harry G. Johns, Wilberforce;

Bige Wyatt, St. Louis; Edgar J. Reed, New Orleans; A. G. Gaston, Birmingham; J. M. Parker, Chicago; Frank E. Petite, Cleveland; A. E. Foster, Chicago; Belmont Hayael, New Orleans; Whitney M. Haydel, New Orleans; R. N. Morgan, Chicago; Oscar C. Brown, Chicago, and Mrs. Mannie E. Black, Detroit.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER MEETS INSURANCE ASSOCIATION EXECUTIVES

EXTENDING AN INVITATION to the Chief Executive were: from left, Murray Marvin, executive director; Val Washington, Republican national committee; Senator Clyde R. Hiey (Dem., N.C.), President Eisenhower, A. T. Spaulding, J. G. Ish, Miss Patricia Ann Spaulding, C. L. Townes and A. P. Bentley, all officials of the NNIA.

Leaders visit Eisenhower

Invite President to Durham session

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has been invited to address the 34th annual convention of the National Negro Insurance Association, scheduled to meet in Durham, North Carolina, August 31 through September 6.

The invitation was extended at the White House Thursday by a five-man delegation representing the insurance associations. The attractively printed, leather bound invitation was presented to the President by A. T. Spaulding of Durham, chairman of the program committee.

In accepting the invitation, the President said he was greatly complimented. He said he would have his staff examine the invitation thoroughly and advise him whether it would be possible for him to accept.

Mamie Also Invited

The President laughed heartily and shook hands with Patricia Ann Spaulding, the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. Spaulding, when she added: "I hope you can come, Mr. President, and bring Mrs. Eisenhower."

Other members of the delegation, beside Spaulding, were C. L. Townes of Richmond, acting president of the NNIA; J. G. Ish Jr., Chicago, chairman of the board; A. P. Bentley, Columbus, Ohio, secretary; and Murry J. Marvin Jr., Chicago, executive director.

The delegation was accompanied by Sen. Clyde R. Heey Dem., N.C.), Val Washington, assistant to the chairman of the National Republican committee; Mrs. Marie B. Scott of Washington; and Patricia Ann.

The association, is composed of 57 leading insurance companies representing a total of 4.500.000 policy holders.

NNIA Selects Townes As Acting President

At a meeting of the executive committee of the National Negro Insurance Association in the Maryland Building Friday Feb. 19, Clarence L. Townes, sr., of Richmond, Va., was selected acting president to serve the unexpired term of J. Leonard Lewis, Jacksonville, Fla., who died Jan. 13.

Townes, secretary-vice president of the Virginia Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company in Richmond, has been active in NNIA affairs for more than 19 years. He was elected 1st vice president in September at the Association's Miami Convention.

When interviewed, President Townes said, "The sudden passing of Leonard Lewis was a great shock to me personally and indeed a loss to his company (The Afro-American Life), our segment of the life insurance industry, the NNIA and the whole institution of Life Insurance.

"Leonard Lewis program for the NNIA was outlined in his acceptance speech in Miami and I shall do everything to see that it is carried out in the months ahead

I dedicate my efforts and pledge my energies to continued growth of our companies and progress of our association."

The executive committee also approved the plans for the 20th anniversary observance of National Negro Insurance Week May 10-14, worked out by the National Office Staff and urged member companies to make full use of the Negro Press in the special "Insurance Sections" planned for the May 1, and May 8, issues.

Insurance Group Drops Race Label

DURHAM, N. C. — The National Negro Insurance Association, "in keeping with the times," changed its name last week by eliminating Negro from its corporate name after more than three decades of use.

The action was taken during the 34th annual convention of the association which ended here Sept. 3. The association thus became one of the first — perhaps the first — to delete the word Negro from it name.

At the Philadelphia convention in 1949 the proposal was made to change the name of the group but it was defeated because delegates felt such action was premature since much of the emphasis was on race selling.

In other actions taken at the convention, C. L. Townes sr.. of Richmond, Va., was elected president of the association. Other officers elected were:

A. Maceo Walker, of Memphis, Tenn., first vice president; Charles C. Diggs, sr., of Detroit, vice president of the executive section; A. Roscoe Tyler, vice president of the agency section; D. D. Shackleford, vice president of the technicians section, and Clyde Donnell, vice president of the medical section.

Prattis Says Negro Business Must Cater to All Classes

DURHAM, N. C. — (ANP) — "The change in social patterns which integration will bring about will force Negroes to reorient themselves to business and cater to a general market of 160 millions rather than a poor, specialized market of 16 millions."

Delegates to the 34th annual convention of the National Insurance Association were told the above by C. L. Prattis, executive editor of the Pittsburgh Courier.

"If integration means what it seems to mean, the gradual elimination of race, color and class lines it should pressage a day when Negroes and whites will be working side by side from the top to the bottom in most businesses. The customers of no business in the new day a-comin' should be restricted to any one group," said Prattis.

Stating that integration is going to force us to compete for the patronage of all Americans, regardless of color," Prattis said he thought Negro business would be equal to the challenge.

"The time may not be far off when Negroes and whites will be sitting in the chair of George W. Cox when more whites than Negroes will be working for North Carolina Mutual (a Negro company) and the company may have more white policy holders than Negroes. The time may not be too far off when a white man may be sitting in the chair of George W. Cox taking orders from a black man in the chair of W. J. Kennedy, or vice versa," he stated.

In other business, the association dropped "Negro" as part of the organization title. A proposal to drop "Negro" was made at the Philadelphia convention in 1949. The proposal was made to change the name of the group, but it was defeated because a majority of the delegates felt such action was premature for the times.

C. L. Townes Sr., of Richmond, Va. was elected president. Other officers for the coming year are: A. Maceo Walker, Memphis, first vice-president; Charles C. Diggs Sr., Detroit, vice-president, executive section; A. Roscoe Tyler, vice-president, agency section; D. D. Shackleford, vice-president, technicians section; and Clyde Donnell, vice-president, medical

NNIA Drops Word Negro from its Name

Page 9
Thur. 9-30-54
Tulsa, Okla.

DURHAM, N. C. — (ANP) "In keeping with the times," the National Insurance association changed its name at its 34th annual convention here last week by eliminating Negro from the corporate name after some three decades of use.

In voting for the change, the group follows a trend of the last year which has seen several organizations delete the word "Negro."

A proposal to drop "Negro" was made at the Philadelphia convention in 1949. The proposal was made to change the name of the group, but it was defeated because delegates felt such action was premature for the times.

Top order on the business calendar of the organization was the election of president, the office going to C. L. Townes Sr., of Richmond, Va.

Other officers selected were:

A. Maceo Walker, Memphis first vice-president; Charles C Diggs, Sr., Detroit, vice-president executive section; A. Roscoe Tyler vice-president, agency section; D. D. Shackleford, vice-president technicians section; and Clyde Donnell, vice-president, medical section.

Insurance Association drops 'N---o' from name

Acting president C. L. Townes of Richmond elected president

DURHAM, N.C. — The deletion of the word Negro from its corporate name and the election of C. L. Townes Sr. as president, highlighted the 34th annual convention of the National Insurance Association here Sept. 1 through 4.

The name of the association was elected by George W. Cox and approved by delegates on Oct. 27, 1921, when the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Co. served as host to the organizational meeting of 47 delegates from 12 insurance firms.

In 1949, at the Philadelphia convention, the proposal to change the association's name was defeated because the delegates felt such an action was premature since much of the emphasis was on "race selling."

— o O o —

HOWEVER, IN 1950, at the Los Angeles convention, the firm of Marvin and Marvin (Delores and Murray Marvin), public relations counselors, was hired to operate and maintain a national office for the association and it was opened on Sept. 1, 1950 in Chicago.

For the past four years the emphasis has been on training agency personnel and stressing service to policyholders and "needs selling" rather than selling based on race loyalty or "race selling."

On Sept. 3, after due deliberation, the convention body voted unanimously to delete the word "Negro" from the corporate title in keeping with member companies practices and the spirit of the times.

— o O o —

C. L. TOWNES Sr., newly-elected president of the association, said in an interview after his election:

"I am pleased that this action was taken at the beginning of my administration. In view of these changing times we can no longer indulge ourselves in self-imposed segregation. We must move forward on the economic front and keep pace with the social and legislative gains."

The President of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, sent Everett F. Morrow, advisor on business affairs, U.S. Department of Commerce, as his personal representative, to read a message to the assembled delegates. The message complimented the member companies of the association on the work done in strengthening America.

— o O o —

P. L. PRATTIS, executive editor, Pittsburgh Courier, was the main speaker at the public meeting which formally opened the convention on Aug. 31. Mr. Prattis portrayed what lies ahead as the irresistible force of integration hits the various institutions in our present segregated society.

He contended that the basic evil of jim crow is the crutch it has given us to lean on when we fail to make progress either as individuals or as companies when competing for identical markets.

He referred to the executive director's report wherein the latter had stated the proud record of the NIA (70 millions of dollars in annual income), as revealed in the statistician's summary, only represented one-half of one per cent of the total spendable income of the colored market.

— o O o —

DUDLEY DOWELL, executive vice president, New York Life Insurance Co., pointed out that an insurance company could grow no faster than its agency department. Consequently the best brains and best doers should be found there.

He briefly reviewed the history of the development of life insurance companies in America and pointed out the need for constant and consistent growth in order that we might make our contribution to America's further economic growth.

Holgar Johnson, president of the Life Insurance Institute, emphasized the need for increased training of insurance agents to help Americans conserve their thrift and insurance dollars.

— o O o —

"FOR," HE SAID, "with a succession of defense and war shortages and a long sustained period of prosperty, there has been business for everyone without the usual sales effort. Indeed the public has often been in a position of competing for what the salesman had to sell."

Mr. Johnson expressed his pleasure when he learned the member companies were planning a newspaper and magazine campaign of advertising as a spring board toward greater service to the communities in which they operate.

The following officers were elected during the closing session of the convention on Sept. 3:

— o O o —

PRESIDENT, C. L. Townes Sr., Richmond; first vice president, A. Maceo Walker, Memphis, Tenn.; executive section vice president, Charles C. Diggs Sr.; agency section vice president, A. Roscoe Tyler; technicians section, vice president, D. D. Shackleford; medical section vice president, Clyde Donnell, M.D.;

Secretary, W. A. Clement, C. L.U., Durham; assistant secretary E. S. Gillespie Chicago; treasurer, A. M. Carter, Augusta, Ga.; general counsel, James T. Carter, Richmond; actuary, L. R. Taylor, Memphis, Tenn.; statistician, J. W. Tyler, Chicago; historian, G. Norman Branche, Washington; chaplain, the Rev. M. T. Somerville, and sergeant-at-arms, L. M. Argrett.

— o O o —

THE BOARD of directors consists of the president, section vice presidents, secretary, treasurer, actuary, general counsel and four elected members.

A. W. Williams, Chicago; A. P. Bentley, Columbus, Ohio; J. E. Hankins, Louisville, and Charles W. Greene were elected, while L. H. Lightner, Denver is serving an unexpired term.

32b 1954

NATIONAL NEGRO BUSINESS LEAGUE

Fuller Quits NNBL Over Name; Reelect Sudduth

Defender Sat. 10-30-54 Chicago, Ill.

S. B. Fuller, wealthy Chicago cosmetics manufacturer, refused to run for the presidency of the National Negro Business League after members voted to retain the word "Negro" in its name and Horace Sudduth, of Cincinnati, was returned to the post for the seventh consecutive term without opposition.

Fuller had agreed to accept the nomination and delayed a trip to New York in order to be present at the NNBL convention in Chicago last week.

However, after a motion to drop the word "Negro" was defeated on the convention floor by a 23-21 vote, Fuller declared he "wouldn't accept any nomination to head a segregated institution." The manufacturer requested also that his name be taken off the roster as a member of the board.

The fight to alter the name of the organization was led by Lewis A. H. Caldwell, of the Baldwin Ice Cream company. Members of the Chicago Negro Chamber of Commerce fought the proposed change.

One of the keynote speakers, James C. Worthy, assistant secretary of commerce, had urged the 100 delegates of the League to remove the word "Negro" from the title.

Other officers elected included Dr. T. R. M. Howard, Mound Bayou, Miss., first vice president; J. E. Robinson, Houston, Texas, second vice-president; Kit Baldwin, Chicago, third vice president, and H. M. Morgan, Tyler, Texas, treasurer.

Program highlight of the convention was reached Tuesday night at the annual banquet when John H. Johnson, editor and publisher of Johnson publications, was cited as "outstanding businessman of the year."

Three others cited were R. E. Clay, of Nashville, who was given an honorary life membership; James A. "Billboard" Jackson, pioneer public relations counselor, who was also given a honorary membership, and C. T. Talliaferro, deceased, of Perry, Okla., who was given a merit award. It was received by his widow.

John H. Sengstacke, editor and publisher of the Chicago Defender, and Atty. William R. Ming, were principal speakers at a luncheon meeting Wednesday.

The convention was entertained by the Chicago Negro Chamber of Commerce, of which Kit Baldwin, ice cream manufacturer, is president.

The delegates chose Houston as their 1955 convention site.

An Important Convention

THE National Negro Business League meets next week in Chicago and we can think of no more important and significant gathering of our community leaders this year.

Courier

Founded by Booker T. Washington, carried forward by R. R. Moton and now headed by the capable Horace Sudduth of Cincinnati, the purpose of the organization is to get more Negroes to enter business, to encourage them to improve their businesses, and to alert the Negro public to the importance of greater support of their businesses for the more speedy advancement of the colored American community.

Sat. 10-16-54

There is no more potentially useful organization among us than the National Negro Business League, but unfortunately it operates in a group whose more publicized spokesmen and leaders have either ignored or disparaged the integration of Negroes into the wide business community.

They have supported and initiated campaigns against lynching, discrimination, segregation, disfranchisement, defamation, etc., and by their emphasis on these evils have tended to take Negroes' minds off the fundamental and basic fact that in a civilization based on industry, commerce and finance, those who play no significant role in it cannot fail to fall far behind in the struggle for freedom and security.

Pittsburgh Pa.

Civil rights are extremely important, of course, and a continuous fight must necessarily be waged to obtain and strengthen them, but without economic power these civil rights lose much of their importance and even become more or less academic.

So long as Negroes play no significant part in the business life of a nation, they can play only a limited role in the political, social and educational life because this is a business civilization, controlled and directed by business.

This is so obvious that it scarcely needs emphasis, since it is readily apparent to the most casual observer in every single colored community in the United States where the pattern of Negro business enterprise has changed but little in the past three generations while business generally has forged ahead with giant strides.

This lamentable lag can be attributed to many factors such as the tendency of a disproportionate number of capable Negroes to enter the fields of education, religion and social work rather than economic enterprise, and the failure of the colored community to put its immense fluid capital to work for group economic development.

Aside from our great insurance companies, a very few first-class manufacturing concerns, banks and real estate firms, our business enterprises are of the service variety, small and superficial, no matter in what section of the country they are located.

We play no part and have no influence in the giant enterprises that make the United States paramount in global economy because we have failed to establish any important enterprise designed to canalize our tremendous amount of savings for investment in these enterprises.

In consequences and in reality our pleas for justice, fair play and full equality, no matter how forcibly and capably made, are little more than cries in the wilderness, since business is basic and profoundly influences the entire superstructure of social, political and cultural life erected upon this foundation.

The immediate goal of the newly energized National Negro Business League is the modest one of employing a competent executive secretary and four regional secretaries who will visit existing local leagues, set up others, and do research which will aid these local leagues in developing programs that will sustain the interest of their members and get the cooperation of the various colored communities across the land.

This is certainly a modest program, though fundamental, and can only be said to be a beginning; but if every Negro business man and woman, and every member of our community across the country would take out an individual or corporate supporting membership, the league (1927 Eleventh Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.) could easily carry out that program.

It seems to us that a crying need for Negro business today is an educational campaign not only to improve the quality of service to the customer, but to expand the number of Negro businesses serving the general public and to provide means for financing prospective and established enterprises owned by members of our group, whether serving colored or white customers.

The league's Chicago convention, coming at a time when the nation is enjoying unprecedented prosperity, should be the most important gathering in its entire history.

East Coast Dominates At NNBL Confab

Defender Chicago, Ill. Sat. 10-30-54

The East coast and the Mississippi valley were heavily represented at the annual convention of the National Negro Business League in Chicago last week.

Included among them was one of the oldest representatives of a nationally advertised product, James A. "Billboard" Jackson, of New York City now approaching 80.

Among others were George H. Valentine, Wilberforce university, Xenia, Ohio; A. V. Boutte, Sr., New Orleans; Jesse W. Cook, New Orleans; Archie J. Morgan, Atlantic City, N. J.; H. M. Morgan, Tyler, Texas; Leroy Crayton, Cleveland, Ohio; Dr. R. Grann Lloyd, Savannah State college, Savannah, Ga.; George C. Berry, Columbus, Ohio and Horace Sudduth, Cincinnati, Ohio.

J. E. Robinson, Houston, Texas; J. J. Henderson, Durham, N. C.; Rufus G. Byars, Washington, D. C.; Dr. T. R. M. Howard, Mound Bayou, Miss.; Bige Wyatt, St. Louis; Harry G. Johns, Wilberforce university, Xenia, Ohio; W. V. Harper, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. C. T. Talliaferro, Perry, Okla.; and J. V. Anderson, Houston, Texas.

Still others were Joseph F. Albright, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Gladys C. Vaught, Jacksonville, Fla., and Moss H. Kendrix, Washington, D. C. Milton Wilson, Houston, Texas; J. W. Rice, Dallas, Texas; Dr. W. L. Crump, Nashville, Tennessee; James P. Cobb, Detroit; Joseph V. Baker, Philadelphia; Samuel C. Gibbons, Detroit; T. R. Speight, Durham, N. C.; Charlie Johnson, Durham, N. C.; Union Protective Assurance Co., Memphis; Victory Loan and Insurance co., Detroit; Edward Davis, Detroit; Mrs. Arenia J. Bugg, Washington, D. C.; Elijah Conwell, Mound Bayou, Miss.

J. H. Jemison, Houston, Tex.; Dr. S. V. Tothy, Baton Rouge, La; Negro Business and Professional Chamber of Commerce, Cincinnati; A. G. Gaston, Birmingham; Edgar J. Reed, New Orleans; J. L. Wicker, New Orleans.

Whitney M. Haydel, New Orleans; Belmont Haydel, New Orleans; Frank E. Petite, Cleveland, O.; N. Dudley, Jr. Houston, Texas; Mrs. Mamie E. Black, Detroit and Eduitil La Brouche, New Orleans.

NEW DOCTORS' HEAD

Opelousas Courier

WASHINGTON

Dr. A. C. Terrence, Opelousa, La., was elected president - elect of the National Medical Association here. He takes over next year. Dr. Matthew Walker, Nashville, elected last year, officially became president of the convention.

Tennessean To Be Honored At Nat'l Meet In Chicago

Used p. 2 Tues. 10-19-54

By MABEL B. CROOKS

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (SNS) — Robert Edward Clay, veteran developer of schools in Tennessee, will be given a citation of honor by the National Negro ~~Business~~ League during its 54th annual meeting in Chicago, Oct. 18-22.

NNBL is honoring the veteran educational worker for his "fifty-four years of continuous outstanding service." When Booker T. Washington founded the organization at the turn of the century, Mr. Clay was with him.

At present a consultant of the State Department of Education, with headquarters at Tennessee State University, he is known to millions as an ardent advocate of business enterprise.

Along with the outstanding Tennessean, NNBL will honor James A. "Billboard" Jackson, Standard Oil (New York) public relations staff member and (posthumously) Clem Tasmania Talliaferro, businessman.

Dr. Henry Allen Boyd of Nashville will address the session in which Mr. Clay will be honored.

Mr. Clay (left) is shown receiving a citation from the pledge club of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity during a program in his honor on Sunday at Tennessee State University. With him is Ernest McNeil a Memphian, club president.

Funeral Directors Set To Meet In Atlanta

The national officials of the NATIONAL NEGRO FUNERAL DIRECTORS ASSOCIATION, Inc., and the presidents of the state associations of North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Georgia, Tennessee and Alabama, will hold a regional conference in Atlanta, Georgia on January 28th and 29th, according to an announcement made today by Robert H. Miller, General Secretary of the Association.

While in Atlanta these officers will attend the Annual Stockholders' Meeting of the Atlanta College of Mortuary Science.

In attendance will be Charles Crook, President; Robert H. Miller, General Secretary; and Theodore Hawes, Chairman of the Board of NNFDA

ROBERT H. MILLER, Gen. Secty

CHARLES CROOK, President

Funeral directors meet in Arkansas

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—The National Negro Funeral Association, Inc., is holding its board meeting here, Sunday through Friday. Over 300 funeral directors are in attendance.

Among those who welcomed the NNFDA were: Theodore R. Hawes of Chicago, C. W. Lee of Montgomery, Ala.; Charles Crook of Chicago, H. M. Ivoy of Atlanta, Ga.; O. O. Chiles of Richmond, Va.;

R. H. Haile, of Cameron, S.C.; F. H. Purnell of Houston, Tex.; W. K. Robertson of Marlin, Texas; Robert H. Miller of Chicago, Mrs. Lois Lee Dorsey of Chicago and Handy Baker, Philadelphia.

Commerce Aide Warns Journalists Of "Little Isles Of Segregation"

moved 32b

A U. S. Department of Commerce official, addressing members of the National Newspaper Publishers' Association at Tuskegee Institute last week-end, declared the Negro is gaining a brighter day, but added a grim note that "there are still some Negro leaders and organizations fighting to retain in government little islands of segregated activity."

Atlanta Pa.

Frederick Morrow, Advisor on Business Affairs for National Production Authority U. S. Department of Commerce, and former Field Secretary of the NAACP, told the group of Negro journalists:

Pat. 1-30-54

"The point is, that we've got to make up our minds whether we want complete integration, or not. We cannot hold on to any of the mollifying methods of the past and hope to secure a complete acceptance for the future. We cannot be half boy and half man. Either we accept the perils of this new adult life we have been crying for, or remain in the crib of adolescence forever."

P. 7

MOST NECESSARY ELEMENT

Morrow told the newspapermen that "your profession is perhaps the most necessary element, and the one absolute essential in nuturing and protecting our American way of life.

"By the same token," he asserted, "it carries with it the greatest moral responsibility of honesty and fearlessly reporting and publishing the facts of the day-by-day happenings in the world and in our national life."

The speaker lauded the Negro press for carrying the fight for first class citizenship 'forward with great distinction and success," and added, "and today, the benefits of that seed planted by Russwurm (John B., founder of the Negro press) over a century ago, nears fruition."

Morrow cited the advances of the Negro race and a "new philosophy in commerce relative to the Negro businessman."

He declared, "Our belief is that the Negro businessman should have available to him all the services rendered by the Small Business Section of the Department of Commerce."

"NO UTOPIA"

However, he declared "I am not trying to suggest that we have entered into an era of Utopia where all the ills that have surrounded us for over 300 years are in the process of being cured and wiped out overnight. I am not suggesting that we no longer need outside agencies to spearhead fights to implement the provisions of our constitution and the pronouncements of the President on Civil Rights."

And although, he declared some Negro leaders are still segregating themselves, he said, "I am glad to report today that as a race we are beginning to crack our economic shells. We are beginning to have opportunities to rise above the narrow confines of race, and the crippling influence of prejudice."

Mrs. Turner Is Reelected By Publisher's Bd.

Argus

DETROIT. — Mrs. Nannie Mitchell-Turner of the St. Louis Argus, was reelected to the office of treasurer of the National Newspaper Publisher's Association during the annual convention held here last week.

Pittsburgh Courier

C. C. DeJoie Jr., publisher of the Louisiana Weekly, was elected president of the association with William G. Nunn, national editor of the Pittsburgh Courier, vice-president; William O. Walker, publisher of the Cleveland Call & Post, reelected, secretary.

Detroit

The three full days of sessions were held in the Gotham hotel here with speakers including Lester Granger of the National Urban League; Congressman William L. Dawson of Chciago; Atty. Thurgood Marshall, special counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund and Mark Parsons of the Public Relations Division of the Ford Motor Co.

Among those present from the St. Louis area were: Mrs. J. E. Mitchell, J. Orvel Mitchell, Mrs. Turner, Irving A. Williamson and Howard B. Woods of the St. Louis Argus; William F. McKinney, and wife of the Federal Housing Administration; John H. Kirkpatrick, of the East St. Louis Crusader; N. A. Sweet, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Young of the American.

32b 1954

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION

Press Week Speakers

In commemoration of the founding of the Negro press, March 16, 1827, Dowdal H. Davis, Kansas City Call, and William O. Walker, Cleveland Call-Post, appeared on a nationwide broadcast Sunday, March 14, over the National Broadcasting Company radio network. The program, sponsored by the National Newspaper Publishers Association, featured new highlights from 1953 and a special message from President Eisenhower. Mr. Davis will also discuss advances made during the past year in racial and human relations in an exclusive CBS radio broadcast Thursday, March 18 (WWL—11:15-11:30 p. m.). On the program this year's foremost Russwurm award winners will also be heard. Each year the Association presents 10 such awards for significant contributions to the development of a more democratic America in honor of John B. Russwurm, journalist and first Negro publisher.

Ike's congratulations sent to publishers

WASHINGTON—This is the text of the telegram sent by President Eisenhower to the National Newspaper Publishers Association:

The White House
Washington, D.C.

Carl Murphy, president
The National Newspaper Publishers Association.

To the editors and staff members of the newspapers which form the National Newspaper Publishers Association, I send my congratulations and warm greetings on the occasion of Newspaper Week.

Your dedication to the welfare of this nation's colored citizens has the approval and respect of many American citizens of all races throughout the country. Best Wishes.

Dwight D. Eisenhower

Moseley To Receive Citation—

Publishers' Association Opens Meeting On Tuskegee Campus

Special To The Advertiser

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala., Jan. 20—The National Newspaper Publishers' Association opened its Mid-Winter workshop here tonight with a talk by William O. Walker of The Cleveland Call and Post on "The Negro Press, Sparkplug in Our Fight for Civil Rights."

The meeting, first of the association in Alabama, will feature seven major speeches, four panel discussions and recreation during the next three days. All sessions are scheduled in Dorothy Hall on the campus.

C. E. Bounds, head of the journalism department at the University of Alabama, will speak tomorrow on "How to Make News Sell Newspapers." Dr. Luther Hilton Foster, Tuskegee Institute president, will address the Thursday dinner meeting.

Max Moseley, sports editor of The Montgomery Advertiser, will be given a citation by Marion E. Jackson, sports editor of the Atlanta Daily World, at the luncheon session on Friday. Moseley will discuss, "How Sports Sell Newspapers and Improve Race Relations."

Congressman William L. Dawson will speak at the 4 p.m., session, and Frederick Morrow, adviser on business affairs, National Production Authority, U. S. Department of Commerce, will give a talk at the dinner meeting.

Thurgood Marshall, director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, will speak Saturday morning at 12:00, in the institute chapel. He is expected to disclose to tthe newsmen the blueprint the NAACP has worked out with regard to the school segregation cases.

Panels will be as follows: "How to Work with Schools to Get Trained Printers," Carter G. Wesley, publisher, Houston Informer, presiding; "The Importance of News to Sales," John Sengstacke, publisher, Chicago Defender, presiding; "How to Improve Circulation Sales, Promotions, and Methods of Distribution," C. C. Dejoie, editor, Louisiana Weekly, presiding; "How to Make the Women's Page Sell Newspaper," Dowdal H. Davis, editor, Kansas City Call, presiding.

Special features will be: a tour of the Tuskegee Institute Printing Division, a luncheon meeting at which Emory O. Jackson, president, Alabama Newspaper Association, will preside; a smoker, at the Booker T. Washington Elks' Club; host, the Alabama Newspaper Association.

The Board meeting is scheduled for Saturday morning.

At Tuskegee

Newsmen's Workshop This Week

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. (ANP) — Seven major speeches, four panel discussions, recreation and entertainment will highlight the mid-winter workshop of the National Newspaper Publishers Association, scheduled for Jan. 21-23 in the Peabody Room of Dorothy Hall here.

Prof. C. E. Bounds, head of the Department of Journalism, University of Alabama, will speak on "How to Make News Sell Newspapers," Thursday, Jan. 21. Dr. Luther Hilton Foster, president of Tuskegee Institute, will address the dinner meeting on Thursday evening in the Blue Room of Dorothy Hall.

MAX MOSELEY, sports editor of The Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser, will be given a citation by Marion E. Jackson, sports editor of The Atlanta Daily World, at the luncheon session Friday. Moseley will discuss "How Sports Sell Newspapers and Improve Race Relations."

Congressman William L. Dawson will speak at the 4 P. M. session, and Frederick Morrow, adviser on business affairs, National Production Authority, U. S. Department of Commerce, will give a talk at the dinner meeting.

Thurgood Marshall, director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, will speak.

Welcome greetings are scheduled to be heard at the luncheon meeting, at which Emory O. Jackson, president of the Alabama Newspaper Association, will preside.

Meeting In Tuskegee—

Rep. Dawson, Max Moseley Speak To Publishers Group

Special To The Advertiser

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala., Jan. 21—A sports editor, a congressman, and a business adviser will speak tomorrow before the Mid-Winter Workshop of the National Newspaper Publishers' Association meeting here.

At the luncheon session, Max Moseley, sports editor of the Montgomery Advertiser, will be presented a citation by Marion E. Jackson, sports editor of The Atlanta Daily World. Moseley will address the Negro newsmen on "How Sports Sell Newspapers and Improve Race Relations."

William L. Dawson (D-Ill.) speaks at 4 p.m., and Frederick Morrow, adviser on business affairs; National Production Authority, U. S. Department of Commerce, will address the dinner meeting.

Highlight of the activities Saturday will be a talk by Thurgood Marshall, director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, who is xpected to tell something of the NAACP plan on the school segregation cases now being heard.

Panel discussions on various subjects complete the sessions Saturday.

Speakers at today's sessions were C. E. Bounds, head of the department of journalism at the University of Alabama, and Dr. Luther Hilton Foster, who spoke at the dinner meeting.

Record Refutes Segregation In Schools,

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Jan. 23 (AP) —About the only group that doesn't realize segregation is on the way out is Negroes themselves, a leader in the legal fight against segregation said here today.

Thurgood Marshall, Washington, D. C., chief counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, made the observation in an address at the mid-winter workshop of the National Newspaper Publishers Association.

Speaking in a jammed Tuskegee Institute chapel, he said the fact there has been nothing approaching bloodshed in the 12 states where Negroes have been admitted to colleges refutes arguments by the die-hards that it won't work.

Open Down The Line

Noting that while most of the Negroes admitted to college have been in specialized courses at the graduate level, Marshall added:

"If we can open the graduate colleges, we can open the colleges and then on down the line," but he stressed that "we must have people who are qualified, willing, anxious and determined to continue their education in an unsegregated atmosphere."

Marshall said the fight against segregation has reached a stage now where "we lose or draw everybody is talking about the issue."

He said segregation supporters are so sure they have lost the case now before the U.S. Supreme Court that they are now "talking about calling out the militia and using other drastic measures."

The Negro attorney who has helped shape much of the strategy in the court fight to break down segregation barriers, noted that although he was born in Baltimore, Md., he considers himself a Southerner.

"I've been telling my friends up North that when we get our problem solved in the South we will come up there and help solve their problems."

By way of illustration he recalled that a Negro doctor whose home was bombed in a zoning dispute at Cairo, Ill., moved his family to his mother-in-law's home at Holly Springs, Miss., for safe-keeping.

"We have to overcome the stigma of second class citizenship in our own minds," he said

There must be a willingness on the part of those who have college training and those who have money to help those who do not have either."

Need To Know Facts

Marshall told the Negro newspaper editors that "people need to know th facts about segregation." He said they have done a good job and are planning to do more.

"Schools and educators have a stake in getting wider knowledge dessiminated among the less educated," he added. "You need to feel in your own minds that you are equal to anybody on the face of the earth.

"As long as jim crow conditions exist we and America will always be vulnerable to adverse world opinion."

Carl Murphy, association president and publisher of the Afro-American chain of newspapers in the East, introduced Marshall.

An earlier speaker, E. Frederick Morrow, adviser on business affairs, U.S. Department of Commerce, told the editors that Negro business needs no special attention, "none that business in general doesn't need."

NNPA to Hold Winter Workshop At Tuskegee

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala — (ANP) — Seven major speeches, four panel discussions, recreation and entertainment will highlight the Mid-Winter Workshop of the National Newspaper Publishers association scheduled for Jan. 21-23 in the Peabody Room of Dorothy hall here.

Prof. C. E. Bounds, head of the Department of Journalism, University of Alabama, will speak on "How to Make News Sell Newspapers" Thursday, Jan. 21. Dr. Luther Hilton Foster, president of Tuskegee Institute, will address the dinner meeting on Thursday evening in the Pine Room of Dorothy hall.

Max Moseley, sports editor of The Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser will be given a citation by Marion E. Jackson, sports editor of the Atlanta Daily World, at the luncheon session Friday. Moseley will discuss "How Sports Sell Newspapers and Improve Race Relations."

Congressman William L. Dawson will speak at the 4 p.m. session and Frederick Morrow, advisor on Business Affairs, National Production Authority, U. S. Department of Commerce, will give a talk at the dinner meeting.

Thurgood Marshall, director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, will speak.

He is expected to disclose to the newsmen the blueprint the NAACP has worked out when the United States Supreme court rules on the classroom segregation cases.

The workshop will open with registration in Dorothy hall, Thursday morning, and a tour of the Tuskegee printing plant.

Welcome greetings are scheduled to be heard at the luncheon meeting at which Emory O. Jackson, president of the Alabama Newspaper association will preside.

Carter G. Wesley, publisher of the Houston (Texas) Informer, will preside at the panel discussion, "How to Work with Schools to Get Trained Printers" Panel speakers listed are Frank J. Wright, head of the department of printing, Tuskegee Institute; W. I. Mitchell, Industrial high school, Tuscaloosa, Ala. and T. J. Jervey, publisher, Wilmington (N.C.) Journal.

The workshop group will be guests of the Alabama Newspaper association at a smoker Thursday night at the Booker T. Washington Elks Club.

John Sengstacke, publisher of the Chicago Defender, will preside at the panel discussion, Friday morning on "The Importance of News to Sales." Participants listed are Miss Lucile Bluford, of the Kansas City (Mo.) Call; John Jorday of the Norfolk (Va.) Journal and Guide and William Nunn, managing editor, The Pittsburgh Courier.

"How to Improve Circulation Sales, Promotions and Methods of Distribution" will be discussed at the 11 a.m. panel. Participants listed are Mr. Quinn, Michigan Chronicle; W. A. Scott III, Atlanta Daily World and William Harry Alexander, Cleveland Call and Post. C. C. Dejoie, editor, Louisiana (New Orleans) Weekly, will preside.

"How to Make the Women's Page Sell Newspapers" will be discussed at the 2:30 p.m. panel with Dowdal H. Davis, general manager, Kansas City Call presiding. Participants listed are Dr. Cecile Hoover Edwards, assistant professor of Foods and Nutritions Tuskegee institute; Mrs. C. E. Munday, editor, Service Magazine, Tuskegee. Frank Stanley, publisher, Louisville Defender, and Harry Evans, Associate Publishers Inc.

Board meeting is scheduled for Saturday morning.

This will mark the first time that the NNPA has held major activities in Alabama. Alabama is listed as having more Negro interest newspapers than any other state.

The Alabama Newspaper association which is serving as host to the NNPA workshop was organized in 1947. There are five NNPA-affiliated newspapers in Alabama.

The NNPA Mid-Winter Workshop

For the first time in the history of the National Newspaper Publishers Association, one of its major activities is being held in Alabama. The NNPA Mid-Winter Workshop is scheduled to be held at Tuskegee Institute, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Tuskegee Institute and the Alabama Newspaper Association are serving as joint hosts to the workshop.

Those in the newspaper industry, like other business groups, find it to their advantage to consult with each other; sponsor training programs, exchange ideas, and fellowship. This is done to improve the product the newspaper sells and the services it renders. The workshop is a cooperative undertaking of the newspapers represented in the NNPA.

Last year the annual workshop was held at Dillard University, New Orleans, La. and the annual convention took place at Morgan State College, Baltimore, Maryland. Both were delightful, profitable and successful meetings.

In coming to Tuskegee Institute for the workshop project the NNPA is scoring a triumph. Few institutions have been more useful to the Negro-produced newspaper than this institution. Many of those who help to produce these newspapers were trained at Tuskegee Institute. NNPA will have a good opportunity to express its appreciation and to lay the groundwork for better cooperation and assistance.

Tuskegee Institute is to be congratulated for joining with the Alabama Newspaper Association in extending the invitation for the workshop to be held on its campus. This newspaper is deeply appreciative of this. We are also glad to welcome to Alabama the visiting members of the NNPA.

Alabama has more Negro-directed newspapers than any of the other states. It is one of the few states where the Negro interest press is organized. This state has something to boast about in recognizing this.

MWW Slated At Tuskegee Inst. On Jan. 21-23

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, ALA.—(SNS)— Leaders in the newspaper publication field are scheduled to gather here for a three-day Mid-Winter Workshop with specialists in related areas and government also listed for appearances, January 21-23.

Thurgood Marshall, director counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, William L. Dawson, vice-chairman of the National Democratic Committee; President L. H. Foster of Tuskegee Institute; Prof. C. E Bounds, head of the department of journalism at the University of Alabama and Frederick Morrow, adviser on Business Affairs for the National Production Authority, U. S. Department of Commerce are among the limelight figures scheduled for speeches.

William O. Walker, publisher of the Cleveland Call and Post and secretary of the National Newspaper Publishers Association, sponsor of the workship, is scheduled to speak at the students chapel services of Tuskegee Institute at 6:30 Wednesday evening.

Tuskege Institute and the Alabama Newspaper Association are serving as co-hosts to the workshop.

Memorable NNPA parley quotations

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — (Memorable quotations from speakers at National Newspaper Publishers association midwinter workshop:

Manager of the Montgomery professional baseball club: "I have signed three colored players because I think they will help the club, not because they are colored.

"One hit 24 homers last year. If he does that this year, he will be a citizens of Montgomery in a hurry."

Dr. Luther Foster, Tuskegee president: "The definitive history of Tuskegee Institute is yet to be written."

Neil Segrest, representing the mayor of Tuskegee (7,000 population. majority colored; 1,800 white registered voters, 800 colored, with 600 colored applicants whom registrars have so far refused): "In this town, I am a member of the minority group."

Business Awake At Last

Frederic Morrow, U.S. Department of Commerce: "Your profession (newspaper publisher) is perhaps the most necessary element and the one absolute essential in nurturing and protecting our American way of life.

"The whole business world is suddenly conscious of the latest census figures that show the nation's 16 million readers of your papers now have an annual income exceeding 15 billion dollars, which is one billion more than the entire national income of Canada."

NNPA Mid-Winter Workshop Set For Tuskegee Inst., Jan. 21-23

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. — (ANS) — Seven major speeches four panel discussions, recreation and entertainment will highlight the Mid-Winter Workshop of the National Newspaper Publishers Association scheduled for January 21-23 in the Peabody Room of Dorothy Hall here.

William O. Walker, publisher of the Cleveland Call and Post and NNPA secretary, is scheduled to speak at the student chapel services at 6:30 Wednesday evening, January 20. This pre-convention talk will spotlight the arriving of workshop delegates.

Prof. C. E. Bounds, head of the Department of Journalism, University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, Ala., is scheduled to speak on "How to Make News Sell Newspapers" at 2:30 P. M. Thursday. Dr. Luther Hilton Foster, president of Tuskegee Institute, will address the dinner meeting at 6 P. M. Thursday evening in the Pine Room of Dorothy Hall.

Max Moseley, sports editor of The Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser will be given a citation by Marion E. Jackson, Sports Editor of the Atlanta Daily World, at the 1 P. M. luncheon session Friday. Mr. Moseley will make a speech of acceptance in which he will discuss the subject, "How Sports Sell Newspapers and Improve Race Relations." Congressman William L. Dawson will speak at the 4 P. M. session and Frederick Morrow, adviser on Business Affairs, National Production Authority, U. S. Department of Commerce, will give a talk at the 6 P. M. dinner meeting

Thurgood Marshall, of New York, director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, Inc., will discuss, "The New Step—Win or Lose." Dubbed "Mr. Civil Rights," he was chief counsel in the celebrated "Five Jim Crow School Cases."

He is expected to disclose to the newsmen the blueprint the NAACP has worked out when the United States Supreme Court rules on the classroom segregation cases.

The workshop is scheduled to open with registration in Dorothy Hall at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. A guided tour of the Tuskegee Institute printing plant is scheduled for 11 A. M.

Welcome greetings are scheduled to be heard at the 1 P. M. luncheon meeting at which Emory O. Jackson, president of the Alabama Newspaper Association will presided Listed for greeting expressions are the State of Alabama; Atty. H. N Segrest for the Mayor of Tuskegee; W. C. Patton, president of the Alabama State Conference of NAACP Branches; Prof. C. G. Gomillion, president of the Tuskegee Civic Association; Charles E. Trout, director, Department of Public Relations, Tuskegee Institute and Frank P. Thomas, publisher of the Alabama Citizen, Tuscaloosa, Ala. and vice-president of the Alabama Newspaper Association.

Carter G. Wesley, publisher of the Houston (Texas) Informer, will preside at the panel discussion, "How to work with Schools to Get Trained Printers." Panel speakers listed are Frank J. Wright, head of the department of printing, Tuskegee Institute; W. I. Mitchell, Industrial High School, Tuscaloosa, Ala. and T. J. Jervey, publisher, Wilmington (N. C.) Journal.

The workshop group will be guests of the Alabama Newspaper Association at a smoker at eight o'clock at the Booker T. Washington Elks Club.

John Sengstack, publisher of the Chicago Defender will preside at the panel discussion at 9:30 Friday morning. Subject for discussion is "The Importance of News to Sales." Participants listed are Miss Lucile Bluford, of the Kansas City (Mo.) Call; John Jorday of the Norfolk (Va.) Journal and Guide and William Nunn, managing editor, The Pittsburgh Courier.

"How to Improve Circulation Sales, Promotions, and Methods of Distribution" will be discussed at the 11 A. M. panel. Participants listed are Mr. Quinn, Michigan Chronicle; W. A. Scott, III, Atlanta Daily World and William Harry Alexander, Cleveland Call and Post C. C. Dejoie, editor, Louisiana (New Orleans) Weekly will preside.

"How to Make the Women's Page Sell Newspapers" will be discussed at the 2:30 P. M. panel with Dowdal H. Davis, editor, Kansas City Call presiding. Participants listed are Dr. Cecile Hoover Edwards, assistant professor of Foods and Nutritions, Tuskegee Institute; Mrs. C. E. Munday, editor, Service Magazine, Tuskegee Institute; Frank Stanley, publisher, Louisville Defender and Harry Evans, Associate Publishers, Inc.

Board is scheduled for 11:30 Saturday morning.

This will mark the first time that the NNPA has held either a workshop or any other of its major activities, like the convention, in Alabama. Alabama is listed as having more Negro interest newspapers than any other state.

The Alabama Newspaper Association which is serving as host to the NNPA workshop was organized in 1947. There are only five NNPA-affiliated newspapers in Alabama-the Birmingham World, The Birmingham Mirror, the Alabama (Tuscaloosa) Citizen, The Gadsden Call and the Informer-Freeman (Mobile).

News Among The Colored People

Newspapermen from over the nation and notables in other lines from many sections will converge on the Tuskegee Institute campus Friday for the annual Mid-Winter Workshop of the National Newspaper Publishers Association. Carl Murphy, editor of The Afro-American, is president of the Association and will direct the business sessions of the meeting here.

Among the sessions open to interested persons to sit in on the public will be a meeting Friday afternoon at which Congressman William L. Dawson, of Illinois, will be guest speaker. This meeting will be held in the auditorium of Trade "A" Building.

At a dinner meeting starting at 6 o'clock the same day E. Frederick Morrow, advisor on business affairs for the National Production Authority, USDA, will be the guest speaker.

The Saturday morning session will be featured by an address by Thurgood Marshall of New York, attorney for the NAACP Legal and Defense Fund. This session will start at 11 a.m. in the Institute chapel. He will speak on the school segregation cases now before the U. S. Supreme Court and his topic will be "Next Step—Win or Lose."

Business sessions of the Association will be held in the Peabody Room of Dorothy Hall. Officials of the Association have invited the discussions of problems affecting the nation's publishers.

Commerce Aide Warns Journalists Of "Little Isles Of Segregation"

A U. S. Department of Commerce official, addressing members of the National Newspaper Publishers' Association at Tuskegee Institute last week-end, declared the Negro is gaining a brighter day, but added a grim note that "there are still some Negro leaders and organizations fighting to retain in government little islands of segregated activity."

Frederick Morrow, Advisor on Business Affairs for National Production Authority U. S. Department of Commerce, and former Field Secretary of the NAACP, told the group of Negro journalists:

"The point is, that we've got to make up our minds whether we want complete integration or not. We cannot hold up to any of the stultifying methods of the past and hope to secure a complete acceptance for the future. We cannot be half boy and half man. Either we accept the perils of this new adult life we have been crying for, or remain in the crib of adolescence forever."

MOST NECESSARY ELEMENT

Morrow told the newspapermen that "your profession is perhaps the most necessary element, and the one absolute essential in nuturing and protecting our American way of life.

"By the same token," he asserted, "it carries with it the greatest moral responsibility of honesty and fearlessly reporting and publishing the facts of the day-by-day happenings in the world and in our national life."

The speaker lauded the Negro press for carrying the fight for first class citizenship 'forward with great distinction and success," and added, "and today, the benefits of that seed planted by Russwurm (John B., founder of the Negro press) over a century ago, nears fruition."

Morrow cited the advances of the Negro race and a "new philosophy in commerce relative to the Negro businessman."

He declared, "Our belief is that the Negro businessman should have available to him all the services rendered by the Small Business Section of the Department of Commerce."

"NO UTOPIA"

However, he declared "I am not trying to suggest that we have entered into an era of Utopia where all the ills that have surrounded us for over 300 years are in the process of being cured and wiped out overnight. I am not suggesting that we no longer need outside agencies to spearhead fights to implement the provisions of our constitution and the pronouncements of the President on Civil Rights."

And although, he declared some Negro leaders are still segregating themselves, he said, "I am glad to report today that as a race we are beginning to crack our economic shells. We are beginning to have opportunities to rise above the narrow confines of race, and the crippling influence of prejudice."

NNPA to hear talks by national leaders

Tuskegee institute to be host to winter workshop sessions

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. —Several nationally prominent figures will deliver major speeches at the mid-winter workshop of the National Newspaper Pusblishers association, here, Thursday through Saturday.

Principal addresses will be delivered by NAACP Chief Legal Counsel Thurgood Marshall, Congressman William L. Dawson, Fred Morrow, U.S. Department of Commerce, C. E. Bounds, University of Alabama and Dr. Luther H. Foster of Tuskegee institute.

The theme of the mid-winter conference, which is always held in the south, will be, "The Press —First Line of Defense in the Battle for Civil Rights."

Workshop Hosts

The NNPA will be the guest of the Alabama Newspaper association, Emory O. Jackson, Birmingham World, chairman, and Tuskegee institute. The June Workshop is always the guest of a northern newspaper.

Some 81 NNPA member newspapers were instrumental in raising $70,000 which was used by the NAACP Legal Fund to fight the five school segregation cases in the Supreme Court.

These newspapers published a series of 18 ads to attract public contributions and refunded the costs of the ads to the NAACP Legal Committee.

Chapel Services

The association will preface its mid-winter workshop Wednesday evening in Dorothy hall with student chapel services and an address by association secretary, William O. Walker, publisher of the Cleveland Call and Post.

At the opening session of the workshop on Thursday, Dr. Carl Murphy, president of the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers, will preside. Reports will be made by Dr. Murphy, Mr. Walker, Mrs. Nannie Mitchell Turner, treasurer, and committee chairmen.

A series of four panel discussions on newspaper problems is slated for the Thursday and Friday sessions. Official welcomes to Alabama will be extended at the Thursday luncheon, between one and two o'clock in the afternoon.

The final session of the workshop will be held Saturday morning. At that time, Thurgood Marshall will deliver an address on "The Next Step—Win or Lose."

The NNPA board meeting, immediately following, will close out the workshop.

32b 1954

NATIONAL MUTUAL FUND SALES CONVENTION

Sales Conference Attracts Negroes

CHICAGO — (ANP) — Phillip M. Jenkins of New York last week was one of three Negroes who attended the sixth National Mutual Fund Sales Convention which met at the Palmer House here.

The two others were Warren H Bacon, personnel manager of Supreme Liberty Life Insurance Co. Chicago, and Norman McGhee Cleveland broker.

Jenkins, manager, Mutual Fund Department Baruch Brothers and Co., New York, commented on the changing attitudes which has come over business in the last 10 years relative to the Negroes.

"Sales experts recognize the fact that the Negro market can tip the scales in the profitable distribution of goods, just as the Negro voter is believed by many political analysts to hold the balance of power in a national election.

"What has happened in the last 10 years that has brought about this 'economic emancipation' of the Negro America? What makes him a 'live' prospect for Mutual Funds now, when he was not so considered a few years ago?

In answering this, Jenkins said: "There are now much better educational and employment opportunities open to him, even in technical and professional fields, than ever before. Better housing and recreational facilities are also available. These are the foundation of economic freedom."

Jenkins also said there are psychological factors involved.

Signs Of The Times

As our American precepts of democracy are brought closer to our daily practices, the Negro can afford to and is beginning to drop some of the symbols that set him apart from other Americans.

The whole pattern of racial segregation and discrimination has made the Negro as race conscious as it has the white man. For that reason, the Negro in selecting names for organizations has invariably included the word Negro in the title.

This was done not so much out of racial pride as to avoid confusion with similar white organizations that had rejected him as a member because of his race.

Eventually it is hoped, the duplication in organizations will disappear along with the duplication of facilities in education, recreation, travel and housing.

The only justification for the National Medical Association which is the professional society of Negro physicians is that its white counterpart, the Americal Medical Association, refused at the time to accept Negro medical men into membership.

Several years ago the national organization of registered nurses voted to open its membership rolls to Negro nurses. The result was that the national organization of registered nurses voluntarily voted to disband.

We can't recall of another instance where the liberalization of the membership policy of a white organization has been so complete as to result in the abandonment of the corresponding Negro organization.

But some other significant changes are taking place. More than a year ago, The National Negro Publishers association voted to drop the word Negro from its title. It is now the National Newspaper Publishers association.

The Colored Methodist Episcopal church recently voted to change its name to the Christian Methodist Episcopal church. The United Negro College Fund is now simply the United College Fund. Last week the Illinois Association of Colored Women became the Illinois Association of Club Women.

These are all good signs of our approaching maturity in human relations. It indicates that the Negro does not want to be segregated, or set apart from his fellow-American as some whites claim is the Negro's desire.

We congratulate the organizations that have had the foresight to make these alterations in their titles. We are living in a new day when race is becoming less and less important.

As we urge others to drop their racial bars, so must we prepare ourselves for the day when we'll all be just Americans.

Experts In Various Fields To Be Heard At NOS Meet

Journal + Guide Norfolk, Va. P. 11

Sat. 11-6-54

DILLWYN, Va.—The Negro Organization Society will hold its forty-second annual meeting at the Carter G. Woodson High School, Dillwyn, on Nov. 11 and 12. The executive board meeting will be held Wednesday, Nov. 10, at 7:30 p. m. N. D. Morse, chairman of the executive board, will preside. Speakers will include a newspaper publisher, educators and business leaders.

[illegible] of delegates will begin at 8:30 on Thursday morning, Nov. 11. The theme of the meeting is: "Improving Human Relations In Everyday Living."

* * *

EACH OF THE seven "Better" [illegible] namely, health, homes, [illegible] schools, jobs, civic participation and [illegible], will be discussed in individual workshops in conformity with the theme. Each "Better" having its own workshop is a [illegible] departure from past [illegible] traditional.

On Thursday from 9:30 a. m. to 12 noon, the Better Business Workshop will be held. Dr. G. W. C. Brown, chairman, will preside. The subject is, "Improving Your Business Techniques." Consultants are Dr. V. J. Mack, associate professor, Virginia State College, and L. C. Gray, chairman, Buckingham County Better Business Committee.

* * *

AT 1:00 P. M. on Thursday, the "Better Farms" Workshop will be held with Ross W. Newsome, chairman, presiding. The subject is "Increasing the Farm Income with Forestry Products."

The consultants are: Mr. A. B. Lyon, associate extension forester, VPI; James Tucker, tree farmer, Greensville county; G. D. Williams, farm agent in Greensville county, and J. J. Shelton, farm agent in Buckingham county.

* * *

THURSDAY evening at 7:30 the first open session will be held in the school gymtorium. Mrs. Virginia L. Miller, elementary supervisor, Buckingham county schools, will preside. The organization will be welcomfed by Irving Driscoll, superintendent, Buckingham county schools. Dr. P. B. Young, publisher, Norfolk Journal and Guide, will deliver the keynote address. L. C. White, president, Negro Organization Society, will deliver his annual message. Music will be furnished by the Buckingham County Chorus.

Friday from 9 a. m. to 12 noon, the Better Health, Homes and Jobs workshops will be held. Dr. J. B. Blayton, chairman, better health, will preside at the Better Health, Workshop. The consultants will be Dr. W. R. Southward Jr., director, Venereal Disease Control, Commonwealth of Virginia; Edgar Carroll, executive secretary, Virginia Tuberculosis Association, and Mrs. P. P. Forbs, chairman, Buckingham Better Health Committee.

* * *

MISS BLANCHE D. Harrison, chairman Better Homes, will preside at the Better Homes Workshops. Consultants will be: Mrs. Myra Thompson, supervisor, homemaking, Petersburg; Miss Mary B. Settle, extension housing specialist, Virginia State Agricultural Extension Service; J. G. Lancaster, local farm agent, Prince Edward county, and Mrs. Christine Gooden, Buckingham county.

Wiley A. Hall, chairman, Better Jobs, will preside at the Better Jobs Workshop. Consultants will be: H. O. DeWitt, assistant director of employment, Colonial Williamsburg, Incorporated; George T. Hedgespeth, industrial secretary, Richmond Urban League, and Dr. W. L. Ferguson, Virginia State Employment Service.

* * *

ON THURSDAY from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m., the Better Civics and Better Schools Workshop will be held. W. Barton Beatty Jr., chairman, Better Civic Participation, will preside at the Better Civics Workshop. The subject is "Step Ahead in the Attainment of First Class Citizenship."

Consultants will be: Dr. C. Waldo Scott, resident surgeon, Whittaker Hospital and member if the Newport News Board of Education, Newport News, Va.; Dr. William Martin, director of the Hampton Institute Self-Study Program; Dr. William Moses, faculty member, Hampton Institute; the Rev. J. Dett Marshburn, pastor of Zion Baptist Church, Phoebus, Va., and Allen Gooden, Buckingham county.

* * *

MRS. IRMA B. Blackwell, chairman, Better Schools, will preside at the Better Schools Workshop. The subject is, "Improving Human Relations Through A Functional Program of Education."

The consultants are: Dr. J. Rupert Picott, executive secretary, Virginia Teachers Association; Welton H. Henderson, principal, Paul Lawrence Dunbar School, Norfolk, Va.; G. F. Harris, principal, Carter G. Woodson High School, Buckingham county, and C. A. Crocker, counselor, Armstrong High School, Richmond, Va.

* * *

THE NOS delegates will be feted at a banquet in the school cafeteria. This banquet is under the auspices of the Buckingham County-Wide League.

Friday at 7:30 p. m., the closing session will be held with N. D. Morse, chairman of the executive board, presiding. The field secretary will give his annual report.

Dr. John H. Marion, pastor, Bon Air Presbyterian Church and member of the faculty of Richmond Professional Institute, will summarize the activities of the past two days. Trophies will be awarded by C. A. Crocker.

DR. C. WALDO SCOTT
Consultant

L. C. WHITE
NOS President

MISS BLANCHE HARRISON
Homes Chairman

WILEY A. HALL
Jobs Chairman

Pharmacists Meet In Philadelphia Aug. 3

ST. LOUIS, (ANP) — The eighth annual convention of the National Pharmaceutical Association will be held Aug. 3-5 at the Hotel Broadwood, Philadelphia, with Lorenzo E. Kelly, St. Louis, president, presiding.

NPA Ends Meet In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA — The National Pharmaceutical association closed its eighth annual meeting here with an endorsement of a five-year minimum program for training in pharmacy.

The five day meeting was attended by pharmacists from 20 states, the District of Columbia and the Virgin Islands.

Miss Sybil Barrow, at one time active in the North Harlem Pharmaceutical association was the delegate from the Virgin Islands.

The association also passed resolutions requiring its members to take an active part in the recruitment of students to study pharmacy and another urging a wider participation in national pharmacy week.

Speakers during the meeting included Doc. Arthur E. James, Alfred N. Martin and John A. Lynch of Temple University School of Pharmacy and Dr. Martin Barr, Robert E. Abrams, and Dean Linwood F. Tice of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science.

Louis Kazin, associate editor of Drug Topics presented an interesting address "Recent Economic Trends in Pharmacy."

Dr. Albert B. Fisher, research associate, National Wholesale Druggists Association gave an illustrated lecture — "Service Plus from Your Drug Wholesaler."

Wednesday, industry was represented by Dr. Rudolph H. Blythe, director of Pharmaceutical Research — Smith, Kline and French Laboratories; Dr. Bernard Jatul, assistant director of pharmaceutical research, Sharp and Dohme, Division of Merck and Co, and Dr. Richard Bogash of Wyeth Laboratories.

The papers presented at this meeting will appear in the Association Journal.

Dr. Margaret J. Butcher, associate professor of English at Howard university and member of the board of education, District of Columbia was the speaker at the annual banquet.

The following officers were elected for the next year: President, Rufus Hairston, Winston-Salem, N. C. president-elect, York D. Garrett, Durham, N. C.; recording secretary, Elizabeth H. Greene, Detroit, treasurer, William S. Woodard, Newport News, Va., executive secretary. Chaun-Carolina's plan of action under the Supreme court's ruling against segregation in public schools.

Negro members are Dr. F. D. Bluford, Greensboro, president, A and T college; Dr. J. W. Seabrook, Fayetteville, president Fayetteville State Teachers college; and Mrs. Hazel Parker, Tarboro, Negro home demonstration agent, Edgecombe county.

Pharmacists adopt plan to aid students

Rufus S. Hairston elected at 8th convention; Mrs. Gilbert named

PHILADELPHIA

Rufus S. Hairston, Winston-Salem, N.C., was elected president of the National Pharmaceutical Association, Thursday, at the closing business session of the eighth annual convention at Broadwood Hotel, Broad and Wood Sts. Other officers are:

York D. Garrett, Durham, N.C., president-elect; Raymond S. Bounds, Philadelphia, Pa., first vice president; James Roberts, Chicago, Ill. second vice-president; Elizabeth H. Greene, Detroit, Mich., recording secretary;

WILLIAM S. WOODARD, Newport News, Va., treasuere; Emile J. LaBranche, New Orleans, La., historian; R. E. Wimberley, Raleigh, N. C., chaplain, and Thomas Gorgas, New York City, sergeant at arms.

Virginia M. Gilbert, Saint Louis, Mo., was chosen to head the woman's auxiliary. Also voted into office:

Helen K. Fisher, Washington, D.C., vice president; Irene B. Giles, Chicago, executive secretary; Elfreida F. LaBranche, New Orleans, recording secretary;

ROCHE DOUGLAS, Baltimore, Md., corresponding secretary; Beatrice L. Pryce, Lake Charles, La., treasurer, and Hattie L. Toodle, Detroit, chaplain.

The national body passed a resolution endorsing a five-year plan for pharmacy students. The auxiliary resolved to continue its aid to the cause of cerebral palsy.

Dr. Margaret Just Butcher addressed the banquet which closed the three-day convention on Thursday night. She is associate professor of English at Howard University and a member of the board of education in Washington, D.C.

REMARKS were made by Chauncey I. Cooper, executive editor of the association's journal. The Rev. Kenneth Higginbotham, assistant rector, Saint Thomas Episcopal Church, gave the invocation.

Lorenzo E. Kelly, out-going president, presented the gavel to his successor, Mr. Hairston. Mr. Kelly presided over the convention and gave the president's address on Tuesday morning.

Delegates were welcomed by Ruth M. Stanley, president of the Philadelphia Mutual Drug Association, host to the convention. Mrs. Mabel Bennett heads the local woman's auxiliary.

— o O o —

SUBJECTS and speakers at the Tuesday afternoon session were:

"Changing Trends in Therapeutic Agents," Dr. Arthur E. James, professor of chemistry, Temple University School of Pharmacy;

"The Use of Extemporaneously Colored Capsules," Dr. Alfred N. Martin, associate professor of pharmacy at Temple.

"Modern Concepts in Antibiotic Therapy," Dr. Martin Barr, associate professor of pharmacy, Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, and "Some Current Trends in Medicinal Chemistry," Dr. Joseph B. Sprowls, professor and dean at Temple.

The local association entertained the national body at a dance on Tuesday night.

WEDNESDAY MORNING'S subjects and speakers were:

"The Development of a New Medicinal Product," Dr. Rudolph H. Blythe, director of pharmaceutical research, Smith, Kline and French Laboratories; "New Developments in Antispasmodics," Dr. Bernard Jatul, Sharp and Dohme, and "The Newer Antibiotics," Dr. Richard Bogash, Wyeth Laboratories.

Subjects and speakers on Wednesday afternoon were:

"Recent Economic Trends in Pharmacy," Dr. Paul C. Olsen, lecturer on accounting and marketing, Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science; "Will the Profession of Pharmacy Survive?" Dean Linwood F. Tice, director, pharmacy department, Philadelphia College.

— o O o —

"THE NEED for Better Public Relations in Pharmacy," Robert E. Abrams, professor of pharmacy, Philadelphia College, and "Professional Pharmacy Displays," John A. Lynch, assistant professor of pharmacy and pharmaceutical economics, Temple.

On Thursday morning, "Some Problems of Pharmacy as I see Them" was discussed by Dean Hurd M. Jones, professor of pharmacy, Texas Southern University School of Pharmacy.

Dr. Albert B. Fisher, research associate, National Wholesale Druggists Association, spoke on "Service Plans from Your Service Drug Wholesaler."

Gladys W. Burton, out-going president, presided over the auxiliary sessions and gave her address on Tuesday morning.

B. Doreen Jolly and Peg Conner presented a fashion show for the auxiliary on Wednesday afternoon. Models were June Ballard, Violet Earle, Eleanora Harris, Hannah Mitri, Mae Madrid, Esther Peacock, and Mary Ann De Vos.

DELEGATES included:

Arkansas: Blanche H. Thornton, H. H. Thornton.

Georgia: Emons B. Coffee.

Illinois: Chauncy D. Jones, James Roberts, Judge Jones, Samuel Williamson, Robert E. Giles, William A. Cosby, Malcolm Chandler.

Indiana: Winto Jones, Spurling Clarke;

Louisiana: Ulric W. Pryce, Horace C. Bynum, Edgar J. Reed Emile LaBranche.

Maryland: Hays Buchanan, Fred R. West.

Michigan: Wiley H. Reynolds, Julius C. Scott, Eugene Clarke, Clarence O'Neal, Elizabeth H. Greene Beulah Stitch;

Missouri: Jerry H. Rhodes, Harold T. Carter, Edward S. Gilbert.

New Jersey: Goodsall Waters, Sherwood L. Catlett.

New York: Meredith Brooks, Thomas Gorgas.

North Carolina: York D. Garrett, W. E Armstrong Margaret Reid, R. E. Wimberley, Rufus Hairston, J. Thomas Hamlin, William D. Wimberley.

Ohio: Max H. Vann.

Oklahoma: Sarah A. Browning, Lloyd H. Williams.

Pennsylvania: William W. Goode, Ruth Stanley, Theodore W. Primas, John M. Porter, Josie Lee, Sarah A. Engold, Melvin C. Howell, Maurice A. Dabney, George W. Lindsay Edward A. Burnett;

Norma Glenn, Raymond Bounds Martha Bounds, Melvin W B. Howell, Edward Howell.

South Carolina: Mason Johnson Earl E. Oliver.

Texas: Lorenzo E. Kelley, S. N. Gray, Spurgeon Gray.

Tennessee: C. G. Starling, Howard L. Burley.

Virginia: Charles C. Smith, William S. Woodard, Eugene W. Hunter, John Booker.

West Virginia: J. Claude Kingslow.

District of Columbia: John Mitchell George Butcher, Isaiah Burton, Phillip V. Hammond, Oden H Fisher, Clarence Cooper.

Virgin Islands: C. J. Sybil.

AUXILIARL DELEGATES included:

Illinois: Lillian Jones, Minnette B. Roberts, Buliah S. Woods, Irene B. Giles, LaDana Williamson, Alvai Stephens, Emma Cosby.

Missouri: Virginia M. Gilbert.

North Carolina: Julia W. Garrett, Mary M. Hairston.

Michigan: Sedonia D. Ezidore, Jessie B. Stewart, Hattie L. Toddle, Bell Clarke Henrietta Scott, Hazel N Reynolds, Helen M Toodle.

Maryland: Marie A. Cooper, Riche Douglas, Bertha J. West.

Pennsylvania: Hattie J. Simpson, Theresa I. Richards, Mabel E. Bennett, Connie Martin, Mary P. Harris, Jacqueline M. Primas, Sara J. Goode.

Louisiana: Elfreida F. LaBranche, Beatrice L. Pryce, Ursul D. Reed.

Virginia: Cora L. Smith.

New York: Iliff F. Gorgas Sadie Holley, Mattie Bonner

Tennessee: Hazel A. Burley.

Indiana: Katherine S. Jones.

District of Columbia: Helen Fisher, Gladys W. Burton, Novella I. Chambers, Josephine W. Butcher.

Virgin Islands. Sybil Barrow.

St. Louisan Gets Office With N.P.A.

Mrs. Virginia Gilbert

PHILADELPHIA —Mrs. Virginia Marshall Gilbert, director of the Pyramid Nursery Institute of St. Louis, wa selected president of the National Pharmaceutical Association Auxiliary at a meeting here last week.

Mrs. Gilbert is the wife of S. Edward Gilbert, national director of publicity for the National Pharmaceutical Association. The new president succeeds Mrs. Gladys Burton.

The Anxiliary held its fourth annual convention here while the NPA met for the eighth annual session.

Other officers elected to the Auxiliary were: Mrs. Helen K. Fisher of Washington, vice president; Mrs. Elfrieda La Branche of New Orleans, recording secretary; Mrs. Roche Douglas of Baltimore, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Irene Giles of Chicago, executive secreatary; Mrs. Lovena Pryce of Lake Charles, La., treasurer, and Mrs. Hattie Toodle of Detroit, chaplain.

Rufus S. Hairston of Winston Salem, N. C., was elected president of the NPA.

Also elected to office were the following:

York Garrett of Durham, N. C., president elect; Roy S. Bounds of Philadelphia, first vice president; James Roberts of Chicago second vice president; Miss Elizabeth H. Greene of Detroit, recording secretary; William S. Woodard of New Port News, Va., treasurer, and R. E. Wimberly of Reliegh, N. C., chaplain.

A number of outstanding authorities in the pharmaceutical field presented papers and lectures during the convention.

Th NPA voted in favor of a five-year plan for pharmacy students effective in 1960.

Succeeds J. C. Evans

Love Now at Helm Of Technical Body

DETROIT—Hulbron B. Love, chief of the Electrical Department, City of Detroit, was elected president of the National Technical Association during its twenty-sixth annual convention held here.

He succeeds James S. Evans, special assistant to the Secretary of Defense, who served the association as secretary and president for the past quarter of a century.

Other officers elected at the meeting were: Benson L. Dutton of Nashville, secretary; J. Marshall of Greensboro, treasurer; H. L. Livas of Hampton, editor of Journal; Harold Haynes of Washington, D. C., librarian; L. K. Downing of Washington, D. C., Yearbook editor; E. Holerman of New York, membership chairman; J. C. Ford of New York, Eastern vice president; E. G. Roberts of Indianapolis, Central vice president; M. S. Thomas of Tallahassee, Fla., Southern vice president, and R. Vaughn of Los Angeles, Western vice president.

Pittsburgh Courier 2-5-54

ONE OF THE highlights of the meeting was the granting of a charter to a chapter in Buffalo, N. Y., making the total fifteen chapters in the association.

Other chapters are located in Chicago, Dayton, Detroit, Greensboro, Hampton, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Prairie View, Tuskegee, Washington and St. Louis and Nashville.

Judge Mollison resigns from Urban League board

By JAMES L. HICKS
NEW YORK

Federal Judge Irvin C. Mollison of New York has resigned from the board of trustees of the National Urban League, charging that the board is not responsive to the needs of colored people whom the organization is supposed to serve."

The distinguished jurist sent his letter of resignation to Robert W. Dowling, white, president of the Urban League in a letter dated [illegible]

Judge Mollison told Dowling that he was resigning because:

1. "The National Urban League and its executive staff have refused to cooperate with the NAACP and other reputable organizations in the achievement and fulfillment of worthwhile objectives for the benefit of colored people generally."

2. "No programs have been devised to combat openly and forthrightly discrimination in housing."

3. "No effective steps have been taken to protest openly against the housing discrimination practiced by Levittown in Bucks County, Pa.; Long Island, N.Y.; Fairless Hills, Pa., or by the insurance company owned housing projects in New York City."

4. "The League has failed to pursue with vigor all remedies available to it in connection with discrimination against colored persons in Bucks County."

5. "The League has for years failed to manifest any real and genuine interest in the education of colored pupils and students upon an equal and non-discriminatory basis."

Self Perpetuating 'Oligarchy'

Charging that the League's officers and its staff are "completely out of touch with colored people and their desires to be full-fledged Americans," Judge Mollison said the League has "failed to meet the challenge of the times in the important areas of housing, employment and education."

Instead, Judge Mollison told Mr. Dowling, the National Urban League is a "self perpetuating oligarchy," entirely removed from the membership of the local leagues and the general public."

The league's board of trustees came under Judge Mollison's heaviest fire:

Trustees Hit

"One fundamental cause of the lack of program of benefit to colored people," he said in his letter, "is the detachment and isolation of the board of trustees as a board, from colored persons generally and the membership of the local colored citizens.

"The board of trustees," Judge Mollison said, "is unrepresentative not only of colored people generally, but also of local league membership; as a consequence it is not responsive to the needs of the colored people whom the organization is supposed to serve."

Judge Mollison who attended the now famous annual meeting held recently in New York where Mr. Granger stated that membership in local Urban Leagues did not entitle one to membership in the National Urban League, took sharp exception to such a policy.

Board 'Rubber Stamp'

Charging that the League's election practices are "undemocratic," "arbitrary" and "autocratic," he said that in, "essence and substance" the only members of the National Urban League are its members of the trustee board "which at will, elects to, and drops from" the board, various people at the annual meeting.

He said there are many "fine and sincere" members of the board of trustees, but that as an "entity," the board has allowed itself to "be used as a rubber stamp by the executive director (Lester Granger) "who has stifled freedom of speech in the board as to policies and program—or lack of program."

'Packed' Election

Judge Mollison said he had noted that the last annual meeting of the League had been packed with all the paid professional and clerical employees of the agency.

"It seems to me," he said, "that allowing them to vote for and against the election of board members, as was done at the annual meeting, was not only extraordinary, but wholly unprecedented in a social welfare agency.

"The matters set forth above," Judge Mollison's letter to Mr. Dowling concluded, "are some of the reasons which have brought me to the decision that I can no longer serve as a board member. I therefore submit my resignation as a member of the board of trustees of the National Urban League effective immediately."

Two quit League board in rift

Afro-American p. 1 Sat. 7-3-54

Judge Mollison, Dr. Cannon say organization has 'done nothing'

(MOLLISON STORY ON PAGE EIGHT)

NEW YORK—The rift in the ranks of the National Urban League continued to widen last week as Dr. George D. Cannon resigned from the board of directors charging the board has done "nothing" to put the League "into the Vanguard for colored people's advancement."

Dr. Cannon's letter of resignation was made public one week after Federal Judge Irvin C. Mollison had submitted his letter of resignation to Robert W. Dowling, white president of the League.

Dr. Cannon's letter was also sent to Mr. Dowling.

Judge Mollison in resigning charged the board with being a "rubber stamp."

Program Waste Of Time

In his letter Dr. Cannon declared that the League's housing program is "a waste of time," criticized the League for taking credit for the accomplishment of others, rapped it for its timidity in not initiating legislation for social reforms, and sharply questioned the way the League goes about determining its membership to the national body.

Dr. Cannon, well known New York physician, first attacked the "moderate" "social work approach" of the League.

He charged that the League is so "cautious" and slow in its action that "the world itself is moving toward Brotherhood at a faster pace."

Such slow action on the part of the League, Dr. Cannon said, gives the organization a "false sense of accomplishment" which sees the League claim credit for itself when such credit really does not belong to it.

Inaction Hit Hard

In this line of criticism of the League, Dr. Cannon hit hard at the fact that the National Urban League follows a policy of not initiating legislation.

He said he understood this policy when it was first laid down to him as a member of the board and that "I did then, and do now" recognize that some objectives can be obtained by other than militant means."

But, he added that the Urban League's "over cautious policy of not giving support by statements or participation in conferences affecting colored people other than as observers is a criticism that has more than once been discussed in board meetings."

Judge Waring's Cases Cited

He said nothing has been done by the board to correct this and put the organization "into the vanguard for advancement."

He also rapped the League for first rejecting and later accepting Former Federal Judge J. Waites Waring as a member of its board. Afro-American Sat. 7-3-54

The League's "reversal of policy" on Judge Waring, Dr. Cannon said, "was indicative of the general trend of thought of the board." 7-3-54

"To me," he added, "it clearly implied that he was evidently too radical because he has proven beyond doubt his belief in true equality."

Dr. Cannon reserved his hardest blow of criticism of the League to the field of housing where Mr. Dowling, League president, is recognized as one of the most powerful men in America.

Dowling Is Named

"The program of the National Urban League in housing is a waste of time" Dr. Cannon said bluntly to the housing man.

"As head of the League" he added, "by coincidence you happen to be among the most influential individuals in the real estate field in America.

"You know the Gentlemen's Agreement of the real estate interests in regard to colored tenancy," he continued. "You therefore know that nothing can be accomplished by such cautious action as that of the Urban League in dealing with the parties involved.

"Only legislation, which the League is against, coupled with militant action can crack the barrier. It is clearly not a field for the League with its present policy."

All In The Abstract

Then, after telling Mr. Dowling that he personally wondered how many of the League's white board members would welcome a colored person of "comparable character" as their next door neighbor, Dr. Cannon said:

"All expressions in board meetings about housing have been in the abstract, or concerning a distant field. Housing in New York is as difficult as housing in Bucks County and I would be glad to testify on this fact."

(Bucks County is the Delaware Valley area of U.S. Steel fame where colored people are barred from living in Fairless Hills and Levittown).

Dr. Cannon also hit the League's qualifications for membership.

At the League's last annual meeting in New York, Lester Granger, executive director of the League, had stated that membership in the League depended on an individuals's contribution to the League" and that membership in local leagues did not automatically entitle one to membership in the National Urban League.

Still Not Clear

"I am still not clear as to the basis upon which voting power is granted" Dr. Cannon said. "Surely there must be something more tangible than the qualifications stated by the executive director at the meeting.

"Is there no written rule?" Dr. Cannon asked. "Is there no credentials committee?"

The letter concluded by saying "Due to these differences, I am clearly not with the board of directors in spirit. I therefore cannot continue my membership and hereby submit my resignation to take place immediately."

Accuse Granger in board rift

Afro American

P. 1

By JAMES L. HICKS

NEW YORK—The National Urbean League, which has long enjoyed the reputation of being a pretty good housewife, began to hang some of its dirty linen on the public clothes line, Thursday, as some of its top officers accused Lester Granger of under-the-table activity in dealing with its board of trustees.

The charges were hurled at Mr. Granger from a distance of eight feet by Theodore E. Brown, secretary of the National Urban League.

At times Mr. Brown paused while making his charges and personally asked Mr. Granger to "give me your attention" while he lambasted him face to face on the floor of the organization's annual meeting.

Hung On Clothesline

When the smoke of the battle which Mr. Brown set off had died away the following pieces of the Urban League's undergarments were left partially washed and hanging on the public clothesline for all eyes to see:

1. Mr. Granger had been accused of trying to get Mrs. Beulah Whitby of Detroit off the board of trustees by telling the board that Mrs. Whitby had told him she was willing to "step down" when actually he had not talked with Mrs. Whitby.

2. Mr. Brown had charged that he was being dropped from the trustee board because he refused to be a rubber stamp "for Mr. Granger or anyone else."

AFRO Story Quoted

3. Mr. Granger had been faced with a story from the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers stating that he had told an audience in Raleigh that colored people are not ready for integration.

He denied making the statement, said that he had been misquoted and then in attempting to tell the League members what he had really said, he repeated the "We ain't ready" philosophy in different language.

4. Federal Judge Irvin C. Mollison and Philadelphia's Hobson Reynolds had engaged in a parliamentary word battle which added zest to the meeting and saw Judge Mollison have the last word.

5. A member of the Cleveland Urban League, who had been working with the organization for 15 years, was suddenly informed by Mr. Granger that he is not now, and has never been, a member of the National Urban League. Membership in local Leagues Granger told him, does not entitle one to membership in the national organization.

Dowling Puzzled

6. Urban League president Robert Dowling had been asked, and was unable to answer the question of "What constitutes being a member of the National Urban League?

"He bucked the question over to Mr. Granger who answered it by saying that a person becomes a member of the League by virtue of "contributions to the League."

7. It was revealed that the League had sidestepped a petition submitted by Dr. Kenneth Clark and several others placing the name of ex-Federal Judge J. Waites Waring in nomination for a member of the board of trustees.

Dr. Clark appeared at the meeting prepared for a floor fight, but the petition was accepted and Judge Waring was elected to the board.

Discrimination Charged

8. Mr. Brown charged that Mr. Granger's group within the organization had convassed all its white vice presidents to see if they would accept renomination, but that no such convass was made of its colored vice presidents, Judge Mollison and Dr. John E. Mosely.

All this linen was hung out to dry at the annual meeting in the short span of an hour and it is putting it mildy when it is said that the meeting was highly spirited.

The principal fireworks hinged around charges made against League officials by Mr. Brown which were published in a newspaper article shortly before the meeting was held.

In the article, written by James Booker, crack reporter for the Amsterdam News, Mr. Brown charged that the Urban League has no program for colored people.

He said further that it has taken colored people for granted in its haste to get money from big business firms, that it does not keep pace with local branches in other cities, and that it is lagging behind labor and colored workers in their fight for jobs.

Granger Attacks

Mr. Granger after delivering his annual report, departed from his prepared text to blast both the article and Mr. Brown at the meeting.

Mr. Brown then took the floor to support the charges made in the news article and to add others not printed.

It was obvious as Mr. Brown began to speak, that his position as secretary of the League had placed him in possession of material which other officers of the League were not keen on having aired in public.

Thus when he began to talk about "the Whitby case," President Dowling attempted to have him gloss over the details saying "we know about the Whitby case," but Mr. Brown a veteran of the union halls was bent on having his say.

Brown Snaps Back

At one point in his talk Mr. Granger hotly objected saying "Mr. Chairman, Mr. Brown has already talked for 12 minutes." But Brown fired right back with "You took more time than that Mr. Granger" and then asked the chair if he were to be denied the freedom of speech.

Dowling permitted him to continue and Brown then asked Mr. Granger who had cupped his head in his hands with his hands covering his eyes to "please pay attention to what I'm saying."

He then said that Mrs. Beulah Whitby had incurred the disfavor of the mayor of Detroit by cided that it was best to get Mrs. Whitby off the board and that Granger had recommended she be dropped.

But he said others made an issue over the matter and that Granger finally told the board that he had talked with Mrs. Whitby and she had consented to step down.

But Brown said he called Mrs Whitby the next day and that she not only denied telling Mr. Granger that, but that she also denied even having talked with him about the matter.

As he went deeper into the matter, he strongly implied that Mr. Granger had tried to snatch the rug from beneath Mrs. Whitby because some white members of the board considered her a trouble maker.

Clark Regrets Story

After Brown had finished, Dr. Ken Clark took the floor. He expressed regret that Brown had gone to the press with the League's business and he disassociated himself from the publication of the story.

But he then raised the question of Brown's failure to be renominated to the board. He said Brown's name had been placed in nomination at the first meeting of the nominating committee, but that at a second meeting he was not on the list of nominees.

"I believe," said Dr. Clark, "that this action was unwise and unfair. I do not agree with the idea of punishing people who make clear their dissent."

Earlier Judge Mollison had raised the question with Mr. Granger as to whether he had said in a Raleigh speech that colored people were not ready for integration.

Denies Statement

Mr. Granger answered that "no one who knows me believe that I made such a statement."

The article, which appeared in the April 17 issue of the AFRO (page 13) was then produced.

Mr. Granger said he had been misquoted. But Frank Evans of the Cleveland Urban League asked Mr. Granger, why, if he had been misquoted by the AFRO reporter, had he not asked the paper for a correction or retraction.

Mr. Granger answered that he had not read the AFRO story and didn't know about it until it was called to his attention shortly before the meeting then being held.

When Mr. Evans rose to speak again, however, Mr. Dowling asked him his name and if he were a member of the National Urban League. Mr. Evans countered by asking Mr. Dowling what constituted membership in the League.

Based On Contributions

Mr. Dowling couldn't answer but asked Mr. Granger to answer the question. Mr. Granger replied that the National Urban League's membership is based on contributions made by an individual to the League.

"Then I'm a member" said Mr. Evans, recalling his 15 years of association with the League.

"Have you got a card?" Mr. Granger asked him.

Mr. Evans appeared stunned. "No," he answered, "I have no card."

"Then you're not a member," said Mr. Granger.

He then went on to explain that "some people don't understand" that membership in the local leagues does not automatically give them membership in the National League.

Admits Learning

Mr. Evans later told reporters that he had "learned something."

The Waring issue came up when Mr. Brown stated that he had been handed a petition nominating Judge Waring, but that Judge Waring's name was not on the nominating list. He asked why.

Maurice Moss read some rules on the submission of nominating petitions.

Others took the floor, however, and said they could not see why if Judge Waring's name had been submitted to the secretary that the League shouldn't be permitted to act on it.

Granger then proposed that there be an immediate vote on Judge Waring's name. But President Dowling said this would be equal to a vote of no confidence in the work of the nominating committee.

Refuses To Answer

Mr. Wood, chairman of the nominating committee was then called on to tell why Judge Waring's name had not been placed on the list. He refused to answer stating that he could not speak for the whole committee.

Out of this welter of confusion there rose the calm voices of Mrs. Sadie Alexander and Publisher Louis Martin.

They both pleaded for sanity in the meeting and while both asked for the full facts to come out they suggested a committee to work out the points at issue.

But board member Thomas Young rose and stated that he felt Judge Waring's name should be placed on the nominating list immediately.

Voice Vote Held

Someone then moved that they vote immediately on Judge Waring. Then, without anyone being challenged as to who could vote and who could not, a voice vote was held and the chair ruled that there were more nayes than ayes.

He stated that Judge Waring had failed to win a majority.

But Dr. Ken Clark immediately took the floor and moved that Judge Waring's name should be simply added to the slate of 57 nominees to the board.

Another vote was taken and Judge Waring was elected to the board with scarcely a dissenting vote. It was a complete flip flop from a moment before.

Hold Executive Session

The gavel fell at this point and the meeting went into executive session.

Judge Mollison and Judge Rivers, got into a hassle over whether or not Judge Mollison should be permitted to question Mr. Granger about the AFRO news story immediately after the rendition of his annual report.

Judge Rivers argued that it was parliamentary procedure to act on acceptance of the report immediately after it was given.

But Judge Mollison countered that no motion had been made in connection with the report before he raised his question of the article.

The chair finally ruled that Judge Mollison would question Granger. Later someone moved for acceptance of Mr. Granger's report and it was accepted.

About 60 persons attended the meeting including Imperial Potentate Ray Jackson of the Shriners.

32b 1954

NATIONAL URBAN LEAGUE

Adam Hat Fellowship Awards Acknowledge By Urban League

The National Urban League recently acknowledged nine past annual Adam Hat Fellowship Awards to it by inviting Lawrence R. Kessel, president of Adam Hat Stores, Inc., to attend the League's annual dinner as one of the honored guests.

Adam Hat Stores, Inc., is the only commercial contributor to support the work of the League continuously, through annual Fellowship Award. Other awards are received from time to time but they are given sporadically.

Last year's Fellowship Award enabled the National Urban League to send Mrs. Maida Springer to Ruskin College, Oxford University, Oxford, England to pursue studies leading to a Master Degree in Labor Relations.

In the accompanying picture, Mrs. Springer (center) discusses the work of National Urban League, and the progress which the Adam Hat Annual Fellowship Award has made possible, with Dr. Kenneth D. Johnson (right) Dean of Columbia University's New York School of Social Work and Lawrence R. Kessel, left, president of Adam Hat Stores, Inc.

At the time Judge Thomas Dickens, Justice of the Municipal Court of New York, and former member of the Board of the National Urban League's New York City affiliate, received the last award, he said:

"The League is grateful to Adam Hat, I know, not only for its annual grants, but because they constitute a welcome example to other companies whom we would like to join in our work. While the Adam Hat Fellowships are one of a growing number of such presentations, many more are needed."

The 43 year old National Urban League is the oldest interracial organization of its kind in the United States.

Adam Hat Fellowships are now awarded annually to the two persons selected by the League's Fellowship Committee. Preference is given to members of the League's staff who desire to extend their professional education and training and exidence outstanding qualifications and aptitude for the work to which they are dedicated.

This year's Adam Hat Fellows are Lorenzo H. Traylor of Denver, Colorado and Rossie O. Elliot of Los Aangeles, California. Dr. Traylor, who is Industrial Relations Secretary of the Denver Urban League will take his Masters Degree in Social Work at Denver University; Mr. Elliot, Health and Welfare Secretary of the Los Angeles Urban League will do likewise at a West Coast university.

Adam Hat Fellowships have so far been granted to men and women representing eight states and Panama. All of the recipients have secured (or will receive) Master Degrees in Social Work. Many of them hold executive positions of responsibility; a number have been cited for their outstanding contributions to social work and human relations.

Since the inception of the Adam Hat Fellowships in 1946, the following persons have received the awards:

Recipient

1946-'48, Aldena B. Runnels (Mrs.) (Texas) Caseworker for the N. Y. Community Service Society; Masters Degree, Social Work.

1948-'49, Thomas A. Webster, (Delaware), Executive, Kansas City Urban League; Masters Degree, Sicial Work.

1949-'50, Mozella J. Jackson, (Oklahoma), Medical Social Work, Fordham Hospital (New York); Masters Degree, Medical Social Work (pending).

1950 '51, Ivor B. Johnson (Mrs.) (Oklahoma), Group Worker, Merrill Palmer School (Detroit); Masters Degree, Group Social Work.

1950. '51, George Davis (New Jersey) attending Columbia University School of Social Work; Masters Degree, Social Work (pending).

1951-'52, Nellie W. Hamm (Ohio), Girl Scouts Counselor, Hartford, Conn.; Masters Degree, group Social Work.

1951-'52, Faidla Springer (Panama) Business Agent, Dressmakers Union, ILGWU; Master Degree in Labor Relations (Ruskin College, Oxford, England).

1952-'53, Malvina Squires (Mrs.) (Alabama), Group Worker, Neighborhood House Staff; Masters Degree, Casework.

1952-'53, William S. Jackson (New Jersey), Program Director, ULGNY; Masters Degree, Social Work and Ph. D. in Humanities.

Past Adam Hat Fellows are devoting their efforts to case work, community organization, group and medical social work, labor and industrial relations and related phases of social activity.

Urban League In Hot Battle

NEW YORK—Charging that he was ousted as secretary of the board of trustees of the National Urban League because he was "not willing to be a rubber-stamp for Mr. Granger (Lester Granger, executive director) or any other member of the board," Theodore E. Brown, official of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, touched off a stormy session at Thursday's annual meeting in the Hotel McAlpin.

In a newspaper story last week, Mr. Brown charged that the National Urban League . . . "does not have a program; has taken Negroes for granted in its haste to 'get a check from big business officials'; does not keep pace with the local branches in other cities, is "way behind labor and the masses of Negro workers in their fight for jobs."

IN AN addenda to his annual report, Mr. Granger expressed "deep regret" over the news story. He called it a "most deplorable attempt . . . by one person to sabotage the reputation of the Urban League movement by smearing the reputations of its chosen leaders."

"The interview itself is not important, for those who know the Urban League and believe in our program would immediately discount statements such as this as the malicious work of sick-minded individuals. What is important is that we remember that neither the Communist party nor Fascists nor McCarthy has any monopoly on the smear technique."

In the news story, Mr. Brown suggested that other board members who sided with him are Federal Judge Irvin Mollison, Dr. Kenneth Clarke, Dr. John Mosely and Dr. George Cannon.

AT THE meeting Dr. Clarke stated that he wanted "to disassociate myself from that article and that approach," although he expressed grave concern with the action of the nominating committee. He added, "I believe that I also speak for Dr. John Mosely."

Judge Mollison and Magistrate Hobson Reynolds, also a board member, traded bitter words over a point of order during the meeting.

Strong words in defense of Mr. Brown were also heard from Frank Evans of Cleveland, a UAW member. Mr. Evans, it developed during the course of the meeting, was not a member of the National Urban League but of his local branch. Mr. Granger moved to admit Mr. Evans to national membership by unanimous vote.

ONLY SURPRISE in the election of officers was the addition of the name of Judge J. Waites Waring to the board. Mr. Brown had earlier submitted a petition for the nomination of Judge Waring. But the membership voted down the petition and instead voted to add his name to the roster.

Robert W. Dowling was reelected president. New officers elected were Joseph J. Morrow, vice president; Mrs. Beulah T. Whitby, vice president; Thomas G. Young, vice president; Dowdall H. Davis, vice president.

Mrs. Regina Andrews was elected secretary to replace Mr. Brown. Burns Roper was elected treasurer.

New board members are Mrs. Walter Hirsch, H. B. Law, Mrs. Peter Rogaty, Mrs. Harry Steiger and Austin Graves.

Claim U. S. Steel Runs Body Denied By League Heads

NEW YORK—Friends of the National Urban League have expressed concern over recent items carried in an unsigned, syndicated column. The column discussed what it called the "inside affairs" of the Urban League.

In a special statement to the Courier, league officials said: "It is not Urban League policy to reply to slanderous gossip, and so until now no attempt has been made to challenge these scurrilous items."

In the following paragraphs, the Urban League gives answers to several questions raised by newspaper reporters:

(1) Is it true that the Urban League Board is seriously split with dissension over the organization's policy?

"The answer is no. Board of a democratic organization, composed of intelligent and independent-minded people, will exhibit differences of opinion from time to time on various issues. Intelligent people do not allow these differences to prevent their continuing cooperation in the interest of the organization which they support, and this is true of the National Urban League's Board."

* * *

2. Are there plans for a "purge" of dissenting board members?

"The answer is No. Board members are regularly elected for terms of three years. As these terms expire, they may or may not be recommended for re-election, according to the record of their usefulness in the judgment of the board's nominating committee. This committee has made no report on this year's recommendations."

3. Is it true that the United States Steel Corporation is a "heavy contributor to the Urban League"; and, therefore, immune from league pressure?

"Once more the answer is no. U. S. Steel has not contributed to the Urban League, and is not expected to do so in the light of present relationships between the league and the steel company; nor does the league solicit or accept contributions from companies which it is in controversy. For two years the National Urban League has been consistently bringing pressure to bear upon officials of U. S. Steel to establish full and fair use of Negro labor at its Fairless Plant in Bucks County, Pennsylvania. These efforts have already yielded results in the employment recently by the company of its first Negro professional and technical workers: a chemist and a business assistant, both of whom were referred and recommended to U. S. Steel by the Urban League. U. S. Steel has interviewed and offered employment to more than a score of Negro applicants screened and referred to the company by the league."

* * *

4. Is the Urban League's industrial relations program "withering away?"

"It it is, this is the healthiest withering process in history. Within the past few months the Commerce and Industry Council, of which Winthrop Rockefeller and Ralph Mason are co-chairmen, has held two history-making conferences on the utilization of manpower in the South. The first meeting brought together nineteen industrial corporations which operate fifty major plants in southern states to discuss the wider use of Negro production and skilled workers in the rapidly expanding southern industry. The second meeting brought together fifteen major oil companies, also to discuss the increased use of Negro workers at skilled jobs in the petroleum industry. League pilot placements have already been made as result of these two conferences. Other meetings are expected to follow."

* * *

5. What is the National Urban League's housing policy?

"Our housing policy is explicitly stated in every spoken and printed announcement on the subject. We seek to remove racial barriers against Negro occupancy of homes, whether rented or purchased. We seek to interest more builders and mortgage companies in the housing market provided by would-be Negro builders and purchasers. We seek to assist Negro families in their plans to rent or purchase decent housing within the limits of their income. To do a top job in this field would require a far larger staff than the league's budget at present will allow. We hope to increase our budget and improve the already promising job that we have begun."

LESTER B. GRANGER

. . . . executive director of the Urban League

* * *

6. Is it true that the National Urban League's president has financial interests which prevent him from going "all-out" in support of Urban League objectives? For instance, what is his connection with U. S. Steel?

"It is emphatically not true. And the Dowling record proves it. Furthermore, Dowling has no financial interest or official connection with U. S. Steel.

"Of course, leaders in such fields as the Urban League, whether they be white or colored, are always subject to attacks from the uninformed, the envious, or the over-suspicious. In the case of Robert W. Dowling, however, such suspicions are particularly unjustified, when one remembers the notorious case of the National Theatre in Washington, D. C., which closed down some years ago rather than admit Negro patrons to its legitimate theatre productions.

"It was Robert Dowling, who had just accepted the league's presidency, who headed a group of businessmen to buy the theatre and reopen it for the benefit of all the people regardless of race, color or creed. Those who attended the first dramatically successful performance of the new theatre, or who witnessed the colored and white audience as it appeared on television, will never forget the lesson in decent Americanism that was taught through the leadership of the president of the National Urban League."

* * *

The Urban League statement continues:

"It is obvious that suspicious questions can be asked indefinitely. This statement does not attempt to dispose of every gossip allegation that might be made. It is intended to expose the dishonesty of the anonymously inspired rumors, and to point out that these are actually aimed at weakening the usefulness of an organization which has served the Negro population and the American democracy for more than forty-three years.

"Those hundreds of thousands of Negro workers who have received jobs through Urban League auspices; those many hundreds of thousands of young Negroes who have been aided in choosing their careers; the tens of thousands of families who have been helped to find better homes and better health; and the millions of white and colored Americans who understand each other better and their common responsibilities to each other more clearly—all these know what the Urban League stands for and how well it discharges its responsibility."

Plan Workshop On Secretarial Jobs

NEW YORK — Five workshop sessions which have been set up to delve into the realm of secretarial work and its potentialities for the aspiring student, the job seeker, and the experienced worker, will highlight the activities of the one-day Secretarial Clinic to be sponsored by the National Urban League's Administrative and Clerical Council on Saturday, June 5, at the Sarah Lawrence college, Bronxville, N. Y.

Each workshop will touch upon a different topic which has been unravelled from the general clinic theme, "What Is My Goal in the Secretarial Field?" Clinic participants will hear discussion leaders speak on "Secretarial Work as a Career", "How Do I Go About Getting a Job?" "How to Advance on the Job or Get a Better One?", "Am I Good Secretarial Material?", and "Where Can A Secretarial Job Lead?"

The clinic's workshop leaders and consultants will be prominent secretaries and personnel directors representing business, social service and government agencies, schools, and trade unions.

Urban League finds work for 10,625

Year-end report reveals housing, employment gains

NEW YORK — Colored workers found 10,625 jobs during 1953 through Urban League employment and welfare activities in 47 cities, the National Urban League reported last week, after an inventory of the work of its 60 locals.

The report included 274 new job openings with employers who had not previously hired colored workers.

These new jobs, described by the National Urban League as "pilot placements", included a wide range of skills, such as chemists, machinists, accountants, linotypists, toolmakers, and electronic engineers.

First Placements

"First placements" were also made of colored firemen in several cities; bus and street - car drivers in others, and office workers in a wide spread of financial, commercial and retail businesses.

This emphasis on the new jobs not previously held by colored workers, Lester B. Granger, the League's national executive director explained, has meant a reduction of Urban League general employment office services.

"We can see our way clear within the next few years to stepping out of general placement and leaving this job for the public employment services entirely. This will allow us to concentrate all of our employment resources on making new openings in new jobs."

Leading Cities

High on the list of local Urban Leagues making reports were: Chicago with 2,828 jobs; Milwaukee, 2,124, and New York, 1034.

League - sponsored manpower utilization conferences to widen employment opoprtunities for colored workers were held in Akron and Dayton, Ohio, Pittsburgh and New York.

Top management and organized labor leadership teamed with Urban League staff to explore plans for fuller integration of colored workers at all levels of skills and to upgrade those presently employed.

Housing Big Bottleneck

The League also issued an eight - page, year - end report pointing up the year's achievements in housing, research, community organization, employment, vocational guidance and general race relations.

This report reveals that mortgage financing for the supply of private housing for colored occupancy is one of the most challenging obstacles.

To meet this challenge the League has worked closely with important mortgage financing agencies, private and public, throughout the nation.

Urban League field staff from national headquarters travelled 190,000 miles across the nation during the year to provide consultant services in race relations to 215 cities and 35 states, the year - end report states.

Joins Urban League staff

Washington takes post on January 1

NEW YORK — Dr. Forrester B. Washington, retiring director of the Atlanta School of Social Work, Ga., joined the national headquarters staff of the Urban League on Jan. 1, according to Robert W. Dowling, president of the interracial social service organization.

F. Washington

Dr. Washington will serve as the league's consultant on program development. He brings to this new position a rich experience and background as an educator and social welfare administrator. He has served as consultant to a number of federal, state and municipal agencies.

At Atlanta Since 1927

He has been at his present Atlanta post since 1927. Before this, he was executive of the Detroit Urban League, 1916-18; supervisor of economics in the U. S. Department of Labor, 1918-19; and director of the Research Bureau, Detroit Associated Charities, 1920-23.

A former vice - president of the National Conference of Social Work, board member of the Atlanta Urban League and a former vice - president of the Georgia Committee on Interracial Co-operation, Dr. Washington is the author of numerous articles and books on the field of social welfare.

Dr. Washington is a graduate of Tufts college and the Columbia university school of social work. He received an honorary degree from Morehouse college in 1943 for "distinguished services" in the fields of social welfare and education.

Urban Group Asks Details On Non-Bias Policy Gains

The Washington Urban League has asked Commissioner Samuel Spencer for details on the progress of the racial non-discrimination policy announced effective in municipal government last November.

In a letter disclosed yesterday, league official, George W. Snowden, asked particularly for data on the number of Negroes hired by the District, the job levels at which employed and what plans, if any, the city heads have to check on compliance with the non-discrimination order.

Dr. Snowden expressed surprise that only a handful of government agencies have submitted integration progress to date, when all were to have checked in by January 25.

10,625 NEGROES PLACED IN JOBS, URBAN LEAGUE REPORTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 — Negro workers found 10,625 jobs during 1953 through Urban League employment and welfare activities in 47 cities, the national Urban League reported this week, after an inventory of the work of its 60 locals. The report included 274 new jobs openings with employers who had not previously hired Negroes.

These new jobs, described by the National Urban League as "pilot placements," included a wide range of skills, such as chemists, machinists, accountants, linotypist, toolmakers, electronic engineers. First placement were also made of Negro firemen in several cities, bus and street car drivers in others, and office workers in a wide spread of financial, commercial and retail businesses.

This emphasis on the new jobs not previously held by Negroes Lester B. Granger, the League's National Executive Director explained, has meant a reduction of Urban League general employment services. "We can see our way clear within the next few years to stepping out of general placement and leaving this job for the public employment services entirely. This will allow us to concentrate all of our employment resources on making new openings for Negroes in new jobs," Mr. Granger said.

High on the list of local Urban Leagues making reports were Chicago with 2,828 jobs; Milwaukee 2,124; and New York, 1,034.

League sponsored manpower utilization conferences to widen employment opportunities for Negroe workers were held in Akron and Dayton, Ohio, Pittsburg and New York. Top management and organized labor leadership teamed with Urban League officials in working out plans for the employment of Negro labors in all levels, skills and to upgrade Negroes now in their present work force. A number of significant changes are cited, as a result of this program in these three cities.

PROGRESS IS NOTED IN ANTI-BIAS FIGHT

At Urban League Fete Here, Wagner and Others Stress Cooperation of Social Units

TWO AWARDS PRESENTED

International Harvester and Baltimore Publisher Cited for Interracial Programs

The Mayor of New York, a Southern editor, an executive of a big corporation with plants in the South and officials of the National Urban League agreed last night that progress was being made in the United States toward the solution of racial problems.

Stress was laid on the cooperation of social groups in achieving this progress, despite Communist propaganda that racial problems are insoluble except by totalitarian methods.

Speaking at the league's fourth annual dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Mayor Wagner cited many years of progress by the city in improving conditions for Negroes in housing, hospitals, education and employment.

He told 2,000 white and Negro members of the league—a forty-three-year-old organization devoted to equal opportunity—that they could expect further progress here in dispelling "the terrible notion of second-class citizenship and the irreverent dictrine of race superiority." The Mayor is a member of the Urban League of Greater New York.

The Mayor pledged his Administration to treat Puerto Ricans with understanding, patience and tolerance. He also promised a long-range school building and reconstruction program based on equal opportunity for all groups and all parts of the city, "no matter what the cost and no matter how great the burden."

He said Administration departments were making block-by-block inspections of buildings in

"depressed and segregated" areas, and that Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh would deal severely with housing law violations.

Jonathan Daniels, editor of The Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer, said he could report progress in the South, though in the spirit of a man who "rejoices" but is often "dismayed as well."

"Bitterness remains and slums —but in New York as well as in North Carolina," he said.

He predicted that the coming decision of the United States Supreme Court on segregation in the public schools would be accepted by both races with goodwill, whatever it might be and however sweeping it might be.

"Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia will not get out his militia to resist the declared law of the land," Mr. Daniels declared. "Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina will not en dpublic education in the South."

Dowling Presents Award

Robert W. Dowling, president of the league and of the City Investing Company, presented the league's annual American Teamwork Award to Ivan L. Willis of Chicago, vice president in charge of personnel of the International Harvester Company, for the concern's "industrial statesmanship" in maintaining equal employment opportunities for Negroes in its Southern plants.

Mr. Willis, responding, said the significance of the award was that it symbolied progress made in the United States through the cooperation of industry, the Government and private groups such as the league.

He warned that "time is running out" for the removal of racial discrimination, in view of Communist propaganda that "makes a mockery of our ability to eliminate prejudice." The nation will be the loser, he said, if the Negro does not receive an opportunity to earn a living in keeping with his intelligence, education, skill and ambition.

Lester B. Granger, the league's executive director, presented another American teamwork award to Carl Murphy of Baltimore, president of the Afro-American Newspaper Company and of the National Newspaper Publishers Association, for the effective work of the Negro press in struggling for equality and freedom.

Mr. Murphy, accepting the award, said the Negro press was seeking to eliminate "the ugly crime of racial discrimination and segregation for the common good of the people of America."

Harry L. Alston, director of the league's southern field division, said it would not be honest to report either encouraging progress or little or no progress in the South. "The truth is to be found between these extremes," he asserted.

Mrs. Cernoria D. Johnson, the league's executive secretary at Oklahoma City, reported the climate in racial relations there had changed for the better.

Urban League Cites 1953 Gains Made By Labor In Race Relations

NEW YORK, N. Y.

The last two decades which have seen the rise and fall of Hitlerism, and now the challenge of Communism, have also seen the rise of the Negro's position in U. S. labor. During the last 10 years, at the least, Negroes have experienced greater economic progress than in any other period in the history of our country.

Manufacturers, advertisers and merchandisers are now aiming their sights at a great ten million dollar Negro market; meaning, they are earning more, spending more and living better.

According to a special study prepared by Trade Union Committee of the Nationl Urban League, released recently, significant progress was made in the 1953 labor movement in the fight for human rights on the job — rights which can be reasonably responsible for this progress in labor.

These changes were:

1. The Brewery Workers of New York opened membership to Negroes.

2. Public transit systems were opened for Negroes in Baltimore, Indianapolis, Portland, Oregon and St. Louis.

3. All local machinists unions in St. Louis dropped race bars to admit Negroes, thus reversing the traditional position of the union since its establishment in Atlanta, Ga., in 1888.

4. The Railroad Brotherhoods in New York dropped their opposition to Fair Employment Practices and are now admitting Negroes to membership and to job opportunities on the railroads.

5. The Jewish Labor Committee, in a recent survey, found that the membership of unions which still practiced discrimination has been reduced from 18.7 percent to less than four percent in the last ten years.

5. Urban League speakers addressed the annual conventions of a number of state labor organizations, including the AF of L federations in Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, South Carolina, Tennessee and Washington, and the CIO in Maryland and New Jersey.

But still, cited the Urban League reports a significant number of local unions continue to discriminate against Negroes in important trades and industries. . .It is difficult, and, in many cases impossible, for a Negro to enroll in apprenticeship programs through which most masons, electricians, carpenters, plumbers, printers, engravers and other skilled workers are trained.

In Washington, D. C., and Baltimore, the communication workers in the telephone industry are ailing to come to grips with the problem of discrimination. In the great Atomic Energy Projects of the federal government at Savannah River, Paducah and Pike County, Ohio, Negroes are given jobs as laborers, and to a very limited degree, as craftsmen in some of the building crafts.

Secretarial clinic at Sarah Lawrence in June

Afro-American

NEW YORK — The administrative and clerical council of the National Urban League will sponsor its second annual secretarial clinic at Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N.Y., on Saturday, June 5.

Baltimore, Md.

"What Is Your Goal in the Secretarial Field?" is the theme of the all-day clinic which starts at 10 a.m. and ends at 4:30 p.m. ers. She will speak on the inti-

Miss Mary E. Campbell, personnel director, Conde Nast Publications and job editor of Glamour Magazine, will be the principal speaker.

Sat. 4-24-54

Miss Campbell, who is herself a former secretary, has written career articles, conducted job seminars and given vocational guidance to students and work-mate and perplexing problems confronting secretarial and administative workers.

Fashion Show Scheduled

A career - girl fashion show featuring the Barbara Watson models will be another high ight of this all-day secretarial clinic. This feature will be geared to point up the importance of good grooming and personality traits so essential to the development of a good secretary. P. 10

Carrying through on the combination — business - pleasure idea, the clinic committee plans to have a box luncheon, with each registrant bringing her own lunch. Free refreshments will be provided.

Mrs. Olive L. Samuel is chairman of the Secretarial Clinic Committee. The members, all National Urban League employees, are: Enid C. Baird, Sallie M. Branch, Mary E. Finger, Mildred Hall, Marion Morrell, and Carmen Seguinot.

Urban League Opens 1954 Campaign for 5,000 New Members

The Washington Urban League's 1954 membership campaign opened last night with a kick-off meeting in Plymouth Congregational Church, Seventeenth and P streets N.W.

A goal of 5,000 new members was announced. Senator Payne, Republican, of Maine, honorary co-chairman of the campaign, sent a message:

"I have come to realize how important, in this disenfranchised community, are the organizations such as the Washington Urban League," he said.

"I come from the Northeast region, where the town meeting concept predominates—the idea of citizens getting together and exchanging views and voting either directly or indirectly on issues.

P. 23 A

Howard President Speaks.

"It seems to me the Washington Urban League is much akin to what a town meeting is and what a town meeting accomplishes for both its citizens and the community."

Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, president of Howard University and co-chairman with Senator Payne, also spoke. He urged community support of the league and its work. It is an interracial social welfare agency, and since 1938 has worked toward the goal of equal opportunity in housing, jobs, recreation and related services.

Dr. Johnson stressed the importance of the league's work, particularly in opening employment opportunities for Negroes.

Dr. Caroline F. Ware, league president, introduced Lisle C. Carter, jr., its new executive secretary.

Groups Back Drive.

It was announced that Dr. Frederick Reissig, executive director of the Washington Federation of Churches, has given his indorsement to the drive, as has the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance. The latter group has recommended to its members that this Sunday be set aside in the churches as Urban League Day. Also declaring his full interest and the support of his congregation was the Rev. Jefferson P. Rogers, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church.

Mrs. Dorothy Fax, campaign director, explained its plan and distributed work kits to membership solicitors. They will make their first report next Wednesday in the Howard University School of Social Work.

LESTER B. GRANGER SAYS

Many 'Emotionally Unqualified' To Direct Urban League Program

NEW YORK—(SNS)— Lester B. Granger, executive secretary of the National Urban League, told the International Conference of Social Work in Toronto, Canada, this week that many persons are "emotionally unqualified" to help direct the program of the League, which he described as "professional social work operation" in a delicate field.

His statement is significant in view of the recent resignation of two Negro members of the board of directors of the 44-year-old organization and the failure of the board to re-elect a third Negro member. Granger said the tendered resignations will be accepted at the July 22 board meeting.

Judge Irvin C. Mollison of the United States Customs Court and Dr. George D. Cannon, Harlem physician, joined in their resignations during a row over policy. The board failed to re-elect Theodore E. Brown, research director of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, as secretary of the board.

Mollison charged that the League "has no program of any consequence or any real benefit to Negroes." He said it had refused to cooperate with the NAACP and other organizations and had failed to act effectively against housing discrimination. He further charged that the organization had desired "rubber stamps" for Granger.

Cannon said in his letter of resignation that the League was too cautious, failed to support efforts for Negro advancement and took credit for things with which it had little or nothing to do. He declared that the organization's housing program is "a waste of time."

He believes that "only legislation, which the League is against, coupled with militant action, can crack the barrier."

Brown said he never had been given any reason by the board for its failure to renominate him as secretary. He asserted that he refused to be "a rubber stamp" and spoke up for "definite ideas" from a trade unionist viewpoint.

Granger said the League is a 'social service tax-exempt organization' that cannot "legally lobby" for legislation. He stated that the organization had protested publicly in the housing cases.

He said League achievements include improvements of Negro job opportunities, vocational guidance and liberalizing of government policies in public employment services, housing agencies and the armed forces.

Mollison Quits Urban League Post

Judge Irvin C. Mollison, of the United States Customs Court, announced yesterday his resignation from the board of trustees of the National Urban League because, he charged, the League has failed "to combat openly and forthrightly" discrimination against Negroes and "has no program of any consequence or any real benefit to Negroes."

Judge Mollison, who in 1945 became the first Negro appointed to the Federal bench in the continental United States, released a letter of resignation he had written to Robert W. Dowling, president of the League. The letter was sharply critical of the League's policies and organizational structure.

Says League Is Out of Touch

It asserted, "The League, its officers and its staff are completely out of touch with Negroes and their desires to participate as full fledged American citizens in our American democracy. The National Urban League has failed to meet the challenge of the times in the important areas of housing, employment and education."

Judge Mollison alleged that the League had "refused to cooperate with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and other reputable organizations in the achievement of worthwhile objectives for the benefit of Negroes generally."

One of his specific charges against the League was that "No effective steps have been taken to protest openly against the housing discrimination practiced against Negroes by Levittown in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, and Long Island, New York, or by Fairless Hills Village in Bucks County, or by the insurance-company-owned housing projects in New York City." The League "has failed to manifest any real and genuine interest in the education of Negro pupils and students upon an equal and non-discriminatory basis," he said.

Assails "Detachment"

Judge Mollison alleged that "one fundamental cause of the lack of a program" was the "detachment and isolation" of the League's trustees from Negroes generally. He said the League was hampered by "undemocratic, arbitrary and autocratic election procedures" and by "oligarchic governmental structure which permits one man rule and domination." The Board of Trustees "has not exercised any real control over the program policies of the League," but has allowed itself "to be used as a 'rubber stamp' by the executive director, who has stifled freedom of speech in the board," the judge asserted.

Herald Tribune—United Press

Judge Irvin C. Mollison

The name of the executive director, Lester B. Granger, was not specifically mentioned in the letter.

Mr. Dowling said yesterday he regretted Judge Mollison's resignation and "we wish the Judge well." He declared, "Our program has been good for forty-three years. We believe it is now more effective and getting better results than at any time in history. The board has complete confidence in our executive director, Mr. Grange. There are two ways to do things—the 'artillery fire' method, or through persuasion, education and making friends with people. The latter is our method, but Judge Mollison doesn't agree with us."

He added, "As to being effective with Mr. (William J.) Levitt, of Levittown, I'd like to know who has been effective with him. He has a particular point of view and won't change it."

Courier Editorials

Urban League Attacked

MUTTERINGS and grumblings of dissatisfaction with the administration of the National Urban League and some of its affiliates have been heard off and on for some time, but it remained for such a prominent member of the league's Board of Trustees as Federal Judge Irvin C. Mollison to hurl serious charges against it.

In his letter of resignation addressed to President Robert W. Dowling of the National Urban League last week, Judge Mollison gave a dozen reasons why he could no longer continue as a board member.

He started off with the serious charge that the NUL and its executive have no program of value of benefit to Negroes, are out of touch with Negroes and their desires, and have failed to meet the challenge of the times in housing, employment and education.

The judge insists that the NUL and its staff have refused to cooperate with the NAACP and other organizations seeking to benefit Negroes, and have devised no program to protest openly against and combat discrimination in housing or to pursue vigorously any remedies.

He declared further that the board of trustees is unrepresentative of Negroes and undemocratic, that the NUL is an "oligarchic government structure," and that "in essence and substance the only members of the National Urban League are the members of the board of trustees" which is self-perpetuating.

Moreover, this "oligarchic" board "has not exercised any real control over the program policies of the league; nor . . . active control over the financial affairs of the league. As an entity the board of trustees allows itself to be used as a 'rubber stamp' by the executive director, who has stifled freedom of speech in the board as to policies and program or the lack of program."

In detailing undemocratic practices in his charges, the distinguished jurist contends that at the last annual meetings "nominations could not be made from the floor," and "the annual meeting was packed with all the paid professional and clerical employes of the agency. It seems to me that allowing them to vote for and against the election of board members . . . was not only extraordinary but wholly unprecedented in a social welfare agency."

Simultaneously, another board member, Dr. George D. Cannon of New York City tendered his resignation with vitriolic comments on the league's modern social approach," its alleged over-caution, its interests being allegedly subordinated to those of its prominent executives, and its failure to back any legislative program for the advancement of the Negro.

Apparently masterminding these attacks was Theodore Brown of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters who until recently was the board's secretary and a member.

It would be easy to dismiss these attacks as evidences of a struggle between "leftists" and "rightists," revolutionists and gradualists, democrats and oligarchs, but that would be dishonest because these charges are serious and, to a certain extent true, if not unique.

It has been our observation that the executive staffs of all organizations and institutions, particularly among Negroes, tend toward oligarchy and are prone to take personal credit for whatever accomplishments are made, while blaming failures on "they."

These are human characteristics knowing neither race, color or creed, but while that does not make them acceptable, it does make them understandable.

The same charges were made against the NAACP years ago as to oligarchic set-up, hand-picked board, farcical annual meetings packed with functionaries, and executive self-aggrandizement; and this exposure and criticism led to the initiation of administrative reforms which made for greater democracy and adaptability.

It is entirely probable that these attacks on the National Urban League will bring about similar results which long have been needed.

When all this is said, however, the last word has not been said.

It should be remembered that the National Urban League is not and never was intended to be the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The NUL by nature, intention and scope is not a mass pressure and lobbying organization harassing legislators and concerned with legal defense.

On the contrary, the National Urban League for the past forty-four years has been concerned primarily with the numerous problems of newly urbanized Negroes from lower culture areas, and how to get for them better jobs, better housing and better social services.

It had first to get trained Negro social workers (obtaining scores of scholarships), then interest the employers of labor and union officials, establish connections with various local Community Chests for the support of local Negro welfare institutions, and try to persuade public and private institutions barring Negroes to open their doors.

The National Urban League, then, is not a swashbuckling, epithet-throwing, demagogic, political organization depending upon mass pressure and propaganda but, by its very nature, must rely upon surveys, education, persuasion and the stimulation of goodwill for the Negro both among employers and trade union officials with whom the job-seeking Negro has to deal on a bread-and-butter basis.

Because the NUL is not a mass organization, it is obviously dependent for its income on subventions from those whose goodwill for the Negro it solicits; so criticism of the league's fund-raising efforts on this score is invalid. Even the NAACP could not function as it does on the income it receives from memberships alone.

Each organization and institution has its place and purpose, and the National Urban League with its nearly half-century of social work experience and threescore affiliates from Coast to Coast definitely has its place and is fulfilling its purpose about as well as it can under the circumstances.

Nobody criticizes the Christian church because it has failed to eliminate sin after 2,000 years of effort, or because some of its prominent clerygmen are overly concerned with self-aggrandizement, or because it solicits funds from the public instead of waiting for the Lord to provide them.

On the other hand, we can see no reason why the National Urban League in this day and time should not be administered with an eye to broadening the base of its public support and association; and to this end an attack now and then can have a salutory effect.

SEGREGATION END IN HOUSING URGED

National Urban League Calls 'Ghetto' Pattern Threat to School Integration

By WILLIAM G. WEART

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9—Unless the "ghetto" pattern of segregated housing is eradicated school integration may be defeated, the National Urban League warned this afternoon in a resolution passed at its forty-fourth annual conference.

The resolution, adopted by the trustees of the inter-racial organization, asserted that segregation could not be practiced lawfully anywhere because it was "wrong and inimical to freedom", as well as a "blight and stain on the American way of life."

The trustees, headed by Robert W. Dowling of New York, called for sober evaluation of the recent Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation and stressed that social patterns were not changed by court decrees.

Action Now Demanded

Despite the magnitude of the problem, it is imperative that integration in the public schools begin now, and proceed everywhere as rapidly as possible, the resolution declared.

To this end, it added, "we suggest that officials, national and local, particularly members of school boards, consider the assignment and transfer of public school teachers in the spirit of the Supreme Court decision.

Dr. Channing T. Tobias of New York, chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, called for speeding the progressive movement toward a single standard of citizenship in life in the United States.

The subject of his address, "Building for Tomorrow's Better Living," is the theme of the five-day meeting attended by delegates from fifty-two cities in some thirty states.

At the conference dinner this evening, Dr. Tobias and three others received awards for service to the cause of better race relations. Mrs. Beulah T. Whitby of Detroit, a vice president of the National Urban League, made the presentations.

Others Receiving Awards

The others honored were Albert M. Greenfield, Philadelphia industrialist and civic leader; Boyd L. Wilson, Pittsburgh trade union leader, and O. Parker McComas of New York, industrialist and pioneer in industrial race relations.

Dr. Tobias told the gathering that if there was to be a tomorrow for a world "on fire," America must pave the way to survival and progress by living up to her tradition of freedom.

There can be no compromise on a single standard of citizenship in this country, he declared. This must be brought about rapidly, he said, "through Executive order, through court decision, and through Congressional action on the national level, paralleled by appropriate local and state action."

"That the world is 'still on fire' must be brought home to those who burn the homes of law-abiding citizens whose only sin is that they are physically as God made them," he asserted, "and that they are seeking to improve their living conditions."

Those who perpetrate such crimes, he said, help to burn the foundations that support America's leadership in the free world.

32b 1954

Granger Hits Rumors About Urban League

By LESTER GRANGER
Executive Secretary, National Urban League
(As told to Arnold de Mille)

NEW YORK—Friends of the National Urban League have expressed concern over recent items in an unsigned, syndicated column.

These items professed to discuss "inside" Urban League affairs. They were not carried as legitimate news items, nor was any authority mentioned for their source.

It is Urban League policy not to reply to slanderous gossip, and so until now no attempt has been made to challenge these scurrilous items.

Several members of the working press, however, including two editors of responsible newspapers, have informed me within the last several days that these and other malicious stories regarding the National Urban League's program and leaders are still being sent to them anonymously.

ANSWERS QUESTIONS

The members and contributors of the Urban League, who live in all parts of the country and represent a cross-section of the national population, have a right to all the facts regarding League activity so that they may not be needlessly disturbed by ugly smear attacks upon their organization.

LESTER GRANGER

I, therefore agree to answer the questions which have been put to me by genuinely interested reporters:

1) Is it true that the National Urban League's board is seriously split with dissension over organization policy?

The answer is No. Any board of a democratic organization, composed of intelligent and independent-minded people, will exhibit differences of opinions from time to time on various issues.

Intelligent people do not allow these differences to prevent their continuing cooperation in the interest of the organization which they support, and this is true of the National Urban League's board.

A creditable feature of our board meetings has been the spirited discussion that frequently develops on important issue

NO DISSENSION EXISTS

Only an abnormal personality would interpret these discussions as dissension. Only a dishonest person would deliberately spread rumors of dissension which he knows to be false.

There are 55 members on the National Urban League's board. On practically every question on major policy board votes have been ovrewhelmingly — and frequently unanimously — in favor of the agreed decision.

2) Are there plans for a "purge" of dissenting board members?

The answer is No. Board members are regularly elected for terms of three years. As these terms expire, they may or may not be recommended for reelection, according to the record of their usefulness in the judgment of the board's nominating committee. This committee has made no report on this year's recommendations.

3) Is it true that the United States Steel corporation is a "heavy contributor" to the Urban League; and, therefore, immune from League pressure?

Once more the answer is No. U.S. Steel has not contributed to the Urban League, and is not expected to do so in light of present relationships between the League and the steel company.

NO U.S. STEEL MONEY

Nor does the League solicit or accept contributions from companies with which it is in controversy.

For two years the National Urban League has been consistently bringing pressure to bear upon officials of U. S. Steel to establish full and fair use of Negro labor at its Fairless Plant in Bucks County, Pennsylvania.

These efforts have already yielded results in the employment recently by the company of its first Negro professional and technical workers, a chemist and a business assistant, both of whom were referred and recommended to U.S. Steel by the Urban League.

4) Is the Urban League's industrial relations program "withering away"?

If it is, this is the healthiest withering process in history. Within the past few months the Commerce and Industry Council, of which Winthrop Rockefeller and Ralph Mason are co-chairmen, has held two history-making conferences on the utilization of manpower in the South.

The first meeting brought together 19 industrial corporations which operate 50 major plants in southern states to discuss the wider use of Negro production and skilled workers in the rapidly expanding southern industry.

SEEKING MORE JOBS

The second meeting brought together 15 major oil companies, also to discuss the increased use of Negro workers at skilled jobs in the petroleum industry.

The Council is gathering strength with experience, and at the present moment is completing plans for organized labor-Urban League cooperation in the effort to widen job opportunities for Negro workers in the expanding industrial plant development in the South.

5) What is the National Urban League's housing policy?

Our housing policy is explicitly stated in every spoken and printed announcement on the subject

FIGHT RACIAL BARRIERS

We seek to remove racial barriers against Negro occupancy of homes, whether rented or purchased. We also interest more builders and mortgage companies in the housing market provided by would-be Negro builders and purchasers.

We seek to assist Negro families in their plans to rent or purchase decent housing within the limits of their income.

6) Is it true that the National Urban League's president has financial interests which prevent him from going "all-out" in support of Urban League objectives? For instance, what is his connection with U.S. Steel?

It is emphatically not true. And Robert Dowling's record proves it. Furthermore, Dowling has no financial interest or official connection with U.S. Steel.

Of course, leaders in such fields as the Urban League, whether they be white or colored, are always subject to attacks from the uninformed, the envious, or the over-suspicious.

In the case of Robert W. Dowling, however, such suspicions are particularly unjustified, when one remembers the notorious case of the National Theatre in Washington, D. C., which closed down some years ago rather than admit Negro patrons to its legitimate theatre productions.

It was Dowling, who had just accepted the League's presidency, who headed a group of businessmen to buy the theatre and reopen it for the benefit of all the people regardless of race, color or creed.

THE LEAGUE'S RECORD

It is obvious that suspicious questions can be asked indefinitely. The answers here do not attempt to dispose of every gossip allegation that might be made.

They are intended to expose the dishonesty of the anonymously-inspired rumors, and to point out that these are actually aimed at weakening the usefulness of an organization which has served the Negro population and the American democracy for more than 43 years.

H. A. Boyd, II Takes Position In San Diego, Calif.

A very popular former Nashvillian, in the person of H. A. Boyd, II, named for his distinguished uncle Dr. Henry Allen Boyd, was in Nashville the past week, visiting his mother, Mrs. Mayme Boyd Howard, 1502 14th Avenue, North.

Mr. Boyd, a graduate of Tuskegee Institute and Fisk University, has, since he went to New York City, received his Master's Degree at Columbia and is studying for his Doctorate at New York University, the largest such educational institution in the United States.

He has had a position in the State Labor Department of New York but more recently has been appointed to the position of Industrial Secretary of the Urban League in San Diego, California, to which City he went by airplane early this week.

URBAN LEAGUE GUILD ORGANIZED IN PITTSBURGH.—A group of 50 representatives of the social and civic groups of Pittsburgh, Pa., organized a local chapter of the Urban League Guild recently at the Hotel Pittsburgher. Mrs. Mollie Moon of New York City, founder and president of the National Urban League Guild and now organizer for the National Council of Guilds, was present to describe the organization's operations in New York and the 28 other cities where it works to support and interpret the Urban League program. In the picture above, Alexander J. Allen, Urban League executive director in Pittsburgh, congratulates officers of the newly-organized guild. Left to right: Miss Doris Handy, recording secretary; Mrs. Toki Shalk Johnson, president; Mrs. Mollie Moon, national organizer; Mr. Allen; Mrs. Orlean C. Ricco, chairman of the League Board's exploratory committee; and Mrs. Victoria C. Hargon, corresponding secretary.

League Guild in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — Meeting for luncheon and cocktails at Hotel Pittsburgher, recently a group of 50 women organized a local chapter of the Urban League Guild.

Mrs. Mollie Moon of New York City, founder and president of the National Urban League Guild, and now organizer for the National Council of Guilds, was present to describe the organization's operations in New York and the 28 other cities where it works to support and interpret the Urban League program.

Gathered at the call of a committee headed by Mrs. Orlean Collins Ricco and composed of the women members of the Pittsburgh Urban League's executive board, the group elected the following temporary officers:

President, Mrs. Toki S. Johnson; recording secretary, Miss Doris Handy and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Victoria C. Hargon.

Officers of the National Council of Urban League Guilds are:

President, Mrs. Lillian Balenger, St. Paul, Minn.; vice president, Mrs. Mary Alice Wilcox, Grand Rapids, Mich.; secretary, Miss Eleanor Florence, Cleveland, Ohio; financial secretary, Mrs. Ruth Thomas, Milwaukee, Wis.; treasurer, Mrs. Rose Butler, Milwaukee; and director of public relations, Mrs. Mollie Moon, New York City.

2 MORE QUIT URBAN LEAGUE

Judge Mollison, Dr. Geo. Cannon Rap 'UL' Policy

NEW YORK—Bitterly criticizing the National Urban League for having "no program of any consequence or any real benefit to Negroes," Federal Judge Irvin C. Mollison and Dr. George D. Cannon last week resigned from the board of directors of the national body, close behind the June 10 annual meeting.

The resignations came on the heels of the ouster of Theodore E. Brown as secretary of the board of trustees.

Mr. Brown had charged that he was ousted because he was not willing to be a "rubber stamp" for executive director Lester Granger and other board members.

IN A LETTER to Robert W. Dowling, president of the National Urban League, Judge Mollison wrote that the "National Urban League has no program of any consequence or any real benefit to Negroes.

"The league, its officers and its staff are completely out of touch with Negroes and their desires to participate as full-fledged American citizens in our American democracy.

"The National League has failed to meet the challenge of the times in the important areas of housing, employment and education."

JUDGE MOLLISON'S letter stated in part:

"The National Urban League and its executive staff have refused to cooperate with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and other reputable organizations in the achievement and fulfillment of worthwhile objectives for the benefit of Negroes generally.

"No programs have been devised to combat openly and forthrightly discrimination in housing against Negroes.

"No effective steps have been taken to protest openly against the housing discrimination practiced against Negroes by Levittown in Bucks County, Pennsylvania and Long Island, New York, or by Fairless Hills Village in Bucks County, or by the insurance-company-owned housing projects in New York City.

"The league has likewise failed to pursue with vigor all remedies available to it in connection with employment discrimination against Negroes in Bucks County.

JUDGE I. C. MOLLISON
"the board is unrepresentative"

DR. GEORGE CANNON
"the world is moving at a faster pace"

"Moreover for years the league has failed to manifest any real and genuine interest in the education of Negro pupils and students upon an equal and non-discriminatory basis.

* * *

"ONE FUNDAMENTAL cause of the lack of a program of benefit and value to Negroes is the detachment and isolation of the board of trustees as a board from Negroes generally and the membership of the local leagues.

"The board of trustees is unrepresentative not only of Negroes generally but also of the local league membership; as a consequence it is not responsive to the needs of Negroes whom the organization is supposed to serve.

"Happenings at the annual meeting of the National Urban League on June 10, have brought into sharp focus not only the undemocratic, arbitrary and autocratic election procedures of the league but also the oligarchic governmental structure which permits one man rule and domination.

"The National Urban League constitution and by-laws do not provide that members of the local Urban Leagues by virtue of local league membership are members of the National Urban League.

"The NUL constitution merely provides that a person who contributes money in a certain stated amount is a member. However, something further must be done before a contributor can constitutionally become a member — the contributor must be selected and recommended by the Membership Committee of the NUL and thereafter elected by the board of trustees.

* * *

"ALTHOUGH THERE are many fine and sincere board members, the board of trustees as a board has not exercised any real control over the program policies of the league; nor has the board exercised active control over the financial affairs of the league.

"As an entity the board of trustees allows itself to be used as a "rubber stamp" by the executive director, who has stifled freedom of speech in th board as to policies and program or the lack of program.

"And, moreover, the board of trustees has allowed the so-called Urban League Fund to usurp the authority of the board over program and financial affairs and thus make all the real policy decisions for the league.

"At the annual meeting I noticed with considerable regret the ruling of the chair that only the names of those contained in the nominating committee's report could be voted on, and that nominations could not be made from the floor.

"I regarded with dismay the efforts of two staff members to prevent the nomination made by petition signed by five board members from being voted on by the body.

* * *

"I OBSERVED that the annual meeting was packed with all the paid professional and clerical employes of the agency. It seems to me that allowing them to vote for and against the election of board members, as was done at the annual meeting, was not only extraordinary but wholly unprecedented in a social welfare agency.

"The matters set forth above are some of the reasons which have brought me to the decision that I can no longer serve as a board member. I, therefore, submit my resignation as a member of the board of trustees of the National Urban League effective immediately."

In an equally vitriolic letter to Mr. Dowling, Dr. Cannon charged that the league's "moderate social work approach, as it is called by its leaders, is in reality so cautious and so slow in action that the world itself is moving toward brotherhood at a faster pace.

* * *

DR. CANNON asserted further:

"There is thus a false sense of accomplishment since everything that the Urban League claims as an achievement is not really due to the Urban League.

"The policy of not initiating legislative action was understood when membership on the board was accepted.

"I did then and do now recognize that some objectives can be obtained by other than militant means. However, the over-cautious policy of not giving support by statements or participation in conferences (other than as an occasional "observer") where programs for Negro advancement are being formalized, processed, or activated, is a criticism that has more than once been discussed in board meetings.

"Nothing has been done to correct this reluctance to put the organization into the vanguard for Negro advancement.

* * *

"THERE IS A practice of the league, which has caused me concern, of giving the league credit for things that have been done not as an official action of the league but in which someone connected with the league had an incidental although sometimes very slight connection.

"To me this is overstretching a point in seeking things to be listed as accomplishments.

"The actual turning down of the candidacy of one of America's great jurists as a board member, only to have a last moment reversal of policy, was indicative of the general trend of thought of the board. To me it clearly implied that he was evidently too radical because he has proven beyond doubt his belief in true equality.

* * *

"THE PROGRAM of the National Urban League in housing is a waste of time. As head of the league by coincidence you happen to be among the most influential individuals in the real estate field in America.

"You know the gentlemen's agreement of the real estate interests in regard to Negro tenancy. You, therefore, know that nothing can be accomplished by such cautious action as that of the Urban League in dealing with the parties involved.

"Only legislation, which the league is against, coupled with militant action can crack the barrier. It is clearly not a field for the league with its present policy.

"Personally I would be greatly interested to know how many board members really would welcome a Negro of comparable character and standing to be their next door neighbor.

"All expressions in board meetings about housing have been in the abstract or concerning a distant field.

"Due to these differences, I am clearly not with the board of directors in spirit. I, therefore, cannot continue my membership and hereby submit my resignation to take place immediately."

HORTENSE ALLEN of Washington, D. C., is newly-appointed director of vocational and guidance services of the Columbus, Ohio, Urban League. Wife of Dr. Griffin M. Allen of Cleveland, Mrs. Allen is a member of the National Vocational Guidance Association and the American Association of University Women. She has had wide experience in the field of vocational guidance

Attorney predicts death of prejudice

Afro-American p. 5

Sat. 11-27-54

Robert L. Carter is Brooklyn Urban League dinner speaker

BROOKLYN, N.Y. — When Americans are able to convince themselves that the only difference between colored and white people is in their environment and not in their skin, all the "manifestations of prejudice will disappear, not in time, but at once."

Baltimore, Md.

This was the statement Robert L. Carter, NAACP special counsel, gave to the 38th annual dinner of the Brooklyn Urban League at St. George Hotel Monday.

Mr. Carter, one of the NAACP lawyers in the celebrated school cases, told the New Yorkers that racial discrimination is "no southern problem."

"In New York and Brooklyn there are many areas where members of the colored race cannot obtain housing," he said. "There are areas of employment where no colored person is welcomed despite the New York anti-discrimination law.

* * *

THE NAACP lawyer, who flew here from Washington where he was arguing a case before the Supreme Court, said it is "surprising" that so few people are willing to believe that environment is the only difference between colored and white people.

He added, "It is a fact we must face. We must try to sell this notion everywhere. We must try to apply it in our conduct and seek its application in every aspect of American life.

"For with the acceptance of this belief," Mr. Carter concluded, "the manifestations of prejudice will disappear, not in time, but at once."

* * *

MANY OF Brooklyn's most noted civic workers were on hand as Mr. Carter made his address.

Among those present were Mrs. Daphne Shepard, Thomas A. Scorth, publisher; Douglas L. James, Mrs. Glenora Watkins, the Rev. Robert R. Johnson, Rabbi Harry Halpern, Dr. John B. King, Charles Kellar;

Dr. Gardner C. Taylor, Miss Margaret Reed, Bernard Reswick, George Meares, Mrs. Catherine Alexander, Edward S. Baker, Mrs. Nathan L. Burnett and William M. Chisolm.

The league made awards to the Brooklyn chapters of the Anti Defamation League and B'nai Birth. The awards were presented by Mrs. Catherine Alexander, first vice president of the Urban League.

Dr. Taylor, chairman of the league's advisory committee, also spoke. Mr. Meares, probation officer, was toastmaster and Miss Margaret Reed, general chairman of the $7.50-a - plate dinner. Nathan L. Burnett is branch secretary.

32b 1954

NATIONAL YOUTH LEGISLATIVE CONFERENCE

DR. WILLIAM E. HALE, chief of the Department of Social Science at Clark college Atlanta, will be a principal speaker at the National Youth Legislative conference of the NAACP at Howard university, Washington, D. C., Jan. 29-31.

20 West 40th street New York 18, N. Y., Mr. Wright announced.

Nixon To Address NAACP Youth Body

NEW YORK—Vice President Richard Nixon will be the principal speaker at the closing session of a four-day national youth legislative conference in Washington, Jan. 28-31, Herbert L. Wright, youth secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, announced here.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Walter White, NAACP executive secretary; Harold Stassen, director, Foreign Operations Administration; and Gen. Telford Taylor are among other national leaders scheduled to address the NAACP-sponsored conference to be held on the campus of Howard University.

* * *

MORE THAN 500 young people from colleges and communities in all sections of the country are expected to attend the conference.

Applications for registration at the conference are being received at NAACP headquarters.

Afro American

INSTALL OFFICERS—Members of Region No. 2 of the Nationwide Hotel Association, Inc., met recently at the New Dunbar Hotel in Washington, D.C. to install officers and make plans for improving services during 1955. Left to right are: Theodore R. Hagans, host, general manager, New Dunbar Hotel; Dykes A. Brookins, national president, NHA, Rio Plaza Hotels, Newark, N.J.; Mrs. Naomi Brookins, secretary, Newark; Charles M. Flagg, president Region No. 2, The Charles Hotel, Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Mae McCracken, first vice president, Region No. 2, Hotel McCracken, Atlantic City, N.J.; Earl Towles, treasurer, Towles Tourist Homes, Washington. Standing: Andrew F. Jackson, Washington, D.C.; J. Henry Johnson, Pine Acres Country Club, West Pleasantville, N.J.; Mrs. Betty Johnson, Pine Acres Country Club, Mrs. Melvina A. Jackson, travel department, AFRO-AMERICAN Newspaper; Alvin Talley, representative R. Mars Contract Company, guest speaker; Miss Adelaide Davis, hostess; Mrs. Ida M. Smith, advertising manager, WASHINGTON AFRO-AMERICAN, S. Laddie Ivy, New Dunbar Hotel; and Mrs. Juanita Walker.

Chicagoan Elected to Serve Second Term by the NFDA

Courier P. 11 Pitts. Pa. Sat. 8-28-54

PHILADELPHIA — Charles Crook of Chicago, president of the Negro Funeral Directors Association, was returned to office at the association's annual convention at the Broadwood Hotel with the officers serving under him.

A group also voted to meet in Detroit next year.

* * *

DISTINGUISHED array of representatives addressed the group. Among them were Theodore O. Spaulding, president of Howard University; Samuel Pace Alexander, president of the Philadelphia and Vicinity Funeral Directors' Association; James A. Morrison, executive director of the Convention and Visitors Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce; Joseph H. Baker, Lewis J. Carter, executive director, Armstrong Association; Judge Herbert E. Millen, Attorney General Truscott.

Committee members: J. R. Weatherly, Alabama; E. M. Baker, Pennsylvania; R. N. Horton, Washington, D. C.; J. M. Johnson, Maryland; E. C. Goosby, Illinois; E. Lopze, Louisiana; Mrs. Frances Keith, Pittsburgh, Pa.; S. L. Stokes, Georgia; Lloyd Shuffield, Texas; W. L. Jarrett, Arkansas.

Board members — Arkansas: W. L. Jarrett, Lacy Kennedy; Alabama: L. W. Stallworth, James R. Weatherly, C. W. Lee; California: J. T. Tate; Washington, D. C.: Frazier Thomas, R. N. Horton: Florida: George P. Coleman, Mrs. F. B. Stone; Georgia: E. A. Pollard, Roscoe Jenkins, Walter Poteat; Illinois: Theodore Hawes, William R. Prowell, Andrew Leak.

Kentucky: W. W. Beckett, Mrs. V. M. Hawkins, William H. Johnson; Louisiana: H. H. King, Ozie W. Pierce, George Lopis, H. D. Wilson, Mrs. E. L. Perius; Maryland: Jesse W. Redden, John M. Johnson; Michigan: R. T. Wilson.

Mississippi: E. W. Banks, J. F. Britteum, Cora Thompson; Missouri: Shirley J. Watson, Mrs. Armelia Jackson; New Jersey, L. Flipping; New York: Turrell Chapman, Malverse H. Mack, E. J. Roberson; North Carolina: Perry J. Brown, C. A. Haywood, Percy Rivera, Mrs. L. H. McLaurin.

Ohio: J. W. Renfro, Harold Williams; Oklahoma: Mrs. Samantha Brown; Pennsylvania: Charles H. Chew Jr., E. M. Baker, Mrs. Francis A. Keith, Walter S. Waters, Mrs. Millicent Hooper; South Carolina: A. P. Williams, S. C. Franks; Tennessee: C. H. Hardwick, T. G. Patton, Mrs. S. W. Quall; Texas: C. J. Clark, R. S. Keatts, Lloyd Sheffield, J. S. White, Mrs. A. Fay Dorsey; Virginia: J. H. Hale, Hughes, James E. Chism, Jacob L. Riddick.

* * *

THE CONVENTION, which was one of the best planned meetings in this city this year, continued with its annual donation of $100 to the NAACP and other projects.

The social side of the program consisted of the banquet, ball, boatride and closed Friday with an outing and motorcade to Morris Beach as the guests of Mrs. Jennie E. Morris and one to the World's Playground, Atlantic City.

In the ballroom were displays of caskets, clothing, organs and chemicals while handsome hearses were parked in the rear of the hotel building for inspection.

here who are interested in what the council is doing.

The 600 delegates represent the official law makers of the council, but the thousands who are here from nearly as many nations as there are delegates are the real sentiment moulders.

We were all proud of the part Dr. Benjamin Mays is playing in the council. He and Bishop W. J. Walls have been members of the central committee since the founding of the World Council in 1948.

Dr. Mays addressed the Plenary Session, Saturday, Aug. 21. He was just as good as ever.

Dr. J. H. Jackson will speak at a session in the First Methodist Church, Thursday, Aug. 26, at 2 P. M. Dr. Jackson has just returned from an important trip to Europe. He will probably tell of his experience of the recent trip.

The Baptists, AME's AMEZ's CME's and a few from the Church of God in Christ are here. We have seen: Dr. Jackson and host of the Baptist brethren. C. L. Carr, T. R. Washington and Luther Cunningham of Philadelphia; G. W. Dudley of Atlanta, Ga.; Owen Pelt, A. P. Jackson and Griffin of Chicago; Roland Smith of Arkansas; Floyd Massey of St. Paul, Minn.; I. H. Henderson of Kansas City, Mo.;

Thomas Kilgore, New York City; Dr. Benjamin Mays, Atlanta, Ga.; E. A. Freeman, Merrell Booker, Olivia Pearl Stokes, R. E. James, M. K. Curry, Marshall, Tex.; Andrew Means, H. P. Horne, W. L. Wilson, O. Sherrill, Maxie B. Gordon and S. D. Proctor of Richmond, Va.

Other prominent Baptists here include Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Jernagin, Washington, D. C.; L. K. Jackson, Gary, Ind.; the Rev. and Mrs. George Lucas, Dayton, Ohio, and many others.

The AME delegation include Bishops S. L. Greene, D. Ward Nichols, Frank M. Reid. A. J. Allen, George W. Ball, Fred D. Jordan, Drs. G. Wayman Blakely, A. Wayman Ward, R. W. Mance, M. D., and Leroy Nesbitt.

Other prominent AME's here are Bishop H. Thomas Primm, Dr. Rembert Stokes, B. J. Glover, Mrs. Kay Bailey Nichols, Mrs. Alma A. Polk, Mrs. S. L. Greene, Mrs. F. D. Jordan, Mrs. A. W. Ward, Mrs. G. W. Blakely, Dr. C. S. Spivey, S. S. Morris Sr. and Jr., Prof. E. A. Selby and Dr. C. W. Abington.

The AME Zions are here led by the two old sages of the church, Bishops William Jacob Walls and John W. Martin. Others present are Bishops Hampton T. Medford, S. G. Spottswood and William A. Stewart; the Rev. R. W. Hoggard, Mrs. H. T. Medford, the Rev. H. Collins Lee, and the Rev. H. R. Lovell and others from New York and New Jersey, and Dr. J. W. Eichelberger.

Bishops L. W. E. Bowen and Matthew W. Clair are among the delegates of the Methodist Church.

The CME Church leaders are here but as of this writing we have not seen a single one of their representatives, not even a list of their official delegates or accredited visitors.

There is a shortage of lay delegates here and seems to have the leaders somewhat concerned over the matter. Charles P. Taft, Cincinnati lawyer and brother of the late Senator Robert F. Taft, mentioned the fact concerning the few lay delegates attending the World Council as he went about answering questions about racial segregation last Thursday. He was speaking during a program for accredited visitors in Cahn Auditorium of Northwestern University.

32b 1954

NEGRO HISTORY WEEK

History Week exhibit photographs wanted

Afro-American p. 5

NEW YROK — The New York Council of Arts, Sciences and Professions has invited all photographers to submit photographs for its annual exhibition to celebrate Negro History Week.

Amateurs and professionals may submit any prints which they feel portray any phase of the life and culture of colored people There is no entrance fee nor restrictions on size of prints.

Prints will be returned if postage in enclosed. For further information contact Photography Workshop, New York Council of Arts, Sciences and Professions, 35 W. 64th St., New York 23, N.Y.

Cites Text Book Deficiencies In Treating History Of America

Since integration is a process which must be based upon mutual respect for the dignity, the inherent worth, and the personality of all human beings, what we as Negroes carry to it will be our economic, political, social and cultural past, Dr. Helen Edmonds, Professor of History at North Carolina College, told a forum audience at Atlanta University this week.

Speaking under the sponsorship of the Division of Arts and Sciences on the topic, "Does Negro History Hinder the Struggle for the Integration of the Negro in American Life?", Dr. Edmonds expressed an opinion that "We can possess the true knowledge of this past only in so far as we know the facts about ourselves and the correct interpretations of these facts from unbiased and impartial printed pages."

She declared that until such time as a general textbook historian fulfills this search for truth, Negro history should continue to serve as a foundation for integration.

TEXTBOOK DEFICIENCY

According to Dr. Edmonds, a motivating factor for Negro history and the celebration of Negro History Week is due to the appalling omission of reference to the Negro in American elementary and high school textbooks.

Citing studies made of American history textbooks, she brought out that from 1826 to 1939, the Negro has been treated from the aspect of slavery with the only change being the lengthening of the slave story. There has been no material on the free Negro, nothing of organized activities of the Negroes to resist slavery, and no acclaim for the Negro as a soldier, even at a time when military history received more emphasis than it does now, she said.

The speaker also pointed out that textbooks since 1920 by Northerners did not differ vastly from those by Southerners, except that Southern historians emphasized more the humaneness of slavery. Different editions of the same textbooks catch up on the social, political and economic life of white America, but the content and context of the Negro remains the same even in the new editions, the audience was told.

Dr. Edmonds called attention to the textbook, "The Development of America" by Dr. Fremont P. Wirth which was adopted in 1953 by 11 states (Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas, Tennessee and Virginia) as a basic text or reference.

She declared that this historian evidenced by omission that he considers no growth in the social, economic and political life of the Negro significant enough to be included in this state-adopted history textbook of the Southern states.

Yet, she said, he boldly sets forth in the preface that "In recent years functional subject matter has come to occupy a prominent place in the public school curriculum. Only such content as contributes to a better understanding of the world in which we live has been given a prominent place in the modern high school curriculum. Teachers of history, therefore, demand that a textbook in American History should emphasize the relation of the past to the present and that the subject be made vital by placing emphasis on present-day realities."

Dr. Edmonds told her audience that there is a fundamental need for rewriting American history because new tools of superior penetrative power are from time to time installed in the toolshed of historians and because history should be re-written because the constant discovery of new materials necessitate a re-casting of our view of the past.

Negro-History Week Called Morale Lifter

Professor Speaks At Kentucky State

The Courier-Journal Frankfort Bureau

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 15.—Negro history and the celebration of Negro History Week are regarded as the tonic to bolster the fallen social, economic, and political morale of Negroes, Dr. Helen G. Edmonds told an assembly of Kentucky State College students here today.

Dr. Edmonds, graduate professor of history at North Carolina College, Durham, She spoke in connection with Kentucky State College's observance of national Negro History Week, which will end Sunday.

She said a factor which motivated Negro history and the celebration is the "appalling omission of reference to the Negro in the American elementary- and high-school textbooks."

1935 Resolution Noted

Dr. Edmonds declared that in 1935 the Peabody Conference on Education and Race Relations resolved that "a textbook giving a faithful account of the contributions of the Negro should be prepared and studied in all public schools, white and colored."

This resolution has not been carried out, she added, but it is as important in February, 1954, as it was in 1935.

Dr. Edmonds holds master's and doctor-of-philosophy degrees from Ohio State University. Currently she is under contract with the Carnegie Foundation to do research on the life of Dr. James E. Shephard, founder and first president of North Carolina College.

America's Negro History

The observance of Negro History Week will end with the close of this week and once more a very important segment of the story on the birth and development of the United States will for the most part be shoved into obscurity for another year.

The history of the United States is a rich and beautiful chronicle. It has all the ingredients that make for a stirring, dramatic tale. The chapters of this story, from the daring exploits attendant to the birth of this nation through the perilous days of inner and outer struggle for recognition, respect and prominence among other nations, each of these chapters is as important and moving as the other.

For all of its glory, however, the history of the United States as recorded has up to this point been woefully incomplete because of the criminal negligence or refusal of our foremost historians to give proper notice to the contributions of Negro citizens. It is a base denial, indeed, by design, to all American peoples their right to know all the facts about their land and its past.

The Negro, as an imported slave and then as a citizen has figured prominently in each period of our history. In many instances his active participation was not solicited nor even desired, but he did take part.

Today, as was true yesterday and before, school children all over the country are reading and reciting the information found in their textbooks relating the beautiful story of America. In most cases they see only that the Negro, in the early days of the land, was a piece of property, languid and child-like. In recent years such names as George Washington Carver and Booker T. Washington have found their way to these printed pages, but that is the extent of the Negro's contribution according to the textbooks.

It is inevitable that some day due recognition will be given the colored American in the history of his country. Several Negro historians have done the nation a great service by compiling accounts of the colored American's part in this profound story, yet the nation has ignored the existence of these tomes, to a great extent, and the youth continue to grow up in ignorance. Herein lies much of the reason for the warped racial attitudes extant.

It is to be hoped for our land that the day is not far off when the need for Negro History Week will no longer exist. That can only be true when the white American recognizes his true heritage and becomes proud of his forefathers, Negro and white.

7. Public is invited and will hear J. A. Rogers, author and reporter at U. N. who will appear in person.

UNFORGETABLE CALENDAR. You may secure your copy of THE NEW ERA CALENDAR for $1.00; 6 at 80c; 12 for 75c ea; 50-100—60c; no samples—no C.O.D.'s. but each sent well wrapped while they last. Agents wanted—something for every school, home, church and business. Send check or money-order. Special offer with each calendar a 9 x 11 inches book with stories of 50 great Afro-Americans living and dead as featured on calendar, by Fletcher Martin for $1.25; and a free history chart worth $1.00. Calendar has pictures of 1st Afro-American Congressman Dawson, Powell, Depriest. For Presidents is includes: Eisenhower,

NEGRO HISTORY CALENDAR OUT

A new inspiring, informative historic calendar of hundreds of events, birthdates, wars, inventions and lasting data in 13 pages in 4-6 duotone colors. This NEW ERA CALENDAR, a virtual encyclopedia, is size 20 x 28½. There has never been a calendar like this created by R. H. Hammurabi, world traveler and author of some 13 books. He has announced a New Day of Challenge at a series of History and Brotherhood programs beginning Feb.

Truman, Roosevelt and Lincoln. Great Scientists: Carver, Edison, Julian Franklin and etc. Many others too numerous to mention in all walks of life.

In Chicago come to our C. S. E. BOOK AND BIBLE STORES, 120 E. 39th St. or 622 E. 63rd St. or WRITE—THE HOUSE OF KNOWLEDGE, 3806 So. Michigan Ave. Chicago 15. Illinois. ADV.

Our Opinions

A Way To Brotherhood

It is significant, whether intentional or not, that both Negro history week (Feb. 7-14) and Brotherhood Week, (Feb. 21-28) fall annually within the same month.

Of the two, Brotherhood Week, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, is much wider observed. Understandably, there is a greater interest in brotherhood than in Negro history.

The emphasis placed on man's relationship to his fellowman is so vital to the welfare of any community, local or national, that Brotherhood Week should be adopted as a project by the United Nations for international observance.

Since the chief objectives of the UN is to international peace and goodwill a recognition on the part of all peoples that they have more in common as human beings than they have differences as nationalistic or racial groups, is essential.

This in essence is the purpose of Brotherhood week. It is very well to preach brotherhood. Maybe there have been some converts to the recognition of this great truth through preachment.

But the real attainment of brotherhood comes only through our living and working together in a brotherly manner. The greatest example of living brotherhood should be the general assembly of the United Nations where men of all nations, of all creeds, races and colors come together to achieve a common purpose.

One of the contributing factors to brotherhood is respect for others. This, of course, can best be achieved by knowing what contributions others have made to the common welfare.

Because Negro History Week seeks to throw some light upon the contribution Negroes have made to world progress it becomes an adjunct to brotherhood week.

The question has been asked why a Negro History Week when there is no Caucasian History Week, or Asian History Week. The answer is simple.

There seems to have been a conspiracy among historians to ignore the accomplishments of Negroes. Certainly no American history can be complete without an inclusion of the contributions made by all the peoples to American progress.

And how is it possible to accurately record the history of the world without giving recognition to all the peoples who contributed towards it.

We recommend as a project of Brotherhood Week the reading, and the teaching of Negro history in all American schools and colleges.

Plans Made For Negro History Week

WASHINGTON (ANP)—Plans for the observance of Negro History Week were announced last week by the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, sponsors of the annual event scheduled for February 7-14 throughout the nation. "Negro History—A Foundation for Integration" will be the theme of this year's observance.

Purpose of the week is to focus attention on what is being taught in classrooms about the achievements and contributions of Negroes to American history.

Sponsors of the event feel that it is time to question some of the material in history books which tend to teach children to believe that Negroes were better off in slavery, that they were ignorant and should not have been given the right to vote after the Civil War, and that ignorant Negro legislators helped northern carpetbaggers to waste and steal state funds when they were elected to office.

The association refutes the latter belief, pointing out that many of the Negro Reconstruction Period legislators had educations comparable to those of other legislators.

The association cites the creation of the first public school systems of the South as one contribution of colored legislators and their carpetbagger co-solons.

An exhibit of books by and about Negroes will be a feature of the local observance of Negro History Week. The exhibit will include works of poetry, fiction and non-fiction. It will be on display at Banneker Junior High School.

Founded by the late Dr. Carter G. Woodson in 1915, the association conducts research and publishes the Journal of Negro History, the Negro History Bulletin, and books and materials about Negro life and history. Dr. Charles H. Wesley, president of Central State College, currently is president of the association.

Each year cities throughout the nation observe Negro History Week and attempt to raise funds to aid the association. However, the association has stated that sometime these funds do not reach the association's headquarters in Washington.

Because of this the association is asking that churches, schools and other organizations which raise money this year send it directly to association's office at 1538 Ninth Street, N. W.W., Washington, D. C.

programs announced

Citywide celebration of National Negro History Week, Feb. 7-14 which will have the theme "Negro History Week the Foundation to Integration," was announced today by sponsors of the nationally observed week in Los Angeles, Our Authors Study club, local branch of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History.

All local organizations including religious groups, fraternal groups, educational, social, civic and county officials are cooperating with the club in organizing the week's activities, through a combined planning committee.

A daily program has been planned highlighted by a mass meeting on the USC campus which Dr. Charles H. Wesley, national president of the Association for the Study of Negro Life, will address.

Other events during the week will be: an exhibit of original paintings by celebrated Negro artists, scheduled for the Art Institute on Wilshire blvd., with local 'otor Beulah Woodard as chairman; Negro music in an 18th Century Mass, presented by the Greater Los Angeles Music Alliance, John A. Gray, president, at Mt. Sinai Baptist church.

Youth of the city will present an oratorical contest at Polytechnic high school, to be open to all City high school and junior college students; a pageant depicting the history of the Negro will be presented by Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew at Independent Church of Christ; a business and professional group will sponsor a presentation of achievement in those fields at the Golden State auditorium.

Closing event of the week will be the All-States Tea, which will feature a pictorial history of the Negro in each of the various states. Mrs. Hazel Whitaker Moore is chairman of the week's events, Victor Nickerson, co-chairman. President of Our Author's Study club is Mrs. Vassie D. Wright, Mrs. Blanche E. Brooks, secretary.

OUR NEGRO COMMUNITY

National Negro History Observance Set Feb. 7-14

By CLAUDE GEORGE SR.

The National Negro History Week for 1954 will be observed here Feb. 7-14 under the auspices of the Atlanta University Library Center.

PLANNING EXHIBIT
Dr. Reddick, Mrs. Hill

About 13,000 items concerning Negro life and history will be on exhibit at the center, which also serves Clark College, Morehouse College, Morris Brown College, Spelman College and Gammon Theological Seminary. The exhibition will be in large glass cases in the entrance hall of the Trevor Arnett Library.

Dr. L. D. Reddick, director of the library service, said the exhibit includes major works by and about Negroes all over the world. He said the Abraham Lincoln room of the library will be open daily from 8 to 5 p.m. This room, he said, contains many treasures, including a lock of Lincoln's hair and a piece of the clothing Lincoln wore when he was assassinated.

Dr. Reddick said education books in the display report there are 2,500,000 Negro children attending elementary and secondary schools in the nation—and more than 53,000 Negro students are in college.

He said Negro progress in the fields of music, art, sculpture, athletics, medicine, politics and entertainment also will be depicted in the exhibit.

Dr. Reddick and Mrs. Mozell Hill, librarian for the Negro collection, are making preparations for the Negro History Week exhibit.

Mon. 1-18-54

Dr. Helen G. Edmonds, professor of history at North Carolina College will lecture on "Negro History—A Foundation for Integration" at 8 p.m. Feb. 9 in the auditorium of Dean Sage Hall. Her address will be part of the Negro History Week observance.

History Of Negro To Be Featured

A history of the Negro in Missouri will be one of th features of the convention of the National Association for th Study of Negro Life and History to be held in St. Louis this year, according to Rev. Freeman Dreer, temporary chairman of the local branch of the Association.

The Association was founded by the late Dr. Carter G. Woodson, noted authority on Negro history. Dr. Charles H. Wesley, president of Central State College, Xenia, Ohio, is president of the Association.

A group of St. Louisans met last week to make preliminary plans for the convention. Among those present at the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morrison, Z. D. Lenoir, Dr. L. Simington Curtis, John H. Purnell and Rev. Dreer.

Negro History Week Announced At TSU

HOUSTON—A ful program of activities has been planned for Negro History Week at Texas Southern University February 7-14.

J. Mason Brewer noted writer from Huston-Tillotson College will head the list of speakers. He will appear at 11:00 a.m. Thursday, February 11 in the TSU Auditorium.

The program, as released by Lawrence Cook, chairman, follows:

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 7 a panel will discuss "Why Negro History?" over radio station KCOH 4:00-4:30 p.m. Dr. Henry Allen Bullock will be moderator. Other speakers will be H. W. Alexander, (TSU); E. Grant Jackson, (TSU) and Gould Beech, Assistant to the Mayor.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 8 Further discussion will be held in room 214 at 10:00 a.m. Discusion leaders will be Lawrence Cook, E. G. Jackson Oliver Tyler and Willis Brown. From 2:00 00 p.m. a film collection of African Culture will be shown in 214.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 9. A quiz program will be held at 11:00 a.m. in 214 with students participating. The leaders will be Carl Hopkins, Roy Johnson, Betsy Johnson, Helen Smith, Daisy Lawson, Tribble Summers and Earnest Mayes. O. W. Tyler will act as moderator.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 10 - A group of retired leaders will discuss "Houston In Retrospect" at 10:00 a.m. in room 214 AB.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11. Dr. J. Mason Brewer will speak at 11:00 a.m. in the auditorium. A special reception was held in Austin recently at which time his latest book (Words On The Brazos) was reviewed.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 12— A panorama on Negro Culture will be presented by the Fine Arts department. (This will be given in the auditorium at 10:0 a.m.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 13. A one hour presentation will be given in the auditorium 10:30-11:30 especially for the graduate students.

Pictures on Negro life will be shown in the lobby of the Administration Building each day.

The public is invited to all programs.

The committee in charge is Lawrence Cook, chairman, Jesse Gloster, E. Robena Allen, Martha B. Walton, Ollington Smith, Hortense Williams, Wm. H. Bll, E. W. Kyle, James O. Perry, Henry C. Grant, Nicholas Gerren, Lincoln H. Heath, Roby Hilliard, Bennie Taylor, Harold Alexander, Margaret Merrel, Robert Terry, Cecelia S. Lane, Hazle P. Jones, Marjorie Stewart, Gordon T. Sadler, E. Grant Jackson, Willie B. Campbell, J. Clorence Davis, William F. Nowlin, Lillie K. Daly, Wallace Van Jackson, Joseph Alexander, Everett O. Bell, H. I. Fontellio Nanton and Oliver W. Tyler.

Negro History Week Under Way

WASHINGTON (ANP)—Plans for the observance of Negro History Week were announced last week by the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, sponsors of the annual event scheduled for Feb. 7-14 throughout the nation. "Negro History—A Foundation for Integration" will be the theme of this year's observance.

Purpose of the week is to focus attention on what is being taught in classrooms about the achievements and contributions of Negroes to American history.

the first public school systems of the South. Probably that is what their detractors considered as wasting money, the Association says.

Other False Pictures

Many other false pictures inserted to appease the South more than 50 years ago remain in the history books that shape the beliefs of youth today.

Founded by Dr. Carter G. Woodson in 1915, the Association conducts research and publishes the Journal of Negro History, the Negro History Bulletin, and books and materials about the life and history of the race.

Each year during the month of October it holds an annual meeting which is attended by educational leaders, whose research programs influence the teaching of history in the schools, and each February it sponsors History Week.

Deficit Of $20,000

Charles H. Wesley, president of Central State College, Wilberforce, Ohio, is the current president of the Association.

The costs involved in sponsoring research and publishing historical works exceed the Association's income. The deficit must be paid by contributions.

Since the death of Carter G. Woodson in 1950 this has grown to $20,000. A drive to erase this deficit is in progress.

Special Appeal

President Wesley states that History Week is widely celebrated each year, but frequently funds raised during the celebration do not reach the Association's office in Washington.

He is making a special appeal to churches, schools and other organizations to raise money during Negro History Week this year and send it to the Association at 1538 9th st., nw, Washington 1, D.C.

Concerning Negroes—

Fisk University Research Professor To Be Negro History Week Speaker

BY W. ARNETT BRYANT
Phone 56-4418

An address by Dr. A. A. Taylor, research professor at Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn., will highlight the observance of Negro History Week at Miles College, Monday morning in the college chapel.

Dr. Taylor is a well known lecturer and author. He will speak from this year's theme: "Negro History, Foundation for Integration."

Wednesday morning members of the Miles Social Science Club will present a program in the chapel. The program will be based on this year's theme.

Negro History Week is sponsored at Miles by the division of social sciences and the Social Science Club.

Mason To Be Negro History Week Speaker At 'Skegee

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—E. Harold Mason is scheduled to speak here Sunday, Feb. 14 on the Negro History Week theme, "Negro History Foundation for Integration."

He will speak at an afternoon program sponsored by the Tuskegee Civic Association headed by Prof C. G Gomillion and also at the morning services at Washington Chapel AME Church pastored by the Rev. E. Simpson James

The guest speaker, lecturer-consultant of California is a product of Kentucky and its public shools.

He attended Western Reserve University of Cleveland, Ohio and the University of California Divinity School. While he maintains official residence in California, he is called upon to spend a great portion of his time each year in the east as lecturer-consultant with various agencies. For example: He was associated with the early development of Fellowship House and the Interracial Fellowship Church of Philadelphia and member of the Exploratoary Committee and sponsorer of the Interracial Fellowship and Church of New York City.

Mr. Mason was Associate Director of the Inter-cultural Workshop in New York; served as a member of and consultant to the city wide committee on Harlem; Advisory Committee on Human Relations, New York City Schools; Race Relations Committee of American Friends Society. Mr. Mason is much in demand for Summer Institutes on Human Relations. The speaker is sponsoring the "Open Door Educataion Center" in San Francisco Bay Area, which is designed to stimulate the creative thinking and activity needed in this society.

The Lambda Chapter of Iota Phi Lambda Sorority will share this meeting with the Tuskegee Civic Association .This organization adopted Negro History Week as one of their national programs 25 years ago.

History week to be celebrated Feb. 7-14

Theme is 'Our History a Foundation for Integration'

Afro-American P. 22

Oct. 2-6-54

WASHINGTON

The Association for the Study of Negro Life and History has announced plans for the History Week Feb. 7-14.

The celebration's theme, "Negro History—a Foundation for Integration," was selected to inspire public study and planning concerning the achievement of first-class citizenship. Kits with detailed plans for the celebration are being distributed by the Association.

The Association in sponsoring the celebration, says that true integration can exist only in communities where the people of all races recognize human dignity.

The sponsors of the celebration feel that it is time to question some of the so-called "history" books that teach children to believe that colored men were better off in slavery, that they were ignorant and should not have been given the right to vote after the Civil War, and that ignorant legislators helped dishonest Northern "carpetbaggers" to waste and steal state funds, when they were elected to office.

History Is Slanted

Such lessons, are lessons of slanted "history," with some truth, some fiction, and many omissions concerning such facts as would show the true picture, say the sponsors of History Week.

The Association challenges the public to study the lives of the legislators of the Reconstruction Period. Some of these men were educated in Europe, some in Northern colleges, and all had educations which compared favorably with those of white politicians of that era.

These lawmakers and the so-called "carpetbaggers" created

Mayor Proclaims Dental Health Week

Children representing schools which had 100% dental treatment for the 1952-'53 school year at City Hall yesterday as Mayor Wagner proclaimed Feb. 1-6 as Children's Dental Health Week. Left to right: Michael Pappas, fourteen, of Manhattan P. S. 116; Patricia Bongiovanni, nine, of Epiphany Parochial School 312, Manhattan; Mayor Wagner, and Stanley Tieger, fifteen, of P. S. 47, Manhattan.

A proclamation designating Feb. 1—6 as "Children's Dental Health Week" was issued yesterday at City Hall by Mayor Wagner, who also designated Feb. 7—14 as "Negro History Week" and Jan. 31-Feb 7 "Youth Week." In his proclamation on Negro History Week the Mayor called on schools, libraries and other public and private institutions to conduct observances through classroom lectures, gatherings, celebrations and other public functions. "Youth Week" is being sponsored by the National Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Negro History Week

Negro History Week was never meant as an institution to take apart from American life and procedure the contributions of that group in the annals of events that have made our country great. The Negro is strictly American and his contributions as such belong to the ages. He is a pioneer in this country and has had a part in the making of it the great empire it is. He is not a separate entity of a citizen; he is first an American citizen and his contributions are woven in the common fabric that inures to posterity as a permanent record.

P. 8

Negro History Week, however came into being because of the long neglect by those whose province it is to write history and preserve records, did not busy themselves in keeping the record straight, when it came to Negroes. The outstanding achievements of Negroes in every endeavor of American life, were, apparently wilfully neglected and with the advent of a new group on the scene, the Negro has become his own interpreter and recorder; he stands as his own guardian and that custodian of his own records.

Wed; 2-10-54

The late Dr. Carter G. Woodson will be reversed by those lovers of justice who believe in every racial group being accorded due credit for what they have done. His resourcefulness and native industry have given the race and the world many worthwhile things concerning our people, which otherwise would not have come to surface.

Atlanta, Ga.

We are now entering with vigor upon the observance of Negro History Week The schools, churches and civic organizations are making the most of this affair. Students of history and literature are making the most of unearthing unforseen contributions as well as acquainting the youth of today with what the race has contributed in the line of making this great country of ours rank alongside the powerful nations of the earth.

Let the lovers of fair play, open tolerance and common fairness join in with us as we strive through our histories to promote a more wholesome union, a stronger courageous people and a more enduring peace.

32b 1954

NEGRO NEWSPAPER WEEK

Today Begins Observance Of Negro Newspaper Week

world

Atlanta Ga.

Today marks the opening of the 12th observance of 127 years of struggle, news gathering, controversy, and progress that has marked the sometimes peaceful but more often hard path of the American Negro Newspaper.

The observance is being conducted by the National Newspaper Publishers Association which includes about 83 per cent of the total circulation of Negro papers in the nation.

Sun. 3-14-54

Negro Newspaper Week is a remembrance of a story that began in New York March 17, 1827, when John H. Russworm, first Negro college graduate of the United States, founded the new no existant "Freedom's Journal,' 'and whose probable climax is a controversial theme as battle for individual freedom and civil rights near their goal.

P.

The Negro newspaper grew out of racial bigotry and desire for a better day for the American Negro, but present day newspapers, although they still fight many battles, are keyed mainly to gathering news of interest to Negroes, which the white press either ignores, or refuses to cover with liberal views.

Many believe that the day of the Negro paper, except the daily is just about coming into its own.

Of the many Negro papers, the Atlanta Daily World stands out in importance, because it is the fruits of a man who dared to do what was believed to be the impossible. It was back in 1928 when W. A. Scott II, launched on a dream to bring minority news to the public every day. And today his success stands alone, because no other Negro paper has even yet attempted to do the same thing.

A dramatization of news highlights from the Negro press that made headlines in 1953 will be broadcast today at 3:30 p .m. over WSB, Thursday, WAGA will carry an announcement of Russwurm Award winners; papers that did outstanding work.

The observation finds 240 commercial Negro papers operating in the U. S. at present, including two dailies, three bi-weeklies, four semi-weeklies, and 195 weeklies.

Negro Newspaper Week March 14-20

Call

Kansas City Mo.

The National Newspaper Publishers association will observe its 12th annual Negro Newspaper week, March 14 to 20, commemorating the founding of the first Negro newspaper, "Freedom's Journal" by John B. Russwurm, in New York City, March 17, 1827.

Featuring the observance will be broadcasts over the National Broadcasting company and Columbia Broadcasting system networks.

The NBC program will originate from New York at 3:30 p.m. EST on Sunday, March 14 and will be a 15-minute broadcast. The broadcast will feature a dramatization of news highlights from the Negro Press that made headlines during 1953. Speaking for the NNPA will be William O. Walker, publisher of the Cleveland Call-Post, and secretary of NNPA and Dowdal Davis, general manager of the Kansas City Call and chairman of the Newspaper Week committee.

Sun. 3-14-54

On CBS from 10:45 to 11 p.m., EST, Thursday, March 18, NNPA will announce the winners of Russwurm awards for 1953. Participating in the broadcast will be William G. Nunn, managing editor of the Pittsburgh Courier; Julius Adams, general manager of the New York Age; Dowdal Davis, and one of the Russwurm award winners.

P

Negro Newspaper week is officially sponsored by the member papers of NNPA but its observance is cooperated in by schools, colleges, civic groups and individuals over the nation.

Since their inception in 1948, the Russwurm awards have gone to individuals, organizations and institutions who have made signal contributions to a better democracy.

Among those who have been honored are: Former President Harry S. Truman, Jackie Robinson, Dr. Ralph Bunche, Judge J. Waties Waring, Thurgood Marshall, Lester B. Granger, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Senator Hubert B. Humphrey, the University of Arkansas, Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter, Norman Granz, Dr. Charles S. Johnson, American Heritage Foundation.

Others include: 20th Century-Fox, Levi Jackson. Juluis Thomas , Mrs. Edith Sampson, Senator Earl Clements, Frank J. Lausche, Father Vincent O'Connell, Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, Dwight Young, Horace Heidt, Arthur Godfrey, General Matthew Ridgeway, Drake university. Pvt. William Thompson, Dwight R. G. Palmer, Henry Ford, II, and the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Branch Rickey and the NAACP.

Last year's winners were: Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, Ralph Ellison, Judge Charles Fahy, Truman's Committee on Government Contract Compliance, Dr. Charles S. Johnson, Philip B. Perlman, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Judge Collins Seitz, Roy Wilkins and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The National Newspaper Publishers association membership includes approximately 85 per cent of the total circulation of Negro newspapers of the nation. Officers of the association are: Carl Murphy, Afro-American Newspaper, president; Carter Wesley, Houston Informer, vice-president; William O. Walker, Cleveland Call-Post, secretary, and Mrs. Nannie Mitchell Turner, St. Louis Argus, treasurer.

32b 1954

OKLAHOMA COORDINATING COUNCIL

OKLAHOMA COORDINATING COUNCIL ORGANIZED

Oklahoma City, Okla.

It took three statewide meetings, May 29, June 18, and Sept. 23, with fifteen statewide organizations, representing 93,200 members, and forty-nine prominent state leaders to complete the organization of the "Oklahoma Coordinating Council." Sat. 10-2-54

Those on the picture who head state organizations, reading from right to left, are: Mr. F. D. Moon, executive secretary, OANT; Mrs. Gladys V. Dobson, president, State P-TA; Mrs. Ellen M. Robinson, president, Oklahoma Federation of Colored Women; Mr. Ira D. Hall, president, Oklahoma Coordinating Council; Dr. G. L. Harrison, president, Langston university; Mrs. N. B. Dillon, state supervisor, Trades and Industries; Mr. Wayne C. Chandler, president, State Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.

Heads of organizations not seen are: Mrs. Georgia L. Brown, president, Oklahoma State Beauty League; Rev. Robert H. Alexander, president, Commissioner of Education of the 12th Episcopal District (Oklahoma); Mr. F. F. Alexander, president, OANT; Dr H. W. Williamston, president, State Conference of Branches, NAACP; Bishop F. C. Scott, Bishop, Church of the Living God; Rev. D. C. Cooksey, president General Baptist Convention of Oklahoma; Mr. J. J. West jr., president, Oklahoma Negro Administrators; Dr. M. B. Moore, president, Oklahoma Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association; Atty. Amos T. Hall, grand master of Scottish iRte Masons; Mr. A. J. Kirkpatrick, exalted ruler, Elks, and Rev. E. W. Perry, president, Oklahoma Baptist Convention.

Federated CLUBS

BY REBECCA-STILES-TAYLOR

The Executive Board of Oklahoma Federation of Colored Women convened in its annual spring session, Saturday April 24, 1954 — 10:00 a.m. in the beautifully appointed and spacious Community Center of Wewoka, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Dodson

The Executive Board Chairman, Mrs. Myrtle Ollison, Shawnee federated club lady and member of the Dunbar faculty, directed a splendid session in which every moment was filled with important business, significant issues and inspiring resumes of federated programs and projects.

Advisory board members in attendance of the board included: Mrs. Lulu E. Kiff, Muskogee, Oklahoma; Mrs. Maude Broackway, Oklahoma City; Mrs. Genieve M. Weaver, Anadarko, Oklahoma; Mrs. Mildred Williams, Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Elective officers present were: Mrs. Ellen M. Robertson, president—Shawnee; Mrs. Jessie B Hibler, 1st vice president — Muskogee; Mrs. O. V. Ragsdale — 2nd vice-president — Ardmore; Mrs. Geneva B. Faver — treasurer, Guthrie; Mrs Willa Strong, corresponding secretary — McAlester; Mrs. Edna Tucker, statistician — Ponca City; Mrs. F. D. Daniels — parliamentarian, Muskogee; Mrs. Henryetta Griffin, chaplain, Tulsa; Mrs. Exzetta Gorman, Credential chairman, Wewoka; Mrs. Mary Rose Cook, Historian — McAlester.

Business highlights were: Scholarship Loan report announcing $2365.00 invested in the education of girls in the period 1950-53. Mrs. Jessie Hughes, chairman, states of these girls five have graduated and four are still in college.

The Junior State Federation will convene at the L'Ouverture school McAlester, Oklahoma, June 7-8. The Junior camp will be held at Lake Murray, Ardmore, July 5-10.

The National Association of Colored Women will convene in Washington D. C. July 31 — August 6.

Reports on girls selected for Federated high school awards should be mailed to Mrs. G. M. Weaver, 516 1-2 E. Washington, Anadarko by May 1.

The board was concluded with a dynamic summary of the 1954 federated program by the president, Mrs. Ellen Robertson, Shawnee. The Wewoka federated clubs were rated as superb hostess. The beautiful rosebud corsages, the delicious dinner, the inspiring welcome delivered by Mrs. Blanche M. Bruner, and building arrangements were of the first order.

MEETING OF REGIONAL COUNCIL OF NEGRO LEADERSHIP CALLED TO HALT PETITIONS TO ENTER NEGRO STUDENTS IN WHITE SCHOOLS OF MISSISSIPPI

See Delta Doctor In Break With State NAACP Leaders

MEETING SET FOR SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 26. IN MOUND BAYOU

Directors of the NAACP in Jackson last Sunday called to plan future action of the NAACP in regard to the Supreme Court decision in the state. The break between Dr. Howard and the State NAACP leaders is regarded as highly significant because he has been long regarded as one of the chief advisers to state NAACP leaders, notably Dr. E. J. Stringer, Columbus dentist, now president of the State Conference of NAACP Branches.

The group also plans to consider other developments in the state as a result of the demands for immediate integration made at the meeting of Negro and white leaders called by Governor White including the recent proposals and statements coming from the recently organized and fast growing citizens councils, organizations of white groups formed to maintain segregation in the state.

The meeting of the Regional Council of Negro Leadership has been set for Sunday, September 26, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning with preliminary conferences on the agenda, with the principal meeting at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Tentative plans call for holding the meeting in the Mound Bayou high school auditorium.

Mound Bayou, Miss., Sept. 14.—(DSN)—Dr. T. R. M. Howard, widely known delta physician, fraternal, business and civic leader, a resident of Mound Bayou, Mississippi's famed all-Negro town in the heart of the rich delta section of the state, recently proclaimed at the state's most outstanding and militant advocate for Negro rights, and the most adamant spokesman for immediate implementation of the Supreme Court decision at the historic meeting of Negro and white leaders in July held at the call of Governor Hugh White, announced here this week that he will head a drive to halt any effort for integration on the part of Negroes of the state until after the U. S. Supreme Court has completed its decision in the school segregation case following the October hearings.

In a move designed to halt any efforts now in the making on the part of Negroes in the state to demand immediate mixing of Negro and white children in the schools, Dr. Howard has called a meeting of the Regional Council of Negro Leadership, four-year-old state organization of which he is founder and chairman of the board and its guiding genius, for the expressed purpose of urging Negroes in Mississippi not to present the petitions prepared by the NAACP to school authorities this year.

According to reports there has been a sharp break between Dr. Howard and state leaders of the NAACP which became evident at the meeting of the State Board of

Walter White To Launch NAACP Membership Drive

Courier, P. 1 - Atlanta, Ga.

32b NAACP

CHICAGO — The 1954 "Fight for Freedom" Membership campaign of the Chicago Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will be launched at a mass meeting on Thursday, October 21. Walter White, national executive secretary of the Association will be the main speaker.

The mass meeting will launch the drive for 10,000 NAACP members in Chicago it was announced by Mrs. Cora M. Patton, president of the Chicago NAACP.

White's appearance in Chicago is his first since the historic May 17 decision of the Supreme Court outlawing segregation in public schools. The decision cost the NAACP more than $100,000 which was raised by membership and fund raising campaigns conducted by the associations 1,629 city and county branches in 44 states.

Miss Gertrude Gorman, director of the campaign announced that more than 30 divisions for the drive are now in the process of organization. Each division will be manned by a leader, five captains and 50 workers. The divisions will cover all areas of Chicago and will reach all sections of the population, including business, church, labor, professional, fraternal orders, women's clubs and others. Additional workers are needed to put the drive over the top. All volunteers to work in the campaign are asked to call the NAACP office - DOrchester 3-6406.

The Regional Council Of Negro Leadership And The Mississippi Negro

Advocate Jackson, Miss.
32 p. 4 Sat. 5-15-57

Up in Mound Bayou last Friday, The Regional Council of Negro Leadership, an organization apparently having as its purpose the bringing of all Negroes having the capacity, ability, courage, and willingness to accept the responsibility of leadership together in one organization; their membership in the organization, from the beginning, and always thereafter, being predicated on the acceptance of every proposition and proposal, and the endorsement of, and glorification of, the one man, who would thus become the leader of leaders, and therefore the indisputable, all powerful Super-Leader of the Negroes of the state.

From its first meeting, three years ago when several thousand Negroes from all over the state, and from adjoining states, came to Mound Bayou, both to see and hear the justly famed and honored Negro Congressman from Illinois, Representative William L. Dawson, then and now Vice-Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, the leader of the Regional Council of Negro Leadership discovered, and have successively, and successfully used a Negro whose name and fame is in the hearts and minds of the Negroes of the state and nation as the come-on, prop, and color, for its annual meeting; the results being, because of the great crowds, that the organization, now only three years old, is being magnified far out of proportion to its actual and potential accomplishments and worth, as the organization to carry forward the hopes and desires of the Negro Citizens of the state.

It was Thurgood Marshall, whose name and fame has made of him an idolized hero, and a name known and honored in every Negro household, making his first appearance in Mississippi since becoming recognized as among the nation's leading constitutional lawyers, and leading exponent of the rights of members of his race, as Chief Counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that brought the record breaking crowd to Mound Bayou last Friday.

The great political philosopher, lawyer, statesman, and historian, Edmund Burke, finds a vast difference in type, in the two men who thus became the principal actors in the scene that unfolded at Mound Bayou last Friday, one, Thurgood Marshall, the lawyer, trained in what Burke calls the science of jurisprudence, which he defines as, the collected wisdom of the ages; the perfection of reasoning; the combining of the principles of ordinary justice and the boundless variety of human concern; and Dr. T. R. M. Howard, founder, president, and moving spirit of the Regional Council of Negro Leadership, presiding over the meeting, a physician, educated and trained, according to Burke, to preside and administer at the sides of sick beds.

It was Burke, in his essay on the French Revolution, who after pointing out that the same reforms at which the bloody French Revolution aimed, had been brought about in England by orderly parlimentary process, which he said was due to the fact that the English Parliament and the English people were being lead by men trained in the science of jurisprudence; also says that the bloody and needless revolution was brought about in France because the leadership of the Assembly, and of the people had been taken-over by small practitioners in medicine and dentistry after they had acquired a superior economic status by preying upon the miseries of the French people—observing in conclusion that the sides of sick beds and the arms of dentist chairs —are not—the places to train statesmen and leaders of the people.

In his speech accepting the Man-of-the-Year-Award, as the man who had done more in 1954 than any other man in the state on behalf of Negro rights, from his own organization, while admitting that there are ten, or one hundred men in the state more deserving, to the accompaniment of the raised eyebrows and snide remarks of the platform guest, Dr. Howard launched out into what has become fashionable among those seeking recognition as leaders, the charge that the Negroes of the state have been sold-down-the-river, by the old Negro leaders, now condemned as "Uncle Toms" and "Handkerchief Heads," who in all the years before he was brought to the state, just eight years ago, had labored in the heat of the day, when there had been no fore-runners to clear away the fears of the timid, and loosen the tongues of the mute, to bring the race thus far on its way, while establishing the base for its survival in the state.

It is a tragic fact that there are a very few, if any, Negroes in Mississippi of statute who understands and appreciates the fact that one gets big by helping to make others big, and thus one of the sad facts about the new Negro leaders that have come up in Mississippi, since the begining of the New Emancipation in 1948, is that they have adopted one of the worst traits brought up from slavery by the Negro, that of trying to condemn and belittle everyone else in order to appear "big" themselves.

Returning to the fashionable habit of the New Negro Leaders of charging others with having sold the Negro down the river, we say here that it should be understood in the first place that this canard is a two-edged sword, cutting among responsible, sincere, and able Negroes of the state, as well as among the responsible white people who realize that Negroes and white people must work together finally before there can be any changes for the better in the state. Therefore since the white people are in the position to call the meetings, where is the wisdom in attempting to brand all Negroes who have been called, and who may be called upon in the future to meet with white groups.

One thing is doubly certain the Negro Leader who presist in using the branding iron is not going to be called, and hence become of less and less value to the people as he continues to make bellicose speeches and prediction about what "we" are going to do.

Observing Dr. Howard in Mound Bayou Friday, those who have made a study of his writings could not keep their minds from turning towards Edmund Burke's essay on the French Revolution.

As a contrast we turn to Thurgood Marshall, whose speech followed that of Dr. Howard, who warned against name calling among Negro leaders, pointing out that after all of the great legal effort of the NAACP, in fights against segregation in the schools and in all other phases of American life as its ultimate goal, that whatever happens by way of a decision of the United States Supreme Court, Negro and white leaders, in Mississippi and the rest of the South must come together on a basis of equality of representation and work-out conditions to the mutual satisfaction of both groups, at the local levels.

It was an exhibition of the "perfection of reasoning" as pointed out by Burke when the Lawyer, Thurgood Marshall said before the great crowd of Negroes at Mound Bayou that there are many fine white people in Mississippi just as they are in every other state in the United States.

In regard to the good that the Regional Council of Negro Leadership might eventually be able to do for the Negro in Mississippi it would be exceedingly well for its President and Founder, before making any speeches and public statements, as well as plans for the organization, to consider Burke's observation that the sides of sick beds and the arms of dentist chairs—are not—the places to train statesmen and leaders of the people.

Mississippi Faces Economic War

Defender Chicago, Ill. Sat. 10-9-54 P-3

MOUND BAYOU, Miss. — Threats by whites to crack down on Negroes who favor abolition of segregation, by denying them jobs, credit, loans and other commercial services may touch off an all-out economic war in Mississippi.

Two-thousand delegates to a special meeting of the Regional Council of Negro Leadership met in a huge tent erected in this all-Negro town last week to map plans for fighting white "citizens councils" attempting to keep Negroes in the state from voting or entering white schools.

Spokesmen for the RCNL predicted an attempt to put the economic squeeze on the Negro in Mississippi which would be disastrous to white businessmen.

However, spokesmen added, if such a threat is carried out, Negroes will counter by obtaining their loans from Memphis' Negro controlled Tri-States Bank; by ordering supplies from out of state firms and starting the biggest mail-order boom in the history of the South if white merchants refuse them credit; and by concentrating purchases in Negro-owned establishments within the state.

The delegates adopted two resolutions: 1. That Mississippi Negroes would register, pay poll taxes and vote;

2. That state universities and colleges should accept Negro students immediately.

However, the delegates voted two to one against any concerted move toward ending segregation in public schools before the final Supreme Court decision on how it should be done.

According to Dr. T. R. M. Howard, Mound Bayou physician and RCNL president, 40 Mississippi counties which have a large percentage of Negroes were represented.

Howard described the session as "the most enthusiastic meeting of its type, and the delegates the most determined, of any such meeting I ever attended."

NAACP Counsel Tells Mound Bayou, Bias Is On Way Out

Worked P. 1
Pitts. 5-11-54

By RAYMOND F. TISBY

MOUND BAYOU, Miss.—(SNS)—Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel of the NAACP, principal speaker at the third annual meeting of the Mississippi Regional Council of Negro Leadership held here Friday (May 7) in this historic all-Negro town in the Mississippi Delta, alluded to those "peanut head politicians" with "We've got news for them. Come hell or high water; we'll be free by '63."

EVANGELISTIC ATMOSPHERE

There was a quasi oldtime revival meeting atmosphere about the gathering. The setting was appropriate. The sprawling tent vibrated with "amens" and "ain't it the truths" tossed by the capacity crowd conservatively estimated between 40 and 45 hundred persons who filled every available seat and standing space, as they punctuated Mr. Marshall's and other speakers' remarks. According to official reports, a record crowd attended the third annual meeting of the M. R. C. N. L.

"This is an unbelievable crowd" maintained Mr. Marshall, "you couldn't get such a crowd in New York to meet and talk on integration. Only in the south is this possible because here is where the fight is. The weak ones have moved on to Detroit and Chicago while the real ones have remained to fight."

NO MORE CHEEK TURNING

The Negro is groggy from turning his cheeks contended the NAACP chief counsel who added 'there will be no more turning cheek". There is no such thing as a Negro race declared Mr. Marshall in pointing out that the Negro has been denied full citizenship because "they have been standing on our necks. It's time they found somebody else," he stated.

"It's high time the state of Mississippi joined the union," Attorney Marshall insisted. Obviously referring to the Mississippi state legislature extra six week session which centered mainly around the Negro-white school equilization tax levying bill which was twice defeated but finally passed, Mr. Marshall added, "tell Gov. White (Hugh) it would have been better if the session had not been held; regardless of the devious methods used to perpetuate the mythical separate-but-equal doctrine, it's got to be measured by the U. S. Supreme Court. He can run, but he can't hide," he avowed.

CALLS ON 'GOOD' WHITES

Mr. Marshall called on the "good" whites to wake up and realize they are being discriminated against. "Anytime a white person is told he can't sit or ride in a certain section because it is 'reserved' for Negroes, he is being discriminated against because he loses his individual right to sit where he pleases," he declared.

Worked

"The churches too need to reexamine themselves, not the Negro churches because there isn't a Negro church that will refuse admittance to a person because of race or creed but the other churches. They need to admit two persons at the same time—God and the Negro," emphasized Mr. Marshall.

Pitts. 5-1-54

Speaking on integration in the armed forces, the NAACP legal chief told his audience that integration has been completed in the Navy, the Air Force and all but eight units of the Army "which will be completed as soon as all of the 'old soldiers fade away," where Negro and whites "live and die together," he added, "if they do it then, they can do it when they come home."

Speaking extemporaneously Mr. Marshall, who assuredly gained his niche in history when he argued against the famed constitutional lawyer John Davis on the constitutality of segregation in the U. S. public schools before the Supreme Court, told the audience after the Civil War the Hayes-Tilden agreement which gave the southern states the right to handle the Negro problem locally and resulting in the infamous Black Codes was formulated in a Washington, D. C. hotel owned by a Negro "to his everlasting sorrow."

U. S LOST LEADERSHIP

"This country has lost its moral leadership of the world," declared Mr. Marshall. The treatment of Negroes in America is a world problem maintained the civil rights fighter who contended that the world is waiting until America demonstrates its avowed "Democracy" and prove that here "every men is equal."

He stated that over 2,000 Negroes are attending graduate schools throughout the south except in Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, Florida and Mississippi. "We are going to open up 'ole Miss' and I am personally going to argue the case," he declared. Elaborating, he pointed out that 45 private schools in the south are open to Negroes and four junior colleges in Taxes.

"Too often we have been lulled into believing there can be separate but equal schools. If this is true why not every other year give the Negro school to the whites and the whites to the Negro?" he quipped.

NEGRO PRESS AIDS

Attorney Marshall praised the Negro press for its efforts in raising $20,000 for the NAACP legal defense fund to fight segregation cases and alluded to "ole" Emory O. Jackson (managing editor of the Scott Newspaper Syndicate's Birmingham World) and his "put up or shut up" campaign.

Concluding, Mr. Marshall contended that any enlighten southern spokesman will admit that segregation is on its way out and insisted that there is a need for local organizations "such as this" to be ready to meet the situation.

10,000 Persons Expected

Freedom Rally In Mississippi

Courier, P. 1 Pittsburgh, Pa.

MOUND BAYOU, Miss.—Two important events are scheduled to take place here this week when the NAACP's Atty. Thurgood Marshall appears as chief speaker, May 7, for the third annual meeting of the Regional Council of Leadership, headed by Dr. T. R. M. Howard.

1. Prominent lawyers from seven Southern States will confer with Attorney Marshall Friray morning relative to the U. S. Supreme Court decision to be handed down in the school segregation cases.

Pitt. 5-8-54

2. Mississippians will be asked to raise a $100,000 fund to be used in prosecuting officials who refuse to accept poll tax payments from Negro citizens.

More than 10,000 persons are expected to attend the regional council which will be held under a circus tent.

Lawyers expected to confer with Attorney Marshall are Walden of Atlanta, Ga.; Shores of Birmingham, Ala.; Flowers of Pine Bluff, Ark.; Tourreau of New Orleans, La.; Looby of Nashville, Tenn., and several others.

Dr. Howard, a fearless leader and prominent surgeon and businessman, said: "All agree that now is the time for comprehensive and intelligent planning on the Supreme Court's decision."

Mayor B. A. Green of the all-Negro town will welcome the thousands of delegates and visitors.

Attorney Marshall is scheduled to deliver the major address Friday afternoon.

The 120-piece "new sound" Tennessee State University marching band will be on hand to entertain the crowd. A dozen other college and high school bands will also be present.

'Come Hell or High Water'

'We'll Be Free,' Says Thurgood In Mississippi

By ROBERT M. RATCLIFFE
(Courier National News Editor)

MOUND BAYOU, Miss.—Negroes of this rich delta area staged a mammoth freedom rally here last Friday, warning the Governor and State Legislature that they are launching a crusade for complete equality.

More than 5,000 Mississippians crowded beneath a circus tent to hear two militant spokesmen call for "First-class citizenship right here in Mississippi."

At the same time, the Regional Council of Negro Leadership, sponsor of the freedom rally, adopted a resolution calling for a defense fund of $100,000 to be used in prosecuting Mississippi sheriffs who deny Negroes the right to vote.

CHIEF SPEAKER for the annual meeting was Thurgood Marshall of New York, head of the legal defense department of the NAACP.

Attorney Marshall declared:

"Come hell or high water, we'll be free by 1963." He added: "It is more important to fight segregation in Mississippi than in any other state.

"The question of civil rights and the question of the treatment of Negroes in the United States is no longer a question of a local or national level," declared the New York lawyer.

"It has now become an international question, one that is watched very closely by all other nations, and especially Russia."

* * *

ATTORNEY MARSHALL warned Negroes who are afraid of fighting for full equality:

"Those who don't believe in it had better get out of the way because we are going to walk over them," he declared.

In a statement that drew loud applause from the crowd, Marshall said, "Tell the Governor and the Legislature that I don't care how many laws they pass or what tricks they use to keep the Negro, down, those laws still have to be measured by the U. S. Supreme Court."

Marshall pointed to the fact that the ending of segregation in the armed forces brought on no race riots and he said white state and private schools in the South already have enrolled more than 2,000 Negroes.

"We are going to open up 'Ole Miss' (the University of Mississippi) and we have prepared lawsuits just in case the university refuses to admit Negroes," the attorney said. "I'll come down and fight the case myself," he added.

* * *

MR. MARSHALL was presented to the gathering by Dr. E. J. Stringer, president of the Mississippi State NAACP.

Dr. T. R. M. Howard, founder and president of the Regional Council for Negro Leadership, said, "We are on a great crusade in Mississippi and it will not end until the humblest sharecropper has received full citizenship rights.

"Most of the things you hear about Mississippi are true," declared the prominent Mound Bayou surgeon and planter, "but we are not going to ask God to fight our battles. Instead, we are going to use dollars and fight until we are free."

The regional council named Dr. Howard as "Mississippi's Man of the Year" and presentation was made by Grandmaster James C. Gilliam of Clarksdale, Miss.

* * *

BEFORE THE crowd gathered under the big tent for the gigantic meeting, Attorney Marshall met with ten Southern lawyers and discussed the school segregation case now before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Lawyers conferring with Mr. Marshall were H. T. Lockhart, Memphis; Z. Alexander Looby, Nashville, Tenn.; J. F. Estes, Memphis; B. F. Jones, Memphis; B. L. Hooks, Memphis; A. W. Willis Jr., A. A. Latting, Memphis; Wiley A. Branton, Pine Bluff; U. Simpson Tate, Dallas, Tex., and Thad Williams, Little Rock, Ark.

A parade headed by the sparkling 120-piece band of Tennessee State University led dignitaries through the heart of Negro-governed Mound Bayou prior to the opening of the meeting.

A group carrying placards reading "Liberty and Justice For All" had a prominent spot in the parade.

Mound Bayou Mayor B. R. Green delivered the welcome address.

Rust College singers rendered pleasing music.

League Official Resigns Posts

COLUMBUS, OHIO—Nimrod B. Allen, executive secretary of The Columbus Urban League for the past thirty-three years, has resigned his post effective June 30, 1954, it has been announced by James J. West, Urban League president. The story of Mr. Allen's administration is the story of a man who had a plan and put that plan to work.

Columbus, for over the past century, like many other large cities in the North with a proportionately large Negro population, has been and still is faced with grave racial problems. The COLUMBUS PLAN, is dealing with this problem over the past 33 years, reflects the life of Mr. Nimrod B. Allen, one of the nation's foremost authorities on human relations whose social genius, foresight, influence and selflessness, has played a major role in creating a fovarable atmosphere for better inter-racial relations in our city—a change of almost phenomenal proportions.

From the present-day vantage point, it is possible to look back over the past to 1915, when the young social worker was called to our city to serve as executive secretary of the Spring Street YMCA. It is possible to evaluate and interpret the usefulness Mr. Allen has served, in a more analytical manner, than is possible for those who were then on the firing line meeting the day to day problems as they arose. Seen in this perspective, thus, he loomed in significant relationship with one of the most dynamic forces toward the development of a more democratic Columbus, THE COLUMBUS URBAN LEAGUE, which he organized in 1917.

Mr. Allen entered the scene during that critical period of World War I when there was a shortage of labor in the plants in the North, and Negroes were being induced in great numbers to come into our industrial centers, Columbus shared greatly in this influx, creating grave problems, in that the Negro migrants from Southern rural districts were mostly untutored and knew little of the living habits in this highly specialized industrial center.

It was under Mr. Allen's guidance that The Columbus Urban League in cooperation with the church, Ministerial Alliance, schools, YMCA, NAACP and other social agencies, that the problem was attacked. To meet this difficult situation, he responded to an appeal in 1921, to take over the executive secretaryship of the League. He has served in this capacity until the present, patiently soliciting and receiving the cooperation of the leadership and influential forces of this community, including the press, radio and television.

Through these forces, The Columbus Urban League offered a plan which was rejected by many because of time element necessary for education. But a few far-sighted individuals of both races, accepted the plan which called for creating an atmosphere for interracial harmony.

32b 1954

Federated CLUBS

BY REBECCA-STILES-TAYLOR

WOMEN'S MOVEMENT BECOMES WORLD-WIDE

The World Congress of Women has emphasized the remarkable participation of women in the great movement of the peoples, which is developing all over the world for a policy of peace and progress, and women have taken an increasingly greater part in all the struggles conducted in a great many countries against the constant lowering of the standards of living and for the defense, or winning of national independence.

Mrs. Dodson

Within the frame work of these general struggles they are defending their own rights with a new ardour.

In the last few months, great successes have been achieved towards the relaxation of international tension; the armistice in Korea, the growing opposition to the Bonn and Paris agreements, the calling for a four power conference, a certain degree of resumption of trade between the countries of East and West.

But as long as the main questions in dispute are not settled, as long as war continues, as long as the atomic and hydrogen bombs remain a threat and the burden of the armaments race rests on the peoples, PEACE WILL NOT BE WON, FOR PEACE WILL NOT WIN ITSELF. It will be won by the united and organized action of all those who are opposed to war.

The great success of the World Congress of Women was, on the one hand, due to the fact that it was held in a period when the work done for years to make the peoples realize that they could play a predominant role in the march of world events, had brought about a general consciousness which did not leave the women untouched; and on the other hand, to the work done by the women's organizations.

The striking thing now, is the qualitive change of the movement, its MASS CHARACTER, even in many countries where it was formerly weak of non-existent; the number of special actions taken by women; their growing firmness in defense of their own demands, and the degree of unity achieved in the basic organizations.

The success was also due to the fact the problems dealt with corresponded to women's concerns and hopes, and also to the fact that national organizations understood that it was not only possible to unite women who accept the programme in its entirety, but also those who agree on only one point.

The program of the Women's International Democratic Federation is the defense of the rights of women, of children and of peace, because those are the concerns of women; but not all these points interest every women in the same degree, and even on each individual point, this or that aspect of the question will interest certain women more particularly than others.

Hence, big campaigns can raise the general consciousness, and at the same time, differentiated organizational work makes it possible to involve a maximum number of women in activity.

The Congress has marked an important stage, an essential stage in the WOMEN'S MOVEMENT, the possibility of bringing together numbers of women who can play a decisive role in the struggle of the peoples.

In 22 countries, national congresses and conferences have taken place or are in preparation. The Congress of Canadian Women has adopted a charter of WOMEN'S RIGHTS. In Brazil, the National Conference supported the Declaration of the Rights of Women, adapted to the special conditions of the country. In Norway, the two organizations belonging to the WIDF are also preparing their Congress on the defense of women's rights.

WORLD CONGRESS OF WOMEN

At the Congress of the Federation of Japanese Women's Organizations, which was attended by 1,200 delegates, they presented a report, and a resolution adopted by the Congress states that: "Peace, Liberty and Women's Rights cannot be assured if the rearmament being carried on by the Yoshida government is not halted.

"The Women of Japan must defend their rights, combat the remnants of Feudalism and fight with the women of all countries for a WORLD OF PEACE"

Dealing with the question of political rights, the report shows how the campaign is being carried on in Columbia, Nigeria and Switzerland, drawing in an ever increasing number of women and organizations.

Federated CLUBS

BY REBECCA-STILES-TAYLOR

WOMEN ALL OVER.. ... . THE WORLD FIGHT FOR EQUAL RIGHTS

With the world growing smaller each day, brought about by air transportation and otherwise, telecast, television, radio and press, and all of the other inventions, the "Woman's Movement" which won the franchise for women in the United States of America and lost prohibition, seems to be resting on its oars as far as any other big movement is concerned.

Mrs Dodson Fee

One of the national organizations has a spectacular objective, nor do they seem interested in any use national or international effect that interests the women of the rest of the world.

Perhaps the women of the United States of America are doing wood and saying nothing because of the communistic [illegible] country is experiencing. Many of our finest organizations have been classed as Communist fronts. Most likely this intimidated the women. Rest assured that it is not due (their part) to the fact that they are disinterested.

Nevertheless, the torch lit by the Woman's Movement of other lands burning brightly on every hand and forces that have for ages are aroused in Asia, South America and the Islands of the Sea. European women have taken the lead and their slogan "Equal Rights for Women and happiness for children and PEACE without war" — is driven into the minds and hearts of women all over the world, especially the women in the poorer strata of society.

Time has gone by since the World Congress, where two thousand participants representing millions of women unanimously demonstrated their firm decision to fight for their democratic rights for the happiness of their children and for PEACE, and called on all women, the world over for closer cooperation in that fight.

The decisions of the World Congress of Women — expressing the dearest hopes and aspiration of women — constituted a concrete programme, on the basis of which activities have developed. After the Congress the decisions were discussed in thousands of meetings and assemblies and were approved by millions of women all over the world.

They helped to imbure the Women's Movement with a new spirit, to strengthen the action and organization of women in the struggle.

To put these decisions in effect the women's organizations of 27 countries including Sweden, Denmark, Brazil, Argentina, Austria, Japan, India, Indonesia, Israel and Norway, held women's congresses in the course of which, the most important questions concerning the defense of women's rights and the defense of children and of PEACE were discussed.

In September, 1953, at the initiative of the Women's International Democratic Federation, which has been fighting since its inception for an improvement in the lives of women and for their emancipation, a broad campaign in defense of women's rights was started, in application of the Declaration of Rights adopted in Copenhagen.

The campaign involved women in all countries it stimulated activity on the part of their organizations toward the same end and was carried out under the most varied forms.

The democratic women's organizations of Italy, France, Sweden, Finland and Argentina held national and regional congresses of working women and conferences by occupation conferences of peasant women, of house wives, of railroad men's wives, or miners' wives.

At these conferences women presented their demands for equal pay, for equal work and other important rights.

What affects women in one country — now that the world is so small — affects them all over the world — therefore, remember; One woman is useful, one hundred women are forceful, and one million women (united) are invincible.

Courier Editorials

Happier Days Are Here

THE NATIONAL Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the American Jewish Congress have just issued a very interesting and provocative report on progress in interracial relations entitled "Civil Rights in the United States: 1953."

It is an illuminating document for those who have been inclined to sell America short: i. e., the pessimists who have been moaning about how much the United States is being injured in world esteem by its failure to solve all of its problems.

The sixth in the annual series devoted to analysis of the interracial situation with regard to civil rights, the 189-page survey is replete with instance after instance showing the progress of civilization in a mere twelve-month period.

For a nation irrevocably committed to jim crowism (according to the propaganda) it seems that the United States did very well by itself in 1953.

Not only was there no retreat in the drive toward complete democracy, but the gains in several areas were spectacular.

There was a "noticeable decline" in lawless assaults on minority groups as well as a sharp drop in resort to violence to maintain inequality, such as less bombings of Negro homes, absence of lynchings and a decline in the killings of Negroes by peace officers.

There was a continuation of the trend toward opening of the ballot to Negroes, notably in Tennessee, Texas and Alabama, while the elimination of racial segregation in the armed services "initiated by the Truman Administration, has been vigorously pressed toward conclusion under President Eisenhower," with 90 per cent of the Negroes in the Army serving in unsegregated units, with the process likely to be completed by the summer of 1954.

Not only did the Federal Government file briefs during 1953 condemning segregation in two Supreme Court cases, but the Eisenhower Administration reversed the policy of segregation of civilian employes at Southern Naval bases.

In states, territories and cities the progress was marked by new anti-discrimination laws, with the total now twenty-six constitutional amendments, statutes and resolutions in twenty-one states.

Negroes during 1953 continued to broaden their vote and to win elective posts in the South, while all forms of mob violence markedly declined, along with more convictions of peace officers for brutality toward Negroes.

On the job front, opportunities for the employment of Negroes markedly increased, and at the end of the year seven states and one territory (Alaska) had fair employment laws effectively enforced; five states had legislation to that effect not well enforced, and twenty-seven cities in other states had fair employment ordinances.

The improvement in the school situation is well known, and it is steadily growing, what with twenty-four state-supported graduate and professional schools, thirteen state and municipal undergraduate schools and forty-six private institutions in the South and border states admitting Negro students, to a total of some 2,000.

Encouraging also is the improvement of interracialism in places of public accommodation, in housing and in transportation, with the most spectacular improvements in the District of Columbia.

Not only has the church lowered the color bars, but Negroes were admitted in 1953 to twenty-seven state and county medical associations in Southern states, leaving only the Georgia association restricted to whites.

The report is a voluminous document which we hope will be widely read by all those who want to know what is the exact status of interracial relations in the United States at the present time.

OKLAHOMA CONF. OF BRANCHES NAACP TO CELEBRATE SILVER JUBILEE IN OKLAHOMA CITY IN 1955

Life Memberships Purchased By Three Oklahomans At Last Week's Idabel Session

WILLIAMSTION, STAFF, REELECTED

IDABEL — With forty branches reporting representation, the Oklahoma Conference of Branches got under way in the auditorium of the CME church Thursday morning. Several visitors and friends came from Texarkana, Clarksville and other outlying points in Arkansas and Texas when President H. W. Williamston called the session to order.

Following the reading of the minutes of the last session by Mrs. Fedroa Moore, state secretary and their adoption, President Williamston named the various committees which were to function during the convention. The executive committee then went into session to discuss the various activities of the past year and to set the program for the following year, under the guidance and direction of the chairman, Editor Roscoe Dunjee, Oklahoma City.

Following a period for dinner the delegates at 2:00 o'clock went into session and heard welcome addresses from various local citizens, which was followed by a response from Mr. George W. Hubbard of Nowata. Dr. Williamston then delivered his annual address, in which he discussed the work of the association and the plans he had in mind for the future. The address was referred to the committee on president's address.

During the morning session, on motion of state chaplain, A. H. Byrd, the convention voted to send President Williamston and Editor Dunjee to Washington next month, at the time when the Supreme Court passes on the segregation cases. The cases are scheduled to be argued on the 6th of December.

The church was packed Thursday night to hear inspirational addresses delivered by Prof. Melvin B. Tolson, Langston university, and Attorney U. S. Tate, Dallas. A portion of Prof. Tolson's address was given over to a discussion of his experiences with President William S. V. Tubman, while that distinguished African was in the United States recently. The big audience laughed when Tolson reminded them that we had two Negro generals in this country, "But they do not have any army. I was strolling around with two Negroes who actually had a real honest to God army behind them" concluded Tolson.

Tate, in a large measure devoted his time to discussing the many cases he had handled in Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas during the past twelve months. Both speakers were loudly applauded.

Ira Hall, of the department of education was one of the Friday morning speakers, and at the afternoon session, preceeding the reports of the officers and the election, Gloster Current, of New York City conducted a workshop on desegregation. He told the delegates some of the problems they were going to face in entering the new social order, and a round-table followed with the delegates asking interesting questions.

When the time and place committee reported, it was decided to hold the next session in Oklahoma City, and declare it to be the Silver Anniversary of the Association. The tentative plans are for inviting the presidents of all of the state conferences in the nation to attend next year, in addition to being the oldest state conference in the United States, representatives from the various states will be requested to participate in a Silver Anniversary program. Efforts will be made to bring at least two outstanding speakers to Oklahoma for this occasion.

At the night session a splendid address was delivered by Gloster Current of New York City. Three members who had purchased life memberships were presented as follows: Mrs. D. J. Diggs, Oklahoma City; Dr. H. W. Williamston, and Editor Roscoe Dunjee. Current spent most of his time during his address telling his audience how necessary it is that every one purchase an annual membership in the NAACP, and that integration poses some serious problems that Negroes must plan to invest far more in than a mere two dollar membership.

Delegates were urged to go home to their branches and solicite life memberships from among the citizens. These memberships cost $500.00, and can be purchased on a ten year plan of $50.00 per year.

NAACP Views Segregation as History by 1963

Segregation in public schools in the South, including Georgia, will be a "thing of the past" by 1963, an official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People predicted here Friday night.

Gloster Current, national supervisor of NAACP branches, told delegates attending the 13th annual Georgia state conference that desegregation in Georgia "would be a lot easier if state officials would cooperate."

He said integration has "worked out fine" where state officials have cooperated in border states and urged delegates attending the Atlanta meeting to "talk less and do more because there is a long fight ahead to complete the job of integration."

A workshop conference will be held Saturday at the Butler Street YMCA. The conference will close Sunday with a mass meeting at Wheat Street Baptist Church.

NAACP Due To Put Million In Integration

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will have to spend a million dollars a year to carry out desegregation plans, delegates to the organization's state convention were told here Sunday.

Dr. James M. Hinton of South Carolina, speaking at the last session of a three-day conference at Wheat Street Baptist Church said each state will be asked to raise its quota to aid NAACP in working toward smoother implementation of the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

He warned Negroes to avoid "divided forces" in their efforts to end separate schools.

The May 17 decision of the high court saved face for the American people, he said. It advanced the American people as a whole, not just the colored race, he added.

Dr. Hinton said "the wide gap" between standards of white and Negro schools is argument enough against segregation.

Possible New Role For NAACP

The labor clinic, called by U. Simpson Tate, regional counsel of the NAACP, recently held in Waco, presents a possible new role for the NAACP in the climate of freedom into which Negro Americans are now emerging. Mr. Tate said that the clinic "promises immediate and great leverage to free both the individual laborer and the unions that have been hamstrung in the matter of employment, job promotions and upgrading."

While the immediate objective here was to be a "guide to lawyers who have to represent any individual or union in the matter of eliminating discrimination," doubtless the hope is that this may lead to the positive result of more employment and better employment and, perhaps, suggests a broader view of the word "advancement" in the name of the NAACP.

The point is that "the Advancement of Colored People" must necessarily take on new and broader significance as the legal barriers based on race and color are leveled. In the spirit of putting first things first, it has been proper and understandable that the important first steps necessarily concerned themselves with such things as breaking down the barriers to voting, set up by the white primaries, and the barriers to equal education set up by the separate schools.

People who have been under the handicaps of a segregated system, as we have been for so many decades, will need a new kind of approach to "Advancement" from that which was indispensable, when the big job was first to strike down the legal blockade which has stood in the way of advancement. The brief filed by North Carolina in the school segregation cases, for instance, made the point that Negro children are more retarded than white children, but it omits the simple fact that the deficiencies of the segregated schools are more to blame for this than anything else. The NAACP might very well include within its definition of "Advancement" the development of programs and techniques to help Negro children overcome the lags which the segregated pattern has imposed. Very soon, if the time is not already here, a redefinition of the word "Advancement" in the name of the NAACP would seem to be in order.

Cancel Bowles' NAACP Address

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — The New York State NAACP executive board last week unanimously approved the withdrawal of an invitation to Bryant Bowles to address a New York State conference of the organization.

The invitation had been issued earlier by a branch chairman in the belief that Bowles, self-styled leader of an NAWP (National Association for the Advancement of White People) and a violent opponent of desegregation in the public schools, might help to clarify public thinking.

NAACP Appoints Two To Help With Southern School Compliance

NEW YORK — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has appointed two new field secretaries to assist local NAACP branches in securing compliance with the Supreme Court decision banning segregated public schools, it was announced here recently by Roy Wilkins, Association administrator.

The new staff members are Edwin C. Washington, Jr., of Dallas, Texas, and Medgar Evers of Mound Bayou, Miss. Mr. Washington will be assistant field secretary for the Southwest region, and Mr. Evers for the State of Mississippi. They will work under supervision of Gloster B. Current, director of branches.

The Southwest region of the NAACP comprises Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas, and maintains headquarters in Dallas. Mr. Washington, who was associated with the Dallas NAACP branch and employed by the U. S. Post Office, attended Prairie View (Texas) A. and M. College.

Mr. Evers, former agency director for the Magnolia Mutual Life Insurance company in Mound Bayou, Miss., is an alumnus of Alcorn (Miss.) A. and M. College.

Mr. Current pointed out that the appointment of Mr. Washington and Mr. Evers brings to a total of four the persons who recently have been employed by the NAACP to carry out a directive of the national Board of Directors calling for assistance to Association branches in "a greatly expanded program of community action to implement the Supreme Court's decision (on public schools) on the local level."

Other recent appointments to the NAACP staff were those of Charles W. Greenlee, assigned to the State of Georgia, and Madison S. Jones, assigned to general field work. The National Association now employs 12 field secretaries and three regional secretaries.

Let Sleeping Dogs Lie

Nothing can be gained by refilming "The Birth of a Nation," and a great deal of harm can come from a revival of the Civil War "hate" picture. The N.A.A.C.P. rightly protests the remaking of a picture which engenders racial animosity and violence and which makes heroes out of Ku Klux Klansmen.

The National Association has vigorously fought the showing of this picture ever since it first appeared in 1915. Several years ago when the old film was brought out of the moth balls and put on the screen for the benefit of young viewers, the N.A.A.C.P. was successful in having the picture banned in many cities across the country. Now that a proposal has been made to remake the picture using the modern techniques of sound, Cinemascope, and color, the N.A.A.C.P. is objecting anew.

Also speaking out against the remaking of the film this week were two movie players who rose to stardom for their parts in the original "Birth of a Nation." One of them said, "It would be a flop, like most remakes." The other commented," You couldn't make it today. It is too controversial. The theaters would be blown up."

We doubt that the theaters actually would be blown up, but a revival of the picture certainly would react like a bomb on the emotions of those Americans who are just learning what the U. S. Constitution means by "equality before the law" and who are beginning for the first time to accept the principle of democracy in every day living. Much of the good work that has been done in recent years toward bringing about a closer understanding between the races would be undone. If the picture were distributed widely, it might slow up the progress toward integration which has been proceeding at such a rapid rate since the Supreme Court's decision banning separate schools.

If all movie goers were completely emotionally stable and level-headed persons who could view the film for its historical value without letting their thinking become distorted or their emotions disturbed, there would be no harm in reproducing the picture. But too many persons who go to movies are easily influenced by what they see and hear on the screen. The inflammatory "Birth of a Nation" would stir up feelings and memories that are best left unrevived.

No good can come from bringing out a new "Birth of a Nation." Let sleeping dogs lie.

32b 1954 NAACP

No Oddities These—

Negro students strolling tthe campus at Louisiana State University are no longer oddities. Negroes are graduating from a broad variety of courses. At Southwestern College at Lafayette, La., there are sixty-two Negroes in the under graduate school. Suits are pending to get into the others.—Rivera Photo.

IN LOUISIANA THEY'RE SCARED OF THE NAACP

By ROBERT M. RATCLIFFE and A. M. RIVERA JR.

BATON ROUGE, La.—The pompous political bosses of Louisiana are shaking in their battle-scarred Confederate boots.

They're scared of the NAACP. They're afraid that the "arrogant, alien NAACP and its hirelings" will "completely destroy the friendly relations now existing between our races."

These would-be lily-white politicians already have defied the Supreme Court and set up Hitler-like laws to enforce continued school segregation, but they still fear and deeply resent those "sinister rascals, the carpetbag NAACP."

In a stern warning to the NAACP, State Senator W. M. Rainach of Summerfield, chairman of a joint legislative police committee set up for the purpose of keeping the "sinister rascals" in line, declared:

"We will not tolerate their driving their wedge betwen our white and colored people . . . We can pack the NAACP off to where it belongs."

Meanwhile NAACP officials throughout the State of Louisiana take all of this with a smile. They have no fears. They continue to map their strategy, smoothly and calmly, refusing to expose their ace cards.

A little man in racially mixed New Orleans, Atty. A. P. Tureaud, sits behind his desk and directs the NAACP's legal fight. He isn't talking too much either, but his power is being felt throughout the state.

As a result of law suits brought by the NAACP, Negroes now are attending the graduate schools here at once all-white Louisiana State University and they are matriculating in large numbers on an undergraduate level at formerly all-white Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

These two important NAACP court victories stand as proof that the State of Louisiana will accept school integration once it is forced to do so. These two victories also stand as an explanation for the fear which appears to be enveloping the state's lily-white political bosses.

Furthermore, the NAACP is pushing another suit calling for mighty LSU to open the doors of its undergraduate school to Negroes.

The Louisiana State NAACP, now headed by Mrs. Doretha Combre of Lake Charles, has filed more than twenty other cases calling for school integration on the secondary and elementary level and in trade schools.

NEGRO LEADERSHIP in the state is not the strongest. The Negro is not too vote-conscious, and where he is politically strong, his vote is split by power-grabbing leaders. The white advocates of segregation know this, but they also know that Negroes, even the complacent ones, will reach into their pockets and pay for the court battles that will eventually bring about complete integration in this very mixed-up state.

Said one Negro leader: "We won't have any trouble getting money for our court fights."

There are a few Negroes who still go along with segregation, even a school principal or two and some teachers who are not fully qualified, but the majority of the teachers, the students and pupils, and the man on the street say without hesitation: "We should have had it a long time ago."

Said one teacher: "I'm ready. Hope it starts tomorrow."

* * *

THE CATHOLICS, considered the most powerful group in southern Louisiana, had been expected to be the first to wipe out school segregation, but they haven't done it yet and it is beginning to look as though they are going to adhere to the rebel cry of lily-white state politicians.

The Catholics could wipe out segregation in a minute. But, they still hold on to their separate schools.

There has been some integration by the Catholics on the college level.

Loyola University of the South in New Orleans, a Jesuit school, has admitted Negroes as undergraduates for the past five years, and two colored students have been admitted to the College of Sacred Heart at Grand Coteau, a small, but very old Catholic college for girls.

* * *

ARCHBISHOP Joseph Rummel announced earlier this year that he was considering a plan for integration of Catholic parochial schools, but he apparently yielded to public pressure and reaction, some of it coming from prominent white Catholic lay leaders.

His latest announcement on the subject said the Catholic Church would not take any action before public schools fall in line with the Supreme Court decision.

The Catholic powers supported the Supreme Court decision and later opposed Louisiana's Amendment 16 which outlaws mixed public schools, giving off the indication that they favor school integration.

But, it also is obvious that the Catholics are not anxious to disturb hostile whites, many of whom are Catholics, by ending segregation in the parochial schools.

* * *

THE CATHOLICS' biggest fear is this: they believe that integrated parochial schools would cause many of the white Catholic children to enroll in the now all-white public schools.

Such a movement, they say, would cause the Catholic Church a loss of considerable money because all parochial school pupils pay tuition.

More than 50 per cent of the white grade school pupils in the New Orleans area attend parochial schools and this has resulted in overcrowded conditions in the Catholic schools.

A large number of Negroes attend the all-Negro Catholic parochial schools but, in the public schools, colored pupils outnumber whites by a small margin.

* * *

INTEGRATION already is working smoothly on the undergraduate and graduate level in Louisiana, much to the disappointment of state political leaders.

More than two hundred Negroes are enrolled at Louisiana State University here. They are fully integrated and have full use of the dormitories and dining room.

Approximately eighty colored students are attending Southwestern Louisiana Institute on the undergraduate level. This is a state-supported school.

Negroes gained admission to LSU and SLI through court battles sponsored by the NAACP.

Negroes were admitted this year to the Baptist Seminary in New Orleans.

Catholic schools now enrolling Negroes on the undergraduate level are Loyola in New Orleans and the College of Sacred Heart for Girls at Coteau, La.

* * *

STUDENTS AND faculty of Tulane University in New Orleans have petitioned the board of trustees to admit Negroes. No decision has been made by the board members.

The doors of Xavier University (Catholic) and privately supported Dillard University, both in New Orleans, are open to all races but no whites have applied for admission to these institutions.

Neither Southern University nor Grambling College, supported by the state for Negro students, has been requested to enroll whites. Their state charters forbid Negroes attending school with whites. This policy, however, has been declared illegal by the Supreme Court.

* * *

ALTHOUGH colored students are attending the graduate schools at LSU, Negroes seeking undergraduate work there have been barred pending the outcome of a suit brought by A. P. Tureaud Jr., son of the NAACP lawyer in New Orleans. Tureaud Jr. is attending Xavier University while the suit is pending.

Young Tureaud attended LSU for a short time, living in the dormitory, but his registration was revoked on the grounds that equal facilities were available at Southern University.

A ruling of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in the Tureaud case, which uphold segregation, has been remanded by the Supreme Court on a question of procedure. The case was originally heard before the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals by only one judge, rather than the full three.

Attorneys for both sides now are trying to decide whether the case should be reconsidered on merit or procedure.

* * *

WHEN SCHOOL desegregation does come to Louisiana it is expected to work easier in the southern and southwestern sections of the state. Whites are said to be more hostile to Negroes in the northern part of Louisiana.

One New Orleans leader said no trouble is expected in New Orleans and Baton Rouge, where the whites are more "liberal" and because Negroes have shown some leadership among themselves and have been able to gain strength politically.

Yet, others argue that integration will be easier in spots like Lake Charles, Lafayette and Opelousas because there are so many light-complexioned Negroes and so many dark-skinned whites in those areas.

Some tension is expected to pop up in places like Shreveport, Alexandria, Ruston and Minden, and some of the smaller communities because of strong anti-Negro sentiment.

* * *

THE ORLEANS parish school board president, Dr. Clarence Scheps, made it clear that he is still for segregated schools. Even after admitting that Negro school buildings are inferior and less adequate than white schools, he said, "it is my considered opinion that a sudden, rapid integration in the public school system would do irreparable damage to the children of both races."

The New Orleanian said "A main pitfall of integration would be the reluctance of the people to approve new tax increases for the schools."

Dr. Scheps admitted that 7,800 Negro children in the Orleans parish are still on the platoon system, attending school only half of a day instead of a full day because of overcrowded conditions, and he admitted that fifty-one Negro classrooms in New Orleans are still heated by pot-bellied stoves.

* * *

THERE WERE two attempts to enroll Negro pupils in so-called all-white schools at the opening of the school term last fall. In both instances, the pupils were denied admission and sent back to all-Negro schools. There were no disturbances in connection with these moves.

Seven colored pupils were turned back at Gretna, just across the Mississippi River from New Orleans, and in Baton Rouge about forty Negro pupils were refused admission to an all-white school originally constructed for Negro use in a suburb known as Dixie.

The two Negro lawyers, A. L. Pitcher Jr. and Johnnie A. Jones, who escorted and represented the colored children seeking admission to the Dixie school, are now under fire and were to appear Dec. 2-3 before the Committee on Professional Ethics and Grievances of the Louisiana Bar Association.

Trouble started when several parents of the children seeking admission to the Dixie school told a state investigating committee that they had not authorized Attorneys Pitcher and Jones to represent their children.

The bar association has accused the two lawyers of being unethical and a fervent effort is being made to disbar the two Southeren University law school graduates.

This action against Pitcher and Jones can be traced, many believe, to the recently appointed ten-man joint legislative police committee which has been making a study and investigation of segregation-integration since the legislature closed.

This is the committee headed by Senator Rainach, the man who would like to chase the NAACP out of the state. Several volunteer white attorneys throughout the state are giving expert aid and advice to the committee.

* * *

WHILE THE State of Louisiana continues to use every scheme possible to hold on to segregation, Negro teachers of the state are fighting just as hard to bring about integration. Their organization is one of the strongest in Louisiana, and it is headed by J. K. Haynes, a man who was fired from his teaching post because he dared fight for equality.

The Negro teachers not only pay Mr. Haynes a larger salary than he received as a teacher, they also have financed most, if not all, of the school integration cases that have been ruled on or are pending in Louisiana courts.

Like South Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi, the State of Louisiana enacted laws aimed at delaying and, if possible, killing the Supreme Court decision on segregated schools.

The people in Louisiana went to the polls on Nov. 2 and approved Amendment 16 (the entire eligible Negro vote could not have killed it).

Amendment 16 places the police power of the state behind segregation; authorizes the legislature to enact laws on all matters "regarding the terms and qualifications for admission to the public schools," and provides that future amendments to the public school provisions of the constitution can be voted on at special elections instead of waiting for the biennial elections.

The Legislature was in session when the Supreme Court handed down its decision and the legislators went into a huddle and passed two acts, one which has almost the exact wording of Amendment 16. The other act makes the local school superintendent the authority in assigning children to specific schools.

Under its new laws, the State of Louisiana contends it is operating segregated schools as a means of "promoting and protecting public haelth, morals, better education and the peace and the good order of the state, and not because of race."

To Fight Segregation In Public

SELMA, Ala. (ANP) — An NAACP official told a cheering overflow audience at First Baptist church here last week that the organization plans to war on segregation in areas other than education.

Miss Constance B. Motley, NAACP attorney from New York, made a fighting speech against segregation in housing, transportation and recreation at the final session of the Alabama State convention meeting here.

In her speech, she explained why segregation in areas other than education must be abolished. Segregation in house, for example, she said, automatically produces segregated schools.

Segregation in transportation will be fought in court. She said a suit to abolish segregation in railroad cars and waiting rooms is now pending before the Interstate Commerce commission.

"We plan to attack segregation in local buses and anything else that rolls," she declared.

In education, Miss Motley revealed NAACP plans to "open up" the University of Alabama to Negroes.

She spoke with confidence as she said, "We will open up the law school, medical schools and graduate school, and any other school Negroes want to attend."

Negro Relation To NAACP Cited

NEWTON, Dec. 13 — "It is fallacious to reason that the Negro race does not want those things for which the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People stands. It is also fallacious to reason and to assert that the NAACP is Communist controlled."

These were the statements of Dr. Samuel Spencer, dean of men at Davidson college, in an address to Newton Kiwanians. Dr. Spencer traced the development of the Negro movement in this country from the day of Booker T. Washington.

The Negro does want those things for which the NAACP agitates, but he does not want trouble, Dr. Spencer said.

He further declared that the NAACP has not changed its platform, except for the inclusion of FEPC added in World War Two, since it was organized shortly after the beginning of the 20th century, Dr. Spencer said.

He said Communists in the United States, instead, adopted the platform of the NAACP in many instances in an effort to gain increased party membership through the Negro race.

The answer to present problems facing the South is not based on bloodshed, Dr. Spencer said, but rather on a Democratic process of approaching the problem with intelligence and a constructive background knowledge of the Negro, the NAACP and other factors involved.

NAACP Branches In Mississippi Get Threats, Calls

Birmingham, Ala.—Efforts to run the NAACP out of the State of Mississippi were reported here this week by Mrs. Ruby Hurley, the Association's Southeast Regional Secretary.

Mrs. Hurley described the efforts as "repercussions from the political campaign leading up to the recent primary election in Mississippi."

Action to run the NAACP out of the state was promised by the winner of the Senatorial nomination and several of the legislators in Mississippi, Mrs. Hurley explained.

She said her office has received numerous complaints from NAACP branches in Mississippi describing threatening visits and telephone calls by white persons to branch officers in several sections of Mississippi.

Cause of the lawless threats was laid by Mrs. Hurley to the recent Supreme Court decision banning segregated public schools and to increased interest among Negroes in voting.

"Although our people are terribly annoyed, they are not frightened as they might have been a few years ago," she observed.

Mrs. Hurley said she has been assured by the national office of the NAACP that the full resources of the Association will be used to protect Negroes in Mississippi.

32b 1954 NAACP

NAACP's Peekskill Chapter Rebuked by Dr. Tobias

NEW YORK—The Peekskill chapter of the NAACP was sharply rebuked last week for having invited Bryant W. Bowles to address a state-wide conference.

Dr. Channing H. Tobias, NAACP board chairman, took Peekskill branch President Melvin Tapley to task for asking Bowles, racist agitator and president, of what he calls the National Association for the Advancement of White People, to the meeting.

"The last thing in the world," Dr. Tobias said, "that the national office or the state conference of the NAACP would do would be to invite a character like that to take part in a program, even if the program was designed to show him up."

DR. TOBIAS promptly postponed the conference "indefinitely."

He said, "It is intolerable to extend an invitation to a man who stands in defiance of the implementation of the orders of the United States Supreme Court. He is not only up for trial in connection with his efforts to prevent those children from attending school—there are legal charges against him in Florida and Maryland—but he is facing legal action in connection with the funds of his organization and his own income tax return.

"The national board will investigate the motive back of issuing such an invitation and will report back in three weeks. The board has the power to revoke a chapter's charter if it finds a situation that is intolerable, and I certainly do feel that issuing such an invitation is intolerable."

NAACP

- Delegates from 5 states hold parley
- Wilkins hits Brownell's school brief

PHILADELPHIA.

Delegates from five eastern and border states who attended the week end emergency conference of the NAACP here voiced strong disapproval of gradualism in public school desegregation.

The keynote of the two-day conference, held at the Fellowship Commission building, was expressed in a speech by Roy Wilkins, national administrator.

"We do not believe," he told the 130 delegates, "that our children who have so long been deprived of their opportunities should now have to depend on the whims of thousands of localities to secure their constitutional rights as Americans."

REFERRING TO THE brief filed with the United States Supreme Court two weeks ago, the NAACP official added:

"It would paradoxical if it were decided for the first time that constitutional rights may be postponed because of anticipation of difficulties arising out of local feeling.

Wilkins declared that the schools cases were brought to vindicate rights which, as a matter of common knowledge and legal experience, need above all others protection against local attitudes and patterns of behavior.

THE OPENING SESSION of the conference was highlighted by reports on the resistance to ending of school segregation in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; Milford, Del.; Baltimore, Md., and Washington, D.C.

The reports were submitted by Willard Brown of White Sulphur Springs; John W. Flamer, Milford; Bowen Jackson, Baltimore; Dr. Margaret J. Butcher and Eugene Davidson, Washington.

The "incidents" were analyzed by Dr. Kenneth B. Clark, associate professor of psychology, City College, NYC.

* * *

DR. CLARK made the following recommendations:

1. NAACP branches cannot afford to compromise on the issue of desegregation of schools.

2. The organization must emphasize its role of advocate of law and order.

3. In communities where threats are made against advocates of desegregation, it is imperative that the program be carried out at any cost.

4. The NAACP must align itself with the respectable elements of communities.

5. Exploit the weaknesses of the opposition.

6. Give status and public acclaim to all organizations and individuals who support the cause of desegregation.

7. Make realistic appraisal of all factors on both sides of the issue.

Speakers at the morning session on Saturday were:

Joseph V. Baker, Philadelphia and Henry L. Moon, NYC; subject, "Use of public relations media to mold public opinion."

C. Anderson Davis and John L. Tilley, "Role of the church and religious groups."

Maurice Fagan, executive director, Philadelphia Fellowship Commission, "Role of civic and similar organizations."

Herbert Hill, "Role of organized labor."

At Saturday afternoon's session ways and means of working with school boards to implement integration were discussed.

Speakers included Robert L. Carter, NAACP special counsel; Spottswood Robinson 3rd, NAACP attorney for Virginia;

Dr. Butcher, member of the D.C. school board and Wagner D. Jackson, president, Wilmington, Del., NAACP.

A list of delegates, branches and towns follows:

PENNSYLVANIA

PHILADELPHIA: R. R. Lomax, Catharine and Mary Young, Mrs. Kathleen Martin, C D. Harris, Walter C. Wynn, Mrs. Rebecca Bowie, C. J. Moat, George Harris, Sam Hall, Charles A. Shorter, John D. R. Willis, Eversley, Vaughan, Joseph A. Horn, Robert Bonner;

BROWNSVILLE: Henry Jefferson, president; Henry Metcalf.

DAUPHIN COUNTY: F. L. Henly, Dr. George A. James, Mrs. Jones, Harriet Foister.

CARDALE: Mrs. Larry B. Jackson, Dolores Orenette, Mrs. Helen Miner;

PENN STATE CONFERENCE: Joshua Thompson, Ambler; Philip Smith, Ambler; William Smith, Guy McGee Henry Smith;

READING: Mrs Anita V. Jackson, Herbert G Jackson, Ira L. Thompson.

CARNELLSVILLE: Mrs. Elnora Calvin

MAINLINE: V. G. Birkhead, Miss Ann Hines, Isabell Strickland, Margaret Easton.

CHESTER: Mrs. Helen Saunders, Ernest Saunders, Edward Leatherstone, George Raymonds, Herman Webb, Mrs. Farleon Johnson, Miss Elayne Hackett, William Whitaker.

LAMOTT: Arthur Harris, Mrs. Ella Harris.

EASTON: Nora Washington, president; Rebecca Threadford, Elizabeth Franklin, George A. Clark.

NEW CASTLE: John B. Cambell;

WILLIAMSPORT: Mrs. Marie G. Bright;

DELAWARE

WILMINGTON: Miss Pauline Young, Mrs. Margaret J. Harvey, Earl C. Jackson, Luther Porter, Wagner Jackson, Ruth Kolber, Shirley Blatt, Mrs. Edith Delancey;

SUSSEX CO.: Rev. Randolph Fisher, Milford.

NEW JERSEY

CAMDEN: L. D. Proust, Mrs. Gertrude Williams, Mrs. Bessie Shivers;

RAHWAY: Charles Breame, Edgar Amos;

NEW BRUNSWICK: Theodore Taylor, Hall Mulasky, Joseph Welch;

MONTCLAIR: Mrs. O. W. Catlett;

JERSEY CITY: Rev. Joshua E. Licarist, Mrs. Cardelie G. Johnson, Walter Singleton;

ORANGE: Mrs. Blondine Bruce, D. T DeScaffenreid, Mr. Samuel A. Williams, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Delia Martin.

ATLANTIC CITY: Rev. W. L. D. Lyght, Mrs. Margaret Cantin, Mrs. Beatrice Boulden;

CUMBERLAND COUNTY: Solomon Riley; Joseph Miles;

HIGHTSTOWN: Thomas R. Williams, president;

ASBURY PARK: Mrs. Lillian B. Jones,

MARYLAND

MD. STATE CONF.: Kenneth Harner;

WORCESTER CO: Mrs. Elsie C. Briddell, E. C. Patton, Howard Showell, J. H. Patten, W. G. Brown;

HOWARD CO: Rev. E. E. Arter;

HARFORD CO: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Banks, Mr. Hannah B. Johnson;

TALBOT CO: Mrs. Dorothy Small, Rev. W. C. Davis, president; Rev. T. M. Murray;

BALTIMORE: George B Brown, Bowen Jackson, Mrs. Patricia Jackson, Rev. J. M. Tilley, Rev. O. S. Franklin;

PRINCE GEORGE: Mrs. Mary Brower, Irene Cross;

WICOMICO CO: Rhuel Watts

KENT CO: George E. Thomas

VIRGINIA

NORFOLK: Mesdames Gertrude G. Smith, president; Myrtle Wilson;

GLOUCESTER CO. Mrs. Emma Baytop;

RICHMOND: D. J. M. Tin W. Lester Banks;

FAIRFAX CO.: Dr. E. B. Hen son;

GREENVILLE CO.: M. D. Kn Mrs. E. R. Karox;

ACCOMAC CO.: Miss Violet G son, George White;

WEST VIRGINIA

CHARLESTON: Willard L. Brow

RALEIGH: William Beverly

BLUEFIELD: Rev. R. J. Watsor president;

HUNTINGTON: Mrs. C. M. Gray

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Dr. Margaret S. Butcher, Eugene Davison, Mrs. Davidson.

DR. MARGARET J. BUTCHER
Capital integrates

EUGENE DAVIDSON
Progress in D.C.

ROY WILKINS
Keynote speaker

DR. U. S. WIGGINS
New Jersey doings

JOHN W. FLAMER
Milford situation

MRS. LILLIAN JACKSON
Baltimore victory

Rev. Hinton Says Race Must Take Initiative In Implementation

Daily Worker Tues. 12-7-54

P. 1 Atlanta, Ga.

James M. Hinton, dynamic state NAACP leader of South Carolina, told the closing session of the Georgia State Conference of NAACP branches, that segregation in education denies training to the race for many skilled jobs and the Negro must take the initiative in implementing the May 17th decision. The man who gave leadership to the Clarendon County, S. C. public school segregation case which was part of the U. S. Supreme Court's historic May decision also predicted that once the court makes its decision on implementation "it would courageously enforce it."

As the principal speaker at the final NAACP session which was held at Wheat Street Baptist Church Sunday afternoon, Mr. Hinton declared that the anti-segregation decision perhaps meant more to the nation than to the Negro because "now the country can lift up its head and look all in the face and say it really believes in democracy for all."

Despite that some people in both races have what he described as a "vested interest" in the segregation system, the South Carolinian said it was wrong and a handicap to the Negro. He said more and more persons in the white race are coming to this conclusion. He cited recent favorable stands by the Methodist Bishops and the Southern Baptists, with white groups, in regards to the court's anti-segregation decision.

INEQUALITY POINTED UP

He said South Carolina is now spending about 65 per cent of school funds on Negroes. This is proof of the disparity between facilities in education between the races in that state, he said.

Mentioning the citizens Councils which sprung up in Mississippi and Alabama in an effort by some white people to prevent integration in education by exerting economic pressure on Negroes. Rev. Hinton said the Negroes spend about 16 billion dollars annually and they could depend on themselves against such pressure by applying some pressure of their own.

Illustrating that firmness was necessary by the court in dealing with the segregation issue, the speaker said high officials in South Carolina had made default statements before and after the decision out-lawing the white primary. But after the court made its decision, the judge called in party officials and told the mhe would be in his office on election day and the Negro was not to be denied the right to vote.

"If the Negro shows the courage to stand up," the speaker said, he would have all the necessary support. He warned that attempts will be made to divide Negro leadership and cited a development in his state and the September primary here in Georgia. But the divide and defeat tactic will not work in the fight against segregation, he predicted.

In closing, Hinton said the people in the rural areas were showing more courage about the school segregation issue than those in some of the urban areas.

Dr. William Boyd, president of the Georgia Conference, presented Rev. Hinton.

William Jackson of Morris Brown College and James Hudson of Clark College rendered musical numbers, accompanied by Johnson Hubert.

Aid From the CIO

P.C.

THE Congress of Industrial Organizations through the Philip Murray Memorial Foundation has made a magnificent gift of $75,000 to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for use in promoting full acceptance of civil rights guaranteed by the Constitution. Courier

Most of this generous gift will be used by the Legal Defense and Education Fund, Inc., during the next three years to develop "understanding and acceptance of desegregation of institutions and activities under governmental control." P. 6 Post 5-22-54

We agree with Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO, who, in making the presentation to NAACP President Arthur B. Spingarn, warned that "the free world cannot win the struggle against communism merely by building great military power or flexing its economic muscles," although the advantages of having such power cannot be ignored in the face of Soviet world-wide aggression.

We hope that the American Federation of Labor, the great financial and industrial combines, and the churches of all faiths in this country will match the generosity of the CIO.

The NAACP has demonstrated by its numerous victories that it knows how to touch the conscience of America in the drive toward the goal of an America without color bias, but to continue its good work it needs concrete aid from those who have the money and can afford to give it. Pittsburgh

The aid they give will be a gauge of their sincerity in wanting to eliminate color bias and discrimination from this civilization.

To Hear Reports P. 1

Reports on the various incidents will be made by local representatives. T. G. Nutter of West Virginia will tell the story of White Sulphur Springs. Mrs. Lillie M. Jackson will report on Baltimore, Eugene Davidson on Washington, and John W. Flamer on Milford. Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors will deliver the keynote address at the opening session, Friday.

Saturday will be devoted to discussions of ways and means of organizing community support for integration and of working with school boards to implement the program. Among speakers scheduled to address these sessions are Rev. C. Anderson Davis, president, NAACP branch, Blufield, W. Va.; George Schermer, director, Philadelphia Fellowship Commission; Herbert Hill, NAACP labor relations assistant; Robert L. Carter, NAACP assistant special counsel; Dr. Margaret Just Butcher, member, District of Columbia Board of Education; and Spottswood W. Robinson, Ill,. NAACP atorney for Virginia.

Call Emergency Conference On School Desegregation

Bystander Des Moines, Ia.

Philadelphia,—A two-day emergency conference of branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will be held here during the Thanksgiving Day week-end, November 26-27. The conference, to be atended by delegates from Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Virginia and the District of Columbia, will consider problems arising out of desegregation of public schools in those states and in Washington.

Following anti-integration demonstrations in White Sulphur Springs W. Va.; Melford, Del. and Baltimore and Washington, the NAACP Board of Directors authorized the calling of the emergency conference. An analysis of these incidents and suggestions for dealing with them will be presented by Dr. Alfred McClung Lee Brooklyn College sociology professor

Pan. 11-11-54

32b 1954

NAACP

NAACP Civil Rights Drive Nets Funds

NEW YORK — A total of $3,533 has been reported by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for its Fight for Freedom campaign, in the fortnight ending today.

Branch contributions to the campaign during the fortnight were: Lake Charles, La., $1,000; the Virginia State Conference of Branches, $2,000; Weldon, N. C., $100; Jackson, Miss., $250; Perry, Okla., $25; Meridian, Miss., $50; Miami, Fla., $25; Hyde County, N. C., $8.

In addition, the campaign received $75 in miscellaneous contributions.

School Integration analyzed in Crisis

NEW YORK — Dr. Alfred McClung Lee, Brooklyn College professor, and Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington bureau of the NAACP, have written articles analyzing the recent anti-integration school demonstrations.

The articles are in the November issue of Crisis, official organ of the NAACP. Dr. Lee calls for strong civic leadership in the transitional period, while Mr. Mitchell points out that, "firm law enforcement at the first sign of trouble can prevent its spread."

'We Dare Defend'—The motto for the State of Alabama is "We dare defend our rights" and there are some people of color who believe in it. Top left is Aaron Sellers making his report to Mrs. G. R. Lee, financial secretary of the NAACP in Alabama. Sellers sued registrars and now six Negroes are registered in his county although there are over 8,000 eligibles. Top center, you have to be a voter to belong to the swank Citizens Club of Montgomery, Ala. A. C. Green, proprietor, checks the record before admitting anyone. Top right, Dan Byrd, NAACP field representative, and W. A. Paton of Birmingham, discuss a procedural issue at the recent Alabama State NAACP session in Selma, Paton is state prexy. Ruby Hurley, regional NAACP representative, chats with the Rev. Wiley Hollis of Dallas County on the outlook. Says the Rev. Mr. Hollis, "Things are better but our people is a scared nation." In Talladega, Ala., white and Negro children attending the Sessoms school play happily together. They belong to the same Scout units and school clubs.—Rivera Photo.

MRS. MEMPHIS T. GARRISON, (right) originator of the NAACP Holiday Seals Campaign, shows 1954 issue of seals to Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman, NAACP Board of Directors, as Miss Bobbie Branche, director of this year's 28th annual campaign, looks on.

Miss Branche wears a hat and a corsage fashioned out of the holiday seals. The hat was designed by Bill Howard of Detroit's famed House of Beauty. The seals are now on sale through the NAACP national office and through local branches throughout the country.

Desegregate Now, NAACP Lawyers Say

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Decrees ordeing immediate desegregation in public schools are asked by the attorneys for NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund in their brief filed with the United States Supreme Court last week in answer to the Court's questions on the implementation of the May 17, decision.

However, if the Supreme Court issues its decrees at a time when desegregation would present an administrative problem, September 1955, is the date the court is asked to order the defendants in the five school segregation cases to put an end to their Jim Crow schools.

On the other hand, should the Court decide to grant the schools time to develop and institute a gradual desegregation plan, then September, 1956, is asked as as "the outside date by which desegregation must be accomplished."

The lawyers do not ask the court to direct or supervise the decrees. They claim no elaborate decree structure is necessary.

The May 17 decision was the result of five cases brought before the high court challenging the validity of the statues requiring the separation of the races in public and elementary schools. They came from Kansas. South Carolina, Delaware, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

NAACP legal defense attorneys are Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel and director-counsale of NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., New York, and Harold R. Boulware, Columbia, S.C., (the South Carolina case); Robert L. Carter, NAACP Assistant special counsel and assistant counsel of legal defense, New York, and Charles Scott, Topeka, Kans. (The Topeka case); Spottswood Robinson, III, Southeast regional counsel of legal Defense and Oliver W. Hill, member of the Legal Defense National Legal committee, both of Richmond, Va. (the Virginia case); Jack Greenberg, legal defense assistant counsel, New York, and Louis L. Redding, member Legal Defense National Legal committee, Wilmington, Del. (Delaware case); and James M. Nabrit, professor of Law at Howard university and member of Legal Defense National Legal committee, and George E. C. Hayes Washington, D. C. (the D. C. case)

NAACP Branch Fights 'Blackout' By Board

WASHINGTON, D. C. (NNPA)—Levelling a blistering attack upon the national administration of the NAACP, a committee has launched an all-out fight to elect Eugene Davidson, president of the local branch of the NAACP, as a member of the national board of directors of the NAACP.

In a letter to NAACP branches throughout the country, the "Committee for Eugene Davidson" charges the national administration with ignoring local branches in carrying on certain NAACP activities.

As examples, it cites the National NAACP Youth conference, held here, at which Vice President Richard M. Nixon spoke, and the launching of the Freedom Fund Campaign, sponsored by the national office, at which President Eisenhower spoke.

The letter, signed by H. Carl Moultrie, secretary of the local N.A.A.C.P. branch, charges that the Washington branch was ignored in connection with both of these events and that Walter White, N. AAACP. executive secretary, wrote a letter seeking to justify the "branch blackout."

This controversy, the letter says, was finally resolved by Dr. Channing Tobias chairman of the N.A.A.C.P. board agreeing that "no branch anywhere should ever be ignored when NAACP public meetings are held in cities with branches."

The letter also revives the controversy between the local branch and Dr. Montague Cobb, a member of the national board, who resigned in protest against an action taken by the local branch, writing a letter to newspapers stating his reasons.

The board has failed to take any action in this matter, "threatening a basic principle of branch protection against the wrongful and irresponsible action of a national board member," the letter asserts.

The letter also charges that the national administration gave Bishop Stephen G. Spootswood of the AME Zion church, a delegate voting badge at the Dallas convention last summer, accrediting him to the local branch, although he was not a delegate from that branch.

Although the national nominating committee had before it Mr. Davidson's name as a candidate recommended by the local branch, the letter charges, it nominated Bishop Spottswood upon the recommendation of the national administration.

"The nominating committee has, with rare impropriety, we think, and with calculated design to neutralize the constitutional rights of members to nominate by petition, circulated branches with a campaign plea that its slate be elected rather than substitutions of any of the three persons on the ballot by petitions," the letter also charges.

It adds that "these facts strongly substantiate our belief that there is a dangerous trend against and not for branch participation and that the national administration is becoming more and more unresponsive to branch sentiment.'

To check this alleged trend, the letter urges other branches to vote for Mr. Davidson.

Va. Masons present $1,000 to Marshall

NEW YORK, N.Y.—The Prince Hall Masons of Virginia last Monday presented Thurgood Marshall of the NAACP with a $1,000 check for the continuance of its legal research fund.

The check was presented to Mr. Marshall by Dave Alston, past grand master of Prince Hall Masons in Virginia in the NAACP legal fund's offices at 107 West 43rd St.

Mr. Marshall, in accepting the check, said it brought to a total of more than $70,000 the amount which Prince Hall Masons all over the nation have given to the Prince Hall Mason's Legal Research Fund during the past three years.

THE PRINCE Hall Masons agreed three years ago to provide the sum of $20,000 a year to Mr. Marshall for legal research. The action was taken at a grand masters conference.

Since that time, although various jurisdictions of the Masons are independent of each other and, therefore, were not bound to the agreement, Mr. Marshall reported that checks are received at his office regularly from various Masonic jurisdictions.

THE CHECK Mr. Alston presented to Mr. Marshall was drawn on the First State Bank of Danville, Va. M. C. Martin, president of the Danville bank, is grand treasurer of the Virginia Masons.

The Rev. W. L. Ransome of Richmond is grand master. J. W. Jeffress, Lynchburg, is grand secretary. All of the money given the NAACP by the Prince Hall Masons goes directly into legal research.

NAACP

● Delegates from 5 states hold parley

● Wilkins hits Brownell's school brief

PHILADELPHIA

Delegates from five eastern and border states who attended the week end emergency conference of the NAACP here voiced strong disapproval of gradualism in public school desegregation.

The keynote of the two-day conference, held at the Fellowship Commission building, was expressed in a speech by Roy Wilkins, national administrator.

"We do not believe," he told the 130 delegates, "that our children who have so long been deprived of their opportunities should now have to depend on the whims of thousands of localities to secure their constitutional rights as Americans."

REFERRING TO THE brief filed with the United States Supreme Court two weeks ago, the NAACP official added:

"It would paradoxical if it were decided for the first time that constitutional rights may be postponed because of anticipation of difficulties arising out of local feelings."

Wilkins declared that the schools cases were brought to vindicate rights which, as a matter of common knowledge and legal experience, need above all others protection against local attitudes and patterns of behavior.

THE OPENING SESSION of the conference was highlighted by reports on the resistance to ending of school segregation in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; Milford, Del.; Baltimore, Md., and Washington, D.C.

The reports were submitted by Willard Brown of White Sulphur Springs; John W. Flamer, Milford; Bowen Jackson, Baltimore; Dr. Margaret J. Butcher and Eugene Davidson, Washington.

The "incidents" were analyzed by Dr. Kenneth B. Clark, associate professor of psychology, City College, NYC.

* * *

DR. CLARK made the following recommendations:

1. NAACP branches cannot afford to compromise on the issue of desegregation of schools.
2. The organization must emphasize its role of advocate of law and order.
3. In communities where threats are made against advocates of desegregation, it is imperative that the program be carried out at any cost.
4. The NAACP must align itself with the respectable elements of communities.
5. Exploit the weaknesses of the opposition.
6. Give status and public acclaim to all organizations and individuals who support the cause of desegregation.
7. Make realistic appraisal of all factors on both sides of the issue.

Speakers at the morning session on Saturday were:

Joseph V. Baker, Philadelphia and Henry L. Moon, NYC; subject, "Use of public relations media to mold public opinion."

C. Anderson Davis and John L. Tilley, "Role of the church and religious groups."

Maurice Fagan, executive director, Philadelphia Fellowship Commission, "Role of civic and similar organizations."

Herbert Hill, "Role of organized labor."

At Saturday afternoon's session ways and means of working with school boards to implement integration were discussed.

Speakers included Robert L. Carter, NAACP special counsel; Spottswood Robinson 3rd, NAACP attorney for Virginia; Dr. Butcher, member of the D.C. school board and Wagner D. Jackson, president, Wilmington, Del., NAACP.

A list of delegates, branches and towns follows:

PENNSYLVANIA

PHILADELPHIA: R. R. Lomax, Catharine and Mary Young, Mrs. Kathleen Martin, C D. Harris, Walter C. Wynn, Mrs. Rebecca Bowie, C. J. Moat, George Harris, Sam Hall, Charles A. Shorter, John D. R. Willis, Eversley, Vaughan, Joseph A. Horn, Robert Bonner;

BROWNSVILLE: Henry Jefferson, president; Henry Metcalf.

DAUPHIN COUNTY: F. L. Henly, Dr. George A. James, Mrs. Jones, Harriet Foister.

CARDALE: Mrs. Larry B. Jackson, Dolores Orenette, Mrs. Helen Miner;

PENN STATE CONFERENCE: Joshua Thompson, Ambler; Philip Smith, Ambler; William Smith, Guy McGee Henry Smith;

READING: Mrs Anita V. Jackson, Herbert G Jackson, Ira L. Thompson.

CARNELLSVILLE: Mrs. Elnora Calvin

MAINLINE: V. G. Birkhead, Miss Ann Hines, Isabell Strickland, Margaret Easton.

CHESTER: Mrs. Helen Saunders, Ernest Saunders, Edward Leatherstone, George Raymonds, Herman Webb, Mrs. Farleon Johnson, Miss Elayne Hackett, William Whitaker.

LAMOTT: Arthur Harris, Mrs. Ella Harris.

EASTON: Nora Washington, president; Rebecca Threadford, Elizabeth Franklin, George A. Clark.

NEW CASTLE: John B. Cambell;

WILLIAMSPORT: Mrs. Marie G. Bright;

DELAWARE

WILMINGTON: Miss Pauline Young, Mrs. Margaret J. Harvey, Earl C. Jackson, Luther Porter, Wagner Jackson, Ruth Kolber, Shirley Blatt, Mrs. Edith Delancey;

SUSSEX CO.: Rev. Randolph Fisher, Milford.

NEW JERSEY

CAMDEN: L. D. Proust, Mrs. Gertrude Williams, Mrs. Bessie Shivers;

RAHWAY: Charles Breame, Edgar Amos;

NEW BRUNSWICK: Theodore Taylor, Hall Mulasky, Joseph Welch;

MONTCLAIR: Mrs. O. W. Catlett;

JERSEY CITY: Rev. Joshua E. Licarist, Mrs. Cardelie G. Johnson, Walter Singleton;

ORANGE: Mrs. Blondine Bruce, D. T DeScaffenreid, Mr. Samuel A. Williams, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Delia Martin.

ATLANTIC CITY: Rev. W. L. D. Lyght, Mrs. Margaret Cantin, Mrs. Beatrice Boulden;

CUMBERLAND COUNTY: Solomon Riley; Joseph Miles;

HIGHTSTOWN: Thomas R. Williams, president;

ASBURY PARK: Mrs. Lillian B. Jones,

MARYLAND

MD. STATE CONF.: Kenneth Harner;

WORCESTER CO: Mrs. Elsie C. Briddell, E. C. Patton, Howard Showwell, J. H. Patten, W. G. Brown;

HOWARD CO: Rev. E. E. Arter;

HARFORD CO: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Banks, Mr. Hannah B. Johnson;

TALBOT CO: Mrs. Dorothy Small, Rev. W. C. Davis, president; Rev. T. M. Murray;

BALTIMORE: George B Brown, Bowen Jackson. Mrs. Patricia Jackson, Rev. J. M. Tilley, Rev. O. S. Franklin;

PRINCE GEORGE: Mrs. Mary Brower, Irene Cross;

WICOMICO CO: Rhuel Watts

KENT CO: George E. Thomas

VIRGINIA

NORFOLK: Mesdames Gertrude G. Smith, president; Myrtle Wilson;

GLOUCESTER CO. Mrs. Emma Baytop;

RICHMOND: D. J. M. Tinsley, W. Lester Banks;

FAIRFAX CO.: Dr. E. B. Henderson;

GREENVILLE CO.: M. D. Knox, Mrs. E. R. Karox;

ACCOMAC CO.: Miss Violet Gibson, George White;

WEST VIRGINIA

CHARLESTON: Willard L. Brown,

RALEIGH: William Beverly

BLUEFIELD: Rev. R. J. Watson, president;

HUNTINGTON: Mrs. C. M. Gray

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Dr. Margaret S. Butcher, Eugene Davison, Mrs. Davidson.

EUGENE DAVIDSON
Progress in D.C.

ROY WILKINS
Keynote speaker

DR. U. S. WIGGINS
New Jersey doings

DR. MARGARET J. BUTCHER
Capital integrates

JOHN W. FLAMER
Milford situation

Fighter—Mrs. Doretha Combre of Lake Charles, La., is one of the few women state presidents of the NAACP. She is a fearless leader and narrowly missed a seat on the school board twice. Mrs. Combre (right) is discussing her campaign with a supporter.—Rivera Photo.

MRS. LILLIAN JACKSON
Baltimore victory

$100 A Doctor Fund Sought To Fight Bias In Medicine

Tuskegee, Ala. (ANP).—A proposal that every Negro doctor in the country kick in $100 each to a fund to rid the medical profession of racial discrimination was made here last week by Dr. W. Montague Cobb, professor of anatomy at Howard university and editor of the Journal of the National Negro Medical association.

Speaking before the annual meeting of the John A. Andrew Clinical society, Dr. Cobb pointed out that history has proven segregated medical systems are unworkable and should be abolished. He added that the American Medical association assessed its members $25 each to fight the national health insurance proposal and said Negro doctors should be willing to put up $100 to banish discrimination from health areas."

He suggested that the $100 apiece by the 4,100 colored physicians and surgeons be turned over to the NAACP's "Fighting Fund for Freedom" campaign, which is aimed at ridding the nation of racial discrimination by 1963. That year will mark the 100th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation.

NAACP To Spend Million A Year For Desegregation

ATLANTA, Ga—The NAACP will have to spend a million dollars a year to carry out its program in the interests of desegregation, Dr. James M. Hinton of South Carolina, told delegates to a three-day NAACP session at Wheat Street Baptist Church here. In order to raise the money necessary, each state will be asked to raise its quota, he added. Hinton warned the delegates to beware of "divided forces" in their fight. He added that the "wide gap between standards of white and Negro schools is argument enough against desegregation."

ADD TO STAFF

Meanwhile, on another front—from New York City, Roy Wilkins, NAACP Administrator, announced that the organization has appointed new field secretaries in two states to assist branches in fighting segregated public schools. The new staffers are Edwin C. Washington, jr., of Dallas, Texas, and Medgar Evers of Mound Bayou, Mississippi. Washington is assigned to the Southwest region, including Arkansas, Louisiana, New Orleans, Oklahoma and Texas, with Dallas headquarters. Evers will handle the state of Mississippi. Both will work under direction of Gloster B. Current, NAACP director of branches. Formerly associated with the Dallas NAACP and employed by the U. S. Post Office, Washington attended Prairie View

Altar of race mixing.

"The White Race is the builder of civilization. If the White Race

Company in Mound Bayou, Miss., is an alumnus of Alcorn A and M College.

NAACP gold pins to 5 campaign workers

CHICAGO, Ill. — Gold NAACP pins have been awarded to five members of the Chicago Branch of the NAACP for securing 50 or more members in the 1954 Fight for Freedom membership campaign now in progress.

The recipients of the pins were Mrs. Amy P. Victor, Dr. R. N. Green, Bernard T. Dooley, Albert Brooks and Lee Hamilton. The pins were presented at the NAACP membership meeting last week by Cora M. Patton, president of the Chicago Branch.

New State Officers For NAACP

OFFICERS FOR THE ensuing year were elected at the annual meeting of the NAACP Missouri State Conference of Branches last week end in Charleston, Mo. Pictured here are the officers-elect and Gloster Current, director of branches of New York. They are from left: Harvey E. Parham of St. Louis, president; Jesse Sterling of Cape Girardeau, 2nd vice president; A. P. Marshall of Jefferson City, 1st vice prseident; Mrs. Joyce Dotson of Kansas City, assistant secretary; Mrs. Velma Woodson of Kansas City, secretary; L. B. Boler of Charleston, treasurer; and Gloster B. Current, Director of Branches, NAACP. Only Mr. Sterling is new. He replaces the Rev. George Bell of Cape Girardeau, who was forced from his pastorate because of his vigorous NAACP activities in the segregation issue.

NAACP Will Aid In All Local School Desegregation Efforts

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—A national officer of the NAACP this week pledged the "full resources" of the Association to any local legal effort to secure desegregation of the schools in line with the Supreme Court decision banning segregated schools.

Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator, told a meeting of the NAACP branch here that resistance to the Supreme Court no-segregation rule is "sporadic" and that "dozens of communities have carried out desegregation successfully."

The meeting, held on October 10, was attended by the Mayor and Congressman Donald Jackson.

Addressing the Pacific Tow Club in Los Angeles on Octobe 12, Mr. Wilkins praised the spiri of the 28 citizens of that area whi have taken out NAACP life memberships or become life membership subscribers since the first of the year. Dr. H. Claude Hudson, national NAACP board member, is president of the club.

Explaining that the NAACP needs funds to carry out desegregation in local communities, Mr. Wilkins urged more large gifts to the Association as well as life memberships "to speed the elimination of segregation from American life."

NAACP Charges Fight Looming To Oust Group In Mississippi

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 3 (AP)—Reports indicating that efforts have been started "to run the National Association for Advancement of Colored People out of Mississippi" have been received, an NAACP official said today.

Mrs. Ruby Hurley, NAACP regional secretary here, charged that the attempt "was promised by the winner of the (U.S.) senatorial nomination and several of the legislators" in the recent Democratic Primary there.

Sen. James Eastland, a Delta planter, was renominated for another term last week. He defeated Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin of Laurel.

Mrs. Hurley said complaints of intimidation had been received from six counties scattered around Mississippi. 'It is expected that the matter will be placed before the department of justice," she said.

"In one county," she asserted, "certain law enforcement officers together with a number of other persons walked in on one of our branch meetings and warned our people to leave registration and voting alone when they learned that was the purpose of the meeting.

"We have had numerous complaints about threatening telephone calls and visits by white persons to our branch officers in several sections of Mississippi.

The official said the U.S. Supreme Court decision affecting segregation in public schools and Negroes in registration and voting "are the underlying causes of the recent actions against the NAACP."

Mrs. Hurley said in another statement that the NAACP is non-political, and does not endorse any candidate in the current Georgia primary race. She said false charges have been made that the organization was backing certain candidates.

NAA[illegible] — Launching of the 1954 NAACP Holiday Seals drive was announced this week by Miss Bobbie Branche who manages the annual campaign. The new seal, in red and green, shown above was designed by Miss Louise Jefferson of New York City.

Mrs. Jackson re-elected by NAACP

Crusader serving 20th year at helm of Baltimore unit

BALTIMORE

Reporting 7,050 members and $18,061 in cash from its successful annual membership campaign, the Baltimore Branch NAACP unanimously re-elected Mrs. Lillie M. Jackson, president at the annual election of officers and victory membership meeting Tuesday night at the Sharp Street Methodist Church.

Serving her twentieth year at the helm of the NAACP, Mrs. Jackson recounted the growth of the branch from its inactivity in 1935 to its present status as the Thalheimer Award winner at the National Convention in Texas last summer for being one of the largest branches and having the most active program in the country.

A native Baltimorean, Mrs Jackson's mother, Amanda Bowen, was freeborn in Baltimore in 1854. Her father, Charles Carroll, descendant of the signer of the Declaration of Independence, was freeborn in Howard County in 1838.

Said Mrs. Jackson, "The spirit of freedom is in my blood stream."

— o O o —

DURING THE MEETING, Mrs. Jackson paid tribute to the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers and its president, Dr. Carl Murphy, for their long fight against injustice to and oppression of colored citizens.

Mrs. Jackson declared the NAACP and the AFRO-AMERICAN had been twin generals in the NAACP's fight for freedom.

The church also came in for special commendation from Mrs. Jackson. She said: "The NAACP is God's workshop and the ministers of our city have been most cooperative in helping to help God bring brotherhood to Baltimore."

The labor, business and professional people were also praised for their constant support of the NAACP's cause.

The president pledged an unceasing, uncompromising fight of the NAACP until every vestige of unconstitutional discrimination is ended.

The branch voted to continue the membership campaign until December 15th to give every church organization, and interested citizen an opportunity to get their memberships and contributions in to the branch office at 402 Dolphin Street.

NAACP Names C. W. Greenlea Field Secretary

Charles W. Greenlea of Atlanta has been appointed NAACP Field Secretary for the state of Georgia, it has been announced by Walter White, Executive Secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

A native Atlantan, Greenlea has been active for many years in civic and political affairs of the city and the state.

He is a member of the Executive Committee of the Atlanta Branch NAACP and has been an active volunteer in NAACP work for many years.

Greenlea was formerly connected with the Atlanta Daily World and reporter for the Associated Negro Press. Prior to his newspaper position, the Georgia NAACP Field Secretary, was director of Atlanta's U. S. O. Servicemen's Center.

The new Field Secretary is a graduate of Morehouse College, and a former student of Atlanta University School of Social Work and Columbia University. He is a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

COORDINATING POST

Greenlea's work will consist of coordinating the activities of the NAACP throughout the state of Georgia in close cooperation with Dr. W. M. Boyd, President of the Georgia State Conference of NAACP Branches. A major portion of his work will entail assisting with activities of the Atlanta Branch, the State's largest, in cooperation with Prof. C. L. Harper, President.

In accepting the appointment Greenlea stated, "I am happy that I have been chosen for this honor, certainly I shall do all that I can to push the program of the NAACP in this state.

Our main order of business is to exert all of our energy toward implementing the Supreme Court's decision outlawing segregation."

CHARLES GREENLEA

TYLERTOWN NEGROES SAY THEY DID NOT UNDERSTAND WORDING OF SCHOOL PETITION AS PRES. OF NAACP BRANCH RESIGNS

TYLERTOWN, Miss. Aug. 17—The president of the Walthall County chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said he had resigned after presenting a petition to the county school board because he had not known the petition's "far-reaching effects."

Education Supt. Edd Duncan said the petition was a "form furnished the local NAACP chapter by the national headquarters" which asked reorganization of the county schools in accordance with the May 17 Supreme Court ruling banning school segregation.

Duncan said the petition was signed by 30 names, with chapter president Sidney Allen signing first.

But Allen told the school board, "I talked to a majority of the 30 Negroes signing the petition and have found that they, like myself, did not thoroughly understand the wording of the petition. The petition was read before our meeting one time. It's contents were then represented to us as an appeal for better schools, better transportation and an opportunity to be heard by the county board of trustees.

"On this basis we signed the petition. Had we known its far-reaching effects, we would not have signed it."

By U. S. Official

NAACP Told To Eschew Race Blocs

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 13 (UP).—Assistant Secretary of Labor J. Ernest Wilkins said yesterday there is danger the world will be broken up into racial blocs such as "Asia for the Asians, Africa for Negroes, Europe for white people and America for whoever can get in."

Wilkins, a Negro, said no group of Americans should be "part of a world-wide association of colored people."

"I do believe that the role of Negro leadership in America can help to develop a character for our country which is sensitive to all of the many kinds of people who inhabit the earth," he said.

Wilkins spoke to the Baltimore branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Wilkins said no other single achievement has done as much to improve U. S. prestige abroad as the Supreme Court's May 17 decision outlawing racial segregation in public schools. He said he based his statement on conversations with people from all over the world.

Board Approves Tobias' Role In Banning Bowles At Meet

NEW YORK—The prompt action of Dr. Channing H. Tobias, NAACP board chairman, in averting the appearance of a notorious racist at a conference of the New York State NAACP has been fully approved by the Association's Board of Directors. The board expressed unanimous agreement with its chairman's action at its regular monthly meeting on November 8.

Informed of the invitation to W. Bryant Bowles to address a week-end NAACP conference in Peekskill, Dr. Tobias, after consultation with Mrs. Effie Gordon, president of the state conference, and members of the national office staff, took immediate steps to suspend the scheduled meeting and issued a directive that "under no circumstance" should Bowles, president of the so-called National Association for the Advancement of White People, be permitted to address an NAACP meeting.

The white supremacy advocate had been invited to speak by the Peekskill branch, host to the conference, without the knowledge of state officials or the national office.

Discussing the incident in the Board meeting, Dr. Tobias made it clear that he did not consider the issue of freedom of speech involved. "Freedom of speech," he said, "does not require us to make our platform available to a man in custody of the law as Bowles was at that time or to one who openly incites violations of the law of the land as interpreted by the U. S. Supreme Court. Bowles is opposed to everything for which we stand."

32b 1954

Hicks agrees with Tobias in banning Bowles' talk

Afro-American Baltimore, Md. P.21

By JAMES L. HICKS

NEW YORK—Every time I get to feeling that I'm old enough and smart enough to run this world all by myself something happens which makes me thank my lucky stars that there is someone else around with more experience and more brains than I have.

Sat. 11-27-54

This was brought home to me rather forcefully a few weeks ago, when my good friend and fellow journalist, Melvin Tapley, president of the Peekskill branch of the NAACP, got struck by lightning and invited Bryant Bowles to be a guest speaker for the Peekskill NAACP.

P.21

This is how it was:

I had just come back from watching Bowles spew his hatred all over Delaware and I was sitting there at my desk thinking what I'd do to Bowles if I were national head of the NAACP when the phone rang.

* * *

THE VOICE at the other end of the wire Mel Tapley, the Peekstill NAACP head and a friend of long standing.

Tapley had a problem. Tapley said "Jimmy I called to tell you that I've invited Bryant Bowles to be our speaker for the NAACP!"

I let go with a big, loud belly laugh. "That's real great," I said to my friend Tapley, and laughed again.

"I don't know if it's so great or not," said Mel. "The guy has just notified us that he will accept!"

* * *

I JUMPED straight up in the air. All I could say was "What!!" Tapley assured me that I had heard him right the first time. Then he asked me "What do you think of it?"

My mind began racing a mile a minute. I thought of Bowles and how I detest the man. I thought of my previous thoughts a moment before—on what I'd do to him if I were head of the NAACP.

And then I thought of my friend at the other end of the wire, waiting for an answer to his question.

Then I said to myself. You've just been thinking of how you would run the NAACP. Now if your were head of the NAACP at the moment, what would YOU do in a situation like this.

* * *

THIS IS the way I reasoned with myself. The invitation has been extended. The guy has accepted.

If you notifiy him now that he is not wanted as a speaker, the guy will take the letter and use it as a weapon in his hate meetings to show that the NAACP is afraid of him.

And, still reasoning in my silly little mind. I said to myself, the thing to do in a situation like this is to play it cool. Yes, that's what I would do. I would play it cool if I were head of the NAACP.

* * *

I'D TELL THE folks that "Here's a man who has ideas different from our own, but we recognize his right to free speech and we are going to listen to him now, although I'm sure you will not agree with what he has to say."

That, I felt, would be the diplomatic way of getting out of a tight situation. Just tip across the eggs and not break a single one.

There was one other thing that influenced my thinking. I felt that the NAACP was in such a crisis in the fight for civil rights that we could not afford, for even one moment, to let anyone get the idea that everyone in the NAACP is not in a solid battle line together.

* * *

THESE WERE my thoughts as "imaginary head" of the NAACP as I picked up the phone to answer Tapley.

Then I said: "Well, hell, Mel, after all, this is a free country and the guy has a point of view. I don't think we should be afraid to listen to him. So far as I'm concerned I think it will make for one helluva interesting meeting. I'll certainly be there to hear him."

Mel said he agreed with me in part and after passing the amenities, we hung up the phones. Then I sat down to have a little talk with myself.

* * *

I SAT THERE for a long long time and I turned that thing over, up, down and sideways in my mind and about all I could see in the whole thing was that If I were head of the NAACP I would be in a mess at the moment.

Yet, at no time did it ever occur to me that someone should tell Bowles where to head in and withdraw the invitation. It just seemed to me that this would bring on more trouble than it would if he was permitted to speak.

But, ah me—such are the ways of inexperienced youngsters who think they could handle an organization better than their elders!

* * *

CONTRAST MY honest, but inexperienced thinking with that of stern, sagacious, lantern-jawed, old Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the board of the NAACP.

When that worthy statesman had the real problem dumped into his lap, he did not hesitate for one moment.

Dr. Tobias stuck out his lantern jaw and roared all over New York that he didn't give two whoops in hell if Bowles had been given an invitation to speak to the NAACP; that Bowles was not going to speak to the organization, and that, what was more, he was seriously considering snatching the charter of the Peekskill branch for even suggesting that he speak.

* * *

I HELD MY breath as I read what Dr. Tobias had to say. The next day I watched the papers for the headlines I was sure Bowles would make with the denial of the right to speak.

I felt sure that my favorite organization, the NAACP, was in for some rough times. But, ah—inexperienced youngster — and wise, old man!

The next day nothing happened And the day after that nothing happened — except Bowles was thrown in jail for one of the many charges against him. A week passed; Bowles got out of jail, —still nothing happened.

* * *

LAST MONDAY, the NAACP board met and still nothing happened—except my boss, Carl Murphy, and other members of the board gave Dr. Tobias a pat on the back and told him he had done just right in the Bowles incident.

And so, this inexperienced young man at this hour sits down to his typewriter and confesses some inner secrets:

If I had been head of the NAACP I'd have let Bowles speak his piece and I'm convinced now that by this time the NAACP would be in shambles all over the nation.

For everyone I've talked with has said, "Are you kidding? Speak to what NAACP. I would have resigned if they had let that clown get up on an NAACP platform."

* * *

I'M CONFESSING I'm doffing my hat to Dr. Tobias and the wisdom that experience has taught him.

And the next time I get to thinking that I can run the world, or an organization such as the NAACP—I'll just stop thinking and thank my lucky stars that there are older and wiser men than I, who really know how to handle their jobs.

NAACP

NAACP Board OKs Tobias' Ban On Bowles

Defender P.3

NEW YORK — The prompt action of Dr. Channing H. Tobias NAACP board chairman, in averting the appearance of a notorious racist at a conference of the New York State NAACP has been fully approved by the association's board of directors. The board expressed unanimous agreement with its chairman's action at its regular monthly meeting on Nov. 8.

Sat. 11-20-54

Chicago, Ill.

Informed of the invitation to W. Bryan Bowles to address a weekend NAACP conference in Peekskill, Dr. Tobias, after consultation with Mrs. Effie Gordon, president of the state conference, and members of the national office staff, took immediate steps to suspend the scheduled meeting of the so-called National Association for the Advancement of White People, be permitted to address an NAACP meeting.

The white supremacy advocate had been invited to speak by the Peekskill branch, host to the conference, without the knowledge of state officials or the national office.

Hate Chieftain Loser In Case

Defender P.1

Chicago, Ill.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Bryant W. Bowles, head of the National Association for the Advancement of White People, lost a minor skirmish here this week in his battle against the concept of the Negro as member of polite society.

Sat. 11-20-54

Victor in the encounter in Municipal Court was Negro postman Roscoe V. Cooper who Bowles and the NAAWP had hauled into court on a disorderly misconduct case. Bowles, who has come into national prominence with his spirited fight against school integration, charged that he and his wife had been the targets of abusive language from Cooper. He admitted that he had struck the postal employee.

P.1

Disgusted, after hearing three hours of testimony, Municipal Court Judge Andrew Howard dismissed the case. The judge declared testily: "This is just a disorderly conduct case and I'm not going to sit here all day on it."

The freed defendant will have his day in court also. He has filed a countersuit against Bowles who he accuses of beating him October 25 in the lobby of the building where the NAAWP headquarters are located. Bowles has pleaded innocent. A jury trial is set for January 5.

Time To Confine Bowles

Defender

Locked up in the record room of the Baltimore Municipal Court is a sealed psychiatric report on Bryant W. Bowles, the president of the National Association for the Advancement of White People.

Chicago Ill.

Though the report has not been made public, we know from Mr. Bowles' actions that he is a sick man. Six months ago, the NAAWP was barely heard of and the only thing it aroused with most people was an amused comparison of its initials in contrast to the NAACP. It had little money and a trickle of joiners and was considered too harmless to bother about.

P. 9

Since September of this year when schools opened and integration got under way in some sections of the country, the NAAWP has grown like a giant mushroom and its once empty coffers are now filled. All this is because, the 34 year old ex-marine with a flair for showmanship and a self-appointed mission of leading a hate crusade under the banner of white Supremacy has roamed at will up and down the Eastern coast fanning rebellion and riots.

Sat. 12-22-54

Bowles has stirred up the passions of all the bigots, small and large and accomplished more in two months that the Ku Klux Klan ever dreamed of. His greatest triumph was at Dover, Delaware when the State Supreme Court halted the readmission of 10 Negro children into the high school at Milford, Del., from which they had been ousted largely through the demonstration of the NAAWP.

The time has come to stop Bowles He is a sick man and a dangerous one. Last week he assaulted a United States mail man on duty and his imagination is running so wild that he has accused another Negro of threatening him with a gun.

If the sealed report substantiates the indication that he needs mental treatment then Bowles ought to be committed to an institution where he can receive the proper care. The joiners of the NAAWP and the sympathizers with its aims might be less enthusiastic if they had it impressed upon them that such can only be the ravings of a crazy man. Nobody likes to be associated with a nut on the loose. It gives you the uncomfortable feeling that people might think you're crazy too!

The pity is there are a lot of other racist rabble rousers who ought to be confined too.

Journal and Guide p. 5
Norfolk, Va
Sat. 12-18-54

DISCUSS INTEGRATION — Several noted civic, legal and educational leaders recently met in Philadelphia to discuss the matter of integrating schools. The conference was called by members of a panel working with school boards at the NAACP's emergency sessions Nov. 26-27.

Among those present were, left to right: Dr. Harry J. Greene, president, Philadelphia NAACP; Spottswood W. Robinson, attorney for the Virginia State NAACP; Dr. Margaret Just Butcher, member, District of Columbia Board of Education and consultant to the NAACP Legal Department; Robert L. Carter, NAACP assistant special counsel, and Wagner Jackson, president, Wilmington, Del., NAACP.

32b 1954

AWYERS GUILD VS BROWNELL:

NAACP board votes hands off in battle

Afro-American P.19

32b

WASHINGTON

The NAACP's national board of directors voted "not to intervene" in the current controversy now being waged between the National Lawyers Guild and the office of Attorney General Herbert Brownell.

The board, which met Tuesday night on the eve of its Freedom Fullfilment Conference, had before it, as unfinished business, a resolution asking the Association to file a "friend of the court" brief in the Guild case.

Mr. Brownell's office is reported to be preparing to call the Lawyers Guild up for a hearing preparatory to citing the organization as being a subversive or left-wing group.

Seeks Injunction

The Guild, led by its president, Earl Dickerson of Chicago, who is a member of the NAACP's board of directors, is fighting back by seeking an injunction to prevent the attorney general from staging such a hearing.

When the board met, it had before it the resolution asking the NAACP to file an amicus curiae (friend of the court).

The brief, would not support the Guild's cause, but would attack the method being used to show it as being allegedly a left-wing group.

Meetings Secret

The board meetings are secret and Dr. Channing H. Tobias, board chairman offered "no comment" to the AFRO when queried Wednesday. However, informed source said that a heated discussion arose when the board decided to act on the issue.

The source said prior to the Washington meeting, Mr. Dickerson and Judge Hubert Delany of New York had written the board suggesting that no action be taken on the resolution at the Washington meeting, but that it be held for action at some later date.

The source said, however, that the board decided to take up the matter, despite the absence of Mr. Dickerson, and that in so doing was roundly criticized by three predominent attorneys who are members of the board.

Probable Cause

The attorneys, along with others, were pictured as not having been so much in favor of the adoption of the resolution as they were against acting on the resolution in the absence of its proponents.

In final action, however, the board voted "not to intervene" in the issue.

NAACP

NAACP Asks Britain To Ban TV Broadcast Of Amos N' Andy Show

Defender Sat. 4-17-54

Chicago Def. P.18

LONDON — Announcement that the British Broadcasting company had purcheased films of the Amos 'N Andy show for rebroadcasting over here has hit a snag. The snag is protests from several organizations including the NAACP, an U. S. organization.

For sometime the NAACP and other organizations have viewed with alarm the weekly appearance of Amos 'N Andy on television outlets in southern states of the U. S. Even when there was no sponsor available for northern outlets the Dixie stations continued to run the repeat films. In the United States Walter White executive secretary of the association, branded the program "a gross caricature of the Negro which has done much harm in the United States" and said it may do even more harm in England. He asked the B. B. C. to reconsider its purchase of the American film.

The program is scheduled to be seen in England beginning April 21.

The B. B. C. office had no comment on the request.

ing to seat Negroes (in its restaurant). As a result, Grant's is losing Negro business and creating ill-will in public relations."

"When I had finished speaking," Mr. Peck reports, "Lustenberger, who chaired the meeting, promised that the company would look into the matter."

"A week after the stockholders' meeting," the author continues, "Lustenberger wrote the Baltimore Committee of Racial Equality announcing that 'hereafter Grant's eating facilities in Baltimore would be open to all, regardless of color.'"

Alfred Baker Lewis, a member of the NAACP Board of Directors, describes the new tactics by which the Communists are seeking to infiltrate NAACP Branches and units of other liberal organizations. Mr. Lewis warns that any cooperation with Communists "is financially and practically foolish as well as morally wrong."

NAACP Leaders from 7 States in Omaha Saturday For Regional Conference

32b

Omaha, Nebr.—Current and projected work of the NAACP in civil rights, housing, political action and fund raising will be examined at an NAACP regional conference here April 23 to 25.

The conference will be attended by NAACP local leaders from five states.

Taking part in the sessions will be the Governor of Nebraska, the Mayor of Omaha, the chairman of the local council of churches, NAACP officials, and others.

Freedom Banquet

A highlight of the three-day meeting will be a Fight for Freedom banquet on April 24, to be addressed by Carl R. Johnson, member of the NAACP board of directors and president of the Association's Kansas City, Mo. branch.

The NAACP's Fight for Freedom campaign, adopted by the Association at its annual convention last year, aims to step up the organization's civil rights work during the next decade to achieve full equality for America's 15,000,000 Negro citizens by Jan. 1, 1963—the centennial of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

At the opening session of the conference, welcoming remarks will be extended to the delegates by Glenn Cunningham, Mayor of Omaha; the Rev. E. T. Streeter, president of the local branch of the NAACP; E. M Mossman, chairman of the Omaha Council of Churches; and Father John Markoe, professor at Creighton University.

The Hon. Robert Crosby, Governor of Nebraska, will address the delegation at the closing session.

Wilkins To Speak

Other speakers include Roy Wilkins, administrator; Gloster B. Current, director of branches; Bernard Brown, assistant field secretary; and Robert L. Carter, assistant special counsel, all of the NNAACP.

The meeting, third in a series of NAACP regional conferences being conducted this month in various sections of the L.S., will be attended by delegates from Nebraska, Iowa Minnesota, Missouri Kansas, Colorado, Montana, South Dakota and Wyoming.

NAACP Labor Clinic In Waco Aids Workers

Houston, Texas

DALLAS— The labor clinic, called by Attorney U. Simpson Tate, regional counsel of the NAACP, promises immediate and great leverage to free both the individual laborer and unions that have been hamstrung in the matter of employment, job promotions, and upgrading. Attorney Tate has sent to every lawyer in the Southwest region a model complaint (petition) broad enough to cover any employment problem in labor, and intended to be a guide to lawyers who have to represent any individual or union in the matter of eliminating discrimination.

All lawyers will no doubt find this type of clinic important enough for them to make special efforts to attend. Mr. Tate has asked them to criticize the model complaint and make notations on the margin so they can present them at Waco. But the overall appeal lies in the fact that for the first time the legal talent of this region will be organized to afford to labor the help it needs in the long fight it has been making to free the Negro economically. Two great bulwarks of discrimination in the South are housing and labor.

The meeting is called for Waco, Friday, October 22, 10:00 a.m. in the New Hope Baptist church, 915 North 6th Street. Housing will be available for anyone who wants to come in Thursday night by contacting F. M. Johnson, 1428 North 7th Street. Mr. Tate said he would like to begin on time and end at 4:00 p. m., so anyone who desires can go home.

Integration Now

Someone should tell Channing Tobias, chairman of the board of directors, NAACP, that integration has already arrived in Oklahoma. Tobias has set the date when full freedom will come to the Negro in 1963. Oklahoma certainly has the jump on Tobias.

We went up to Elk City the other evening to a banquet staged by the local branch of the NAACP, and it turned out to be one of the most interesting interracial affairs we have attended in Oklahoma in a long time. When we arrived at the schoolhouse and were shown around the structure, the first person we observed in the gymnasium was a white lady quite evidently in charge. She greeted us, when introduced, and promptly decamped to continue the arrangements for the party, and complete the preparations on the highly decorated tables later to be shared by both white and black alike while we spoke to them.

When we arrived at the banquet at 7:30, the place was filled with both black and white and it was then we were advised that there are more white members in the Elk City branch of the NAACP than black. This, of course, exhibits a wonderful spirit on the part of the whites, but it shows that the Negroes of this city are not measuring up to the opportunities present for them in the northwestern city in Oklahoma. A delightful dinner was served with half-springs and all of the trimmings, and later we discovered ourselves being introduced to the audience by the chairman of the executive committee, Dr. S. Donald Lehman, head of the Community hospital in Elk City. We forgot to state, the invocation at the banquet was pronounced by Rev. G. G. Gregg, pastor of one of the larger white churches in Elk City. Whites and blacks were scattered around the banquet room at the tables, and also during our address to the audience, in such a way that there was a total absence of segregation as we have known it in Oklahoma among the races of the Southwest.

In our talk to the audience we tried to dwell upon the morality and social decency in human beings intermingling together, and we pointed out to the audience that in this atomic age, when there is danger that enemies from afar might destroy our way of life, it is necessary for the white world to realize as never before Western society needs new alliances in manpower, and that about the only direction in which white people can today turn is the black man. Despite all the white man has done to black people, the black man knows he is kin to white people, by blood, language and religion.

"The white man," we pointed out to our audience, "is a minority in the world picture, and we must not be misled by the fact that he lives in a country where the black man is in the minority. Four-fifths of the world is colored and one-fifth is white. When the Japs sunk many of our ships in that day of infamy, we discovered then that a colored race had almost reached the power of efficiency with the use of force and violence with which western civilization for centuries has controlled the world. We know now with certainty that the day when four-fifths of the world discover fully our techniques of control, four-fifths of the world of color are not going to permit one-fifth of humanity to supervise the operation of the universe."

It was a delightful evening, and we observed that at long last, the white man has decided to sit down around the council table and listen to the philosophy of the other fellow. As one looked at the crowd we observed how beautiful is an American audience where all of the colors are exposed in the human bouquet. We thought of the expression of a distinguished speaker who told his hearers that if one seeks to develop harmony from his piano, he has to play both the black and the white keys.

World harmony must also be sought by playing both the black and white keys. Somehow we have felt for years the dominant race has somehow made a mess of things playing only the white keys, when they should remember it was Haile Selassie, if he had been listened to at Geneva, would have averted World War II, and it should not be forgotten that right here in America it was that old black sage, Frederick Douglass who said:

> "Men have in their owns hands the peaceful means by which they may put all of their moral, economic and political enemies to flight, if they will but faithfully, courageously and intelligently use them."

Would it not be a grand thing if the nations of the earth would submit themselves to the arbitraments of peace as Douglass understood it. Overnight the hydrogen bomb would immediately be drawn into avenues of peace and the world would be edged away from the abyss of ruin where it now finds itself.

When we think of playing the dark keys as well as the light, we think of Alabama. If Alabama had thought as much of educating black as well as white, and have extended occupational opportunity to all races alike, Willie Mays and Joe Louis would have both been proud to talk of Alabama lineage. As it is, states with more liberal leanings claim these two stellar Americans as their own.

One of the fine advantages that has come to the Negro community at Elk City since the organization of the NAACP, has been the installation of gas and water facilities in the Negro area. The Community hospital has provided for the acceptance of Negro memberships ,and a lot more of the needs of both white and black Elk City have been determined through the intermingling of the races.

"Crisis" Magazine Warns Reds Seek To Join NAACP

Globe Nashville

Official Publication of Organization Says Cooperation With Communists Is Financially And Practically Foolish; Another Article Tells How Stockholder of W. T. Grant Company Induced Firm To Abandon Discrimination In Its Restaurant

New York, Dec. 2— The use of corporation stockholder meetings as a forum to urge, revision of the corporation's discriminatory race practices is described in a current national magazine by a man who attended one such meeting of the W. T. Grant Company and thereby changed a segregation policy of that company.

Writing in THE CRISIS, official publication of the NAACP, New Yorker James Peck notes that "one share of stock will get you into any (stockholders') meeting."

he says, and raised the issue personally toward the end of the meeting.

"When a company gets behind the times it inevitably loses business to its competitors," Mr. Peck told the Grant stockholders.

He distributed a statement criticizing the company's segregated restaurant facilities in Baltimore "Grant's in Baltimore) adheres to the now-outmoded policy of refusinatory employment policies."

In an article entitled "Minority Stockholders vs Jim Crow," Mr. Peck relates that in 1948 he was at the stockholders' meeting of the W. T. Grant Company, accompanied by a newspaper reporter.

ANOTHER FIGHTING $1,000 — Grand Master David Alston of Virginia recently presented Thurgood Marshall with a check for $1,000 for the legal fund of the NAACP from the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Virginia A.F. and A.M. Prince Hall. The check was presented at the New York office of the NAACP Legal Department.

To Attend NAACP Board Meeting

MR. IKE SMALLS

Mr. Ike Smalls, national vice president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, left Wednesday for New York City to attend the annual board meeting of the organization which will be held Monday, Jan. 3.

A life member and former local and state branch NAACP president, Mr. Smalls will be one of the guests invited to attend the Fight For Freedom Fund dinner Jan. 2 at the Brass Rail Restaurant in New York.

The Tower has been asked to be a member of the national Life Membership committee of the NAACP which is headed by Mr. Kivie Kaplan.

NAACP Donations For Civil Rights Drive Came To $13,635 For Month of November

New York, Dec. 9.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has reported a total of $13,635.95 in contributions to its Fight for Freedom campaign for the month of November. The sum includes payments on life memberships in the Association.

The Fight for Freedom campaign seeks to speed up the organization's civil rights work to achieve full rights for minority groups in American life by January 1, 1963, the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation.

In addition to donations received from individuals and organizations NAACP funds were enriched by contributions from 44 local branches of the Association, two state conferences and two youth councils. These contributions from NAACP units came to $5,814.45.

Aside from Association units, the largest single donation during November was sent by the Cornerstone Baptist Church, Brooklyn, N. Y. in the amount of $500. The next largest donation was that of Mr and Mrs. A. S Coolidge of Cambridge, Mass., who forwarded $250 to the Fight for Freedom campaign.

Other contributions were: Wilbur Halyard, Milwaukee, Wis., who has pledged $1,000 to the NAACP and who sent $100 for November; General Diaper Service, Inc., New York Dr. William A. Thompson, Detroit, Mich., $50 each; and a number of individuals and organizations whose contributions of $25 or less totalled $261.50.

NAACP branch, state conference and youth council contributions to the national Fight for Freedom campaign for November were: Kansas City, Mo., $1,356; Milwaukee, Wis., $750; Alabama State Conference of Branches, $500; Jamaica N. Y., $450; Oklahoma City, Okla., Lafayette, La., and Wichita, Kans., $200; Saginaw, Mich., $134; Crossett Ark., Crittenden County, Ark., Pine Bluff, Ark., Georgetown, S. C., and Media, Pa., $100 each; the Orange, N. J., youth council, $150;

Albuquerque, N. M., $145; Atlantic City, N. J., $102.70; Lake Village Ark., $73; Cotton Plant, Ark., $70; Kenosha, Wis., Seminole, Okla., Dermott, Ark., Little Rock, Ark., Enid, Okla., Williamsport, Pa., Oberlin, Ohio, and Thomasville, N. C., $50 each; Bronx, N. Y., $56.30; and the New Mexico State Conference of Branches $48.81.

An additional 13 branches contributed amounts of $25 or less totalling $402.99.

NAACP Asks Integration in Boys Clubs

Post & Times Herald

Tax money used to support the Metropolitan Police Boys Clubs should be withdrawn unless they "abandon forthwith their segregation policy," the District branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People asserted yesterday.

Washington, D.C.

Star 11-7-54

The NAACP's local unit in a letter signed by Eugene Davidson, president, urged the District Commissioners to ask the directors of the Boys Clubs to end their segregation and discrimination policies.

Failing this, the letter asked that the District Government withdraw financial support from the clubs. Davidson wrote that more than $75,000 of tax funds go annually for their support.

Davidson wrote that ". . . the elimination and reduction of juvenile delinquency is impeded and becomes meaningless as boys are also taught by precept the wornout and now outlawed theory of segregation and second class citizenship."

The NAACP branch recommended that if the Boys Clubs refuse to change their policy, the Commissioners should organize a similar operation which would abide by the District Government's policy against segregation.

Collect $3,533 in rights drive

The American Baltimore Md.

NEW YORK—A total of $3,533 has been reported by the NAACP for its Fight for Freedom campaign. In the fortnight ending last Wednesday.

The Fight for Freedom campaign seeks to end all race discrimination and segregation in America by Jan. 1, 1963, the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation.

Star 11-20-54

Branch contributions to the campaign during the fortnight were: Lake Charles, La., $1,000; the Virginia Station Conference of Branches, $2,000; Weldon, N.C., $100; Jackson, Miss., $250; Perry, Okla., $25; Meridian, Miss., $50; Miami, Fla., $25; Hyde County, N.C., $8. In addition, the campaign received $75 in miscellaneous contributions.

Nominees For NAACP Offices

Daily World Atlanta, Ga.

The following persons were nominated Tuesday night to offices in the Metropolitan Atlanta Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Financial members of the branch will vote on the names at the December meeting of the organization.

Star 11-3-54

C. L. Harper. 201 Ashby St., president; J. H. Calhoun, and Rev. L. M. Terrill, first vice president; Rev. W. M. Jackson second vice president; Mrs. Eurrice Cooper, secretary; Mrs. Gertrude Nelson, assistant secretary; L. D. Milton, treasurer; W. A. Fowlkes, reporter.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

V. W. Hodges chairman; Gilbert Evans, B. B. Beamon, Jesse Hill, Jr, Curtis Cosby, J. E. Jordan; W. S. Cannon; R. L. Chennault, Warren Cochrane, Isaiah Murden; J. W. Dobbs; W. A. Fowlkes; Ted Lewis; George S. Mitchell, Harold Mullins, C. A. Scott, John Shanks, F. R. Wilson Jr.; Clim Davenport; H. C. Urswell; Rev. L. M. Terrill Dr Whitney Young; Dr. James P. Brawley; Dr. C. Clayton Powell; Dr. William H. Hale; Dr. E. C. Mitchell; Atty. E. S. D'Antignac; Atty. D. L. Hollowell; Atty. S. S. Robinson; Atty. R. E. Thomas; Atty. A. T. Walden; Mrs. G. M. Haugabrooks; Mrs. Rachel Cost, Mrs. Maggie Gaines; Mrs. Peggie Church, Miss Charlie M. Smith; Mrs. L. D. Shivery and Clarence D. Coleman.

NAACP SPEAKER POINTS TO VOTING

Times-Picayune

Segregation End by 1963 Is Campaign Aim

Mon. 11-8-54

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 7 (AP)—A national NAACP officer Sunday told delegates to the Mississippi branch convention they must make registration and voting a top objective in the campaign to end segregation by 1963.

Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington bureau of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, spoke at the final mass meeting of the ninth annual convention of the state branch.

New Orleans La.

Theme of the convention was segregation and how to end it. Some 75 delegates from throughout the state attended the three-day meeting. P. 26

Mitchell, who has been connected with the NAACP since 1933, has been active in the group's program to end segregation and to obtain full citizenship rights for all without regard to race.

He said the separation of races "as a way of life in the South no longer has any practical value for those who have supported it in the past."

Regardless of the stands of state legislatures, Mitchell told the cheering delegates, "we are fortified by the knowledge that freedom from racial segregation is God's plan; we fear no storm of opposition and we know that neither we nor the nation will ever turn back."

Many Negroes, he said, "have a chance to get impressions of what the rest of the world is like through the medium of radio, television and even the practical experience of traveling" with the armed forces.

Some in the South have hit upon "the device of abolishing public schools as a means of spreading ignorance and chaos," he said.

Mississippi's 1954 special session approved a proposed constitutional amendment, to be voted Dec. 21, empowering the Legislature to abolish pubic schools as a means of retaining segregation in education.

Mitchell said what the lawmakers avoid discussing is the value of diplomas earned in private schools that would be established to replace the abolished public schools. He said they would be worthless.

"Another matter is . . . seven million federal dollars will be lost to this state (annually) if the public school system is abolished. Not one penny of it could be spent in Mississippi if public education is ended," Mitchell said.

The World Council of Churches, the Catholic church and many other groups of all faiths, he said, have declared the United States supreme court decision outlawing segregation is right and just.

"On the side of segregation, there are a few irresponsible politicians, a handfull of race baitters, and an assortment of subversive elements—including the Communists," he said.

"Our program of action (to end segregation by 1963) will never be complete until we have changed this picture so that persons elected will represent the interests of all the people and not just from the interests of a selfish few."

D. C. NAACP Decides It Must Take On "White" Advancement Group In Lawsuit

Globe & Independent

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28—The District of Columbia NAACP has announced a change of policy toward the National Association for the Advancement of White People following intervention in a case in which a Negro postman was allegedly assaulted by NAAWP Founder-President Bryant W. Boles.

Washington Sun

A statement issued yesterday by NAACP Branch President Eugene Davidson declared that "the NAACP will use its legal committee members to protect the rights of the postman and to see that Bowles answers for the assault." P. 12

The statement noted that "the DC branch's policy of ignoring the National Association for the Advancement of White People and its founder-president Bryant W. Bowles

Emergency Confab Will Deal With Desegregation

Chicago Defender 11-13-54

PHILADELPHIA— A two-day emergency conference of branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will be held during the Thanksgiving Day week-end, November 26-27. The conference, to be attended by delegates from Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Virginia and the District of Columbia, will consider problems arising out of the desegregation of public schools in those states and in Washington.

St. Louis Mo.

Following anti-integration demonstrations in White Sulpher Springs, W. Va.; Milford, Del. and Baltimore and Washington the NAACP Board of Directors authorized the calling of the emergency conference. An analysis of these incidents and suggestions for dealing with them will be presented by Dr. Alfred McClung Lee, Brooklyn College sociology professor. P. 24

Reports on the various incidents will be made by local representatives. T. G. Nutter of West Virginia will tell the story of White Sulphur Springs. Mrs. Lillie M. Jackson will report on Biltimore, Eugene Davidson on Washington, and John W. Flemer on Milford. Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors will deliver the keynote address at the opening session, Friday.

Saturday will be devoted to discussions of ways and means of organizing community support for integration and of working with school boards to implement the program. Among speakers scheduled to address these sessions are Rev. C. Anderson Davis, president, NAACP branch, Bluefield, W. Va.; George Schermer, director, Philadelphia Fellowship Commission; Herbert Hill, NAACP labor relations assistant; Robert L. Carter NAACP assistant special counsel; Dr. Margaret Just Butcher, member, District of Columbia Board of Education; and Spottswood W. Robinson, III., NAACP attorney for Virginia.

from being kicked by Mr. Bowles, Mr. Davidson said.

Mr. Bowles was arrested yesterday on assault charges and arraigned in municipal court here today where he a sked to have his case postponed because he had not had sufficient time to get a lawyer. His request was granted, and the case is scheduled for trial on Nov. 1.

Mr. Cooper has said that the reason for the attack he has reported must be changed now in the light of several overt acts by Bowles or incitive citizens to violate laws and fostering anarchy which has culminated in an alleged personal attack on a Negro postal employee."

The case of Roscoe V. Cooper, Negro postman who on Oct. 25 was allegedly beaten and kicked by Mr. Bowles while delivering his mail, has been taken by Roy Garvin, a member of the legal staff of the NAACP District of Columbia branch.

Mr. Cooper was rescued from his attacker by an elevator operator in the building and was taken to a physician, according to Mr. Davidson. He will be X-rayed later this week for possible internal injuries suffering at the hands of Mr. Bowles revolved around a dispute on whether the postman should carry the mail of the NAAWP in his postal bag or in his hand.

18th. Conference Of State NAACP Branches In Waco

WACO—The 18th. Annual Session of Texas Conference of NAACP Branches convened here October 22 thru 24. All meetings were held in the New Hope Baptist Church which served as Host Church and Headquarters for the Convention, Rev. Marvin Griffin, pastor.

The meetings began Friday evening with official reports being made to the Executive Committee. Legal representatives from the national and Regional offices were on hand to map further strategy in the desegregation of public education in the South. After careful deliberation, the legal committee announced to the convention its next major targets; they included, transportation on trains, busses, trolleys, discrimination in Housing, all public recreation, discrimination in labor and a new committee attached to the legal staff in New York to protect the Negro teachers of this Country.

Atty. Robert Carter, first Assistant to Thurgood Marshall told of the 18 railroad cases now pending before the Inter-State Commerce Commission involving all southern railroads and several others. "The Government has filed a brief supporting our contentions, we think we are on the way to lick the problem in transportation." "We are ready to move out in other areas as quickly as possible." "However, we want you to know that segregation in public education is now as dead as dead can be." "The Supreme Court will soon put down a broad principle of policy which will be made plain to the whole country."

The announced position of the National and Regional legal staffs were supported unanimously by resolutions coming from the convention officially putting the State Conference of Branches on record and binding it to such a program during 1954-55. They promised to wage an unceasing fight against police brutality and to see to it that all public officers act in good faith.

Other highlights of the convention were: The Saturday night banquet held in the Church basement; reports from both regional and national legal committees; Dr. H. Boyd Hall's Annual address to the convention; the report on finances by A. Maceo Smith, State Secretary and the panel discussion led by George L. K. Weaver, a representative of the CIO.

The Convention adopted a resolution recommended by the Committee to establish a "PUBLIC RELATIONS COMMITTEE" which was included in the Annual budget and naming Arthur De Witty of Austin as its chairman for 1954-55.

The Committee on nominations recommended that Dr. Boyd Hall, A. Maceo Smith be reelected; Dr. George Johnson was named first Vice- President. Victoria, Texas will serve as host to the Convention next October.

All the delegates and officers left Waco feeling that much had been accomplished and that our new and old objectives are clear to all the workers.

NAACP To Start Action To End Bias In Travel

Delegates from forty NAACP Branches in the State of Georgia are expected to start actions to eliminate segregation on local buses and trolleys, during the 13th Annual Meeting of the Georgia State Conference of NAACP Branches and Youth Councils which meet in Atlanta this weekend.

The Conference which will convene at the Wheat Street Baptist Church on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, will feature discussions on desegregation in public education and transportation, Branch Organization and functions, and registration and voting, according to Dr. W. M. Boyd, State NAACP president.

Keynote speaker at a public mass meeting on Sunday afternoon will be the militant South Carolina leader, Rev. J. M. Hinton, who sponsored the Clarendon County S. C. School suit that figured in the recent Supreme Court decision.

An opening night banquet (informal) will be held in the Butler Street YMCA at 6:00 p. m. Friday, December 3. Atlanta civic leaders have been invited to participate in this banquet which will welcome the visitors from throughout the State.

Youth sessions of the conference will be under the direction of W. W. Law of Savannah and Dr. William H. Hale of Atlanta.

NAACP '55 session definitely for Shore

NEWARK—The 1955 national convention of the NAACP will definitely be held in Atlantic City, national officials of the association were assured at a regional conference in Philadelphia on Saturday.

An announcement to this effect was made by Dr. U. S. Wiggins of Camden, N.J., president of the New Jersey State Conference of NAACP Branches.

At a special meeting of the executive board of the New Jersey Conference at the Philadelphia gathering, its national convention housing committee reported that first-class accommodations have been secured at the Foxcroft Hotel on the Boardwalk.

THE HOTEL, where convention headquarters will be located, has placed over 100 rooms and other services at the disposal of the association.

The convention housing committee appointed by the New Jersey Conference to secure suitable Boardwalk and other hotel accommodations for visiting NAACP delegates consists of Mrs. Margaret L. Caution, Atlantic City, chairman; J. Mercer Burrell, Newark, attorney; and Arthnr Chapin of Montclair, civil rights director for the N.J. State Council.

The Hotel Men's Association of Atlantic City had previously informed NAACP officials that they could not accommodate their convention delegates, because of priority given to the Lions and other national organizations, unless the associations dates were changed from June.

GOV. ROBERT B. MEYNER interceded personally on behalf of the NAACP soon after its officials and other civil rights and inter-group leaders warned that his democratic administration would be greatly embarrased if the convention had to he held elsewhere.

The governor, the AFRO was reliably informed, not only instructed the Division Against Discrimination to help the NAACP secure accommodations at Boardwalk hotels for its delegates, but put in several calls himself to some of the hostelries.

NAACP HOLIDAY SEALS—Mrs. Memphis T. Gibson (right), originator of the NAACP Holiday Seals campaign, shows 1954 seal issue to Dr. Channing Tobias, chairman, NAACP board of directors. Miss Bobbie Brambe, director of this year's 26th. annual campaign, looks on as Mrs. Gibson wears a hat and corsage fashioned from the holiday seals. Seals are now on sale through the NAACP national office and local branches throughout the country.

Knights Give $1,000 To NAACP Legal Fund

NEW ORLEANS — The 39th annual convention of the Knights of Peter Claver closed here last week after donating $1,000 to the NAACP legal fund and voicing full support of the May 17 Supreme Court decision which wiped out the legality of segregated public schools.

Business sessions of the convention were held in the Municipal auditorium, a place denied use by Negroes for a number of years. They also breakfasted at St. Mary's Italian Hall, operated by a white Catholic organization and opened for use by Negroes for the first time.

Dr. B. V. Branco, jr., was re-elected Supreme Knight. Mrs. E. B. Jones, of Galveston, Texas, was re-elected Supreme Lady of the Ladies Auxiliary and Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas of New Orleans was elected Vice Supreme Lady.

A cablegram containing a Papal Blessing was received from Pope Pius XII in Rome. The 1955 convention of the organization will be held in Chicago.

Linder Repeats Proposal For Control of NAACP

By JACK SPALDING
Constitution Staff Writer

ROME, Aug. 24—State control of the NAACP or any "organization stirring up racial trouble" was proposed again Tuesday by Tom Linder.

Speaking at Carrollton after an earlier meeting with supporters in Franklin, and winding up the day with a television appearance at Rome, the gubernatorial candidate bore down heavily on drought and segregation.

Georgia's school troubles, he said, were not originated by white or colored people in Georgia, but came from outside the state. They were started, he said, by "folks outside with lots of money like the NAACP."

WILL CALL FOR LAW

"I'll ask the Legislature to pass a law against any organization stirring up racial trouble," he said. "They can't meet without a permit from the governor. And when they meet, they will meet under guard. If they violate any Georgia law, we'll care for them in the courts and jailhouses. And get rid of them too."

Linder also proposed a way to get rid of people who wanted mixed schools. He said when he first heard of the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in the public schools he thought "the heavens were falling." But on second thought he became "the man with the plan."

Briefly, his plan involves a census of parents who must declare if they want their children in white, Negro or mixed schools. Then, he said, the Supreme Court still recognizes the right of contract, so the state will contract with white teachers to teach white children and Negro teachers to teach Negro children. For those who want to attend or teach in mixed schools, first will come a psychiatric examination and then the Legislature "will take care of them if they have to build a place that will suit them."

RAPS LIQUOR CROWD

The candidate described the governor's race as himself "against the liquor crowd," and said for the first time in 25 years it was not a matter of the Talmadge versus the anti-Talmadge factions.

"The crowd that started off the race with Griffin as a Talmadge candidate and Thompson as the anti-Talmadge man "are liquor fellows," he said. He described Griffin and Thompson as "two hounds running after the same rabbit."

Georgia, he said, is entitled to federal aid after what he described as the worst drought in the recorded history. He said that if Congress can vote $6 billion for farm aid it certainly can grant some money for distressed Georgia farmers.

Convention Time

National Colored Spiritualist Association, Detroit, Mich. Aug. 8-15.

Iota Phi Lambda Sorority, Chicago, Aug. 7-12.

National Negro Funeral Directors Association, Inc., Philadelphia, Aug. 8-12.

Knights Templar of Ohio (P. H. A.), Wilberforce, Ohio, Aug. 11.

Principals and Supervisors, Durham, N. C., Aug. 11-13.

Royal Arch Masons of Ohio (P. H. A.), Wilberforce, Ohio, Aug. 11.

Grand United Order of Odd Fellows, Boston, Mass., Aug. 9-13.

National Medical Association, Washington, D. C., Aug. 9-13.

4-H Club Camp, Jackson, Miss., Aug. 9-16.

South Carolina Principals-Supervisors, Durham, N. C., Aug. 11-13.

Phi Beta Sigma regional directors, Chicago, Aug. 14.

Scottish Rite Masons, Baltimore, Md., Aug. 14-21.

American Bridge Association, Oakland, Calif., Aug. 14-21.

Mme. G. J. Walker Mfg. Co. National Convention, Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 15-18.

Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 15-20.

World Council of Churches, Evanston, Ill., Aug. 15-30.

National Housewives League of America, Inc., Durham, N. C., Aug. 16-20.

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, New York City, Aug. 16-20.

World Council of Churches, Evanston, Ill., Aug. 15-31.

National Housewives League of America, Durham, N. C., Aug. 16-20.

Trade and Industrial, Greensboro, N. C., Aug. 17-21.

National Primitive Baptist Convention, USA, Miami Fla., Aug. 18-22.

Elks, Chicago, Ill., Aug. 22-27.

National Negro Insurance, Durham, N. C., Aug. 31-Sept. 1, 2, 3, 4.

National Bar Association, Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 2-4.

National Technical Association, Detroit, Sept. 2-4.

National Board of Directors for National Association of Market Developers, Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 5.

National Urban League Conference, Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 5-10.

National Baptist Convention, St. Louis, Sept. 7-12.

National Baptist Junior Women, Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 7-12.

Second World Congress of Cardiology and the American Heart Association, Washington, D. C., Sept. 12-17.

Lincoln Memorial pilgrimage, Washington, D. C., Sept. 22

American Spiritual Churches, Dallas, Tex., Sept. 22-27.

Alpha Phi Alpha, Miami, Fla., Dec. 27-30.

launched at St. Louis, Mo. in 1953. The "FFF" campaigns, as it has been designated by the national organization, is designed to achieve full and unqualified citizenship for the "fifteen million native Americans who compose the Negro group in this country" by the 100th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation, January 1, 1963.

Regional Civil Rights Group Issues Statement

SAN FRANCISCO — In a statement entitled "Freedom's Frontier," the Regional Committee of the West Coast National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, summarized the "glaring inequalities, based on race, in seven western states' and the "tasks ahead in the West" for the members of the organization.

Franklin H. Williams, Regional Secretary-Counsel of the Association stated that the document had been prepared by a committee of the Association representing its members throughout Arizona, Utah, Nevada, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and California. He added that the assessment was made as part of the national NAACP "Fight for Freedom", which was

N. A. A. C. P. Acts for Ban On Rail Bias

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP).—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today pressed at public hearings its request that the Interstate Commerce Commission rule out all racial segregation in interstate train travel.

The case follows up the Supreme Court's recent outlawing of such segregation in the nation's public school system. It hinges on the contention that the old theory of "equal but separate" accommodations is now legally out of date.

The proceeding against train segregation in general is also a sequel to the 1950 ruling by the high court that social distinctions among passengers in railroad dining cars had to go. The court in the dining-car case cited a provision of the interstate commerce act that no interstate passenger may be subjected to "any undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage whatsoever."

Dozen Railroads Cited

The new N. A. A. C. P. proceeding was brought against a dozen major railroads operating in the South. But Robert Carter, association attorney, of New York, indicated that the current hearing could be brief because, he said, seven of the named railroads have entered into stipulations with him conceding that they segregated passengers in the areas where local law required such segregation.

The association, on its part, agreed in the stipulations that the service provided, although separate, was equal to that given white travelers.

Mr. Carter called a string of witnesses to testify regarding alleged segregation practices on the Illinois Central, the Missouri Pacific, the Texas and Pacific and the Seaboard Air Line Railroads, which did not enter into the stipulations.

Dr. Herman H. Long, director of race relations for the American missionary division of the Congregational Christian Churches, was offered as a chief witness.

Team Surveyed Practices

Dr. Long, with headquarters at Fiske University in Tennessee, said he had directed an extensive survey of segregation practices on railroads in 1949 and 1950 using an interracial team of two white persons and two Negroes who made many interstate trips to observe the policies followed.

He asserted that segregation was effected "by a variety of means, including cards handed to passengers to designate which car they could board, verbal directions of train employees and manipulation of seat reservations." He asserted that "the pattern of segregation was clearly present," whether "[illegible]

Don't Rush Integration, Says Ervin

Warns NAACP Test May Hurt Chances

By DORIS McABEE
Herald Staff Writer

Attempts to push the desegregation issue too fast in Florida were denounced Wednesday by Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin who said that such premature action was "flouting the United States Supreme court."

Ervin said the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People "would defeat its own purpose" if it carries through plans to try to enroll Negro children in White schools this September.

Howard Dixon, attorney for the local NAACP chapter, announced Wednesday that petitions are being circulated among Negroes in Dade county to determine how many families would be willing to be "test cases" for a Supreme court de-segregation ruling.

The petitions will be presented to the Dade county school board at its Sept. 1 meeting.

Dixon said local action is part of a nation-wide program decided upon by the national council of NAACP at its convention July 1 in Dallas, Tex.

The same steps are being taken in Tampa, Orlando, "possibly Jacksonville," and any other large metropolitan centers in segregated areas, he added.

"We think the local school boards can do something voluntarily," Dixon said, "regardless of any survey made by the state attorney general."

School board members, who were taken by surprise by the announcement at their regular Wednesday meeting, declined to discuss the matter since they had not been officially notified by the NAACP.

"We are working throughout the country to make school boards cognizant of the fact that the Negroes are ready to abide by the Supreme court ruling," Dixon stated.

Ervin, however, claimed the action was "contrary to the ruling" and said Negro groups should wait for the supplemental ruling on whether de-segregation should be gradual or immediate.

"Any precipitate and hasty action as contemplated by the NAACP will be rash and will only cause ill feeling," Ervin warned. "We have been trying to work out this problem in an orderly and careful fashion and they are acting before even the Supreme court has had a chance to consider all the factors."

The apparent assumption of the local group is that Negro children will "follow school policy" and register at the school closest to their home.

The NAACP emphasized that it "offers its services to the school board to aid in the implementation of a plan of de-segregation." Father Theodore Gibson, head of the local chapter, is out of town at the present time.

NAACP's 1955 Convention to Philadelphia?

Hotels in Atlantic City reported unable to house delegates

PHILADELPHIA

The inability of the New Jersey Conference of NAACP Branches to obtain hotel accommodations in Atlantic City may result in the organization's 1955 national convention being brought to Philadelphia.

Top officials of the Philadelphia chapter already have been in contact with New Jersey representatives, it was reported here, this week.

As a result of a meeting held in Atlantic City, last Wednesday, the New Jersey conference may withdraw its invitation to the national body to convene in the Resort City.

— o o o —

AMONG THOSE attending the conference were the Mayor of Atlantic City, Roy Wilkins, national administrator, NAACP; Dr. U. S. Wiggins, of Camden, New Jersey state president;

Executive Secretary Emstutz of the Atlantic City Hotelmen's Association; Samuel Williams of East Orange, N.J., Mrs. Margaret Caution of Atlantic City, members of the NAACP state board, and representatives of the New Jersey State Division Against Discrimination and Atlantic City Chamber of Commerce.

THE HOTELMEN contend they will not be able to accommodate NAACP delegates as the International Lions plan to meet in the city the same week of the NAACP convention, June 20 to 26.

The Lions convention will be attended by approximately 25,000 persons.

The 1948 NAACP convention scheduled to have been held in Atlantic City was not carried here due to lack of hotel accommodations.

BRANCHES OF MISS. NAACP THREATENED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Efforts to run the NAACP out of the State of Mississippi were reported last week by Mrs. Ruby Hurley, the Association's Southeast Regional Secretary.

Mrs. Hurley described the efforts as "repercussions from the political campaign leading up to the recent primary election in Mississippi."

Action to run the NAACP out of the state was promised by the winner of the Senatorial nomination and several of the legislators in Mississippi, Mrs. Hurley explained.

She said her office has received numerous complaints from NAACP branches in Mississippi describing threatening visits and telephone calls by white persons to branch officers in several sections of Mississippi.

Cause of the lawless threats was laid by Mrs. Hurley to the recent Supreme Court decision banning segregated public schools and to increase interest among Negroes in voting.

"Although our people are terribly annoyed, they are not frightened as they might have been a few years ago," she observed.

Mrs. Hurley said she has been assured by the national office of the NAACP that the full resources of the Association will be used to protect Negroes in Mississippi.

NAACP CONCLAVE SET IN JACKSON

Convention to Be Held in Two Churches

COLUMBUS, Miss., Oct. 14 (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced its program and meeting place for the annual Mississippi NAACP convention next month and apparently left some white leaders with no leg to stand on.

Dr. E. J. Stringer of Columbus, president of the Mississippi NAACP, said Thursday the convention will be held Nov. 5-6-7 in two Baptist churches in Jackson, ending a controversy over whether the NAACP should be allowed to meet in state or city-owned buildings.

There was no indication, however, that the NAACP ever intended to meet in state or city-owned buildings. Some members of the legal educational advisory committee, at a meeting Tuesday, complained that the meeting should be halted.

They said a meeting in public buildings might be prevented.

Attorney General J. P. Coleman brought the matter up, saying white persons had asked him to find some way to halt the convention. He asked the LEAC what its members felt he should do.

Most said it would be foolish to interfere with the meeting. That seemed to end the matter.

Walter White, national executive secretary of the NAACP, will be the featured speaker for the convention's closing session. Theme of the convention is "Preparation for Integration."

32b 1954

NAACP

Atlantic City Doesn't Want NAACP Meet

Courier p. 1 Sat. 10-2-54

Pittsburgh

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — This city does not want the NAACP national convention scheduled for June, 1955, and is hiding behind the flimsy excuse that there are no hotel rooms available, because the Lions convention is to be held at that time.

This was made known after a conference last Wednesday in Atlantic City between Roy Wilkins, secretary of the NAACP; Dr. Ulysses Wiggins of Camden, representing the NAACP; Mayor Joseph Altman, J. Trilling, president of the Atlantic City Chamber of Commerce, and Frank Amstutz, representing the Atlantic City Hotelmen's Association.

* * *

THESE REPRESENTATIVES of the official and business life of Atlantic City stated that from the 20th to the 26th of June the Lions would hold their convention and had engaged every available room. They implied that they were sorry, but that nothing could be done about it.

The truth of the matter is that the resort city does not want the NAACP convention.

The Courier has been informed that city officials are fearful that any slight by hotels, or other public places, may result in a string, of law suits. They apparently are under the delusion that the delegates to an NAACP convention carry tommyhawks and clubs and are prepared to fight the slightest infraction of their rights. In a word, they fear that trouble may develop which could have political repercussions.

Their objections are not based upon color or race, as the resort has invited the youth conference of the National Baptist Convention to hold its convention, beginning the fourth Sunday of June. This convention is coming to the city despite the invitation of outstanding ministers of New Jersey, who were sent to the Baptist convention in St. Louis to inivte the conference to the city.

There has been every preparation by hotel owners to receive the guests from this congress.

IT WAS also pointed out that the Shriners had no difficulty in obtaining accommodations in white hotels last June when they held their convention.

All of this was said to indicate that the objection to the NAACP convention was not racial, but due entirely to an unreasonable fear of the type of delegates and visitors who would attend this convention.

The Courier stated last week that it was silly for officials to say that a small convention like the NAACP could not be accommodated at the same time that the Lions convention was in the city. There is nothing mammoth about the Lions convention, and Atlantic City usually has plenty of vacancies in June.

The Courier found the real reason was an unreasonable and groundless fear of the NAACP crowd.

NAACP officials will soon be in Trenton to determine whether they will hold their convention in Atlantic City, despite the action of city officials and hotelmen, or transfer it to some other place.

Governor aids NAACP fight

Afro-American Sat. 10-9-54 Baltimore Md.

Plans for shore convention definite

By SAMUEL HAYNES

TRENTON, N.J. — Governor Robert B. Meyner has put the full weight of his office behind efforts of the state conference of NAACP branches to secure first-class accommodations in boardwalk hotels for delegates to the association's 1955 National Convention in Atlantic City.

Investigating a rumor circulated in eastern cities last week, alleging that the association may have to change the 1955 convention site because the Hotelmen's Association in Atlantic City is opposed to housing its delegates in boardwalk hotels, the New Jersey AFRO gathered this information:

1. That, at the request of Governor Meyner, the Division Against Discrimination is cooperating with Convention Committee of the State Conference of NAACP Branches in securing accommodations for delegates in boardwalk hotels.

2. That, at a conference between officials of the Hotelmen's Association and NAACP officials last week. the latter were informed that accommodations for NAACP delegates in boardwalk hotels would be impossible, because delegates to the International Lions Club convention, scheduled for the same time, have priority.

3. Another rumor that the Division Against Discrimination was sympathetic to the Hotelmen's Association position was called "absolutely untrue" by a spokesman for the DAD when questioned by the AFRO.

— o O o —

IT IS RECALLED that six years ago the NAACP was compelled to cancel a national convention in Atlantic City rather than subject its officials, delegates and distinguished guest speakers to discrimination by boardwalk hotels.

The State Conference of NAACP Branches served notice on the Hotelmen's Association Saturday at its first fall meeting in Trenton that the 1955 National Convention will not be cancelled, and that Lions or no Lions, they intend to demand and secure boardwalk hotel accommodations for its delegates.

The conference named to a housing committee to secure hotel accommodations in Atlantic City three nationally - known champions of civil rights who played stellar roles in helping to put through the legislature the state's reputable anti-discrimination laws.

The committee members are: Mrs. Russell C. Caution of Atlantic City; Arthur Chapin, director of civil rights for the State CIO Council; J. Mercer Burrell, prominent civil rights lawyer of Newark and a former assemblyman; Mrs. Beatrice Bolden. also of Atlantic City.

Holdup suspects had NAACP cards

p. 8 Afro American Baltimore Md.

32b

BALTIMORE

One of the six men accused of an attempted daylight robbery of a Whittier Ave. home on September 1, visited the Baltimore NAACP office the day before and obtained two $5 membership cards for the two men with him.

This information was reported this week by Bowen Jackson, executive secretary of the NAACP, as he recalled the visit of Martin Yamin, a man he knew as a former police court magistrate.

Yamin and five other men are under bail totaling $90,000 in connection with the holdup at the home of Albert Williams, a well-known sportsman residing in the 2000 block Whittier Ave.

Sat. 9-25-54

TWO OF THE men allegedly gained entrance to the house by posing as representatives of the NAACP. They were routed by Mr. Williams who fired five shots at the bandits, wounding one.

Mr. Jackson was unware of the holdup attempt until Monday, when he returned to the city after spending a vacation in California.

— o O o —

The NAACP secretary gave the AFRO the following account of the Yamin visit at NAACP offices, Dolphin and McCulloh Sts., after learning of the holdup attempt.

"I remember the visit very well. Yamin came into our office and introduced two men to me. One he said was John Santo and the other William Miller."

(None of the men arrested in the holdup attempt gave such names).

"One of the men was heavy set—he looked like a prize fighter and was six feet tall. The other was a medium sized fellow. Neither of them did any talking.

"Yamin told me that both of the men wanted to take out NAACP memberships. He told them the NAACP was doing a good job to improve race relations in the community and to make things better for minorities. He mentioned that my mother (Mrs. Lillie M. Jackson) was president of the NAACP.

— o O o —

"I ASKED HIM what kind of membership he wanted, explaining that the minimum was $2 and he gave me $10 for two $5 memberships. When I started to make out the receipts Yamin asked me: 'Don't they get the cards now?'

"I explained to him that the receipts have to go to our New York headquarters which issues the cards and it would be 15 days before they would be returned. He asked me to give them a card or something written that could prove they were members.

"He also suggested that I make out a card to say they were making a survey of racial discrimination. I explained that I couldn't do that because no one was authorized to make surveys for us without the permission of the board. "Then he suggested that I just sign a card showing they had paid their membership dues. I did this. The card read 'This is to introduce ... who is an honorary member of the Baltimore Branch of the NAACP! It was signed 'Bowen Jackson, executive secretary.'

— o O o —

"I ADDED the notary seal at his suggestion to make it official, after Yamin told me 'People might not think it is official

"He told me: 'Bowen, I am going to make a contribution to the NAACP later $25 or maybe $50. You are doing a good good job.' When I asked him to what address I should send the cards when they were returned from our national office, he said to have them sent to our office and they would be picked up."

"I did not think anything suspicious about the visit or the request for membership. I had just recently seen Yamin when he held a conference with AFRO reporters and NAACP officials upon his release from jail last January.

(Yamin was released after serving a sentence for larceny. He was dismissed as a substitute magistrate because of traffic violations).

"I knew Yamin and thought it a good thing that he was bringing in two more members." Mr. Jackson concluded.

— o O o —

YAMIN HAS BEEN ordered held in $20,000 bail. Other men arrested in connection with the case are:

Earl Soldo, 30, of 170 Lake St., Brooklyn, N.Y.; $10,000 bail; Thomas Soldo, also of Brooklyn, $5,000 bail; John Ditommasco, alias "Johnny Ditto," 32, of the 2700 block Eutaw Pl., bail $10,000; Joseph Arnowitz, 39, of Los Angeles, Calif., $40,000.

The sixth man, Robert Clarke, 28, of the 2600 block Kennedy Ave., was ordered held in $5,000 bail on Tuesday in Northwestern police court on a conspiracy charge.

Arnowitz was booked on conspiracy and holdup charges on Saturday after his release from Union Memorial Hospital where he had been treated for a bullet wound of the chest.

The attempted holdup has stirred up a storm of interest because of the still unanswered question of why New York gangsters would come to this city and attempt to stage a robbery that had all the earmarks of a well planned job.

Mr. Williams, who was once described as a "wealthy mystery gambler" served six months in 1953 in the Federal Reformatory in Petersburg, Va., for income tax invasion of $20,320.

While Mr. Williams was living in the 1500 block Pulaski St. in 1950 his home was robbed of $14,000.

Conjecture on the reason for the attempted holdup has developed the following theories.

A. The holdup may have been part of a plan of NYC gangsters to move in on the local numbers racket. B. Mr. Williams may have been "fingered" by someone who believed he kept large sums of money in his home. C. The attempted holdup may have been an extortion attempt.

— o O o —

The grand jury returned two presentments, late Thursday against men accused in the Whittier Ave. attempted robbery.

One presentment for conspiracy to rob Mrs. Josephine Williams was returned jointly against Martin J. Yamin, Joseph Aronowitz and John DiTommaso.

Another presentment for attempted robbery with a deadly weapon named only Aronowitz and DiTommaso.

The grand jury took action at the time against Thomas Soldo, Earl Soldo and Robert Clark, who are also accused in the crime.

— o O o —

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Williams spent three hours in the grand jury waiting room, Thursday, main witnesses in the attempted robbery as State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro bypassed a scheduled preliminary hearing, Monday and presented the case to the grand jury.

— o O o —

THE COUPLE arrived shortly before 11 a.m., accompanied by teen-age Zollie Dunston of 2307 Pulaski St.

Following Mr. Sodaro into the grand jury room, Mrs. Williams was called to testify at 12:55 p.m. She spent only five minutes with the grand jury.

Mrs. Williams was followed by her husband who testified from 1 to 1:10 p.m.

Unusual styles for

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY Bowen Jackson of the Baltimore NAACP, examines type of membership cards he issued to one of the men implicated in the attempted holdup of a Whittier Ave. home on Sept. 1.

Communism Hurts NAACP

Morning

By CARTER WESLEY

The same issue of Communism which split the Houston Branch of the NAACP wide open in 1946 today has the Louisville Branch divided tragically, violently, and seemingly hopelessly.

Houston, Texas

All six of the persons indicted last week in Louisville for sedition are members of the local branch.

One of the six persons indicted for sedition is on the executive board of the local branch, and it is she who has brought in the membership of the other five.

P.1

It is believed by many members of the board that probably 75 persons, now holding membership among the 200 or so active members, formerly belonged to the defunct labor council, a leftist organization.

Sat. 10-23-54

When Attorney Harry McAlpin offered a motion to require the officers of the local branch to sign a loyalty oath, opportunists began to talk about McCarthyism, freedom of conscience, and a whole lot of other tommyrot which had nothing to do with the pressing problem of clearing the NAACP's record as loyal to America.

We recall that in Houston in 1946 the working personnel of the NAACP decided to hold onto the Communists, and let those who protested any association or attempt to work with Communists leave the body. At the time the Houston branch was the second largest in the nation. Let's not talk about the low estate to which it has come.

Morning

The issues involved in Louisville are as simple as those that were up in Texas: the NAACP was organized to fight for the elimination of wrongs to and suppression of the Negro race. The only ground that the said minority Negro race has for demanding rights under the Constitution is that said Negroes are loyal, true citizens of America, and, therefore, entitled to all of the rights of such loyal citizens under the Constitution.

Communists and leftist organizations, affiliated with Communists, are not true and loyal American citizens. In fact, they are out to destroy America. If the NAACP is going to in any way let itself remain allied to Communists or to leftists, it unfits itself to represent the fight for the Negro's rights.

Sat. 10-23-54

By the same token, if any community, knowingly chooses an organization, even an NAACP organization, which is leftist or affiliated with Communists, and thus tainted with disloyalty to the country, then that community handicaps itself irreparably.

In the Louisville clash the issue is not whether the six people accused of sedition are guilty, the issue is whether all of those who previously and independently were members of the known leftist organization should not be purged, or made to prove themselves loyal.

In this fight for the rights of Negroes in America, we, like Caesar's wife, must be above and free of suspicion. But that doesn't mean that any branch should put out people because they have been accused of sedition, under circumstances involving the right of a Negro, as in this case. On the other hand, it does mean that where the members and the community know, as in this case they know, that the six accused members were a part of a leftist and subversive organization, the branch should vigorously and promptly move to clear out the leftists.

It is sad to note that few people understand what freedom means. Freedom to think what one wills carries with it the responsibility not to think oneself into a position of encroaching upon another's rights, and not to think oneself into a position of slyly and treacherously wrecking and destroying the rights of the whole group. Most people think that freedom is a license to think and to do anything they want.

NAACP Asks Ouster Of Sheriff

Herald

P.1

Anti-Integration Views Under Attack

Miami

TAMPA — (AP) — The Florida headquarters of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said Tuesday it has asked Acting Gov. Charley Johns to remove Sheriff Willis V. McCall of Lake county because of remarks reportedly made by McCall at a meeting in Delaware protesting desegregation.

Sat.

Wed. 10-13-54

The letter released here Tuesday bore the name of William A. Fordham, Tampa lawyer and president of the Florida state conference of branches of the NAACP.

MCCALL

The governor's office at Tallahassee said it has not received the letter.

The NAACP said newspaper stories reported McCall urged the Delaware audience to reject the United States Supreme court ruling against segregation in public schools.

The NAACP also referred to McCall's handling of the Groveland rape case and his shooting of two Negro defendants in that case.

"His unmindful attitude of law enforcement and his open resentment of the United States Supreme court's decision coupled with the plans of the State of Florida towards implementation of that high judicial body's final decree is leading this organization and citizens of Florida to believe that Willis V. McCall, as an officer of the county and state, will be a detriment towards the development of better race relations and peaceful solutions to the problems that will arise," the NAACP letter said.

"I have not violated any law," McCall said. "I have only exercised my privileges under the type of free Americanism I was brought up in."

32b 1954

NAACP

NAACP Presses For End Of Train Segregation

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People today pressed at public hearings its request that the Interstate Commerce Commission rule out all racial segregation in interstate train travel.

The case follows up the Supreme Court's recent outlawing of such segregation in the nation's public school system. It hinges on the contention that the old theory of "equal but separate" accommodations is now legally out of date.

The proceeding against train segregation in general is also a sequel to the 1950 ruling by the high court that racial distinctions among passengers in railroad dining cars had to go.

The court in the dining car case cited a provision of the Interstate Commerce Act that no interstate passenger may be subjected to "any undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage whatsoever."

The new NAACP proceeding was brought against a dozen major railroads operating in the South. But associate attorney Robert Carter of New York indicated that the current hearings should be brief because, he said, seven of the named railroads have entered into stipulations with him conceding that they segregated passengers in the areas where the local law required such segregation.

The association, on its part, agreed in the stipulations that the service provided, although separate, was equal to that given white travelers.

Carter called a string of witnesses to testify regarding alleged segregation practices on the Illinois Central, the Missouri Pacific, the Texas & Pacific and the Seaboard Air Line railroads, which did not enter into the stipulations.

Dr. Herman H. Long, director of race relations for the American Missionary Division of the Congregational Christian Churches, was offered as a chief witness.

Dr. Long, headquartered at Fiske University in Tennessee, said he had directed an extensive survey of segregation practices on railroads in 1949 and 1950, using an interracial team of two white persons and two Negroes, who made numerous interstate trips to observe the policies followed.

He asserted that segregation was effected "by a variety of means, including cards handed to passengers to designate which car they could board, verbal directions of train employes, and manipulation of seat reservations."

He asserted that "the pattern of segregation was clearly present," whether admitted or not.

Some of the railroad attorneys objected that the survey was out of date, not reflecting present practices, particularly since the Supreme Court school ruling.

NAACP Contribution Climbs To $19,000

The American Teachers Association brought its total contributions to NAACP up to the total of $19,000 through its annual contribution which was received in person by attorney Thurgood Marshall at the recent 51st ATA convention held in Nashville.

Sixteen years ago at the ATA convention held at Tuskegee, the American Teachers Association authorized that one-tenth of its annual membership income would be donated annually to the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund for assistance in the prosecution of the cases in behalf of equality.

At the 1954 convention the total contributed amount from ATA was brought up to $19,000 for the 16-year period and included an additional payment of $500 for a life membership of ATA in NAACP.

Heman Sweatt gets MA degree

ATLANTA, Ga. — Heman M. Sweatt, the plaintiff in the famous NAACP "Sweatt Case," which resulted in the decision of the Supreme Court to outlaw segregation at the University of Texas, was awarded the master of social work degree from the Atlanta University School of Social Work July 7.

Mr. Sweatt was the first colored student to enter the University of Texas and will go down in history as a martyr to the cause of equal education in the South.

Because of his outstanding work in the school, Mr. Sweatt was employed immediately as industrial secretary by the Urban League of Cleveland where he was placed for six months of field work.

NAACP official unhurt

Family Absent During Shotgun Raid of His Home

SUBPHUR SPRINGS, Tex. — (ANP) — An official of the NAACP who recently asked that public schools here be integrated, last week had his home shotgun blasted.

He is T. W. Ridge, chairman of the local NAACP, who escaped possible injury because he and his wife were away at the time of the shooting.

The shooting has aroused this northeast Texas county seat of some 9,200 persons of whom about 1,100 are colored. Police Chief Vaughn Deaton said two shotgun blasts and several 38-calibre pistol slugs were fired into the home.

Led School Right

Ridge has been a leader in a fight for better school. About two weeks ago he presented a petition to the local school board demanding that schools be integrated in line with the U.S. Supreme Court ruling. The board supposedly agreed to take the petition under advisement.

For the past two years, parents of several colored children have picketed the towns colored school on grounds that its facilities are not equal to those for white pupils. Ridge, however, has said he has had nothing to do with the picketing.

One year ago, a colored group reportedly asked the school board for improvements in the school. The board, however, refused on grounds that it thought the school sufficient.

Parents Lose Appeal

The parents appealed to the Texas Education agency, which upheld the local board.

In connection with last week's shooting, Chief Deaton said, "We are going to do our best to get to the bottom of this."

He asserted it appeared that most of the shots were fired across a vacant lot from another street.

He also said that police have been given the description and license number of an out-of-town car that may have been involved in the shooting. He added, though, that his force had not been able to trace ownership of the car.

Eastland Accused

Bigots Would Run NAACP Out of Miss.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (ANP) — The Mississippi NAACP charged last week that recent political campaigns have led to attempts to run it out of the state.

The organization said its Southeast regional officer in Birmingham "has been in receipt of a number of reports indicating that efforts have been started to run the NAACP out of Mississippi as was promised by the winner of the senatorial nomination, Sen. James O. Eastland, and several legislators in the state."

Mrs. Ruby Hurley, regional secretary of the NAACP said "In one county certain law enforcement officers together with a number of other persons walked in on one of our branch meetings and warned our people to leave registration and voting alone when they learned that was the purpose of the meeting.

"We have had numerous complaints about threatening telephone calls and visits by white persons to our branch offices in several sections of Mississippi, but although the Negroes are terribly annoyed, they are not frightened as they have been a few years ago."

* * *

INCREASED interest among Negroes in registering and voting and the Supreme Court decision banning public school segregatioan are the underlying causes of the recent actions against the NAACP," said Mrs. Hurley.

She said "Mississippi is still in the United States of America and we will do all in our power to make the Constitution work there as elsewhere."

The NAACP said Mrs. Hurley "indicated that she has been in communication with the national association's office during the past two weeks and assurance has been given that the full resources of the NAACP will be thrown into the protection of the people in Mississippi and it is expected that the matter will be placed before the Department of Justice.

Naacp conventions have little impact on South

We wonder that it does not occur to the 'powers-that-be' in the national office of the Naacp that there is some inconsistency between their objections to the holding of national conventions in areas which humiliate Negroes by refusing them equal and non-discriminatory accomodations, and their own insistence on flouting the Naacp's 'toughness', and underlining its contempt for the South by meeting there, and subjecting its delegates to the very same treatment resented in behalf of other conventioners.

Journal P. 6

The Naacp met this year at Dallas, Texas. It met the previous year at St. Louis; the year before that at Oklahoma City; and by the merest chance, the delegates, sweltering in the stifling heat of a church basement, sidestepped another Dixie rendezvous, and drew the comparative Valhalla of Atlantic City, N. J. for 1955.

Los Angeles Calif.

In Dallas, the delegates suffered a full measure of the humiliation which only the conscienceless brutality of southern bigotry knows how to dish out.

The facilities of the one Negro hotel of Dallas being hopelessly inadequate for the delegation, two white motels were persuaded, at what sacrifice to the self-respect of the 'persuaders' we can only imagine, to open their doors to the visitors — which they did with the accompanying insult of barring the motel for the 'duration' to white guests.

Fri. 7-16-54

The rest of the delegates contented themselves with renting rooms in private homes.

The degradation did not end there. Transportation was an additional hardship and humiliation, since only Negro-driven cabs, few in number, would transport the delegates to and fro. Making the best of a situation which lacked the saving grace of having to be tolerated at all, the convention master-minds organized private car pools as if to forestall, or ease, the insult.

The convention also received a thorough snubbing from the metropolitan press of Texas. Only the correspondent from the New York Times condescended to sit at the press table at all. The Texas dailies passed up the sessions entirely, and culled their 'coverage' from the Naacp's own publicity releases. These were 'put in their place' by being consigned to the inside pages. At no time was the convention of the greatest civil rights organization in the world, the body which had just won a world-shaking decision from the highest court of the land, front page news in Dallas, Texas.

This is only a partial marshalling of the slights which must have shrived the soul of every crusading delegate on hand. One wonders what end it served.

Does the Naacp hierarchy envision subjugation of this kind as 'field experience', necessary to the development of a good crusader for civil rights; or does it feel that it is giving the South an object lesson of some sort? And what could such a lesson be?

An Naacp convention is a demonstration of little or no integration.

All Naacp officials, and the greater majority of its working board members, are Negroes. The speakers before the Dallas convention were Negroes, with the exception of the CIO's James Carey, the nature of whose calling undoubtedly makes him cut little or no ice with bigoted southerners anyway.

As far as the whole of the South is concerned, an Naacp convention, held in any of its cities, to all intents and purposes takes place in a vacuum — so little impact on the southern community does it have.

We suspect that the reason the Association hierarchy does not speak out against this compulsion to return to Dixie every year and rub salt in its own wounds, stems from the swaggering, immature attitude which is rushing the Association into a shooting war with the Dixiecrats over the school integration project before there is any actual need for one.

The inspired service the Naacp has rendered to the advancement of the Negro notwithstanding, the fact remains that with few exceptions, the Star Chamber of the national organization has a deep streak of the juvenile running through it, and often imperils its own projects by rash, hasty, demogogic words.

There is little point to baiting the already maddened South. The Negro has won the first round. He should rest with some composure and self-containment for the next, the inevitability of which we certainly do not intend these words of caution to minimize.

But there is little to be gained by alerting an opponent, by keeping him on the 'qui vive', by baiting and taunting him.

It would be a much better technique to let him grow slack in over-confidence, and to catch him flat-footed with a well-directed punch at a propitious time.

It is about time for an end to the swaggering victory speeches of Thurgood Marshall, and bumptious boasting bluster, and baiting of Walter White. Let it subside into meditation of the next step to be taken to make the victory a reality.

Fri. 7-16-54

So much loose talk and nose-thumbing might be better left to the Dixie politicians who must palaver a lot to conceal the fact that their side is, in the long run, beaten.

NAACP BOSS, OTHERS LISTED IN INJUNCTION

Commercial Appeal

Columbus Cafe Closed After Neighbors' Complaints

Pub

COLUMBUS, Miss., Sept. 5.— A temporary injunction halting the operation of a cafe by the Mississippi NAACP president and four other Negroes has been issued by Chancellor R. P. Sugg, it was disclosed Sunday.

Dr. N. J. Stringer of Columbus, state National Association for Advancement of Colored People chapter president, and the other operators were enjoined from operating the cafe which was described in the complaint as a "public and private nuisance."

A court official said the suit was brought by Negroes living near the cafe. They charged that the operators permitted "disorderly and immoral conduct on the premises" and the cafe "continuously disturbed the peace" of homes in the area.

The cafe was said to be operated by the Negro American Legion post here and Stringer and the other defendants were listed as post officers.

32b 1954

NAACP keynote address firm

Group will continue to work in spirit of cooperation—Tobias

(Special to the AFRO)

DALLAS, Texas — Dr. Channing Tobias strikes a firm though non-aggressive note in his keynote speech prepared for delivery at the NAACP annual conference here, Tuesday night.

Said he:

"We are working and will continue to work in the spirit of cooperation and are encouraged by the response we have gotten from enlightened people all over the South.

"But I cannot say too emphatically that we are not going to stand idly by while enemies of the democratic process in the form of public officials, whose salaries are paid from funds rerived from the taxes of all the people, hold closed-door conferences for the publicity announced purpose of devising ways and means of evading the court's ruling.

DR. CHANNING H. TOBIAS
Convention keynoter

Lean Over Backwards

"We are going to lean over backwards in our efforts to help honest, efficient colored teachers in the solution of their problems, but we are not going to deal gently with those congenital Uncle Toms who have a vested interest in segregation and are willing to sell their people down the river in order to save their own skins.

"Nor are we going to be sympathetic with those teachers who are too lazy to prepare themselves for the larger and more exacting responsibilities of integration."

Fight for FEPC

At the pre-convention press conference, Monday, Walter White reiterated NAACP support of FEPC and derided contention of a local paper that such legislation would deprive white workers of jobs, force social relations and violate the Constitution.

Said White:

"If Federal Government can legislation governing employer relations, as in the Taft-Hartley bill, it can certainly enact laws forbidding discrimination in employment.

"The purpose of FEPC is to provide equality of job opportunity and not to take jobs away from any one group to give them to another.

"Working together on the job has nothing whatever to do with whom you invite to your home. To try to make it appear otherwise is to distort the truth.

More than 100 lawyers met on call of Thurgood Marshall to map legal action necessary to extend the principle of non segregation embodied in Supreme Court decisions of May 17.

At the press conference, Sunday, Marshall discounted talk of southern governors. He asserted:

"The schools are the concern of local school boards. They will be responsible for complying with court orders.

"While the governors are seeking to circumvent the Supreme Court, we are going to circumvent the governors."

Jack And Jill Society Joins NAACP Group

New York, August 5—Jack and Jill, a national parents association, this week joined the growing list of organizations which have taken out $500 life memberships in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Social clubs, trade unions, fraternal associations and professional societies are among organizations holding NAACP life memberships.

In addition to the Jack and Jill membership, the NAACP received this week a contribution of $100 from the CIO Newspapers Guild of New York and $459.62 from the following branches: Tampa Fla., $200; Talbot County, Md.; $100; Ridgefield, Conn., $59.62; and Albany, N. Y., and Kenasha, Wisc., $50 each.

Mobile NAACP Asks For Goodwill In Desegregation

MOBILE, Ala. — (ANP) — Officials of the Mobile Branch of the NAACP announced last week that they hope the de-segregation in the Mobile County school system will be achieved in conformity to the best traditions of race relations embodying mutual understanding and good will.

Clarence Montgomery, president and John L. LeFlore, secretary issued statements declaring that local Negroes will accept the decision of the Supreme Court voiding segregation in the nation's public schools.

They also expressed hope that local school authorities would make no attempt to circumvent the court's ruling.

"We do not anticipate any trouble as we know that all law-abiding citizens will abide by the court's decision. The Negroes accepted the new outmoded 'separate but equal' decree of the court years ago although they know that they were not being justly treated at that time," Montgomery stated.

NAACP

"I can assure you that Negroes of this community do not want and definitely do not feel that there will be any violence in effecting the mandate of the court. I feel that citizens of all groups in Mobile county will accept the decisions in the spirit in which it was given," Montgomery predicted.

The official urged the Negro public not to become arrogant in any way but to continue as good citizens accepting the change in a spirit of good will.

"We are urgang all public officials, the press, radia and other responsible agencies to assist us in seeing that this program is carried out," stated Montgomery.

The president pointed to the advanced stage of integration in the armed forces and declared:

"It was predicted that the morale of these services would be lost completely if these service men were integrated. Contrary to those who fought this progressive and democratic step, the mixing of these units has resulted in a much better armed force."

Court Rules In Favor Of NAACP In Cincinnati

Cincinnati, Aug. 5—The right of a member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to enter and enjoy the facilities of Coney Island Park, a local privately-owned amusement resort, has been upheld by Judge Weber of the Hamilton County Court of Common Pleas.

In granting a permanent injunction against the owners of the park, Judge Weber held that "injury to the plaintiff by the wrongful acts of the defendants is irreparable and the statutory remedy is inadequate." The Ohio Civil Rights law provides for fines of from $50 to $500 or imprisonment of from 30 to 90 days, or both.

Suit was filed last year by Miss Ethel Fletcher who complained that she was denied admission to Coney Island Park on July 2 and again on July 4, 1953. Representing the plaintiff in this case were NAACP lawyers Michel M. Turpeau and Walter S. Houston of Cincinnati. Through her lawyers, Miss Fletcher asked for an injunction forever restraining the park from denying her admission and full enjoyment of its facilities.

Owners of the park asserted that on the days when Miss Fletcher was denied admission the park was under contract to private organizations which instructed the park officials "to refuse admission to any member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People or any member of the Cincinnati Council on Human Rights, or persons acting in concert with them, because of previous unlawful disorderly subversive conduct of said groups, which conduct was detrimental to the peace and safety of the members and guests of said outing organizations."

Linder Says NAACP For 'Brown America'

By GENE BRITTON
Constitution Staff Writer

LAFAYETTE, Aug. 6—Speaking in a drizzling rain, Tom Linder made a sermon-type address here late Friday in which he urged the crowd to uphold Christian principles by resisting efforts to break down segregation.

Walker countians heard the commissioner of agriculture in charge the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People with striving for a "brown America."

He said if he is elected governor he will ask the General Assembly for a bill requiring the NAACP "and other outside interferences" to get permit from the chief legislative before holdings in the state. If a permit should be granted, such meetings have to be held under guard, he added.

Several times he quoted the Scriptures in his address.

CENSUS PLAN

Applause punctuated his outline of what he said is the only plan to maintain segregation in free public schools. He reiterated his plan for a census to determine whether parents want their children to attend mixed or segregated schools.

Earlier Friday, the first candidate to follow the campaign trail into Dade County, promised he would see that Dade got her proper share of state contracts and other government services if he is elected governor. He spoke at Trenton.

After a prelude of recorded mountain music, Linder said he knew Dade has been "somewhat isolated" but "I will change all that when I'm your governor." Dade lies in a valley between Sand and Lookout mountains which cut it off geographically from the rest of the state.

ALMOST IMPASSABLE

He reminded the Trenton crowd that some of their farm-to-market roads are often almost impassable and "never in first-class condition."

He said he favors continuation of the state's policy of farming out contracts to counties because residents of the counties know where roads should be developed for the greatest benefit to the most people.

Linder praised the state farm market system, developed under his administration as head of the Agriculture Department, as the greatest in the nation.

An expansion of the system to include small manufacturers is needed, he said, to provide outlets for products without so many middlemen.

He also promised an expansion of research programs in the poultry and livestock industries and "every other branch of agriculture."

A Disservice To Negroes

THE NATIONAL Association for the Advancement of Colored People is headed toward doing our Negro citizens a distinct disservice.

Howard Dixon, attorney and spokesman for the Miami unit of the NAACP, reports that it is determined to push the issue of immediate desegregation in our public schools without waiting for a ruling from the U. S. Supreme Court whether its order should be on a gradual or immediate basis.

The national NAACP has instructed local chapters to enroll children in White schools. Petitions are now being circulated in Dade county to find out how many families would be willing to serve as "test cases."

It is an unfortunate program. It ignores the realities of which the Supreme Court was keenly conscious when it withheld a supplemental order establishing the specific time for the implementation of its decision.

In Florida generally and in this county particularly there has been a measured acceptance of the court's decision.

Attorney General Richard Ervin has been conducting a wide-scope survey of White and Colored leadership to ascertain how the court's order could be best implemented, in an orderly and non-provocative manner.

The NAACP spurns this sort of considered evaluation of an admittedly complex problem. The Attorney General calls its action a "flouting of the United States Supreme Court."

Certainly the program is completely contrary to what Ervin's analysis found to be the majority reactions of the Colored leadership in this county.

★ ★ ★

• THE ATTORNEY GENERAL makes this factual and realistic evaluation of the NAACP's demand for immediate de-segregation:

"Any precipitate and hasty action as contemplated by the NAACP will be rash and will only cause ill feelings. We have been trying to work out this problem in an orderly and careful fashion and they are acting before even the Supreme Court has had a chance to consider all the factors."

The Supreme Court provided no talisman for making its order effective when it made its decision.

A great segment of the White population accepted the order with the understanding that it would be carried out in a manner that would cause the least friction. They did not take that to mean a designed and inflammatory pressing of the issue before the Supreme Court had completed its findings.

The NAACP's program stands to alienate the sympathies of this great group. Colored leadership should not deliberately prod ill feeling. This is the time for healing, not creating, new social scars.

It is not a question here of the rightness of the Court's decision.

The issue as such has been settled. Its effectuation has not.

That calls for another sort of Colored leadership than that being shown by the NAACP.

NAACP Chapter Head Quits After Handing 'Desegregation' Petition

(Special to The Times-Picayune)

TYLERTOWN, Miss., Aug. 13—The president of the Walthall county chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Friday announced he had resigned after presenting to the county school board a "desegregation" petition which he said he "did not understand."

The petition, according to county superintendent of education Edd Duncan, was "a form furnished the local NAACP chapter by the national headquarters" and was signed by 30 names, headed by Sidney Allen as chapter president.

The petition was tabled, Duncan said, and Allen was invited before the school board for a conference. Allen's resignation as NAACP chapter leader followed.

"I talked to a majority of the 30 Negroes signing the petition," Allen said, "and have found that they, like myself did not thoroughly understand the wording of the petition. The petition was read before our meeting one time. Its contents were then represented to us as an appeal for better schools, better transportation and an opportunity to be heard by the county board of trustees. On this basis we signed the petition. Had we known its far-reaching effects we would not have signed it."

Supt. Duncan said the petition requested reorganization of the public schools in accordance with the May 17 supreme court decision and offered assistance from the local NAACP chapter "in devising and implementing a program of desegregation" in the schools of the county.

"We are not weak or undecided on this question of mixing the races in our schools," Supt. Duncan said in announcing the tabling of the petition. "We are united and determined through all peaceful, legal and co-operative means to handle the problems as law abiding citizens should handle them."

The Jackson chapter of the NAACP will meet Monday to discuss the decision outlawing racial segregation in public schools.

PRESIDENT ADDRESSES N. A. A. C. P. CONFERENCE, WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Eisenhower (right) is shown chatting with Judge Theodore Spaulding, of Philadelphia, Pa., member of the National Board of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, before the Chief Executive addressed the Freedom Fulfillment Conference of that organization in Washington today. Mr. Eisenhower told the conference that racial prejudice and discrimination do not represent the feeling of the mass of the American people.—Photo by Al Muton.

Orchids to the NAACP

THE U. S. Supreme Court is to be praised for its unanimous decision ordering the segregation of public schools, but even greater praise must go to the NAACP whose legal department, headed by Atty. Thurgood Marshall, launched the legal actions that led to the decision.

Opposed by some of the greatest legal minds in the nation, the NAACP legal battery soundly defeated them decisively with a mobilization of talent, facts and scientific opinion seldom surpassed in our history.

It is significant that the Supreme Court's decision was, in our view, based less on law than social philosophy, and it was this latter argument that the NAACP lawyers stressed so magnificently in their arguments although, of course, the usual constitutional appeals were made.

We hope our people will remember this, keep in mind the fight to come and show their intelligence and appreciation by subscribing liberally to the Fight for Freedom Fund.

We have right on our side but it needs to be strengthened with a big war chest.

NAACP CHOOSES ATLANTIC CITY FOR 1955 ANNUAL CONVENTION

Dallas, Texas — The 1955 NAACP Conventon will be held in eedeeeeeel P..ETAOA ESCET Atlantic City, N. J., the last week in June. It will be the Association's 46th annual session and the first the Association has held in the North since 1950 when Boston was the site of the convention.

The six-day confab of the NAACP here in Dallas closed Monday, July 4. It opened with an address by Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the Board of Directors. Other speakers were Atty. Thurgood Marshal; James B. Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer; Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of New York City College, who presented the 39th Springarn Medal to Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, noted derwatologist of Chicago.

The year 1954 represents "a milestone of social advance in the United States," President Eisenhower said in a message of greeting to the nearly 800 delegates attending the 45th annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the final session of which was held here today.

"The social and politisal maturity of our people evidenceed by the reception given the recent Supreme Court decision is of great significance to our nation and to the cause of freedom in the world," the Pres- said in his message, read to the convention, by Walter White NAACP executive secretary. "The times call for continued demonstration of that maturity," President Eisenhower asserted. "We must have patieuce without compromise of principle," he continued. "We must have understanding without disregard for differences of opinion which actually exist. We must have continued social progress, calmy but persistently made, so that we may prove without doubt to all the world that our nation and our people are truly dedicated to liberty and justice for all."

From Arthur B. Springarn, NAACP president, came words of felicitation upon achievements and of warning that much remains to be done.

The Supreme Court rulings "undoubtedly mark a great step forward in the long struggle of the colored people in the United States for equality of treament," said a messag from far away India signed by Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of that country. The great Indian leader told the delegates that he had read "with great interest and appreciation of the recent judgement of the Supreme Court of the United States against the segregation, in the field of public education, of colored children."

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, a member of the NAACP Board of Drectors, sent a message saying she was "delighted with the progress of our organization" and expressing the hope that future planning will be wse and successfnl."

From board member Herbert Lehman, U. S. Senator from New York, came "warmest congratulations and greetings" and an exrpession of his conviction that the fight for civil rights and the maintenance of civil liberties are struggles "we must carry on . . . simultaneously."

Greetings also were sent by Adlai Stevenson, former Illinois governor and 1952 Democratic candidate for President; Senator Irving Ives (R., N. Y.); Walter P. Reuther, president of the Congress of Industrial Orgarizations and a member of the NAACP Board of Directors; George Meany, president of American Federation of Labor; Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (D., Minn.); Amos T. Hall, president, Conference of Grand Masters of Prince Hall Mason's; Israel Goldstein, Uuited Steelworkersof America, CIO; Irving M. Engel, president, American Jewish Committee; and others.

President Eisenhower's executive action to end segregation and his forthright support of anti-bias court rulings "decisively bashed hopes of the Dixiecrats that he would be guided by them on this fundamental issue of racial equality," Walter White the veteran executive secretary of the National Association for the Advanceement of Colored People, told a vast audience at the closing meeting.

Sharing the platform and the en a police escort to the home meet by a motorcade and giv- crowd's ovation in the Dallas of his host, the Rev. Dr. Ernest Sportatorium was Dr. Ralph J. C. Estell, pastor of St. John the a Bunche. Upon his arrival here Baptist Church.

The 800 delegates from 40 states and the District of Columbia and thousands of persons from all over Texas crowded the auditorium to hear interney was the Boston delegate.

nationally famed diplomat and the long-time executive head of the NAACP. Commissioner Elwood McKin-

An NAACP Formula For Integration

"Moonlighters," Ku Klux and all of these off-brand organizations hoping the NAACP would meet at Dallas and take some rash position with respect to the implementation of integration in the public school systems can find slight comfort out of the decision of the leaders of America's most militant organization to wait a full year before attempting to fashion reality out of the high court's judgment.

Instead of the NAACP rushing in ahead of the Supreme Court's fall deliberations, the considered judgment of civil righters is that the court should adopt a formula for integration and then the southern states should be given adequate time to revamp their state practices. No one can argue that this is not a conservative and constitutional position in which to become resident.

States like Oklahoma have fiscal matters that must be adjusted. Oklahoma school laws are unique in that the separate school fund is entirely divorced from the majority appropriations in the white school districts. This will have to be adjusted before things can run smoothly, in keeping with the general direction of the courts. Other states have similar problems to face and there is a time element to be reckoned with in clearing up the legal snarls now hovering on the horizon.

But there are those who openly today discuss plans and programs for the express purpose of escape from the high court's ruling. A few southern attorney generals and governors are expressing intention to defy and ignore the Supreme Court ruling in this matter, and no time element can be calculated to assist in the patterning of better and more ideal government. There is no integrity on the part of those who ask for time when they openly declare they are seeking methods by which to avoid compliance.

It is with this in mind the NAACP has suggested an approach to state and local government looking forward to getting fine socially minded, patriotic citizens to voluntarily proceed with integration at once. The court having ruled out jim crow, there is nothing to prevent voluntary agreements to abandon the entire fabric of segregation and proceed at once to implementation. This is being done in many sections and states. There are several communities in Oklahoma where there has been expressed inclination to proceed in this matter of integration immediately, and that is what we are hoping will be done.

To facilitate this sort of an arrangement the national office has prepared a formula covering such conditions. It is important Negroes not be duped in committing themselves to agreements not conforming to the decision of the courts and if this outline prepared by the NAACP is followed there need be slight concern given to any such difficulty. What local branches of the NAACP should do is present these formulas for integration to their local school boards and adhere religiously to the terms set out in this arrangement.

The Oklahoma Conference of Branches has discovered since the Ada Lois Sipuel and the McLaurin cases there are more problems jutting out of implementation than there are in winning civil rights decisions in the courts. The big task just now is to get set in properly with local school boards in the matter of compliance. The NAACP outline immediately furnishes ground for discussion of the subject, and NAACP officials should keep in mind if they stick religiously with the terms of the official NAACP outline all of their rights will be properly safeguarded. Avoidance should be made on any over-night committee formed, which seeks to do the same task. The danger arises immediately when such groups assemble who do not know the pitfalls ahead of them and have not thoroughly studied the subject.

NAACP Leaders Seek Full Citizenship For Race In Ala.

By EMORY O. JACKSON

MONTGOMERY, ALA.— (SNS) —NAACP and other leaders, meeting here Sunday, May 30 in successive conferences, drafted programs seeking to integrate the Negro group soundly and completely into the full citizenship streams of Alabama.

With its top state and regional leader on hand in W. C. Patton and Mrs. Ruby Hurley, both of Birmingham, Alabama N. A. A. C. P. branch presidents convening at the Elks Club said they "do unequivocally and uncompromisingly endorse" the "Atlanta Declaration" issued May 23 by state N. A. A. C. P. presidents from 11 states and other NAACP officials.

In an earlier meeting at the same place, assorted leaders from over half of the state's 67 counties blueprinted a set of desires and goals intended to be won through political action and leadership persuasion. This group threw its weight in soft language behind the NAACP's position on de-segregating the schools.

The two one-after-the-other conference was topped off by a mass meeting at which Attorney A. T. Walden of Atlanta in a stirring speech suggested that good sense, wise use of the ballot and careful use of the dollar were sharp tools at hand in building first-class citizenship.

He reviewed his own fight for civil rights and asserted that he was dedicating the remainder of his life in working for that bright tomorrow for Negro youth which he dreamed of for himself when he was young.

Shrewdly he observed that the loud talk is being done not by the school officials but by the politicians who are not directly involved. He intimated that the Supreme Court has ample power to enforce its decision but urged respect for law by all sides.

The meeting was held at the Metropolitan Methodist Church Statements issued by the Branch Presidents of the Alabama State Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Montgomery, Ala., May 30, 1954.

TEXT OF STATEMENT

We the elected officials of N. A. A. C. P. Branches, representing thousands of colored Americans in the State of Alabama, do unequivocally and uncompromisingly endorse the declaration issued by the NAACP representatives in Atlanta, Georgia on May 23, 1954.

The Supreme Court of the United States has declared in the simplest language, "....in the field of public education the doctrine of 'separate but equal' has no place. Separate educational facilities are inherently unequal."

We propose to utilize the fullest resources of the NAACP to implement this historic decision.

We solicit and welcome the cooperation and support of other law-abiding citizens and groups who are sincerely interested in having our state comply with this long-awaited ruling.

We believe that the vast majority of the people of our state are law-abiding citizens. We believe that the officials of our state who have sworn to uphold and defend the Constitution of our country will not wittingly or unwittingly defy the law of the land or seek to evade it, through the use of subterfuge or other devious means.

We recognize that there will be some administrative problems which must be met in making necessary changes in school system in order to comply with the decision. However, we will resist thru the use of every legal means any and all efforts to circumvent the law.

Further, we wish to make it clear that those persons who speak in support of the "equalization" of schools speak only for themselves.

We reiterate our endorsement of the Atlanta Declaration and rededicate ourselves to the task of ending segregation in public schools.

Here is the prepared statement released on the "Negro Group Wants" conference.

Some 200 leaders from the various walks of life in session Sunday, May 30, 1954 at the Southern Pride Lodge (Elks) 907 Cleveland Ave., Montgomery, Alabama formulated a broad declaration of "What the Alabama Negro Group Wants" which is to be presented by a "Committee of 11" to high level state governmental officials.

In general terms the "Negro Wants" program suggested the ending of racial segregation in public education and hinted accord with the position taken by the NAACP for immediate compliance with the recent ruling of the United States Supreme Court against the segregated school system.

The declaration covered the areas of political suffrage, employment recreation, governmental participation and housing. It was unanimously adopted by delegates representing 39 counties.

Members of the "Committee of 11" were elected from each of the Alabama Congressional Districts, namely (1) C. D. Stallworth, Milrey, Ala.; (2) E. D. Nixon, Montgomery, Ala.; (3) Roy J. Johnson, Enterprise, Ala.; (4) B. O. Beayler Anniston Ala.; (5) Q. D. Adams Gadsden, Alabama; (6) Frank P Thomas, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; (7) S J. Hembrick. Jasper Ala. (8) W. E. King, Courtland, Ala.; (9) Orzell Billingsley, Jr. Birmingham Ala.; Prof. J. E. Pierce of Montgomery and W. C. Patton of Birmingham, chairman.

In the preamble of the "What the Negro Group Wants statement it was said that "the Negro wants what every other citizen wants, no more no less. Called by the Alabama State Coordinating Committee for Registration and Voting, chaired by Mr. Patton, the conference heard ideas and suggestions from the leaders who made reports on condition in their area which needed attention.

Leaders from the particular Congressional District carcussed and selected a person to be its representative on the "Committee of 11." Pierce was selected as a member-at-large on the committee and Patton by virtue of his position as chairman of the sponsoring group.

GEORGIA NAACP OFFICERS who met Saturday with other state organization officials are shown above just prior to a press conference held in Atlanta. The group rejected an invitation to the June 25 hearing of the Georgia Education Commission on the grounds that the meeting would be segregated. Left to right are: J. L. Johnson, Hawkinsville; C. L. Harper, Atlanta, Mrs. Ruby Hurley (Regional Secretary), Birmingham; Dr. William Boyd (President), Atlanta; A. T. Walden, Atlanta; W. W. Law, Savannah; Daniel E. Byrd, New Orleans; Rev. J. E. Mann, Brunswick; and J. H. Calhoun, Atlanta. — (Perry's Photo)

Carey Warns NAACP Of New Bias Problems

CIO SEC.-TREAS. James B. Carey warned the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People last week that the recent Supreme Court decision banning segregation in the public schools carries with it "the seeds of new problems."

Carey, who spoke at the NAACP convention in Dallas, Tex., said that "in many areas, the practical effect of eliminating public school segregation will be negated as long as non-white families are denied residence in any neighborhood in which they can afford to live."

"As long as we allow customs, the mortgage banker fraternity, or administrators of government housing programs to prevent the free movement of non-white families in certain neighborhoods, public school segregation, in fact, will be with us," he said.

Carey, who is also president of the CIO Electrical Workers and chairman of the CIO Civil Rights Committee, cited the Supreme Court's reasoning that segregation in public schools is a denial of the equal protection of the laws.

"Therefore," he said, "if we find that segregation or discriminatory practices in housing serve to frustrate this dictum, we must eliminate these patterns and practices."

Carey said the high court decision also will "make us more aware" of newer, more subtle types of discrimination and inequities in employment. Many plants, he said, still refuse to hire Negroes, and in others, Negroes are relegated to unskilled jobs.

Passage of a Fair Employment Practices Act, he said, is "the quickest and most effective method of meeting these problems."

He pointed out that to get an FEPC law, more people will have to register and vote, so that we can send "more men and women to Washington who will share our sensitivity to the needs of our times."

"In the meantime," he said, "we will exhaust every organizational and legal means to remove these roadblocks."

As the convention opened, NAACP leaders prepared to face new problems of racial discrimination.

Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel, told 100 Negro lawyers prior to the opening of the convention:

"There is a good possibility that we will move into the areas of local and train transportation soon. Cases are in preparation and should be filed within about a month."

He said that among the fields in which the convention would consider extending its fight against segregation are housing, recreation and employment in addition to transportation.

NAACP Regional Group Releases Its Action Plans

Birmingham, Ala., June, 1954—The Supreme Court's decision declaring segregation in public schools unconstitutional came as a result of years of planning and working by your NAACP. In spite of the race-baiting being conducted by Talmadge and his cohorts in Georgia, Byrnes and Timmerman in South Carolina, professional politicians, misdirected newspaper editors, columnists and others in the South, the NAACP is dedicated to finish the fight.

This decision is the Emancipation Proclamation of the 20th century and we recommend to state conferences and branches that consideration be given to observance of May 17 in future years in commemoration of the day on which that decision came down. It seems to us that it is just as significant as January 1 on which we have observed Emancipation Day in the past.

The Atlanta Declaration

Each State Conference should have received by now copies of the declaration which was adopted by the representatives of our state conference in the seventeen southern and border states and the District of Columbia which met in Atlanta May 22, 23. In most instances, it was expected that the state conference would distribute copies of the declaration to the branches in its jurisdiction. Each branch should have a copy.

Alabama and Mississippi have had meetings of the state conference boards and presidents of branches and have gone on record endorsing the declaration and pledging to carry out its directives.

Florida NAACP officers will meet in Tampa on Saturday, June 12, Georgia will hold a meeting in Atlanta on June 19.

All branches are urged to follow instructions to the letter. It is all important that every move be planned carefully from here on.

The Dallas Convention

Branches, youth councils, college chapters and state conferences in the Southeast Region are urged to make every possible effort to have representatives attend and participate in the Association's Annual Convention which will meet in Dallas, Texas June 29-July 4.

Members of the Southeastern Regional Legal Redress Committee are urged to attend the meeting of lawyers being called by Mr. Marshall on Monday afternoon, June 8. Details on this meeting have been sent out from Mr. Marshall's office.

Members of the Southeastern Regional Church Work Committee are urged to attend the meeting of church men being called by Rev. Offutt on Tuesday, June 29.

We need not emphasize the importance of these meetings. During the conference, one full day will be devoted to discussions of desegregation problems.

Regional Awards

This is a reminder that regional awards will be made to workers who have reported fifty or more memberships in their local campaigns. Other awards will be given to the branches that have reported the highest number of members over their goal and the highest amounts over their Freedom Fund quotas. The necessary information should be forwarded promptly June 15 the deadline, since we plan to make presentations at the Annual Convention.

FFF PROGRAM MOVING AHEAD

Membership Campaigns

The Supreme Court decisions should provide a great deal of stimulation for branches in their membership campaigns.

Columbus, Mississippi, Brewton, Alabama, a new branch; Carroll Co. Georgia, Laurel, Mississippi; Williston, S. C.; and Newberry S. C. report that they are intensifying their membership campaigns.

Newberry, South Carolina, has sent in $50.00 for the Freedom Fund Thank You, Newberry.

ALABAMA PLANS A SPOTTS-

WOOD DAY

The Alabama State Conference will have a mass meeting at the Old Ship AME Zion Church in Montgomery on Sunday, June 27 at which time Bishop Stephen Gill Spottswood former president of the Washington, D. C., Branch and presently chairman of the Southeastern Regional Church Work Committee will be honored.

Branches in the state are expected to send representatives and a substantial amount toward their Freedom Fund goals which will then be reported at the Annual Convention.

NEWS ABOUT THE REGION

The Nashville, Tennessee City Council unanimously banned segregation at the Municipal Airport restaurant at its regular meeting in May 16. The action was requested in a resolution filed by Councilman Z. Alexander Looby, chairman of the Tennessee State Conference Legal Redress Committee and a member of the NAACP National Board of Directors. It was supported by the NAACP, the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance and other groups.

Approximately four months ago similar action was taken by the Knoxville, Tennessee City Council

White South May Fiddle But NAACP To Call Tune

By JAMES L. HICKS

ATLANTA. — The NAACP is willing to sit back and let the white South fiddle over the Supreme court decision—but officials made it plain here Saturday that the NAACP will call the tune.

This was the spirit and atmosphere as 43 of the organization's top officials from 17 southern states sat down for a two-day conference with 13 members of the national staff to pool their collective thinking on problems raised by the school decision and to facilitate the integration of public schools in this nation.

The conference opened in an air of calmness which its board chairman, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, asked for in a telegram read to the meeting.

But in their patient calmness the organization's leaders made it plain that their patience can be very easily exhausted.

This storm under the calm was plainly indicated by the irritation of many of the leaders who arrived here to be greeted by a newspaper story which quoted a member of its Atlanta legal staff as saying that the NAACP should "discourage" any moves aimed at bringing a sudden end to segregation before the Supreme court meets this fall.

The statement which was attributed to Attorney Austin T. Walden of Atlanta, and which appeared on the front page of a daily newspaper here, brought instant criticism from arriving officials. They made it plain that they did not go along with such an attitude and many cited places in their home states where such moves are already under way.

Thurgood Marshall expressed plain disgust when he read the statement and told reporters he could not believe that Mr. Walden had made it.

Walter White struck at the statement in his opening press conference. Asked to comment on the statement Mr. White said: "Nobody, but nobody is going to set the policy for our actions in dealing with these matters but the NAACP board." He indicated that the policy did not reflect the policy of the board.

Later on Saturday Attorney Walden announced that he had been misquoted by the newspaper and that actually the story had been written by a reporter who had not talked to him.

At his press conference, Mr. White soundly slapped both Governor Talmadge and Senator Russell of Georgia for their public opposition to the court's decision.

When he was asked to comment on reports that some colored leaders were planning to sit down with white leaders in their communities and agree to keep their schools segregated, Mr. White said:

"No leaders, white or Negro who talk about keeping things as they are, will be leaders very long".

Thurgood Marshall added that it was all right for leaders to sit down and try to iron out their problems but that the NAACP would insist that the two groups would sit down on "equal terms" and that colored people would have the right to choose their representatives. He cited a case in Texas where an all-white committee on race relations had been appointed to work out interracial problems.

The shadow of Governor Talmadge hung over the conference like a cloud. Each edition of the newspapers brought further denunciations from the governor. There were those who were inclined to dismiss him lightly and there were others who looked upon him as a definite threat toward blocking their aims.

Among those present at the conference were:

Alabama, W. C. Patton, Birmingham; Dr. Joseph A. Berry, Tuskegee.

Arkansas, Mrs. L. C. Bates, Little Rock.

Florida, Atty. William A. Fordham, Tampa; Dr. G. L. Porter, Tallahasse, Atty. F. A. Rodriquez.

Georgia, Dr. William L. Boyd, Atlanta; W. W. Law, Savannah.

Illinois, Atty. Billy Jones, E. St. Louis.

Louisiana, Leonard Avery and Rev. E. L. Patterson, Baton Rouge.

Mississippi, Dr. E. J. Stringer, Columbus; C. R. Darden, Meridian.

Missouri, Carl R. Johnson, Kansas City; Atty. David Grant, St. Louis.

Oaklahoma, James E. Stewart, Oklahoma City.

South Carolina, Rev. James M. Hinton, Columbia; Arthur Clement, Charleston; Rev. J. P. Reeder, Columbia; Mr. Reginald Barrett and Rev. J. M. Pitts, Columbia.

Tennessee, Rev. Frank Gordon, and Atty. Carl A. Cowan, Knoxville; Atty. Z. Alexander Looby, Nashville.

Virginia, Dr. J. M. Tinsley, W. Lester Banks, and Atty. Spottswood Robinson, Richmond; Atty. W. Hale Thompson, Newport News; Atty. J. L. Williams, Danville.

West Virginia, Atty. T. G. Nutter, Charleston; C. Anderson Davis, Bluefield.

Texas, Atty. Henry Doyle, and Atty. Robert D. Ford, Houston.

District of Columbia, Eugene Davidson.

North Carolina, Kelly M. Alexander, Charlotte.

NAACP REPRESENTATIVES

Atlanta, Ga., branch: Prof. C. L. Harper, J. H. Calhoun, J. R. Wilson, Atty. A. T. Walden, D. L. Hollowell, S. S. Robinson, Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, Eugene M. Martin, C. W. Greenlea, V. W. Hodges, William Hall, V. Haugabrooks, Harriett Mitchell, R. E. Thomas and C. A. Scott.

LeMoyne college chapter: Jean Haydel, Maxine Brownlee, president; Helen Bradford, Claude Henry.

Monroe, Ga., D. W. Yong.

Valdosta, Ga., Leonard Davis.

Gainesville, Ga.: W. W. Chandler.

Savannah, Ga., J. S. Delaware and C. Wimberley.

Columbus, Ga., C. A. Hixon.

Alexandria, Va., Atty. Edwin C. Brown.

Houston, Texas, Herman Sweatt.

Richmond, Va., John M. Brooks.

Danville, Va., N. T. Williams, and Atty. M. L. Tucker.

Richmond, Va., Martin A. Martin.

From the National NAACP office came: Walter White, executive secretary; Thurgood Marshall, NAACP counsel; Roy Wilkins, administrator; Glaster B. Current, director of branches; Henry Lee Moon, director of publicity; Robert L. Carter, assistant special counsel; Edward R. Dudley, special assistant to secretary; Ruby Hurley, Southeast regional secretary; Duniel E. Byrd, field secretary, Legal department; Lucille Black, membership secretary; U. S. Tate, Southwest regional counsel; Cecilia Suyat, branch department; Clarence Mitchell, director Washington bureau.

Marshall sets 'target date' for integration

DALLAS, Tex. (NNPA) — The NAACP will negotiate with local school boards "as long as there is substantial evidence of good faith," but September, 1955, is a "sort of target date" for the end of school segregation.

That is the future policy of the NAACP, according to Thurgood Marshall, director of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund Inc., and chief counsel for children and their parents in four of the five school segregation cases the Supreme Court decided May 17.

Marshall and 100 NAACP lawyers held a three-day conference on the question of how the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools should be carried into effect. The lawyers' conference was a part of the six-day 45th annual NAACP convention held here last week.

Good Will Factor

"The controlling factor in every cases will be the element of good will shown by local school authorities," said Mr. Marshall.

"He said the first step to end segregated schools will be the filing of petitions by state NAACP presidents to local school boards requesting interracial conferences. These petitions will combine a request for compliance with the Supreme Court decision and a request for round-table conferences to work out the mechanics of integration.

"If we are convinced that a school board will not follow the law and there is no longer good faith involved, we will petition in behalf of the aggrieved parents and take the case into the courts to get the full measure of compliance," Mr. Marshall declared.

Areas Of Attack

Next items on the NAACP agenda for action, said Mr. Marshall, are intrastate transportation, housing and recreation. "Each regional NAACP will determine which one of the three they want to give top priority," he said.

Following President Eisenhower's greetings to the convention, a congratulatory telegram was received Wednesday from Adlai Stevenson, the defeated Democratic presidential candidate.

Aga Khan's Son Takes NAACP Memberships

BOSTON, Mass. — (ANP)—In a clean-cut, unselfish gesture of international good-will, Prince Sadruddin Khan, a student at Harvard University, and son of the wealthy and famous Moslem leader, the Aga Khan, this week purchased two life memberships from a representative of the Boston Branch of the NAACP.

Prince Khan did not hesitate in purchasing the memberships when he was approached by Mrs. Katherine Coleman.

(It should be noted that his famous father has already told his many followers in Kenya that when the time comes, they should cast their lot with the Africans.)

Saline County NAACP In Ambitious Program

SLATER, Mo. — The Saline county branch N.A.A.C.P. has attracted state-wide attention in recent months due to a varied and effective program launched under the dynamic leadership of Miss Pauline Foster, president.

The most recent activity of the association was a series of radio programs which have created a great deal of interest throughout the area.

The radio programs, in the form of panel discussions, have presented many of the state's outstanding men and women on various phases of the general theme, "Negro Life in America." The programs eminated from radio station KMMO, Marshall.

Program on Press

The most recent program in the series was held Sunday, April 25. The panel members discussing "The Negro Press," included Dowdal H. Davis, general manager of The CALL; Fielding Draffen, student at Central college, Fayette; Harry Browder, coach at Dalton high; and Miss Foster. Music was furnished by the Hubbard high school chorus, Sedalia, and a vocal solo by Miss Enola Washington, Slater.

Previous programs were given as follows: "The Negro Church," with Rev. Robert Bell, president of Saline County Council of churches, moderator; Mrs. R. C. Moore, teacher, Marshall; Mrs. Gordon Aldridge, and Rev. J. E. Erickson, Slater. The choir of the Marshall Baptist church furnished the music.

A panel on "The NAACP," featured Bernard Brown, assistant field secretary of the national office and Harvey Parham, of St. Louis, president of the state conference of branches; and Owens (Scotty) Thompson, scout executive of Webster Groves (former KMMO announcer.) Miss Foster gave a report on progress in 1953. Music was furnished by Abbott's Chapel choir.

Talk on Sports

A panel on "The Negro in Sports," featured Harry Browder, Dalton high coach; Ray Kemp, director of athletics, Lincoln university; Dwight Reed, L. U. coach. The Gilliam school octett, directed by Mrs. Violet Williams, rendered selections. Mrs. Beatrice Guthrie of Sweet Springs, Mo., sang a solo.

The Saline county branch was founded by the Rev. Frank Brown on the issue of separate rest rooms in the court house here and in Marshall. Although the problem has not yet been solved, the issue, along with many others such as library facilities, park and swimming pool, is still being pressed.

Miss Foster, has been branch president for seven years and has carried on a continuous fight for the first Negro student in Central college, where he is now in attendance. He is Fielding Draffen of Slater. Through NAACP efforts, Negroes have used the public park on occasion for two years.

Miss Foster is renewing her efforts to get Negro students in the Missouri Valley college. She has been repeatedly side-stepped by high officials of the Presbyterian school though many teachers and students have shown favorable attitudes.

Despite handicaps, the over-all program has done much to enlighten the general public on the evils of segregation. One example is shown in the work of Miss Margaret Hagedare, a white teacher in the local school who taught a comprehensive unit on Negro Histroy to her white students.

Miss Foster decries the fact that the program is handicapped by many Negroes who fail to give their support to the program out of fear and misunderstanding.

Miss Foster, a native Missourian, was born in Gilliam, and makes her home there with her mother, Mrs. Sylvia Foster, and a brother, Reuben, on their 150-acre farm.

She was instrumental in getting shall and Jefferson City. She graduated from Lincoln university with a B.S. degree in chemistry. After teaching two years in North Marshall, she came to Slater in 1935 where she has taught in the Lincoln elementary school since.

She first became interested in the NAACP shortly after graduating from college. She was an active participant in the organization before becoming assistant secretary and president. Her capable assistant secretary is Mrs. Viola Williams.

Goals Exceeded

NAACP's Locals Step Up Drives

NEW YORK — Spurred by the Supreme Court decision banning segregation in public schools, local units of the NAACP stepped up their membership campaigns with several branches exceeding their goals.

The Detroit branch has passed the 6,000 mark.

The Los Angeles branch has enrolled 4,050 new members and is driving toward a goal of 5,000. Cincinnati concluded its campaign with 4,611 members.

* * *

THE PASADENA, Calif. branch registered a 50 per cent increase over the 1953 membership and now has 2,114 members, the largest number in its history.

Dr. I. B. English is president of the branch and C. Edward Singer, campaign director.

Down in Texas, the San Antonio branch under leadership of Emerson Marcee, president, and E. Gilmore, campaign director, enrolled 1,904 members as compared with 1,300 in 1953.

* * *

THE ROCHESTER, N. Y., branch enrolled 1,300 members and raised more than $5,000 with nearly half of the members paying more than the minimum $2 fee.

Branches from all sections of the country will report on membership campaigns and Fight for Freedom funds at a dinner meeting at the forty-fifth annual NAACP convention in Dallas on July 1.

LOCAL NAACP STATE VIEWS

Education Commission Turned Down First Offer; Now Invites

The Georgia State chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was not aware of the Education Commission's invitation to state its views on school segregation, but the state vice-president asserted the NAACP would "wait for group action to follow up the next move."

"We'll act after we get another letter," C. L. Harper, vice president of the state NAACP said Wednesday in answer to inquiries as to whether the group had received any correspondence inviting them to appear before the education commission.

The commission had sent a letter to the NAACP Tuesday informing them that only gubernatorial candidates would be allowed to present their views in Wednesday's session. This letter came in answer to a request sent earlier by president William M. Boyd to appear before the board to help with plans, not to show how to keep the status quo, but how to obey the ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court.

After failing to be granted this appearance, Boyd sent a second letter to the commission Tuesday afternoon in which five recommendations for implementing the decision were announced. The NAACP further offered again what assistance it could give the board in complying with the decision.

INVITE NAACP

The commission, after hearing from four candidates for governor, all of whom expressed anti-integration ideas toward the preserving of education, invited the NAACP to state its views.

However, it was apparent that if there was any desire on the part of the NAACP to work with the commission, there was no desire of the state officials to do anything except maintain segregation.

Lt. Gov. Griffin declared that school officials should "hold the line and not under any circumstances permit the entry of even one Negro into a white school."

Another speaker, Fred Hand, criticized the commission for holding public meetings which would let the world know that Georgia intends to do about segregation. Further the accused the board of making it possible for the NAACP to formulate answers to whie supermacist plans by the candidates.

However, there were no speakers who asked that the federal government's law be obeyed. The meeting had actually been called to determined how to get around the court ruling, and many speakers held that Negro groups in rural areas have gone on record as being in favor of segregation, and said the answer might lie there.

NAACP goal is end of all segregation

Thurgood in plea for firmness in implementing school decision

RICHMOND

The goal of the NAACP is to remove racial segregation from all areas of life, Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for the NAACP, declared here Sunday.

Speaking to some 500 persons at Moore Street Baptist Church, Mr. Marshall advised his listeners "not to walk around with a big stick or with hatred in hand now that segregation is on the way out."

He continued:

"Some of us are unwilling to wait even until yesterday. They can't wait until tomorrow. Others want to wait "a little while" that may last ten years or stretch out to a lifetime. We should stand some place in the middle."

The famed civil rights attorney gave a typical Thurgood Marshall address, speaking in his easy going manner and injecting a bit of humor from time to time. His speech covered the background of the May 17 Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in the public schools.

No Slackening Now

He outlined ways of implementing the ruling and urged no slacking of effort in the work still to be done.

Mr. Marshall, who has spearheaded the long legal fight against segregation, said he is "not worried" about the future of interracial relations. He assailed those who cry the "time is not ripe" and said:

"The Emancipation Proclamation was signed 91 years ago. It was thought then that the shackles of slavery were struck down, but it hasn't happened yet. My friends, in 91 years almost everything tends to get ripe. In fact, things tend to get rotten."

He advised local citizens to file petitions with their school boards suggesting that colored citizens and the board members sit down around a table and talk about when and how desegregation can be effected, "not to discuss whether segregation is legal or illegal, but how best to work out desegregation in our community."

Circumvent Dixie Leaders

Mr. Marshall told the citizens to circumvent the southern governors who talk about evading the Supreme Court ruling, by going directly to the local school boards.

He warned his listeners "not to waste time calling names" but to reason and argue to convince people "to our side."

Turning to integration in the churches, he asserted, "they are opening the doors to God and colored people, letting them both in." The goal is the abolition of state laws that keep people apart, Marshall explained.

"The aim is not to make anybody associate with anybody, but not to prohibit them from associating if they want to.

Housing and transportation will claim the attention of the NAACP legal staff next, now that the school decision has been rendered, Mr. Marshall concluded.

The date set by the NAACP for ending segregation in all phases of life in 1963, the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation.

Northern Jim Crow Called Freedom Campaign Target

SCHENECTADY — The all-out Freedom campaign to be "Free in '63" must include the elimination of racial discrimination and segregation in the North as well as the South, it was asserted here by Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator.

"The Schenectady branch of the NAACP is to be congratulated for not being lulled to sleep in the mistaken belief that the Fight for Freedom should be carried on exclusively Down South," Wilkins said in an address to the branch on May 3. "Right here in Schenectady you are engaged in a running battle for better and unsegregated housing, and for better jobs. To be successful, the Freedom Campaign must wipe out discrimination in the North as well as in the South. And there is plenty of work in the North."

Prior to the monthly meeting of the branch members, Mr. Wilkins spoke to a dinner meeting of 60 persons including judges, lawyers, real estate dealers, ministers, newspapermen, county political officials, and other community leaders who had been especially invited by the Schenectady branch to hear a talk on the objectives, philosophy, and methods of the NAACP.

NAACP Efforts Changed Negro Life, Delaney Says

NORFOLK — "Your new schools, the equal pay for school teachers and the end of segregated seating on trains didn't come from social consciousness but from the militant efforts of the NAACP," said Judge Hubert T. Delany of New York's Domestic Court, speaking at the opening of the Freedom Fund Drive at St. John's AME Church on Bute street Sunday, May 2.

In a fiery speech, Judge Delany pulled no punches in his arguments against segregation and weak leadership by both whites and Negroes. He called for concerted, cooperative efforts of all Negroes, expressing the belief that only when they worked together under the guidance of the NAACP would the desired true freedom be achieved.

READING from the Declaration of Independence, he stated that we of today would be suspect if we were to follow the lines of reasoning of our country's founding fathers. But, he stated, the time has come to stand up for your rights regardless of odds or situations.

Segregation exists in one form or another in all parts of the country, he said, and until the South is free the rest of the country cannot be free either.

* * *

ON McCARTHYISM, Judge Delany deplored the fact that so much time was wasted in "chasing phantoms" when we should be busy working together.

"Communism cannot feed on a healthy society," he said. "Strength from within makes us invulnerable from without."

In reply to those "gradualistic" leaders who maintain that "things are getting better and "the time is not ripe for the Negro to assume a more active role in society," Judge Delany reserved special caustic comments.

* * *

"THE TIME for change is always ripe," he stated. "If things are better, you can thank the work of the NAACP. There can't be any more of the old belief of 'my country, right or wrong.' If she's wrong, let's make it right."

Donations of $401 were raised at the Fund Drive kick-off that will continue until 1963 when, by that time, it is hoped that discrimination and segregation will have ended.

Judge Delany was introduced by Thomas W. Young. Atty J. Hugo Madison was master of ceremonies. Robert T. Robertson, president of the Norfolk chapter of the NAACP, was praised for his work in building the membership up to its present high.

Dr. W. L. Hamilton is chairman of the Freedom Fund Drive and Dr. S. F. Coppage is membership chairman. Musical selections on the program were offered by the Ruffner Junior High School chorus.

Survey Shows Race Gains During 1953

NEW YORK — Race relations in the United States improved slowly but steadily in 1953.

That is the finding of a joint survey, the report of which was published by the NAACP and the American Jewish congress last week. It was the sixth annual survey by the two groups.

They reported that the Eisenhower administration "did not permit any retreat from gains achieved during previous years, pressed several important reforms," and took some steps not previously attempted.

The report indicated desegration of schools can be accomplished without violence.

Most encouraging factor was a decline in lawless assaults on minority groups, the report said.

During 1953 there were only five bombings of newly occupied Negroe homes, as against 10 in 1952; 12 Negroes killed by peace officers, compared to 19 in the previous period. The number of Negroes injured by peace officers dropped from 45 to 21, the report said.

CLARENCE MITCHELL, Washington, D. C., bureau NAACP, is key note speaker at third annual Leadership conference sponsored by Prince Hall Grand Lodge of Louisiana and Louisiana Education Association. Mitchell is former labor secretary of the NAACP.

Racial Complexion Of NAACP

The significance of the racial complexion of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is pointed up by the pictures of leaders and officers of certain branches of the NAACP in the May, 1954 issue of The Crisis magazine. On page 260 Gloster Current, director of NAACP branches, is pictured presenting charters to certain North Carolina youth councils. They are all Negroes.

On page 272 are pictured the officers of the Brooklyn, N. Y. youth council, and on the same page Walter White is pictured as he installed the new officers of the Little Rock, Ark. youth council. They are all Negroes. On page 278 are pictured the officers and workers of three NAACP branches in West Palm Beach, Fla., Chicago, Ill., and Bakersfield, Calif. They are all Negroes. On page 287 "Miss NAACP" of 1954 is pictured being crowned by the president of the Charlottesville, Va., branch of the NAACP. They are all Negroes. On page 318 are pictured the participants in the founder's day banquet of the Tuskegee branch the officers of the River Rouge-Ecorse, Michigan, branch, and the officers and members of the board of directors of the Denver, Colorado branch. Only in the Denver picture do there seem to be a few white faces.

The last picture only emphasizes what seems to be the general rule, namely, that while the NAACP does not limit its membership to Negroes, it is to all intents and purposes an organization made up mainly of Negroes, with its active officers and personnel coming almost exclusively from Negroes. Is this considerable indication that in our efforts at the advancement of colored people, we must rely more largely than some would like to admit upon what we as colored people can do for ourselves? Does this situation also suggest any valid lessons for the fture of Negro organizations and institutions as we enter a wider era of integrated life in America? If the word "Colored" should be taken out of the name of the NAACP at the Dallas meeting, how would this square with the facts of the situation?

Links give NAACP $27,000

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. — When the National Links meet in annual assembly here next week, they will present $27,000 to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The $27,000 will be for life memberships from the Links' 58 chapters, and will culminate the national project on which the Links have worked for the past two years.

Marshall Scheduled

The gift will be presented at a public meeting on July 16, at 8:30 p.m. in Arter Hall at Bluefield State College. Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for NAACP, and Roy Wilkins, administrator of the organization will be the keynote speakers of the assembly.

The assembly sessions will be held over four days, from July 15 to 18.

In making the announcement, Mrs. Bernice H. Martin, chairman of the Southern Area and president of the hostess chapter in Bluefield said, "The Links are proud to make such a contribution to the NAACP, because the donation represents the ideals embodied in the civic aim of her organization."

It was disclosed that the project to have each member chapter of the Links subscribe to life membership in the NAACP began under the chairmanship of Mrs. Daisy Lampkin when she was national program chairman of the organization.

Need Great

"Now that the Supreme Court's anti - segregation rulings have been rendered," Mrs. Martin said, "it is all the more significant that the NAACP have the support of organizations to help back up the historic decisions."

The Links are the first organization of women to make such a contribution to the NAACP.

NAACP Sets Sept., 1955, To De-Segregate Schools

DALLAS, Tex., June 30—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today set September, 1955, as the date to end all segregation in public elementary and high schools in the United States.

Thurgood Marshall, NAACP lawyer, announced the decision after a conference of 100 lawyers. He guided the association's successful fight through the U. S. Supreme Court which outlawed segregation last month in public schools.

The NAACP is holding its six-day 45th annual convention in Dallas. Marshall was one of the speakers on the night program. Another speaker was James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the Congress of Industrial Organizations and head of its Civil Rights Committee.

Marshall said it was hoped de-segregation could be worked out on a voluntary local basis. After de-segregation, he said other major goals were equal rights in parks, intra-state and inter-state transportation and housing.

Marshall said "we won't go to court until we are convinced the school board won't follow the law. In each instance we will negotiate as long as the school board will show good faith. We will insist on de-segregation by September, 1955."

Marshall said a case was pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission to outlaw segregation of Negroes in railroad coaches.

He predicted housing would take high priority on the West Coast among NAACP chapters and that equal public transportation facilities would be pushed in the South, Southeast and Southwest.

Walter White Says Negroes Now Will Seek To End Job and Housing Bias

NAACP Head Interviewed By U. S. News

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

WASHINGTON.— (INS) — Walter White, a leader in the fight to end school segregation, said Monday that Negroes will now seek racial equality in housing and employment, but plan no action to eliminate legal bars on mixed marriages.

White is the executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which carried the brunt of the legal battle culminating in the Supreme court decision barring separate white and Negro schools.

In a copyrighted interview with U. S. News and World Report, the NAACP official anticipated that there might be some violence in putting the ruling into effect. But he added: "I think it will be short-lived and I don't think the instances will be numerous."

White predicted that no state will actually do away with public schools, as several southern states have threatened. He called plans to turn the schools over to private individuals to circumvent the decision "one of the most harebrained proposals of current times" and said it could only lead to racketeering, corruption and inefficiency.

White declared that his organization will also seek to expand the voting strength of Negroes. He said two million Negroes are now registered voters in the South and an effort is underway to increase this number to three million by 1956.

The leader was asked whether he thought the high court's school decision will help break down social barriers between the two races.

White replied that if this meant "living as normal human beings in an enlightened society," it certainly would have an effect. But he added, "I don't want to be misunderstood on that. I'd like to make my position very clear, that I believe that friendship between two human beings is a matter which concerns those two individuals and nobody else."

White said "no law should even exist" that would require whites and Negroes to invite each other into their homes.

Regarding voting, White said Negroes would become an increasingly important political factor in the South, as well as elsewhere. He declared that the recent renomination of Sen. John Sparkman (D) Ala., in the Democratic primary, tantamount to election, was made possible by the Negro vote.

White asserted that 50 to 60 thousand Negroes in Alabama "voted straight down the line" for Sparkman because they considered him "the lesser of two evils." Sparkman's opponent was Rep. Laurie Battle (D) Ala.

White termed Sparkman "an able, a sincere, a good man," but added, "he has been very timorous on this issue of civil rights and he has repeatedly made the statement that he favors the southern position of continued segregation."

White termed racial segregation the "Achilles heel of American foreign policy" and said the Supreme court decision will have a tremendous influence for good among Asiatic races.

White pointed out that two-thirds of the world's population is dark-skinned.

GA. NEWS

NAACP Subversive Tag Is Hit

An Atlanta Negro political scientist Monday defended the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People against charges of being "subversive" and said the Negro rights group seeks "only first class citizenship for Negroes by democratic means."

Speaking to the Columbus NAACP chapter at a local Negro church, Dr. William M. Boyd said his group uses the "ballot and the courts to achieve our ends."

"We have never worn bedsheets or advocated violence," he said.

The state president of the NAACP also scored "politicians" who seek to "defy" the U.S. Supreme Court's decision outlawing segregation in the schools.

He said the NAACP will match plan for plan, any methods devised by the Georgia Education Commission for avoiding desegregation and will bring lawsuits wherever necessary after September, 1955.

"We will not wait and we will not compromise. Only implementation of the Supreme Court decision will be satisfactory," he told the group.

He said neither "Mr. Fred Hand's 40 or 50 plans or Mr. Talmadge's private school plan has a legal leg to stand on."

However, he continued, if politicians wish to abolish the schools "we can all grow up equal—equally ignorant."

Answering the subversive charge, the young Negro professor challenged any politician to indict "leaders of the NAACP as the Communists they claim them to be."

"I will weigh my patriotism or any NAACP leader's against that of any gubernatorial candidate," he said.

Court ruling hike NAACP contributions

NEW YORK—In response to a special appeal following the Supreme Court ruling against public school segregation, 36 contributors last week sent in a total of $2,710 to the NAACP Fight for Freedom Fund.

An additional $571 was received from an individual contributor, a labor union, two persons who made initial payments on life memberships and eight local units of the NAACP.

Two Give $500

Contributions of $500 each were received from Dr. Rivers Frederick of New Orleans and the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Durham; Central Life Insurance Co. of Florida, $300; Dr. E. N. Ezidore, Gramercy, La., $150;

Dr. James E. Martin, Philadelphia; Dr. James M. Pair, Baltimore; Southern Aid Life Insurance Company, Richmond, Va.; Ministerial Alliance, Knoxville, Tenn.; Dr. Joseph G. Gathings, Washington; Harry Enblestein, Chicago; and the Superior Life Insurance Co., Detroit, $100 each.

$50 Contributors

Frank Schiffman, New York; Ira Gershwin, Beverly Hills, Calif.; Mrs. Gertrude Brown, Port Arthur, Texas; Dr. Robert M. Greene, Charlotte, N.C.; Dr. T. M. Smith, Chicago; Mrs. Richard M. Harris, Rochester, N.Y.; and Harold J. Drescher, New York;

$35, $25, $20, $10, $5

Robert L. Brokenburr, Indianapolis, $35; $25 each, Dr. O. B. Taylor, Knoxville; Melvin De Groote, St. Louis; Hugo Heydorn, Jamaica, L.I.; Augustus K. Oliver, Pittsburgh; Dr. T. L. Lowrie, Miami; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mayer; and Frederic G. Melcher, New York;

Capt. Henry C. Everett, $20; $15 each, Allen and Edwards, Jamaica, L.I.; Eisner and Lubin Foundation, New York; $10 each, C. A. Cowan, Knoxville; St. Paul Church and Harry W. Harris, Rochester; and J. H. Garfunkel, New York; and $5 each, Mrs. O. B. Taylor and Dr. A. J. Bacote, Knoxville.

Life Member Payments

First payments of life memberships were made by Sgt. Joseph F. Laine of Louisville and H. B. Law of Chicago. Local 82, Chicago, United Packinghouse Workers of America, CIO, sent in $10.

The San Antonio, Texas, youth council led the NAACP contributions with $150, followed by the New Castle, Pa., branch with $100.

Other NAACP units contributed as follows: Brewton, Ala., $50; Arcadia, La., $25; Cedar Rapids, Ia., $12; Knoxville College, Knoxville, Tenn., and Allen High School, Asheville, N.C., $10 each; and University of Michigan, $4.

A Significant Declaration For Freedom

(AN EDITORIAL)

It was in keeping with the good offices of honorable stewardship, that the leaders of the NAACP in some seventeen states should gather here, in the heart of the deep South, for the purpose of implementing as soon as possible the recent anti-segregation school decision.

For two days this assemblage of sane and serious thinkers were engaged in discussions and plans by which the states affected, could as soon as possible come into the realization of the great victory that had been won for all the people — Negro and white!

Much food for thought and activation resulted from the meeting and such of its record has been given to the country and the world.

The total effect of the decision was keenly evaluated; the appraisals were in the confines of reason and no dissents were made from the charted course of action agreed upon.

While the impact is still resounding, in tremors, there was seen no reason for alarm in the coming execution of the court's order.

The document was couched in plain and clear language. It recognizes that now the supreme law clearly forbids segregating children solely on the basis of race in any public supported school. Recognizing that the law has meaning only in proportion to its application, the group pointed a wise course of action through petition and conferences without any further threat of applying the force of law.

The preambles set forth by the conference are wholesome and reasonable and within the confines of the Supreme Court decision.

In part it states:

"All Americans are now relieved to have the law of the land declare in the clearest language in the field of public education, the doctrine of 'separate but equal' has no place. Separate educational facilities are inherently unequal." Segregation in public education is now, not only unlawful; it is un-American. True Americans are grateful for this decision. Now that the law is clear, we look to the future.

"While we recognize that school officials will have certain administrative problems, in transferring from a segregated to a non-segregated system, we will resist the use of any tactics contrived for the sole purpose of delaying desegregation."

The consensus of opinion of the conferees was that no teachers would be penalized on racial grounds through implementation of the decision. On this point they stated:

"We insist that there should be integration at all levels including the assignment of teacher-personnel on a non-discriminatory basis. The fullest resources of the Association, including the legal staff, the research staff and educational specialists on the staff, will be utilized to insure that there will be no discrimination against teachers as a result of integration."

Immediately after the reading of the court's decision Monday May 17th, it was put on all foreign languages broadcasts and it was aired on those programs throughout that day. The Voice of America station sent it on the waves to the people behind the Iron Curtain. Viewing the relevency of the decision to our position in world affairs the statement of implementation noted:

"We look upon this memorable decision not as a victory for Negroes alone, but for the whole American people and as a vindication of America's leadership of the free world."

It concluded:

"Lest there be any misunderstanding of our position, we here rededicate ourselves to the removal of all racial segregation in public education and reiterate our determination to achieve this goal without compromise of principle."

We are in full agreement with those who recognize this victory for freedom and its implementation are concerned and are is only second in importance. Also we are in accord with the procedure of implementation.

Now that a great battle for freedom has been won, it is the plain duty of those who handle the negotiations not to lose the peace. We have faith that those who will handle this phase will show the intelligence, courage and determination to conclude the issue without compromise of principle. Where freedom can be no just compromise of principle.

32b 1954

NAACP

Thurgood Marshall, Walter White Here For NAACP Meeting Today

Walter White, NAACP's national executive secretary, and Attorney Thurgood Marshall, NAACP's famous national legal counsel, arrived in Atlanta last night and prepared speeches that local NAACP officials said would "make history" today.

The two militant fighters for civil rights will deliver their addresses at a "kick-off" mass meeting of the Atlanta NAACP campaign to secure 10,000 members and $20000, scheduled for 5 o'clock this evening in the Wheat Street Baptist Church. E. M. Martin, insurance executive, will preside.

Special significance has been attached to the appearance of the two leaders in view of the forthcoming decision of the U. S. Supreme Court on the NAACP suit to outlaw segregation in public schools. Both are expected to comment on the proposal to destroy Georgia's schools in event the court rules out segregation. White said last night that he would "pay my respects to Governor Byrnes and other enemies of democracy" in his speech.

The membership campaign which the leaders will officially launch today will continue until April 9. Prof. C. L. Harper, local president, urged citizens to "come to the meeting prepared to join the NAACP today with at least a two-dollar minimum membership." He said the local office wants to demonstrate to White and Marshall that we are 100 per cent behind them. "Within the next three weeks, we should more than oversubscribe this quota" he declared.

W. S. Cannon, chairman of the membership campaign, commented that $20,000 is a small quota for a city of 174,000 Negroes. "We should place half of this quota on the table today and prove to the world that we want our freedom and are willing to pay for it."

During the meeting, several Atlanta social cubs, fraternal organizations, churches and individuals will receive "honor certificates" for getting the campaign off to a rapid start by enrolling as many at ten members or turning in at least $20.

WALTER WHITE

THURGOOD MARSHALL

These organizations are asked to attend early and occupy a special reserved section in the front of the church. Members of the local N. A. A. C. P. executive committee have been asked to occupy seats on the first row, so that they may be introduced to the audience.

Participants on the program will be the Rev. W. H. Borders, the Rev. H. I. Bearden, the City-Wide CME Chorus, J. W. Dobbs, Atty. A. T. Walden Dr. W. M. Boyd, C. W. Greenlea, J. H. Calhoun, and the Rev. A. S. Dickerson.

Persons and organizations who have contributed $100 or more in 1954 will receive Superior Gold Honor certificates as follows: A. M. E. Churches, Atlanta Links, G. T. Alexander, W. S. Cannon, Edward S. D'Antignac, Ebenezer Baptist Church, C. L. Harper, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers Henderson, W. S. Hollomon, Elmer Lewis, Theodore Lewis, C. A. Scott, Club Amiketos and J. B. Blayton, Sr.

Honor certificates for 10 or more members or $20 or more will go to the following organizations: for $50 or more: Central Methodist Church, Economy Delicatessen, Frazier's Cafe Society, Greater Mt. Calvary Baptist Church, Mt. Zion Second Baptist Church, Providence Baptist Church, Larkin St., Reed St. Baptist Church, Smooth Ashler Grand Lodge, West Hunter Baptist church, Women's Auxiliary NAACP, Iota Sigma Chapter, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Esquires Club. For $20 or more: Bethlehem Baptist Church, First Corinth Baptist Church, Liberty Baptist Church, Mt. Vernon Baptist Church, St. Paul Episcopal Church Travelers Rest Baptist Church, Friendship Baptist Church, What-Not Social Club Iconium Baptist Church, Butler Street C. M. E. Church, Gray St. School faculty, Beauticians organization, Savoy Hotel, Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Viscountess Social and Savings Club, Guiding Light Club, John Hope Thrift Club, Starlettes Social Club, Red Feather Club, Thos. H. Slater School P-TA, Adelphi Club and Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, (Atlanta Division.)

Organizations which contributed $10 or more this year and entitled to honorable mention, but will not be awarded certificates are: Butler St. Baptist Church, Israel Baptist Church, Salem Baptist Church, Atkinson Bros. Co., Atlanta Baptist Fellowship Council, Philadelphia Community Club and Zion Grove Baptist Church.

A special press conference with the two leaders was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Earl Mclendon last night on Hunter Road, at which time local newspapermen and photographers were in attendance.

There will be a dinner meeting of the Executive and Campaign committees of the Branch, Tuesday, at 6:30 P. M., at the Butler Street YMCA. Dr. Channing Tobias, chairman of the National Board of Directors of NAACP will be in the city and is expected to address the meeting.

Dr. William Boyd, president of the State Conference of NAACP Branches, will speak today at 11 A. M., at Zion Hill Baptist Church, and at the same hour, Charles L. Harper, president of the Atlanta Branch, will speak at Greater Mount Calvary Baptist Church.

La. NAACP Stands Firm

Accepts Challenge To Fight School Segregation

"Negroes are not necessarily concerned over Governor Kennon having 'no personal disposition to change the educational school system' "but only that the ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court be strictly adhered to" said Leonard P. Avery, Executive-Secretary of the Louisiana State Conference of Branches NAACP, when asked to comment on the address made by Governor Kennon to the Louisiana School Board Association in New Orleans recently.

"The Louisiana State Conference of Branches has accepted the challenge to carry the ball to impliment the courts' decision if favorable to Negroes and if unfavorable to bring new suits for we are determined to fight segregation to the end."

Avery said, "we are surprised at our Governor, in making reference to his resentment of the interference from the people of the Potomac, for we are accustomed to having such remarks made by people like the Talmadges, Burnses and Bilbos and hate to see our Governor stoop and speak in the same tone of these demagogues. Progress has been made, to be sure, but let me remind you," continued Avery, "that the State supports 24 trade schools for Whites, One for Negroes; 7 colleges for Whites and 2 for Negroes and that in more than 90% of the high schools maintained for colored facilities are unequal. The inequitious 'split-school session or recess' which results in a shorter school session of Negro youth, still prevail in many Parishes." Among other inequities mentioned by Avery was that in some parishes Negro children have to be transported as much as 60 miles per day, because of the lack of school facilities nearer by.

"The program of the State Conference in keeping with the program of the National Office is to fight, bother, interfere and otherwise seek to completely eliminate these and all other inequities, breaking down segregation in all schools and in an effort to complete this program, the State Conference has set up plans to take legal action to implement the program."

Forty-five Fighting Years Finance The Forty-Sixth

BY JOHN B. HENDERSON

THE NAACP IS IN THE midst of its annual membership drive. It is appealing not only to persons of color but to all liberty loving Americans to assist it in its effort to secure for America's largest minority group the rights and privileges guaranteed by the constitution to all men.

For 45 years it has championed the cause of freedom. The means it has employed and the results it has achieved commend it all as a 100 per cent American institution. Unlike some other groups it has never resorted to arms to seek its ends. It has not opened fire on government property nor on government officials. Its record is not marred by any foolish attempt to overthrow the government. Every means it has used has been with in the framework of the constitution.

DR. HENDERSON

That it has been aggressive, persistent and fearless is not denied nor apologized for. It has taken its cue from our American culture and proceeded accordingly. Our country came into being and has developed into the great world power that it is because there were and still are men who are aggressive, persistent and fearless in fighting for what they believe to be right.

It has successfully resisted the Communists' attempts at infiltration and does not need McCarthy or anyone else to clean out the Communists. Had it been communist dominated it would have long since been so labeled by its enemies and some means devised to put it out of operation.

BUT AFTER 45 YEARS OF OPERATION it continues its activities as an integrated 100 percent American institution. Included among its members and leaders will be found some of America's outstanding citizens regardless of race, creed or class. Numbered among its founders were members of the majority group and there have always been on its membership roll members of that group who desired for the Negro the same rights and privileges they themselves enjoyed.

While it is not restricting its appeal for members to any one group every Negro should feel himself under obligation to join because of the benefits he has received as a result of the Association's activities. Every member of the church should support it because it is truly an ally of the church. It seeks to do something about the great principles the church preaches about. Every southerner should join because through its efforts the most disgraceful violations of the American ideal; for which the South across the years has been guilty; are being eliminated.

IN A FEW YEARS THE Communists will no longer be able to embarrass our State Department officials by pointing to the South's disregard for human rights which our officials contend should be enjoyed by people behind the iron curtain. The white South should feel deeply indebted to the NAACP for its work of reconstruction. Certainly the changes which it has effected and those it is still fighting for will enable the South to point with pride to the fact that it is doing its Christian and patriotic duty by the Negro.

Every American regardless of where he resides should join because the NAACP might well be considered the conscience of the country. It takes priority over the churches in disturbing the country because of its sins against the Negro. It cries out when the churches are silent and ofttimes guilty and cannot cry. Like any good conscience it disturbs the guilty, moves the good but is cursed, ignored and suppressed by the bad.

Like every worthy cause its funds are limited, its workers underpaid, its task tremendous and its future in the hands of its friends and well wishers. Won't you insure its future by making your contribution now?

LEGAL WARRIORS — This week the eyes of the world are turned to Washington, D.C., where the U. S. Supreme Court is listening to re-arguments in the sweeping school segregation cases. Piled upon the table above are the results of the research of more than 60 lawyers, historians and social scientists who have collaborated with the NAACP legal staff in compiling the historic briefs. Behind these documents are the men charged with fighting the battle. Left to right: Oliver W. Hill and Spottswood W. Robinson III of Richmond; Robert L. Carter, Topeka; Thurgood Marshall, who opposes the South Carolina case; Jack Greenberg, Delaware; George E. C. Hayes and James Nabrit, Washington.

NAACP Fixes 1955 Deadline

DALLAS, Texas, June 30—(UP). The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today set September, 1955, as the date to end all segregation in public elementary and high schools in the United States.

Thurgood Marshall, NAACP lawyer, announced the decision after a conference of 100 lawyers. He guided the association's successful fight through the Supreme Court which outlawed segregation last month in public schools.

The NAACP is holding its six-day 45th annual convention in Dallas. Marshall was one of the principal speakers on the night program. Another speaker was James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the Congress of Industrial Organizations and head of its Civil Rights Committee.

Marshall said it was hoped de-segregation could be worked out on a voluntary local basis. After de-segregation he said other major goals were equal rights in parks, intra-state and inter-state transportation and housing.

Marshall said "We won't go to court until we are convinced the school board won't follow the law. In each instance we will negotiate as long as the school board will show good faith. We will insist on de-segregation by September, 1955."

Marshall said a case was pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission to outlaw segregation of Negroes in railroad coaches. He said he hoped it could be worked out there, but if necessary it would be taken to federal court.

He predicted housing would take high priority on the West Coast among NAACP chapters and that equal public transportation facilities would be pushed in the South, Southeast and Southwest.

Carey praised the Supreme Court ruling on segregation.

Give NAACP A 'Vote Of Confidence'

One of the immediate results of the Supreme Court decision in the school cases should be a rush to join NAACP branches all over the country. With the historic ruling against segregation occurring at the very time when membership campaigns are in progress, the NAACP in 1954 should enlist more citizens than ever before in its history.

A spontaneous record membership this year would be a "vote of confidence" in the organization which for 45 years has carried the brunt of the Negro's fight for first-class citizenship. Now that the battle is almost won, the National Association should be given the financial support that it needs to complete the job.

The NAACP is fast working itself out of existence. When full citizenship for every Negro anywhere in the United States is actually a reality, there will be no need for organizations like the NAACP. But that day is still a good many years ahead.

Thurgood Marshall predicts that it will take five or six years before segregation will be fully wiped out of the nation's public schools. During those transition years, the NAACP will continue on the job working at the local level to hasten the time when the decision of May 17 takes full effect.

No persons will be happier than those in the national office of the NAACP when the day comes when the association can "close up shop." Members of the national staff are not interested in keeping their jobs once their work is done. Thurgood Marshall, the brilliant and resourceful legal counsel, could earn five times his salary at the NAACP in a private law firm. If he were not dedicated to the cause of the Negro's freedom, the biggest firms in New York would bid for his services.

Men with the ability of Walter White, Roy Wilkins and others in the official family of the NAACP turn down dozens of opportunities for employment elsewhere every year. They stick with the NAACP because they are devoted to its principles. But as soon as those principles become realities, they will be happy to go out of business.

You can hasten the day when the NAACP will work itself out of a job by joining the association and getting members of your family and friends to join. Anybody can spare $2 a year to belong to the greatest organization of its kind in the country. Most folks waste that much money every week on cigarettes, candy and other trivialities. Surely your freedom is worth a carton of smokes. For only $2 a year, you can wear an NAACP membership button which serves notice on the world that you are helping to pay your way to freedom.

It would have been a wonderful thing if on May 18, the day following the historic Supreme Court decision, every Negro in the country wore an NAACP button on his coat or dress. But it's not too late. Join today.

Although there are upwards of 15,000,000 Negroes in the country, less than one million belong to the NAACP. The 14 million are riding on the backs of the smaller number. Don't be a free rider.

Notes On New NAACP Procedures

WE HAD hoped that the high command of the NAACP would follow the advice of the Chairman of the Board, and counsel the chapters in the various States to follow an even course in keeping with the procedure implied in the Supreme Court decision.

There may have been circumstances unknown to the public generally which dictated the policy decided upon at the Atlanta meeting, namely: instructions to the State organizations to order the local chapters to proceed at once to petition school boards to integrate now.

On the face of it, there is nothing wrong with that, except that it seems to be violating the Court's intention, and so construed — rightly or wrongly—it lends to what was otherwise a passive atmosphere a feeling of resentment and resistance.

There is one factor, however, that needs to be weighed and judicially considered in connection with the NAACP's announced method of procedure. In the States where racial segregation has been law and custom, any steps heretofore taken to modify or change in any respect the law and custom have been resisted, and where the resistance to change has not prevailed, steps have been taken to circumvent the change, and to maintain the status quo.

Practically the whole southern delegation in Congress, a majority of the Governors, and numerous other influential people in government have openly avowed their intention to circumvent the current Supreme Court ruling.

In view of this state of affairs, it is reasonable to conclude that the NAACP officials decided to have the local chapters take the matter directly to the school boards in the multitude of political sub-divisions in the South and petition for immediate affirmative action under the Supreme Court's decision. This would keep the campaign alive.

Although the local authorities were not bound to go ahead with integration until orders from the Supreme Court came down, and although this was generally known, the effect of the NAACP's policy announcement has been to incite a wave of hostility.

Because a hostile climate does not afford a propitious atmosphere for gaining concessions from the South, there is a feeling among many Negro leaders that the decision of the NAACP was a premature step at this time. Time only will prove the wisdom or unwisdom of the step.

Certainly no Negro of normal mind, whether he is a conservative or a radical, a progressive or an aggressive type, wants anything less than what the United States Supreme Court has decreed. The only differences would rest upon matters of procedure.

NAACP Challenges Bailey on Opinion

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People took shart issue Thursday with State School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey's statement that the United States Supreme Court's decision on school segregation will not affect Florida.

Theodore R. Gibson, president of the Miami NAACP branch, issued a statement saying the Supreme Court ruling will "apply directly to Florida" since the federal Constitution is "being interpreted to cover the segregation situation in the entire area of the Southern states."

"Surely the United States Constitution applies to Florida as well as to Maryland, Virginia, South Carolina and Kansas," Gibson said.

Bailey, here for the Florida Education Association convention, said in an interview Wednesday that the Supreme Court's pending decision on school segregation cases filed by those four states would not end segregation in Florida public schools.

Any segregation ruling in Florida would have to come after a Florida school case is decided on its own merits, Bailey said.

Gibson said action by Florida school officials to involve this state in court tests of the validity of the Supreme Court's ruling, "would be a dereliction of the moral obligations of such officials to uphold the Constitution."

NAACP National, State Leaders Gather For Week-End Planning

What would you do if yours was the job of lending vigilance and additional strength to a highly controversial Supreme Court ruling which had just become the law of the land?

No one actually has the reins over the high court ruling except the government, but if Southern governors are meeting to oppose the law, leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People are journeying just as swiftly to see that justice is meted out.

Top officials, representing 17 states immediately affected by the decisions are meeting here today and Sunday to work out plans in connection with the outlawing of segregation in schools, special NAACP counsel Thurgood Marshall said last night.

With headquarters at the Waluhaje Apartments, the leaders have been arriving in town since early Friday. They include such notables as: Walter White, Executive Secretary, Roy Wilkins, Administrator Dr. Channing H. Tobias, Chairman of the NAACP national board of directors, William Boyd, Georgia president, Henry Lee Moon, Public Relations, and Ted Poston of The New York Post.

This is not a surprise move. NAACP officials had worked out plans to follow up the decision regardless of the way it went, and this is just one of the items on the agenda.

Saturday's meeting will be closed to all but the delegates and members of the national staff, headed by Mr. White; while the Sunday meeting will be public, and held at Friendship Baptist Church.

Negroes to Open Funds Campaign

JACKSON, Miss., May 6 (AP)—The first round in a fund-raising drive by Mississippi Negroes to attain the "complete freedom of the Negro" opens tonight in Jackson.

Thurgood Marshall of Chicago, general counsel for the National Association for Advancement of Colored People will speak at a Jackson rally, part of a national program to raise 10 million dollars.

Tomorrow, Marshall will attend a meeting of Southern Negro attorneys at Mound Bayou, all-Negro community in the rich, agricultural delta.

The lawyers will discuss possible tactics to be used when the U.S. Supreme Court rules on five school segregation cases before it.

Report Southern Teachers Joining NAACP Org.

NEW YORK — Teachers in the South have joined the NAACP "in considerable numbers" during the Association's spring membership campaigns, it was reported this week by Miss Lucille Black, NAACP membership secretary.

Miss Black said that 322 teachers recently joined the Richmond, Va., branch of the Association, and another 250 teachers affiliated with the Winston-Salem, N.C., NAACP unit.

The South Carolina State Conference of NAACP Branches "has been receiving a steady flow of teacher memberships," Miss Black said. "This would seem to indicate that Negro teachers in the South have not bee ntaken in by the scare propaganda that they will lose their jobs if the NAACP wins its fight to ban segregation in education," the membership secretary asserted.

The NAACP is circulating a pamphlet among teachers citing the experience in communities where integration has already been attained and pointing out that the nationwide shortage of teachers precludes any mass firing of Negroes to keep them from teaching white children in integrated schools.

Boston NAACP presents awards

BOSTON — Mrs. C. Fayette Taylor, chairman of the educational committee of the local NAACP branch, made six scholarship awards to Greater Boston students. These included:

Wayne Hazard, student at Boston University, who received the Burdett Scholarship of $200; William Strickland of Roxbury, a 1954 graduate of Boston Latin High School, who received the Ball Scholarship of $250. He plans to enter Harvard College.

Miss Beverly Benders, a graduate of Roxbury Memorial High School for Girls, received $100 to attend Bridgewater Teachers' College. Miss Elizabeth West, also a graduate of the Roxbury Memorial School, received $100. She will attend Suffolk University.

Miss Sahra Brewin of Girls' Latin High School will use her $100 award to attend Simmons College.

The Back Bay Associates award of $50 was given to Miss Geraldine Hill, a student at State Teachers' College in this city.

NAACP Set to Sue School Boards That Balk Segregation

By the Associated Press

DALLAS, June 28. — The leader of the Negroes' anti-segregation battle has indicated his organization will stand for no trifling with the Supreme Court's school decision.

Thurgood Marshall, special counsel, says the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will go to court against local school boards which balk.

Mr. Marshall arrived yesterday from New York for the annual national convention of the NAAPC in this segregated city. He was a powerful factor in the May 17 decision of the Supreme Court which outlawed segregation in public schools.

He pointed out that some Southern Governors have been seeking ways to nullify the court's decision.

"While the Governors want to circumvent the Supreme Court," Mr. Marshall said, "we are going to circumvent the Governors....

Calls Suits Last Resort.

"Since the Supreme Court spoke, there is no use lisenting to anybody else.

"In suits, if they have to be filed, the school boards will be the defendants."

However, he would not deny pro-segregation Governors the right to speak out against the court's ruling. He said he favors court action to compel admission of Negroes to schools only as a final resort.

Today, Mr. Marshall was discussing with other Negro lawyers how to handle any possible suits. The lawyers will confer with State NAACP presidents tomorrow, opening day of the six-day convention.

Sees Peaceful Integration.

The lawyer said the convention this week will consider other fields in which it will fight segregation. He mentioned transportation, housing, recreation and employment. But, he added, "schools are most important to me."

He predicted that desegregation would be almost completely peaceful.

Mr. Marshall emphasized that the Supreme Court ruling does not compel people to associate—that it merely orders desegregation.

Because of segregation in Dallas, meetings will be held in Negro churches and the Sportatorium, a wrestling arena. Many delegates are being housed in p

Ga. NAACP rejects jim crow invitation

Officials list recommendations for integration of schools

ATLANTA (ANP) — Georgia NAACP officials rejected an invitation to appear at the June 25 hearing of the Georgia Education commission on the grounds that the hearing "would be segregated, in that white persons would appear in the morning and NAACP representatives at 1:30 p.m. by unanimous vote last week.

At the same time NAACP officials submitted a list of recommendations for "action to be taken after agreeing upon integration" in a letter to the commission declining the invitation.

Recommendations Listed

The body made the following recommendations to the commission for community education:

1. Secure a clearcut, positive statement by the school board announcing a change of policy as of a certain effective date.

2. Meetings of white and colored PTA groups with school board representatives should be held to outline a change of policy and the procedure to be used.

3. Favorable statements from white and colored community leaders in forums, discussion groups, public meetings, press and radio. Comments from pulpits of white and colored churches.

4. Community education through visual aids, citing examples of what other communities have done, encouraging citizenship, law and order.

Teacher Responsibility

For teacher education, NAACP officials suggested an in-service training institute that would inform colored and white teachers "of the change in policy, telling them of their responsibility in carrying out this policy."

Such responsibility would include instructing colored and white students "to make transfer students feel welcome, explaning to them that they have a right to go to school there, that we're all Americans.

Students would help teachers by showing newcomers where cloakroom, washroom and cafeteria are located, the group explained.

Students Program

"Old students should tell new students their names, ask new students their names and should call each other by their given names," NAACP officials recommended.

They said school boards should secure educational material dealing with race relations for the purpose of helping white and colored teachers to facilitate integration.

The group suggested that colored and white parents of transfer students "advise their children that soon they will be changing schools." Children should be instructed to be friendly to the teachers and students," to "abide by the regulations of the schools" and "not pick any fights."

"Caution the children that if they are called any unpleasant names, they should take the matter up with the teacher rather than argue with the students who did the name-calling," the group said.

Life for American P. 5 Baltimore Md. Sat. 1-23-54

Dr. Channing Tobias Arthur B. Spingarn President Eisenhower Clarence Mitchell Walter White Judge Theodore Spaulding

WHITE HOUSE MEETING—Eisenhower met with this group of NAACP officers at the White House last week to discuss a date on which the President will make an informal talk to the National Conference on Racial Relations to be held next month in Washington, D. C., by the NAACP.

Courier P. 2 Pittsburgh, Pa. 2-20-54

NAACP Award—Cadet-midshipman Kenneth I. Guscott of Boston, Mass., is presented the award of the Long Island North Shore branch of the NAACP by Mrs. Anne Aldrich of Great Neck, L. I. This award was given to Mr. Guscott in recognition of the contributions he made to the United States Merchant Marine Academy in furthering the objectives of the NAACP. The presentation was made at King's Point, N. Y., on graduation day at the Academy.

Southeast Convention To Spotlight De-Segregation

Atlanta, Ga.

SAVANNAH, Ga. — Legal steps necessary to eliminate segregation in state colleges and universities will be scrutinized the Advancement of Colored People here, Feb. 26-28.

NAACP delegates from 7 Southwest states will hear Attorneys Spottswood W. Robinson III, of Richmonnd, Va., and Robert L. Carter, N. Y., discuss ways to strike down race barriers in five southern states which have not yet opened state schools of higher education to Negro students.

The Hon. Hubert T. Delany, judge in the Court of Domestic Relations, New York City, will deliver the major address at a Freedom Rally closing the three-day convention. Jan. 2-23-54

At an earlier session, Dr. D. J. Odom, Jr., of Morris Brown College, Atlanta, Ga., will speak on preparation for living in desegregated society. Dr. Odom is dean of students and director of religious activities at the college.

Delegates from Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee are expected to attend the conference. They will represent NAACP branches, youth counsels, and college chapters.

Eisenhower Speaks

Freedom Rally Attracts 1,300 NAACP Delegates

WASHINGTON—"I believe most sincerely in the statement of Lincoln that this nation is dedicated to the principle that all men are created equal," said President Eisenhower last week when he once again promised to do whatever he can "to end racial segregation wherever the Federal authority extends."

He spoke at a one-day conference sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at the Departmental Auditorium. The Conference was called by the NAACP to launch a Fight for Freedom campaign designed to complete the emancipation of the Negro by Jan. 1, 1963, and the centennial of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation."

* * *

MORE THAN 1,300 delegates from thirty-six states and the District of Columbia were registered.

The President pointed up his efforts in reducing racial discrimination in the armed services and here in the District of Columbia.

He called upon the delegates to stick to their ideals . . . but he also pointed out that "ideals are never realized by imperfect humans." He added, in an aside: "I hope this doesn't sound like a sermon."

He went on to say that wherever the Federal authority clearly extends he will do his "utmost to bring into reality the equality of all citizens."

* * *

IN OPENING the conference, Arthur Spingarn, president of the NAACP, revealed the Fight for Freedom committee had set a goal of $1 million a year to obtain the objective of emancipation.

"This conference promises to become an historic occasion," he said. "We are confidently hopeful that it foretells the final phase of our work to remove the last vestige of racial disabilities."

Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, reviewed the progress made in wiping out racial discrimination since Abraham Lincoln signed the Emancipation Proclamation.

"During recent years the courts, and especially the United States Supreme Court, have struck mighty blows against proscription of opportunity and constitutionality rights," Mr. White declared. "The executive branch of the government and notably Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and Dwight R. Eisenhower have used their influence and power to eradicate the color line.

"Least has been done by the Congress which has not enacted one major law against race prejudice since the days of Reconstruction," he added.

MR. WHITE warned the conference of two dangers to their program . . . one from the Communists . . . the other from the current hysterical flinging of accusations against even our most honored public servants.

Mr. White said: "The Communist party is now trying to create a popular coalition movement of diverse groups in the United States.

"The latest Communist scheme resurrects the ridiculous proposal of a Negro nation in the black belt of the South . . . which was laughed into oblivion by Negroes when it was proposed twenty years ago. With equal blindess to their total failures of the past to ensnare Negroes in their party's web, the new Communist directive talks verbosely about achieving full support for the fight for the 'liberation' of the Negro nation."

* * *

MR. WHITE said Negroes must be on guard constantly against efforts to pervert the cause for which they are fighting. He said:

"Be continuously alert in keeping Communists out of the Fight for Freedom campaign. But do so intelligently and with scrupulous regard for fairness. Don't let the current climate of fear and smear cause you to ape the tactics which endanger America. Keep subversives out of the NAACP!

In the morning session, Dr. Ralph Bunche of the United Nations was profound as well as humorous on the business of race relations in America.

Dr. Bunche, one of the major speakers in the day-full of progress reports from NAACP branch, state conference and regional leaders, declared that race prejudice "saps the nation's moral strength."

He said discrimination here in America "spreads venom and provides propaganda ammunition for the enemy."

* * *

A DELIGHTFUL highlight in Dr. Bunche's remarks was when he posed the question so often asked Negroes: "How does it feel to be a Negro?" Dr. Bunche, seemingly, takes great delight in paraphrasing the question. He says the answer should go like this: "How does it feel to be an American who is not a Negro? How must it feel to know that logic and justice and decency are all against you? (he goes on to our white friends) . . . to be self-conscious about wrongs to one's fellow-man and fellow-citizens and to know that all the world is raising its eyebrows about you?"

Participants also heard addresses by Senator Herbert Lehman, such officers of the association as Dr. Tobias, Carl Johnson, president, Kansas City, Mo.; Clarence Mitchell, Washington bureau, and Kelly Alexander of North Carolina.

Mrs. Daisy Lampkin, NAACP board member and vice president of the Courier, presided at the afternoon session.

Conceived by Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the NAACP board of directors, Fight for Freedom was first announced at the association's forty-fourth annual convention in St. Louis last June.

State and local leaders of the NAACP from all sections of the country attended and participated in final formulation of plans for raising a million dollars annually to implement the stepped-up program of the association. Of this amount, Walter White announced late Wednesday afternoon that one-half-million dollars had been pledged by branch and individual efforts throughout the nation.

Grateful to NAACP—

Clarence Henderson, right, Georgia sharecropper who three times faced the state electric chair before finally being freed through efforts of Atlanta NAACP-employed counsel, expresses gratefulness to National Executive Secretary Walter White, left, and Chief Counsel Thurgood Marshall. Appearance of Henderson and the national NAACP leaders at an Atlanta meeting last week resulted in over $2,000 being raised at the official NAACP membership drive kickoff.—Perry Photo.

Current NAACP Programs Will Be Studied at Conference Next Month

Louisville, Ky.—

Three civil rights leaders, a school administrator, and the mayor will speak at the opening session of regional training conference for NAACP officials from seven states here next month.

Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP's Washington bureau, will deliver the keynote address on April 2. At the same session delegates will hear from the Hon. Andrew Broaddus, mayor of Louisville; George T. Cordery, president of NAACP Louisville branch; Charles E. Steele, secretary, of the Louisville Urban League; and Mrs. Maude Brown Porter, assistant principal of Central High School here.

During the three-day conference staff members from the Association's national office in New York City will conduct workshops on current NAACP programs in political action, housing, membership, fund-raising and civil rights through legal redress. These workshop are designed to familiarize local NAACP leaders with the scope and techniques of the Association's work for 1954.

At a Fight for Freedom banquet on April 3 delegates will hear progress reports on Fight for Freedom campaigns conducted by NAACP branches, and a discussion of fundraising techniques by Edward R. Dudley, national director of the Association's Fight for Freedom campaign.

The Freedom campaign aims to achieve full equality for America's 15,000,000 Negro citizens by Jan. 1, 1963, the Centennial of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, and Lt. Governor Emerson Beauchamp will address the confernce's closing session at a mass meeting on April 4.

The conference, first of three regional training sessions to be held by the Association during April will be host to officials from NAACP branches, youth council and college chapters. They will come from Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

The second training conference will be held Apil 9 and 10 in New York City, and the third, Apr. 23 to 25 in Omaha, Neb

32b 1954

NAACP

NAACP Elects Spingarn For 15th Term In Office

Special to Journal and Guide

NEW YORK—Unanimously reelected, Arthur B. Spingarn begins his 15th consecutive year as president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Mr. Spingarn was first elected to the post in 1940, succeeding his brother, the late Joel E. Spingarn.

Also reelected at that session were Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman, board of directors; Dr. Robert C. Weaver, vice chairman; Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers, Boston, treasurer, and Judge Theodore Spaulding, Philadelphia, assistant treasurer.

IN ADDITION, the following vice presidents were elected: Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Rabbi Judah Cahn, Hon. Harry E. Davis, Mrs. Grace Fenderson, Oscar Hammerstein II, John Hammerstein II, John Hammand, Prof. C. L. Harper, Rev. John Haynes Holmes, Dr. William Lloyd Imes, Dr. Allen F. Jackson, Hon. Ira W. Jayne, Eric Johnston, Eugene Martin, Dr. O. Clay Maxwell, Miss L. Pearl Mitchell, Hon. Wayne Morse, T. G. Nutter, A. Philip Randolph, Ike Smalls, Willard S. Townsend, Bishop W. J. Walls and Samuel Williams.

Staff executives re-named by the board were Walter White, executive secrtary; Roy Wilkins, administrator; Thurgood Marshall, special counsel; and Henry Lee Moon, director, public relations.

* * *

THE RESULTS of the referendum of the branches for the selection of 16 members of the board were announced at the annual meeting preceding the board session. Z. Alexander Looby, a member of the association's national legal committee and of the City Council of Nashville, and Kixie Kaplan, vice president and genera manager of the Colonial Tanning Company of Boston and co-chairman of the new NAACP life membership committee, are the two newly-elected members of the board.

Reelected to three-year terms each were Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Mrs. Joel E. Spingarn, Senator Herbert Lehman, Mrs. Lillian A. Alexander, Dr. Algernon D. Black, all of New York City.

Also, Theodore M. Berry, member, City Council, Cincinnati; Roscoe Dunjee, editor, Oklahoma City; Dr. J. Leonidas Leach, Flint, Mich.; Alfred Baker Lewis, Greenwich, Conn.; Dr. James J. McClendon, Detroit; Dr. J. M. Tinsley, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Jessie Vann, Pittsburgh publisher, and Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president, Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga.

Group seeks buyer for $11,250 estate

By SAMUEL A. HAYNES

MONTVALE, N. J. — The NAACP legal staff in New York is desirous of selling a farm property here appraised at $11,250 bequeathed to the association by one of its ardent members, the late Constantine Ragosine, a farmer.

According to information supplied to the New Jersey AFRO-AMERICAN last week by Clifford R. Moore, a Trenton attorney, the NAACP desires to sell the property to clear debts against the estate and make the balance payable immediately to the association.

Mr. Moore, who is also a U. S. commissioner, is associated with Robert Carter of the NAACP's legal staff in disposing of the estate.

Appraisal of the property was made by the firm of Charles H. Borg, Inc., People's Trust Building, Hackensack, N.J.

Information On Estate

Mr. Ragosine died at the New Jersey State hospital at Greystone Park, at the age of 63.

This information on the estate and description of the property was given by Attorney Moore.

Mr. Ragosine's personal estate consists of cash in the bank and securities having a total value of $1,428.82. The outstanding obligation against the estate is approximately $2,000.

In addition, there is an outstanding Tax Sales Certificate of approximately $400 which constitutes a first lien against the property.

Highest Price Sought

Eugene T. Urbaniak, deputy attorney general of New Jersey, has been appointed administrator.

The law of New Jersey provides that, if the personal estate is not sufficient to meet the debts of the deceased, then a lien is placed upon the premises, and the court directs a sale to meet the deficiency created by the personal debts.

Therefore, in this situation, it is to the advantage of the NAACP to secure the highest price for the premises.

The premises are located at No. 6 Middletown rd., in the Borough of Montvale Bergen county.

It is approximately five acres, having a frontage of 390 feet, more or less, on Middletown rd., approximately 629 feet on the North line, 655 feet on the South line, and approximately 304 feet across the rear or westerly line.

The house is a two-story frame clapboard residence, approximately 80 years old. It consists of a center hall, living room, dining room, den and old fashioned kitchen on the first floor.

Other Facilities

There are two separate wings on the second floor, one wing having three small bedrooms and an old-fashioned bath.

The other wing has two bedrooms and an old-fashioned bath. There is also a front and side porch.

There is a basement only under a portion of the house, with a stone foundation, steam (coal) heating plant.

Other Services

All of the plumbing throughout the house is galvanized. All sinks and light fixtures are very old.

Bottle gas has been used, and water is obtained through a well with a handpump in the house to draw the water into a reserve tank. There are a few screens and storm sash.

The sewage is either septic tank or cesspool

The roof on the house itself is of a light Flintkote material over the old roof and looks to be in good condition, probably not over three or four years old. The decks over the porches are of tin or metal.

Many Out-Buildings

There are several outbuildings on the ground, such as:

A one-car garage (dirt floor), no doors; another garage-type building which is too shallow for modern cars, formerly used as a goat stall; a very large chicken house, and two smaller ones and a tool shed.

Most of these buildings are in need of repair and paint.

Trees Plentiful

There are a number of fruit trees, shade trees, spruce trees and flower bearing shrubs on the property which are badly neglected.

There are no sidewalks and the only improvements are electricity.

Middletown rd. is a county macadamized road.

The property was assessed for $3,400 in 1952 on the Montvale Assessment Rolls for Constantine Ragosine as follows: land, $1,000; improvements, $2,400. Taxes for 1952 were $236.30.

Dr. Cobb Flays NAACP, Quits Committee Job

Protests Criticism Of Two Members Of School Board

Dr. W. Montague Cobb today resigned from the executive committee of the District branch, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in protest over the committee's criticism of two colored members of the Board of Education.

Dr. Cobb, a leading colored physician, hotly condemned the committee action in calling for the resignation of Wesley S. Williams and Col. West A. Hamilton.

"I feel that this action is in contradiction to the principles of fair play which the NAACP advocates in all of its representations in behalf of minorities and will not enhance the stature of our branch in this community," he declared.

Didn't Support Move.

The NAACP committee asked for the resignations when the two members failed to support Dr. Margaret Just Butcher, third colored member of the school board, when she tried to get the school board to vote formally that it could not make colored and white schools equal at this present time.

Dr. Cobb is professor and head of anatomy at the Howard University Medico-Chirurgical School. He also is president of the District a member of the national board of directors of the NAACP.

The text of Dr. Cobb's letter of resignation to Eugene David-son, president of the District of NAACP, follows:

"With intense regret over the circumstances which move me to submit my resignation as a member of the Executive Committee of the District Branch of the NAACP because I cannot in good conscience be a party to the action of the committee in voting to request the resignations from the Board of Education of the Dis-trict of Columbia of Col. West A. Hamilton and Attorney Wesley S. Williams.

Calls for Fair Play.

"I feel that this action is in contradiction to the principles of fair play which the NAACP advocates in all of its representations in behalf of minorities and will not enhance the stature of our branch in this community. The local NAACP ad- with tough problems. The local service are not in complete conformance with our own views.

"It is always easier to inflame the emotions than to grapple directly with tough problems. The local branch in this community is a tough problem, which demands the speediest and condemnation possible solution. I know of none without a hearing of full knowledge of the facts if we engage in the same kind of practice ourselves whenever the official acts or judgments of responsible citizens duly sworn to the public are not in complete con-who would claim ultimate wisdom as to the best practicable procedures to effect swift adequacy and justice in the matter. Nor do I know of any one who would attempt to deny the many and gross inequalities which have been incontrovertibly shown to exist between Divisions 1 and 2. In the meeting on last Thursday the motion to approve the position and commend the services of Mrs. Margaret Butcher passed unanimously. The branch was thus in a position to concentrate its energies entirely upon the issues involved and possibly bring larger segments of the Board of Education to look upon the truch as the branch sees it.

"There was no need for the second motion which maligns Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Williams, because in a certain instance they did not see fit to second two motions put by the other colored member of the board. Because the motion in our committee committee was passed, our house is now divided and the affectiveness with which the branch can function in the immediate future has been diluted.

"No less than nine members of the executive committee took the floor to express disapproval of the vindicitive motion and I noted two others hose lips did not move when the voice vote was taken. There was nothing in the branch's announcement to the press to idicate this lack of unanimity and a false impression was thus given the public.

'Moral' Lynching

"The latter part of the discussion which transpired bore similarities to the howls of a mob outside a jail for some person within to be delivered to it with on exercise of due process of law. When the cry for blood went up in the meeting, one member said he favored Hitlerian methods in dealing with the objects of his venom. A minister of the Gospel so far forgot Pilate and they who had cried 'Give us Barabbas,' that he stood forth and said in effect that some members of his congregation were crying for blood in this case and therefore he would have to give them some. What took place was a kind of moral lynching which it is pointless to try to disguise with flowery phrase. More than half the life of the N. A. A. C. P. has been devoted to an anti-lynching campaign.

"In the present case, the record shows that on matters before the board of three Negro members have sometimes voted together and sometimes they have not. Certainly there is no compulsion on any of them to agree invariably with everything proposed by any of the others. The NAACP cherishes the four freedoms, too.

"As a member of the national board of directors of the NAACP for the past four years, as chairman of its National Health Committee and as one who has on various occasions prepared the organization's testimony before Congressional committees, I have come to have some first hand knowledge of the principles and policies of the national association. In the light of this experience I can freely label the action of last Thursday night as strictly 'small time' and not in accordance with the avowed principles of the NAACP.

"It is my earnest hope that a broader and more enlightened outlook on the part of the branch in the future will permit the full concentration of its energies and activities on the great issues which confront it and it will not impair its effectiveness by unbecoming and questionable attacks upon personalities bearing the same standard."

Spingarn Re-elected

NAACP in Black, $22,916 Surplus!

NEW YORK—The end of 1953 found the finances of the NAACP in the black, instead of the red, according to a report to the annual meeting by Roy Wilkins, administrator.

Mr. Wilkins read a report which included all business through Dec. 24 showing a surplus of $22,916. Total receipts for the period were $391,341 and total expenditures $368,425. Of the receipts, $248,440 came from branches of the NAACP in the form of memberships alone.

Mr. Wilkins, who is budget director of the NAACP, stressed that the report was not complete through Dec. 31, and was not audited as of Jan. 4 when the annual meeting was held.

Unanimously re-elected, Arthur B. Spingarn begins his fifteenth consecutive year as president of the NAACP. Mr. Spingarn was first elected to the post in 1940, succeeding his brother, the late Joel E. Spingarn. The board of directors again selected him to head the organization at its regular monthly session here following the association's annual meeting on Jan. 4.

* * *

ALSO RE-ELECTED at that session were Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman, board of directors; Dr. Robert C. Weaver, vice chairman; Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers, Boston, treasurer, and Judge Theodore Spaulding, Philadelphia, assistant treasurer.

In addition, the following vice presidents were elected: Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Rabbi Judah Cahn, Hon. Harry E. Davis, Mrs. Grace Fenderson, Oscar Hammerstein II, John Hammond, Prof. C. L. Harper, the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, Dr. William Lloyd Imes, Dr. Allen F. Jackson, Hon. Ira W. Jayne, Eric Johnston, Eugene Martin, Dr. O. Clay Maxwell, Miss L. Pearl Mitchell, Hon. Wayne Morse, T. G. Nutter, A. Philip Randolph, Ike Smalls, Willard S. Townsend, Bishop W. J. Walls and Samuel Williams.

Staff executives renamed by the board were Walter White, executive secretary; Roy Wilkins, administrator; Thurgood Marshall, special counsel, and Henry Lee Moon, director, public relations.

The results of the referendum of the branches for the selection of sixteen members of the board were announced at the annual meeting preceding the board session. Z. Alexander Looby, a member of the association's national legal comtimtee and of the City Council of Nashville, and Kivie Kaplan, vice president and general manager of the Colonial Tanning Company of Boston and co-chairman of the new NAACP life membership committee, are the two newly elected members of the board.

* * *

RE-ELECTED to three-year terms each were Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Mrs. Joel E. Spingarn, Senator Lehman, Mrs. Lillian A. Alexander, Dr. Algernon D. Black, all of New York City; Theodore M. Berry, member City Council, Cincinnati; Roscoe Dunjee, editor, the Black Dispatch, Oklahoma City; Dr. J. Leonidas Leach, Flint, Mich.; Alfred Baker Lewis, Greenwich, Conn.; Dr. James J. McClendon, Detroit; Dr. J. M. Tinsley, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Robert L. Vann, publisher, the Courier, Pittsburgh, and Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president, Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. White optimistically reported that "the year 1953 marked the nearest approach and witnessed the greatest gains of the NAACP toward the goals set by its founders in 1909." For the first time in four years, Mr. Wilkins reported, the association incurred no operating deficit and completed the year with a surplus of income over operation expenditures.

Gains made on the Washington front by executive action and the legislative stalemate in that city were reported by Clarence Mitchell, director, Washington bureau. Mr. Mitchell warned that continuing mistreatment of Negro servicemen by prejudiced civilian officials in the South "no doubt occasions many a chuckle within the Kremlin walls."

* * *

WHILE CONCENTRATING on the public school education cases, the legal department "still managed to keep its overall legal program going, map out a blueprint for future action and extend its activities into other areas," Mr. Marshall told the annual meeting.

Plans were developed by NAACP staff lawyers with the aid of members of the national legal committee for accelerating the legal attack upon segregation in education, transportation, employment, housing and places of public accommodation, the association's special counsel reported. He also called attention to the newly published "NAACP Civil Rights Handbook," made possible by a grant from the Prince Hall Masons.

Hit Post Office Bias

MOBILE, Ala.—The NAACP may consider filing a suit seeking to abolish segregation in post offices in the South and in border states.

Year '53 Marked 'Greatest Gains, Nearest Approach To Goals', Reports White

New York—Unanimously re-elected, Arthur B. Spingarn begins his 15th consecutive year as president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Mr. Spingarn was first elected to the post in 1940, succeeding his brother, the late Joel E. Spingarn. The board of directors again selected him to head the organization at its regular monthly session here following the Association's annual meeting on January 4.

A. B. SPINGARN

• • •

Reelected

IKE SMALLS

Also reelected at that session were Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman, board of directors; Dr. Robert C. Weaver, vice chairman; Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers, Boston, treasurer; and Judge Theodore Spaulding, Philadelphia, assistant treasurer. In addition, the following vice presidents were elected: Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Rabbi Judah Cahn, Hon. Harry E. Davis, Mrs. Grace Fenderson, Oscar Hammerstein II, John Hammond, Prof. C. L. Harper, Rev. John Haynes Holmes, Dr. William Lloyd Imes, Dr. Allen F. Jackson, Hon. Ira W. Jayne, Eric Johnston, Eugene Martin, Dr. O. Clay Maxwell, Miss L. Pearl Mitchell, Hon. Wayne Morse, T. G. Nutter, A. Philip Randolph, Ike Smalls, Willard S. Townsend, Bishop W. J. Walls and Samuel Williams.

Staff executives re-named by the board were Walter White, executive secretary; Roy Wilkins, administrator; Thurgood Marshall, special counsel; and Henry Lee Moon, director, public relations.

New Board Members

The results of the referendum of the branches for the selection of 16 members of the board were announced at the annual meeting preceding the board session. Z. Alexander Looby, a member of the Association's national leagal committee and of the City Council of Nashville, and Kivie Kaplan, vice president and general manager of the Colonial Tanning Company of Boston and co-chairman of the new NAACP life membership committee, are the two newly elected members of the board.

Reelected to three-year terms each were Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Mrs. Joel E. Spingarn, Senator Herbert Lehman, Mrs. Lillian . Alexander, Dr. Algernon D. Black, all of New York City.

Also Theodore M. Berry, member, City Council, Cincinnati; Roscoe Dunjee, editor, The Black Dispatch, Oklahoma City; Dr. J. Leonidas Leach, Flint, Mich.; Alfred Baker Lewis, Greenwich, Conn.; Dr. James J. McClendon, Detroit; Dr. J. M. Tinsley, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Jessie Vann, publisher, The Courier, Pittsburgh; and Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president, Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga.

Staff Submits Reports

The annual meeting, attended by about 150 leaders of the Association in the states and localities, heard reports from the executive officers on the activities of 1953 and plans for teh future. Mr. White optimistically reported that "the year 1953 marked the nearest approach and witnessed the greatest gains of the NAACP toward the goals set by its founders in 1909." For the first time in four years, Mr. Wilkins reported, the Association incurred no operating deficit and completed the year with a surplus of income over operating expenditures.

Gains made on the Washington front by executive action and the legislative stalemate in that city were reported by Clarence Mitchell, director, Washington bureau. Mr. Mitchell warned that continuing mistreatment of Negro servicemen by prejudiced civilian officials in the South "no doubt" occasions many a "chuckle within the Kremlin walls."

Blueprint for Legal Action

While concentrating on the public school education cases, the legal department "still managed to keep its overall legal program going, map out a blueprint for future action and extend its activities into other areas," Mr. Marshall told the annual meeting.

Plans were developed by NAACP staff lawyers with the aid of members of the national legal committee for accelerating the legal attack upon segregation in education, transportation, employment, housing and places of public accommodation, the Association's special counsel reported. He also called attention to the newly published "NAACP Civil Rights Handbook," made possible by a grant from the Prince Hall Masons.

More than $70,000 were raised and contributed to the legal expenses involved in the public school cases, Mr. Marshall said in expressing appreciation for the cooperation received from "our branches, state conferences, the entire Negro press, individuals and groups of individuals who contributed" to these cases. "Regardless of what the decision of the Supreme Court will be, we have found from these cases that our organization and good-thinking people throughout the country and the entire Negro press, once alerted to the issue, will roll up their sleeves and work toward the common goal."

Public Admission

"It is most interesting to note," he said, "that in public statements and newspaper articles throughout the South we find over and over again the public admission of the 'white supremacy' group and of the white people in general of the South that they fully realize that segregation is on its way out and will be removed one way or another."

Other Reports Heard

Other reports were submitted by Gloster B. Current, director of branches; Herbert Hill, labor relations assistant; James W. Ivy, editor, The Crisis; Herbert Wright, youth secretary; Rev. Walter P. Offutt, Jr., church secretary; and Henry Lee Moon, director of public relations.

NAACP Additions

Twelve members have been added to the NAACP education committee here "because of tremendous problems facing this committee." Dr. L. M. Terrill, chairman of the local branch, is among the new members.

Subcommittees have been established to make comparative "need" studies of Negro and white communities. Another subcommittee was named to study whatever ruling the U.S. Supreme Court hands down in the school segregation cases.

Washington Pipeline

By STANLEY ROBERTS

WASHINGTON—Attys. Thurgood Marshall . . . Bob Carter . . . Jim Nabrit . . . going over last minute legal points the night before "EE Day" . . . and the Courier was there! . . . Bill Nunn and this reporter . . . in the NAACP seven-room apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Negro lawyers are far in advance of their white opponents when civil rights cases are argued before the United States Supreme Court.

They, after all, won the constitutional victories that led us up to the fundamental attack on whether segregation, in itself, is unconstitutional. It has been a long legal road on which we traveled.

Thurgood and his associates reminisced on this journey during the evening:

1. There was Smith v. Allwright, the famous Texas case, where the so-called "white primary" was outlawed. Thurgood, in that case, opened the doors for Negroes in the South to vote. Political progress for our people will be forthcoming from the decision in proportion to the amount of know-how used by Negro Southern leaders as they organize and integrate into the Republican and Democrat set-ups in their states;

2. Then there was the Sweatt case (Sweatt v. Painter). Nabrit and Marshall and other NAACP lawyers studied the situation with meticulous care. They won. The University of Texas was compelled to admit Mr. Sweatt to its law school. Thus, for the first time, a Negro student was accepted into a graduate school below the Mason-Dixon line;

3. The discussion, that rainy Dec. 6 night turned to the Morgan v. Virginia case. Here again, the Southern states were forced to eliminate another custom: jim-crowing Negroes while they travel from state to state;

4. The Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution was used as the solid base on which Thurgood and associates argued the racial restrictive covenant housing cases. They said that agreements to keep Negroes out of neighborhoods in which they bought homes were unenforceable. Again the high court handed down a decision in their favor. Therefore—today—under the law— a racial housing covenant is just no good . . . and that made good conversation among the lawyers in Suite 400-F, the night before "EE Day."

5. Thurgood, in his presentation of the Alston v. the School Board of Virginia case, went again toward the crux of the separate but equal doctrine when he advanced the point that Negro school teachers did not get as much money as white teachers.

Date: 1-23-54

THAT CASE had to do with public school teachers in Norfolk, Va., but the heat was on . . . all over the South . . . and when he won that case . . . the South stood exposed and naked in salary inequities.

"If," said Thurgood "you have a school for Negroes with the same kind of rooms, same seats, books, desks and other equipment as the white school, but you fail to pay the teachers of the Negro school the same salary as that paid to white teachers . . . the schools are not equal." Again his arguments were effective. The Court ruled that teachers' salaries must be equal. Today, Southern states have taken steps toward the equalization of teachers' salaries.

I listened to the men in that room recount the victories of the past.

Thurgood is 45 years old and sometimes gets friend and foe alike off guard by acting like a guy of 21.

* * *

THIS NIGHT he was confident. He knew he had his opponents at his mercy, when he went into court the next morning.

I will always believe that his confidence is unlimited . . . in himself and in the cause to which he is dedicated . . . to eradicate second-class citizenship imposed upon Negro Americans.

A Washington newspaperman once wrote that "Thurgood is at his most moving when he is moved."

We were to witness the truth of the statement come the next day in the Supreme Court.

Thurgood Marshall proved this immediately following the vicious name-calling attack of Southern lawyers who aroused his ire in their presentation, justification and defense of jim-crow schools in the South. Thurgood's arguments were compassionate . . . without emotion and based on legal precedent.

* * *

THE WHITE lawyer resorted to a name-calling attack on Negro movements designed to get equal facilities "too fast." He said great progress was being made and Negroes should not be impatient, that progress would be sooner than they expected.

Thurgood, in his fifteen-minute rebuttal, was obviously angry.

Since my assignment was to "stick with Thurgood" and watch his reactions, I met him immediately after his vitrolic counter argument.

He left the lawyers' section of the Supreme Court chambers, made his way to the lounge . . . he was most irritated . . . breathing heavily and obviously wrought-up, thus proving that "Thurgood is most-moving when he is moved."

As I shook hands and congradulated him, he said, "They asked for it." The only response was that he had given it to them.

* * *

LAST MONTH'S national publication quoted Thurgood as saying when he entered Howard University Law School that "there for the first time he found out his rights." The late Charles Houston, then Howard's law dean and later NAACP's counsel, was his teacher.

Thurgood later succeeded him in the NAACP job.

Thurgood has traveled in all forty-eight states, to Japan and Korea.

He has several times put himself in danger spots where his life has been threatened. Throughout it all, he remains hard-hitting, but easy-going. He admits his pride in the job that has been done. As Time magazine puts it: "'It's a good thing to see the change when you know you did it,' said Thurgood."

Gains Seen During 1954 By NAACP

Defender Chicago, Ill.

By ETHEL L. PAYNE
(Defender Washington Bureau)

WASHINGTON—The end of segregation in vetrans' administration hospitals by March or this year and the total integration of schools on military posts sometime in 1954 was forecast in a summary report for 1953 last week by the Washington Bureau of the NAACP.

Date: 1-9-54

In the report which was signed by Clarence Mitchell, director of the Bureau, the highlights of the first year under the Republican administration were listed along with the major issues facing the executive and legislative arms of government with the opening of the second session of the 83rd congress.

P. 1

Mitchell based his prediction for the end of segregation in hospitals and military schools on reports from Samuel Brownell new commissioner of education, Dr. John Hannah, assistant Secretary of Defense, and from George Holland, assistant to the administrator of veterans affairs.

The report noted the end of segregation already in VA hospitals at Little Rock, Ark., Jackson, Miss., Nashville Tenn. Oklahoma City Okla. In the si schools operated outright by military authorities segregation has ceased. The remaining 21 schools were a seperate policy is maintained are on posts where funds are provided wholly or in part by the defense department but with the administration in the hands of local authorities.

Among the critical items facing Congress and the administration which must be settled are anti-lynching poll tax, and anti-jim crow travel, legislation statehood for Hawaii, segregation in public housing and anti-filibuster legilation. Another sore point in the district of Columbia is the quota system for Negroes in Washington hotels which is being practiced.

Although discrimination in employment in the district was ordered ended recently there are many areas in which discrimination is still prevalent. Among these are the fire department and the recreation department.

Anti-lynching and anti-poll tax legislation will probably be included on the legislative agenda but little hope of passage is expected. Poll tax may wind up in a recommendation for a constitutional amendment. Hearings on a federal FEPC law are scheduled to begin on Janrary 12 before the senate committee headed by Senator Irving Ives of New York. The bill is sponsored jointly by Sen. Ives and Hubert Humphrey (Dem) Minnesota.

Possiblility of passage of statehood for Hawaii got a big boost when Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana recently indicated that he would throw his support to the measure. Long had formerly gone along with the powerful southern bloc which opposed statehood on the grounds that admittance of the 49th state will increase support for civil rights legislation.

A potential of 74 votes in favor of curbing the fillibuster in the senate which has consistently killed civil rights passage was noted by the report. This includes 26 Democratic votes outside of the south and that of Senator Wayne Morse independent from Oregon.

Among the things which can be resolved by the president without the support of congress are the total end of segregation in Washington and end of segregation in federal housing and appointment to federal office of officials who will administer the laws in a non-biased manner.

Back on the Job—Edward R. Dudley, center, former United States ambassador to Liberia, is welcomed back to the NAACP by Walter White, left, executive secretary of the NAACP, and Dr. Channing H. Tobias, right, chairman of the association's board of directors. Mr. Dudley, who formerly served as assistant special counsel of the NAACP, returns as special assistant in charge of "Fight Front" for the NAACP.

Mrs. Roosevelt, Bunche Named To NAACP Board

NEW YORK — Two new candidates together with 14 former members were elected to the board of directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People by a referendum of the branches made public at the Association's 45th annual meeting here this week.

The new members of the board are Z. Alexander Looby, attorney, and member of the City Council of Nashville, Tenn., and Kivie Kaplan, vice-president and general manager of the Colonial Canning Company of Boston. Reelected to the board were Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Mrs. Joel E. Spingarn, Senator Herbert Lehman, Mrs. Lillian A. Alexander, Dr. Algernon D. Black, all of New York City.

Also Theodore M. Berry, member, City Council, Cincinnati; Roscoe Dunjee, editor, The Black Dispatch, Oklahoma City; Dr. J. Leonidas Leach, Flint, Mich.; Alfred Baker Lewis, Greenwich, Conn.; Dr. James J. McClendon, Detroit; Dr. M. Tinsley, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Jessie Vann, publisher, The Courier, Pittsburgh; and Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president, Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga.

Annually 16 persons are elected to three-year terms to the 48-person board of directors. The board elects the officers of the association. Arthur B. Spingarn was reelected as president of the association and Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the board. Other officers reelected include Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers of Boston, treasurer; Judge Theodore Spaulding, Philadelphia, assistant treasurer; Dr. Robert C. Weaver, vice chairman of the board, Walter White was reelected executive secretary; Roy Wilkins, administrator; Thurgood Marshall, special counsel; and Henry Lee Moon, director, public relations.

Dudley Named To Freedom Fight

NEW YORK — Appointment of Edward R. Dudley, former United States ambassador to Liberia, as special assistant in charge of the NAACP's Fight for Freedom was announced by Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP.

WITH NAACP Edward R. Dudley, former U. S. Ambassador to Liberia, has returned to the United States and will assume the position of special assistant in charge of the Association's Fight for Freedom.

Prior to his State Department appointment in 1948, he was an NAACP assistant counsel.

NAACP PRAISES IKE FOR ACTIONS

Cites Civil Rights Gains During 1953

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower got a pat on the back Saturday from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) for "important civil rights advances" during 1953.

It came in a year-end summary of civil rights highlights put out by the Washington bureau of the NAACP. At the same time, the association challenged Eisenhower to correct during 1954 a number of discrimination practices it said still exist.

On the credit side, the summary listed the re-establishment of the government contract committee which polices nondiscrimination in government contracts. It also commended the President for his stand against segregation in schools on military posts.

The association pointed an finger of scorn at "a move by the bureau of printing and engraving to oust Negro printer apprentices" from a government training program. It said the move "raised the question of whether the President would support Jim Crow policies of the bureau of engraving."

The summary also said present government housing policies make the government "the greatest single force in promoting housing segregation in the United States."

The summary singled out a number of members of Congress for commendation in the civil rights field. It congratulated Sens. Ives (R-N. Y.), Smith (R-Me.), Aiken (R-Vt.), Griswold (R-Neb.), Purtell (R-Conn.), Goldwater (R-Ariz.), Murray (D-Mont.), Neely (D-W. Va.), Douglas (D-Ill.), Lehman (D-N. Y.), and Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Reps. Powell (D-N. Y.) and Javits (R-N. Y.) for sponsoring a proposed nonsegregation amendment to the national labor relations act.

The Navy was congratulated for ending segregation in Southern shore bases and Harvey Highley, veterans administration, was praised for moves to get rid of segregation in veterans administration hospitals.

NAACP Hands President Rap And Also Pat

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (UP) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People praised President Eisenhower today for "important advances in civil rights" but called him to account for jobs undone.

In this category it placed the administration's housing policies which "make the government the greatest single force in promoting housing segregation in the United States." It said the administration could correct this without action by Congress.

Firings Rapped

The association also criticized the Bureau of Printing and Engraving for firing Negro plate printer apprentices, "even though they were being given training" under the President's Federal Fair Employment Board. It said this raised the question whether Mr. Eisenhower "would support the board of the Jim Crow policies of the bureau."

It credited the President for reestablishing the government contract committee which police nondiscrimination clauses in government contracts. It also commended him for his stand against segregation in schools on military posts and his move to end racial discrimination in the District of Columbia.

But it charged that most Washington hotels "still have a quota system for colored guests" and that there is "continued segregation in district recreation programs."

Policemen in Florida, Louisiana, South Carolina and Virginia made "the halls of the Kremlin vibrate with chuckles," the association said, by "unjustly jailing or beating colored soldiers."

Navy Commended

The Navy was commended for ending segregation in Southern shore establishments, and the Veterans Administration was lauded for moving to end segregation in VA hospitals.

The association predicted that segregation problems at schools on 21 military posts would be solved amicably this year but also called for the end of segregation in schools run by the Atomic Energy Commission.

It does not look for much racial rights action in Congress this year. It said Congress is still handicapped by rules that permit Senate filibusters and that, in any event, the House Labor Committee is hostile to setting up a Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Philadelphia Cotillion gives $1,385 to NAACP

NEW YORK, —A total of $1,385 raised by the Philadelphia Cotillion Society from cooperating organizations and individuals was presented to the NAACP at the society's annual Christmas cotillion in Philadelphia on Dec. 30.

Accepting the contribution on behalf of the association, Walter White, executive secretary, thanked the society for its generosity and thoughtfulness in making this contribution to the Fight For Freedom Fund.

The Fighting Fund was further enhanced by contributions from the following branches and other units of the NAACP:

Atlanta, $1,500; North Carolina State Conference of Branches, $1,000; Montgomery, Ala., $300; Tuskegee and Birmingham, $250; each; Terre Haute, Ind., $125; Chattanooga, Tenn. $111; Orange and Maplewood N. J., youth council, $103.66;

Small Branches Give

Anniston, Ala., $103.29; Reidsville, N. C., $100; Staten Island, N.Y., $75; Lansing, Mich. $61.31; New Castle, Pa., $50; Etowah Co., Ala., $35; Springfield, Mo., $30.30; Tampa Fla., and Tempe, Ariz., $25 each;

Cairo, Ala., $21.20; Alabama State Conference, $20.51; and Bessemer and Henry County, Ala., $10 each. An additional $25 was contributed by the Bethel AME Zion Church of Greenwich, Conn.

The sum raised by the Philadelphia Cotillion included contributions of $500 from the Philadelphia NAACP; $110, The Bronzemen Inc.; $101; Club Benedict, $58, Omega chapter of A.K.A. Sorority; $50, the Gay Northeasterners; $50 Mu Omega chapter Omega Psi Phi Fraternity; and sums from other groups and individuals.

Meanwhile contributions continued to come into the AFRO's offices from readers who are determined to back the NAACP's struggle to end segregation in the nation's elementary and secondary schools.

Last week the contributions were topped by Bethel AME Church Greenwich, Conn., which gave. Individual contributions included:

James Murphy, AFRO circulation director, $15;

Mrs. Sylvia P. Patterson, 1431 S. st., nw, Washington, D.C., $2;

Mrs. Hattie C. Mallory, 604 W. Marshall St., Richmond, Va., $2;

Marshall W. Jones, 1907 Barclay st., Baltimore 18, MD., $5.

Dixie Masons give $12,472

Lewis, Dobbs elate Marshall on Jan. 4

NEW YORK, — Presentation of contributions totaling $12,472 were made to the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund here on Jan. 4 by two of the top leaders of the Prince Hall Masons in the South.

The contributions were accepted on behalf of the Legal Fund by Thurgood Marshall, the fund's director.

John G. Lewis Jr., grand master, Prince Hall Grand Lodge F. and A. M. of Louisiana, presented a check for $5,972.68 on behalf of his organization.

Ga. Masons Give $5,000

John Wesley Dobbs, who holds a similar office with the fraternal order in Georgia, brought from that state $6,500 for the Legal Defense Fund—$5,000 from the Georgia Masons; $1,000 from the State Teacher and Educations Association; $200, Georgia Negro Voters League.

He also gave $100 each from Mr. Dobbs, himself, John P. Whittaker and S. L. Greene, all of Atlanta.

Flowers For Mrs. Thurgood Marshall

Frances Warren, pretty Calvert Distillers secretary (left) presents flowers to Mrs. Thurgood Marshall, wife of the legal defense director of the NAACP while Joseph Makel, public relations director of Calvert (center) and Arthur Spingarn, president of the NAACP, applaud. The occasion was a dinner in New York to Thurgood for his efforts on the segregation cases.

Prince Hall Masons Give NAACP Legal Defense $12,000

New York. — Presentation of contributions totaling $12,472.68 were made to the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund here on January 4 by two of the top leaders of the Prince Hall Masons in the South. The contributions were accepted on behalf of the Legal Fund by Thurgood Marshall, the fund's director.

John G. Lewis, Jr., grand master, Prince Hall Grand Lodge F. and A. M. of Louisiana, presented on behalf of his organization a check for $5,972.68. John Wesley Dobbs, who holds a similar office with the fraternal order in Georgia brought from that state $6,500 for the Legal Defense Fund—$5,000 from the Georgia Masons; $1,000 from the State Teacher and Educations Association; $200, Georgia Negro Voters League; and $100 each from Mr. Dobbs, himself, John P. Whittaker and S. L. Greene, all of Atlanta.

State Meeting Of N.A.A.C.P. Under Way

To Close Tomorrow After Mass Meeting

Lexington, Ky., April 23 (AP) — The seventh annual state convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People opened here tonight with the keynote address delivered by the Rev. W. P. Offutt, secretary of the association.

Mayor Fred Fugazzi and the Rev. W. H. Powells, president of the Lexington branch, welcomed the group.

Discussions on Negro education, housing, and employment, along with a session on techniques to further the "Fighting Fund for Freedom," are scheduled for tomorrow afternoon.

George T. Cordery, Jr., president of the Louisville-branch N.A.A.C.P., will head a list of persons giving state reports and will lead in the discussion on branch reports and community administration.

A mass meeting at St. Paul A.M.E. Church Sunday afternoon will close the convention. Eldon S. Dummit, Lexington attorney, and Whitney Young, Lincoln Institute, will be principal speakers

U. S.-Financed Bias Is Rapped

NAACP Is Given Pledge Of Support In Its Fight Against Barriers In Interstate Travel And In Housing

WASHINGTON—Steps to halt the use of federal funds to aid in the development of racially restricted housing were anticipated here this week following reiteration by President Dwight D. Eisenhower of his opposition to the use of government money for the support of segregation.

The President reaffirmed his position in a conference at the White House on January 13 with a delegation of leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

They placed before him the discriminatory record of Levitt and Sons, builders of Levittown, Pa.; called his attention to the continuing segregation in interstate bus and railroad travel in the South; and invited him to address a meeting in Washington to launch formally the NAACP Fight for Freedom campaign to complete emancipation by January 1, 1963, the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's Proclamation.

MEMBERS of the delegation visiting the White House were Arthur B. Spingarn, the association's veteran president; Dr Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the board; Judge Theodore Spaulding of Philadelphia, a member of the board; Walter White, executive secretary; and Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington bureau.

This is the same delegation, except for Mr. Mitchell, which visited Mr. Eisenhower in November, 1952, shortly after his election.

The President agreed to talk to the NAACP meeting at a time and place to be determined later.

HE ALSO indicated his support of a bill introduced by Senators Irving Ives of New York and John M. Butler of Maryland to end segregation in interstate travel.

The President was informed that although the courts have repeatedly banned interstate travel segregation as unconstitutional, colored people are still jim-crowed on most of the interstate trains and buses in the South.

Philadelphia Cotillion Gives $1,385 to NAACP

NEW YORK—A total of $1,385 raised by the Philadelphia Cotillion Society from cooperating organizations and individuals was presented to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

NAACP felicitates Greek-letter groups

NEW YORK — Felicitations and best wishes have been extended to national Greek-Letter fraternities and sororities in holiday conventions by Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP.

"These organizations," he said, "have contributed measurably to the steady improvement of race relations and to the fight against racial discrimination and segregation."

NAACP gets $1,000 from US dentists

NEW YORK — The Kansas City, Mo., NAACP branch this week added $616.25 to a prior contribution of $2,500 to the association's Fight for Freedom Fund and the National Dental association gave a contribution of $1,000.

Total contributions received during the week amounted to $4,716.26, including $1,231.37 from the Columbus, Ohio, branch.

Other branch contributions include Stamford, Conn., $500; Jersey City, $173; Spring Valley, N.Y., $140; Winston-Salem, N.C., $129.25, Kenner, La., $58; Cairo, Ill., $44.57; Brazos county, Texas, $50; Rowan county, N.C., $30; Niagara Falls, N.Y., $25; Saline county, Kansas, $20; and Yuma, Ariz., $15.

Flint Churches Donate

In response to solicitation by the Flint, Mich., branch the following contributions were received from churches in that city:

Quinn Chapel, AME, $50.20; Canaan Baptist, $50; Mt. Olive Baptist, $44.18; Antioch Baptist, $40; Temple of Divine Love, $29; Metropolitan Baptist, $27.46; Macedonia Baptist, $22.55; New Zion Baptist, $16.12;

Mt. Calvary Baptist, $12; Bethel, Methodist, $10.45; James Chapel, CME, $10; Shiloh Baptist, $8.81; Church of God, $4.05, and Blackwell, AME Zion, $4. The branch collected an additional $10 from the Glena circle of Kings, Daughters and Sons.

Trade Union Contributions

Trade union contributors included the IUE-CIO Boston, $100, and Local 49-A of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, CIO, Newark, $100. Other UPWA locals that contributed include Omaha, Boston, Kansas City, Kans., and Reserve, La., $25 each and locals in Mitchell, S. D., Eau Claire, Wisc., and Charlestown, Mass., $10 each,

A contribution of $15 from the Martha Washington and Harry H. Straus Foundation in Biltmore, N.C., completed the week's receipts for the Fighting Fund.

NAACP Asks Rights Law In Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—Franklin H. Williams, secretary-counsel for the West coast region of the NAACP, appeared before an overflow crowd in City Commission Chambers recently to petition for a civil rights ordinance which had been presented by the Las Vegas branch of the NAACP.

In an 11-page brief, Williams pointed out the provisions of the state and national laws under which such legislation would be legal and urged the commissioners to pass the ordinance and then seek a court opinion on its legality, should the ordinance be challenged.

LIKE MISSISSIPPI

Williams compared the city of Las Vegas to the state of Mississippi in its treatment of minority groups and especially Negroes and cited several severe cases of discrimination in the city. He told the group that the proposed civil rights ordinance is not a question of social equality but the right of minority groups to live and move freely in the city.

Others making an appeal for the ordinance were Mrs. Lubertha M. Warden, president of the Las Vegas NAACP; Woodrow Wilson, vice president of the local branch, and Mrs. Xelda Fightlin, chairman of the Anti- Defamation League of the Las Vegas chapter of B'nai B'rith.

NAACP Hails Order To Integrate Army Schools

NEW YORK—A U. S. Defense Department order abolishing segregation in all military post schools by September 1, 1955, was promptly hailed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People as "another milestone" in "making America more truly democratic."

The order, signed by Charles E. Wilson, Secretary of Defense, was issued January 12, and made public February 1. It instructs the Army, Navy and Air Force not to open any new segregated schools, and gives them until the 1955 date to integrate schools at 21 bases now practicing segregation.

* * *

THE DIRECTIVE states that if local educational agencies — now running the schools with Federal funds—are unable under state law to operate interracial schools, the U. S. Commissioner of Education will take steps to run the schools on a non-segregated basis.

A telegram sent to President Eisenhower yesterday by Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, congratulated the Chief Executive on his "insistence" that segregation in military post schools be ended by 1955, and added: "Now that an unequivocal position has been taken we are certain that the job can be completed long before that date."

ANOTHER TELEGRAM

Mr. White to John A. Hannah, assistant Secretary of Defense, extended warm congratulations to Dr. Hannah for his "major role" in the no-segregation order.

"Knowing some of the grave problems you have faced during recent months," the message said, "we all the more admire your stand and congratulate you on the success of your courageous action."

Spingarn Again Heads National Association

NEW YORK—Unanimously reelected, Arthur B. Spingarn begins his 15th consecutive year as president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Mr. Spingarn was first elected to the post in 1940, succeeding his brother, the late Joel E. Spingarn. The board of directors again selected him to head the organization at its regular monthly session here following the Association's annual meeting on January 4.

Also reelected at that session were Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman, board of directors; Dr. Robert C. Weaver, vice chairman; Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers, Boston, treasurer; and Judge Theodore Spaulding, Philadelphia, assistant treasurer. In addition the following vice presidents were elected: Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Rabbi Judah Cahn, Hon. Harry E. Davis, Mrs. Grace Fenderson,, Oscar Hammerstein II, John Hammond, Prof. C. L. Harper, Rev. John Haynes Holmes, Dr. William Lloyd Imes, Dr. Allen F. Jackson, Hon. Ira W. Jayne, Eric Johnston, Eugene Martin, Dr. O. Clay Maxwell Miss L. Pearl Mitchell, Hon. Wayne Morse, T. G. Nutter, A. Philip Randolph, Ike Smalls, Willard S. Townsend, Bishop W. J. Walls and Samuel Williams.

Staff executives re-named by the board were Walter White, executive secretary; Roy Wilkins, administrator; Thurgood Marshall, special counsel; and Henry Lee Moon, director, public relations.

NEW BOARD MEMBERS NAMED

The results of the referendum of the branches for the selection of 16 members of the board were announced at the annual meeting preceding the board session. Z. Alexander Looby, a member of the Association's national legal committee and of the City Council of Nashville, and Kivie Kaplan, vice president and general manager of the Colonial Tanning Company of Boston and co-chairman of the new NAACP life membership committee, are the two newly elected members of the board.

Reelected to three-year terms each were Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Mrs. Joel E. Spingarn, Senator Herbert Lehman, Mrs. Lillian A. Alexander, Dr. Algernon D. Black, all of New York City.

Also Theodore M. Berry, member, City Council, Cincinnati; Roscoe Dunjee, editor, The Black Dispatch, Oklahoma City; Dr. J. Leonidas Leach, Flint, Mich., Alfred Baker Lewis, Greenwich, Conn.; Dr. James J. McClendon, Detroit; Dr. J. M. Tinsley, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Jessie ann, publisher, The Courier, Pittsburgh; and Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president, Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga.

STAFF SUBMITS REPORTS

The annual meeting, attended by about 150 leaders of the Association in the states and localities, heard reports from the executive officers on the activities of 1953 and plans for the future. Mr. White optimistically reported that "the year 1953 marked the nearest approach and witnessed the greatest gains of the NAACP toward the goals set by its founders in 1909." For the first time in four years, Mr. Wilkins reported, the Association incurred no operating deficit and completed the year with a surplus of income over operating expenditures.

Gains made on the Washington front by executive action and the legislative stalemate in that city were reported by Clarence Mitchell, director, Washington bureau. Mr. Mitchell warned that continuing mistreatment of Negro servicemen by prejudiced civilian officials in the South "no doubt" occasions many a "chuckle within the Kremlin walls."

MAPS BLUEPRINTS FOR LEGAL ACTION

While concentrating on the public school education cases, the legal department "still managed to keep its overall legal program going, map out a blueprint for future action and extend its activities into other areas," Mr. Marshall told the annual meeting.

Plans were developed by NAACP staff lawyers with the aid of members of the national legal committee for accelerating the legal attack upon segregation in education, transportation, employment, housing and places of public accommodation, the Association's special counsel reported .He also called attention to the newly published "NAACP Civil Rights Handbook,' made possible by a grant from the Prince Hall Masons.

More than $70,000 were raised and contributed to the legal expenses involved in the public school cases. Mrs. Marshall said in expressing appreciation for the cooperation received from "our branches, state conferences, the entire Negro press, individuals and groups of individuals who contributed' 'to these cases. "Regardless of what the decision of the Supreme Court will be, we have found from these cases that our organization and good thinking people throughout the country and the entire Negro press, once alerted to the issue, will roll up their sleeves and work toward the common goal.'

"It is most interesting to note,' he said, "that in public statements and newspaper articles throughout tthe South we find over and over again the public admission of the 'white supremacy' group and of the white people in general of the South that they fully realize that segregation is on its way out and will be removed one way or another."

OTHER REPORTS HEARD

Other reports were submitted by Gloster B. Current, director of branches; Herbert Hill, labor relations assistant; James W. Ivy, editor, The Crisis; Herbert Wright, youth secretary; Rev. Walter P. Offutt, Jr., church secretary; and Henry Lee Moon, director of public relations.

Arthur Spingarn Again Named Head of NAACP

NEW YORK.—Unanimously re elected, Arthur B. Spingarn begins his 15th consecutive year as president of the National Associationi for the Advancement of Colored People. Mr. Spingarn was first elected to the post in 1940, succeeding his brother, the late Joel E. Spingarn. The board of directors again selected him to head the organization at its regular monthly session here following the Association's annual meeting on January 4.

Also reelected at that session were Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman, board of directors; Dr. Robert C. Weaver, vice chairman; Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers, Boston, treasurer; and Judge Theodore Spaulding, Philadelphia, assistant treasurer. In addition the following vice presidents were elected: Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Rabbi Judah Cahn, Hon. Harry E. Davis, Mrs. Grace Fenderson, Oscar Hammerstein II, John Hammond, Prof. C. L. Harper, Rev. John Haynes Holmes, Dr. William Lloyd Imes, Dr. Allen F. Jackson, Hon. Ira W. Jayne, Eric Johnston, Eugene Martin, Dr. O. Clay Maxwell, Miss L. Pearl Mitchell, Hon. Wayne Morse, T. G. Nutter, A. Philip Randolph, Ike Smalls, Willard S. Townsend, Bishop W. J. Walls and Samuel Williams.

Staff executives re-named by the board were Walter White, executive secretary; Roy Wilkins, administrator; Thurgood Marshall, special counsel; and Henry Lee Moon, director, public relations.

Board Members Named

The results of the referendum of the branches for the selection of 16 members of the board were announced at the annual meeting preceding the board session. Z. Alexander Looby, a member of the Association's national legal committee and of the City Council of Nashville, and Kivie Kaplan, vice president and general manager of the Colonial Tanning Company of Boston and co-chairman of the new NAACP life membership committee, are the two newly elected members of the board.

Reelected to three-year terms each were Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Mrs. Joel E. Spingarn, Senator Herbert Lehman, Mrs. Lillian A. Alexander, Dr. Algernon D. Black, all of New York City.

Also Theodore M. Berry, member, City Council, Cincinnati; Roscoe Dunjee, editor, The Black Dispatch, Oklahoma City; Dr. J. Leonidas Leach, Flint, Mich.; Alfred Baker Lewis, Greenwich, Conn.; Dr. James J. McClendon, Detroit; Dr. J. M. Tinsley, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Jessie Vann, publisher, The Courier, Pittsburgh; and Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president, Morehouse college, Atlanta, Ga.

Staff Submits Reports

The annual meeting, attended by about 150 leaders of the association in the states and localities, heard reports from the executive officers on the activities of 1953 and plans for the future. Mr. White optimistically reported that "the year 1953 marked the nearest approach and witnessed the greatest gains of the NAACP toward the goals set by its founders in 1909." For the first time in four years, Mr. Wilkins reported, the Association incurred no operating deficit and completed the year with a surplus of income over operating expenditures.

Gains made on the Washington front by executive action and the legislative stalemate in that city were reported by Clarence Mitchell, director, Washington bureau. Mr. Mitchell warned that continuing mistreatment of Negro servicemen by prejudiced civilian officials in the South "no doubt" occasions many a "chuckle within the Kremlin walls."

Maps Blueprint For Legal Action

While concentrating on the public school education cases, the legal department "still managed to keep its overall legal program going, map out a blueprint for future action and extend its activities into other areas," Mr. Marshall told the annual meeting.

Plans were developed by NAACP lawyers with the aid of members of the national legal committee for accelerating the legal attack upon segregation in education, transportation, employment, housing and places of public accommodation, the Association's special counsel reported. He also called attention to the newly published "NAACP Civil Rights Handbook," made possible by a grant from the Prince Hall Masons.

More than $70,000 were raised and contributed to the legal expenses involved in the public school cases, Mr. Marshall said in expressing appreciation for the cooperation received from "our branches, state conferences, the entire Negro press, individuals and groups of individuals who contributed" to these cases. "Regardless of what the decision of the Supreme Court will be, we have found from these cases that our organization and good-thinking people throughout the country and the entire Negro press, once alerted to the issue, will roll up their sleeves and work toward the common goal."

"It is most interesting to note," he said, "that in public statements and newspaper articles throughout the South we find over and over again the public admission of the 'white supremacy' group and of the white people in general of the South that they fully realize that segregation is on its way out and will be removed one way or another."

Other Reports Heard

Other reports were submitted by Gloster B. Current, director of branches; Herbert Hill, labor relations assistant; James W. Ivy, editor, The Crisis; Herbert Wright, youth secretary; Rev. Walter P. Offutt Jr., church secretary; and Henry Lee Moon, director of public relations.

J. King Chandler, III, Speaker For Tuskegee NAACP Founder's Day Fete

J. KING CHANDLER III

MRS. MATTIE S. BIBB

TUSKEGEE, ALA.— (SNS)— J. King Chandler III, president of Daniel Payne College, Birmingham, is slated to deliver the feature address at the annual N. A. A. C. P. Founder's Day program banquet to be held in Teachers' Cafeteria, Tuskegee Institute, Friday night, February 12 at 7:30 o'clock.

This announcement came from Mrs. Mattie S. Bibb, chairman of the Founder's Day committee, who also said the Commercial Dietetics personnel of the Institute will be in charge of food preparation.

EVENT WITH TWO-FOLD PURPOSE

"The occasion, Mrs. Bibb stated will serve a two-fold purpose—to observe the founding of this great organization, which has been definitely instrumental in paving the way for full participation by minority groups into American society as guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States; and secondly, to raise funds to insure the continuance of its fine work.

"The committee is working overtime to make this banquet the best in the history of the Tuskegee branch.

Each person planning to attend is asked to secure tickets from any of the officers of the Branch, or they may contact the Chairman. Because the facilities provided for the banquet are limited to 150 persons, Mrs. Bibb said that persons expecting to attend should indicate their intention immediately. As in previous affairs of this nature, local organizations are requested to send at least two representatives to the program.

Speaking of Mr. Chandler, the Chairman said "he is a militant and courageous fighter for human rights; an eloquent and dynamic speaker and therefore deserves to be heard by all."

Other members of the Committee are Mrs. Ruth T. Peterson, Mrs Anita G. Adams, James A. Johnson, L. W. Hemmons and W. P. Mitchell.

New NAACP Head At Tuskegee Promises 'Vigorous' Program

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. —D. L. Beasley, recently elected president of the Tuskegee Branch NAACP, promises "to vigorously pursue the objectives of the NAACP," and called upon all of the officers to embrace the tenents set forth in resolutions adopted and reiterated by the national conventions of the association.

"Segregation and discrimination" Beasley said, "must be ferreted out, tracked down and attacked with every ounce of strength at our command."

Beasley listed five major items of business in which the branch would engage during 1954: (1) continuing to urge qualified citizens of Macon County to register to vote, (2) protesting every instance of legally enforced segregation and discrimination based on race, (3) greatly increase the membership so as to enhance the effectiveness of the NAACP in the pursuit of its objectives, (4) relentlessly prosecute the court case against the Macon County Board of Registrars which was set in motion under the previous administration, and (5) urge the membership to manifest greater interest in local and state candidates and issues.

The president insisted that each officer and member of the Executive Committee make a definite contribution toward the fulfillment of these objectives. Mr. Beasley noted with pride that while the Tuskegee branch's share of the cost incidental to the attack against the University of Alabama for its failure to admit two Negro girls amounted to 10 per cent of the entire cost this branch was the first to pay its share, ($1,500). In addition, this Branch has paid $500 in the Fighting Fund for Freedom and for State Conference expenses.

Mr. Beasley, who served as president during 1952, stated that each officer of the branch would be given a definite assignment in the branch's effort to realize its objectives.

Other officers elected were: Vice president, W. P. Mitchell; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Jessie Guzman; secretary, Mrs. Jessie P. Peterson; asst. secretaries, Mrs. Mattie S. Bibb, Mrs. Jennie Gomillion, Mrs. Hattie McAlpino, Miss Carolyn Glover; treasurer, Leonard Flennoy; C. G. Gomillion, chairman of executive committee.

The association will meet in Trade "A" Building Sunday, Jan. 24 at 3:30. Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, chairman of the community coordinating committee will direct the program.

1954 PRESIDENT — D. L. Beasley of Tuskegee Institute was elected president of Tuskegee's Branch of the NAACP during its recent election. He has already begun to outline his program for the year.

Tuskegee group slates banquet

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. —I. King Chandler, 3d president of Payne college, will speak in teachers cafeteria here Feb. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at a banquet in celebration of the founding of the local NAACP branch here 45 years ago.

Mrs. Mattie S. Bibb, chairman of the Founders Day committee, urges persons planning to attend to make reservations in advance. Personnel in the Tuskegee commercial dietetics service will prepare and serve the food.

Mr. Chandler, a native of Bessemer, attended public schools there, received his B. A. from Wilberforce university and did further study at Columbia university and George Williams college, Chicago.

NAACP Official Fears Attempt On His Life

MOBILE, Ala. — Despite veiled warnings against the life of Mobile NAACP secretary, J. L. LeFlore, the organization is extending the scope of its investigation into the slaying of 30-year-old Moses Jones by Sheriff Jenkins Hill Dec. 28.

LeFlore who has been investigating the fatal shooting of Jones by the sheriff refused to explain the new scope of the probe. Grove Hill is in Clark County.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation and the alcoholic tax unit are also conducting investigations into the circumstances of the slaying.

Jones was a witness against Hill in a liquor conspiracy trial in which the sheriff was a defendant in federal court last fall. He was arrested in Bessemer late Sunday night, Dec. 27, for alleged failure to pay certain fines against him at Thomasville, Ala., totaling $154.25. Thomasville is also in Clarke County.

Before six o'clock the next morning, Jones was dead in Clarke County from three bullets in and around the heart fired by Hill.

The Sheriff claimed that Jones tried to "jump me and take my pistol."

Hill has accused LeFlore of lying about the mysterious disappearance of several Negroes in Clarke County over a period of years. The NAACP secretary replied that he would refuse to let Hill know what the NAACP has learned through its investigations.

The secretary added that the NAACP does not make statements unless they have reports or information to back them.

He said that Negroes in Clarke County are afraid to let it be known they have given NAACP certain information and they have good reason to be afraid.

In other instances, the NAACP official said, Negroes had shut up like clams and "I can sympathize with them."

LeFlore said he felt that there is a danger to his life in any further on-the-scene investigation he may make but that would not prevent him from doing so.

Culbertson Is NAACP Installation Speaker

Installation ceremonies of the Birmingham Branch NAACP to be held at 3 p. m. Sunday, January 17 will reflect the interracial aspect of the association by having John Bolt Culbertson of Greenville, S. C., as the feature speaker.

W. C. Patton, re-elected branch president, in making the announcement, said would be the first time that other than a Negro has been selected for such a spot, given Mr. Culbertson.

Mr. Culbertson is a former member of the South Carolina Legislature, past presdient of the Democratic Clubs of South Carolina, a former F. B. I. agent, one-time secretary of congressman John J. McSween of the Fourth South Carolina Congressional District, a native South Carolinian, graduate of the public schools of Laurens, S. C., and the University of South Carolina, and a veteran of World War II.

He has worked for various labor unions including District 50 of the United Mine Workers of America; the Brotherhood of Railway (AFL) the Textile Workers Union (CIO) and is a member of the Americans for Democratic Action. He is also a member of the Baptist denomination.

Key officers in addition to Mr. Patton to be installed are Wiley E. Daniels, Sr., secretary; E. A. Carter, treasurer and the Rev. R. W. Hayden, assistant secretary.

The Rev. R. L. Alford, pastor of the host church, is a member of the branch executive committee.

Tuskegee NAACP Opens Campaign For Members

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. — Opening a 20-day campaign directed at a goal of 1500 memberships, Frank J. Toland said "Persons cannot afford not listing themselves with the Tuskegee Civic Association."

Mr. Toland is chairman of the TCA membership committee. His membership appeal speech came during the monthly meeting of the association held last Sunday at the Washington Chapel A. M. E. Church He urged each of the 100 solicitors to bring at least 15 members. Others present were asked to pass to him the names of persons whom they knew desired to become affiliated with Tuskegee's largest organization.

FRANK J. TOLAND

"The rapid growth of the TCA within the last three years from 100 odd members to 1170 during 1953 is evidence that there are many citizens who need only to be contacted for their dues," Toland said. He went on to say: "I think the annual increase in membership for the TCA represents an increasing awareness of civic-mindedness among citizens of our group. This is a healthy sign, and it signifies success for the TCA as it seeks to reach its goal of 1500 members for 1954. We not only need 1500 or more members on the membership roll of the TCA, but we need above all their active participation. Let's again look to the future — this year 1500 or more members — the years ahead let's work to gain the membership of every citizen in Macon County who is interested in first-class citizenship for all — regardless of race, and who is likewise interested in the civic progress of Macon County."

Toland stated that the campaign will close Friday night, January 29.

C. G. Gomillion, President of the Tuskegee Civic Association who spoke from the topic: "The Old Order Changeth," listed many accomplishments of the group in the areas of politics and some professional organizations. He urged the Community Welfare Committee of the Tuskegee Civic Association to work to have qualified Negroes appointed to the Macon County Welfare Department and the Macon County Board of Health. Gomillion asked qualified voters to be prepared to sign a petition supporting a Negro for the Macon County Board of Education in the event the local Democratic organization refuses Negroes on the regular ticket.

James A. Johnson, Chairman of the Community Welfare Committee presented petitions for property owners of each street in designated areas of Tuskegee which he asked them to sign that will make possible the paving of streets in these communities. He urged each worker to return the petition to him within a week in order that they might be turned over to the Tuskegee City Council immediately.

Tuskegee NAACP Head Lists 1954 Objectives

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. — D. L. Beasley, recently elected president of the Tuskegee Branch NAACP, promises "to vigorously pursue the objectives of the NAACP" and has called upon all officers to embrace the tenets set forth in resolutions adopted by the national conventions of the association.

"Segregation and discrimination," Beasley said, "must be ferreted out, tracked down and attacked with every ounce of strength at our command."

BEASLEY LISTED five major items of business in which the branch would engage during 1954: (1) continuing to urge qualified citizens of Macon County to register to vote, (2) protesting every instance of legally enforced segregation, (3) greatly increase the membership so as to enhance the effectiveness of the NAACP, (4) relentlessly prosecute the court case against the Macon County Board of Registrars, as set in motion under the previous administration, and (5) urge the membership to manifest greater interest in local and state candidates and issues.

The president insisted that each officer and member of the executive committee make a definite contribution toward the fulfillment of these objectives. Mr. Beasley noted with pride that while the Tuskegee branch's share of the cost incidental to the attack against the University of Alabama, for its failure to admitted two Negro girls, amounted to ten per cent of the entire cost, this branch was the first to pay its share ($1,500). In addition, this branch has paid $500 into the Fighting Fund for Freedom and for state conference expenses.

* * *

OTHER OFFICERS elected were W. P. Mitchell, vice president; Mrs. Jessie Guzman, second vice president; Mrs. Jessie P. Peterson, secretary; Mrs. Mattie S. Bibb, Mrs. Jennie Gomillion, Mrs. Mattie McAlpine and Miss Caroline Glover, assistant secretaries; Leonard Flennoy treasurer, and C. G. Gomillion, chairman of the executive committee.

The association will meet in Trade "A" Building on Sunday, Jan. 24, at 3:30. Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, chairman of the community coordinating committee, will direct the program.

Tuskegee Civic Leader vows segregation fight

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. —D. L. Beasley, new president of the Tuskegee branch NAACP, last week rededicated himself and his branch to the objectives of the national organization.

The president told members of the Tuskegee branch NAACP, the branch had contributed $1,500 to the expense of fighting racial bars at the University of Alabama and had paid $500 to the Fighting Fund.

Insisting that segregation and discrimination must be stamped out, Mr. Beasley said the branch would continue to fight these practices; urge voters to register, and drive for added members in 1954.

Other Officers

Elected along with Mr. Beasley were W. P. Mitchell, vice-president; Mrs. Jessie Guzman, second vice-president; Mrs. Jessie P. Peterson, secretary; Mrs. Mattie S. Bibb, Mrs. Jennie Gomillion, Mrs. Mattie McAlpine and Miss Carolyn Glover, assistant secretaries. Leonard Flenney and C. G. Gomillion, chairmen of the executive committee.

NAACP History

Payne College Head to Tell Of Struggles

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—J. King Chandler III, president, Daniel Payne College, Birmingham, will relate some of the history and struggles of the NAACP when he comes to Tuskegee as the Founders Day speaker and banquet program for the Tuskegee branch, NAACP, Friday evening, Feb. 12.

Mr. Chandler, who headed the Department of Psychology at Talladega College prior to heading up the AME Church school in Birmingham, where he has been closely identified with the Birmingham branch of the NAACP—having served as chairman of its executive committee, is a graduate of Columbia University.

* * *

THE Founders Day Committee, chairmaned by Mrs. Mattie S. Bibb, announced that the response from the sale of tickets to the banquet has been gratifying.

As has been true each year on occasions of this nature, every organization in the community is asked to send at least two representatives to this program.

The program and banquet will be held in the Teachers' Cafeteria, Tuskegee Institute Campus, and will begin at 7:30 P. M. The facilities are limited. Persons planning to attend are urged to make reservations with the chairman prior to Feb. 12 in order that they may be provided for.

J. KING CHANDLER III
. . . will recount trials

TO HEAD NAACP PROGRAM— James A. Johnson—(above) Chairman of Educational Committee, Tuskegee Branch NAACP, will have charge of the program Sunday, Feb. 28, when the Branch holds its regular monthly meeting at Trades "A" Building, Tuskegee Institute campus at 3:30 p.m.

NAACP Panel Plans Program At Tuskegee

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—The Tuskegee Branch NAACP will hold its regular monthly meeting at Trades "A" Building, Tuskegee Institute, campus, at 3:30 p.m. Sunday. James A. Johnson will be in charge of the meeting.

Johnson announced that the program will take the form of a panel discussion, with the Rev. E. S. James, pastor of Washington Chapel AME Church, serving as moderator.

The topic, "What Shall We Teach Children in the Public Schools?" will be discussed by four public school teachers. K. B. Young, principal, Tuskegee Institute High School, will discuss the topic, "What shall we teach children in the public schools about our significant constitutional civic rights?, about our civic objectives in American Democracy?, and about what we want?

Mrs. Hattie Flennoy, teacher at the Washington Public School, will discuss "What shall we teach about our present status and opportunities" (1) In politics and government in Macon County, (2) in public education in Macon County, (3) in business and public employment, and (4) in public services, public welfare, public health, police protection, quality of streets, roads, lighting sewage disposal, bus and train transportation and interracial association and cooperation?

Mrs. L. B. Carter, principal Lewis Adams School, will discuss "What shall we teach about civic resources" (Alabama Course of Study laws regulating the behavior of citizens, public officials, voters, other civic-minded citizens, selected organizations like the NAACP, Tuskegee Civic Association Woman's Club, the Elks Lodge, etc.) available for use in the process of raising the civic status and increasing civic opportunities of Negro citizens?

Mrs. Erienne Younge, teacher at Lewis Adams School, will develop the topic "What shall we teach about the civic responsibilities, duties, activities, etc., of citizens, pupils, students, teachers, parents, public school officials, voters, other citizens?"

Persons interested in asking questions of the panel participants are urged to come prepared to ask such questions. The meeting will last for one hour. William P. Mitchell is publicity committee, NAACP branch.

Tuskegee Institute, Ala. What's Your Answer?

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—What's your answer?

Four public school teachers are scheduled to tackle the topic, "What Shall We Teach Children in the Public Schools" at the meeting of the Tuskegee Branch NAACP scheduled for 3:30 Sunday afternoon Feb. 28 in the Trades "A" Building of Tuskegee Institute.

The program is under the auspices of the branch's educational committee headed by James A. Johnson.

JAMES A. JOHNSON

The Rev. E. S. James, pastor of Washington Chapel A. M. E. church will serve as moderator for the hour-long program.

D. L. Beasley, president of the branch said that persons interested in throwing questions at the panelists should come prepared to fire into them.

K. B. Young, principal Tuskegee Institute High School, will discuss the topic: What shall We Teach Children in the Public Schools about our significant constitutional civic rights? about our civic objectives in American democracy?, about what we want?

Mrs. Hattie Flennoy, teacher at the Washington Public School, will discuss: What shall we teach about our present status and opportunities (1) in politics and government in Macon County, (2) in public education in Macon County, (3) in Business and public employment, (4) in public services, public welfare, public health, police protection; quality of streets, roads, lighting, sewage disposal, bus and train transportation and interracial association and cooperation?

Mrs. L. E. Carter, principal Lewis Adams School, will discuss: What shall we teach about civic resources (Alabama Course of Study, laws regulating the behavior of citizens, public officials, voters, other civic-minded citizens, selected organizations like the NAACP, Tuskegee Civic Association, Woman's Club, the Elks Lodge, available for use in the process of raising the civic status and increasing civic opportunities of Negro citizens?

Mrs. Erienne Younge, teacher at Lewis Adams School, will develop the topic: What shall we teach about the civic responsibilities, duties, activities, of citizens, pupils, students, teachers, parents, public school officials, voters, other citizens?

Tuskegee NAACP Names Delegates

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—D. L. Beasley, president Tuskegee Branch NAACP; C. G. Gomillion, chairman of the branch's executive committee, and William P. Mitchell, chairman of voter franchise committee, were elected delegates to the forty-first annual Convention of the NAACP at a recent meeting of the branch. The convention will be held in Dallas, Tex., June 29, through July 4.

NAMED PRESIDENT—D. L. Beasley (above), recently elected president of the Tuskegee Branch, NAACP, promises "to vigorously pursue the objectives of the NAACP," and called upon all of the officers to embrace the tenents set forth in resolutions adopted by the national conventions of the Association. Other officers elected were: Vice president, W. P. Mitchell; 2nd vice President, Mrs. Jessie Guzman; secretary, Mrs. Jessie P. Peterson; secretaries, Mrs. Mattie S. Bibb, Mrs. Jennie Gomillion, Mrs. Mattie McAlpine, Miss Gaudyn Glover; treasurer, Leonard Flennoy. C. G. Gomillion is chairman of the executive committee. The Association will meet in Trade "A" Building Sunday, January 24th at 3:30. Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, chairman of the community coordinating committee will direct the program.

NAACP Slates Delegates Report

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala., July 23—Three delegates who attended the recently held NAACP convention which convened in Dallas, Tex., will make their reports Sunday at the monthly meeting of the Tuskegee branch.

Mrs. Laura B. McCray and W. P. Mitchell will give details on the day by day activities of the convention with special emphasis on the recent U. S. Supreme Court decision affecting segregation in public schools. C. G. Gomillion, the third delegate in attendance, will review for the branch the resolutions adopted at the Dallas conference.

D. L. Beasley, president of the Tuskegee branch, in announcing the program, stated that the meeting Sunday will be held at Trade A Building, Tuskegee Institute campus, and will begin at 3:30 p.m.

Tuskegee NAACP To Hold Panel Discussion

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—Tuskegee Institute - A Part of the World" is subject of the panel discussion scheduled by the Tuskegee Branch NAACP at 3:30 P. M. Sunday in the Trade A Building on the Institute campus.

Lewis W. Jones, head of the Rural Life Council of Tuskegee Institute will serve as moderator of the discussion. Panelists will include Dr. Robert D. Reid, professor of History and chairman of the Department of General Studies and F. D. Nance of the Department of Sociology.

Plan NAACP State Meet For Selma

SELMA, Ala. —A banquet and a mass meeting will spotlight the three-day ninth annual convention of the Alabama State Conference of NAACP branches Nov. 13-14 at the First Baptist church, here.

State NAACP President W. C. Patton is scheduled to deliver the keynote speech, and welcome greetings will be brought by Dr. W. H. Dinkins, S. W. Boynton and the Rev. M. C. Cleveland.

The banquet meeting will hear a speech by Judge Hubert T. Delaney of New York. He will be introduced by Atty. Arthur D. Shores of Birmingham.

Prof. J. E. Pierce of Montgomery will present the honorees and preside over the "Freedom Fund Roll Call." Prof. P. L. Lindsay will serve as toastmaster with the Rev. L. C. Ravizee giving the invocation.

Walter White, of New York, NAACP executive secretary, is slated to deliver the headline speech at the mass meeting. He will be presented by Prof. C. G. Gomillion of Tuskegee institute.

Set Ala. NAACP Conference

SELMA, Ala.—A panel discussion, a state youth conference, and a business session are among features scheduled at the ninth annual meeting of the Alabama State Conference of NAACP Branches set for November 12, 13 and 15 at the Tabernacle Baptist church here.

R. L. Matthews of Montgomery will preside at the Friday afternoon session at which will be discussed the subject: "The Use of Political Techniques in the Freedom Campaign." W. P. Mitchell of Tuskegee will serve as moderator of the panel.

Registration and voting, screening candidates and checking issues and getting out the vote on election day are among sub-topics to be discussed.

The Saturday sessions will be held in the chapel of Selma university. The Rev. S. McCambell will give the invocation.

Dr. O. W. Holmes of Talladega will preside over the Saturday morning session, at which there will be a panel discussion of "Recent Decisions of the Supreme Court." Atty. Peter A. Hall, of Birmingham will serve as moderator.

Legal meaning of, and implementation of, the school case decision and the recreation decision will be examined.

The Saturday afternoon session will be presided over by J. C. Forrester of Dothan. Mrs. Ruby Hurley, NAACP regional secretary will conduct a workshop on branch function, branch organization, conducting a membership campaign and fund raising techniques.

The business session will cover reports of officers, committees and the election of officers.

Sessions of the Alabama State NAACP Youth Conference will be held Saturday, Nov. 14 in the auditorium of Selma university.

W. P. Mitchell, Mrs. McCray To Push NAACP Membership Drive

W. P. Mitchell Mrs. I. B. McCray

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. — Two veteran membership campaigners, Mrs. Laura B. McCray and W. P. Mitchell, are teaming up to conduct Fall NAACP membership drive of the Tuskegee Branch.

Branch President Daniel L. Beasley in announcing the membership campaign managers, said that the slogan adopted is "555 by '55." Plans for the enrollment drive were presented at a meeting where ministers of Tuskegee were ask to give the campaign their approval and offer suggestions for making it successful.

The campaign will be chairmaned by Mrs. McCray, with Mr. Mitchell assisting. The drive which is gauged to bring in 555 members, will be officially launched Sunday, October 24 at the Trades "A" Building, Tuskegee Institute campus. 105 workers are asked to bring in a minimum of 5 members each toward the goal.

The ministers enthusiastically accepted the program finally decided upon, and pledged themselves to go all-out in stimulating interest, and will aid in the actual solicitation of memberships. Mr. Beasley said.

He joined the chairman in urging a "fine-tooth" convassing for memberships in Macon County. The membership committee will be sharing the program Sunday with the Legal Redress Committee, headed by Otis Pinkard, who will have persons present Sunday at 3:30 p. m., who have suffered at the hands of law enforcement officers in this county. Pinkard in announcing his program, stated that freedom from police brutality, the very fundamental of all civil rights, must take priority in the Tuskegee Branch's activities until the last vestige of civil violations are wiped out in Macon County.

Talladega Negroes To Map Petition

TALLADEGA, Sept. 29 (AP) — The Talladega chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will meet here tomorrow to plan anti-segregation petitions to city and county boards.

The Rev. O. W. Holmes, president of the chapter here, said it will ask meeting with the school board to work out a plan to end segregated schools.

The petitions would follow the pattern of similar ones filed in several other Alabama counties recently.

J. KING CHANDLER

Chandler Chosen To Make Address

J. King Chandler, III, president of Daniel Payne College, Birmingham, will relate some of the history and struggles of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People when he comes to Tuskegee as the Founder's Day speaker and banquet program for the Tuskegee branch, NAACP, Friday evening.

Mr. Chandler headed the department of psychology at Talladega College prior to heading the AME church school in Birmingham, where he has been closely identified with the Birmingam branch of the NAACP, having served as Chairman of its Executive Committee. He is a graduate of Columbia University.

The Founder's Day committee, headed by Mrs. Mattie S. Bibb, announced that the response from sale of tickets to the banquet has been gratifying. Every organization in the community is asked to send at least two representatives to this program.

The program and banquet will be held in the teacher's cafeteria on the Tuskegee Institute campus, and will begin at 7:30 p.m.

See Success In 1,000-Goal NAACP Drive

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.— Mrs. Marian Davis, chairman of the 1,000-goal membership campaign conducted by the Tuskegee Branch NAACP,

Mrs. Davis

Mr. Beasley

stated that the results from the first reporting indicated that most solicitors are working very diligently to make this the most successful membership drive in the history of the branch. One solicitor reported over fifty memberships.

D. L. Beasley, president of the Tuskegee Branch, joined co-chairman L. W. Hemmons, in in asking the sixty solicitors to pass up no one in their effort to secure at least ten memberships by the end of the drive.

State NAACP Plans Fight To Resist Legal Sidesteps

By JACK FREEMAN

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Alabama unequivocally and uncompromisingly endorsed the "Atlanta Declaration" at a meeting held here yesterday. The meeting was attended by some 200 Alabama Negro leaders.

The Atlanta Declaration pledged the toal resources of the NAACP to "this great project of ending the artificial separation of America's children on the irrelevant basis of race and color."

The Alabama group also pledged in a statement to the public to resist with every legal means any effort to circumvent the law. "Those who speak of the 'equalization' of schools," the statement said, "speak only for themselves."

Col. A. T. Walden, chairman of the NAACP legal redress committee in Georgia, echoed these sentiments at an afternoon session held at the Metropolitan Methodist Church.

"Some of us say we are moving too fast," he said. "When you are 300 years behind, how fast should you go to catch up"

Walden paid tribute to Thurgood Marshall, NAACP lawyer who pleaded the segregation case before the Supreme Court. Comparing him to John Marshall, considered the first great chief justice of the court, Walden cited the NAACP lawyer's record of 34 rulings in his favor out of 35 cases pleaded.

"This decision," Walden said "is one of the true declarations of the rights of man formulated in America." But, he warned, there would be problems.

Sixty years passed before the 14th Amendment, designed to protect the Negro, did the Negro any good, he said. In contrast, he said the NAACP had set 1963 as a goal by which all legal barriers keeping the Negro from first-class citizenship should be removed.

The "growing realization" that a colored man's dollar and his vote are as good as a white man's is an important weapon in the fight for equality, he said.

In this fight, he said, the Negro can expect help from northern industrialists who would not risk investment capital in areas of racial strike and unrest.

"We can — and must—receive help from the thousands of white people who have believed all along that segregation was wrong, but were afraid to speak for fear of political retaliation," he said.

The group drew up a declaration, "What the Alabama Negro Group Wants," to be presented to state officials. The preamble to the declaration says the Negro "wants what every other citizen wants, no more, no less."

W. C. Patton of Birmingham, Alabama NAACP president, presided at the meeting.

NAACP Branches Of Alabama Will Honor Bishop Spotswood

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. May 30—Bishop Stephen G. Spotswood of the AME Zion Church, will be honored by the State Conference of NAACP Branches when the [illegible] Montgomery as the guest speaker in observance of the "Spotswood Day."

Bishop James Clinton Taylor, of Montgomery and chief of the Sixth Episcopal AMEZion District is co-sponsoring this program which will be held at Old Ship AME Zion Church, Montgomery, Sunday, June 27.

All of the AME Zion churches of Alabama are urged to send official representatives to the "Spotswood Day" program, which will begin at 3 p.m.

W. C. Patton, president of the State Conference of NAACP Branches in announcing this program stated that while efforts would be made at this state-wide rally to secure funds towards Alabama's share of the $1,000,000 goal of the national office's "Fighting Fund for Freedom," the rally is primarily designed to give honor to Bishop Spotswood, who for many years, has been identified with the program.

Bishop Spotswood is from Washington, D.C., having served for a long time as president of the District of Columbia Branch of the NAACP. He served as a national director of the organization and as regional church committee chairman of it.

"Every AME Zion in Alabama is called upon to make "Spotswood Day" an outstanding success, and thus make a contribution to the cause which Bishop Spotswood has given so liberally of his time and substance," Patton said. The state president said further that the meeting is opened to every freedom-loving citizen of Alabama.

Mrs. Beulah C. Johnson, of Tuskegee Institute, is chairman of the "Spotswood Day" committee. The Rev. P. M. Marshall is pastor of Old Ship AME Zion Church, which is located on Holcombe St. in Montgomery.

Legislative Committee Set For Parley At Tuskegee

By VERNON McDANIEL

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE — For Sunday June 27 members of the Tuskegee branch, the legislative committee has planned an interesting program. Featured on the program will be alderman-elect David L. May, Crowley, La., and Principal Lawrence L. Shannon, Inman, S. C.

Alderman-elect May is principal of Ross High School in Crowley. He has held numerous positions in professional, fraternal and civic organizations: president of Louisiana Interscholastic Athletic and Literary Association, chairman of Finance Committee, superintendent and teacher of Morning Star Baptist Church Sunday School, commander of American Miller Post No. 506, district chairman of Sevent District of American Legion, auditor for the People's Investment Company, member of Governing Board of Crowley Recreational Association and Southern University Alumni Federation, alderman-elect May is a 32 degree Mason and will appear on the Grand Lodge program June 22.

NAACP Represented

Members of the local NAACP branch feel highly honored in having Mr. May as speaker and invite the general public to share in this inspiring experience. For Mr. May and his fellow townsman, Joseph A. Peter are the first Negroes to win seats on a city council in Louisiana since Reconstruction days.

Principal Lawrence L. Shannon, Inman, is employed in Clarendon County, South Carolina school system.

He is principal of Mary McLeod Bethune Consolidated School in Inman and is a member of the Palmetto Education Association, American Teachers Association, National Vocational Teachers Association and the Episcopal Church.

The speakers are participants in the Tuskegee Regional Principal's workshop.

TO ATTEND NAACP CONVENTION — Mrs. Laura C. McCray, and Mrs. Beulah C. Johnson will attend the annual NAACP convention which will convene in Dallas, Texas June 29, July 4. Mrs. McCray pictured will go as an alternate to D. L. Beasley, president of the Tuskegee Branch who discovered that he could not attend. Mrs. Johnson is going as an alternate and will serve as a delegate during the absences of either of the three delegates from the floor of the sessions. Other delegates attending are: C. G. Gomillion, chairman of the Branch's executive committee, and William P. Mitchell, vice president of the Tuskegee Branch.

Tuskegee Leader To Attend 4-5th NAACP Conference

C. G. GOMILLION

D. L. BEASLEY

W. P. MITCHELL

Chairman Executive Committee

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. — Top officials of the Tuskegee Branch NAACP are delegates to the 45th Annual Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, June 29 - July 4 in Dallas Texas.

They are C. G. Gomillion, chairman of the branch executive committee; D. L. Beasley, president, President NAACP Branch, Chairman Voter Franchise Comm. Tuskegee Branch NAACP and W. P. Mitchell chairman of the branch voter franchise committee.

Alternate delegates are Mrs. Laura C. McCray, Mrs. Hattie S. West and Mrs. Beulah C. Johnson.

Plan To Start Drive To Open U. Of Alabama

SELMA, Ala. — (SNS) — A legal battle to "open up" the University of Alabama to Negroes looms large in the plans of the NAACP, it was reported Sunday.

Mrs. Constance Baker Motley NAACP attorney of New York City made public these plans at the closing session of the Alabama State conference of the association here.

Sharing the spotlight with Atty Motley was W. C. Patton of Birmingham, who was elected to a fourth one-year term as president of the Alabama State Conference of the association's branches.

Mrs. Motley said:

"We will open up the law school, the medical school and the graduate school, and any other school Negroes want to attend."

She also told of efforts to abolish segregation in railroad cars and waiting rooms. A suit for this purpose is now pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission, she explained.

"We plan to attack segregation in local buses and anything else that reporters he felt that atlhough this "doesn't justify" McCarthy's treatment of Zwicker it still "doesn't warrant formal censure." He added that if he had been in McCarthy's place he "would have been damned mad" about the Peters case while questioning Zwicker.

32b 1954

NAACP

ALABAMA

'Skegee NAACP Seeks Members; Hears Report On "Horn Case"

World Birmingham, Ala.

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — Members of the Tuskegee Branch NAACP last Sunday at a meeting kicking-off their annual membership drive heard a report from their legal redress committee on new developments in the "Willie Horn Case."

Otis Pinkard, chairman of the branch's legal redress committee reported that he learned that a policeman allegedly involved in the incident in which Horn alllegedly was a recent victim of brutality served on the 18-man Grand Jury which no-billed the case.

The Birmingham World Wednesday was able to verify the report that former City Policeman Donald Scott served on the Grand Jury which heard the case. It could not be determined whether Mr. Scott excused himself when "Horn Case" came up. Under Alabama law it takes the vote of 12 of the 18 members of the Grand Jury to indict. In organizing such a body, a judge normally would select the first 18 names he pulls from the jury box. Macon County has an estimated 500 names on the jury list.

Pinkard said in addition to Policeman Scott, Police Lee Nichols, Tom and Ed Wilson, the latter two filling proprietors, were mentioned in connection with the case. But the Grand Jury cleared all the names allegedly connected with the case, it was learned.

Another reporting meeting of the campaign is scheduled for tonight.

In another phase of the double billing of the Sunday meeting saw members of the Tuskegee Institute College Chapter of the NAACP render pop songs which were designed to give the fall membership campaign of the adult branch an enthusiastic kick-off.

Sun. 10-29-54

With a slogan "555 by '55" which alludes to a goal of 555 new members by the end of the year, Mrs. Laura B. McCrary, campaign chairman vowed to reach this goal by the fourth Sunday of November.

C. G. Gomillion, chairman of the branch's executive committee, gave some background to the 105 solicitors as they received their "kits" containing campaign material. He urged complete cooperation from everyone in the branch's effort to secure its goal.

Finally, Mrs. McCrary called on each of the 105 workers to begin making contacts in order to assure themselves of a minimum of five new memberships by November 28.

Mrs. Gibbs To Be Honored As NAACP Woman Of '54'

World-Birmingham, Ala.

SELMA, Ala. — (SNS) — One of Alabama's most influential women, Mrs. H. M. Gibbs of Tuscaloosa, is scheduled to be honored as "Alabama's NAACP Woman of 1954" at the ninth annual meeting of the Alabama State Conference of NAACP Branches set for Nov. 12-14 here.

MRS. H. M. GIBBS

She will be presented a plaque at the convention's wind-up mass meeting scheduled for three o'clock Sunday afternoon, Nov. 14 at First Baptist Church. Walter White of New York will be the featured speaker at the program.

Mrs. Gibbs is president of the potent Alabama Baptist Woman's Convention, a position she has held for 32 years. She was elected to this post in 1922 at the convention held at the Sixth Avenue Baptist Church in Birmingham.

Under her effective and far-visioned leadership Baptist women in Alabama have been able to achieve many things which will benefit others and the Negro group.

Mrs. Gibbs said: "One of the biggest achievements of this organization was the erection of the Henrietta M. Gibbs Dining Hall on the campus of Selma University in 1953. The building and equipment, costing around $50,000, was paid for cash. We are proud of this contribution and pray that it will serve Selma University many years."

She relates: "As president of the Anna M. Duncan Club, a federated Club of Montgomery, I found opportunities to help even the least of these as our club was called on frequently to help many needy people of this city."

Sun. 11-7-54

"During my tenure of office as president of the Alabama Federation of Colored Women's Clubs (now the Alabama Association of Women's Clubs-ed), the Federation began a Scholarship to aid worthy young women of Alabama attain a college education. These young women through this organization were given an opportunity to prepare themselves for higher service to humanity."

In 1945 Mrs. Gibbs was elected treasurer of the National Baptist Woman's Convention Auxiliary to the National Baptist Convention, Inc. In 1947 she was appointed by the president of the Auxiliary to be the latter's representative at the meeting of the World Baptist Alliance held in Copenhagen, Denmark.

Relates Mrs. Gibbs: "In July, 1950 my family united at our home to share in a Golden Wedding Anniversary celebration with my husband and me. Present for the occasion were my daughter, son, daughter-in-law, son-in-law, and two grand daughters, along with many friends who came to extend felicitations on this occasion."

In January, 1931, Mrs. Gibbs husband, James A. Gibbs, a railway postal clerk, died. Following his death, she moved to Tuscaloosa to live with her daughter.

World Nov. 14 54

Mrs. Gibbs was born in West Point, Miss. where she later taught school. She was married in 1907, moving to Montgomery where she connected with the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church. At one time she was president of the Missionary Society of this church. She also served as church treasurer and as a member of the board of trustees.

In announcing the recognition voted to Mrs. Gibbs by the state NAACP, W. C. Patton, Birmingham, president of the conference said she "is an ardent supporter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People." She is a trustee of the Grand Chapter of Eastern Star.

With her pocketbook, voice, prestige and presence, Mrs. Gibbs has supported the program of the NAACP. She threw her weight behind the campaign to get rid o fthe Boswell Amendment. She went to bat for money for the Alabama Educational Fund which is set up to finance action to open the doors of the all-white state supported professional and related institutions to Negro persons. She has open the way for NAACP speakers to bring the message of freedom and first-class citizenship to the Baptist women of Alabama.

Sun. 11-7-54

Meantime the state NAACP has named Aaron Seller of Midway, Ala. as the "Alabama Man of the Year." Mr. Sellers led the fight to restore the opportunity for Negro citizens in Bullock County to register to vote. He is president of the Midway Branch NAACP and was one of the four litigants in the cause in which U. S. Judge C. B. Kennamer found the Bullock County Board of Registrars guilty of racial discrimination in denying Negro citizens the ballot in that county.

Patton Re-elected To Head State Conference Of NAACP

World Birmingham, Ala. 11/16

SELMA, Ala. — (SNS) — W. C Patton of Birmingham was elected to a fourth one-year term as president of the Alabama State Conference of NAACP Branches without opposition at the ninth annual convention here Saturday afternoon at Tabernacle Baptist Church.

The three-day convention which opened Friday, Nov. 12 closed out Sunday with a mass meeting at First Baptist Church at which Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, New York City, was the feature speaker. She is a member of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, Inc. and the association chief trial lawyer in housing cases. Currently she is assisting with the legal attack on the Medical Center Relocation Project in Birmingham.

Ala. 11-16-54

Delegates selected Eufaula as their 1955 convention city.

Judge Hubert C. Delaney of New York was guest speaker at the annual Freedom Baptist held Saturday night in Gibbs Dining Hall on the campus of Selma University.

At the Saturday business session delegates adopted a series of resolutions which included vigorous opposition to segregation, calling for increased voter-registration, urging qualified Negro leaders to run for public office, asking the removal of the "white supremacy" symbol from the Democratic Party ballot in Alabama and expanded NAACP work in this state.

Mr. Patton in his report-type keynote address reviewed the state NAACP-sponsored cases during the past year won and pending: suggested that 11 new branches had been organized with a combined membership of 6,231; recounted the fund-raising projects promoted and estimated that there are between 75,000 and 100,000 Negro voters in Alabama.

He said that he had "stumped this state in the interest of awakening and getting our people to register and qualify to vote." He added: "we consider this decision of the Bullock County vote case a great victory." (Members of the Bullock County Board of Registrars were sued for alleged wrongful denial of Negro applicants the opportunity to register as voters. U. S. Judge C. B. Kennamer found the registrars guilty of racial discrimination in administering voter-registration).

"Many persons who are at liberty or have been spared from the clutches of the electric chair may have been otherwise if it had not been for your N. A. A. C. P.," he asserted.

On desegregation he said: "To date five branches have filed petitions - others are ready to file now." He cautioned: "While we are anxious to get started on this 'school segregation' program, care must be taken to assure sound thinking and actions in the matter."

A follow-up panel discussion on several phrases of civil rights and court decisions came Saturday morning. Panelists were Attys. Peter A. Hall, Orzell Billingsley, Jr. and Arthur D. Shores of Birmingham and Daniel E. Byrd of New Orleans, La.

Others re-elected with Mr. Patton were Dr. G. A. Rodgers, Jr. of Anniston, first-vice-president; Mrs. G. R. Lee, Birmingham, financial secretary; R. L. Matthews, Montgomery; treasurer and Mrs. Lucinda Brown Robey, Birmingham, youth directress.

Among the new officers elected were W. P. Mitchell of Tuskegee, second vice-president and Mrs. Ida Mae Hullinger, Brewton, recording secretary. Clarence Davis of Birmingham was elected to the board of directors. Other board members were re-elected.

Mr. Byrd during the question period on the court decisions panel suggested the organization of a statewide committee on school desegregation and the organization of a statewide credit union to offset economic pressure.

A bus load of 32 NAACP youth members from Birmingham attended the Alabama NAACP Youth Conference.

The three-day meeting opened last Friday morning at which time there was a panel discussion of political action. Speakers listed included Mr. Mitchell, C. G. Gomillion of Tuskegee Institute and Alex L. Herman of Mobile.

Mrs. Ruby Hurley, Birmingham, NAACP regional secretary and Mr. Byrd led a panel on branch functions.

W. C. Patton To Deliver Keynote Talk At NAACP

World Birmingham, Ala. 11/12

SELMA, Ala. — W. C. Patton of Birmingham is scheduled to head a list of headline speakers for the three-day ninth annual meeting of the Alabama State Conference of NAACP Branches when he keynotes the opening session tonight at Tabernacle Baptist Church.

ATTY. CONSTANCE B. MOTLEY

The conference will close Sunday with a giant mass meeting to be addressed by Atty. Constance Baker Motley a member of the NAACP legal staff and Walter White, national NAACP executive secretary, both of New York City. The meeting will be held at First Baptist Church.

However, Mr. White has been ill in New York and has not been accepting any speaking engagements. But NAACP convention leaders here still list his name as co-feature speaker for the climax session. Meantime the listing of the name of Mrs. Motley as a speaker on the Sunday mass meeting program placed a question mark on the appearance of Mr. White.

Reports of officers and committees together with the election of officers will spotlight the Saturday business session. Mr. Patton has indicated he is willing to continue as president of the conference.

The business meeting is scheduled for 3:30 Saturday afternoon, Nov. 13. That night Judge Hubert T. Delaney of the Domestic Relations Court, New York City, will be guest speaker at the annual "Freedom Banquet" scheduled to be held in Gibbs Dining Hall of Selma University. Dr. G. A. Rodgers, Jr., of Anniston will preside at the Sunday session.

Officers of the conference include: Mr. Patton of Birmingham, president, who will deliver the keynote address at the Friday night, Nov. 12 welcome session; Dr. Rodgers, vice-president; Mrs. G. R. Lee, of Birmingham, secretary of Finance; Mrs. A. B. Crayne of Fairfield, recording secretary; R. L. Matthews of Montgomery, treasurer and Mrs. Lucinda Brown Robey of Birmingham, director of youth activities.

Members of the board of directors include Mr. Patton, chairman; J. C. Forrester, Dothan; J. L. LeFlore, Mobile; Mrs. Beulah C. Johnson, Tuskegee; Emory O. Jackson, Birmingham; S. W. Boynton, Selma; W. P. Mitchell, Tuskegee and Miss Barbara Gardner, Talladega College.

Ala. 11-12-54

Committee chairman are Atty. Peter A. Hall, Birmingham, legal redress; the Rev. J. L. Ware, Birmingham, church; Mr. Matthews, finance J. E. Pierce, Montgomery, registration; C. G. Gomillion, Tuskegee, resolution and J. C. Forrester, Dothan public recreation.

Key officers of the host branch include the Rev. J. D. Hunter, president; Miss Tommie L. Johnson, secretary and Dr. W. H. Dinkins, treasurer.

Theme of the convention is "Democratizing Human Relations in Alabama."

Convention headquarters will be at Tabernacle Baptist Church, 1431 Broad Street, Selma, Ala.

In addition to the general sessions there will be panel discussion on political action, desegregation, branch functions and a goals-and-gains report from branch workers.

Daniel E. Byrd, of New Orleans, field worker for the NAACP legal Defense and Educational Fund and Mrs. Ruby Hurley of Birmingham regional NAACP secretary, will be among other conference speakers.

On the Sunday afternoon program Mrs. H. M. Gibbs of Tuscaloosa will be cited as the "NAACP Woman of the Year" and Aaron Sellers of Midway as the "NAACP Man of the Year." Mrs. Johnson of Tuskegee and Mr. Boynton of Selma will also be cited.

Approximately 100 delegates from the 31 NAACP branches listed for Alabama are scheduled to be in attendance.

DELEGATES TO THE ANNUAL NAACP CONVENTION — D. L. Beasley, president Tuskegee Branch NAACP; C. G. Gomillion, chairman of the branch's executive committee, and William P. Mitchell, chairman of the voter franchise committee, were elected delegates to the 45th Annual Convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at a meeting of the branch. The convention will be held in Dallas, Texas, June 29, 1954, through July 4th. It is expected that considerable time will be given to making plans for the implimentation of the U. S. Supreme Court decision affecting public school segregation at these sessions. Alternate delegates elected to attend the convention are: Mrs. Laura C. McCray, Mrs. Hattie S. West, and Mrs. Beulah C. Johnson.

32b 1954

NAACP

ALABAMA

Tuskegee NAACP Hears Reports

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. Nov. 23—Mrs. Elizabeth T. Allen who had not reported memberships in either of the previous two reportings, surged forward to turn in 23 memberships, to tie with the president, D. L. Beasley, during the check up period.

The next best was Miss Thelma Lucas with 21 NAACP memberships. Over 250 new memberships have been collected in the branch's goal of "555."

The chairman, Mrs. McCray, stated that "I am quite pleased with the showings" and emphasized that, "There are no prizes or awards connected with this project."

The Rev. S. T. Martin, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist Church, will officially close this five week drive when he speaks at a gigantic mass meeting Sunday, Nov. 28, at the Trades "A" Building, Tuskegee Institute campus. The nationally famous Chantresses will provide music for the occasion.

Advertiser Montgomery Ala. P.10 B Wed. 11-24-54

'Skegee NAACP Meets Tonight

World Birmingham, Ala.

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—Membership reporting meeting for the Tuskegee Branch NAACP is scheduled for tonight.

At the semi-final turn-in-memberships meeting Mrs. Laly C. Washington reported 18 new members to forge ahead of the field of 111 solicitors.

Fri: 11-19-54

She overtook Miss Lucas, last week's leader, who has a total of 12.

Other totals are —/Mrs. Woodie Pryce, 10; Mrs. Beulah C. Johnson, 7, while W. P. Mitchell, D. L. Beasley, Mrs. H. L. Joyner and George Williams remained at 10, 8, 5 and 5 respectively.

The campaign has two more weeks to run. The closing date is Sunday, November 28. Mrs. L. B. McCray, Chairman, is urging continued interim reporting by the 111 solicitors each Friday night. She announced that the churches of Tuskegee would have charge of the fourth Sunday program at which time they are to report their memberships. The Rev. S. T. Martin, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist Church, will be the speaker at the membership mass meeting which will officially close the campaign.

Mr. Beasley, president of the branch; Mrs. L. B. McCray, Mrs. Johnson and Mr. Mitchell were delegates to the Ninth Annual State Conference NAACP Branches held in Salma, Alabama, Nov. 12-14. Mrs. Johnson and C. G. Gomillion, who was in attendance and introduced Attorney Constance Motley of New York, were re-elected to the state conference Executive Board and W. P. Mitchell was elected second Vice President of the State NAACP.

Tuskegee NAACP branch tops membership quota

Chronicle 32

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — The Tuskegee NAACP branch exceeded its 555 quota in its membership campaign recently by two memberships.

Among the 111 workers reporting new memberships at a meeting on Tuskegee's campus last week, Mrs. Thelma Lucas led the group with a total of 57. Mrs. Elizabeth Allen was second with 40, and D. L. Beasley placed third with 37.

W. P. Mitchell, cochairman of the drive, said that additional memerships brought the branch beyond the 1,000 membership mark for the first time since World War I.

Pittsburgh Pa. 11-27-54

MRS. LULA C. COX, representing Zeta Sigma Theta chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, presented C. B. Gomillion, chairman of the life membership committee, $100 payment on a $500 life membership.

The purchase was the sixth life membership fee bought from the local branch.

The Rev. S. T. Martin, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist Church, Tuskegee, was guest speaker. He said that the greatest asset a person can have is the capacity to hope and to dream.

The next meeting will be held in the Trade "A" Building at Tuskegee. D. L. Beasley is president of the branch and Mrs. Laura B. McCray, chairman of the membership committee.

NAACP to file briefs Nov. 15

Afro-American Baltimore Md

NEW YORK — Briefs are scheduled to be filed before the U.S. Supreme Court by Nov. 15 on the method for desegregating public schools, according to Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the NAACP.

11-13-54

The high court, in its historic May 17 decision, ruled that segregation in the nation's public schools is unconstitutional, but it scheduled another hearing on Dec. 6 to consider arguments on how quickly and by what method it was to be ended.

766 Delegates

Hail Eisenhower At NAACP Meet

DALLAS, Tex.—President Eisenhower's executive action to end segregation and his support of anti-bias court rulings "decisively bashed Dixiecrat hopes that he would be guided by them on this fundamental issue of racial equality," Walter White told the closing session of the NAACP's forty-fifth annual convention.

Sharing the platform in the Dallas Sportatorium was Dr. Ralph J. Bunch.

Upon his arrival here, Dr. Bunche was met by a motorcade and given a police escort to the home of his host, the Rev. Dr. Ernest C. Estell, pastor of St. John Baptist Church.

* * *

THE 766 DELEGATES from forty states and the District of Columbia and thousands of persons from all over Texas crowded the auditorium to hear the internationally famed diplomat and the long-time executive head of the NAACP.

Mr. White commended the President "for what he has done to continue the battle to abolish segregation in the armed services and in the nation's capital. It is a privilege and an honor to pay tribute here in Texas to what the President has done in this field . . . We hope that he will learn from experience that the excellent President's Committee on Government Contracts can do only a part of the job and that effective legislation against bias in employment must be enacted."

At a Freedom Fund rally and dinner, local and state units of the association made contributions totaling $19,000.

Previously, Edward R. Dudley, special assistant in charge of the Fight for Freedom Fund told the cheering delegates that in the first six months of the year $240,000 had been raised for the fund. The sum, he pointed out, did not include $23,000 in life memberships, nor funds contributed for special purposes in achieving the goal of the Fight for Freedom—complete emancipation by Jan. 1, 1963, the centennial of Lincoln's Proclamation.

Accepting the thirty-ninth Spingarn Medal, Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, noted Chicago dermatologist, told delegates the NAACP "are a proud symbol of the growing conviction among free people that human welfare must be the primary concern of democratic society."

* * *

THE COVETED award was presented to Dr. Lawless by Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of the College of the City of New York and a member of the NAACP Board of Directors.

The NAACP will not "stand idly by while the enemies of the democratic process in the person of public officials . . . hold closed-door conferences for the publicity announced purpose of devising ways and means of evading the Court's ruling," Dr. Channing H. Tobias warned in his keynote address.

A crowd of more than 1,500 packed the Good Street Baptist Church and heard the chairman of the Association's National Board of Directors gave assurance that the NAACP will "lean over backwards in efforts to help honest, efficient teachers in the solution of their problems but will not deal gently with those congenital 'Uncle Toms' who have a vested interest in segregation and are willing to sell their people 'down the river' in order to save their own skins."

Dr. Tobias added, the NAACP would not "be sympathetic with those teachers who are too lazy to prepare themselves for the larger and more exacting responsibilities of integration."

Six reasons why Dixie will desegregate calmly

DALLAS, Texas (NNPA)—Six reasons why desegregation in public life in the South will come about calmly and without trouble were cited by Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, here Monday.

He cited the following factors:

1. White southern young men who have served in racially mixed units in the Armed Forces.
2. Church organizations.
3. Southern white students who have attended recently desegregated graduate and professional schools in the South.
4. The tremendous cost of building "separate but equal" schools for colored children.
5. The growing number of qualified colored voters.
6. The growth of the purchasing power of colored people.

Cost Prohibative

White estimated that it would cost $1,850,000,000 to equalize school facilities in the South and another $250,000,000 annually for maintenance.

"The South needs this money for roads, hospitals, sewers and water systems," he said, "because of its growing economy. I am sure Southerners would not want to deprive these projects of money for building segregated schools."

White was certain that there would be no turning back from the Supreme Court decision in the school segregation cases, but granted that delaying tactics might be used.

Desegregation Begun

He pointed out, however, that some areas already have become desegregated in West Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky and Arkansas.

He asserted that there should be no difficulty in placing colored teachers in mixed schools because there is a terrific shortage of teachers.

Incompetent colored teachers, he added, do not belong in colored schools either.

White said he felt white and colored children would get along fine "if we let the kids alone—if we grownups don't poison their minds."

Local Schools Get Period To Desegregate

DALLAS, Tex. — (INS) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Wednesday set a goal of September, 1955 for the end of segregation in public schools. At the same time they announced a three-pronged program for desegregation in recreation, intrastate transportation and housing.

At the same time they announced a three-pronged program for desegregation in recreation, intrastate transportation and housing.

Reporting results of a two-day lawyers conference in connection with the annual convention of the organization in session in Dallas, special counsel Thurgood Marshall said NAACP lawyers plan to negotiate with local school boards to bring an end to segregation in compliance with the U. S. Supreme Court order.

"Conferences will be aimed at getting schools desegregated on a voluntary compliance basis," he said, "we will negotiate as long as the school boards will negotiate in good faith. The time limit that has been set up is not later than September of 1955."

NO COURT ACTION

He stressed that the NAACP will not go into court within the time limit until his organization is convinced he school boards will not follow the law.

First on the priority list after the school question is settled will be the fields of recreation, intrastate transportation and housing. The three programs will be carried out simultaneously, with housing having priority on the west coast, and intra-state transportation in the southeast and southwest.

Marshall revealed that there is now considerable controversy among sociologists as to whether desegregation should be sudden or preceded by an educational program. Present studies indicate sudden integration is preferable, he said.

NAACP POSITION

Explaining the NAACP's stand on desegregation since the Supreme Court's order, Marshall said his organization is not negotiating with various administrative agencies as to whether there will be desegregation, but rather how it will come about.

"Our job now is to try to stop certain states from preventing (by the Supreme Court order) integration among people who want to associate with one another."

Marshall was scheduled to address the general convention last night.

The convention closes Sunday with addresses by Walter White, veteran race equality champion, and Dr. Ralph Bunche, top-ranking American of the United Nations Secretariat.

HITS ADMINISTRATION

At an afternoon session a high-ranking NAACP official charged that there is "strong evidence" that the Eisenhower administration has "deliberately blocked possible action by the legislative branch in the field of civil rights."

Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington Bureau, called the record of the administration "incredibly shabby" and a "complete failure" insofar as taking any positive action in the field of civil rights.

But he added that what he call-

Over 700 In Dallas For Meet

DALLAS, Tex. — Faced with segregation on every side, the NAACP, meeting in its forty-fifth annual convention here, pledged itself to continue an all-out, non-compromising war against jim crow in all forms.

September, 1955, was the deadline set for full integration of schools and 1963 was the deadline for first-class citizenship for all American citizens regardless of race, color or creed as the association announced its time table to more than 700 delegates plus hundreds of visitors who jammed Dallas last week.

DALLAS, Tex. — One of the most significant statements made during the NAACP convention came from the lips of Robert L. Carter, assistant to special counsel Thurgood Marshall, who predicted an end to segregation on interstate transportation "possibly within sixty days."

While the delegates listened to many top speakers outline the program of this war against discrimination and laud racial advances that have been made during recent years, they were forced to struggle under the inconvenience of inadequate housing because downtown Dallas hotels would not admit Negroes, and poor transportation because only Negro taxicabs would transport colored persons.

Many private homes were opened in an attempt to accommodate the convention. One small downtown hotel was crammed to capacity, while two air-conditioned motels for Negroes and two other motels, usually reserved for whites, were swamped although they were a far distance from the site of the meetings.

The turning over of the two latter motels and a few white cabs were the only showing of cooperation made by Dallas whites.

The meetings were highlighted by special messages which came from President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Arthur B. Spingarn, president of the NAACP; Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, President Walter F. Reuther of the CIO, Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, president of the National Council of Negro Women, and Democratic leader, Adlai Stevenson.

On hand to address the meetings, which were held in the St. John Baptist Church and the Good Street Baptist Church, were Dr. Channing H. Tobias, president of the board, who delivered the keynote address; Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel; Walter White, executive secretary; George S. Mitchell, executive director, Southern Regional Council; Dr. Margaret Just Butcher, Washington, D. C., Board of Education, and James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO.

Thurgood Marshall, addressing the meeting following a closed-door three-day meeting of top NAACP officials and more than 100 attorneys, told the association:

"We will negotiate as long as there is substantial evidence of good faith on the part of the school authorities. By September, 1955, if a school board has not been able to integrate, but its good faith is unquestioned and a method is within grasp, we would continue negotiations.

"But if we are then convinced that a school board will not follow the law and there is no longer good faith involved, we will petition in behalf of aggrieved parents and take the case into the courts to get the full measure of compliance."

Dr. Tobias in the keynote address told the group: "... Negro leaders will not stand idly by while enemies of democracy hold closed-door conferences for the purpose of devising ways of evading the court's ruling."

Dr. Tobias warned against "smear artists" who try to paint civil rights leaders "red." He called attention to the recent attempt to brand Dr. Bunche as disloyal.

Attorney Marshall revealed that the next legal battles for the NAACP will be fought in the arena of transportation. Also coming up are "the elimination of racial bias in the fields of housing, intra-state transportation facilities, and tax-supported recreation facilities with emphasis on children's playgrounds and parks."

Included among the many messages read to the meeting was the one from President Eisenhower who told the group:

"We have passed in 1954 a milestone of social advance in the United States. The social and political maturity of our people evidenced by the reception given the recent Supreme Court decision is of great significance to our nation and to the cause of freedom in the world."

Democratic leader Adlai E. Stevenson wired:

"You will, I am confident, be aware of the great responsibility which every citizen bears in helping to work out in a sympathetic and orderly way the problems that lie ahead. I have every confidence that the exercise of good will and reason will go a long way to advance the ideals of a democratic society."

Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of the City College of New York, said Saturday night that the American Negro's rise in the past fifteen years has seen a major "revolution in the basic customs of the entire nation."

Dr. Gallagher spoke at ceremonies for the presentation of the Spingarn Medal to Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, Chicago dermatologist, who was honored for his work in using radium in the treatment of cancer.

32b 1954

NAACP

DR. JOHN W. DAVIS

To Aid Negro Educators In Segregation States

The New York Times

Dr. John W. Davis

The appointment of Dr. John W. Davis to head a new department of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., was announced yesterday by Thurgood Marshall, director of the fund.

Dr. Davis' department was created to "protect Southern Negro teachers, principals and administrative personnel against loss of jobs in the transition from segregated to non-segregated schools."

From 1919 to 1953, Dr. Davis served as president of West Virginia State College at Institute, W. Va. More recently he has been director of the United States Foreign Operations Administration in Liberia. He said yesterday he would begin a survey soon of seventeen Southern states where there is segregation.

Negroes to Obey Court's Ruling, Marshall Says

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 23 (AP)—Negroes will abide by the Supreme Court ruling on segregation and expect others to do likewise, says the man who has led the legal fight to open public schools to all races.

Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, promised his race will follow a line of "complete cooperation—not upheaval" whatever the court decides.

In an interview the Negro leader said he is expecting something more than a "separate but equal" ruling from the court.

For more than 50 years the nation's highest court has held to a doctrine that segregated schools are lawful provided they offer equal facilities.

* * *

MARSHALL EXPRESSED the belief that it would take four or five years to achieve integration of races in the public schools.

In some sections like Alabama's densely Negro populated Blackbelt, the Washington, D.C., attorney conceded that a Supreme Court decision "that we are legally right would have little effect for 30 years."

"But it must be gradual," he said, "and it must be done through cooperation at the local level."

Court Decision Spurs NAACP Fund Raising

NEW YORK — Spurred by the Supreme Court decision banning segregation in public schools, local units of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People stepped up their membership campaigns with several branches exceeding their goals.

With two more weeks remaining for its campaign, the Detroit branch has passed the 6,000 mark. The Los Angeles branch has enrolled 4,050 new members and is driving toward a goal of 5,000. Cincinnati concluded its campaign with 4,611 members.

The Pasadena, Calif., branch registered a 50 per cent increase over the 1953 membership and now has 1,211 members, the largest number in its history. Dr. I. B. English is president of the branch and C. Edward Singer, campaign director.

Down in Texas, the San Antonio branch under leadership of Emerson Marcee, president, and T. E. Gilmore, campaign director, enrolled 1,904 members as compared with 1,300 in 1953. The Rochester, N. Y., branch enrolled 1,300 members and raised more than $5,000 with nearly half of the members paying more than the minimum $2.00 fee.

Branches from all sections of the country will report on membership campaigns and Fight for Freedom funds at a dinner meeting at 45th annual NAACP convention in Dallas on July 1. The court rulings have accelerated competition among branches to see which will report the greatest increases in membership and in funds raised. The Association is seeking to raise $1,000,000 this year for the Fight for Freedom

Eastland says CIO gave NAACP $75,000

BRANDON, Miss., June 11—(AP)—Sen. Eastland (D., Miss.) told a Civic Club dinner the CIO contributed $75,000 to the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People to help break down school segregation.

The senator said last night he has "profound admiration . . . and complete confidence in the Mississippi bench and bar. When the battle lines are formed, they will be right out in front."

Objecting to the recent U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing public school segregation, Eastland said public sentiment is the law, "regardless of court decisions and what may be written in statute books.

"Our people have a right to govern themselves, to determine their own way of living, to pick and choose their social contacts. This is the true spirit of democracy and it will eventually triumph. . . ."

College youth hail high court decision

State NAACP challenges youngsters to 'join hands now'

DURHAM, N.C. — The Vice-Presidents of the North Carolina State Conference of NAACP Youth Councils and College Chapters last week released a joint statement commending the recent Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

Miss Jolee Fritz, divinity school student at Duke University, and David W. Stith, law school student at North Carolina College at Durham, presented this challenge to the youth of North Carolina:

"We feel that this decision—long-overdue—is in keeping with the democratic ideals of our American Government. We urge the youth of North Carolina and the nation to join hands and show the world that we can make democracy work.

Great Step Taken

"We realize that there is still a long road ahead in the securing of equal rights for all citizens but a great step has been taken.

Above the mumble and grumble of politicans and reactionaries who want to maintain the status quo, we remind the youth that WE are the ones who will be direcly affected by this historic decision.

"We believe that intelligent white people consider the statements made by Governor Talmadge and other reactionary politicans a disgrace to American democracy and do not think that they speak for the majority of American citizens.

"We should not look on this decision or merely as something we have to obey, but as a challenge to every American youth—as both a responsibility and an opportunity for valuable experience and training as future leaders in a world which is just learning how peoples of all nations, creeds and colors can work together toward a common goal.

'Significant Blow'

"This decision is a significant blow stuck against Communist propaganda which says that democracy denies right to minority groups.

"If democracy is to win its battle against communism, all Americans must work together to see that the Supreme Court's decision is acted upon as quickly and efficiently as possible.

"We call upon the youth of America, North and South, colored and white, to stand firmly upon our American heritage and to support to the fullest the high court's decision."

State NAACP Head Corrects Editorial View

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Printed herewith is a letter written by Dr. William M. Boyd, professor of Political Science of Atlanta University, in answer to an editorial which appeared in the Atlanta Constitution on May 25 titled: "Irresponsible Talk Could Cause Strife.")

Editor
THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION
Sir:

I have read with much interest your editorial of May 25 entitled "Irresponsible Talk Could Cause Strife." It appears to me that the statements that "the NAACP choose to accompany its decision with inflammatory and violence producing language," that "it chose to overrule its Southern voices," that "the NAACP seeks to move faster than the courts," and that "the NAACP has needled the Governor "into extravagant and reckless statements" is a grossly unfair presentation of a meeting that was commended for its restraint and dignity (see John Popham in May 23 New York Times and Raleigh Bryan in May 25 Atlanta Journal). Conspicious by its absence is any statement referring to either Governors Byrnes or Talmadge. In fact, the only reference to them came as a result of repeated questions by reporters.

The Atlanta Declaration speaks for itself. In short, it encourages cooperation with school boards to implement the court's decision, or failing to get cooperation, to go to court.

Now specifically to the quoted statements:

1. The NAACP is not dominated by northerners nor did it overrule southern voices within it. Southerners wrote the declaration. For the record, even Thurgood Marshall (Baltimore) and Walter White (Atlanta) are southerners.

2. The record will show that Governor Talmadge has been saying what he said over CBS on Sunday last for over a year. In fact, the Governor has not needed "needling." At the Sunday meeting when the press informed Walter White of Governor Talmadge's statement, his only comment to the press was "Nonsense."

3. I am sure you are aware that the Supreme Court decision and the forthcoming decrees affect not only the areas in which the cases the forthcoming decrees affect arose. Georgia does not have a case before the Supreme Court and will not be affected by any decree except in principle. If Georgia does not voluntarily comply with it, and the Governor has said it would not, the only other alternative is court action. Despite the ruling in the Sweat Case of 1950, Georgia has not complied. By what stretch of the imagination does one assume that it will comply in this instance?

4. A careful reading of the Atlanta Declaration in context will reveal that it is totally devoid of any "inflammatory and violence producing language." On the other hand, it is not possible that the way the meeting was reported and interpreted could have given a distorted view of it?

WILLIAM M. BOYD
President
Georgia Conference
Branches, NAACP

NAACP Defense Unit Seeks To Restrain School Board That Did Negro Youth Wrong

Globe Nashville Tenn.
Cris. 10-8-54

New York—An application was made on September 22 to United States District Judge John Druffell in Cincinnati, Ohio, asking for a temporary order restraining the Board of Education of Hillsboro, Ohio, from forcing Negro students to withdraw from two previously all-white schools, the Webster and Washington Elementary Schools, in Hillsboro.

The application which sought the temporary restraining order was denied. However, Judge Druffell granted an application made by NAACP Legal Defense attorneys asking for a hearing on the preliminary injunction restraining the Hillsboro Board of Education from compelling the Negro students to return to old segregated schools.

The Negro students on September 7, attempted to enroll in the Washington and Webster Schools. They were told to return the next day when they would be assigned to seats, which was done. The public schools were closed on September 9 and 10 in order that the children might attend the Highland County Fair. When schools reopened on Monday, September 13, the Negro children returned to the classrooms in the Western and Washington schools to which they had been assigned.

The following day, the Board advised the parents of the Negro children that they could no longer continue to attend classes in the Washington and Webster schools, but must withdraw their children and enroll them in the Lincoln school, the school which had been, prior to September 7, the Negro school in the community. The Board stated that it had instituted school zone lines for the first time and that the majority of the Negro children were included in the Lincoln school zone. No white children were included in the Lincoln school zone A few Negro children were included in the Webster and Washington school zones.

The Lincoln Elementary School was established for the purpose of housing Negro elementary school children in Hillsboro and has been maintained as a segregated school for a number of years. The physical facilities and curriculum are grossly inferior to the physical facilities and cirrucilum in the Washington and Webster schools. There are only two Negro teachers at the Lincoln School which previously had more than seventy Negro students.

The Negro children who have been asked by the Board to withdraw from the Washington and Webster schools have refused to attend the Lincoln school because it i sa racially segregated school; because its physical facilities and curriculum are inferior and because in the judgment of the community the Lincoln school is inferior. The Negro children have been kept home by their parents since the Board's withdrawal order of September 15.

The court action which was filed by Thurgood Marshall, Constance Baker Motley and Russell L. Carter, NAACP attorney in Dayton, Ohio, seeks an order from the court enjoining the Board of Education from requiring the Negro children to withdraw from the Webster and Washington schools and enjoining the Board from requiring them to attend the Lincoln school as lon as the Lincoln school is maintained as a segregated school.

Earlier this year a white resident of Hillsboro set fire to the Lincoln school. His purpose, he claimed, was to burn it down and make it possible for the Negro children to be integrated. In his opinion, he was certain the school officials and residents of Hillsboro would never voluntarily integrate the Negro students. Only part of the Lincoln school was damaged as a result of the fire.

2 Named To Help Bring Southern School Compliance

Weekly

New York.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has appointed two new field secretaries to assist local NAACP branches in securing compliance with the Supreme Court decision banning segregated public schools, it was announced here today by Roy Wilkins, Association administrator.

The new staff members are Edwin C. Washington, Jr., of Dallas, Tex., and Medgar Evers of Mound Bayou, Miss. Mr. Washington will be assistant field secretary for the Southwest region, and Mr. Evers for the State of Mississippi. They will work under supervision of Gloster B. Current, director of branches.

The Southwest region of the NAACP comprises Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas, and maintains headquarters in Dallas. Mr. Washington, who was associated with the Dallas NAACP branch and employed by the U. S. Post Office, attended Prairie View (Tex.) A and M. College.

Mr. Evers, former agency director for the Magnolia Mutual Life Insurance Company in Mound Bayou, Miss., is an alumnus of Alcorn (Miss.) A and M College.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED:

NAACP to follow up school decision

NEW YORK — A "blueprint" for legal action to follow up the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court in the public school segregation cases was presented at the NAACP's 45th annual meeting here by its special counsel, Thurgood Marshall.

In making his yearly report to the body, Mr. Marshall called for provision for a necessary follow-up to the decision—"whatever that decision may be, and the extension of our legal attacks on jim-crow transportation, recreation centers and public housing."

The attorney, who recently completed arguing the historic school segregation cases before the high court, added that the NAACP program must be pushed on the local level from one end of the country to the other.

Public Admission

He noted that throughout the South, "we find over and over again the public admission of the 'white supremacy' group and of white people in general that they fully realize that segregation is on its way out."

The new members are Z. Alexander Looby, attorney and member of the City Council of Nashville, Tenn. and Kivie Kaplan, vice president and general manager of the Colonial Tanning company of Boston.

Re-elected

Re-elected to the board were Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Mrs. Joel E. Spingarn, Sen. Herbert Lehman, Mrs. Lillian A. Alexander and Dr. Algernon D. Black, all of N. Y. C.

Theodore M. Berry, member, Cincinnati; Roscoe Dunjee Oklahoma City; Dr. J. Leonidas Leach, Flint, Mich. Alfred B. Lewis, Greenwich, Conn., Dr. James J. McClendon, Detroit; Dr. J. M. Tinsley, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Jessie Vann Pittsburgh and Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse college.

Annually, 16 persons are elected to three-year terms to the 48-person board of directors. The board elects the officers of the association. Arthur B. Spingarn was re-elected president and Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the board.

Z. ALEXANDER LOBBY

Other officers re-elected include:

Dr. Allan K. Chalmers of Boston, treasurer; Judge Theodore Spaulding, Philadelphia, assistant; Dr Robert C. Weaver, vice-chairman;

Walter White, executive secretary; Roy Wilkins, administrator; Thurgood Marshall, special counsel and Henry L. Moon, director of public relations.

Vice-Presidents

The following vice presidents were also elected:

Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Rabbi Judah Cahn, Harry E. Davis, Mrs. Grace Fenderson, Oscar Hammerstein II, John Hammond, C. L. Harper, the Rev. John H. Holmes, and Dr William L. Imes;

Dr. Allen F. Jackson, Ira W Jayne, Eric Johnston, Eugene Martin, Dr. O. Clay Maxwell,

Miss L. Pearl Mitchell, Sen. Wayne Morse, T. G Nutter, A. Philip Randolph, Ike Smalls, Willard S. Townsend, Bishop W. J. Walls and Samuel Williams.

Executive officers of the association reporting on the activities of the year were Mr. White, executive secretary; Clarence Mitchell, director, Washington bureau; Gloster B. Current, director of branches, and Mr. Marshall.

NAACP Plans Local Level School Drive

ATLANTA, May 23 (AP).—A local community level campaign for early elimination of public school segregation was launched by the National Association for Advancement of Colored People here today.

Branches in all affected areas were instructed to petition local school boards for immediate ending of racial separation in schools, and to offer assistance in working out problems.

Representatives of chapters in 18 states having mandatory segregation made plans to carry the campaign to the local school boards at a two-day session here.

The new strategy was announced in an "Atlanta Declaration" read at a news conference.

The veteran NAACP leader Executive Secretary Walter White, called Govs. Herman Talmadge of Georgia and James F. Byrnes of South Carolina "the two most pathetic figures in American life today . . . in their frustration and bitterness."

He declared Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga.) had forfeited his presidential ambitions by denouncing the Supreme Court decision on segregation.

While last Monday's United States Supreme Court decision merely announced that public school segregation is illegal and delayed its final decree, deliberations of the NAACP representatives here were on the assumption that the major barrier had been removed.

The Atlanta Declaration recognized that "school officials will have certain administrative problems in transferring from a segregated to a nonsegregated system." But it added "we will resist the use of any tactics contrived for the sole purpose of delaying desegregation."

The declaration called for integration at all levels, including teacher assignments.

"Lest there be any misunderstanding of our position," the declaration concluded, "we here rededicate ourselves to the removal of all racial segregation in public education and reiterate our determination to achieve this goal without compromise of principle."

Talmadge Defies Court 'Even if Troops Come'

ATLANTA, May 23 (AP).—Gov. Herman Talmadge declared today that Negroes and whites will not attend the same schools in Georgia even if troops are sent in to enforce the Supreme Court's ban on segregation.

"We're not going to secede from the Union," Talmadge said, "but the people of Georgia will not comply with the decision of the Court."

"It would take several divisions of troops down here to police every school building in Georgia and then they wouldn't be able to enforce it," he said.

Talmadge's statements came in a recorded interview on the CBS radio program, "The World Today."

NAACP Says It'll Resist Delay Tactics

Pledges To Work To End Segregation

ATLANTA, May 23 (U.P.)—Southern Negro leaders, pledging "no compromise in principle," decided today to move ahead "without delay" on the local level to end racial segregation in public schools.

State and regional leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People agreed to work for the mixing of white and Negro pupils even before the Supreme Court holds further hearings next Fall on its ruling banning school segregation.

Some 80 NAACP officials from 17 states and the District of Columbia attended a week-end conference to plan a course of action to put the court decision into effect. They promised to resist by court action "any tactics contrived for the sole purpose of delaying de-segregation."

Thurgood Marshall, NAACP attorney who argued the school segregation cases before the Supreme Court, said segregation may be ended in some areas affected by the court decision by the time the Fall term opens next September.

"We are instructing all of our branches in every affected area to petition their local school boards to abolish segregation without delay and to assist these agencies in working out ways and means of implementing the court's ruling," the NAACP leaders said in a formal statement.

Marshall said the NAACP will take legal action when necessary to oppose plans to "circumvent" the court ruling, such as private school proposals in Georgia and South Carolina and assignment of pupils to segregated schools by local offices, as proposed in Mississippi.

Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, singled out Govs. Herman Talmadge of Georgia and James F. Byrnes of South Carolina as men he said "will undoubtedly use every trick in the bag to circumvent the Supreme Court's decision."

The NAACP official described Talmadge, Byrnes and Sen. Richard Russell (D., Ga.) as some of "the most pathetic figures" in American life today.

Hold Off for Court Order, Walden Advises NAACP

An Atlanta Negro attorney Friday advised members of his race to move slowly toward ending segregation in public schools, as leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People prepared for a meeting here to discuss the issue.

Austin T. Walden, Atlanta lawyer and a member of the legal staff of the NAACP, said Negroes in states maintaining segregation in schools should wait until the Supreme Court decides how separation of the races should be ended.

"DISCOURAGE"

Walden said state NAACP leaders should be warned to "discourage" any moves aimed at bringing a sudden end to segregation before the Supreme Court meets this fall.

Leaders of the NAACP from 17 states affected by the high court's ruling are here to discuss taking up the problem with local education leaders.

Dr. Channing H. Tobias, New York, chairman of the NAACP national board of directors; Walter White, NAACP executive secretary; Thurgood Marshall, attorney who argued the Negroes' cases against segregation; William Boyd, state president, and Roy Wilkins, national administrator for the NAACP, are here for the two-day conference.

CLOSED MEETING

The first session will be a closed meeting at 11 a.m. Saturday at Waluhaje Hotel on West Lake avenue. A press conference will be held there at 11 a.m. Sunday. A pubic meeting is scheduled for 3 p.m. at Friendship Baptist Church on West Mitchell street.

Walden Friday recommended that suits seeking admittance of Negro students to white colleges and universities in the South be "held in abeyance" until the fall meeting of the Supreme Court. At that time the court is expected to set a deadline for compliance with the segregation ban, along with providing general rules for carrying it out.

"We don't want to add to the emotional instability of those supporting segregation," Walden said. "But, on the other hand, we don't want to take the position that we have to apologize for the court's decision."

NAACP Offers Aid In School-Study Plan

By CLAUDE GEORGE SR.

The Atlanta chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has organized its educational program to cooperate with the city Board of Education in complying with the United States Supreme Court's ruling on public schools.

The following subcommittees were appointed by the education committee to study borderline cases and isolated schools:

Mrs. J. B. Harris, chairman, and Dr. Clayton Powell, co-chairman, Summerhill section; Dr. William H. Hale, chairman, and Prof. C. L. Harper, colchairman, Philadelphia section; Mrs. Mary Jordan, chairman, northeast section; J. H. Calhoun, chairman, Buckhead section; Q. V. Williamson, chairman, Mozley Drive section.

Dr. A. N. Whitney, chairman, Dr. Samuel Williams, co-chairman, northwest section; Dr. L. M. Terrill, chairman; Dr. B. J. Nolan, co-chairman, Pittsburgh section; Dr. R. O. Johnson, chairman, Battle Hill section; Prof. C. L. Harper, chairman, Rush Mountain section, and Charles W. Greenlea, chairman, Rockdale Park section.

Daniel Byrd, NAACP field representative, attended the meeting. "The primary conclusion reached in this procedure is to exhaust all administrative remedies to implement the court's decision," Byrd said.

The education committee went on record with the following suggested proposals:

Requesting a declaration of policy changing from a dual to a single public school system, if it is within board authority; requesting a conference with the board at a future date; assuring school officials of NAACP interest in co-operating with them in implementing the decision, and securing information and assisting in acquainting the public with adjustments involved so that plans of the board may be effected with the least amount of misunderstanding.

n New York

Observance To Honor Scientists, Lawyers In Historic School Cases

NEW YORK—This city's first formal observance of the legal end of public school segregation will honor the attorneys and social scientists who prepared the case against segregated schools for the Supreme Court.

At the observance on October 3, tribute will be paid to the NAACP legal staff and the volunteer attorneys and social scientists associated with the staff in preparation of the school cases.

All proceeds from the event, sponsored by the New York chapter of the Girl Friends, Inc., will go to the NAACP and its Legal Defence and Educational Fund, Inc.

Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel who successfully argued the case for integrated public schools before the Supreme Court, will be introduced to the assemblage by Mayor Robert F. Wagner, honorary chairman of the sponsoring committee for the observance.

Among members of the sponsoring committee expected to be present at the observance are Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, top-ranking American in the United Nations; Duke Ellington, bandleader and composer; W. Averell Harriman, former ambassador to Great Britain and the Soviet Union; James Egert Allen, director of the New York division of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History; Mrs. Lillian Ashe, president of the United Parents Association; Congressman Jacob K. Javits; Louis E. Martin and Mrs. Jessie M. Vann, publishers of the Chicago Defender and Pittsburgh Courier, respectively; and Jacob S. Potofsky, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, CIO.

The Girl Friends is a national women's organization with 25 years of civic service in 20 cities.

NAACP Designs 6 Steps To Aid School Integration

PHILADELPHIA — Problems rising out of desegregation of public schools in six states and the District of Columbia were analyzed and discussed by 130 delegates attending a weekend emergency conference which closed here last week.

Sessions of the conference called by the NAACP were attended by delegates from Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia.

After hearing reports on resistance to ending of school segregation in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; Milford, Del.; Baltimore and Washington, Dr. Kenneth B. Clark, associate professor of psychology at the College of the City of New York and NAACP consultant, made analysis of the causes and circumstances of these situations.

On the basis of this analysis, and on talks on ways and means of organizing the community to support public school integration and of working with local school boards to this end, the conference proposed the following recommendations:

TO ASK COMMUNITY AID

1. The NAACP branches continue the stimulation of discussion by such responsible groups as churches, civic organizations and trade unions in order to prepare the community for acceptance of desegregation by September, 1955.

2. That school boards be encouraged to take a firm and positive position for early compliance with the unanimous decision of the United States Supreme Court on May 17, 1954 holding segregation in public schools unconstitutional.

3. That active support be given to individuals and groups who seek to implement the Supreme Court ruling.

4. That, in the absence of organized Negro civic units in a community, state units of the NAACP assist the local people.

5. That efforts of outside groups to prevent integration and the role of bigoted elements in defiance of the Supreme Court decision be exposed.

6. That the total resources of the NAACP, including legal action where necessary, be utilized to achieve integration.

Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator, reiterated the association's position against gradualism. "We do not believe," he told the delegates, "that our children who have so long been deprived of their opportunities should now have to depend on the whims of thousands of localities to secure their constitutional rights as Americans."

NAACP and Teachers Draw Closer Together

Black Dispatch P. 4

There was evidence last week at the annual session of the Oklahoma Association of Negro Teachers that from here on out there is going to be closer liaison between the NAACP and the teachers organization. The Association voted $1,500 to the defense funds of the NAACP, and one of the instructors, Alphonso Jordan, expressed the belief that in the fights just ahead for an equitable and proper place for the Negro teacher in the school work, the Negro teacher would have the backing of the legal staff of the NAACP. Oklahoma City, Okla.

This is as it should be. There is a probability there will be in many instances an attempt made to set aside the Negro teacher, and in every instance where complaint is made and the evidence justifies it, the legal staff of the NAACP will be in there fighting with the same zest and vigor for the Negro teacher as it has exhibited for the rights of the Negro child. Sat. 11-6-54

Up to the May 17 decision of the Supreme Court outlawing segregation in the schools, the fight of the Negro teachers was in a large measure one having to do with equal salaries with white teachers, within the framework of the separate schools, but with the outlawing of separate schools there remains only the problem of the Negro teacher. The Negro child is secure instantly when it becomes an enrolled member of the majority school.

It appears that before the Supreme Court acts on problems of implementation, the nation will have already passed through the throes of disorder, such as developed in Baltimore, Washingtdn, and Milford, Delaware. But the strong hand of the federal government, along with state government, has proved conclusively that these abortive efforts can be squelched with the firmness and decision exhibited in all of these instances. To enforce segregation we may have to strengthen our laws with respect to the enforcement of civil rights. We do not believe when a law has been fully interpreted as in the matter of segregation, anyone should have the right to speak out against it and incite citizens to revolt against such rulings. In proportion as we strengthen our laws along this line we will be placing the proper safeguards around civil rights.

We believe men like Talmadge, Byrnes, Bowles and hundreds of other Southerners are guilty of the offense we refer to. In the Soviet Constitution it is referred to as "gossispreed." We think McCarthy has been guilty of the same sort of misconduct when he encouraged witnesses to ignore directives of the government in testifying before his committee. There is a limit to free speech, and we believe the government should find the frontier where free speech ends and unbridled license attempts to run riot.

The Supreme Court of the United States is the final voice that should be heard in the interpretation of law. We believe when that court tells the citizens of this Republic that there is no such thing as "separate but equal," there is no justifiable reason why a private citizen should indulge in "gossispreed" that would attempt to incite people to rebel against such a ruling. They should be jailed, and properly reprimanded.

Down South today there are many reactionary citizens who openly announce that the Supreme Court ruling will not be enforced in their community. They tell black folk that blood will run in the street before black children attend school with white. All such citizens should be immediately apprehended and charged with inciting to riot, for that is precisely what they are doing. They seek to enforce unwritten laws through terrorizing and through creating the impression that life and limb for Negroes are unsafe in their community if the black citizen attempts to exercise his rights.

These are the individuals who should feel the stern hand of the law and made to understand that this nation will not entertain and court the Mafia or "Black Hand" societies under the Stars and Stripes. We need no super-governments, or wheels within wheels that subvert law and order. It is breakdowns in our society such as this that will some day produce an American Hitler, who will take over and substitute totalitarianism for our present way of life. Let no one be lulled to sleep with the mistaken notion "It can't happen here."

In the recent McCarthy hearings there was copious evidence to show that the Wisconsin senator was headed directly in that direction, and if we do not immediately place definite curbs on the license some men seek to take in our democratic society we are in for a lot of trouble. It is this Hitlerian spirit that dominates our senate with it filibusters. Here we have a minority who adopt a skillful parliamentary procedure to abort the will of the majority. By this method they seek and do the same thing in the South when they tell the black man he shall not enjoy the constitutional rights spelled out for him by the courts. If we want to preserve our democracy we must carve out of our social system every artifice and device that prevents the total sharing of all of the emoluments and privileges of our society.

It is the Negro who is helping at this period of our history to think through these difficult problems, and the NAACP is that unit of our society supplying the proper balance and reasoning in these troublous moments. It was the NAACP that had to supply the Supreme Court with factual information proving that the theory of "separate but equal" is legal fiction, and now it will perhaps be the NAACP assuming the responsibility in telling the nation the proper method by which to enforce the decrees of its courts.

What we actually need today is not a court of law to attack and enforce sesegregation, but instead we need a group of upright citizens who will teach brotherhood to the masses. This could be done with complete fullness through the Christian church. It appears, however, that the church is lagging behind secular government in the field of brotherhood. "Upright men shall be astonished."

Army, NAACP Probe Bias

Pittsburgh Courier P. 5 32b

NEW YORK — The Army last week agreed to cooperate with the NAACP in an investigation of charges that Negro civilian workers were being discriminated against at the Armed Service Medical Procurement Agency.

Colored employes there had charged in protest to the White House and Civil Service Commission that they were being systematically downgraded.

The ASMPA carried out a limited investigation into the charges filed by three Negro workers there but the NAACP opened its own inquiry of general conditions in the agency after several workers had filed complaints with the association.

Freedom Fund given $13,635

afro-American P. 6

NEW YORK—The NAACP has reported a total of $13,635 in contributions to its Fight for Freedom campaign for the month of November. The sum includes payments on life memberships in the association.

The Fight for Freedom campaign seeks to speed up the organization's civil rights work to achieve full rights for minority groups in American life by Jan. 1, 1963, the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation.

Sat. 12-25-54

IN ADDITION to donations received from individuals and organizations, NAACP funds were enriched by contributions from 44 local branches of the association, two state conferences and two youth councils.

These contributions from N. A. A. C. P. units came to $5,814.

Aside from association units, the largest single donation during November was sent by the Cornerstone Baptist Church, Brooklyn, in the amount of $500. The next largest donation was that of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Coolige of Cambridge, Mass., who forwarded $250.

School Intfgration Plans Mapped By NAACP Confab

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27. — Problems arising out of desegregation of public schools in six state and the District of Columbia were analyzed and discussed by 130 delegates attending a week-end emergency conference which closed here today. Sessions of the conference called by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People were held in the Fellowship Commission Building, 260 South 15th Street and were attended by delegates from Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia.

After hearing reports on resistance to ending of school segregation in White Sulphur Springs, West Va.; Milford, Del.; Baltimore and Washington, Dr. Kenneth B. Clrak, asociate professor of psychology at the College of the City of New York and NAACP consultant, made analysis of the causes and circumstances of these situations.

On the basis of this analysis, and on talks in ways and means of organizing the community to support public school integration and of working with local school boards to this end, the conference proposed the following recommendations:

1. That NAACP branches continue the stimulation of discussion by such reponsible groups as churches, civic organizations and trade unions in order to prepare the community for acceptance of desegregation by September, 1955.

2. That school boards be encouraged to take a firm and positive position for early compliance with the nuamous decision of the United States Supreme Court on May 17, 1954 holding segregation in public schools unconstitutional.

3. That active support be given to individuals and groups who seek to implement the Supreme Court ruling.

4. That in the absence of organized civic units in a community, state units of the NAACP assist the local people.

5. That efforts of outside groups to prevent integragation and the role of bigoted element in defiance of the Supreme Court decision be exposed.

6. That the total resources of the NAACP, including legal action where necessary, be utilized to achieve integration.

In opening remarks last night, Roy Wilkins, NAACP Administrator, reiterated the Association's position against gradualism. "We do not believe," he told the delegates, "that our children who have so long been deprived of their opportunites should now have to depend on the whims of thousands of localities to secure their constitutional rights as Americans."

The NAACP official cited the brief filed by the Association's lawyers for argument on the decrees to be issued by the Superme Court for implementation of its May 17 decision. "It would be paradoxical," the brief assers, "if it were decided for the first time that constitutional rights may be postponed beaus of anticipation of difficults arising out of local feelings. These cases were brought to vindicate rights which, as a matter of common knowledge and legal experience, need above all others protection against local attitude and patterns of behavior."

At this afternoon's session, ways of working with school boards to implement integration were discussed by Robert L. Carter, NAACP attorney for Virginia; Dr. Margaret Just Butheer, member of the District of Columbia board of education; and Wagner D. Jackson, president of the Wilmington, Del. NAACP branch.

Speakers at the morning session on organizing the community to support the integration program included Joseph V. Baker, pubic relations consultant; Henry Lee Moon, NAACP public relations director; the Reverends C. Anderson Davis of Bluefield, West Va., and John L. Tilley of Baltimore; Maurice Fagan, executive director of the Fellowship Commission; and Herbert Hill, NAACP labor relations asst.

Willard Brown, chairman of the NAACP West Virginia legal redress committee, reported on the demonstrations against the integration at the high school in White Sulphur Springs. The Milford, Del. situation was reported on by John W. Flamer, NAACP field secretary; Bowen Jackson, executive secretary of the Baltimore NAACP branch told of the disturbances in that city. Eugene Davidson, president of the District of Columbia branch reported on the attention in the nation's capital.

NAACP Reports On Interviews With Local Authorities

Integration In County May Come By Order of Supt. Moss Before Any Action On Matter Is Taken By Supt. Bass, It Is Believed; Mrs. Ivanetta H. Davis Makes Men Principals "Sit Up And Take Notice" With Plans For Running New School

Nashville's and Davidson County's public schools opened this week for the 1954-55 school year without any untoward incident, despite many "dire prognostications" that here would be revolutionary changes in schools for the thousands of pupils of both races.

The one possible break in the general routine that may occur before the new school year is far spent should be in the county, in the opinion of officials and members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Supt. Moss of the County Schools, it is well known, has a good break for introducing "integration" in some county schools. These are where there are a very few colored children going required to go long distances to school, whereas white children are privileged to attend schools near at home—that is close for them as well as for colored children of the same community.

Mr. Moss, so say the NAACP petitioners, talks favorably of giving due consideration to integration. Such words if made by politicians, of course, would not be something to rely upon. But Mr. Moss, they say, is a realist, observes the highest ethics of his profession and will do what is best for all concerned, including taxpayers who might not look with favor upon wasting tax money to provide a "Negro" school in an area where such a school would be folly, from an economic standpoint.

Asked as to how they were getting along with their petition for integration in the city public schools, NAACP Leaders admit they have not made either the City Board of Education, nor Supt. W. A. Bass budge an inch. They put the Board of Education in the same boat with Supt. Bass because, as they tell it, they have written to Mr. Bass and also to Mr. Maiden Dishner, the President of the City Board of Education, and the one and same official answered both communications. The "one and same official" they say, has been Supt. Bass. Apparently the Board of Education is designating the Superintendent to look after all the correspondence with the NAACP on the ticklish matter of racial integration in the city schools.

In his refusal to discuss integration, it can be admitted that Supt. Bass is not required to do any integrating at once under the ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court. He can do so if he wishes but is not compelled to do so.

When the Supreme Court on May 17, handed down its decision, declaring racial segregation in schools unconstitutional, the Court also asked for further appearance of all concerned at the Fall term of the Court, "In order that we may have the full assistance of the parties in formulating degrees." It said the cases would be restored to the docket and that the Attorney General of the United States "is again invited to participate.

As is generally agreed it was the stirring appeal made by Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, Jr., which tipped the scales in favor of the NAACP Attorneys and their clients. Colored Baptist Leaders in their Sunday School Congress recently held in Birmingham, went on record in high praise of the part Mr. Brownell played in getting the 14th Amendment enforced in the matter of racial segregation in schools.

There are a number of colored school teachers here as elsewhere, who feel that when the Supreme Court meets in the Fall it should do something to disabuse the public mind of the feeling the Court did a charitable act" for colored school pupils when it outlawed segregation. For instance, the Court's decision had in it the following line:

"Segregation of white and colored children in public schools has a detrimental effect upon the colored children. The impact is greater when it has the sanction of law; for the policy of separating the races is usually interpreted as denoting the inferiority of the Negro group. A sense of inferiority affects the motivation of a child to learn. Segregation with the sanction of law, therefore, has a tendency to retard the educational and mental development of Negro children and to deprive them of some of the benefits they would receive in a racially integrated school system."

It is contended that where equal facilities for an education are provided which is seldom done in a separate school arrangement, Negro students do not have an inferiority complex. Also, that even where facilities are not equal, Negro children have no inferiority complex as a result of being trained by colored teachers.

It is also contended that white children have just as much to gain in being associated with colored children in school and by being taught by competent colored teachers as colored children have to gain in association with white children and being taught by white teachers.

Some contend that it will be possible for so many "excesses" to emerge in an integrated school system where it is stated integration was meant solely to benefit colored children, that in the future when the complexion of the Supreme changes, even colored persons will have grievances against the May 17, 1954 decision which predicated its action on a desire to "uplift the poor, down-trodden Negro, and him only."

As one teacher puts it: "The Supreme Court needed only to point out that white administrators of school affairs in the South just could not get it into their heads that they should deal fairly with Negro children and Negro teachers and for that reason, every opportunity given to continue their policy of racial discrimination had to be taken from them.

There is hardly an intelligent person in the South, white or colored who believes that a fight could ate schools had colored schools have been launched against separ been equal to white schools, all along and colored persons been given a fair deal as teachers and as members of school boards.

In this connection, there is much favorable comment being made concerning a new city school being opened this year. It is the Mose McKissack Elementary School, with a large faculty of some twenty teachers and under the principalship of Mrs. Ivanetta H. Davis, previously principal of the little three-teacher Clifton Elementary School.

They say this new school measures up in facilities to the best white schools in the city and that Mrs. Davis, its Principal, proved at the very beginning of the new school year that no other Principal who will be attending the new Mose McKissack Elementary School is going to be suffering from a "hung-down head and an inferior complex by attending it.

Desegregation Conference Makes Recommendations For School Integration

Bystander Des Moines, Ia

Thur. 12-2-54

Philadelphia, — Problems arising out of desegregation of public schools in six states and the District f Columbia were analyzed and discussed by 130 delegates attending a weekend emergency conference which closed here Nov. 27. P. 1

Sessions of the conference called by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People were held in the Fellowship Commission Building, 260 South 15th Street and were attended by delegates from Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia.

Make Analysis

After hearing reports on resistance to ending of school segregation in White Supphur Springs, West Va.; Miiford, Del.; Baltimore and Washington, Dr. Kenneth B. Clark, associate professor of psychology at the College of the City of New York and NAACP consultant, made analysis of the causes and circumstances of these situations.

On the basis of this analysis, and on talks on ways and means of organizing the community to support public school integration and of working with local school boards to this end, the conference proposed the following recommendations:

Continue Discussion

1. That NAACP branches continue the stimulation of discussion by such responsible groups as churches, civic organizations and trade unions in order to prepare the community for acceptance of desegregation by September, 1955.

2. That school boards be encouraged to take a firm and positive position for early compliance with the unanimous decision of the United States Supreme Court on May 17, 1954 holding segregation in public schools unconstitutional.

Bystander

3. That active support be given to individuals and groups who seek to implement the Supreme Court ruling.

Des Moines, Ia.

4. That, in the absence of organized Negro civic units in a community, state units of the NAACP assist the local people. P. 6

5. That efforts of outside groups to prevent integration and the role of bigoted elements in defiance of the Supreme Court decision be exposed.

Thur. 12.2-54

Total Resourses

6. That the total resources of the NAACP, including legal action where necessary, be utilized to achieve integration.

In opening remarks Nov. 27, Roy Wilkins, NAACP administration, reiterated the Association's positiion against gradualism, "We do not believe," he told the delegates, "that our children who have so long been deprived of their opportunities should now have to depend on the whims of thousands of localities to secure their constitutional rights as Americans."

The NAACP official cited the brief filed by the Association's lawyers for argument on the decrees to be issued by the Supreme Court for implementation of its May 17 decision. "It would be paradoxical," the brief asserts, "if it were decided for the first time that constitutional rights may be postponed because of anticipation of difficulties arising out of local feeling. These cases were brought to vindicate rights which, as a mater of common knowledge and legal experience, need above all others, protection against local attitudes and patterns of behavior.."

Ways Discussed

At the afternoon's session, ways of working with school boards to implement integration were discussed by Robert L. Carter, NAACP assistant special counsel; Spottswood Robinson, III, NAACP attorney for Virginia; Dr. Margaret Just Butcher, member of the District of Columbia board of education; and Wagner D. Jackson, president of the Wilmington, Del. NAACP branch.

Speakers at the morning session on organizing the community to support the integration program included Joseph V. Baker, public relations consultant; Henry Lee Moon, NAACP public relations director; the Reverends C. Anderson Davis of Bluefield, West Va., and John L. Tilley of Baltimore; Maurice Fagan, executive director of the Fellowship Commission; and Herbert Hill, NAACP labor relations assistant.

Willard Brown, chairman of the NAACP West Virginia legal redress commitee, reported on the demonstrations against integration at the high school in White Sulphur Springs. The Milford, Del. situation was reported on by John W. Flamer. NAACP field secretary; Bowen Jackson, executive secretary of the Baltimore NAACP branch told of the disturbance in that city. Eugene Davidson president of the District of Columbia branch reported on the situation in the nation's capital.

NAACP official says Deep South will be red to five states

Afro-American Baltimore, Md.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (ANP)— The so-called "Deep" or Old South' is on its last leg, according to Bowen Jackson, NAACP field secretary, who covers Kentucky, Ohio, and West Virginia. He said that the old South will be reduced to "five states' within five years.

Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina and Georgia will continue to follow a line of strict segregation, Jones avers, because those states are dominated by "official diehards."

Sat. 11-27-54

He predicts that six of the 17 so-called southern states will completely integrate within the next year. He said the other six will desegregate only if they are given a push.

32b 1954

NAACP

LIFE MEMBERSHIPS

PURCHASES LIFE MEMBERSHIP—The Beta Xi Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority joins ranks with five other organizations and individuals in Tuskegee by purchasing a $500 life membership in the NAACP. From left to right are: Mrs. Jennie Gomillion, Mrs. Rosabell K. Carter, Mrs. Jurhetta Smoot, Dr. Alfreada Webb, presenting check to D. L. Beasley and C. G. Gomillion.

Tuskegee NAACP Receives $500 From Sorority

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. Dec. 27—The Beta Xi Omega Chapter of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority joins ranks with five other organizations and individuals in Tuskegee by purchasing a $500 life membership in the NAACP.

Dr. Alfreda Webb, a member of the chapter's civic committee, presented a $100 check to D. L. Beasley, for the chapter after hearing appeals from Beasley, president of the Tuskegee Branch, and C. G. Gomillion, chairman of the Branch's Life membership committee, urging the chapter to become 100 per cent registered voters.

The following shared the presentation ceremony: Mrs. Rosabell K. Carter, Mrs. Jurhetta Smoot, Dr. Alfred Webb, D. L. Beasley, and C. G. Gomillion. All sorors except Mrs. Smoot which is antibasilus of the chapter, are members of the civic committee for the chapter. Mrs. Roberta Dabney is chairman of the committee.

LEDGE LIFE SUPPORT TO NAACP: Seven physi- to right: Dr. Everard Carey, Dr. Arthur Logan, ians and an attorney, all of New York City, Mr. Dudley, Dr. Rochard Carey, Dr. William A. became life member subscribers of the NAACP Wethers, and Attorney Cornelius McDougald, Jr. y presenting an initial payment on a $500 life The physicians all are on the staff of the Upper mbership to Edward R. Dudley, (third from Manhattan Medical Group of the Health Insur- special assistant for the Association. Left ance Plan of Greater New York. Mr. McDougald is administrator for the group.

NAACP Gets Twelve Life Members In November, Report

New York, Dec. 9—Twelve persons and organizations became life members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People during November, according to a report made public today.

An additional 45 individuals and organiaztions became NAACP life merbership subscribers by making a partial payment on a $500 life membership.

Among the new life members are two church dignitaries. They are Bishop Luther Stewart of the CME Church, Hopkinsville, Ky., and Father Archibald V. McLees, pastor of Holy Rosary Roman Catholic Church in Brooklyn, N.Y.

The other new life members are: Ahmad C. El, Columbus, Ohio; the New York Chapter of the Girl Friends, Inc.; the Mutual Chemical Company, New York; a Grand Lodge of Prince Hall Masons in Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Lucinda B. Robey, Birmingham, Ala.; Dr. Ian M. Cohen, Boston; the Chicago Branch of the National Alliance of Postal Employees; Thomas Johnson, Portland, Ore.; and Morton Crossman, Chestnut Hill, Mass.

Those who made an initial payment on an NAACP life membership are: A. D. Shores, Birmingham, Ala.; the First Aid Auxiliary of Pleasant Grove Baptist Church, Wendell, N. C.; Dr. B. B. Martin, Memphis, Tenn.; Mrs. William Horowitz, New Haven, Conn.; Mrs. Hattie A. Van Buren, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Herman Wolf, Chicago; Mrs. John D. Gordon, New York; the Belle Tan Social and Civic Club of New Haven, Conn.; Dr. T. E. Divon, Temple, Tex.; Dr. A. T. Braihtwaite, Waco, Tex.; Theodore L. Miller, New Orleans, La.

Thirty-two persons and organizations in Cleveland, Ohio, made initial payments on life memberships. They are: Charles P. Lucas, the Rev. Wade H. McKinney, Dr. Nathan K. Christopher, Irving Franklin, Jr., Mrs. Mary Hilton, Albert Liggins, Harvey Norton, Robery Riffe, the Shiloh Baptist Church, John Waller, J. W. Wills, John W. Carmack, Crayton's Southern Sausage Company, Mrs. Lina Derritt, the Rev. William Downs, Robert Ellis, and Dr. Armen G. Evans.

Also: Mrs. Lillie Gorman, John W. Kellogg, Miss Ada Lieffingwelt, Dr. James Levy, Emmett Meade, Lawrence O. Payne, Dr. W. F. Richie, Thomas J. Robinson, Mrs. Beulah Slaughter, Jesse Smith, Dr. Bertrand C. Styles, Page M. Sumpter, William K. Willis, Alonzo Wright, and David A. Wynne.

Church Honors Pastor With Life Membership in NAACP

Courier P. 8

CHICAGO — Now and then there comes a moment of unusual spiritual uplift in a congregation led by an inspired minister. Such was the case when on Sunday morning, Oct. 24, at the morning service of the Cosmopolitan Independent Community Church, 5249 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago, the congregation voted an NAACP life membership of $500 to the minister, the Rev. Mary G. Evans.

Pittsburgh, Pa.

This presentation came at the conclusion of an address made by Mrs. Daisy E. Lampkin of Pittsburgh, who was the speaker for the special day service. Tears came to the eyes of the Rev. Evans who was completely surprised at this token of appreciation for her services as expressed by the congregation.

FILL ENVELOPES

Following this presentation, the Rev. Evans distributed NAACP membership envelopes to the members of the congregation with a request that they fill them and bring same to the altar presenting them on their names with a prayer of thanksgiving for the work of the national association and for its continued success.

Hundreds of memberships were received which were reported to the Chicago Branch NAACP which is currently conducting its annual campaign.

Rev. Mary G. Evans, Noted Woman Pastor in Chicago, Joins NAACP For Lifetime

Globe Nashville, Tenn. P. 1

New York, Oct. 28 — The Rev. Mary G. Evans, minister of the Cosmopolitan Independent Community Church of Chicago, Ill., heads the list of new NAACP Life Members received this week, it was announced here today by the Association's National Office. The $500 Life Membership was presented to Dr. Evans by the congregation at the church service, Oct. 24 following an address by Mrs. Daisy E. Lampkin of Pittsburgh, guest speaker for the special day service.

Fri. 11-12-54

Another new life member is Presley S. Winfield, prominent realtor of Berkeley, Calif., who made his final payment of $300 at the NAACP Far Western Regional Convention at Asilomar, Calif., Oct. 6.

Partial payments on Life Memberships were received this week from the following persons in the St. Louis, Mo., and East St. Louis, Ill., areas: Dr. John Eubanks, Dr. Edgar F. Woodson, Dr. Wallace A. Fingal, Dr. A. M. Jackson, Atty. Billy Jones, and Marshall T. Dobson, all of East St. Louis; Dr. Herbert Erwin and Dr. J. S. Whittico of St. Louis; and Dr. Earl Williams of Lovejoy, Ill.

3 Take Life Membership In State's NAACP

Informer Washington P. 1

WACO— During the recent State NAACP Convention here, three prominent citizens started life memberships in the organization it was revealed this week.

The life membership program was launched by State Director of Branches Mrs. Lula White of Houston, and State Organizer Mrs. Juanita Craft. The program calls for securing at least thirty Life Memberships in the organization in the ensuing year. A life membership calls for the payment of $500.00.

Sat. 12-11-54

The following persons subscribed to this plan at the Waco meeting: Dr. T. E. Dixon of Temple, Texas; Dr. A. T. Braithwaite and Hubert Walker, both of Waco.

THREE PURCHASE LIFE MEMBERSHIPS IN NAACP

While Gloster Current, New York, director of branches, NAACP, (right) and U. S. Tate, regional attorney, Dallas, look on, Dr. H. W. Williamston, president of the Oklahoma Conference of Branches, NAACP, Editor Roscoe Dunjee, chairman of the executive committee, and Mrs. Alzena Diggs, Oklahoma City, historian of the state conference, last Friday night during the 24th session of the Oklahoma Conference at Idabel, purchased life memberships in the NAACP.

Life memberships cost $500 and may be purchased on the installment plan of $50 per year. Attorney Ada Lois Fisher, the young woman educated by the Oklahoma conference, and who graduated in law from the University of Oklahoma, stands immediately behind Mrs. Diggs and Editor Dunjee.

Minister Life NAACP Member

CHICAGO—(ANP)—The Rev. Mary G. Evans, minister, Metropolitan Independent Community Church of Chicago, heads the list of new NAACP life members added to the rolls last week.

NAACP gains life members

NEW YORK—Twelve persons and organizations became life members of the NAACP during November, according to a report made public today.

They are: Bishop Luther Stewart of the CME Church, Hopkinsville, Ky.; Ft. Archibald V. McLees, pastor of Holy Rosary Roman Catholic Church, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Ahmad C. El, Columbus, Ohio; the New York chapter of the Girl Friends, Inc.

The Mutual Chemical Co., New York; a Grand Lodge of Prince Hall Mason in Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Lucinda B. Robery, Birmingham, Ala.; Hayman M. Cohen, Boston; the Chicago Branch of the National Alliance of Postal Emloyees; Thomas Johnson, Portland, Ore and Morton Grossman, Chestnut Hill, Mass.

THOSE WHO MADE an initial payment on an NAACP life membership are: A.D. Shores, Birmingham, Ala.; the First Aid Auxiliary of Pleasan Grove Baptist Church, Wednell, N.C.; Dr. B. B. Martin, Memphis, Tenn.; Mrs. William Horwitz, New Haven, Conn.

Mrs. Mattie A. Van Buren, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Herman Wolf, Chicago; Mrs. John D. Gordan, New York; the Belle Tan Social and Civic Club of New Haven, Conn.; Dr. T. E. Dixon, Temple, Tex.; Dr. A. T. Braithwaite, Waco, Texas; Theodore L. Miller, New Orleans, La.

CHARLES P. LUCAS, the Rev. Wade H. McKinney, Dr. Nathan K. Christopher, Irving Franklin Jr., Mrs. Mary Hilton, Albert Liggins, Harvey Norton, Robery Riffe, the Shiloh Baptist Church, John Waller, J. W. Wills, John W. Carmack, Crayton's Sausage Co., Mrs. Linda Derritt, the Rev. William Downs, Robert Ellis and Dr. Armen G. Evans all of Cleveland, Ohio.

Also, Mrs. Lillie Gorman, John W. Kellogg, Miss Ada Lieffingwell, Dr. James Levey, Emmett Meade, Lawrence O. Payne, Dr. W. F. Richie, Thomas J. Robinson, Mrs. Beulah Slaughter, Jesse Smith, Dr. Bertrand C. Styles, Page M. Sumpter, William K. Willis, Alonzo Wright and David A. Wynne.

TUSKEGEE AKA's BECOME NAACP LIFE MEMBERS: Members of the Beta Xi Chapter of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority have subscribed to a $500 life membership in the NAACP. This is a total of six NAACP life memberships at Tuskegee, Ala.

Dr. Alfreda Webb, a member of the chapter's civic committee, presents a $100 check to D. L. Beasley, president of the Tuskegee Branch NAACP. The check-presenting followed fervent appeals by Mr. Beasley and C. G. Gomillion, chairman of the branch's life membership committee, urging the chapter to become 100 per cent qualified voters. The check was the first of five annual payments to be made toward the life membership.

Reading from left to right are: Mrs. Jennie Gomillion, Mrs. Rosabell K. Carter, Mrs. Jurhetta Smoot, Dr. Webb, Mr. Beasley and Mr. Gomillion. All of the sorors shown are members of the civic committee for the chapter, except Mrs. Smoot who is the antibasilus. Mrs. Roberta Dabney is chairman of the committee.

32b 1954

NAACP

LOUISIANA

Disbarment Sought For Louisiana NAACP Lawyers

Journal & Guide P. 2
Sat. 10-2-54 Norfolk, Va

BATON ROUGE, La.—The Louisiana Bar Association this week started looking for reasons to disbar two NAACP attorneys whose efforts to implement the Supreme Court's schools de-segregation decision failed early this month.

The bar association has been asked by the East Baton Rouge school board to find reasons for preventing Attorneys Alex Pitcher and Johnny Jones from continuing their practices.

32b

ATTORNEYS Pitcher and Jones took 39 Negro school children to a white elementary school in an attempt to get them registered. School officials refused to register the children despite claims by the attorneys that the school they sought to attend was nearer to their homes.

The East Baton Rouge school board, in seeking disbarment procedures against the two NAACP lawyers, claims that the two acted in violation of a state bar association canon which prohibits "fomenting litigation or strife." The school board also charges that the two lawyers were attempting to "drum up business" as result of what strife they could stir up and said such action is in violation of professional ethics codes.

The school board further claims that it has secured signed statements from 16 parents of the children Attorneys Pitcher and Jones tried to register at the white school on Sept. 2.

United States hog production, after declining for two years, is now on the increase and is likely to continue upward into 1955.

BRANCHES OF MISS. NAACP THREATENED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Efforts to run the NAACP out of the State of Mississippi were reported last week by Mrs. Ruby Hurley, the Association's Southeast Regional Secretary.

Mrs. Hurley described the efforts as "repercussions from the political campaign leading up to the recent primary election in Mississippi."

Action to run the NAACP out of the state was promised by the winner of the Senatorial nomination and several of the legislators in Mississippi, Mrs. Hurley explained.

She said her office has received numerous complaints from NAACP branches in Mississippi describing threatening visits and telephone calls by white persons to branch officers in several sections of Mississippi.

Cause of the lawless threats was laid by Mrs. Hurley to the recent Supreme Court decision banning segregated public schools and to increase interest among Negroes in voting.

"Although our people are terribly annoyed, they are not frightened as it might have been a few years ago," she observes.

Mrs. Hurley said she has been assured by the national office of the NAACP that the full resources of the Association will be used to protect Negroes in Mississippi.

32b 1954 NAACP $75,000 PHILIP MURRAY MEMORIAL FOUNDATION

Gift From Philip Murray Fund:

CIO Gives NAACP $75,000

NEW YORK—Educational projects to secure "the full acceptance of civil rights" were under study this week by officials of the NAACP as they prepared to allocate the $75,000 grant of the Philip Murray Memorial Foundation to the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund. Courier P-1

The grant, largest ever made by a foundation to advance the program of the NAACP, was presented by CIO President Walter Reuther to NAACP President Arthur B. Spingarn here on May 12 at the Carnegie Endowment Building.

It was earmarked for "educational purposes in race relations in the name of Philip Murray."

"IN NO ASPECT of American life is there such an ugly gap as between what America preaches and practices in civil rights," Mr. Reuther asserted.

"The United States must prove to other nations of the world that America's great material wealth will be put to a moral purpose." Pittsburgh Courier

Speaking on behalf of the Philip Murray Foundation, of which he is a trustee, Mr. Reuther said the grant is meant to help the NAACP in the "many tasks" it must do and the "many challenges" it must meet. Pat. 5-22-54

Accepting the check for the NAACP and its Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Mr. Spingarn declared: "I am confident this grant from the Philip Murray Foundation will serve to weld even more closely some common aims of the CIO, the NAACP, and the Legal and Educational Fund." Courier 32b

* * *

ANOTHER SPEAKER, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, pointed out that what the United States does in the field of racial relations "is watched all over the world." Pat 5-22-54

"Philip Murray," she said, "stood for justice and equality for all citizens of the United States."

Other speakers at the ceremonies were Arthur J. Goldberg, general counsel of the CIO and the United Steelworkers of America and director of the Philip Murray Foundation; the Hon. Averell Harriman, former U. S. Ambassador and special assistant to President Truman, and a board member of the Philip Murray Foundation; Emil Rieve, president of the Textile Workers Union of America and chairman of the Philip Murray Foundation; and Willard Townsend, president of the United Transport Service Employes of America, CIO.

The NAACP receives a gift of $75,000 from the Philip Murray Memorial Foundation in New York ceremonies. Shown during the presentation, left to right, are Arthur Spingarn, NAACP president; Walter P. Reuther, CIO president, and Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator.—Campbell Photo.

* * *

IN ADDITION, the NAACP will establish, immediately, an annual Philip Murray Award to be given to the individual or organization making an outstanding contribution in race relations during the past year or years.

The spending of the $75,000 grant will be supervised and directed by a committee composed of Mr. Spingarn, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors, Judge William H. Hastie, Walter White, Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel, and Mr. Goldberg.

The late Mr. Murray was, for several years, a member of the board of directors of the NAACP.

The Philip Murray Memorial Foundation was established by the unions of the CIO with a fund of nearly $1,000,000 to honor the memory of the late president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the United Steelworkers of America, CIO.

Aid From the CIO

THE Congress of Industrial Organizations through the Philip Murray Memorial Foundation has made a magnificent gift of $75,000 to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for use in promoting full acceptance of civil rights guaranteed by the Constitution. Courier

Most of this generous gift will be used by the Legal Defense and Education Fund, Inc., during the next three years to develop "understanding and acceptance of desegregation of institutions and activities under governmental control." P-8 Pittsburgh Courier

We agree with Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO, who, in making the presentation to NAACP President Arthur B. Spingarn, warned that "the free world cannot win the struggle against communism merely by building great military power or flexing its economic muscles," although the advantages of having such power cannot be ignored in the face of Soviet world-wide aggression.

We hope that the American Federation of Labor, the great financial and industrial combines, and the churches of all faiths in this country will match the generosity of the CIO. -22-54

The NAACP has demonstrated by its numerous victories that it knows how to touch the conscience of America in the drive toward the goal of an America without color bias, but to continue its good work it needs concrete aid from those who have the money and can afford to give it.

The aid they give will be a gauge of their sincerity in wanting to eliminate color bias and discrimination from this civilization.

32b 1954

NAACP NATIONAL CONVENTION-1955

NAACP still 'hopes' to meet in Atlantic City next year

Afro-American Baltimore, Md.

32b

NEWARK, N.J.

"We still hope to hold the 1955 national convention of the NAACP in Atlantic City."

This is what Dr. U. S. Wiggins of Camden, president of the New Jersey State Conference of NAACP Branches, told the New Jersey AFRO-AMERICAN on Saturday.

Sat. 11-27-54

He was asked to comment on continued rumors, which began a month ago, that the convention site may be moved to Philadelphia because of the refusal of Boardwalk hotels to accommodate the delegates.

THE HOTELMEN'S Association of Atlantic City, at a conference last month with NAACP representatives, said there was a "possibility" that NAACP delegates could secure 200 double rooms, if the convention dates were changed.

But Dr. Wiggins told the AFRO Saturday:

"We could not hold the national convention in Atlantic City a week previous to June 20, 1955, because school closes June 17, and we are using the high school building for our sessions."

THE HOTELMEN'S Association said they could not accommodate the NAACP delegates any time during June because of previous convention commitments.

Their position is set forth in this letter of Oct. 7 sent to Dr. Wiggins by Frank W. Amstutz, executive secretary:

"This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of Oct. 2, regarding the possibility of securing 200 double rooms with bath. If the dates for the 1955 convention of the NAACP in Atlantic City were changed from the week of June 20-26, when the Lions International is meeting here, to the week of June 13-19, 1955.

"My recollection is that the question of such alternate dates was discussed at a recent meeting here with Mayor Altman.

"AT THAT TIME, I pointed out that the American Medical Association, the American Red Cross, the Lions International and other conventions are booked for that period.

"And while the AMA and Red Cross groups are not as large as the Lions, the fact that there are other bookings for smaller groups in individual hotels, again brings up the problem of obtaining suitable firm reservations for these dates.

"DURING THE alternate dates you have indicated, June 13-19, in addition to the Red Cross with its anticipated attendance of 5,000 there are already booked for that period:

"The Pennsylvania Grocers, the Society of Automotive Engineers and the New Jersey State Lions, each one with an anticipated attendance of from 1,000 to 1,500 delegates.

"There are also other smaller groups that have chosen this period, because they could not be accommodated during the AMA and Lions International convention weeks.

"ADVANCE commitments for room reservations were made by our member hotels to these organizations two or three years ago, and we could certainly be subjected to very severe criticism of any room reservations were accepted from any other groups at this late date.

"We regret that under the circumstances we could not guarantee suitable accommodations for the NAACP during this heavily booked period."

NAACP's Peekskill Chapter Rebuked by Dr. Tobias

Courier - Pittsburgh

NEW YORK—The Peekskill chapter of the NAACP was sharply rebuked last week for having invited Bryant W. Bowles to address a state-wide conference.

Dr. Channing H. Tobias, NAACP board chairman, took Peekskill branch President Melvin Tapley to task for asking Bowles, racist agitator and president, of what he calls the National Association for the Advancement of White People, to the meeting.

"The last thing in the world," Dr. Tobias said, "that the national office or the state conference of the NAACP would do would be to invite a character like that to take part in a program, even if the program was designed to show him up."

DR. TOBIAS promptly postponed the conference "indefinitely."

Sat. 10-30-54

He said, "It is intolerable to extend an invitation to a man who stands in defiance of the implementation of the orders of the United States Supreme Court. He is not only up for trial in connection with his efforts to prevent those children from attending school—there are formal charges against him in Florida and Maryland—but he is facing legal action in connection with the funds of his organization and his own income tax returns.

"The national board will investigate the motive back of issuing such an invitation and will report back in three weeks. The board has the power to revoke a chapter's charter if it finds a situation that is intolerable, and I certainly do feel that issuing such an invitation is intolerable."

Confidence in Tapley

Peekskill's NAACP Backs Its President

Courier Pittsburgh, Pa.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y. — The Peekskill branch of the NAACP last week notified the board of directors of the national branch of its confidence in Melvin Tapley, Peekskill president, who has been severly reprimanded by Board President Channing Tobias for having invited racebaiter Byrant Bowles to address the Peekskill branch.

In a letter to the board, Algernon B. White, recording secretary of the Peekskill branch, stated:

Sat. 11-6-54

"Prior to his assuming office, the Peekskill branch had a total of fifteen members and had no branch meeting for a total of eighteen consecutive months.

"Under Mr. Tapley's leadership the Peekskill branch rose to be one of the largest in Westchester County, brought many notable speakers to Peekskill, including the Hon. Hubert T. Delany, Harcourt Tynes and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, and established a functioning youth council.

* * *

"IN ADDITION, Mr. Tapley sponsored work shops on labor and industry, investigated migrant labor problems in this area and has been mainly responsible for the publication of a monthly bulletin to his members, keeping them abreast of national, state and local NAACP news.

"Furthermore, Mr. Tapley has kept the branch active twelve months a year. Instead of cancelling meetings during the summer months, Mr. Tapley demonstrated his resourcefullness by holding picnic meetings and bus rides.

"We realize that Mr. Tapley has labored ceaselessly and unselfishly to further the cause of the NAACP, and reaffirm our confidence in his leadership and express appreciation for the improvements he has brought about in our community during the past two years.

* * *

"WE CONSIDER one error in judgment does not negate nor disqualify Mr. Tapley continuing as the president of the Peekskill branch of the NAACP and carrying on the magnificent job he has accomplished."

N.A.A.C.P. CENSURE LIKELY

State Committee Action Due on Peekskill Invitation to Bowles

Herald Tribune

RYE, N. Y., Oct. 22—The state executive committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is expected to censure the president of the association's Peekskill branch for issuing a speaking invitation to Bryant Bowles, head of the National Association for the Advancement of White People.

This was announced today by Mrs. Effie Gordon, president of the state conference of branches of the N. A. A. C. P. She said the executive committee would meet in her home here Nov. 13 to consider the "unauthorized" invitation by Melvin Tapley.

Mr. Bowles has been leading agitation against the desegregation of public schools in Delaware. Mr. Tapley's invitation led to the cancellation of a three-day N. A. A. C. P. state conference that was to have been held in Peekskill beginning tonight.

N.A.A.C.P., Convening in Dallas, Acts to Widen Segregation Fight

By The Associated Press.

DALLAS, June 28—The leading official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People declared today that the coming challenge of de-segregation was "not a Negro problem, but an American problem."

Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the board of the association, made his remarks here on the eve of the group's annual convention as 100 Negro lawyer members began planning attacks against segregation in the fields of city transportation and railroad operations.

"On this, as on all great moral issues, the heart of the American people is sound," the 72-year-old New York official said. "And I believe that is true of all parts of the United States."

Dr. Tobias termed the Supreme Court decision of May 17 banning segregation in public schools the "climax of a long, uphill fight." He said that he looked to the "difficult road ahead with decided optimism."

Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the association, who is presiding over the meeting, said, "There is a good possibility we will move into the areas of local and train transportation soon."

"Cases are in preparation and should be filed within about a month," he declared.

Mr. Marshall, who helped argue the school case before the high court, discussed with other Negro lawyers how to handle any possible suits. The lawyers will confer with state presidents of the association tomorrow, the opening of the sixth-day convention. About 700 delegates are expected.

Mr. Marshall, declaring that the convention this week would consider other fields in which it would fight segregation, mentioned, housing, recreation and employment in addition to transportation. But, he added, "schools are most important to me."

The sessions today were held at the St. John the Baptist Negro Baptist Church in Dallas. The delegates are staying in private homes because of segregation in Dallas hotels.

Integration Chief Topic for 700 Delegates

DALLAS—Uppermost in the minds of the 700 delegates attending the six-day 45th annual convention of the NAACP which opened here Tuesday is the impact of the Supreme Court decision of May 17 banning racial segregation in public education.

A full day, Thursday, will be devoted to a discussion by lawyers, experts and delegates of these decisions and of ways and means of implementing them.

To the NAACP, the Court's rulings represent the culmination of almost a half-century of persistent effort to undermine the legal props to segregation.

Other topics which the delegates will study include political action techniques, methods of curbing discrimination in employment, plans for combatting racial restrictions in hospitals and health education, and ways and means of eliminating racial barriers in housing.

In addition there will be discussion of such organizational problems as fund raising, membership campaigns, cooperation with the church, labor, fraternal and civic organizations.

There will also be sessions devoted to the problems of young people under the general supervision of Herbert L. Wright, youth secretary.

A series of workshops has been scheduled for the young delegates from local communities and the colleges and schools of the country.

Dr. Tobias, Keynoter

Dr. Channing H. Tobias of New York, chairman of the Board of Directors, delivered the keynote address at the opening mass meeting Tuesday night, at the Good Street Baptist Church.

Sharing the platform at the Wednesday night meeting will be James B. Carey, of Washington, D.C., secretary-treasurer of the CIO and Thurgood Marshall, special counsel, who argued the Clarendon County, S.C., public school segregation case before the United States Supreme Court.

The youth division of the Association will present a dramatic skit, "Fire of Freedom" under the direction of Miss Elsie Gibbs of Perth Amboy, N.J.

Friday night, the Spingarn Medal, awarded annually to a colored American for distinguished achievement, will be presented to Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, the noted dermatologist. Dr. Lawless will be the 39th Spingarn Medalist.

Bunche, White To Speak

The closing mass meeting will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Dallas Sportatorium with Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, top ranking American in the United Nations Secretariat, and Walter White, the veteran executive secretary of the NAACP as speakers.

A two-day meeting of lawyers will precede the opening of the convention. Other sessions of special interest will include roundtable conferences of ministers, of labor representatives, of physicians and other health workers.

Thursday at a dinner meeting, units of th Association will report on the national Fight for Freedom Campaign.

Only once before has the NAACP held its annual convention in Texas. That was in 1941 when the organization met at Houston. There are now 80 local units in the state with a total enrollment of nearly 20,000 members.

A regional office of the Association is maintained here in Dallas with U. Simpson Tate as regional counsel and Haywood Montgomery as assistant field secretary.

Of chief concern to the delegates who attended the Houston Convention 13 years ago was the fight to regain the ballot through invalidation of the "white primary."

The Supreme Court ruling which finally banned the "white primary" was not secured until three years later.

NAACP MEETS!

Sets Integration Deadline Sept. '55

See PICTURES on Page 12

By ARNOLD DE MILLE

DALLAS — Segregation in public schools must end by September, 1955, the NAACP declared at its 45th annual convention here June 28 through July 4.

The target date was set as a deadline for Southern states involved in the May 17 Supreme Court decision. outlawing segregation in public schools, to comply with the edict.

The convention, one of the most impressive held in years, came to a smashing climax Sunday afternoon with stirring and inspiring addresses of Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Nobel Peace prize winner and top ranking American UN official, Walter White, NAACP executive director, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the NAACP board, James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO, NAACP administrator Roy Wilkins and Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel.

One of the highlights of the convention was the presentation of the Spingarn Medal to Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, of Chicago, one of the world's leading dermatologists, consultant and an assistant professor at Northwestern university.

The presentation of the NAACP's highest honor to Dr. Lawless was made by Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of the college of the City of New York.

The action on the implementation of the Supreme Court decisions was taken by the NAACP branch presidents in a closed session Wednesday and announced by Thurgood Marshall who said that "primary emphasis will be on the elementary and high school levels" in the four states specified in the decision, plus the states where Negroes are barred from the graduate and professional schools.

DR. CHANNING TOBIAS

No action will be taken immediately following the target date, however, if a school board fails to obey the now "law of the land," as long as it indicates by that date that it intends to desegregate voluntarily.

"We want to work with the school boards and will continue to do so and will not go into court until convinced that the school board will not follow the law," Marshall said.

The decision to set the beginning of the 1955 school term as its target followed four days of in-

Full Body Agrees With Atlanta Plan

Delegates To Annual Meet Feel Efforts Should Be Launched Now To Mix Schools In September '54

By THOMAS W. YOUNG

DALLAS—The tensely-awaited decision on NAACP strategy to bring about an end of segregation in public schools was given during the 45th annual convention, and was unanimously approved by the 766 delegates from 40 states and the District of Columbia.

Leaders of the NAACP will lend a helping hand to officials of any community seeking to desegregate its schools.

• • •

THEY WILL confer, counsel, and negotiate with the authorities of such communities beyond the target date of September, 1955, just so long as they are acting in good faith to accomplish what the U. S. Supreme Court says is required by the law of the land.

Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel of the association and chief architect of the new democratic school structure, gave this assurance in his stirring speech last Wednesday night. It was repeated by Walter White addressing the final mass meeting Sunday, and in a resolution adopted by the convention on Saturday.

THAT DECISION had been reached by state conference presidents and members of the NAACP legal and administrative staffs during three days of conference at the outset of the convention.

And it provided an answer to questions that had been raised by the Atlanta Declaration issued by leaders of the Association from 17 southern states one week after the Supreme Court rendered its decision in the school cases on May 17.

* * *

HISTORY has its vanity, too, for it fashioned a dramatic moment for this week's historic NAACP action. It was just a little more than a month ago that the very foundation of discrimination and inequality and second class citizenship came crumbling down as the Supreme Court's judgment was read: segregation of children in public schools violates their constitutional rights.

And then one week later, proceeding from this same doctrine, the Supreme Court decreed in five additional cases that a municipal or state government cannot deny use of its publicly owned or supported facilities, such as golf courses, auditoriums and junior or undergraduate colleges, without violating the constitutional rights of those citizens it seeks to exclude.

• • •

THESE GREAT decisions, on the eve of this convention held deep in the Southland, followed almost one hundred years to the day, on July 6, 1854, when delegates went on foot and on horseback to Jackson, Mich., to organize the Republican party for the avowed purpose of halting the creeping malignancy of human slavery in this country.

And now the NAACP has chosen the end of another century—dating from the Emancipation Proclamation which nine years later bore the ultimate fruit of that anti-slavery movement and a great civil war between the slave and free states — as the target date for the complete elimination of all forms of segregation and second class citizenship in this country.

BY 1963, ONE hundred years after Lincoln took the black man out of human bondage, leaders of the NAACP believe they will have achieved their goal of full equality and first class citizenship in the nation which he helped to build upon the plains, in the valley and along the rivers of this vast wilderness, and which he helped to preserve and keep inviolate from attack or destruction by despots, by fighting and dying in all of its wars.

Such were the aspirations and the hopes of more than 6,000 delegates who filled every seat and stood in the aisles of the Sportatorium here Sunday afternoon to applaud and cheer as Dr. Ralph Bunche brought to a stirring conclusion the six-day "Counsel of Elders."

THEY FOUND inspiration in the career of this humble son of one of America's industrial capitals, Detroit, who had risen to a position higher than any other American in the Secretariat of the United Nations, and who had won the coveted Nobel Peace Prize for his brilliant conduct of negotiations that brought an end to hostilities between Jew and Arab in the Middle East.

They found courage in his unwavering devotion to the American way of life, in his unshakable faith in the democratic process that is a basic part of our government, in his unyielding dedication to the fight for full enjoyment of the citizenship rights that are his as an endowment of his birth in this country.

• • •

Then, 6,090 strong, they sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

THEY SANCTIONED and echoed his reaffirmation of determination expressed in the concluding words of his brilliant address:

"The American Negro will never be satisfied with less than full and complete enjoyment of his rights as an American citizen."

---

formal discussions between NAACP attorneys and the state conference presidents.

The two groups also decided that their number one priority for the coming year after the elementary school cases are (1) intra-state (local) transportation, (2) housing and (3) recreation facilities. The three areas were adopted as a package.

The 1954 convention got underway Monday, June 28, the temperature hitting almost 100 degrees, with the informal discussions on the implementation of the Supreme Court decisions.

The official confab began the next day with a mass meeting at the Good Street Baptist church. Milton Richardson, City Councilman, of Dallas, welcomed the 700 delegates from 45 states.

TOBIAS SPEAKS

Dr. Channing H. Tobias delivered the keynote address. He said that the NAACP will not "stand by idly while the enemies of the democratic process in the persons of public officials hold closed-door conferences to devise ways and means of evading the court's rulings."

The crowd of more than 1,500 persons, white and colored, who packed the Good Street Baptist church and blocked the sidewalk cheered when he said that the association will not be "sympathetic" with the teachers who are too lazy to prepare themselves for the larger and more exacting responsibilities of integration.

Dr. Tobias denounced the efforts of the two ex-Communist party members, Manning Johnson and Leonard Patterson, who tried to "smear" Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, by their accusations before the loyalty board.

All the business sessions and workshops were held at the St. John Baptist church. Most of the workshops dealt with the implementation of the Supreme Court decisions, the elimination of discrimination in housing, employment, transportation and the restrictions in hospitals and health education.

A great deal of stress was placed on the possible cooperation between NAACP branches and the local school boards. While the association urges that desegregation can be put into effect as soon as possible, negotiation with the school boards which have not lived up to the law will not terminate on September 1955, as long as the boards show that they are negotiating in good faith.

NAACP lawyer or expert working on desegregation details will be present at all meetings between school boards and NAACP branches.

Thurgood Marshall told a cheering crowd which jammed the Good Street Baptist church Wednesday night that the movement toward desegregation reveals many bright spots and many dark ones.

"I, for one, do not intend to waste my time or the NAACP's time in debating back and forth statements made by some politicians of the South who have repeatedly demonstrated that solely for political ambitions they not only put themselves above the law of the land but are willing to wreck the land," Marshall replied.

"Nor do I believe we should waste too much time on the few Negroes in this country who might have been so indoctrinated by their long oppression, as to actually believe that they are better off as second-class citizens than 100 percent Americans," the NAACP chief counsel told the shouting crowd.

Among those who appeared in the workshops and panels are experts in the fields of education, housing and civil rights legislation. Robert L. Carter, NAACP assistant chief counsel, led most of the legal discussions on transportation and education.

Participating were Dr. Kenneth B. Clark of New York, an assistant professor at the City College of New York, whose research on the psychological damages segregation has on Negro children was cited by the U. S. Supreme Court in its recent decisions, Edward R. Dudley, former ambassador to Liberia and now director of the NAACP's "Fight for Freedom" campaign, Madison Jones, former FHA official now an associate in the Correspondent Service Corporation in New York, Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington Bureau, Dr. George S. Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington Bureau, Dr. George S. Mitchell, director of the Southern Regional Council and bitter foe of Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia, Kelly M. Alexander of Charlotte, N. C.; Dr. Margaret Butcher of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Constance Motley and Jack Greenberg, both of NAACP Legal Defense staff in New York.

Also, Ernest Calloway of St. Louis; Myles C. Stevens, Kansas City, Kans.; Jawn Sandifer of New York; Dr. George D. Flemming, Fort Worth, Texas; Mrs. R. L. Bates publisher, Little Rock, Ark.; Spottswood Robinson, 3rd, and Oliver Hill, attorneys in the Virginia school case; Mrs. Ruby Hurley, NAACP Southern regional director, Birmingham; Billy Jones, East St. Louis, Ill.; Atty. Daniel E. Byrd, New Orleans; Atty. Franklin H. Williams of San Francisco; June Shagaloff of New York, Atty. Arthur L. Johnson of Detroit and Mrs. Cora Patton of Chicago.

Churches Aid Campaign

'EE' Fund Now Nearing $16,000

The Courier "EE" Fund was kept rolling last week with the addition of $870.07, pushing the new total in the interest of educational equality to $15,668.70.

The Southeast Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance of San Diego, Calif., including ten member churches, headed the list of public spirited contributors for the week with a donation of $261.

In line right behind the church group was the Huntington (W. Va.) Branch NAACP with $150 and the Bank Street Baptist Church, Norfolk, Va., with $100.

"EE" CONTRIBUTIONS RECEIVED LAST WEEK

Southeast Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, San Diego, Calif. $261.00
Member Churches:
St. Paul Methodist
Bethel Memorial A. M. E.
Logan Temple A. M. E. Z.
Philips Temple C. M. E.
Bethel Baptist
Greater Calvary Baptist
Friendship Baptist
Mount Zion Baptist
LaJolla A. M. E.
Jackson Memorial Church of God in Christ.

Mrs. A. H. Crooms, Orlando, Fla.. 1.00
A/3 Eugene Green, AF 13431919 308th Field Maintenance Square, Hunter AFB, Savannah, Ga. ... 1.00
Bertha Hills, Jayess, Miss. 1.00
Mrs. E. L. Collins, Nuyaka, Okla. 1.00
Dr. Charles F. Whitten, Philadelphia, Pa. 10.00
W. W. Casmon 5.00
Dr. James E. Jackson 5.00
Mrs. E. Hamilton 1.00
Mrs. Ruth Porter 1.00
Edythe L. Waters 1.00
Mrs. Ophelia McCoy 1.00
Bill E. Williams 1.00
Mrs. Anna Payne 1.00
Mrs. Marie H. Carter 1.00
Mrs. Clara Walton 1.00
Mrs. D. Williams 1.00
Mrs. M. A. Brown 1.00
Robert Henderson 1.00
Mrs. Annie Self 1.00
Mrs. Magres Lee 1.00
Mrs. E. L. Rogers 1.00
Mrs. Inex Smiley 1.00
Mrs. Mary B. Head 1.00
Mrs. Josie Howard 1.00
Mrs. Nora Hatter 1.00
Mrs. Lola Mathis 1.00
Mrs. T. T. Payne 1.00
Rev. Joe T. Denman 2.00
Clem Callerson 1.00
Mrs. J. Funderburg 1.00
Mrs. Leona Griffin 1.00
Washington Seed Company 5.00
Abe Aronson 1.00
Robert Fleeks 1.00
Albert Radcliffe 1.00
Lawson Jones 1.00
Nathan Hightower 1.00
C. H. Hatter 1.00
Melvin Kidd 1.00
Otto L. Davis 1.00
Mrs. A. M. Harding 1.00
W. B. Foster 1.00
Charles Mathis 1.00
Joseph Upshaw 1.00
Eddie L. Williams 1.00
James L. Davis 1.00
Louis Vincent 1.00
Sherman Willis ..... .25
Ellis Jones ..... .50
Tyree Fleeks 1.00
Al Larkins 2.00
Ernest Griffin 1.00
Monroe Gage 1.00
Mr. and Mrs. William Harrell ... 3.00
Mint Beverage 1.00
Little Mart Records 2.00
Scott Electric Shop 1.00
Alexander Bishop 1.00
O. C. Brooks 1.00
West Barbecue 1.00
Mrs. John Roland 1.00
Samuel Bishop 1.00

(December 24, 1953)

Ada Mercer, New York, N. Y. 2.00
Bank Street Baptist Church, Norfolk, Va. 100.00
Jennie E. Morris, Philadelphia, Pa. 10.00
Mrs. Emma Tibbs, Salem, Ohio .. 1.00
Interracial Association of Binghampton, Inc., Binghampton, N. Y. 10.00
B. P. Hicks, Berkeley, Calif. 1.00
520th Transportation Truck Co., APO 216-2 U. S. Army:
Alton P. Fisco 1.00
James Moore 1.00
Nathaniel Green 1.00
Ezell Haynes 1.00
Richard Heyward 1.00
Walter Lambright 2.00
Woodrow Wallace 1.00
Charles Leach 1.00
Lewis Moore, ... 1.00
James McClure 1.00
Joseph Simeon 1.00
Lee Stewart 1.00
Longhorn Thornhill 1.00
William Wright 1.00
Eddie Williams 1.00
Junious Fryer 1.00
Willie J. Gary 1.00
James Ghee 1.00
Andrew Jackson 1.00
Garfield Jackson 1.00
William Langston 1.00
Leon Makie 1.00
Donald McDoyal 1.00
Richard Moore 1.00
Charles Oglesby 1.00
Roy Roquemore 1.00
Clarence Allmon 1.00
Whitney Brown 1.00
Robert Bond ..... .50
Drew Carr 1.00
Nolan Clark 1.00
Willie Morris 1.00
Cleveland Thomas ..... .50
Ramond Vaughn 1.00
Andrew Yarbrough 1.00
Ivan Stuart 1.00
Booker Felder ..... .50
Oliver Peel 1.00
Willie Macklin ..... .50
Josh Burke 1.00
Ardell Collier 1.00
James Fenner ..... .50
Richard Welch 1.00
Jessie Burges 1.00
George Patrick 1.00
Saint J. Boyd 1.00
Jessie Allen ..... .50
Herbert Brooks 1.00
Hender Curruthers 1.00
Arthur Clark 1.00
Walter Ervins ..... .50
Willie Farrow 1.00
Lester Franklin 1.00
John Williams ..... .50
William C. Carr 1.00
Clifford Whiteside 1.00
Lessbe Robbins 1.00
Nathaniel Williams 1.00
Edward Trice 1.00
John Dougherty 2.00
James Butler 1.00
Wilton Carraby 1.00
Hunter Durham 1.00
F. B. Perron, Waupun, Wis. 2.00
Huntington Branch NAACP, Harry G. James, president, Huntington, W. Va. 150.00
Alexander Freeman Lodge 2, FAM W. L. Wood, W. M., Huntington, W. Va. 25.00
Barnett P-TA, Mrs. M. T. Gray, president 25.00
Douglass P-TA, Mrs. Carrie Venable, president .. 25.00
Douglass Alumni Association George A. Reed, president 25.00
Old-Timers Club, Dr. W. K. Elliott, president ... 28.00
Huntington Choral Union, Mrs. Hattie Cain, president 10.00
Calvary Baptist Church, Rev. L. R. Walker, minister ... 16.17
Renaissance Club, Charles Baldwin, president 9.00
The Donnerstags, Mrs. Lenace Gilmore, president . 5.00
The Busy Fingers, Mrs. Mary Hines, president 5.00
Old Duchess Club, Mrs. Lillian Crump, president .. 5.00
Mrs. Lillie Harris 1.50

$829.67
Total collected last week ..$ 870.07
Previous total $14,798.63

Grand total $15,668.70

And Still Growing

'EE' Fund Over $16,000 Mark

The Courier's "EE" Fund Campaign, innoculated with a $200 contribution from the New Orleans Executives Council, rocketed to and over the $16,000 mark this week as it continued its giddy climb in the realm of five figures.

The week's totals of $499.70 were aided no end by a $96 injection from Carl Brown, Chief Sky Cap at the New York International Airport, Queens, L. I. Then, too, encouraging news comes from Lake Charles, La., where the local NAACP Branch's contributions reached the $900 mark.

Mrs. Doresha A. Combre, chairman of the drive, and a strong supporter of the Lake Charles effort, Mrs. E. E. Cohen, chimed in unison "We must reach our goal of $1,000."

CONTRIBUTORS of the pas even days included the follow ng:

(Dec. 28, 1953)

. L. McCray, Waupin, Wis. .....$ 2.0
. J. Burkett, LaPlace, La. 1.0
. K. Upton, Sweetwater, Tenn. . 2.0
Mr. and Mrs. M. Collins, Rome, N. Y. 1.0
arl Brown, Chief Sky Cap, N. Y. International Airport, Idlewild Queens, New York City, N. Y. 96.00
awn E. Watson, Detroit, Mich... 5.00
Mrs. I. Walker, Los Angeles, Calif. 5.00

(Dec. 29, 1953)

. F. Jones, Johnstown, Pa. 1.00
. J. Carter, Madera, Calif. 1.00
. H. Lee, Jefferson City, Mo. ... 1.35
New Orleans Insurance Executives Council, 1128 N. Claiborne Ave., New Orueans, La. 200.00
Vanguard Club, West Palm Beach, Fla. 25.00

(Dec. 30, 1953)

Standard Life Insurance Co., 1530 N. Clarborne Ave., New Orleans, La. 25.00
William Myortt 1.00
Oscar Dalton 1.00
Duffy Wilformed 1.00
Wisconsin State Prison, Waupin, Wis.
Lake Charles NAACP Branch, Route 3, Box 59
Sunlight Baptist Church 10.00
Starlight Baptist Church 10.00
Evergreen Baptist Church 10.00
Mount Olive Baptist Church 5.00
New Light Baptist Church 5.00
Toussant Service Station 5.00
Remainder of contributions—Mrs. D. A. Cambre, chairman, and Mrs. E. E. Cohen 57.85
A. W. Johnson, Boston, Mass. ... 1.00
Isis Court 104, AEOAMS, San Diego, Calif. 13.50
Daughters of Isis Mohamet Court 93, East Chicago, Ind. .. 5.00

(Dec. 31, 1953)

O. D. Munfort, New York City.... 3.00
L. A. Horne, Alamo, Ga. 1.00

Week's Total .....$ 499.70
Previous Total $15,668.70

Grand Total $16,168.40

EE Fund Over As Campaign Tops $16,000

In its final week the Courier "EE" Fund surged to $16,412.52 with a contribution of $103.10 from inmates of the State House of Correction and Branch Prison in Marquette, Mich., as the high note in the week's total of $244.12.

Inmates at the institution wish to remain anonymous, but it is reliably reported that more than half the contributors were white.

This sum, along with a previously reported $582.51 from inmates at Jackson Prison, makes a total of over $700 received in inmate donations.

Also previously received, but not published was $15.55 from the First Institutional Baptist Church of Phoenix, Ariz.

In closing out the "EE" Campaign, the Courier wants to take this opportunity to sincerely thank all those organizations and individuals who made this effort such a tremendous success.

We are truly grateful for your support . . . for the sacrifices you made . . . for proving to all America that Negroes are interested in first-class citizenship . . . and will back up their beliefs with their dollars.

Any further contributions to this worthy cause should be sent direct to the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, Inc., 107 West Forty-third Street, New York, N. Y.

"EE" CONTRIBUTIONS
(Week of Jan. 23)

Warden Jacques of State House of Corrections and Branch Prison, Marquette, Mich.	$103.10
Major Robinson, New York, N. Y.	5.00
Regal Hotel and Guest, Los Angeles, Calif.	13.54
Mrs. A. M. Coleman, Miami, Fla.	2.00
Macedonia Baptist Church, Albian, Mich.	20.00
F. A. Hather, Chillicothe, Ohio	2.00
Perkins Ford, Oakland, Calif.	2.00
Percy Carter Jr., Woburn, Mass.	1.00
J. M. Christian, New York, N. Y.	1.00
Nina M. Mack, Detroit, Mich.	5.00
Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Hart, New York, N. Y.	1.00
M. C. Adamson, South Mount, Pa.	2.00
Mrs. E. Murphy, Philadelphia, Pa.	1.00
Utopia Club, Inc., Mobile, Ala.	33.00
Dr. P. W. Goode, Mobile, Ala.	1.00
Mr. and Mrs. Linall Hill, Statesville, N. C.	1.00
L. S. Mills, Statesville, N. C.	1.00
Mrs. Mary Sue Dobson, Statesville, N. C.	3.00
Chicago and Northern District Association of Colored Women, Inc., Chicago, Ill.	20.00
R. J. Conrad, Waupun, Wis.	1.00
St. John Baptist Church, Woburn, Mass.	6.48
Mrs. E Welch, Los Angeles, Calif.	1.00
Mrs. C. Greene, Los Angeles, Calif.	1.00
La Branche's Pharmacy, New Orleans, La.	5.00
Charles W. Hatcher Sr., Cincinnati, Ohio	2.00
Samuel D. Carmichael, Albrook Air Force Base, Cana Zone	5.00
"Grad Student," Ohio State U., Columbus, Ohio	2.00
Pete Minor, Lima, Ohio	1.00
Marguerite Forte, New York, N. Y.	2.00
Total	$ 244.12
Previous Total	$16,168.40
Grand Total	$16,412.52

* * *

Previously acknowledged, but not printed was the sum of $34 from residents of Coffeyville, Kan.

R. M. Seaton	$10.00
J. C. McCament	3.00
Cameron MacNisson	1.00
P. M. Preble	1.00
Kress and Company	2.00
W. Pool	1.00
J. O. Kerr	1.00
Rinker Sewing Machine Company	1.00
Eileen Ridgeway	1.00
Hal Bray Buick Company	1.00
Mrs. George Renner	1.00
Mr. and Mrs. Perry Orman	1.00
Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Terry	1.00
Elmer Ross	2.00
Skinner Funeral Home	2.00
Mrs. Bertha Zackery	1.00
Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stewart	1.00
W. L. Hardy	1.00
Mr. and Mrs. Will Wooden	2.00
	$34.00

Defense Fund spent $47,456 Thurgood

Afro-American

NAACP leader hails press, public for financial aid

Sat. 2-6-54

NEW YORK (ANP) — Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel of the NAACP, reported on Dec. 31, that the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. collected $71,642.50 and spent $47,456.95, between June 1 and Dec. 22, 1953, for the preparation and re - argument of five school segregation cases before the U.S. Supreme Court and the follow - up of these cases.

Declaring that the campaign to raise the necessary funds was a success, Marshall praised the colored press for its work in behalf of the fund. In a report audited by the W. C. Heaton and Company, certified public accountants, Marshall stated:

INCOME: $71,642.50 taken in as follows: colored press solicitations, $17,278.44; general contributions, $15,443.52; committee of "100," $25,170.43, and special fund raising, $13,750.11.

Notes Expenditures

EXPENDITURES: $47,456.95 spent as follows: travel expenses, of non-staff lawyers, $11,722.74; travel expenses of staff lawyers, $3,800.79; lawyers, conferences, $3,053.18; honoraria and expenses of non-legal experts, $9,834.58.

Baltimore

Fund raising expenses, $1,973.45; telephone and telegraph, $1,-$1,973.45; stenographic $2,632.30; messenger service, $64.50; mimeographing, $471.79; mats and photographs, $63.60, and printing $12,720.

The fund has a remaining balance of $24,185.55.

Explaining that the fight for first class citizenship still goes on for colored people, Marshall said more expenses can be expected to carry on the battle in the future.

Of the financial support and colored press, Marshall said in part:

"The colored press and its readers must be proud of this trerific response to a real emergency. When the story is finally written of this era, the colored press will certainly have its high place on the credit side of the leger."

AIDS LEGAL DEFENSE—J. Mercer Burrell, right, grand director of the civil rights division of the Knights of Pythias of New Jersey, presents Thurgood Marshall, director of NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, with $200 in checks toward its legal work.

Defense Fund spent $47,456-Thurgood

Afro-American P. 3

NAACP leader hails press, public for financial aid

NEW YORK (ANP) — Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel of the NAACP, reported on Dec. 31, that the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. collected $71,642.50 and spent $47,456.95, between June 1 and Dec. 22, 1953, for the preparation and re - argument of five school segregation cases before the U.S. Supreme Court and the follow - up of these cases.

Declaring that the campaign to raise the necessary funds was a success, Marshall praised the colored press for its work in behalf of the fund. In a report audited by the W. C. Heaton and Company, certified public accountants, Marshall stated:

INCOME: $71,642.50 taken in as follows: colored press solicitations, $17,278.44; general contributions, $15,443.52; committee of "100," $25,170.43, and special fund raising, $13,750.11.

Notes Expenditures

EXPENDITURES: $47,456.95 spent as follows: travel expenses, of non-staff lawyers, $11,722.74; travel expenses of saff layews, $3,800.79; lawyers, conferences, $3,053.18; honoraria and expenses of non-legal experts, $9,834.58.

Fund raising expenses, 45; telephone and telegraph, $1,-$1,973.45; telephone and telegraph, $1,38.02; stenographic $2,632.30; messenger service, $64.50; mimeographing, $471.79; mats and photographs, $63.60, and printing $12,720.

The fund has a remaining balance of $24,185.55.

Explaining that the fight for first class citizenship still goes on for colored people, Marshall said more expenses can be expected to carry on the battle in the future.

Newark, N.J.

Of the financial support and colored press, Marshall said in part:

The colored press and its readers must be proud of this terrific response to a real emergency. When the story is finally written of this era, the colored press will certainly have its high place on the credit side of the ledger.

Sat. 1-9-54

Freedom Fund upped by $346

NEW YORK — Six trade union locals and eight local branches of the NAACP contributed a total of $346.54 to the association's Fight for Freedom Fund during the week ending Jan. 20.

The contributing trade union locals, all affiliates of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, CIO, include:

Fort Worth, Texas, $50; Mason City, Iowa, $25; Des Moines, Iowa, $25; $15 each from Evansville, Ind., and Chicago, Ill.; and $10 from Wichita, Kan.

The contributing local NAACP branches include:

Morris county, N.J., $100; Leavenworth, Kans., $25; Clayton county, Ala., $20; Montgomery, W. Va., $17.24; Dillon, S. C. $13.75; Monongahela Valley, Pa., $10.50; Fayette, W. Va., $10.05; and Oakland county, Mich., $10.

$1,214 donated to NAACP fund

NEW YORK — A state group and seven local units of the NAACP have contributed a total of $1,164.27 to the association's Fight for Freedom Fund. Another contribution of $50 was received from Ike Smalls, Des Moines, Ia.

The Georgia State Conference of NAACP branches sent in a contribution of $500. Other branches contributing include Newark, $406.35; Schenectady, N.Y., $127.42; Easton, Pa., and Butte, Montana, $50 each; Monongahela Valley, Pa., $10.50; Greggton, Texas, and Corona, N.Y.: $10 each.

Contribute $727 more to Fight For Freedom Fund

NEW YORK — Branches, churches and individuals this week contributed a total of $727.85 to the Fight for Freedom Fund of the NAACP.

Contributions included: Anson, Conn., $100; Chicago Heights, Ill., $41.11; Parkersburg, W. Va., $32.50; Norwalk, Conn., $31.10; Dothan, Ala., $30.00; Saginaw, Mich., $25.04; Three Rivers, Mich., $18.75; Wadmalow Island, S.C., $15.00; Laurel, Miss., $11.60 and $5.00 from the Brooklyn, N.Y. college chapter.

Churches Give

Contributions received directly from churches included $50 from the AME Zion church, Salisbury, N.C., and $32.75 from the Pilgrim Baptist church, St. Paul, Minn.

Individual contributors included Mrs. H. Scoville, Taconic, Conn., $100; Mrs. Hendley Calloway, New York City, $50, and an anonymous person who donated $185.

NAACP Fund drive richer by $459.84

NEW YORK — Labor unions, churches, fraternities, local NAACP branches and individuals last week continued their financial support of the NAACP's Fight for Freedom campaign, by contributing a total of $459.84 to the cause.

The campaign aims to wipe out all racial discrimination and segregation in the United States by Jan. 1, 1963 the centennial of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

The National Fraternal Council of Negro Churches in America, with headquarters in Washington, D.C. sent $200 to the Fight for Freedom.

Chicago Heights Gift

The Chicago Heights, Ill., branch of the Association also forwarded $200. and the NAACP branch in Johnstown, Pa., $13.34 The funds from Johnstown were collected by local churches.

Local 1 of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, CIO, in Ottumwa, Iowa, sent $25.00; and Alpha Pi Lambda chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity in Norfolk, Va., $20.00. Miss Ella C Carey, of the Bronx, New York sent $1.50.

Court ruling hike NAACP contributions

NEW YORK—In response to a special appeal following the Supreme Court ruling against public school segregation, 36 contributors last week sent in a total of $2,710 to the NAACP Fight for Freedom Fund.

An additional $571 was received from an individual contributor, a labor union, two persons who made initial payments on life memberships and eight local units of the NAACP.

Two Give $500

Contributions of $500 each were received from Dr. Rivers Frederick of New Orleans and the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Durham; Central Life Insurance Co. of Florida, $300; Dr. E. N. Ezidore, Gramercy, La., $150;

Dr. James E. Martin, Philadelphia; Dr. James M. Pair, Baltimore; Southern Aid Life Insurance Company, Richmond, Va.; Ministerial Alliance, Knoxville, Tenn.; Dr. Joseph G. Gathings, Washington; Harry Enblestein, Chicago; and the Superior Life Insurance Co., Detroit, $100 each.

$50 Contributors

Frank Schiffman, New York; Ira Gershwin, Beverly Hills, Calif.; Mrs. Gertrude Brown, Port Arthur, Texas; Dr. Robert M. Greene, Charlotte, N.C.; Dr. T. M. Smith, Chicago; Mrs. Richard M. Harris, Rochester, N.Y.; and Harold J. Drescher, New York;

$35, $25, $20, $10, $5

Robert L. Brokenburr, Indianapolis, $35; $25 each, Dr. O. B. Taylor, Knoxville; Melvin De Groote, St. Louis; Hugo Heydorn, Jamaica, L.I.; Augustus K. Oliver, Pittsburgh; Dr. T. L. Lowrie, Miami; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mayer; and Frederic G. Melcher, New York.

Capt. Henry C. Everett, $20; $15 each, Allen and Edwards, Jamaica, L.I.; Eisner and Lubin Foundation, New York; $10 each, C. A. Cowan, Knoxville; St. Paul Church and Harry W. Harris, Rochester; and J. H. Garfunkel, New York; and $5 each, Mrs. O. B. Taylor and Dr. A. J. Bacote, Knoxville.

Life Member Payments

First payments of life memberships were made by Sgt. Joseph F. Laine of Louisville and H. B. Law of Chicago. Local 82, Chicago, United Packinghouse Workers of America, CIO, sent in $10.

The San Antonio, Texas, youth council led the NAACP contributions with $150, followed by the New Castle, Pa., branch with $100.

Other NAACP units contributed as follows: Brewton, Ala., $50; Arcadia, La., $25; Cedar Rapids, Ia., $12; Knoxville College, Knoxville, Tenn., and Allen High School, Asheville, N.C., $10 each; and University of Michigan, $4.

Senator gives NAACP $1,000

NEW YORK — Sen. and Mrs. Herbert Lehman last week contributed $1,000 to the Fight for Freedom campaign of the NAACP. The campaign seeks to rid America of racial discrimination and segregation by Jan. 1, 1963 — the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation.

The week's total of campaign contributions—$1,971—was received at campaign headquarters here both from private individuals and from local branches and a state unit of the association.

GRIFFITH M. Gunther, of New York paid $500 to become a life member of the NAACP, while Mrs. Mary Tobias Messner, also of this city, sent $50 as an initial payment on an association life membership. Donald Jones, Cincinnati, Ohio, donated $5 to the campaign.

32b 1954

NAACP FIGHTING FUND FOR FREEDOM

$280,000 in till for freedom fight

(By Staff Correspondent)

DALLAS, Tex.—The NAACP's Fighting Fund for Freedom has collected a total of $280,000 in memberships and donations during the six months of 1954 and is five times ahead of its schedule in the collection of money for life memberships.

This was the encouraging report given to the 45th annual convention Friday by Edward R. Dudley, former Ambassador to Liberia and currently special assistant in charge of the Freedom Fund whose aim is to raise 10 million dollars by 1963.

$18,000 At Dinner

Mr. Dudley made his report to the convention on the morning after the organization had collected $18,900 in cash at a Freedom Fund dinner attended by 1,500 persons at the Casa Linda Lodge which opened its doors to colored people for the first time.

He said that as of June 20 the Freedom Fund had received a total of $239,000 in donations and $23,000 in life membership payments, making a total of $280,000.

Of the $18,000 raised in cash at the Thursday night meeting, the host state of Texas came up with a total of $6,100 which was proudly presented the organization on behalf of Texas by A. Maceo Smith, secretary of the Texas State Conference of branches and a national board member.

Ahead of Schedule

Mr. Dudley told the press that the NAACP is five times ahead of its schedule in the collection of money for life memberships.

He attributed this in part to the fact that there are now two ways to obtain them. One by paying $100 for a period of five years or the other by payments of $50 for 10 years.

Dudley said he feels certain that the organization will raise a million dollars this year and thus keep abreast of its schedule to raise 10 million dollars by 1963.

Scheduled to Die March 5

Set 'Defense Fund' For Doomed Fikes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—A "Save Fikes Defense Fund" is being organized by the Alabama State Conference of NAACP Branches.

W. C. Patton, state NAACP president, announced here that the organization is out to raise $10,000 for the legal defense fund in connection with Willie Earl Fikes of Dallas County who has been given ninety-nine years in one case and the electric chair in another on charges of rape and night-time burglary. Fikes is scheduled to die March 5.

HE WAS TRIED both times at Selma, Ala. Court-appointed lawyers represented him in the first case in which the verdict was ninety-nine years. Attorneys, Peter A. Hall and Orzell Billingsley Jr., defended him in the second trial.

Hall and Billingsley succeeded in getting the indictment abolished because of irregularities in the jury list. Fikes was re-indicted with the issued of Negro jury exclusion raised but it was overruled.

Patton in his prepared statement "The NAACP will also attack the practice of (alleged) systematic exclusion of Negroes from jury (service) as is done in most Alabama counties. You can help the NAACP do what should be done to save Fikes and expose (alleged) illegal practices by giving a liberal contribution."

He urged that all contributions be sent to Alabama State NAACP Conference, 1630 Fourth Avenue, North, Room 613, Birmingham, Ala.

Have You Contributed?

NAACP Urges Aid For Fikes' Fund

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Funds to provide Willie E. Fikes, now under a death sentence with legal counsel, began coming into the NAACP this week.

Fikes was sentenced to die in the electric chair March 5 on a charge of burglary and rape by a Dallas County (Selma) jury.

Fikes is being represented by NAACP lawyers who, in the face of threats and danger are putting up a good defense. However, the NAACP needs additional money.

SEVERAL CHURCHES, individuals and organizations have already contributed. Have you?

Fikes has a wife and four children and is only 28 years of age, as he sits and awaits the clock to strike his fatal hour.

Everybody is urged and should give the NAACP. It is an organization working for others—yes, for others.

Your help is needed now.

"Whoso stoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry himself, but shall not be heard."

Send all contributions to:

Alabama State NAACP
1630 Fourth Avenue, North
Room 613
Birmingham, Ala.

Anniston Baptists To Hear NAACP Director-Counsel

ANNISTON, Ala. — Thurgood Marshall, director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., of New York City, is scheduled to speak at a mass meeting set for 3 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 24 at the Seventeenth Street Baptist Church here, pastored by the Rev. D. C. Washington.

The announcement was made by W. C. Patton, of Birmingham, president of the Alabama State Conference of NAACP branches, who said that the speaking would climax the quarterly meeting of the state NAACP executive board.

Mr. Marshall was chief counsel in the school case pending before the United States Supreme Court in which the segregated school system was attacked as unconstitutional.

Poll Tax Campaign Started

Mr. Patton also announced that a statewide poll tax paying and voter-registration campaign has been launched by the NAACP in cooperation with a number of other civic, patriotic, church and related groups. Deadline for paying the poll tax is Feb. 1.

He also pointed out that the state NAACP conference is sponsoring a "Fikes Legal Defense Fund" in connection with Willie Earl Fikes, 28-year-old father of four children, who has been sentenced to death by a Dallas County jury. Fikes is accused of "first-degree burglary" in connection with the alleged night-time entry into certain homes in Selma, Ala. This is capital defense under Alabama law. He is also under 99-year sentence under another conviction.

The NAACP is seeking money with which to appeal the death sentence.

Attorneys Peter A. Hall and Orzell Billingsley Jr., of Birmingham are handling the Fikes defense. They were successful in attacking the original indictment by having it set aside. But Fikes was re-indicted. The defense lawyers attacked the indictment and the jury panel but were overruled.

Contributions should be sent to the Alabama State Conference of NAACP Branches, Room 613, Masonic Temple Building, 1630-4th Avenue, North, Birmingham, Ala.

Gains Cited By NAACP Legal Chief

Noted Lawyer Says Segregation Bars Are Falling Rapidly

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Thurgood Marshall, chief legal counsel for the NAACP, gave the first Edwin R. Embree Lecture in the 1953-54 series at Dillard University, March [illegible].

Attorney Marshall, who directed the December case before the U. S. Supreme Court attacking segregation in public education, was introduced by Dr. A. W. Dent, president, and spoke on segregation and desegregation.

* * *

THE EDWIN R. EMBREE Memorial Lecture Series was established at Dillard in 1952 by the John Hay Whitney Foundation.

"The important thing to remember "Mr. Marshall said" is that the fight toward complete integration of all Americans into our society is moving ahead. We have passed the crossroads. We are moving toward a completely integrated society, North and South.

"THOSE WHO DOUBT this and those who are afraid to complete integration without regard to race or color are victims of a background based upon long indoctrination of only one side of the controversy in this country.

"They kow only of one side of slavery, the biased reports about Reconstruction and the long standing theory supporting the "legality" of the separate but equal doctrine..

* * *

"THE RESULTS of an effort to get a full picture of desegregation in American communities are now available.. These results clearly show that in the past ten years, America has undergone a startling, dramatic, and completely unprecedented change in race relations - and all for the better.

Racial desegregation has been attempted successfully in literally hundreds of instances, in all regions, and in all walks of life. In addtiion to the more noticeable areas of schools and the armed forces, complete success has been reported in desegregating public housing projects, labor unions, Catholic and Protestant churches, public and private swimming pools, professional organizations, some YMCA's and many YWCA's, Southern industries, officers and enlisted men's clubs and housing areas on army posts, hospitals, summer camps, and many other areas - even cemeteries.

* * *

"THE SUCCESS of racial desegregation has been shown to be related not so much to the type of community that is involved or the prejudice of its members as to the close adherence to a set of specific principles. The accomplishment of effective and efficient desegregation with a minimum of social disturbance depends on the following five things:

1. There must be a clear and unequivocal statement of policy by leaders with prestige, and by authority officials.

2. There must be firm enforcement and persistent execution of the non-segregation policy in the face of initial resistance.

3. Authorities and law enforcement officials must show a willingness to deal with violations, attempted violations and incitement to violations by resort to the law and by strong enforcement acton.

4. Authoriites must refuse to employ, engage in or tolerate subterfuges, gerrymandering or other devices for evading the principle and the fact of desegregation.

5. The accomplishment of desegregation must be accompanied by continual interpretation of the reasons for the action, appealing to the democratic and moral values of all persons involved." said

Keep on fighting,' Ike tells NAACP

1,100 hear talk at unit's Freedom Fulfillment rally

WASHINGTON

President Eisenhower urged the NAACP Wednesday to continue its struggle for the freedom of all citizens and promised to do his utmost to bring about realization of the organization's goals.

Introduced by NAACP board chairman, Channing H. Tobias, at the first Freedom Fulfillment conference of the association, the President stated that "wherever the federal authority extends, I will do my utmost to bring into reality this equality among men."

As evidence of his determination the President cited the elimination of segregation and discrimination in the armed services and the District of Columbia during his administration.

30 States, D.C. Represented

The conference was held in the Inter-departmental auditorium of the labor department building. Approximately 1,100 delegates from 30 states and the District were in attendance at the one-day meeting.

The historic sessions were held to launch the NAACP's Fighting Fund for Freedom campaign to raise one million dollars annually in the struggle against discrimination for the next 10 years.

Plans for the 10 million dollar fund were announced last year at the association's annual meeting in St. Louis by Dr. Tobias.

Eyes Freedom Centennial

Dr. Tobias first conceived the idea of the Fighting Fund which will be used to help bring about the complete freedom of the colored man in the United States by 1963, 100 years after the Emancipation Proclamation.

Speaking without a written text, the President told the host of delegates, dignitaries and officials at the conference that he believed in the statement of Lincoln that all men are created equal.

The conference opened at 9:30 a.m. sharp with Carl R. Johnson, president of the Kansas City Branch, presiding. AMEZ Bishop Stephen G. Spottswood gave the invocation.

Welcoming remarks were given by Arthur B. Spingarn, national president of the NAACP, who told of the purpose of the "Fighting Fund for Freedom."

Delegates Pledge Million Dollars To Fighting Fund

WASHINGTON—The campaign of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to win complete freedom for Negro Americans by January 1, 1963, the 100th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation, has been formally launched with Presidential approbation.

Addressing 1,300 delegates from 36 states at the NAACP-sponsored Freedom Fulfillment Conference here on March 10, President Dwight D. Eisenhower, extended "good wishes for the prosecution of their work". Presented to the audience by Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors, and warmly received by the officers and members of the Association, the President reiterated his pledge to do his "utmost, wherever the federal authority clearly extends, to bring into reality the ideal of equality among all men who assume the responsibility."

In pursuit of this goal, he said, "great progress has been made" in two areas — the armed forces and the District of Columbia. "With respect to these," he went on, "I expressed certain convictions and determinations. In not all cases have the full results been achieved, but we are still trying."

REAFFIRMS LINCOLN CREED

"I believe most sincerely in the statement of Lincoln that this nation was 'dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal," the President affirmed. "I believe with the authors of the Declaration of Independence that men are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; and furthermore I believe that the vast majority, the great mass of Americans, want to make those concepts a living reality in their lives . . . . They do not want to make differentiations among peoples based upon inconsequential matters of nature involving color and race."

Jonining the President in speaking to the conference were Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, director, Trusteeship Division of the United Nations; Senator Herbert Lehman of New York; and the following NAACP officials, Arthur B. Spingarn, president; Dr. Tobias; Kelly Alexander, president, North Carolina State NAACP; Walter White, executive secretary, and Franklin H. Williams, NAACP West Coast regional director. Messages from Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Paul Hoffman and the Rev. John Haynes Holmes were read by Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator.

The delegates made commitments to raise this year in their respective local communities and states a total of more than $500,000 in the Association's drive to raise a Million Dollars annually for its Fight for Freedom. Reports were made by the delegates on local plans and progress in the campaign to eliminate all racial discrimination and segregation before the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation.

WELCOMED BY SPINGARN

Welcoming the delegates to the conference, Mr. Spingarn recalled that the Fight for Freedom campaign was initiated by Dr. Tobias at the NAACP convention in St. Louis last June. The one-day meeting, he said, "promises to become an historic occasion," forecasting "the final phase of our work to remove the last vestige of racial disabilities."

Mr. Spingarn recounted "substantial gains" made since 1909 when the NAACP was conceived. These gains, he asserted, "have been made largely due to the unrelenting, uncompromising and insistent struggle of our Association. We have resisted and attacked racial discrimination and segregation on every level and in all sections of the country."

SENATOR LEHMAN SPEAKS

Senator Lehman departed from his prepared text to tell the audience that his FEPC had been favorably reported out of the Senate Labor Committee that morning. He warned, however, that this step by no means assures victory for the bill to provide equality of job opportunity.

Speaking for his measure which has enforcement powers, the New York senator said that those who believe in a purely educational FEPC are "either deluded or insincere."

Enactment of a purely educational measure he declared, "would constitute an illusion of progress, without any significant progress at all. Such a measure," he warned, "would lull many people into believing that something had been done, that an obligation had been discharged, that a responsibility had been met. It would appease some guilty consciences. It would provide a basis for a claim of accomplishment. But it would actually accomplish little, if anything. It would constitute running backward."

TO CONTINUE FIGHT

Speaking on plans for the future, Mr. White warned that should adverse decisions be handed down in the pending public school segregation cases. "We shall not be deterred but will go back again and again until every vestige of racial separation in schools or other tax-supported institutions is abolished. This will be done under the brilliant, phenomenally successful direction of our legal staff headed by Thurgood Marshall, our distinguished special counsel.

"We of the NAACP do not believe, and we totally reject the assertions of certain demagogues, that the people of the South are so subversively lawless that they will meet with violence Supreme Court decisions against segregation. Should any deliberately fomented violence occur, it will most assuredly not be of our making. We are confident that federal and state law enforcement agencies will swiftly and vigorously take care of trouble-makers."

Mr. White said he was "embarrassed and humiliated" by the charge of race discrimination in the United States made at the Inter-American Conference in Caracas. "I'm all the more embarrassed," he declared, "because we all know that the charge made by Mrs. Cecelia Panel de Remon, wife of the President of Panama, is true."

BUNCHE CITES BIAS COSTS

It is impossible, Dr. Bunche told the delegates, "to calculate the tremendous costs to the nation of racial and religious bigotry. They are a seriously divisive influence amongst all our people. They spread the venom of racial and religious hatred amongst us. They create resentment, unrest and disturbances in our communities. They deprive us of our maximum national unity at a time when our way of life and all that we stand for is gravely threatened from without. They prevent us from using a substantial part of our manpower effectively even though we are seriously short of manpower to meet the change confronting us from abroad."

The goal of the Negro American the UN official said, "is as simple as it is fair. He asks that he be weighed and treated in the society on the same scale and basis as every other citizen; that he be accepted or rejected, not as a group on the automatic basis of his color, but as an individual, in accordance with whatever merit he may possess."

REPORT FROM THE REGIONS

"Any politician or government official who says that Negroes in the South are satisfied with segregation is misrepresenting the truth," Mr. Alexander declared. "It is our belief that if the Negro is going to have freedom and justice and be an American citizen, segregation must go. We don't want to be kept in a position part-free, part-equal, part-citizen and part-man. We want to enjoy full rights of citizenship," the militant NAACP leader in North Carolina told the conference.

Reporting on developments on the West Coast, Mr. Williams said that there was a tendency among many Negroes who have fled the South and settled in the West to believe that their problem is solved.

"Nothing could be further from the truth," the NAACP's director-counsel from San Francisco, asserted. "There is plenty of discrimination and segregation in the western states and it is our responsibility to step up the fight against bias in this multi-racial region."

"THE ACHILLES HEEL"

In a message read by Mr. Wilkins, Ambassador Lodge, head of the United States delegation to the United Nations, conceded that racial discrimination is "our most vulnerable point — the Achilles heel of our foreign policy."

"We live in a world in which anything that happens in the United States that savors of racial discrimination is seized upon by the enemies of our country and is used with great effect to stir up hatred against us .... Our Vice President, Richard Nixon, confirmed this recently after his return from the Far East. He said that 'the performances and activities of Americans, both individually and collectively, in matters of discrimination have a profound reaction throughout the Far East.' No single step that we could take would do our country's prestige more good in the world than to solve all thes eracial problems."

THE CLOSING WORD

Concluding the day's activities, Dr. Tobias made an appeal for mass support of the NAACP and the Fight for Freedom. "Not only should individuals respond to the NAACP call," he said, "but organizations of every kind should join us for the NAACP is a unique association not incompetition with any other organization. Whatever its program may be, every organization of a social, civic, educational, fraternal, or economic nature should support the fight which this organization is making for physical as well as spiritual emancipation."

In addition to White, Wilkins, and Williams, staff members who spoke at the conference included Thurgood Marshall, special counsel; Clarence Mitchell, director, Washington Bureau; Gloster B. Current, director of branches; and Edward R. Dudley, special assistant in charge of the Fight for Freedom.

The morning session of the day-long conference was presided over by Carl Johnson, president of the Kansas City, Mo., NAACP branch and a member of the national Board of Directors. Mrs. Daisy E. Lampkin of Pittsburgh, also a board member, was chairman of the afternoon session. Music was rendered by the Howard University Choir under the direction of Warner Lawson. The Rt. Rev. Stephen G. Spottswood, Bishop of the AME Zion Church opened the meeting with an invocation.

The conference received extensive newspaper, radio, television and newsreel coverage.

EISENHOWER ADDRESSES CIVIL RIGHTS GATHERING.—President Eisenhower told delegates to a Freedom Fulfillment conference held by the NAACP in Washington, D. C., March 10, that the association's "struggle" for civil rights is "producing results." With President Eisenhower on the platform are (left to right): Judge William H. Hastie (extreme left), Philadelphia, NAACP board member; Arthur B. Spingarn, association president; Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, director of the United Nations Trusteeship Division and member of the Board of Directors, NAACP; Carl R. Johnson, board member and president, Kansas City, Mo., branch, NAACP; Judge Theodore Spaulding, Philadelphia, NAACP board member; Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the Association's board of directors; Walter White, executive secretary, NAACP; Maxwell Rabb, White House staff member.

32b 1954

Pres. Eisenhower And Ralph Bunche To Speak March 10

New York, Feb. 4.—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche of United Nations fame will join President Eisenhower on the platform at the one-day Freedom Fulfillment Conference which the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is sponsoring in Washington on March 10.

In letters to N. A. A. C. P. units throughout the country, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the board of directors, and Walter White executive secretary, call for representatives attendance at the conference which will be devoted to spotlighting national attention on steps needed to fulfil the Emancipation Proclamation by 1963." Each of the Association's 1300 branches is urged to send at least one representative to the conference.

Sessions will be held in the Interdepartmental Auditorium where local and state leaders of the NAACP will work out with board and staff members further plans for the Fight for Freedom and for raising $1,000,000 annually. This sum is needed to carry out the program to achieve complete emancipation by the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's proclamation on January 1, 1963.

10-Year War Launched on Racial Bars

By Frank R. Kent, Jr.
Post Reporter

Personally assured of President Eisenhower's support in its aims, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People yesterday launched its 10-year crusade to eradicate racial barriers.

The President delivered an informal five-minute address at 12:30 p. m. yesterday to approximately 1300 delegates of the association from 30 states and the District of Columbia in the Interdepartmental Auditorium.

The one-day Freedom Fulfillment Conference was held as a "kickoff" meeting for the NAACP'S drive for the elmination of racial barriers by the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation on January 1, 1863. To achieve that goal, the association is seeking one million dollars each year for 10 years. At the close of the meeting, Walter White executive secretary, announced that a total of $500,651 already had been pledged.

In an off-the-cuff speech Mr. Eisenhower pledged his Administration to keep pushing the cause of racial equality. He was introduced by Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the NAACP Board. The President said he believed "most sincerely" in the assertion of Abraham Lincoln that the Nation was dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal, and of the Declaration of Independence that all men are endowed with certain inalienable rights.

"I believe the great majority of Americans want to make this concept a living reality in their daily lives," the President said. "By and large the great mass of the American people want to be decent and good and just. They do not want to make discriminations based on differences of nature, of race and color."

The President said he believed the struggle for equality over the decades was producing results. He warned, however, that "Ideals are never reached by imperfect human beings."

Post 32 P.4 Washington, D.C. Thurs 2-11-54

© Douglas Chevalier—The Washington Post

President Eisenhower talks to leaders of the Freedom Fulfillment Conference before addressing delegates. From left are Dr. Ralph J. Bunche; Carl R. Johnson; Arthur B. Spingarn, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; Judge Theodore Spaulding, of Philadelphia; the President; and Dr. Channing H. Tobias.

The main thing, he said, was to keep on trying.

Mr. Eisenhower said there had been two points where results were most marked. One was "right here in the District of Columbia" and the other was in the armed services.

Recalling that he had declared his position on civil rights many times before and after election, the President said: "Wherever the Federal authority clearly extends, I will do my utmost to bring into living reality this expression of equality among men."

In the afternoon, Senator Herbert H. Lehman (D-N. Y.) told the conference: "The issue of civil rights is not a static thing. It is not a thing to be achieved in the quiet fullness of time. It will not wait upon political developments and it will not wait upon our convenience."

In the morning session, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, director of the Trusteeship Division of the United Nations, said race prejudice saps the nation's moral strength, spreads venom and provides propaganda ammunition for the enemy.

Delegates who listened to the full day of speeches and reports included approximately 200 from the District, 300 from Virginia and 150 from Maryland. Between major speeches, spokesmen for the various branches and state conferences made brief reports.

E. B. Henderson, of the District delegation, told the conference that progress had been made in the racial situation here. "You can go to almost any place in the city and have a meal," he said. "This evening if you want entertainment, you need have no fear in going to see any moving picture in the downtown area.

"There still are things to be done, however. We still have segregated schools and we still can't operate cars and buses of the transit company."

Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington Bureau of the NAACP, presented two veerans now living at the Soldiers Home, John R. Bates and Preston Holliday. Mitchell said Bates was leading the fight against segregation in the home.

Thurgood Marshall, NAACP general counsel, told the delegates: "In the next ten years we actually have got to do more than we have done in the past 91 years."

Carl R. Johnson, president of the Kansas City, Mo. branch presided at the morning session. Mrs. Daisy Lampkin, Pittsburgh, a member of the NAACP board, presided in the afternoon. Dr. Arthur B. Spingarn is president.

Senator Lehman To Address NAACP Freedom Conference

Post 2-12-54 p. 2

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 — In addition to President Eisenhower, the one-day Freedom Fulfillment Conference of the NAACP will be addressed by Senator Herbert H. Lehman of New York and national officers of the Association, Walter White, executive secretary, announced today.

Association leaders scheduled to address the conference include Arthur B. Spingarn, president; Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the Board of Directors; Carl Johnson, Kansas City, Mo., attorney and member of the Board; and others. Staff members will be available as resource personnel.

The conference has been called for March 10 in Washington at which time the Fight for Freedom campaign will be formally launched with the participation of local and state leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Delegates from all sections of the country will join with national officers and staff in devising ways and means of stepping up the Association campaign to eliminate all racial discrimination and segregation. Also to be considered will be methods of raising $1,000,000 annually to implement the Association's accelerated and expanded program.

The Fight for Freedom was initiated at the St. Louis convention of the NAACP last summer with the objective of achieving complete emancipation by January 1, 1963, the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

President Reiterates His Intention to End Racial Segregation

President Eisenhower yesterday reiterated his intention of doing what he can to end racial segregation wherever the Federal authority extends.

He spoke at a conference sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at the Departmental Auditorium. The conference was called by the NAACP to launch a Fight for Freedom campaign designed to "complete the emancipation of the Negro by January 1, 1963, the centennial of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation."

In a brief speech of welcome to the delegates, Gen. Eisenhower pointed to the District of Columbia and armed services as two areas where his administration had suggested in reducing racial discrimination. He did not go into details.

Gen. Eisenhower declared:

"I believe most sincerely in the statement of Lincoln that this Nation is dedicated to the principle that all men were created equal."

Hold to Ideals, He Says.

He called upon the delegates to stick to their ideals but pointed out that "ideals are never realized by imperfect humans." He added in an aside, "I hope this doesn't sound like a sermon."

He went on to say that wherever the Federal authority clearly extends he will do his utmost to bring into reality the equality of all citizens.

In opening the conference, Arthur Spingarn, president of the NAACP, revealed the Fight for Freedom Committee had set a goal of $1 million a year to obtain the objective of "the completion of the emancipation of the Negro by January 1, 1963."

He declared:

"This conference promises to become an historic occasion. We are confidently hopeful that it foretells the final phase of our work to remove the last vestige of racial disabilities."

Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, reviewed the progress made in wiping out racial discrimination since Abraham Lincoln signed the Emancipation Proclamation.

Cites Recent Actions.

"During recent years the courts, and especially the United States Supreme Court, have struck mighty blows against proscription of opportunity and constitutional rights," he declared. "The executive branch of the Government and notably Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower have used their influence and power to eradicate the color line."

"Least has been done by the Congress which has not enacted one major law against race prejudice since the days of reconstruction," he added.

Mr. White warned the conference of two dangers to their program—one from the Communists and the other from "the current hysterical flinging of accusations against even our most honored public servants."

Sees Coalition Movement.

Mr. White said the Communist Party is now trying to create a "popular coalition movement" of diverse groups in the United States. He said:

"The latest Communist scheme resurrects the ridiculous proposal of a Negro nation in the black belt of the South, which was laughed into oblivion by Negroes when it was proposed 20 years ago. With equal blindness to their total failures of the past to ensnare Negroes in their party's web, the new Communist directive talks verbosely about achieving full support for the fight for the 'liberation' of the Negro nation."

Mr. White said Negroes must be on guard constantly against efforts to pervert the cause for which they were fighting, adding:

"Be continuously alert in keeping Communists out of the Fight for Freedom campaign. But do so intelligently and with scrupulous regard for fairness. Don't let the current climate of fear and smear cause you to ape the tactics which endanger America in keeping subversives in either the left or the right out of the NAACP."

About 1,000 delegates registered for the one-day conference.

Eisenhower Renews Pledge to Strive for Racial Equality

Associated Press Wirephoto

President Eisenhower sings the Star Spangled Banner at opening session of conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Joining in the anthem are Dr. Channing H. Tobias, center, chairman, and Walter White, executive secretary of group.

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, March 10—President Eisenhower today pledged anew that wherever the Federal authority extended he would do his utmost to bring about racial equality. The President made the pledge at the Freedom Fulfillment Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The conference was called in conjunction with a ten-year "Fight for Freedom," inaugurated by the association a year ago to eliminate remaining racial barriers by 1963, the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation freeing the slaves. Many speakers at the meeting to the pending Supreme Court decision on school segregation as possibly an extremely significant milestone toward the goal.

President Eisenhower said he believed in President Lincoln's statement that this nation was dedicated to the proposition that all men were created equal and with the writers of the Declaration of Independence that all men were endowed with certain inalienable rights.

There are vociferous minorities that do not hold to the concepts set forth by the Founding Fathers, the President said, and added: "But by and large the mass of Americans want to be decent, good, and just and don't want to make a difference based on inconsequential facts of color or race."

The President said that ideals were seldom achieved fully, but that the very striving for them made people better.

"The struggle which in your case has gone on for many decades," he said, "is producing results.

At this point he promised that "Wherever the Federal authority extends, I will do my utmost to bring into living reality equality among all men."

President Eisenhower declared that "great improvements" had been made on wiping out racial bias in "the armed services in all places to which they extend, and right here in the District of Columbia."

Walter White, executive secretary of the association, said that the organization, which brought the five school segregation test cases now awaiting Supreme Court decision, hoped to add "five more victories" to the fifty-three already tallied in the Supreme Court.

He Criticizes Congress

During recent years, he said, the courts have "struck mighty blows against proscription of opportunity and constitutional rights." The Executive Branch, "notably the Administrations of Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower" have used influence and power to eradicate the color line, he asserted.

However, Congress "has not enacted one major law against race prejudice since the days of Reconstruction," Mr. White declared. His reference was to the Reconstruction period after the Civil War.

He said that the association rejected "assertions of certain demagogues that the people of the South are so subversively lawless that they will meet with violence Supreme Court decisions against segregation."

"Should any deliberately fomented violence occur," he said, "it will most assuredly not be of our making."

Mr. White said that the Negroes of this country had rejected communism and put no credence in its recently revived "popular coalition movement" with its resurrection of the "ridiculous proposal of a Negro nation in the Black Belt of the South."

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, director of the United Nations Trusteeship Division, said: "As a Negro my demand is very simple. I just want to be an American."

He declared Negro Americans knew they were right in fighting for equality, whereas other Americans had the uncomfortable feeling of knowing that "all the world is raising its eyebrows against them."

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., United States Ambassador to the United Nations, said in a speech read by Roy Wilkins of the N. A. A. C. P. staff that racial discrimination was this country's most vulnerable point—the Achilles' heel of our foreign policy."

He said it was to the "everlasting credit of Negro common sense in this country that, "in spite of many just grievances they never as a people were deluded by Communists."

Senator Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat of New York, announced to the group that the Fair Employment Practices Bill of which he is a sponsor had been approved this morning by the Senate Labor Committee.

Anything less than the bill, he said, would be futile. He said those who opposed compulsory measures were "either deluded or insincere."

He asserted that a bill sponsored by Senator Everett Dirksen, Republican of Illinois, was an educational, not an enforcement bill, and if passed would mean "running backward."

Little Chance Given Bill

WASHINGTON, March 10 (UP)—The Senate Labor Committee today approved a bill to ban racial and religious discrimination in employment, but there appeared little chance that the controversial civil rights measure would win Senate passage.

Committee approval came on a voice vote with only Sen. Lister Hill, Democrat of Alabama, specifically recording his opposition. However, the threat of a Southern filibuster has blocked a Senate vote on similar legislation in the past.

"FREEDOM FULFILLMENT" Conference sponsored by NAACP at Labor Department auditorium in Washington, D. C., hears President Eisenhower declare he will continue to carry out his campaign pledge to end racial segregation wherever the Federal authority extends. The president said he believed most sincerely in the statement of Abraham Lincoln that this nation is dedicated to the principal that all men are created equal. Among those attending were (left to right) Dr. Ralph Bunche, Carl R. Johnson, Arthur Spingarn, Judge Theodore Spaulding, Dwight Eisenhower, Dr. Channing Tobias, Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, and Judge William H. Hastie.

Associated Press wirephoto

President Eisenhower joining in singing "The Star-Spangled Banner" yesterday at the convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Washington. With him are Dr. Channing H. Tobias (center), chairman, and Walter White (right), executive secretary of the organization.

Eisenhower For Drive On Equality

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP).—President Eisenhower said today the struggle for racial equality is "producing results" and pledged his Administration to keep pushing the cause.

Gen. Eisenhower addressed the Freedom Fulfillment Conference, sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The meeting launched a million-dollar-a-year drive to abolish discrimination by 1963.

Gen. Eisenhower declared he believes "most sincerely" in the statement of Abraham Lincoln that this country was dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal, and of the Declaration of Independence that all men are endowed with certain inalienable rights.

"I believe the great majority of Americans want to make this concept a living reality in their daily lives," he added. "By and large, the great mass of the American people want to be decent and good and just. They do not want to make discriminations based on differences of nature—of race and color. . . . "I believe this struggle of yours, for decades past, is producing results."

Gen. Eisenhower recalled he had many times, before and after entering the White House, declared his position on civil rights. But he repeated the pledge: "Wherever the Federal authority clearly extends, I will do my utmost to bring into living reality this expression of equality among men."

The conference set its goal of Jan. 1, 1963, for the eradication of racial barriers, because that date will be the 100th anniversary of the emancipation proclamation.

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, director of the United Nations Trusteeship Division, told the 2,000 delegates that the Negro has "come a long way from slavery" in the years since the Proclamation, but the problem persists, he said, adding: "Prejudice and bigotry deprive us of our national unity at a time when our way of life and everything we stand for is challenged from without."

Nets $15,000

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22—At the recent one-day Freedom Fulfillment conference held at the Labor Department building in the Nation's capital, Franklin H. Williams, Secretary-Counsel of the West Coast Region of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and sole delegate for the seven Western states attending the NAACP-sponsored conference, presented a check for $15,000 to the Initial Fight for Freedom Fund to Walter F. White, executive secretary of the Association.

Williams stated in his presentation speech that this sum represented the net profits from the sale of Holiday Freedom Seals, and tha, "the Branches comprising Region I of this 'New Frontier' have pledged to carry on the fight for complete Emancipation throughout the next nine years so that the goals and objectives of the FFF campaign may be achieved by January 1, 1963, the 100th Anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation."

FREEDOM FUND — Carl [illegible], left, president of the [illegible] City, Mo., branch NAACP presents to Walter White, national executive secretary a check for $3,116.25 for the NAACP for Fredom Fund.

LOUISVILLE LINKS . . . contribute $500 to the NAACP Fight for Freedom Fund as part of the national program of the Links, Inc. Shown with Walter White are Mrs. Naomi Lattimore, treasurer, and Mrs. Geneva Bell, president of the Louisville chapter.

FREEDOM FUND DIRECTOR:

Says race relations is an international problem

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—The issue of race relations is "now a problem of international concern," declared Edward R. Dudley here last week.

The director of the Fund for Freedom Campaign of the NAACP was speaking at a Fight for Freedom banquet in the Central High school cafeteria.

The banquet was part of the program of the three-day Midwest Regional Training Conference of the NAACP.

Mr. Dudley, former United States Ambassador to Liberia said, "there is an increasing and persistent questioning of the validity of our democratic mode of life.

"The treatment of colored Americans is highlighted because of their greater number as minorities in the over-all population, but to a lesser degree the pattern has extended to cover other peoples who are considered different," the speaker stated.

"The NAACP will continue its fight until the last vestiage of racial discrimination and segregation is removed from American life," Mr. Dudley asserted.

GA. NAACP SEGREGATED

Will Meet Commission Only On Equal Basis

BY EDWARD PEEKS

Georgia NAACP officials by unanimous vote rejected an invitation to appear at the June 25 hearing of the Georgia Education Commission on the grounds that the hearing "would be segregated, in that white persons would appear in the morning and NAACP representatives at 1:30 P. M."

At the same time NAACP officials submitted a list of recommendations for "action to be taken after agreeing upon integration" in a letter to the commission declining the invitation.

Dr. William M. Boyd, president of the Georgia State Conference of NAACP branches, read the letter to a press conference after the meeting at the Georgia Teachers and Education Association Building, 201 Ashby Street, N. W.

SEGREGATED HEARING

Addressed to Mr. Druwood Pye, executive secretary of the commission, the letter said:

"News reports quote candidate for governor, M. E. Thompson as stating that Governor Herman E. Talmadge, chairman of the commission, had informed him that the June 25 hearings would be segregated, in that white persons would appear in the morning and the NAACP representatives at 1:03 p. m., the same date and hour as indicated in your telegram.

"At a meeting of representatives from all of our branches in Georgia, held in Atlanta today, it was voted unanimously that we would decline an invitation to appear at a segregated hearing."

The letter concluded, "We wish you to know, however, that we stand ready and willing to cooperate in any genuine efforts to make the adjustments inherent in carrying into effect the spirit and intent of the Supreme Court decision."

DECISION LAUDED

NAACP officials also adopted a statement refuting that "95 per cent of the Negroes in Georgia desire segregated schools for their children" as pronounced by "many high public officials."

The statement said, "Numerous religious and educational organizations of Negroes in Georgia have passed resolutions lauding the decision, which they say is long past due.

'Even the most unlettered Negro in the backwoods of Georgia, recognizes, even if he does not so express himself, the evil background of segregation and knows that a large proportion of the injustices which Negroes have suffered for generations may be directly attributed to the concept and philosophy underlying segregation."

COMMUNITY EDUCATION

The body made the following recommendations to the commission for community education:

1. Secure a clearcut, positive statement by the school board announcing a change of policy as of a certain effective date.

2. Meetings of white and Negro PTA groups with school board representatives should be held to outcedure to be used.

3. Favorable statements from white and Negro community leaders in formus, discussion groups, public meetings, press and radio. Comments from pulpits of white and Negro churches.

4. Community education through visual aids, citing examples of what other communities have done, encouraging citizenship, law and order.

TEACHER EDUCATION

For teacher education, NAACP officials suggested an in-service training institute that would inform Negro and white teachers "of the change in policy, telling them of them of their responsibility in carrying out this policy."

Such responsibility would include insrtucting Negro and white students "to make transfer students feel welcome, explaining to them that they have a right to go to school there, that we're all Americans."

Students would help teachers by showing newcomers where cloakroom, washroom and cafeteria are located, the group explained.

"Old students should tell new students their names, ask new students their names nad should call each other by their given names," NAACP officials recommended.

PARENT EDUCATION

They said school boards should secure educational material dealing with race relations for the purpose of helping white and colored teachers to facilitate integration.

The group suggested that Negro and white parents of transfer students "advise their children that soon they will be changing schools." Children should be instructed to be "friendly to the teachers and students," to "abide by the regulations of the schools" and not pick any fights."

'Caution the children that if they are called any unpleasant names they should take the matter up with the teachers rather than argue with the student who did the name calling," the group said.

WON'T APPEAR WITH NAACP AT DECISION TALKS, THOMPSON SAYS

Fears Integrated Meeting Would Hurt South's Stand

The approaching June 25 date, scheduled for hearings on ways to evade the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling which outlawed segregation, has brought a cry for further segregation from a gubernatorial candidate who said he will speak only before a white audience.

Former governor M. E. Thompson disclosed yesterday that he plans to talk segregation plans over with the state education commission, but he will not appear unless he is given assurance that he will not be attending a "mixed" meeting.

Thompson was referring to the invitation that the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had alleged received from commission secretary Durwood Pye.

The former governor chiefly objected to white people appearing at a segregation hearing in the senate chambers along with a group which expressedly was working for the opposite he desire — strict adherence to the laws laid down by the U. S. Supreme Court.

Actually three candidates are slated for speeches at the hearings which will he held at 9:30 A. M. June 25. Tom Linder, an outspoken believer in strict segregation, announced he would appear "with a plan." Edmond H. Barfield was also expected at the hearings.

Thompson said he declared that upon learning the NAACP had been invited declared he "immediately saw the possibility of criticism to the commission and others, including myself, for appearing at an integrated meeting to discuss separate schools.

(Continued From Page One)

However, Thompson said, the governor assured him that NAACP members would appear in the afternoon after the white candidates were finished.

Dr. William Boyd, president of the state NAACP chapter was not available to determine if the group would accept an invitation under such conditions.

32b 1954

NAACP

HOUSING

CONVERSATION PIECE — Listening to Thurgood Marshall, special counsel of the NAACP, (extreme right) are Dr. Albert C. Burwell (left), and Robert B. Watts, Baltimore attorney. The picture was taken following the kickoff meeting for the local NAACP's membership drive on Sunday at Sharp St. Memorial Methodist Church.

Marshall sees housing as next step forward

BALTIMORE

The fall membership campaign of the local NAACP opened Sunday as Thurgood Marshall told 1,500 person, "We are no longer on the defensive but on the offensive."

Speaking at a meeting in the Sharp St. Memorial Methodist Church, the NAACP special counsel said:

"We must take it (public school integration) as the opening wedge and fight on for complete integration."

MR. MARSHALL said the next goal of the NAACP is the integration of residential neighborhoods and he added:

"The next step must be that of educating our ownselves that there is no rhyme or reason why you should not live wherever yo want to."

The speech of Mr. Marshall drew rounds of applause from the audience particularly at those parts in which he pointed to the integration of Baltimore schools and praised this city for the method in which desegregation had been carried out.

— o O o —

"MEN LIKE Talmadge and Byrnes do not represent anyone but themselves. When men place themselves above the Supreme Court and God you must come down. Young people can work out their problems (of integration) if they are left alone," he said.

In reference to the attitude of white parents in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who forced the board of education to rescind a policy of integration, Mr. Marshall said:

"It is a great pity, I think, that this one instance should have received so much publicity and that the other counties of West Virginia, where integration went through without an incident, should have been ignored."

— o O o —

HE SAID A team of NAACP field workers had investigated the White Sulphur Springs incident and had learned that opposition to integration stopped when the parents of two white boys learned their children had been desposed from the football team by two colored youths who were "better football players."

During the meeting over $2,000 in cash and pledges was raised for the membership drives. Among persons upporting the campaign were:

Dr. Carl Murphy, $100; the Rev. H. J. Payne, 100; Bethel AME Church, $100; Dr. R. Garland Chissell, $100; Dr. Albert C. Burwell, $100; Dr. T. Henderson Kerr, $100, the Rev. V. T. Williams, $100.

32b 1954

NAACP

INTERRACIAL PANEL

INTERRACIAL PANEL—Members of the NAACP interracial panel are shown at a "promotional and informational" session held last week at North Carolina College in Durham, N. C. The group is made up of students from Duke University, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and North Carolina College. Left to right are Miss Shirley James, North Carolina freshman, Jamesville, N. C.; Ralph Fleming, Duke University Divinity School, New Bern; Miss Hazel Clarke, instructor, commerce depeartment at Nortth Carolina and advisor to the NAACP; Miss Jolee Fritz, Duke University, Durham, and David Stith, North Carolina College law student of Rocky Mount, N. C.

Marshall Makes NAACP Defense Fund Report

NEW YORK—(ANP)— Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel of the NAACP reported on Dec. 31 that the NAACP Legal Defense ~~and Educational Fund, Inc. collected $71,642.50~~ and spent $47,456.95 between June 1 and December 22, 1953 for the preparation and re-argument of five school segregation cases before the U. S. Supreme Court and the follow-up of these cases.

Declaring that the campaign to raise the necessary funds was a success, Marshall praised the Negro Press for its work in behalf of the fund. In a report audited by the W. C. Heaton and Company, certified public accountants, Marshall reported:

INCOME: $71,642.50 taken in as follows: Negro press solicitations, $17,278.44; general contributions, $15,443.52; committee of "100," $25,170.43; and special fund raising, $13,750.11.

EXPENDITURES: $47,456.95 spent as follows: travel expenses of non-staff lawyers, $11,722.74; travel expenses of staff lawyers, $3,800.79; lawyers' conferences, $3,053.18; honoraria and expenses of non-legal experts, $9,834.58.

Fund raising expenses, $1,973.45; telephone and telegraph, $1,138.02; stenographic, $2,632.30; messenger service, $64.50; mimeographing, $471.79; mats and photographs, $63.60, and printing $12,720.

The fund has a remaining balance of $24,185.55.

Explaining that the fight for first class citizenship still goes no the battle in the future.

On the financial support and Negro press, Marshall said in part:

"This money come in large and small contributions from people of all races, and Negroes certainly contributed their share. The Negro press and its readers must be proud of this terrific response to a real emergency. When the story is finally written of this era, the Negro press will certainly have its high place on the credit side of the ledger.

"But we must look to the future. We do so with confidence that we can continue to count upon this type of support whenever it is needed. The opposition will come up with more ingenious plots to deprive our people of their constitutional rights and we will be forced to take them into court again and again.

"Each time we go it will be more expensive, and we will have to call on our friends and other fair-minded Americans for help ..I hope that all of these people will understand that we are only at the beginning of this fight and there is a long battle ahead."

Legal Fund Gets $1,000 From One Unit Of Frontiers

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 14—A check for $1,000 was presented by the Baltimore chapter of the Frontiers Club here Tuesday, January 12, to the NAACP Legal Defense Fund. The presentation, at a luncheon meeting of the Club at the Druid Hill YMCA, was made by Dr. Lucius Butler, outgoing President, to Roy Wilkins of the NAACP National Office. Dr. Butler said the Baltimore chapter was making the contribution in appreciation of the work the NAACP has been doing, especially the legal attack on segregation in the public schools. In his response Mr. Wilkins outlined the extensive campaign being carried on in the Fight for Freedom Drive now underway with the objective of eliminating all race discrimination by 1963, the 100th Anniversary of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS CONTRIBUTE TO NAACP LEGAL FUND.— J. Mercer Burrell, right, grand director of the Civil Rights division of the grand lodge Knights of Pythias of the state of New Jersey, presents Thurgood Marshall, director of NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., with two checks totaling $200 toward its legal work. The checks represent $100 each from the grand lodge Knights of Pythias and the grand court Order of Calanthe.

Gift From Philip Murray Fund:

CIO Gives NAACP $75,000

NEW YORK—Educational projects to secure "the full acceptance of civil rights" were under study this week by officials of the NAACP as they prepared to allocate the $75,000 grant of the Philip Murray Memorial Foundation to the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund.

The grant, largest ever made by a foundation to advance the program of the NAACP, was presented by CIO President Walter Reuther to NAACP President Arthur B. Spingarn here on May 12 at the Carnegie Endowment Building.

It was earmarked for "educational projects in race relations in the name of Philip Murray."

"IN NO ASPECT of American life is there such an ugly gap as between what America preaches and practices in civil rights," Mr. Reuther asserted.

"The United States must prove to others of the world that America's material wealth will be put to a purpose."

Speaking on behalf of the Philip Murray Foundation, of which he is a trustee, Mr. Reuther said the grant is meant to help the NAACP in the "many tasks" it has ahead and the "many challenges" it faces.

Accepting the check for the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Mr. Spingarn declared: "I am confident this grant from the Philip Murray Foundation will serve to weld even more closely some common aims of the CIO, the NAACP, and the Legal and Educational Fund."

* * *

ANOTHER SPEAKER, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, pointed out that what the United States does in the field of racial relations "is watched all over the world."

"Philip Murray," she said, "stood for justice and equality for all citizens of the United States."

Other speakers at the ceremonies were Arthur J. Goldberg, general counsel of the CIO and the United Steelworkers of America and director of the Philip Murray Foundation; the Hon. Averell Harriman, former U. S. Ambassador and special assistant to President Truman, and a board member of the Philip Murray Foundation; Emil Rieve, president of the Textile Workers Union of America and chairman of the Philip Murray Foundation; and Willard Townsend, president of the United Transport Service Employes of America, CIO.

* * *

IN ADDITION, the NAACP will establish, immediately, an annual Philip Murray Award to be given to the individual or organization making an outstanding contribution in race relations during the past year or years.

The spending of the $75,000 grant will be supervised and directed by a committee composed of Mr. Spingarn, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors, Judge William H. Hastie, Walter White, Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel, and Mr. Goldberg.

The late Mr. Murray was, for several years, a member of the board of directors of the NAACP.

The Philip Murray Memorial Foundation was established by the unions of the CIO with a fund of nearly $1,000,000 to honor the memory of the late president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the United Steelworkers of America, CIO.

The NAACP receives a gift of $75,000 from the Philip Murray Memorial Foundation in New York ceremonies. Shown during the presentation, left to right, are Arthur Spingarn, NAACP president; Walter P. Reuther, CIO president, and Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator.—Campbell Photo.

Civic body gets $75,000 gift honoring CIO leader

NEW YORK — The Philip Murray Memorial Foundation—created to honor the memory of the late president of the CIO and the United Steelworkers of America, CIO—Wednesday presented a gift of $75,000 to the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, Inc.

The grant was presented to leaders of the NAACP by leaders of the CIO during ceremonies held in the Carnegie Endowment Building, 345 E 46th St., at 5 p.m.

The contribution was made on the basis that:

It be "expended exclusively for educational purposes in race relations in the name of Philip Murray, with the over all purpose of promoting and fostering, by educational means, the full acceptance of civil rights guaranteed by the American Constitution."

The NAACP will spend the bulk of the $75,000 during the next three years, most of it on specific educational projects designed to develop "understanding and acceptance of desegregation of institutions and activities under governmental control."

It will also establish an annual Philip Murray award to be given to the individual or organization making an outstanding contribution to race relations.

Representing the NAACP were Arthur B. Spingarn, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, Judge William H. Hastie, Walter White and Thurgood Marshall.

Supervisory Group

Officers and directors of the Murray Memorial Fund are:

Emil Rieve, chairman; James B. Carey, Arthur J. Goldberg, Walter P. Reuther, John V. Riffe, David J. McDonald, Joseph A. Beirne, L. S. Buckinaster, Joseph Curran;

O. A. Knight, Jacob S. Potofsky, Michael J. Quill, Frank Rosenbloom and James G. Thimmes.

The spending of the $75,000 grant will be supervised and directed by a committee composed of Mr. Spingarn, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the NAACP board of dirc'trs, Judge William H. Hastie, Mr. White, Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel, and Mr. Goldberg.

Many Communities Have Taken Steps to Abide by School Integration Rule

New York—Resistance to school integration, as in Milford, Del., and White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., is the execption rather than the rule in communities which have taken steps to abide by the Supreme Court's anti-segregation ruling of May 17, Thurgood Marshall, special counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said here Sept. 23.

Mr. Marshall, who headed the battery of NAACP lawyers who argued the public school segregation cases before the Supreme Court last December, cited successful integration in Baltimore, Washington, St. Louis and other border state cities.

Gone Ahead

"In West Virginia 12 counties have gone ahead with complete integration and 13 others have initiated programs of partial integration," he said.

"Schools in Dover, Wilmington and other communities in Delaware have been integrated without incident. The flare-ups in White Sulphur Springs and Milford are spectacular only because they are the rare exceptions."

According to a report received by the NAACP attorney from Dr. J. Kenneth Morland, a noted white sociologist who made an on-the-spot investigation, the trouble in the West Virginia city stemmed from resentment of the fathers of some of the white boys on the football squad against the presence of two Negro boys on the squad who apparently were headad for first team positions. Reportedly those fathers urged the youngersters to organize a strike against the admission of Negro students.

Threats of violence in White Sulphur Springs were calmly met by Negroes who were prepared to defend their children. Dr. Morland told the story of an elderly Negro woman who reportedly loaded two guns, parked her car near the school, and openly vowed to shoot anyone who laid a hand on her children, saying that she was old and did not have long to live anyhow.

Mr. Marshall deplored the amount of newspaper publicity given to the exceptional cases.

Big Story

"The big story," he said, "is that integration is being widely accepted in practically all the communities where it has been tried. The transition has been so smooth in Washington that the program of integration has been greatly accelerated.

"In Carthage, Mo., Negroes have been welcomed to the formerly all-white high school and two have been elected to class office. The trouble spots have upfortunately been magnified out of all proportion to their importance."

Mr. Marsahll and his staff of lawyers are preparing to present the NAACP recommendations for the Supreme Court decrees at the hearing set for December 6. In ruling segregation unconstitutional on May 17, the Court called for further argument before handing down a decree on when and how to implement its decision against public school segregatin.

PLANNING RECEPTION — Mrs. Thurgood Marshall, center, is shown with Gladstone Cotterrell, of Calvert Distillers, and Mrs. Ann Arnold Hedgeman, assistant to New York's Mayor Wagner, as members of the press and sponsoring committee meet at Manhattan's Hotel Theresa to prepare for a reception to be tendered Mr. Marshall and the legal staff and associates of the NAACP. The reception will be held at the Savoy Ballroom in New York on Sunday, October 3, under the sponsorship of the New York Chapter of Girl Friends, and a group of NAACP supporters.

THURGOOD MARSHALL

Robeson NAACP Meet Continues

LUMBERTON, Oct. 16 (AP) — Thurgood Marshall, legal counsel for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said today the people will support the ending of segregation in public schools "in spite of politicians using segregation for their own purposes."

He told the 11th annual meeting of the North Carolina NAACP that "Segregation will end earlier than anyone imagines."

Marshall, one of the lawyers who urged the case in which the Supreme Court outlawed segregation in public schools, said Southern governors are using "obstructionist tactics" to get around the decision. He named the governors of Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

He told the 250 delegates at the meeting here that the answer to ending segregation in an orderly manner lies with local school boards. He advocated that Negroes be put on such boards, but not as "subservient" members.

Marshall added that "Children have no trouble in schools until their parents tell them to look for it. It is amazing that a few Negro students in large schools can disrupt the entire school."

The three-day meeting ends tomorrow.

91 years long enough, Thurgood tells nation

WASHINGTON

Most people who ask for a gradual approach to desegregation don't want to do anything about it, Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel, declared Sunday.

Speaking on the NBC radio-television program, "Youth Wants to Know," Mr. Marshall asserted, "I think 91 years after emancipation is gradual enough for anybody. It's time now to do something."

Mr. Marshall's remarks were in response to questions posed by school youngsters in the NBC studios.

"If permitted to make up their own minds without the influence of older people, young people would have absolutely no difficulty in arriving at the right decision," he said.

* * *

HE QUOTED the superintendent of a southeastern Missouri school district which was integrated overnight as saying the older people need to take some advice from the young people.

Asked what would happen to the colored children under the proposal of Georgia to abandon the public school system, Mr. Marshall replied to the question with another:

"What would happen to the white children?"

Asserting that one must not think in terms of white or colored children, but of all children, the NAACP lawyer declared:

"I don't believe the cities of any state would be willing to abolish the school systems they have built up over the generations."

CALLING FOR an immediate end to segregation, he said it should be cut out like a cancerous growth.

"The longer you put it off, the more time you give the opposition to build against the step," he said.

Baltimore and Washington were cited as good examples of how segregation can be abolished.

Asked what he viewed as the difference between the NAACP and an organization, the National Association for the Advancement of White People, Mr. Marshall explained that the NAACP has always acted within the law.

Declaring that that nothing will happen should the Supreme Court order immediate desegregation, the speaker told assembled youngsters that "I have more faith that the majority of Southerners are law-abiding citizens than some of their governors have."

* * *

HE EXPRESSED confidence that colored teachers would be integrated along with their pupils without incident.

"Persons who argue that teachers should be fired because of their color, are moving the clock back to before the days of slavery," he pointed out.

"Colored people have been teaching and disciplining white youngsters from that time up to the present, and no one has expressed alarm."

The extreme shortage of teachers would make it impractical, he said, for any state to dispense with the services of its colored teachers.

Contending that integration is the answer, he pointed to how Arizona, New Jersey and New Mexico retained all of their colored teachers when desegregation was initiated.

* * *

Q — What do you think will happen if desegregation is ordered?

A — The best example of that is the white primary. There were dire predictions that blood would flow in the streets, that there would be violence and that colored people would never vote in South Carolina. None of those predictions came true. The case went to the high court. Today, there are 100,000 colored people registered to vote in South Carolina. No governor in this country can commit an entire state to do something.

Q — Do you think the school demonstrations were Communist - inspired?

A — No, I do not. I think it was the summer weather which accompanied the opening of the school term and the fact that some of the children didn't want to go to school anyhow. And of course, there were misguided children. As a policeman in Washington said, it was something that nothing but a good rain couldn't handle. And a policeman in Baltimore said it could have been stopped by a quick trip to the woodshed.

* * *

Q — Do you think the average colored person in the South wants integration?

A — I don't think anyone can say what the average colored person in the South wants. But I can give you an example. In Mississippi, Governor White called a group of 90 colored people to the State House to approve his plan for continued segregation. Out of that entire group only one person would go along with his plan.

Q— What if the Southern governors do try to continue segregated schools?

A — I am convinced that the people in the South, the rank and file, are going to realize it is without sense and is only a practice that has as its foundation the slavery.

Q — Do you think the NAAWP will last?

A — I dont believe any organization will last, but I can state that the NAACP has been in continued existence since 1908.

Youths Preparing To Assume Leadership Task, Leader Says

The youth of members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People are ready to undertake the burden of fighting for a brighter future to keep the efforts of the Thurgood Marshalls and the Walter Whites "from having gone to waste," the 19-year-old president disclosed Saturday.

The state youth movement, known better as the NAACP Youth Conference, and comprised of youth councils and college chapters, has been encouraged for sometime by its advisers, W. W. Law, of Savannah, and growing in numbers and strength.

NEW LEADERS: Officers for the 1955 were elected Saturday evening. They are: president, Hortense Standback, Morris Brown College; vice president, John Barber Morehouse; secretary Millicent Clayborne, Morris Brown; Assistant secretary, Sue Lane, Paine College and treasurer, Sallie Smart Savannah.

Greater strength was added last year when A. Reginald Eaves, 19-year-old Morehouse College junior became its president.

Reaves comes from a family with a long history of NAACP interest, and boasts of two brothers, in whose steps he has trod so far.

Emanuel and John Eaves both served as state NAACP president, and chiefs of the Morehouse chapter. Reaves is now also head of the Morehouse chapter, which Law proudly declares has been "the strong backbone" of the youth organization.

Eaves, who also has five sisters who are ardent NAACP members, says he contributes the interest of his family in a better world to the teachings of his father, the Rev. Cecil Eaves, pastor of the Church of God and Saints of Christ, of Jacksonville.

Rev. Eaves, he said, admonished his children to "try always to be a good leader and you'll be a good follower."

"Once you get a pattern set," the youth declared, it is easy to follow. Most members of family idolized him anyway, Eaves said.

Out of the conference has grown this idea, Eaves explained.

"The youth at this conference feel that most of the fight is on their shoulders. If we fail to do our part, we will consider their efforts gone to waste."

In detail, he expected a stronger youth organization to follow the meeting, and make the state group stronger in the U. S.

Eaves said he youths in areas "the where hate has remained strong support the organization a "great deal."

Many of them have to suffer the wrath of prejudice to remain active members, he said, and "if a person has that much courage he is not only a help to the NAACP but to the race as a whole."

The youth spent the morning in conference, discussing the "Youth's Role in the Integration Movement" in education, public accommodation and employment.

They met with such noted figures as Attorneys Daniel Duke and D. L. Hollowell; with Dr. Mozelle Hill, William Pace, C. D. Coleman of the Urban League, and others.

RECIPIENTS OF GOLD CERTIFICATE — O. G. Gomillion, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Tuskegee Branch NAACP was given a gold certificate along with three other persons who have purchased NAACP life memberships, and who were present at the 45th annual conference held in Dallas, Tex., June 29 through July 4 of this year. Pictured, reading from left to right are Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP (sitting), Dr. G. E. Fleming of Fort Worth, Tex.; C. G. Gomillion of Tuskegee Institute; I. H. Henderson of Kansas City, Kan. (all three of whom purchased life membership during 1954); Kelly Alexander of Durham, N. C., national board member who made the presentations, and Mrs. Pearl Mitchell of Cleveland, Ohio. Gomillion is chairman of the Life Membership Committee of the Tuskegee Branch, and has set for the local goal 15 life memberships this year. It was brought out also at the Dallas meet that the Tuskegee Branch has paid one half of its 1954 Fighting Fund for Freedom quota of $1,000.

Edward Murrow joins NAACP life members

NEW YORK—Edward R. Murrow, news analyst, television producer and a member of the board of directors of the Columbia Broadcasting System, has made an initial payment on a life membership in the NAACP.

Two other persons last week paid $500 each to become life members of the NAACP. They are Dr. Will Taylor Sr., of Monroe, La., and Louis Schneider, Newark, N.J. Dr. Harold J. Berman of Newton Centre, Mass., made an initial payment on a life membership in the association.

Masons get NAACP life membership

MARTINSVILLE, Va. — The Grand Lodge of Masons of Virginia took out a life membership in the NAACP during its 10th state convention here Oct. 8-10.

A $500 check for the membership was presented to W. Lester Banks, state NAACP executive secretary, at a Freedom Rally Sunday by M. Conrad Martin, grand treasurer, on behalf of Dr. W. L. Ransome, grand master of the Masons.

— o O o —

DR. RANSOME has not only distinguished himself in Masonic circles, but has been a leader in religious, educational and civic fields for nearly a quarter of a century. He is pastor of First Baptist Church, South Richmond.

Earlier in the convention he commanded national press by his challenge to the white church. When he appeared as a discussant on a work conference on "How Can the Church Meet the Challenge of Integration?"

Ed Murrow Pays On NAACP Life Membership

NEW YORK,—Edward R. Murrow, news analyst, television producer and a member of the board of directors of the Columbia Broadcasting System, has made an initial payment on a life membership in the NAACP.

Two other persons last week paid $500 each to become life members of the NAACP. They are Dr. Will Taylor, Sr., of Monroe, La., and Louis Schneider, Newark, N. J. Dr. Harold J. Berman of Newton Centre, Mass., made an initial payment on a life membership in the Association.

Mr. Murrow, a native of North Carolina, has in the course of his career been cited by numerous organizations for his contributions to reporting, radio broadcasting, television producing and to the cause of democracy in America.

He has received the Overseas Press Club award three times, the Peabody award three times, both including this year. He was cited this year also by the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, the Sidney Hillman Foundation, Look Magazine the National Newspaper Publishers Association (Russwurm award), and the Newspaper Guild of New York (Page One award). In addition, he received the Flaherty award for excellence in documentary films and the National Association for Mental Health award for his "See it Now" television program.

On Oct. 3 Mr. Murrow will receive the annual Freedom House award for his outstanding contributions to democracy in the United States

A member of the staff of the Columbia Broadcasting System since 1935, Mr. Murrow has served successively as director of education, European director, World War II correspondent and a vice president and director of public ffairs

NAACP GOLD CERTIFICATE PRESENTED TO C. G. GOMILLION: TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—C. G. Gomillion, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Tuskegee Branch NAACP was given a gold certificate along with three other persons who had purchased NAACP life memberships, and who were present at the 45th Annual Conference held in Dallas, Texas, June 29 thru July 4th of this year. Pictured, reading from left to right are Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP (sitting); Dr. G. E. Flemings of Fort Worth, Texas; C. G. Gomillion of Tuskegee Institute, Alabama; I. H. Henderson of Kansas City, Kansas (all three of whom purchased $500.00 memberships during 1954); Kelly Alexander of Durham, N. C.—national board member who made the presentations, and Mrs. Pearl Mitchell of Cleveland, Ohio.

Gomillion is chairman of the Life Membership Committee of the Tuskegee Branch, and has set for the local goal 15 life memberships this year.

It was brought out also at the Dallas meet that the Tuskegee Branch has paid one half of its 1954 Fighting Fund for Freedom quota of $1,000.00.

FIRST MONTGOMERY NAACP LIFE MEMBERSHIP—Mrs. Bertha Coakley Bailey (second from left) is seen presenting a check as an initial payment on the first NAACP Life Membership ($500) to Mrs. Elmer Heningburg Reynolds, solicitor, and President of the Women's Auxiliary No. 2 (NAACP). Looking on are: (standing) M. R. Matthews, local NAACP President; Mrs. Louise Boyd, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. A. Norris, Treasurer; Mrs. Mary F. Burks, organizer. Seated: (left) Mrs. L. A. Jacobs; Mrs. Alice Wright, Secretary; Mrs. Victoria Vickers, Assistant Secretary; Mrs. Zoelene Pierce, reporter; Mrs. Ruth Vines, and Mrs. Irene West, co-ordinator.

Mrs. Roosevelt Becomes Life NAACP Member

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt last week became a paid-in-full life member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Mrs. Roosevelt previously had made an initial down payment on her $500 life membership in the association.

DELTAS BUY $500 NAACP MEMBERSHIP— Mrs. Lula C. Cox is shown presenting C. G. Gomillion, chairman of the Tuskegee Branch NAACP Life Membership Committee, with a check in the amount of $100, as down payment of a life membership for the Zeta Sigma Chapter of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. The cost of a life membership is $500 and may be bought by paying $100 down and $100 per year. This purchase brings to six the number of life membership subscriptions in the Tuskegee Branch. The presentation was made at the culmination meeting of the membership committee, which drive netted 566 adult and sixty youth memberships.

Life NAACP card for Judge Toney's widow

NEW YORK—A five-hundred-dollar life membership in the NAACP was taken out last week by Mrs. Lily B. Toney, of NYC, in honor of her late husband, Judge Charles E. Toney.

For many years Judge Toney was a member of the board of directors of the NAACP and served for several years as vice chairman of the board. He died in 1953.

Mrs. Toney took out the life membership at the suggestion of Mrs. Ernest R. Alexander, member of the board, in the nation-wide campaign to secure Fight for Freedom crusade.

NAACP Life Membership Increased

NEW YORK—Six new life memberships in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People were taken out during January as the Association's Life Membership Campaign Committee opened its drive for 2,500 new $500 members. In addition, initial payments were made on seven other life memberships during the month.

The new fully paid life members are Mrs. Jean K. Green of Waban, Mass.; Louis Hellman, Boston; Clarence Adams, Dundalk, Md.; and Edward R. Dudley, NAACP special assistant in charge of the Fight for Freedom Fund. Honoring her late husband, Mrs. Charles E. Toney took out a life membership. The sixth was that of a distinguished clergyman who requests anonymity.

Initial payments on life memberships were made by Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman NAACP board of directors; Arkansas Teachers Association; John G. Lewis, member NAACP board and grand master, Louisiana Prince Hall Masons, Baton Rouge; Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel; Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, co-chairman of the Association's Life Membership Campaign Committee and president, Morehouse College, Atlanta, and Mrs. Joseph Kaplan, Newton Centre, Mass. The seventh person wishes to remain unidentified until completion of payment.

Serving as co-chairman with Dr Mays is Kivie Kaplan, prominent Boston businessman who by the end of last year had secured 15 life members for the Association. Life memberships may now be purchased on a partial payment of at little as $50 annually.

NAACP gets two more life members

NEW YORK — Mrs. Dorothy Schiff, publisher of The New York Post, liberal daily this week became a $500 life member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Other new life members are Presly Holiday of Washington and the East Texas Woman's auxiliary to the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical association.

Officers of the auxiliary are Mesdames F. E. Williams Sr., president; Martin L. Edwards, secretary, and Frank E. Williams Jr., treasurer.

Initial payments on NAACP life memberships were made also by George R. Willis, Fresno, Calif.; Louis E. Martin, editor, The Chicago Defender; Judge Thomas Dickens, New York, and Bishop Edgar A. Love, Baltimore.

Tallulah Bankhead In NAACP For Life

NEW YORK. — Miss Tallulah Bankhead, internationally known actress, has made an initial payment on a life membership in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Miss Bankhead hails originally from Alabama.

Five other Americans made initial payments on life memberships in the NAACP last week. They are Irving Mariash, New York, an attorney; Miss Rose Morgan, St. Albans, N. Y.; Mrs. Inez Gumbs, New York; Mrs. Ruby Johnson, New York, and Mrs. Ruth Ellington James, New York, a staff member of the NAACP's Fight for Freedom campaign.

A paid-in-full life membership in the Association was taken out for A. Maceo Smith of Dallas, Texas, by members of his fraternity, Alpha Phi Alpha. Mr. Smith is a member of the association's board of directors.

A group of ministers in Kansas last week contributed $23.93 to the NAACP's Fight for Freedom Campaign. The amount was received from the Manhattan Ministerial Association in Manhattan.

Tallulah Bankhead Pledges Life Support to NAACP

NEW YORK — Miss Tallulah Bankhead, internationally known actress, has made an initial payment on a life membership in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Miss Bankhead hails originally from Alabama.

Fraternity buys life membership

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — The Iota Omega chapter of Omega Psi Phi fraternity purchased the first life membership in the current membership srive of the local NAACP branch.

Edward Taylor, basileus of the chapter, presented the first payment on the $500 membership to branch president, D. L. Beasley.

Alumni Head And Wife Buy NAACP Life M'berships

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — Charles G Gomillion, president of the Paine College Alumni Association, and secretary of the Paine College Board of Trustees, and his wife have given the NAACP a check for $600 for one fully-paid Life Membership, and $100 as an installment ona second one. Mr. Gomillion received an A. B. degree from Paine College in 1928, and is now serving his third year as president of its Alumni Association. Mrs. Gomillion is an alumna of Atlanta University.

Mr. Gomillion, who is dean of students at Tuskegee Institute, has been active in educational and civic work for twenty-five years. He is a life member of the American Teachers Association, is chairman of the Conference of Alabama Colleges, and is a member of the committee on the teaching of sociology of the Southern Sociological Society. He is a member of the board of directors of the Fund, and of that of the Southern Southern Conference Educational Regional Council. For many years he has served as the president of the Tuskegee Civic Association, and is currently serving as campaign manager for Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, who is a candidate for the Macon County, Alabama, Board

Mrs. Gomillion is reference librarian at Tuskegee Institute, and has been active in the NAACP and in local politics in Alabama

NAACP Gets Three New Life Members

NEW YORK—Two persons and an organization last week took out $500 life memberships in the NAACP, while a similar number made an initial payment on a life membership.

The new NAACP life members are: Dr. Albert I. Green, Waban, Mass.; Richard Perrin Graves, Lafayette, Calif.; and the Mississippi Regional Council of Negro Leadership.

An initial payment on a life membership was made by Dr. George Paine, Boston, Mass.; Morton S. Grossman, Chestnut Hill, Mass. and Epsilon Tau Lambda chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, Hempstead, Texas.

These, together with other contributions, amounted to a total of $2,582.92 for the week. Other contributions included gifts from a memorial foundation, an individual, two labor unions, and four branches of the Association.

The Ray and Charles Newman Memorial Foundation, Inc., in New York City donated $500. Another $50 was sent by Dr. Allen Jackson of Hartford, Conn.

LIFE MEMBERS OF THE NAACP honored at a recent benefit fashion show to aid the Association's Fight for Freedom campaign in New York were (from left) Mrs. Ruth Ellington James, staff member; Miss Wilhelmena Adams, president of the Manhattan chapter; Mrs. Geri Major; Mrs. Rose Morgan; Mrs. Dorothy Anderson, Mrs. Helen Meade; Mrs. Evelyn Cunningham; Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP; Mrs. Rubie Johnson, Mrs. Carol Roberts, Mrs. Bessie Buchanan, Mrs. Florence Thornley, Mrs. Rosemarie Gaines, Mrs. Elizabeth McLaurin, Edward Dudley, director of the Fight for Freedom campaign; Dunbar McLaurin, and Mrs. Fannie Robinson. The fashion show was held at La Vie En Rose on East 54th Street and featured the spring and summer collection of Miss Verlie Morrison

Links, Inc. Present Check In Bluefield, W. Va.

JOY REIGNED SUPREME in Bluefield, W. Va., last ~~week~~ as Links, Inc., presented checks amounting to $26,850 to NAACP for life memberships for local Links chapters. Presentation was made by Mrs. Daisy Lampkins who originally proposed the project two years ago. Left to right: Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel; Mrs. Lampkins, and Roy Wilkins, NAACP administrator. Representatives from St. Louis were Mrs. William Sinkler and Mrs. T. E Rusan. Also here enroute from the convention was Mrs. Emanuel C Wright, a charter member of the association.

32b 1954

NAACP

$26,850 TO NAACP FOR LIFE MEMBERSHIPS FOR LOCAL LINKS CHAPTERS.
L I N K S, INC.

Links, Inc., Women's Group Gives $25,850 to NAACP

Links Donate

Bluefield, W. Va.,—Climaxing the sixth annual assembly of the Links, Inc., was the presentation here July 16, of checks totaling $26,850 to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People representing life memberships for the various local chapters of the civic-minded national women's organization.

Presentation of the slm, the largest single gift to the NAACP by a Negro organization, was made by Mrs. Daisy Lampkins who proposed two years ago to aid the NAACP through purchase of life memberships was unanimously adopted by the Links at their fourth annual assembly in San Francisco. On behalf of the Association, Roy Wilkins, administrator, and Thurgood Marshall, special counsel, accepted the generous contribution to the NAACP Fight For Freedom Fund.

The occasion was one of the happiest of her life, Mrs. Lampkins said at the public meeting attended by some 700 men and women including 200 beautifully gowned delegates from 44 of the Link's 58 chapters.

Proud of Links

"I am proud," Mrs. Lampkins told the assembly, "that the Links, Inc., had the vision to appreciate the significance of the work of the NAACP and the courage to undertake the project to support the one organization in America which, day in and day out, works to build a better world for their children and their children's children so that these future generations may walk in dignity and enjoy all of the rights and privileges of American citizenship."

Mr. Wilkins recalled the years of service Mrs. Lampkins has given to the NAACP, first as a most effective and dynamic field secretary and membership and fund raising campaigner and later as an active and hardworking member of the national Board of Directors. The NAACP administrator reviewed the work of the Association in its 45-year fight to abolish racial discrimination and segregation. He paid high tribute to the valiant role of Negro women in that fight.

ROY WILKINS

Contribution Of The Links

Organizations of men among us ought to feel a little sheepish, to say the least, when they compare what they have been doing in a collective way with what the women's organization known as the "Links" did recently at their national meeting held in Bluefield, West Va. They handed to Thurgood Marshall and Roy Wilkins, representing the NAACP, the magnificent and munificent sum of approximately $27,000.00 to carry on the fight for full freedom of Negroes in the United States. The doctors, as the largest earners of any group among us, might ponder this contribution of the Links as a possible example to them.

There is one thing about this splendid action of the Links which probably has some significance to it. There was no suggestion from either Mr. Marshall or Mr. Wilkins that this money would be unacceptable just because the Links are made up entirely of Negro women. While the Links might not reject her application if some qualified white woman should seek membership in the Links, still as of now the Links might be described as an organization of Negro women. Is there any reason why they should not be proud of their organization or why any of the rest of us should not be proud of them? Besides, should they disband, as the Negro nurses have done, as soon as some white group admits them to membership.

THE NAACP, Mr. Marshall said, was built on "faith and cooperation." These have been and remain the essential ingredients in maintaining the organization as an effective instrument for securing full civil rights. He praised the campaign the Negro press made to raise funds for the reargument of the public school cases and cited this successful project as a demonstration of that "faith and cooperation without which we would have no NAACP."

Others who participated on the program were S. J. Wright, president of Bluefield State College where the sessions were held; Mrs. Bernice Hughes Martin, president, Southern West Virginia chapter of the Links; Mrs. Sara Pelham Speaks of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Jessie Vann, president, the Courier.

Links Give Record $26,850 to NAACP

BLUEFIELD, W. Va.—Climaxing the sixth annual assembly of the Links, Inc., was the presentation here of checks totaling $26,850 to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People representing life memberships for the various local chapters of the civic-minded national women's organization.

Presentation of the sum, the largest single gift to the NAACP by a Negro organization, was made by Mrs. Daisy Lampkins whose proposal two years ago to aid the NAACP through purchase of life memberships was unanimously adopted by the Links at their fourth annual assembly in San Francisco.

On behalf of the association, Roy Wilkins, administrator, and Thurgood Marshall, special counsel, accepted the generous contribution to the NAACP Fight for Freedom Fund.

The occasion was one of the happiest of her life, Mrs. Lampkins said at the public meeting attended by some 700 men and women including 200 beautifully gowned delegates from forty-four of the Links' fifty-eight chapters.

"I AM PROUD," Mrs. Lampkins told the assembly, "that the Links, Inc., had the vision to appreciate the significance of the work of the NAACP and the courage to undertake the project to support the one organization in America which, day in and day out, works to build a better world for their children and their children's children so that these future generations may walk in dignity and enjoy all of the rights and privileges of American citizenship."

Mr. Wilkins recalled the years of service Mrs. Lampkins has given to the NAACP, first as a most effective and dynamic field secretary and membership and fund-raising campaigner and later as an active and hardworking member of the national board of directors.

The NAACP

This year the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will celebrate NAACP SUNDAY on January 31.

The church has, throughout the history of the Association, been a dependable and consistent source of strength and support. Leading churchmen of all faiths have served the Association on the national as well as the local level. Without this support, the work of the NAACP would be seriously impaired.

The majority of right thinking Americans believe in social justice for all. The NAACP has been flooded with letters regarding the public school cases which were argued recently before the United States Supreme Court. The greater percentage of these letters supported the NAACP's position. This should be proof to the doubters that many people in this country would like to see racial discrimination and segregation eliminated from all phases of American life.

Now that the cases have been heard the Association must expand its program on a community level. Regardless as to what the decision may be there is still an educational job that must be done.

With this understanding, we are again asking clergymen throughout the nation to aid branches in their respective communities in initiating a spiritual, cultural, and educational program that will touch all segments of our population.

The Association is most grateful for the marvelous financial support that our churches have given to the Fighting Fund for Freedom Campaign. If, however, your congregation has not contributed to this phase of our work will you please try to make this a part of your NAACP SUNDAY observance. May we count on you?

Sincerely yours,
Walter P. Offutt, Jr.
Church Secretary

Four-Day Youth Meet Set

NEW YORK—Vice President Richard Nixon will be the principal speaker at the closing session of the four-day national NAACP youth legislative conference in Washington, Jan. 28-31.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Walter White, Harold Stassen and Gen. Telford Taylor are among other national leaders scheduled to adress the NAACP-sponsored conference to be held on the campus of Haword University.

MORE THAN five hundred young people from colleges and communities in all sections of the country are expected to attend the conference.

By Harry Goodwin—The Washington Post

Chatting at the National Youth Legislative Conference at Howard University yesterday are, from left, Charles Howard, president, Howard University chapter, NAACP; Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), and Herbert Wright, Youth Secretary of the NAACP.

NAACP Youth Group Opens Conference

Mixed prospects for civil rights measures before Congress and a scorecard on the Eisenhower Administration's anti-segregation efforts were presented yesterday to Negro and white youths from 17 states and the District.

Senator Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) told a National Youth Legislative Conference that there's a "good chance" for passage of a law to ban segregation in interstate travel. However, Douglas expressed doubt that Congress would pass the so-called Ives-Humphrey bill for equality of employment opportunity.

The latter measure, Douglas said, "represents efforts to devise a bill that has the best chance of passage." Making a comparison with FEPC bills of 1949 and 1950, Douglas said the bill, containing no criminal penalties, places emphasis chiefly on marshaling public opinion against racial discrimination in hiring.

The latest bill to ban segregation in interstate travel is an all-Republican effort, introduced by Senators Irving M. Ives of New York and John Marshall Butler of Maryland and Rep. John W. Heselton of Massachusetts.

Douglas kicked off the four-day conference, sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People on the Howard University campus. The former economics professor ranged over numerous topics that also included congressional operations, the Bricker amendment to modify treaty making power, the behavior of congressional investigating committees and the Communist-encouraged war in French Indo-China.

On the latter matter Douglas drew a spattering of applause from 250 youths when he said that in response to any naked Communist grab for control, "I'm for sending the Navy and Air Force, at least, to stop them."

The Senator said he has drafted a bill that would establish a standard code of procedures for congressional investigating groups. Douglas said he'll introduce it when "enough sponsors" are obtained. He said it is similar to one already filed in the House.

The anti-segregation boxscore was compiled by Clarence Mitchell, Director of NAACP's Washington Bureau.

"Where President Eisenhower was able to take direct action, the score is on the superior side," Mitchell said, citing the Executive Order that reestablished the Government Contract Committee. This group, he said, has the duty to enforce the non-discrimination clause in government contracts.

On the "legislative side," Mitchell said tersely, the score "is just about zero."

This morning, the young people will call on their Senators and Representatives. In the afternoon, Eleanor Roosevelt is scheduled to speak.

Last Call For Nomination For Spingarn Medal

All nominations for the Spingarn Medal must be in the office of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, 20 West 40th street, New York 18, N. Y., by May 1, Walter White, executive secretary, announced.

The medal is awarded annually to a Negro American for distinguished achievement in such fields as the arts, science, business, education or statesmanship. Selection of the awards is made by a committee composed of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Prof. S. Ralph Harlow, Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, Dr. Buell Gallagher, Roscoe Dunjee, Rabbi Judah Cahn, Mrs. Helen Reid, and Chester Bowles.

Doctor Wins N. A. A. C. P. Medal

DALLAS, Tex., July 3 (AP).—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People last night presented its highest award, the Spingarn Medal, to Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, of Chicago.

The address presenting the thirty-ninth Spingarn Medal was delivered by Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of College of the City of New York.

Dr. Lawless is internationally noted for his research work at Northwestern Medical School, Chicago, and especially in the fields of dermatology and syphilology.

The presentation was made at the N. A. A. C. P.'s forty-fifth annual convention. The purpose of the Spingarn Medal is to recognize the achievement of Negroes in the United States.

In his presentation address, Dr. Gallagher said the award is presented by the N. A. A. C. P. because "we have found it useful and necessary to give public acclaim to those who have triumphed over the strictures of a racial caste system."

Our Opinions

Dr. T. K. Lawless Spingarn Medalist

Dr. Theodore Kenneth Lawless, thirty-ninth Spingarn medalist, has long been known and recognized nationally and internationally as a dermatologist of the highest rank.

But even the city of Chicago, his home, has not been fully aware of, nor appreciated the extent and worth of his quiet, dignified but dynamic leadership in the unrelated fields of business, education, religious work, civic endeavors and the still wider field of human relations.

As president of the Service Federal Savings and Loan Association his sane and liberal influence is reflected in the lending and savings policies of this institution.

His rental policies in his real estate operations in Chicago and New Orleans demonstrate an imagination often missing in similar operations by professionals in this field.

Being chairman of the board of trustees of Talladega college and trustee of Bethune-Cookman college, Dillard university and Houston-Tillotson college has provided him with an opportunity to re-emphasize the basic values of past generations and at the same time influence changes which have proven necessary to meet the challenge of a new world in the making.

Even with this advanced outlook he has provided scholarships for African students and established a library and repository of African and American Negro art, literature and history designed to bring inspiration and pride of racial ancestry.

Inspired by the illustrious career of his father, Rev. Alfred Lawless, jr., one of America's great churchmen, he has willingly and at great sacrifice helped guide and direct the more advanced policies of the Congregational Christian Church organization and the American Missionary Association.

While some of these varied contributions have emerged to public notice, the most significant and valued services in civic activities philanthropy and in the field of inter-racial understanding have yet to be related.

We hope his modesty relents and permits this facet of his character to be revealed so it, too, may receive public appraisal and acclaim.

We join the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and all of the segments of the public which have benefitted from his steadfast adherence to the old rigid virtues of successful living, in paying honor to this man.

We entertain the hope this award which recognizes the value of Dr. Lawless' service to his fellowman will inspire others who achieve eminence in some special field will like Dr. Lawless, dig deep and utilize every latent talent not for new honors in a restricted field but will at a sacrifice give to the public to the fullest extent of all abilities.

We salute Dr. Lawless, physician, dermatologist, scientist, businessman, educator and friend of man.

Spingarn Winner—The thirty - ninth Spingarn Medal is presented to Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, left, noted Chicago dermatologist, by Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of the College of the City of New York, at the NAACP's forty-fifth annual convention in Dallas. The convention, attended by 766 delegates from forty states and the District of Columbia, was held June 29-July 4.

Spingarn Medal to Lawless

NEW YORK—The Spingarn Medal, presented annually for distinguished achievement, has been awarded this year to Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, the noted Chicago dermatologist. Dr. Lawless was picked by a committee from among a large number of nominations.

The medal will be presented to Dr. Lawless at the forty-fifth annual convention of the NAACP in Dallas, June 29-July 4. The Chicago scientist will be the thirty-ninth recipient of the medal which was instituted in 1914 by the late J. E. Spingarn, then chairman of the board of directors of the NAACP.

Dr. Lawless was graduated from Talladega College in Alabama and from the Medical School of Northwestern University

DR. T. K. LAWLESS

'53 Spingarn Award Goes To Lawless

NEW YORK — The Spingarn medal, presented annually to a Negro American for distinguished achievement, has been awarded this year to Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, noted Chicago dermatologist.

Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP made the announcement last week.

Dr. Lawless was picked by a committee from among a large number of nominations.

The medal will be presented to Dr. Lawless at the forty-fifth annual convention of the NAACP in Dallas, June 29-July 4.

The Chicago scientists will be the thirty-ninth recipient of the medal which was instituted in 1914 by the late J. E. Spingarn, then chairman of the board of directors of the NAAP.

The award, a gold medal, was established to recognize and reward "distinguished merit and achievement among American Negroes" and to stimulate "the ambition of colored youth."

A member of such professional societies as the American Medical Association and the International Congress of Dermatology, Dr. Lawless is a diplomat of the American Board of Dermatology and Syphilogoy, a consultant of the United States Chemical Warfare Board, and a teacher of his speciality at the medical school of Northwestern university. He has contributed extensively to the leading journals of dermatology in America and abroad.

Dr. Lawless was graduated from Talladega college in Alabama and from the medical school of Northwestern university. He did graduate work in skin diseases and syphilogy at the Vanderbilt clinic of Columbia university; the Massachusetts General hospital, Boston; the St. Louis hospital in Paris; the Kaiser Joseph hospital in Vienna; and at other clinics and institutes in Germany, Switzerland and elsewhere.

In addition to his scientific achievements, Dr. Lawless is a successful businessman, an active churchman, a philantropist, a member of the advisory board of Liberties Committee.

Among previous recipients of Spingarn Medal are Marian Anderson, Judge William H. Hastie, Thurgood Marshall, Ralph J. Bunche, Walter White, the late Dr. Louis T. Wright, A. Philip Randolph, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, Paul R. Williams and Mrs Mary McLeod Bethune.

Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, Chicago Dermatologist, Is Spingarn Award Winner

New York,—The Spingarn Medal, presented annually to a Negro American for distinguished achievement, has been awarded this year to Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, the noted Chicago dermatologist. Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, announced June 15. Dr. Lawless was picked by a committee from among a large number of nominations.

The medal will be presented to Dr. Lawless at the 45th annual convention of the NAACP in Dallas, June 29-July 4. The Chicago scientist will be the 39th recipient of the medal which was instituted in 1914 by the late J. E. Springarn, then chairman of the Board of Directors of the NAACP. The award, a gold medal, was established to recognize and reward "distinguished merit and achievement among American Negroes" and to stimulate "the ambition of colored youth."

A Diplomat

A member of such professional societies as the American Medical Association and the International Congress of Dermatology, Dr. Lawless is a diplomat of the American Board of Dermatology and Syphilogy, a consultant of the United States Chemical Warfare Board, and a teacher of his speciality at the Medical School of Northwestern University. He has contributed extensively to the leading journals of dermatology in America and abroad.

Dr. Lawless was graduated from Talladega College in Alabama and from the Medical School of Northwestern University. He did graduate work in skin diseases and syphilology at the Vanderbilt clinic of Columbia University; the Massachussetts General Hospital, Boston; the St. Louis Hospital in Paris; the Kaiser Joseph Hospital in Vienna; and at other clinics and institutes in Germany, Switzerland and elsewhere.

Business Man

In addition to his scientific achievements, Dr. Lawless is a successful businessman, an active churchman, a philanthropist, a member of the board of trustees of four southern colleges, and a member of the advisory board of directors of the Chicago Civil Liberties Committee.

Among previous recipients of the Spingarn Medal are Marian Anderson, Judge William H. Hastie, Thurgood Marshall, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Walter White, the late Dr. Louis T. Wright, A. Philip Randolph, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, Paul R. Williams and Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune.

Spingarn Winner Noted As Scientist, Educator

Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, 1953 winner of the coveted Spingarn Medal, is a man of many talents —physician, scientist, businessman, educator, churchman, civic leader and philantropist.

Destined for great accomplishments, Dr. Lawless was born Dec. 6, 1892 on a farm near Thibodaux, La., eldest son of Rev. Alfred Lawless and Harriet Lawless.

After graduating from Talladega college in 1914, Dr. Lawless spent two years of graduate study in the School of Medicine of the University of Kansas and continued his medical studies at Northwestern university, receiving his medical degree in 1919.

He studied on a Rosenwald Foundation fellowship (1920-21) at Vanderbilt clinic, Columbia university, and Massachusetts General hospital, Harvard Medical School, with emphasis on dermatology and syphilogy. He later studied in Europe.

Dr. Lawless began practicing medicine in Chicago in 1923 and resumed research work at Northwestern Medical school.

LEADING DERMATOLOGIST

Recognized as one of the world's leading dermatologists, Dr. Lawless has effected hundreds of remarkable cures in cases of rare and baffling skin diseases.

He is a member of the American Medical Association and the International Congress of Dermatology and Syphilogy, a consultant of the United States Chemical Welfare board, a member of the Advisory Committee on Veneral Diseases, a member of the Cook County Prison Welfare committee and senior attending physician, Provident hospital, Department of Dermatology.

Dr. Lawless is chairman of the board of trustees of Talladaga college and on the board of three other schools — Dillard university, Houston-Tillotson college and Bethune-Cookman college.

He has established numerous scholarships, including a $3,000 grant to support an African student in the United States.

DR. T. K. LAWLESS

A philanthropist, Dr. Lawless built the 80-unit Gentility Garden apartments next to Dillard university, at a cost of $700,000 to provide homes for teachers who had families.

He is president of Service Federal Savings and Loan Association, at 104 East 51st, an organization approaching the two million dollar mark in assets after only three years of operation.

Dr. Lawless also heads the 4213 South Michigan Corporation, which controls real estate valued at close to two million dollars.

Active in church affairs, he is a member of the American Missionary association, the Prudential Committee of American Board Commissioners for Foreign Missions and a member of the Church of the Good Shepherd.

Dr. Lawless will receive the Spingarn award at the annual convention of the NAACP in Dallas, Texas, June 29 — July 4.

The medal was instituted in 1914 by the late J. E. Spingarn, then chairman of the board of directors of the NAACP. It was established to recognize and reward "distingusihed merit and achievement among American Negroes" and to stimulate "the ambition of colored youth." The Chicago scientist becomes the 39th recipient of the medal.

WINS NAACP'S

Buell Gallagher Calls Race's Rise 'Unique in Annals of Human History'

DALLAS, Tex. — (INS) — One of the nation's top educators praised the American Negro's rise from the bonds of slavery as unique in the annals of human history.

Dr. Buell Gallagher, President of City College of New York made his remarks in Dallas in a speech at the convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The educator's address was given in connection with the presentation of the Spingarn medal, the NAACP's annual award to the Negro whose achievements have been most distinctive during the year.

This year's award went to Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, Chicago dermatologist, who is one of the first physicians to obtain and use radium for treatment of cancer and skin diseases.

Dr. Gallagher declared that in honoring the recipient of the medal, "we are indirectly honoring the American way of life which, through democratic and peaceful means is achieving one of the major revolutions of all time."

HISTORIC RISE

"No where else, the educator continued, "and at no other time before in the human history, has a whole group of people advanced from bondage and thralldom to the beginning of first class citizen ship in so short a time or with such relative success."

The speaker then went on to say that the past 15 years has seen a 'major revolution in the basic customs and habits of an entire nation, achieved in so short a time as to be almost miraculous" He added:

"The pressures of instance that segregation ought to go finally result in the awakening of the conscious of nation to the fact that segregation can go—and the final decision that it must and will go."

The citation awarding Dr. Lawless the medal said that the Chicagoan is recognized at home and abroad as one of the world's leading dermatologists. It added that through his "extensive research and experiments he has enlarged the area of scientific knowledge in his own scientific field."

LOUISIANA BORN

Dr. Lawless was born in Louisiana in 1892.

Earlier Robert L. Carter, chief assistant to NAACP Special Counsel Thurgood Marshall, outlined the organization's course in the area of transportation.

Carter predicted a quick end—"possibly within 60 days"—to segregation on interstate railroad coaches and at waiting rooms in the South.

Carter said he is "optimistic" about the outcome of the hearing which is scheduled for July 29 before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Carter also revealed that test cases in intrastate travel should be ready in six months and expressed the opinion that ending segregation in street cars and busses in the South "ought to be the easiest part of the whole thing."

The conventions ends Sunday with a mass meeting of the delegates from throughout the country at which Walter White, long-time champion of racial equality, and Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, of the United Nations, will be principal speakers.

Marshall answers questions for 1500 co-eds at Wellesley

Afro-American P. 18

By LYDIA T. BROWN

WELLESLEY, Mass. — Thurgood Marshall, chief legal counsel for the NAACP answered a volley of questions based on desegregation of schools for Wellesley College women, here, Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Marshall was one of 12 guest speakers at Wellesley's annual forum and conference on "Values In the American Tradition" which was attended by 1500 of the college's 1650 students.

He told the group that no American can escape responsibility for insisting upon the complete removal of race and caste from American life.

WITH A SENSE OF HUMOR, yet firmly, the 46-year-old Baltimorean, who has devoted his entire professional life to the fight against segreation told his all woman audience that the NAACP was already looking beyond it's now historic success in the public schools cases to extending gains made in the fields of housing, voting and fair employment.

Fair employment, he said, presented a terrific task of pushing the Federal Bill through Congress, because it will be many a year before the southern states will be willing to adopt such legislation.

In regard to the future, Mr. Marshall said recent developments should give all Americans the necessary courage to push ahead. The important thing to remember, he said, is that no American can escape his responsibility in this regard by saying that the southern governors, the southern school officials or the Ku Klux Klan, are responsibile for this injustice. Today all Americans must recognize their state in returning to the Democratic basic principle of the equality of man without regard to any extraneous factors unrelated to the individual's own qualifications.

— o O o —

THE OUTBURSTS AT Milford, Baltimore and Washington are not indicative of what to expect later, the speaker said. They were only a money raising scheme on the part of a few agitators seeking to make a good thing out of an emotional issue. It spread as a "chain reaction," as anti-integrationists saw that what works in one town, may not work in another, he added.

Fortright action by courts and police will cut resistance to integration to a minimum said Mr. Marshall, each NAACP local branch will work with the local school committees for a year to bring about a peaceful integration. At the end of that time, if it is apparent that the local board is not acting in good faith, they will be taken to court, he said.

Mr. Marshall said that no one knows how much trouble to expect as integration moves into the deep South, but the NAACP does not expect violence. "The old spirit of lynching is about licked" he said.

"White tax players in Georgia, Mississippi, and Louisiana, will not allow millions of dollars worth of schools to be given away. Even prejudice has a price tag on it." Mr. Marshall said.

During the question period that followed Mr. Marshall was flooded with hundreds of questions from the audience. One question involved the length of time that would be required "for colored persons to reach the educational and moral level of whites" after desegregation takes place. As this was read out, a dead silence fell as the audience grasped the apparent loading of the query. This was followed by an agitated murmur as the eniment NAACP lawyer stood and pondered a moment before answering.

He came back with a good one as he said, "Just as long as it took Dr. Ralph Bunche to get the Nobel Prize for Peace." This reply was greeted with a roar of applause.

Mr. Marshall, added to this question, "that while it is true that many of the deep south Negroes are not up to white standards educationally, studies have demonstrated that when they are placed in good unsegregated schools, or in northern schools they do just as good as the whites. No better, No worse."

— o O o —

IN ANSWER TO A question on the effect of desegregation on colored teachers, he replied the nationwide shortage of elementary teachers would seem to obviate any loss of employment on their part.

When asked — "Does the NAACP really represent all colored southerners?" Mr. Marshall explained that this question is frequently posed by and in southern newspapers in their editorials. He replied that it did not represent all colored southerners but that it does represent more than southern papers do.

Most of the organization's 250,000 members are in the deep South, he said and most are $2 members.

Asked if integration implied "inter marriage," Mr. Marshall termed this as a "bugaboo" issue that has no relation to the present fight." Each individual has the right to decide that for himself. At most it is a family or religion matter, he said.

After the forum Mr. Marshall chatted with students on the terrace, then left by car, to board the Advance Merchants Limited train, where he hoped to meet his uncle, who is a dining car steward.

After the lecture was over the southern student, from Atlanta, came forward to apologize to Mr. Marshall for her question on "the length of time that would be required to reach the educational and moral level."

She told him that she had not intended to make unwarranted assumptions in the questions, but had merely phrased it as she had heard it many times in Atlanta, Ga. during the past summer.

Freedom Fund Spirit

Spirit for a cause was demonstrated in Kansas City last Sunday when some 2,000 persons gathered to hear a speach by the eminent NAACP attorney, Thurgood Marshall, and contribute to the Freedom Fund.

Call Sun. 10-29-54

Mr. Marshall was unable to attend the rally because of illness. His doctor had ordered him to a hospital bed because of some temporary indisposition.

But the absence of the speaker who spearheaded the fight against segregated schools and who was the prime cause for the large attendance, did not kill the spirit and purpose of the meeting.

P. 20

Following an explanation of the misfortune to Mr. Marshall and the efforts of several capable pinch-hitters, the crowd demonstrated its belief in the Freedom Fund ideal by a mass parade to the collection tables where it placed its contributions.

No long harangues were made or needed to start the contributors marching forward. The movement seemed to be motivated by a spirit of willingness to give in the fight for full freedom.

To "Mr. Civil Rights," this parade of voluntary contributors to the cause for which he is devoting his life must have made his illness a little easier to bear.

The rally certainly would have been more inspirational had Mr. Marshall been present, for he is a colorful and vigorous speaker. But it is impossible for him to be everywhere.

Those who would aid in the fight for freedom need not wait for Mr. Marshall to speak. They can help him most through the spirit of giving.

We'll triumph by sticking to our guns — Thurgood

Afro-American P. 21

BROOKLYN, N.Y. (ANP) — "Stick to your guns and ultimate and complete victory is inevitable," was the gist of a Men's Day Address by Thurgood Marshall to more than 1,000 persons at Brooklyn's Concerne Baptist Church last Sunday.

Referring tto the theme for the occasion—"Men's Deeds Today Will Affect His Future,"—the legal director of the NAACP cautioned that the school desegregation fight was not ended by the rendering of the Supreme Court's epochal decision. "We must not sit down in complacency but act on every move to evade the ruling," he stated.

Referring to constitution changes voted last week in Georgia and Louisian to evade the decision, the counselor indicated that court action would be taken immediately when either state attempts to put it into action.

HE CITED AN instance where Gov. Hugh White of Alabama called a group of 95 "hand-picked" colored citizens of the state together, but got only one of the entire group to staand up and support his offer for "equal but separate schools."

When this individual stood, one of the group got up and said, "You see, Mr. Governor, there stands a living example of what segregation can do for a man."

More than $300 was taken up for the NAACP's Freedom fund in an after - collection, following an appeal by the Rev. Sandy F. Ray, pastor, and president, Empire State Baptist Missionary Convention.

NEGRO NEWS

Marshall Of NAACP To Talk Here

By CLAUDE GEORGE SR.

Atty. Thurgood Marshall, chief legal officer of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, will be the main speaker at the 91st annual celebration of the Emancipation Proclamation.

The meeting will be held at noon Jan. 1 at the Wheat Street Baptist Church, according to Dr. E. C. Mitchell, chairman of the program committee.

The 46-year-old New Yorker who led the arguments against public school segregation before the Supreme Court is a native of Baltimore and a graduate of Lincoln University.

Dr. William Boyd, state NAACP president, will preside at the meeting here. Miss Wilmotine Jackson will read the proclamation signed by President Lincoln on Jan. 1, 1863. William Jones will direct a citywide youth chorus of the C.M.E. churches, and attorney D. L. Hollowell will introduce the speaker.

NAACP Counsel On NBC-TV

Argus p. 1

NEW YORK — Thurgood Marshall, special counsel, NAACP will appear on the NBC radio and television networks Sunday Nov. 28 between 1:00 and 1:30 p.m., EST, on the program "Youth Wants To Know." (In St Louis on KSD-TV, 12 to 12:30).

Marshall will discuss school segregation. He follows Gov Herman Talmadge, of Georgia, who appeared several months ago on the same program discussing the same subject.

NAACP Legal Counsel On National Television Show

Daily World p. 1

Atlanta, Ga. Tues. 11-30-54

WASHINGTON — "School children would vote overwhelmingly against segregation if allowed to make up their minds," Attorney Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said here Sunday.

Speaking on the NBC-TV program, "Youth Wants To Know," the noted attorney pointed out that prejudice is learned by children from parents and not inherited."

LED NAACP FIGHT

Attorney Marshall, who led the successful legal fight of the NAACP against school segregation, also made it clear that "any efforts to perpetuate segregation will have to be answered in the courts."

The program "Youth Wants To Know" was not seen in Atlanta Sunday. Formerly appearing on Channel Two, the program was dropped a few weeks ago.

The NAACP official said he does not believe there will be any real effort to block mingling of white and Negro students in the South by establishing private school systems.

"I don't believe people would be able to abolish school systems they have spent 70 or 80 years building up," he said.

GEORGIANS LAW ABIDING

Attorney Marshall said that although Georgia's Governor Herman Talmadge has stated there will always be segregation as long as he is governor, the people of Georgia "are as law abiding as in any other state and will abide by the law of the land."

He added that "while governors are speaking, they have nothing to do with the actual running of the school districts."

Attorney Marshall explained that the NAACP is working "completely within the Constitution and within the law." He made this statement when asked what might happen if some states still refused to go along with integration.

Another question posed by integration, he said, is the possible firing of Negro teachers when school systems are combined. Some people opposing integration have said they would not let Negroes teach their children, he said.

"But who will replace Negro teachers if they are fired?" he asked. "There is a shortage of white teachers now."

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People spearheaded the long legal fight that led the Supreme Court last spring to wipe out the old principle of separate but equal facilities for public school pupils. The Supreme Court will hear arguments next year on how to best put the decision into effect.

Marshall to address junior bar members

Morning Newark p. 8

NEWARK

Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the NAACP, will address the Junior Section of the New Jersey State Bar Association in Newark on Friday, Dec. 10, at 6 p.m.

The distinguished constitutional lawyer and civil rights specialist will speak at the group's annual dinner meeting in the Hotel Essex House.

Richard L. Amster, chairman of the Junior Section, will preside.

Sat. 12-11-54

Mr. Marshall, who is also the director of the NAACP's Legal Defense and Educational Fund, is a native of Baltimore, Md.

He graduated from the Law School of Howard University in 1933 and holds honorary doctor of Law degrees from five colleges and universities.

He has argued 13 cases before the U.S. Supreme Court affecting the constitutional rights of colored Americans, winning historic decisions in all but two of them for an outstanding record.

Mr. Marshall's greatest legal accomplishment came last May 17th when, in a momentous pronouncement, the Supreme Court declared school segregation unconstitutional.

He was chief of the distinguished battery of lawyers, deans of law schools, and legal researchers, white and colored, who prepared the data—at a tremendous personal sacrifice—and made the successful argument before the high court that segregation, and the "separate but equal" doctrine, are unconstitutional.

THURGOOD MARSHALL

Mr. Marshall has been the NAACP's chief legal counsel since 1936, following his services to the Baltimore NAACP Branch, 1934 to 1936, as legal counsel.

Several hundred lawyers from all over the state who will attend the two-day sessions will be on hand to hear Mr. Marshall, according to Forster W. Freeman Jr., of Paterson, president of the association.

He added that "while governors are speaking, they have nothing to do with the actual running of the school districts."

Attorney Marshall explained that the NAACP is working "completely within the Constitution and within the law." He made this statement when asked what might happen if some states still refused to go along with integration.

Another question posed by integration, he said, is the possible firing of Negro teachers when school systems are combined. Some people opposing integration have said they would not let Negroes teach their children, he said.

"But who will replace Negro teachers if they are fired?" he asked. "There is a shortage of white teachers now."

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People spearheaded the long legal fight that led the Supreme Court last spring to wipe out the old principle of separate but equal facilities for public school pupils. The Supreme Court will hear arguments next year on how to best put the decision into effect.

Atty. Marshall Back Integrat

32 b

NAACP Legal Counsel On National Television Show

WASHINGTON — "School children would vote overwhelmingly against segregation if allowed to make up their minds," Attorney Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said here Sunday.

Speaking on the NBC-TV program, "Youth Wants To Know," the noted attorney pointed out that prejudice is learned by children from parents and not inherited."

LED NAACP FIGHT

Attorney Marshall, who led the successful legal fight of the NAACP against school segregation, also made it clear that "any efforts to perpetuate segregation will have to be answered in the courts."

The NAACP official said he does not believe there will be any real effort to block mingling of white and Negro students in the South by establishing private school systems.

"I don't believe people would be able to abolish school systems they have spent 70 or 80 years building up," he said.

GEORGIANS LAW ABIDING

Attorney Marshall said that although Georgia's Governor Herman Talmadge has stated there will always be segregation as long as he is governor, the people of Georgia "are as law abiding as in any other state and will abide by the law of the land."

Thurgood Marshall Thanks Other People At Testimonial Dinner Given in His Honor

NEW YORK.—At a testimonial dinner given in his honor here Wednesday, Dec. 16, Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for the NAACP, refused to take full credit for the fight he has waged against second-class citizenship, but chose instead to pay tribute to those who have helped him and the NAACP achieve what they have been able to do.

Among those to whom Marshall paid tribute were the churches, the Prince Hall Masons, the Negro press of the nation, the NAACP branches, the lawyers all over the country who have helped fight NAACP cases and industries like Calvert which have put money into the fight.

The dinner was given in honor of Marshall by employes of the Calvert Distillers at the Hotel Astor.

"I want to thank some of the people who have worked with us and are here tonight," Marshall began. "First there is Father Bishop, my spiritual adviser. He represents to my mind a very important segment of our community insofar as the NAACP cases are concerned. We would not be able to have these cases but for the churches, the doors of which are always open to hold meetings. When we have the church on our side, we do not have to worry."

Spying Grand Master Giddins of the Prince Hall Masons in the audience, the brilliant Marshall said. "There is Grand Master Giddings of the Prince Hall Masons of this state, my grand master. The Negro Masons have set up a legal research fund in the past two years and they have contributed about $24,000 a year. Again I say, when we have people like that on our side we do not have to worry."

Marshall next turned to Mrs. Daisy Lampkin and Mrs. Robert L. Vann of the Pittsburgh Courier whom he called 'symbols of the Negro press who have opened up the columns of their paper and that costs money."

"If you do not believe that costs money," he added, "you ask the sponsors of this dinner, Calvert Distillers, what an ad costs. But we, the NAACP, get the space for nothing. Remember, too, the Negro papers of this country took it upon themselves to raise money for the cases (school segregation) and the Negro press has raised considerable money."

The NAACP lawyer continued, "There are also here tonight Roy Wilkins and Arthur Spingarn who represent the branches we have all over the country and the people who have made these cases possible.

"Then we have here tonight practically all of the legal committee, staff lawyers, trial counsel, who were in charge of the litigation all the way up to the Supreme Court.

"Also here is Morris Ernest who also worked on the cases along with Ben Kaplan who never got a nickel.

"These cases which were argued last week and the other cases are significant only if we have the public behind us. One very significant thing is Calvert's participation. It is important to me that an important business establishment believes in the thing we all believe in and that is not common at the present time. The reason it is important to me is that I look to the future and do not look to the past.

"I believe in the future. We will have more and more business firms doing what Calvert does when they realize the need for working to maintain our democracy.

"This money is not the first money that Calvert Distillers has contributed. Calvert has been contributing regularly without fanfare to our legal work. They are the ones that made me make a binding promise not to mention the amount, but I never pay any attention to binding promises. One of the first times I talked with Mr. Wachtel, president of Calvert, I told him the need we had and that I thought that industry should be interested in the Negro market and for that reason should contribute to the NAACP."

Marshall said that Wachtel "pinned my ears back" by saying, "If that's all you can sell, you can't sell anything. You convince business men that it is necessary to support the NAACP to make democracy live and they will support you. The interest must be on an unselfish basis, not for business reasons."

Marshall said that that was what Mr. Wachtel said to him.

"The other important thing," the lawyer continued, "is that we raised most of the money we got from contributions from people of all races, all groups, all levels. The contributions ranged from five cents to $8,000 and $9,000.

"When you talk about a testimonial dinner to me you talk about a very small part of what is going on. The important thing to bear in mind is the work done by lawyers all over the country. My thanks to them all.

"I also want to thank John A. Davis, professor at City college of New York. He headed up a group of 50 scientists who worked all through the summer. In this audience are a number of lawyers who are members of the Harlem Bar association. Thanks to them and to thousands of other people."

'Mr. Civil Rights' guest of N.J. bar

Thurgood says schools should be integrated without delay

By SAMUEL A. HAYNES

NEWARK

"The best way to desegregate (the schools) is to do it at once and for all and not wait until next year."

This is the straight - from-the-shoulder opinion Thurgood Marshall, special NAACP counsel, gave members of the New Jersey State Bar Association here Friday in a history-making address.

Speaking at the dinner meeting of the Junior Section at the Association's mid-winter meeting at the Hotel Essex House, the distinguished constitutional lawyer declared:

* * *

"SEGREGATION has no legal, moral or scientific basis and no excuse to continue any longer than yesterday.

"Segregation has been completely eliminated in the armed services, and the sky didn't fall.

"And there has been no friction, although there previously had been an average of an incident a month.

* * *

MR. MARSHALL emphasized that while it is true that the colored American has made significant progress in recent years, Utopia has not come and there is much yet to be done before he attains full freedom and first-class citizenship.

He underscored this with the observation that, "I know of no region in this country where a colored man can move where he pleases."

"There are some places," he added, "in the North as well as in the South, where a convicted murderer would be welcomed before a colored man.

"It simply doesn't make sense."

AMONG THE distinguished guests who heard Mr. Marshall's call for immediate desegregation of schools were:

Loyd Wright of Los Angeles, president of the American Bar Association, who sat next to him at the speaker's table; and Deputy Attorney General Cook of New Jersey, who recently prosecuted charges of segregation and discrimination against the Englewood School Board filed by several parents with the Division Against Discrimination.

Also David Litwin, attorney, and chairman of the Mayor's Commission on Group Relations, and Congressman Harrison A. Williams, a Democrat, of Union County.

MR. MARSHALL coupled his call for swift action to wipe out school segregation with a challenging appeal to the young lawyers to supply their communities with constructive leadership that will make democracy work.

"...certainly all of us," he said, "can give some time and some of our talents to constructive leadership in our community.

"To see to it that no American will ever be without adequate legal assistance and guidance solely because of race, religion or ability to pay...

* * *

"IT IS TIME that every American lawyer got up off his plush chair and got out into his community with a position of leadership in the struggle toward full and complete citizenship for all Americans without regard to race, religion, ancestry or caste."

* * *

AMONG THE DINNER guests were:

Harry Hazelwood Jr. of Newark, only colored member of the Junior Section of the State Bar Association (the age limit is 36 years); Logan McWilson of Montclair and James Abrams of Newark.

Also Wilbur Parker, who was sworn in on Dec. 6 as the first colored Certified Public Accountant in New Jersey; and Editor Samuel A. Haynes of the New Jersey AFRO-AMERICAN and Editor Oliver (Butts) Brown of the New Jersey Herald News, both of whom were guests of Mr. Hazelwood.

* * *

IT WAS THROUGH the liberalism of some members of the Junior Bar Association that the first colored lawyers in New Jersey were admitted to the American Bar Associaion.

Last year, U.S. Judge William H. Hastie of Philadelphia was guest speaker for the Passaic County Bar Association.

Of the approximately 8,000 lawyers in New Jersey, 3,000 of them are members of the Bar Association, membership in which is open to all purely on the basis of eligibility.

Philadelphia Honors Thurgood Marshall

THURGOOD MARSHALL

Philadelphia—Thurgood Marshall, director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, will receive the Philadelphia Cotillion Society's top award, the Emerald Cross of Malta, on December 30 at the Sixth Christmas Cotillion to be held at Convention Hall.

Mr. Marshall, who is also Special Counsel for the NAACP, is being honored for having "devoted his life to unceasing activity in the cause of Human Rights".

Highlight of the annual Christmas Cotillion is the spectacle-fantasy "The Blue Venus" in which more than a thousand actors and dancers will participate. Presented in honor of the award winner, the lavish production, which has been called "the world's largest ballet" is produced by Dr. Eugene Wayman Jones, executive director of the Society and of it's cultural center, Heritage House.

Mr. Marshall, who successfully led the fight on segregation in the nation's public schools, joins six other distinguished Americans in receivng the handsome jewelled medal. These include Marion Anderson, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Dr. Mary McCleod Bethune, Mr. Branch Rickey, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dr. Mary Church Terrell, now deceased.

Architect, Brain Trust, Field General

Atty. Marshall's Greatest Victory!

'Mr. Civil Rights' Seldom Complains About Long Hours

Courier P. 13
Pittsburgh, Pa
5-29-54

By JOHN GEIGER

NEW YORK (INS)—Fourteen hours after Thurgood Marshall won his greatest victory in the vaulted chamber of the U. S. Supreme Court, his voice was raised happily in discussion before another forum—the good citizens outside a barber shop on a Harlem street near his home.

The Harlemites had spotted Marshall in a taxi, late at night, and hauled him out to explain the ramifications of the Supreme Court ruling outlawing racial segregation in public education.

It had been a long day—but Marshall talked almost until dawn.

The incident is typical. At 45, Marshall—special legal counsel for the NAACP—is, in his own words, "natural-born and easy-going," and still hewing to a personal philosophy he adopted years ago:

"I intend to wear life like a very loose garment, and never worry about a thing."

It is a relaxed attitude that has sustained the lawyer through a decade of deadly serious business—race relations—and through conflicts that include lynch-law tensions and threats of personal violence.

It has carried him from the slums of Baltimore's Negro ghetto—where he attended segregated public schools—to the bar of the Supreme Court.

He counts as many friends among the street-corner group as among the great names of the nation's courts and universities. And those who know say his jitterbugging on the dance floor is a thing of beauty.

But the casual, unassuming manner masks a mind that—in the opinion of many Federal judges—has an unparalleled grasp of civil rights doctrine. Marshall has won eleven out of thirteen direct victories in cases before the Supreme Court—a record unmatched in the tribunal's long victory.

He has worked as a consultant in eleven other Supreme Court civil rights cases—and helped win a ruling against racial segregation in ten of them.

He is architect, brain trust and field general of the NAACP Campaign to break down racial barriers through court action—a campaign that has made unprecedented and often unexpected progress in a single decade. It is in great measure Marshall's work that Negroes now have the vote in most Southern states, attend Southern universities, are freed from restrictive covenants and travel with fewer segregation barriers.

The NAACP expert—a man who dearly loves to play—complained only once about the demands on him. He told a relative, "Isn't it nice that no one cares which twenty-three hours a day I work?"

But his secretary says that is "Just one of Thurgood's exaggerations . . . most days, he only works twenty hours—and then we have to force him home."

The lawyer has his own explanation. In a rare moment of calm, he mapped his plans for a reporter:

"In ten years, maybe fifteen . . . housing, employment, health and recreation, transportation. We're working against those racial barriers now.

"I'm in a hurry. I want to put myself out of business. I want to get things to a point where there won't be a National Association for the Advancement of Colored People—just a National Association for the Advancement of People, period."

Marshall began hurrying in the 1920's, when he graduated with honors from Baltimore's Douglas High School. His mother was a public school teacher; his father, steward at a swank country club. He tells two tales of those years:

"One was a story my mother told me. One of our ancestors was a slave—briefly. Seems he let it be known—about twenty-four hours a day—that he didn't like it. He was so ornery about it, in fact, that his owner finally turned him loose, told him to head North and asked him please never to come back.

"The other was my mother's favorite comment. She used to look up at me—I was big for my age—and say, 'You may be tall, but if you get mean I figure I can always reach you with a chair'."

And that, Marshall concludes, is how he came by his life-long project to end racial segregation. "There may be some tall people, and they may be pretty mean, but I figure the United State Constitution is a mighty big chair," he says.

He worked his way through Lincoln University in Pennsylvania as a baker, bell-hop, dining-car waiter and very successful pinochle player. No one can remember seeing him study—but he graduated cum laude.

In his senior year, he met a University of Pennsylvania co-ed. He offered no financial security and no special stability—but lots of excitment. A few months later, she married him.

"Buster" Marshall apparently was a restraining influence. But by that time, her husband says, "I had the horsin' around out of my system anyway . . . I'd heard that law books were meant to dig into, so I dug—deep." He graduated from Howard Unisity's law school—magna cum laude.

When he entered law practice in Maryland in 1933, he concentrated on civil rights cases. He earned tremendous respect—and few fees. Often his secretary worked without pay. His wife kept him on a strict allowance.

He joined the staff of the NAACP a few years later, and today earns about $12,000 a year—about six times less than he might command in private practice.

In the 1930's and 1940's, he ranged across the country, choosing his spots for legal battles that would have the greatest significance. On one occasion, South Carolina State troopers escorted him to the edge of a tense town and "invited" him—with threats—to leave. Marshall strode back—and won his case next day. On another, in New York State, the lawyer had to collect his evidence in secret, hide it in a spare tire, and drove out on back roads.

His home life, then as now, was hectic. Marshall was often away; at best, once a week, he managed to meet with friends for an evening of pinochle, jokes, dancing and what he calls "woofing around." Though the Marshalls are childless, he has always longed for a set of electrict trains. Cheerfully, he conceded that he's never have time to play with them. Last year his wife and friends chipped in anyway—and surprised him with a complete set.

In preparation for his Supreme Court cases, Marshall consults with twenty to forty of the nation's most distinguished lawyers. He checks psychologists, anthropologists, and other social scientists, and supervises the legal research of his assistant. Then—with about 4,000 pages of legal briefs and memoranda—he locks himself into his study and goes to work.

A veteran Supreme Court attorney has described the briefs and oral arguments that Marshall synthesizes from this material:

"When Thurgood appears to argue constitutional law, the Supreme Court justices lean forward on the bench—and the courtroom seats are filled with law students, cutting classes to listen. Sometimes their teachers are there too."

Marshall speaks firmly but without rancor or racial prejudice, South or North, and looks to the future with cheerful good faith. He told this writer:

"It's easy to over-simplify. Sure, some people are unhappy about the school-segregation ruling, but they have as much respect for law as anyone.

"The integration of Negro and white schools will be orderly but sure. Most of the work will be done on the local level. That means people of good will, of both races, getting together to work it out.

"In some counties, quietly and without fuss, whites and Negroes voluntarily ended segregation more than a year ago."

He paused, then grinned:

"Not that it's always done too graciously," he said. "I know one county where everyone agreed on school integration — except one die-hard father who swore he'd never abandon his great traditions.

"When the schools were integrated anyway, he pulled his son out of his high school class and kept him at home.

"Maybe the boy got on his nerves. Anyway, a week later he sent him back with a note that said, 'This dawn boy is no good nohow, so I don't figure you can make him any worse'."

Others—but not Marshall—point to the full significance of the school-segregation decision. The lawyer had worked for more than a decade to get the Supreme Court to rule directly on the "separate-but-equal" doctrine. This was his big case.

When the decision was handed down last Monday, Marshall turned to an aide and said quietly, "Well, we hit the jackpot." He talked briefly with John W. Davis, one-time Presidential candidate, dean of the American Bar—and lawyer for the losing side. Outside the court, he paused for a few moments of reflection.

An hour later, he was in gear again. In the next forty-

THURGOOD MARSHALL

. . . the chief engineer

eight hours, he hopped a train to New York, held a news conference, rushed off to Boston, doubled back to New York, whipped into his office and finally took off for Los Angeles.

There are three current views of the chain-smoking, free-wheeling lawyer. From the bench, Federal Judge William H. Hastie says Marshall is "unquestionably our greatest civil liberties lawyer . . . no one has his grasp of the doctrine of civil rights law."

In his office, an aide remarks that the NAACP headquarters "Is a pretty formal, restrained place—until Marshall gets here . . . then it's kind of like a relaxed tornado, if there is such a thing."

The third view is Marshall's own. The only reason he seems successful, he insists, is that he gets good advice from others—and follows it.

He seems unimpressed by his personal success. Last week—fresh from a series of exhausting conferences with some of the country's most distinguished lawyers and professors—he arrived at a New York airport with three big suitcases, each crammed with top-policy notes, legal briefs and the like. A newsman suggested calling a porter.

"Nuts," said Marshall. "I used to do this for a living." He picked up the bags, lugged them out to the plane, took a seat—and fell into an unworried sleep.

The citation of honorary citizenship presented to Mr. Marshall by Mayor West reads in part:

"Greetings:

"Be it hereby known to all that the Hon. Thurgood Marshall on this 7th day of July of 1954 has been made an honorary citizen of the City of Nashville. . . The city of Schools and Church rich in the tradition of the Old South and in recognition thereof has been presented with this Certificate of Citizenship."

NASHVILLE HONORS THURGOOD MARSHALL

NASHVILLE, Tenn. —Thurgood Marshall, Director Counsel of NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., was this week made an honorary citizen of Nashville and presented with a gold key to the city.

Mayor Ben West presented the NAACP Legal Defense head with the Certificate of Honorary Citizenship and the key.

The presentation was made following an address by Marshall at the 11th Annual Institute of Race Relations held here on the campus of Fisk University.

100 COMMUNITY LEADERS

The Institute, which ended July 10, was attended by 30 lecturer-consultants from across the country and 100 community leaders from 20 states.

Mr. Marshall had advised the Institute that despite the actions on the part of Southern politicians who are bent on circumventing the recent Supreme Court decision out lawing Jim Crow in public schools, the American people can still debate the issue.

"The race relations pattern in the South has always been taboo in public conversation," Mr. Marshall told the group. "Many have been reluctant to debate the validity of their position because the state laws required segregation."

OLD FEARS

Mr. Marshall said that the politicians are now beclouding the issue by raising the same old fears and trying to keep alive the taboos of yesterday.

"The people, however, are debating the matter quietly in their homes and churches. And very soon it will be a matter of open discussion in church pulpits, forums, radio and television round tables and other mass media for exchanging views," Mr. Marshall said.

Thurgood slaps press in Yale talk

Calls desegration 'way to fruition'

Incidents played up; distressed cries from Dixie

NEW HAVEN, Conn. —Thurgood Marshall, NAACP chief counsel, accused the nation's daily press of blowing up incidents and hiding or leaving out the facts in stories about desegregation in a speech at Yale University here Friday.

Mr. Marshall declared:

"The truth of the matter is that desegregation is moving toward fruition in the South and marked progress has been made despite the one or two isolated instances which have been blown up all out of proportion.

"Since the opening of public schools throughout the country during the past week or so, all of us have read long and detailed newspaper stories of the difficulties surrounding desegregation in places like White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Milford, Del.

"EITHER BURIED in small type in these stories or not carried at all are the perfectly beautiful stories of peaceful integration of public schools in Baltimore and Washington, on military posts in Virginia, parochial schools in Nashville, Tenn."

He also cited peaceful integration in schools in 12 counties in West Virginia and in "many areas in Delaware, Arkansas and Missouri" adding that "All Americans should be encouraged" by progress made since the high court's decision May 17.

Mr. Marshall spoke in Yale's Freedom mass meeting spon- Battel Chapel at a Funds for sored by the New Haven NAACP branch. James L. Mitchell and Dr. Carter L. Marshall were in charge of the meeting.

"Of course, as was expected," Mr. Marshall said, officials in the States of South Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi have taken the lead in openly and defiantly setting themselves up as above the law of the land and God himself.

— o O o —

THESE OFFICIALS are not to be considered as a barometer for anything other than as being typical of all other unreconstructed rebels who speak not for their people of either race nor any other than their small bigoted group of short short-sighted politicians.

"Even in these states, there is a rapidly growing group of Americans of both races who are beginning to realize the damage being done by this defiance of the law of the land and we will hear from them in the near future."

Mr. Marshall revealed that the "best trained sociologists available" were sent to investigate conditions in White Sulphur Springs and Milford and that their reports are "now being carefully weighed."

— o O o —

FROM THESE REPORTS, he said, the NAACP is convinced that both incidents are peculiarly local situations and are not to be considered typical of anything.

He praised the action of religious, civic and fraternal organizations for adoption of resolutions calling for desegregation in public schools and added that the NAACP will co-operate with these groups.

In order that no teacher or pupil may be victimized, he declared, "We are determined to enlarge our program of protection for colored teachers during this transition period."

— o O o —

WARNING THE north that it must also set its house in order, Thurgood said:

"Racial prejudice and intolerance is not restricted to any area of the country and there is just as much duty on the part of Americans of both races in the North as well as the South to make certain that race and color be removed from American life in each individual community."

THURGOOD MARSHALL

NAACP Blueprints Battle Plan For End To School Segregation

Advertiser 1-1 Dat. 1-23-54 Montgomery Ala.

'Co-operation—Not Upheaval,' To Be Keynote

Advertiser

Thurgood Marshall Expects Decision This School Year

By FRED ANDERSEN
Assistant Managing Editor

Copyright, 1954, By The Montgomery Advertiser

Dat 1-23-54

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Jan. 22—The architect of the legal right to abolish segregation in Southern schools said today he "definitely" expects a Supreme Court decision before the end of the current school year in May.

Montgomery

When that decision comes, Thurgood Marshall added, the byword of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) will be "co-operation—not upheaval."

MARSHALL

Marshall outlined his views on the historic court fight and unrolled his blueprint for action for this reporter today in an exclusive interview here, where he is attending the annual convention of the National Newspaper Publishers Association, a Negro organization. Marshall is scheduled to speak to the group tomorrow.

"The Supreme Court will announce its decision, when it comes, on a Monday," Marshall said.

"Within 24 hours, the presidents of our 44 state associations will be in New York or Washington. There we will sit down and I will explain to them in laymen's terms the exact nature of the decision.

"The following Saturday, preferably in Atlanta, the leaders of the Southern associations will meet and it will be my responsibility to suggest to them a course of action."

The special counsel for the NAACP, who argued the Negro case before the Supreme Court and is credited with mapping the strategy which will culminate in the decision, refused to hazard a guess as to how the decision will go.

"We fully expect to win something more than the so-called 'separate but equal' ruling which has created the present situation," he declared.

Status Quo

In weighing the difficulties which the NAACP might encounter in gaining compliance with an anti-segregation ruling, Marshall listed Alabama as one of the "die-hard" states.

In reply to a question about the attitude the NAACP would adopt in the event of a complete reversal of the status quo and a decision which would, in effect order integration of children in the schools regardless of race, Marshall said this:

"We will follow a line of complete co-operation—not upheaval. I will advise our Southern association presidents to return to their states and instruct their subordinates to start and proceed from the local level. This thing must be done on a school by school basis."

Dat 1-23

Asked the flat question, "How long do you think it would take to achieve total integration if the NAACP won a complete victory," Marshall hesitated before answering: "Four—perhaps five years. Yes—I think I'd settle very happily for that."

He went on, "Of course, you know and I know there are some sections of the Black Belt—some of them right here in Alabama—where the Supreme Court decision that we are legally right would have no effect for 30 years. But it must be gradual and it must be through co-operation at the local level."

Legal Blue Prints

Marshall said he has "carefully detailed legal blueprints" for lawyers to follow in every state and county. "The one thing which can slow us up, if the Supreme Court rules with us, is a shortage of legal talent," he explained.

The attorney declined to name the state for publication, but said, "We are — this day — prepared to force complete intergation of all the schools at every level—in one Deep South state."

He went on to declare, "But I shall tell my people at the Northern and Southern meetings, not to use the big stick of the Supreme Court decision unless the local school officials make them do it. My advice will be to urge and ask co-operation—then swing the big stick if they don't get it."

Marshall had some definite opinions to express on the various Dixie leaders who have been prominent in the segregation fight.

Gov. Gordon Persons, of Alabama, "is to be commended for his statement he would not be stampeded into anything," the NAACP spokesman said.

Georgia's Gov. Herman Talmadge "is speaking now for the race he plans to make for the United States Senate when Sen. Walter George dies or retires," Marshall declared.

Bitter Man

South Carolina's Gov. James F. Byrnes "is a bitter man who now is back-pedalling on his previous declarations. I venture to predict the South Carolina Legislature will adjourn itself sine die without any action if he calls it into special session to abolish the present system of public education," Marshall asserted.

Marshall evaluated the current conditions in Southern states this way:

"West Virginia will be the easiest to fall in line. The other border states of Kentucky and Tennessee don't present much of a problem. Florida will be only moderately difficult. Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina, and Georgia—they will be the die-hards."

He concluded with this thought:

"What can anyone do but accept the ruling of the United States Supreme Court on this or any other issue? Their interpretation is the supreme law of the land. We shall abide by that and expect everyone else to do likewise."

Washington Pipeline . . .

By STANLEY ROBERTS and WM. G. NUNN

Courier

Editor's Note: Mr. Roberts and Mr. Nunn are collaborating on finishing this exclusive "Report to the Nation" on the background story of Thurgood Marshall and those men closest to him . . . in the "quiet before the storm" moments before the famous "EE" cases!

Pittsburgh, Pa.

WASHINGTON—The seven-room suite at the fabulous Sheraton Park Hotel was a bee-hive of activity, when we rang the bell to Suite 400 . . . on the evening of Dec. 6, 1953!

As the door was answered, we were scrutinized carefully.

"Bill Nunn and Stan Roberts of the Courier," we announced . . . and from deep inside the room came Thurgood's booming voice.

Sat. 1-16-54

"Yeh, let 'em in," he thundered. "Anyone who raises $13,000 (it's over $16,000 now) for this fight, is certainly welcome here."

P. 13

And so . . . we were ushered into the presence of three of the men who were to hit the headlines in the next three days . . . in a way which should have made ALL America proud of them.

They were Thurgood Marshall . . . Jim Nabrit . . . Bob Carter. Also in the room was a dynamic personality, who probably deserves more recognition than the public will ever know about . . . Mrs. Alice Stovall, Thurgood's capable, efficient secretary, dedicated to the same cause which motivated the others.

We listened attentively as the men discussed the issues which faced them on the morrow. We faded into the background as completely as the wall paper, the furnishings, the discarded dishes.

These men. dedicated to the ideal of first-class citizenship for ALL A[illegible]NS, absolutely forgot our presence as they discussed [illegible] weighed the pros and cons.

Bob Carter with [illegible]is precise mind . . . his searching analysis . . . his uncanny ability to put his fingers on the pulse of complicated legal snarls. The brilliant Jim Nabrit . . . trained mentally and through long association . . . who dissected each point raised as he does with his law classes at Howard . . . who pervaded warmth . . . humanity . . . humor . . . incisiveness . . . amazing clarity.

Thurgood himself (Mr. Civil Rights) who quoted cases after case as the discussions wore on. Completely and utterly relaxed, with a wrinkled sweat-shirt and house slippers, he curled his long limbs around one of the comfortable living room chairs. His was the final decision!

But you could sense the tremendous respect Thurgood had for these associates of his . . . and the admiration and respect they had for him. It was something to sit in on! When we left finally . . . well after midnight . . . we knew that the cause of Negroes in this country, were in the most capable hands possible. And what they did in the days that followed merely strengthened our conviction.

Thurgood and Jim were superb! Bob didn't get his chance . . . because his case was declared "moot" . . . but we knew that he was ready.

* * *

AND NOW to the answers for some of the questions posed last week! That there is a rift in NAACP leadership ranks is no secret. But Thurgood Marshall and the legal minds who work with him, form no part of that clique.

Thurgood's greatness and leadership are reflected in his humility and his deep devotion to the cause of giving Negro Americans ALL the rights which are rightfully theirs under the Constitution.

CONGRATULATIONS W. W. Wachtel, president of Calvert Distillers Corporation, warmly congratulates Thurgood Marshall at the testimonial dinner to Mr. Marshall sponsored by 32 Calvert New York employees. In a speech on the occasion a day after his argument of the segregation cases before the United States Supreme Court, Mr. Marshall lauded Mr. Wachtel and his organization for supporting the work of the NAACP.

We feel that he feels this is his BIG job.

If . . . the Supreme Court rules unfavorably in the cases on "EE" now before it, Thurgood and "his boys" will start again from scratch. Eventually the cases will be right back before the highest tribunal.

If . . . on the other hand, the Supreme Court rules favorably, Thurgood firmly believes that the work of the Legal Defense Department of the NAACP will have just started. He thinks that many more years of work . . . many more cases . . . will have to be resolved, before the thing he believes in with all his heart and all his soul, is a fact!

And to this CAUSE, he's dedicated himself. He won't bow out . . . until after every vestige of second-class citizenship by law, has been eliminated.

Insofar as Thurgood is concerned, the NAACP is still the ship . . . and all else the sea. He won't become involved in the organizational fight. He's not interested in that kind of politics, and won't take sides.

Eventually, there'll be an overhauling in the NAACP. It's inevitable. The organization's been taken into partisan politics, and plenty of members don't like it.

The news that Ed Dudley is heading the Tobias-inspired NAACP "Freedom Fund" COULD be significant.

What Thurgood's interested in . . . is team-work and a spirit of cooperation. But many guests at Calvert's testimonial to Thurgood on Dec. 16 in New York . . . wondered openly why Walter White didn't stay . . . why he wasn't at the speaker's table . . . what GOOD reason he had, if any, to show and then quietly FADE away. Was it because he felt that Thurgood should have his night . . . without interruption. It's a $64 question!

(More Next Week)

Lecturer Thurgood Marshall:

U.S. Now At Point Of No Return

32b NAACP

Says Habit Stalls Intergration Process

Defender p.9

By THURGOOD MARSHALL
Chief Legal Counsel, NAACP

There has been much discussion during recent years concerning the question of the removal of dual citizenship in this country based on race and color.

The primary emphasis has been on elimination of racial segregation. No one denies that progress is being made.

There are, however, those who say that this progress is too slow and others who say it is too rapid.

EDITOR'S NOTE

Thurgood Marshall, chief legal counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, gave the first lecture of the current Edwin R. Embree series at Dilliard university, New Orleans, last week. Atty. Marshall recently presented the case against segregated public schools before the Supreme Court of the United States, The decision on which is pending.

Here are excerpts from the speech he delivered at Dilliard, March 5:

The important thing to remember is that the fight toward complete integration of all Americans into our society is moving ahead.

We have passed the crossroads. We are moving toward a completely integrated society, North and South.

Some Are Afraid

Those who doubt this and those who are afraid to complete integration without regard to race or color are victims of a background based upon long indoctrination of only one side of the controversy in this country.

They know only of one side of slavery, the biased reports about Reconstruction and the long-standing theory supporting the "legality" of the separate but equal doctrine.

In order to adequately appraise the situation, we must first understand the problem in relation to our history—legal and political.

Secondly, we must give proper weight to progress that has been made with and without legal pressure and thirdly we must look to the future.

Individual Equality

Our government is based on the principle of the equality of man—the individual. Our basic legal document, the Constitution of the United States guarantees equal protection of the laws to all. Many state constitutions have similar provisions. We even have a "Bill of Rights" in the Constitution of Louisiana.

THURGOOD MARSHALL

These high sounding principles we preach and teach. However, in the eyes of the world we stand convicted of violating these principles day in and day out.

One reason this condition of dual citizenship exists is that we have been considered to an acceptance of this theory as a fact. We are the products of a misunderstanding of history.

24-3-20-54

Only in recent years have accurate studies of the pre-Civil war period and the reconstruction period of our history been published.

What has become firmly entrenched in our minds is that racial segregation has been considered as being legal and valid even if in violation of certain moral principles.

The fallacy of this reasoning is the equal protection of the laws was intended to the constitutionalization of the ethic and moral principle of absolute equality of man—the rights of the individual neither circumscribed nor conditioned by race or color.

Paramount Issue

As of the present time, the paramount issue in so far as Americanism is concerned is the ending of all racial distinctions in American life. The reasons for this are many.

Paramount of course is the world situation in regard to the sensitive areas throughout the world depends on how we handle the race problem in this country.

Our country can no longer tolerate the Achilles heel of discriminatory practices toward its darker citizens.

Even more important is the realization that the equality of man as a principle and the equal protection of laws as a constitutional concept are both based upon the moral principle of individual responsibility rather than racial identity.

Slavery Carry-Over

Historically the segregation patterns in the United States are carry-overs from the principles of slavery. They are based on the exploded theory of the inferiority of the minority group.

Segregation is recognized as resulting from the decision of the majority group without the consent of the segregated. All of us know that segregation traditionally results in unequal facilities for the minority group Duplication of facilities is expensive and diverts funds from the economy which could be utilized to improve facilities for all groups.

Finally, segregation leads to the blockage of real communication between the two groups. In turn, this blockage increases mutual suspicion, distrust, hostility, stereotypes, prejudice and results in a social climate of tension favorable to aggressive behavior and social disorganization which often culminates in rare riots.

Immoral — Costly

That segregation and discrimination in our country are immoral, costly, and damaging to the nation's prestige is soundly established in the minds of most men.

But in addition, it has been shown that the costs of segregation and discrimination to the nation are saggering. Emo Roper, pollster of American public opinion, has stated that "The resultant total of the cost of discrimination comes to roughly $10 out of every $75 paycheck, or, in total, $30 billion lost every year."

Hurts Children

The harm done to the individuals involved begins with the children's earliest years where they become aware of status differences among groups in society and begin to react to patterns of segregation.

This prejudice and discrimination are potentially damaging to the personality of all the children. The damage to the individual is permanent as long as segregation exists. The damage to the immediate community is inevitable.

This is followed by damage to the state, our federal government and the world today. The only answer is the complete removal of all racial distinctions.

Must Understand

We must understand the slavery background of segregation. We must understand the complete lack of any scientific support for racial superiority or inferiority. We must understand that racial segregation is violative of every religious principle.

We must never forget what racial segregation did to our parents; is doing to us and how it will affect our children. We must turn from misunderstanding and fear to intelligent planning, courage and determination.

Full Picture

The results of an effort to get a full picture of desegregation in American communities are now available. And it is hoped that they can be passed on to every American and to our friends and critics overseas.

For these results clearly show that in the past ten years, America has undergone a startling, dramatic, and completely unprecedented change in race relations—and all for the better.

Gains Made

Racial desegregation has been attempted successfully in literally hundreds of instances, in all regions, and in all walks of life. In addition to the more noticeable areas of schools and the armed forces, complete success has been reported in desegregating public housing projects, labor unions, Catholic and Protestant churches, public and private swimming pools, professional organizations, some YMCA's and many YWCA's Southern industries . . . Officers and enlisted men's clubs and housing areas on army posts, hospitals, summer camps, and many other areas—even cemeteries.

Close Adherence

The success of racial desegregation has been shown to be related not so much to the type of community that is involved or the prejudice of its members as to the close adherence to a set of specific principles.

The accomplishment of effective and efficient desegregation with a minimum of social disturbance depends on the following five things.

1. There must be a clear and unequivocal statement of policy by leaders with prestige, and by authority officials.

2. There must be firm enforcement and persistent execution of the non-segregation policy in the face of initial resistance.

3. Authorities and law enforcement officials must show a willingness to deal with violations, attempted violations and incitement to violations by resort to the law and by strong enforcement action.

4. Authorities must refuse to employ, engage in or tolerate subterfuges, gerrymandering or other devices for evading the principle and the fact of desegregation.

5. The accomplishment of desegregation must be accompanied by continual interpretation of the reasons for the action, appealing to the democratic and moral values of all persons involved.

PROGRESS MADE IN SPITE OF THEM:

Marshall says forget Talmadge and Byrnes

Afro American

Baltimore

ARLINGTON

Progress in race relations is being made so rapidly that we can forget about Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia and Gov. James Byrnes of South Carolina, Thurgood Marshall, chief legal counsel of the NAACP, declared Monday in Arlington, Va.

Mr. Marshall spoke to an interracial audience of about 800 persons at an "M-Day" rally of the 7th district of the NAACP state conferences of branches in Virginia. The meeting was held at the new Hoffman-Boston high school, 1401 S. Queen st.

Referring to the recent remark of Governor Byrnes comparing the NAACP to the Klu Klux Klan, Mr. Marshall said we shouldn't pay so much attention to what the Georgia and South Carolina governors say. "They have been trying to block our progress every step of the way," he added.

Surprised at Support

Mr. Marshall told the audience, which included about 100 white persons, that "You'd be surprised at the support we're getting," because right is on our side. He said the best interracial branches are in the south.

The speaker said the mayor of one Oklahoma town is chairman of the local NAACP membership campaign and another Texas mayor is vice-president of the town's NAACP branch.

Mrs. Barbara Marks, white vice-president of the Arlington county branch, is president of the 7th Virginia district. James E. Brown is president of the Arlington county branch.

Kick-off For Drives

The branch was host to the meeting which was a kick-off for the NAACP membership drives in the district. Other officials present included W. Lester Banks, executive secretary of the Virginia state conference of branches; J. Leonard Carter, president of the Rappahannock branch; Fighting Fund for Freedom by giving money and spare time in the "crusade to insure the colored man's freedom by 1963. He said $59,000 was needed for the re-argument of the school cases before the Supreme Court.

$214 Collected

A total of $214 was collected

Mrs. Marie Medley, president of the Loudoun county branch; Mrs. Alice Childs Williams, president of Prince Williams county branch; The Rev. Milton A. Shephard, president of the Fairfax county branch; Edwin C. Browne, president of the Alexandria branch and Dr. Edwin Henderson, vice-president of the state conference.

Mr. Marshall urged the spectators to support the NAACP's new for the fund at the meeting. Music was provided by the Mount Olive church choir number 2 and the Hoffman-Boston high school band.

Dr. Henderson, who served as master of ceremonies of the meeting, urged all Virginians to pay their poll tax by May 1.

TIME FOR CONGRATULATIONS — Flashing a big smile, Thurgood Marshall leans over to accept the congratulations of a well-wisher. With him is Mrs. John B. Ramsey, Urban League vice-president and a member of the Maryland Commission on Race Relations. Meeting held in Baltimore.

Calvert's Wachtel Congratulates Thurgood

W. W. Wachtel, president of Calvert Distillers Corporation, warmly congratulates Thurgood Marshall at the testimonial dinner to Thurgood sponsored by 32 Calvert New York employees. In a speech on the occasion a day after his argument of the segregation cases before the United States Supreme Court, Mr. Marshall lauded Mr. Wachtel and Calvert for supporting the work of the NAACP.

Thurgood Gets Another Calvert Check

Thurgood Marshall (left), director, Legal Defense, NAACP, accepts a check from Tubie Resnik, Executive Vice President of Calvert Distillers Corporation, at a testimonial dinner to Mr. Marshall sponsored by 32 Calvert New York employees. Calvert men, "Men of Distinction" and the company contributed that night over $3,000 to the NAACP. Mr. Marshall's mother, Mrs. Norma Marshall of Baltimore, looks on while the smiling face of Arthur Spingarn, president of NAACP, is seen on the right.

Sees More Than Separate But Equal Ruling

ANNISTON, Ala.—(SNS) — The so-called segregation problem is going to be solved in the South.

Thurgood Marshall, director - counsel for the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund and the nation's top civil rights lawyer, pointed this out in a major speech to an overflow audience at 17th St. Baptist Church here last Sunday.

He pointed out that "down South" is found two-thirds of the NAACP membership; that the school segregation suits were initiated in the South and that they were being financed by nickles and dimes, partly, from Negro seekers of first-class citizenship in the South.

This country "daily is losing the moral leadership of the world" because of the treatment of the Negro because the majority of the world's population is non-white. These darker people as "what does (Prime Minister) Nehru (of India) have to say" rather than what American leaders have to say. Mr. Marshall said that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt found this out when she made a tour of the countries with darker people.

The famed lawyer said that when Vice-President Nixon returned from his recent goodwill trip he warned that "something better be done about this treatment of Negro people." He added that "We never get enough money to buy away this (America's) bad reputation of kicking Negroes around."

Discussing pointedly the fight, legal and legislatively against enforced segregation, he pointed out numerous examples how white individuals, North and South, rich and poor, had contributed to this effort. He also suggested that some Negro leaders were not yet opposed to segregation for various reasons. "You can't bracket anybody as a group," Marshall said.

"The masses of Negroes are leading now," Marshall said as he suggested that some upper-bracket leaders had lost their leadership by failing to fight fast enough, hard enough and often enough against racial discrimination and related evils.

He suggested that for America to regain the initiative in moral leadership of the world would require this nation to be able to say to darker people. "Come and look at our good record." He added "We could sit in our churches and solve this problem" by applying the golden rule.

The speaker mentioned the reactions of Govs. Byrnes of South Carolina and Gov. Talmadge of Georgia to the school segregation cases as furnishing materials of damage to the enemy. "He (Talmadge) is going to challenge the United States Army. He's going to defy any non-segregation decision of the U. S. Supreme Court with open warfare. This will give aid and comfort to the communist."

"In the South you are segregated from your birth record to your burial certificate." Mr. Marshall said.

"We plan to break down segregation everywhere." Mr. Marshall said. He suggested that the NAACP had plans already formulated to put into action when the court rules. Lawyers will be assembled to find out what the decision means. This information will be relayed to an emergency meeting of the board of directors. Then a meeting of the president of state N. A. A. C. P. conference will be held in the South to alert them on what to do.

Marshall was introduced by Atty. Arthur D. Shores of Birmingham. Welcome greetings by Mayor E. C. Lloyd and Dr. G. A. Rodgers, Jr., the occasion by W. P. Mitchell of Tuskegee; remarks by W. C. Patton, state NAACP president and Mrs. Ruby Hurley, NAACP southeast regional secretary; invocation by Rev. J. C. Wilkes and the lifting of the offering by Rev. D. C. Washington and Emory O. Jackson; music by the Cobb Avenue High School choir rounded out the program. J. T. Howze served as master of ceremonies.

The state NAACP board of directors approved the appointment of Atty. Peter A. Hall of Birmingham as chairman of the state legal redress committee; discussed sponsoring area workshops in Alabama for training branch leaders and workers; set up machinery for enrolling 13,000 members and named a committee to work out branch quotas in the drive to raise $10,000 for the Fighting Fund for Freedom.

Plans were discussed looking forward to action expected to remove racial restrictions from the entrance of state parks. Daniel E. Byrd, field secretary of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund is expected to work in the state during March. The group accepted a $400 assessment for the Southeastern Regional Office.

Mrs. Hurley announced that Judge Hubert T. Delaney of the New York Domestic Court would be the feature speaker at the Southeastern Regional Conference scheduled for Savannah, Ga., Feb. 26-28.

Patton said that the next quarterly board meeting and funds rally would be held in Bessemer.

Issue With School Rating

Atty. Charges Dual Schools Cannot Be Equal

NEW YORK — (ANP) — Atty. Thurgood Marshall last week said the president of the Lincoln (Mo.) university alumni association missed the point in his (Marshall's) criticism of the Lincoln School of Law.

Marshall, chief counsel for the NAACP, had earlier stated that the school was "the biggest disgrace in the country, and anybody who goes to that school is wasting his time."

The statement unleashed a response from Julius C. Judkins Jr., president of the alunmi association. Judkins, in taking issue with Marshall, cited the qualifications of the law faculty, the physical facilities of the school and the record of its graduates.

Marshall, however, last week cited many intangible aspects of segregation which make for inequality. He added that a segregated school cannot possibly be equal to an integrated one.

In stating his belief, the NAACP official cited a U. S. Supreme court decision rendered in connection with the University of Texas Law school. Points which he cited stated:

"Whether the University of Texas Law School is compared with the original or the new law school for Negroes, we cannot find substantial equality in the educational opportunities offered white and Negro law students by the state.

"In terms of number of the faculty, variety of courses and opportunity for specialization, size of the student body, scope of the library, availability of law review and [illegible]lar activities, the University [illegible] Texas Law school is superior.

"What is more important, the University of Texas Law School possesses to a far greater degree these qualities which are incapable of objective measurment but which make for glasses in a law school.

"Such qualities, to name but a few, include reputation of the faculty, experience of the administration, position and influence of the alumni, standing in the community, traditions and prestige.

"The law school ,the proving ground for legal learning and practice, cannot be effective in isolation from the individuals and institutions with which the law interacts.

"The law school to which Texas is willing to admit petitioner excludes from its student body members of the racial groups which number 85 percent of the population of the state and includes most of the lawyers, witnesses, jurors, judges and other officials with whom petitioner will inevitably be dealing when he becomes a member of the Texas bar.

NAACP COUNSEL TO BE SPEAKER

Marshall to Address Baptist Convention

Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will address the Louisiana State Missionary Baptist Convention to be held in New Iberia Sunday through Friday.

His address will be the closing event of the program, according to Dr. E. Doyle Billoups, Baton Rouge, presiding officer.

Dr. Gardner C. Taylor, of the Concord Baptist Church of Christ in New York city, and Dr. J. A. Bacoats, former president of Leland college, also will address the convention, according to Rev. P. Rayfield Brown III, publicity director.

The Sunday School and Baptist Training Union departments will open the meeting with a staff conference Sunday and continue with a model Sunday School and B.T.U. session.

Annual Report Tuesday

Christian education classes will be held Monday morning, when the Young People's department convenes. A musical program will be given that night.

Rev. J. R. Rutledge, president of the Sunday School department, will give his annual report at a business session Tuesday.

The main body of the organization will go into session Wednesday at noon, with Dr. A. L. Davis Jr., vice-president-at-large, presiding. Dr. Billoups will deliver the opening address. A program of welcome by citizens of the community will be presented Wednesday night, and the major addresses will be delivered Thursday and Friday.

Other Negro church announcements follow:

The New Era Progressive Missionary Baptist Association will conduct a regional meeting and a school of methods Monday and Tuesday at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. at the Tulane Avenue Baptist church, Tulane near S. Claiborne, according to Rev. Alfred Charles Moore, president.

The Ministers' Union of the New Era Progressive Missionary Baptist Association will meet at Zion Travelers Baptist church No. 2, Laurel near Amelia, Tuesday at 2 p. m. Rev. Louis Albert Francis will preside. The Women's Missionary Union will meet Tuesday at noon.

The women's home mission board of the Ideal Missionary Baptist and Educational Association will meet Sunday, July 25, at 2 p. m. at Second Baptist church, 2525 Melpomene. Rev. John Seymour Duncan, secretary, will deliver a special sermon. Mrs. Mary Ella Marshall, president of the women's department, will speak.

Executive Board Meeting

The executive board of the New Founded Industrial Missionary Baptist Association will meet Monday at noon and 7:30 p. m. at My Redeemer Baptist church, Washington near Willow. Rev. James Leonard Shephard will make a report on the recent annual convention.

The First District Baptist Ministers Union will meet Monday at 1 p. m. at Beulah church, Fourth near Claiborne.

George Miller will be ordained a deacon Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at St. Anthony Divine Spiritual Temple, 3019 Live Oak.

The 13th anniversary of Rev. Hilton Anderson as pastor of Revelation Baptist church will be celebrated nightly Thursday through Sunday, July 25. Rev. Ozander Solomon will preach the anniversary sermon.

Rev. Edward Madison, who recently returned from the national Sunday school and Baptist Training Union convention in Birmingham, will preach Sunday noon at Mt. Everest Baptist church No. 2, 2628 Felicity.

Children of the First African Baptist church, 2216 Third, are being offered instruction in various phases of Bible study, arts, crafts and dramatics at a Daily Vacation Bible school at the church. A Sunday school picnic will be held Tuesday at the Longshoreman's recreation center at Slidell.

The Austerlitz Baptist church, 815 Austerlitz, will hold a baptismal service Sunday at 11 a. m. Rev. Webster Carroll, of the Second Good Hope Baptist church in Algiers, will deliver the baptismal message.

Thurgood Marshall Ill in Kansas City

Thurgood Marshall, general counsel and director of the NAACP became ill here at noon Sunday and was unable to address a Freedom Fund rally at the St Stephen Baptist church.

Marshall was admitted to the St. Joseph hospital where a physician said he was suffering from an abdominal ailment.

Marshall rallied, however, and recovered sufficiently to leave the hospital at noon Tuesday. He was scheduled to leave for New York City on a 4 o'clock plane Tuesday afternoon.

Marshall was stricken at the home of Mrs. Esther Williams, 2636 Brooklyn, where he was a guest. Mrs. Williams phoned Mrs Marshall in New York and advised her of his condition.

The NAACP chief counsel arrived in Kansas City Saturday night. He was scheduled to address a public mass meeting which climaxed the Freedom Fund drive of the Kansas City NAACP branch.

The Rev. Cyrus S. Keller, pastor of the Ward Chapel A.M.E church, and Carl R. Johnson, president of the local NAACP branch, addressed the meeting when Marshall was unable to appear.

A mixed audience of approximately [illegible] persons attended the meeting. Freedom Fund contributions totaling $1,[illegible]00 were collected at the meeting.

32b 1954

NAACP

MISSISSIPPI
ECONOMIC PRESSURE

Dixie NAACP Defies Economic War Threat

Defender p. 3

JACKSON, Miss. — The NAACP here has sounded a militant defi to whites who are threatening to bring economic pressure against the race in the hope of stemming school desegregation.

Groups known as Citizens Councils have announced a campaign of reprisals against Negro parents who insist on non-segregated schools. Reprisal would be by dismissals and other means calculated to make life tough for Negroes economically.

The NAACP will meet these threats with forthright actions. Names of companies and officials who threaten Negroes will be turned over to the national office. This office will investigate to see if federal laws have been violated. The names would be circulated to branch offices "for a rigid boycott of the products or services sold by those companies inside or outside of Mississippi."

Keynoting the NAACP's determination to carry on the desegregation battle, Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington bureau declared:

"The separation of races as a way of life in the South no longer has any practical value . . . we are fortified by the knowledge that freedom from segregation is God's plan. We fear no storm of opposition and we know that neither we nor the nation will ever turn back."

Clarence Mitchell

NAACP's One-Man Bureau Has Finger In All Pies

By ETHEL L. PAYNE
(Defender Washington Bureau)

Washington being the place where the business of government is carried on, one can expect all kinds of activities as well as sights and sounds.

The lowliest John Doe be he from Social Circle, Ga., or Long Island, N.Y. has the right to come to the seat of government to see it in operation or to buttonhole his congressman to protest about anything from soil conservation to the tariff on pickled artichokes.

Among some of the most active individuals in patrolling the halls of Congress are the lobbyists representing a multitude of interests and whose professional jobs are to get special interests and legislation favoring the groups which they represent.

The connotation of the word leaves a certain unsavoriness with many people because it denotes the promotion of purely selfish interests at the expense of others.

BUREAU OPENED 1945

Too often, the cause of many worthy organizations is lumped together in this same category obscuring the grim necessity for maintaining a watchful eye on the business of grinding out legislation.

When the NAACP set up its Washington Bureau in 1954, its main function was to act as a "watchdog of the interests of Negroes in this country."

More specifically, the duties of the bureau are to seek out and act upon all policies affecting directly or indirectly the welfare of the Negro in the armed services, employment, citizenship, etc.; it monitors all legislative material which affects the welfare of Negroes.

It alerts the various branches throughout the country and tries to inform the public at large of what is taking place so that pressure can be brought to bear on congressmen against harmful bills and support can be aroused for favorable legislation.

The bureau prepares briefs which it presents to the various support or opposition of bills whatever the case may be.

And finally, what is probably most important is the maintenance of close personal contacts with members of Congress, cabinet officials, department and agency heads, and all other media necessary to clearly and effectively espouse the interests of Negro citizens.

BIG JOB, SMALL STAFF

Obviously, this is a large order. On paper it sounds as if it would require the work of a highly trained, competent and dedicated staff of at least a dozen people, and in actuality, this should be the case.

But though the bureau is doing one of the most effective jobs on "The Hill" and is eminently respected by even the most rabid reactionaries, the entire responsibility for this is carried on the broad shoulders of a handsome six footer, an ex-social worker who looks as though he might have once been an All-American end.

Behind the modest brick facade at 100 Massachusetts ave. N. W., Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington Bureau since 1950, carries out his Herculean task with the aid of two secretaries. His Girl Friday is capable, efficient Mrs. Mae Hendricks.

To fit him for the job, he has an extradordinary amount of patience and stamina and the energetic thoroughness of a beaver. More impressive even than this, even critics of the NAACP agree that his honesty and integrity are beyond doubt.

Mitchell commutes to his office from his home in Baltimore. On nights when there are board meetings or a major crisis has arisen, it is sometimes so late that he doesn't get back home to his family.

UNDERSTANDING WIFE

This would perhaps be a strain on ordinary family ties, but the Mitchells are rather ordinary people. In this instance, he is fortunate to have the understanding and backing of his wife.

Born Juanita Jackson in Baltimore, pretty Mrs. Mitchell comes from a family whose name is been active in the NAACP for synonomous with NAACP. Her mother, Mrs. Lilly Jackson has over a quarter of a century and largely through her energies, the Baltimore chapter is one of the largest and strongest in the country.

Juanita Mitchell is a practicing lawyer. She is intensely loyal to her busband's work and can be quite militantly vocal on issues. The Mitchells have four sons.

Prior to being promoted to director, Mitchell served as labor secretary. He joined the staff in 1946, but he has been active with NAACP since 1932. He too was born in Baltimore.

His long career in government gives him the intimate working knowledge so vital to his position and the contacts which once caused a famous columnists to sigh "I'd give 50 grand for Clarence's pipeline."

EXCELLENT BACKGROUND

His government background includes director of field operations on the FEPC established by Franklin D. Roosevelt; assistant director of Negro Manpower Service of the War Manpower Commission; assistant director of the Negro Employment and Training Branch, War Production Board, and regional representative of the Labor Division, Office of production Management in Pennsylvania, Delaware. and New Jersey. He has also reported for the Afro-American newspaper.

ACTION ON CIVIL RIGHTS is discussed at this meeting with Mitchell (top center) and House and Senate leaders. Others attending meeting were William Oliver, UAW-CIO; Walter White; Roy Wilkins, Theodore Brown, Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, AFL; and Senator Ernest McFarland of Arizona.

TALKING WITH PRESIDENT EISENHOWER are Mitchell, Walter White and Judge Theodore Spaulding.

He is a graduate of Lincoln university in Pennsylvania, studied at the Atlanta School of Social Work and did additional graduate work at the Univeristy of Minnesota.

The broad scope of the Washington Bureau includes international problems sometimes, perhaps the question of a visa for an African student.

On a national scale, it embraces anything affecting Negroes as a whole.

Significantly the office is within out sight of the dome of the Capitol building and a good part of the busy day of the director is spent going up and down the Hill to use his persuasive powers on recalcitrant and cagey solons.

Mitchell has developed an uncanny instinct for behind the scenes maneuvering and he knows the habits and background so well of most of the government officials that it is hardly necessary for him to consult the unique and extensive card file which he keeps of the voting records and other pertinent facts relating to each.

This card file is a valuable source of information for material to be sent out at short notice to interested people across the century. When he prepares a brief, it is done in concise language which could stand up in any court.

NEW YORK SETS POLICY

Once a month, Mitchell attends the board meeting of the national office of NAACP in New York where he submits a report of activities. In addition, he keeps in contant touch with New York.

The national board lays down the policy by which the bureau operates.

However, Mitchell has a free hand to exercise good judgement in proceeding on emergency matters.

Mitchell lists as important landmarks in the work of the bureau, defeat of the Regional College plan, May 13, 1948. This was an effort to get Congress to circumvent a Supreme Court decision on higher education by establishing separate education facilities for Negroes.

Another milestone was the defeat of a constitutional amendment on the electoral college in the House on July 17, 1949.

This was a power play attempt the South at the exclusion of Negores. It would have eliminated the electoral college.

There was the Russell proposal to establish segregation in the Armed forces which was defeated in the Senate on June 21, 1950 and the Winstead amendment in the House which was also defeated.

CLARENCE MITCHELL and Illinois Senator Paul Douglas in Washington, D. C.

SOME ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Congresswoman Edith Norse Rogers was one of the most enthusiatic supporters of the Rankin hospital bill which would have set up a Jim Crow hospital at Booker T. Washington's birthplace. It was defeated.

It took long hard spadework to get a language safeguard written into the Railway Labor Act amendment of June 6, 1951, but Mitchell has had the satisfaction of seeing each case where the dismissal of Negroes was involved set aside in the case against the Pennsylvania railorad, the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and the Washington Terminal.

More recently, the Washington bureau has had a large role in the ending of segregation and discrimination for civilians on military establishments. It is responsible for the ending of segregation in schools in the Panama Canal Zone.

Mitchell has fought ceaselessly to end bias in public housing and against the erection of hospitals with government funds in cities which have a biased policy.

His biggest running battle has been with the secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby over her sanction of continuing segregation in schools in military posts and the use of federal funds to promote hospital bias.

He got the Russell amendment whereby no agency could function for more than a year without coming to Congress for additional funds defeated. President Truman stepped in to circumvent the Russell move.

One of Mitchell's prize souvenirs is the pen used by Harry Truman to re-establish the Government Contract Complaince Committee.

A rose by any other name is the same so the saying goes, but Mitchell has by his efforts changed the old meaning of the lobbyist to one which can command respect and admiration.

32b 1954

NAACP

MR. HENRY LEE MOON,
DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC RELATIONS

Henry Moon Tours Radio Free Europe

Defender
Chicago, Ill.
Sat. 10-30-54

NEW YORK — Henry L. Moon, director of public relations of the NAACP, and 70 other civic leaders from all parts of the U. S. left by plane Wednesday to see Radio Free Europe in action. P. 11

The tour is being made under the auspices of the Crusade for Freedom which supports Radio Free Europe through American contributions and moral support. After an on-the-spot briefing at RFE's headquarters in Munich, Mr. Moon broadcast a message from the people of New York.

He also sent a message from New York over the Iron Curtain by balloon and, with the others, was a guest of the American Heritage Foundation at a reception and dinner at the Statler Hotel here.

After a reception at the home of the American consul general in Munich, the party inspected central headquarters from which programs are relayed over 22 transmitters to Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania. On Monday, the party was scheduled to fly to Berlin for a tour.

In Paris on Thursday, the party will be briefed by Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, commander of the Allied forces in Europe and, after a brief tour of Paris, will take a plane scheduled to arrive back in New York at noon on Friday, Oct. 29.

OFF TO MUNICH — Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Moon, Long Island City, N.Y. are greeted by Thomas D'Arcy Brophy, left, president of the American Heritage Foundation at reception prior to flying to Munich to inspect radio Free Europe operations and broadcast to people behind the Iron Curtain. Mr. Moon is director of NAACP public relations.

MOON TO INSPECT RADIO FREE EUROPE

NEW YORK (ANP) — H. L. Moon, NAACP public relations director, will be among 72 national leaders who will fly to Munich Oct. 29 to inspect Radio Free Europe operations and to broadcast to people in Eastern Europe as representative of millions of Americans who have contributed to the Crusade for Freedom. Moon is the only colored in the party.

U. S. Negro's Talk Beamed to Reds

Tribune Tues. 11-9-54

MUNICH, Nov. 8 (AP).—An American Negro leader said today in a Radio Free Europe broadcast beamed behind the Iron Curtain that "under a thousand" Negroes belong to the Communist party in the United States.

New York, N.Y.

The 15,000,000 Negroes in the United States are working for full equality through the democratic and not the Communist system, Henry Lee Moon, public relations director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said.

"We refuse collaboration with the Communists because we realize the Communists have no genuine interest in the cases which confront the N. A. A. C. P." he said. "The Communists use such cases to exploit them for their own purposes, to propagandize for the Communist cause."

HENRY L MOON

Henry Moon reports on tour of Europe

Afro-American P. 5

NEW YORK—Henry L. Moon, public relations director for the NAACP, who recently completed a 9,000-mile tour of Radio Free Europe with 85 representatives of other national organizations, made the following observations of his visit to Europe:

Baltimore Md.

"I was interviewed by the press and participated in two radio programs for translation and rebroadcast to the peoples of the satellite countries.

"While freely admitting that racial discrimination and segregation exist widely in America, I reported substantial gains in recent years in breaking down racial barriers in education, public service, trade unions and profesisonal societies, public accommodations, transport, housing and employment.

— o O o —

"I CITED the Supreme Court decision in the public school cases and told them of our campaign to end all such discrimination by Jan. 1, 1963, the centennial of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

Sat. 11-13-54

"It did not take long to realize the correlation between the Crusade for Freedom in Europe and our Fight For Freedom at home. The success of our fight is vital to the Crusade. The more freedom flourishes at home, the more convincing our Radio Free Europe speak to the peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

— o O o —

"THE ELIMINATION of segregation in America will deprive the Communists of one of their most effective weapons not only among the colored peoples of the world, but also among Europeans.

"Our fight to end racial discrimination strengthens the voice of Radio Free Europe and inspires greater confidence among people who, themselves, have been denied basic liberties by a totalitarian state.

Henry Lee Moon On Trip To Germany

NEW YORK.—Henry Lee Moon, director of public relations of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is one of some 70 representatives of national organizations who will make a nine-day trip to Europe to inspect the Radio Free Europe facilities at Munich, Germany.

The group left New York by plane on Wednesday, Oct. 20, returning on Oct. 29. The tour, arranged by the Crusade for Freedom, sponsors of Radio Free Europe, includes visits to Munich, Berlin and Paris. Conferences with government, business and labor leaders in these cities have been arranged.

Kansas City

Crusade for Freedom is a project of the American Heritage Foundation of which Thomas D'Arcy Brophy is president and Henry Ford II, chairman of the board. Through Radio Free Europe it seeks to inform people in the Iron Curtain countries of democratic progress in the free world.

Sat. 11-24-54

Other organizations participating in the tour include Junior Chamber of Commerce, Advertising Council, Congress of Industrial Organizations, United States Conference of Mayors, National Education, Veterans of Foreign Wars, National Council of Catholic Men, National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and American Legion auxiliary.

Henry Lee Moon Writes of Tour to Inspect Crusade For Freedom in Germany

Bystander Des Moines, Ia.

Thur. 11-11-54 P. 1

BY HENRY LEE MOON
Director, Public Relations, NAACP

The Crusade for Freedom is a new and different development of an old American practice of extending aid and comfort to peoples struck by disaster. Traditionally this assistance has been in the form of food, clothing and other consumer goods and health services given to the victims of earthquakes, ffloods, hurricanes or other natural castastrophies—generally through the American Red Cross.

Keep Alive Hope

However, the Crusade for Freedom, a project of the American Heritage Foundation, is engaged in a different kind of aid. Like the Red Cross it is supported by the voluntary contributions of the American people from all sections of the country, from all classes and races. But the assistance which the Crusade has to offer is not in material things but in the realm of ideas and spiritual hope.

Instead of bundles for displaced families in disaster areas, the Crusade for Freedom seeks to keep alive the hope of some 70 million people trapped in the satellite countries behind the Iron Curtain. Through the extensive facilities of Radio Free Europe and the airborne leaflet project the Crusade counteracts with factual information the Communist propaganda constantly fed to these peoples through the controlled press and radio of those countries.

85 in Tour Group

Along with 84 other representatives of some 45 national organizations I recently completed a 9,000-mile tour of inspection of the facilities of Radio Free Europe with headquarters in Munich, Germany. We also had opportunity to observe the work and varied activities of the Crusade in Europe and to learn first hand from American officials, from governmental representatives, from refugees from behind the Iron Curtain, and from citizens of West Germany some of the problems contributing to and stemming from the cold war.

Bepland

The members of the group making the tour and the organizations they represented were different from the group with which the NAACP is usually associated. Of the 50 organizations with which the NAACP works for civil rights only three were represented in the group—the Congress of Industrial Organizations, the American Federation of Labor and B'nai B'rith. The party consisted largely of persons from industry and commerce and from professional organizations.

11/11/54

Among organizations represented were Chamber of Commerce, American Hotel Association, the Advertising Council, American Farm Bureau, American Legion, Kiwanis International, American Library Association, General Federation of Women's Clubs, Boy Scouts of America, U. S. Conference of Mayors, and such fraternal organizations as Lions International, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Loyal Knights of the Round Table, Improved Order of Red Men, and others.

Highlights of Tour

Highlights of the crowded nine-day trip included a trip to the balloon launching site near the Czech border, a tour of East Berlin and a briefing in Paris by General Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme commander, Supreme Headquarters of Allied Powers in Europe.

The border between Soviet-dominated Czechoslovakia and West Germany graphically illustrates one of the differences between the two countries. Immediately across the border, the land is sere, abandoned and untended. On the German side, the fields were green and fresh. Livestock grazed on the slopes and farmers tended the land There was also a sharp contrast between the west and Soviet sectors of Berlin. There was greater evidence of business activity and the people looked more prosperous in the American, British and French sector than in the Soviet part of the city.

Like other recent travellers abroad I found great interest in race relations at home. Americans stationed abroad are made acutely aware of the status of the Negro by the often embarrassing questions of Europeans and of course, by Communist propaganda which contains enough truth to bewilder the uniformed.

Reports on Progress

I was interviewed by the press and participated in two radio programs for translation and rebroadcast to the peoples of the satellite countries. While freely admitting that racial discrimination and segregation exist widely in American Life, unions and professional societies, in public accommodations, in transport and, to a lesser degree, in housing and employment. I cited the Supreme Court decision in the public school cases and told them of our campaign to end all such discrimination by Jan. 1, 1963, the centennial of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

I was happy to be able to report substantial gains in recent years in breaking down racial barriers in education, public service, trade

Texas NAACP Official And Wife Flee State After Home Shot Up

Informer Houston, Texas

Sat. 10-23-54

HOUSTON — Texas, the place Governor Allan Shivers recently dared to tell a group of Negroes was the "grandest place on God's green earth," again supplied grist for anti - American propaganda mills when the head of the Sulphur Springs Branch NAACP and his wife were forced to flee the state in fear of their lives, the Informer learned here this week.

Hardy W. Ridge, a former grocery store proprietor and NAACP head at Sulphur Springs, and his wife Eleanor are now in Cleveland, Ohio. Their Sulphur Springs home was shot up last July when Mr. Ridge petitioned the courts of that Texas town to integrate public schools there. The NAACP leader's action was in line with that of other branch offices of the organization which sought to have the Supreme Court's ruling for school integration carried out in their communities.

P. 7

Mr. Ridge said after he filed the petition, two men visited his store and asked him to sell it but said he gave no definite answer to that effect. Later while he and his wife were away from home, vandals shot up his house with shotgun blasts. When he returned, he found glassse broken, ceillings and walls blasted and other evidence of the shooting.

He said the persons who had fired the blasts must have thought the couple to be home asleep.

Before he had left home, the men had created a disturbance at his house that attracted a crowd of neighbors. He said they told other Negroes in the neighborhood "what would happen to those uppity n-----s."

He said when he visited the mayor and other city officials, one of the officials told him, "If you don't like the way we are running things here, why don't you try living in another part of the country?" Mr. Ridge said the man added, "We don't like nine men in Washington telling us what to do", referring to the members of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Ridge said he reported the incident to the police and gave them license number of the car in which the men who asked him about selling the store rode but that no arrests were made.

Three days later, Mr. Ridge said he was told to leave town because "you are a marked man".

The Ridges arrived in Cleveland last week and plan to live there permanently. They were presented at an NAACP meeting.

Sweatt Case Found As Cause Of Bequest

Informer Houston, Texas

P. 5

326

Sat. 12-4-54

AUSTIN — David S. Shanks, a prominent teacher of 40 years duration, died December 25th, 1947, leaving valuable properties located on East Avenue in Austin, Texas. His will bequeathed asizeable portion of the estate to the Texas NAACP "as an expression of interest in the cause of freedom o be used by NAACP to fight and protest discrimination against Negroes in Texas." It is revealed that Mr. Shanks got the inspiration o make this bequest from the Sweatt Case, which he followed religiously during his declining years.

Mrs. Juanita Craft was Executrix of the estate which was settled last week with the residua bequeath being passed on to the NAACP in keeping wih the provisions of the Will. She is the State Organizer for the Texas NAACP, and has been active in NAACP and civic circles for many years. Her father, the late David S. Shaks, was a militant leader who served, prior to his passing, as Principal of the Aycock High School in Rockdale, Texas. He was a graduate of Prairie View College in the class of 1895, and was valedictorian of the class.

Officials of the NAACP express jublation over this bequeath which is believed to be the first of its kind to be made in Texas.

32b 1954

NAACP

JUDGE J. WAITES WARING

S. C. NAACP To Honor Judge Waties Waring

COLUMBIA, S. C. —(A N P)— Plans were set here for a testimonial banquet for J. Waties Waring, former U. S. judge of the eastern district of South Carolina.

The South Carolina NAACP conference is sponsoring the banquet honoring the descendant of slave owners.

A native of South Carolina, Waring has been living in New York since his retirement from the bench several years ago.

Waring rendered historic opinions in federal cases brought by the NAACP for equal teacher salaries, against the South Carolina "white primary" and in the public school segregation case.

In Waring's dissenting opinion in the Clarendon county school segregation case in June, 1951, sustained by a unanimous decision of the U. S. Supreme court last May, the judge declared:

"To me the situation is clear and important, particularly at this time when our national leaders are called upon to show to the world that our democracy means what it says and that it is a true democracy and there is no undercover supression of rights of any of our citizens because of the pigmentation of their skins.

Judge J. Waties Waring

The South Carolina NAACP State Conference of Branches will be host at a testimonial dinner in Charleston November 6 for Federal Judge J. Waties Waring, now retired.

The dinner is a timely and long-overdue gesture of gratitude to a native son, who by his numerous decisions proved that he was not only a liberal jurist, but a great patriotic American.

The U.S. Supreme Court upheld two of his more controversial decisions — one on the white primary and his dissent in the Clarendon County school segregation case — also proved that he never allowed deeply inbred community traditions to sway him in his steadfast application of the law.

We would like to join grateful South Carolinians in their tribute to one of the bright and shining stars of the Federal bench.

32b 1954

Walter White In Hospital; Suffers Heart Attack, Say

Oct. 10-22-54

New York, Oct. 14.—Because of a heart attack Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will be out of the office for a period. Dr. Channing H. Tobias, NAACP board chairman, anounced today.

Mr. White is under the care of physicans at New York Hospital where his condition is reported as "satisfactory." According to attending physcians the NAACP leader is "doing well." However, he is in "need of absolute rest."

Mr. White was readmitted to the hospital on October 12. Previously he had been released after having been hospitalized for four days.

Suffers 2nd Attack In Few Weeks

NEW YORK—Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was re-admitted to New York Hospital last week after suffering a heart attack.

The announcement was made by Dr. Channing H. Tobias, NAACP board chairman, who said White's condition is reported as satisfactory.

An attending physician said the NAACP leader is "doing well." However, he is in "need of absolute rest."

White had previously been released from the hospital after having spent four days there.

In St. Louis, the Missouri Association for Social Welfare announced that James Nabrit of the law department of Howard University, would substitute as a luncheon speaker for White on Friday. The association, which is holding sessions at the Jefferson Hotel, had asked the NAACP executive to discuss "The Impact of the U. S. Supreme Court decision on Education."

Nabrit was one of the lawyers who aided in the arguing of the NAACP case before the court.

WALTER WHITE

Walter White's Condition Is 'Satisfactory'

NEW YORK. — Walter White executive secretary of the NAACP is making "satisfactory progress" after having suffered a heart attack recently, it was announced at NAACP national headquarters here last week.

Physicians caring for Mr. White at New York hospital, 525 East 68th Street, have reported that the civil rights leader, although coming along well, will not be able to return to his NAACP post for an indefinite period of time.

Mr. White was readmitted to New York hospital on October 12. Previously he had been released by the hospital after having been hospitalized for four days.

Walter White Still Gaining

Chicago, Ill.

NEW YORK — Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, has been taken off the critical list at New York City hospital, where he was admitted Oct. 12, after suffering a heart attack.

White's physicians reported he "is improving steadily" but have set no date for his leaving the hospital.

NAACP

Walter White Back On Air

NEW YORK. — In his first broadcast since he became ill two months ago, Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, charged that "vigorous efforts are being made to purchase peace at any price between the northern and southern wings of the Democratic party which may cost the Democrats dearly in their frantic efforts to heal the breach."

Mr. White made his comment in a recorded statement broadcast Dec. 11 by radio station WLIB in New York and by affiliated stations in other cities. In his talk he praised questions about the recent meeting of the Democratic National committee in New Orleans and developments within the party since 1952.

"Through no merit of their own," he said, "southerners will be chairmen . . .of almost the majority of committees of the Senate and the House. The Democrats held their Senate ranks unbroken during the recent McCarthy censure fight only by promising to Sen. James Eastland of Mississippi the chairmanship of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. . ."

Mr. White reviewed the current political situation and its impact upon Negro voters and concluded that "there is a good likelihood that many congressional districts will go one way or the other in 1956 on the basis of the stand the Republican party, including members of the Congress as well as of the administration, on the basis issues of human rights."

The NAACP executive is steadily improving in health. He has not yet returned to his desk, but keeps contact with the office and his many activities while remaining at home under doctor's orders.

WALTER WHITE

Walter White To Report To NAACP Annual Meeting

Courier P.1 Savannah, Ga.

NEW YORK—Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is scheduled to make his first public appearance since his hospitalization last October at the Association's 45th annual meeting here on January 3, 1955.

Mr. White and other staff membership on the activities of the year. Ballots in the election of members to the Board of Directors will be opened and counted and the successful candidates announced There are 19 candidates for 16 vacanies. They will be elected to serve three years The annual meeting, presided over by Arthur B. Spingarn, NAACP president, will be followed by a meeting of the Board and the election of officers of the Association.

Staff members making reports at the meeting will include, in addition to Mr. White, Roy Wilkins, administrator; Thurgood Marshall, special counsel; Henry Lee Moon, director of public relations; Gloster B. Current, director of branches; Clarence Mitchell, director, Washington Bureau; Edward R. Dudley, special assistant in charge of Fight for Freedom Fund; James W Ivy, editor, The Crisis; and Herbert Hill, labor relations assistant.

Walter White Is Back, Says Aid May Swing South

Courier

CHICAGO—(ANP)—The NAACP executive secretary who was stricken with a heart attack in October resumed his column last week in the Chicago Daily News.

Pointing out that for the year 1951-52, Mississippi received more than $7 million from the federal government to be used on Mississippi schools, White says that it "is a certainty" that no government agency would turn over funds to a state which would refuse to comply with the nation's highest court.

He asserted that "states that have enacted various types of legislation to autorize 'private' instead of public schools are running into difficulties already in finding money for such schools."

White said that "Georgia recently attempted to renew its school revenue certificates' and that the banking superintendent of Ohio, Thurman Hazard, declarated such certificates to be 'ineligible investments' for Ohio state banks."

"Certainly,' said White, "the Federal Reserve Bank, the Securities and Exchange commission, state banking authorities and other regulatory bodies will not want to get into trouble by handling securities which violate a unanimous decision of the U. S. Supreme court.'

Pointin gout that the Southern states "are already handicapped by the nation's poorest school system," the NAACP head said the South could "automatically shut itself' off from federal aid "when it needs aids most'

Byrnes Denounced As 'McCarthyism At Worst'

NAACP Head Rips At S. C. Governor In Atlanta Speech

ATLANTA. — The attempt of Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina to equate the role of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People with that of the Ku Klux Klan as an instigator of racial hate was denounced here Sunday, March 21, by Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, in an address made at the opening of the annual membership drive of the Atlanta NAACP.

Sharing the platform with Mr. White was Thurgood Marshall, the association's special counsel, who headed the battery of lawyers who in five cases challenged before the United States Supreme Court the constitutionality of segregation in public elementary and secondary schools.

Gov. Byrnes had repeated his charge against the NAACP in a St. Patrick's Day address last week in Charleston, S. C. The NAACP and the KKK, he asserted, are an "equal menace" to peaceful relations between the races.

Denouncing this charge as a smear, Mr. White accused the governor of "McCarthyism at its worst." Gov. Byrnes, he said, "knows that the KKK had defied the law, violated the constitutional rights of individuals, sought to be judge, jury and executioner, preached racial intolerance, and debased human decency."

"The NAACP, on the other hand, has consistently operated within the framework of constitutional democracy, opposed racial discrimination and segregation which are the concrete expression of bigotry, and worked for democratic objectives."

Challenges Governor

"I challenge Gov. Byrnes to name one instance in which the NAACP has been involved in aggressive violence against any individual or group," the NAACP spokesman asserted. "I challenge him to name any instance in which the NAACP took the law into its hands. I further challenge him to cite any occasion in which the NAACP has conspired to subvert the Constitution or to deny any individual his constitutional rights.

"The governor knows he cannot meet this challenge because he knows the record of the NAACP. If ours were a subversive organization like the KKK he would have driven us out of South Carolina long ago. But he knows that we are an American organization dedicated to the highest ideals of our nation as set forth in our historic documents from the Declaration of Independence to the Resolution against discrimination adopted at the Caracus conference last week. We are here to stay as long as racial injustice endures."

Recalls Byrnes' Record

As a "smear artist," Mr. White charged, "Gov. Byrnes antedates Senator Joseph McCarthy by many years. Indeed, he was using this tactic when the Wisconsin senator was still in swaddling clothes. He pretends now to be a 'friend' of the Negro, but we remember when he defended lynching on the floor of the Senate and the House of Representatives as he now defends segregation.

"We remember his fight to deny funds to Howard university for the education of Negro youth. We remember his attacks upon the real friends of the Negro and his attempts to smear them because of their efforts against lynching and race bigotry."

Mr. White warned that politicians like Governors Byrnes and Herman Talmadge of Georgia face extinction as the Negro and enlightened white vote in the south expands. The NAACP, he said, is engaged in a southwide campaign to increase the Negro voting strength to 3,000,000 by 1956, the next presidential election. Meanwhile, there is growing evidence that more enlightened southern opinion rejects the reactionary and intemperate proposals of the South Carolina governor.

"Only last week in New York a distinguished southern editor categorically asserted that the public schools in South Carolina will not be closed if segregation is banned despite Gov. Byrnes threats," Mr. White observed.

Truman Congratulates Walter White On Magazine Article

NEW YORK — Former President Harry S. Truman has told Walter White of the NAACP that he read a current article by Mr. White describing racial discrimination in the nation's capital "with a lot of interest" and hopes "we will eventually come to the point where we can call the provisions of the Constitution and the Laws" into operation in Washington, D. C.

The article, "How Washington's Color Line Looks to Me," appeared in the April 3 issue of The Saturday Evening Post magazine.

"As you know," Mr. Truman pointed out to Mr. White, "I am acquainted with the matters to which you refer."

Mr. Truman's remarks were contained in a letter to Mr. White, who is executive secretary of the NAACP.

"How Washington's Color Line Looks to Me" portrayed the nation's capital as the scene of "ludicious contradictions" in racial practices, with race bars lifted in restaurants, theatres and hotels, but maintained in housing, public schools, employment, hospitals and the Protestant churches.

Mrs. Eugene Meyer, a civic leader and wife of the publisher of the Washington POST, predicted that the article will "have a good effect in Washington."

"I think it is balanced and very hopeful," Mrs. Meyer said in a letter to Mr. White.

Several Washington churchmen wrote to Mr. White about "How Washington's Color Line Looks to Me." Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, presiding bishop of the Washington area of the Methodist Church, declared: "I hang my head in shame when I read the section regarding the Protestant churches."

"I have been working at this matter quietly, and I hope there may be distinct improvement as far as the Methodist situation is concerned in the not too distant future," he added.

The Rev. A. Powell Davies, pastor of All Souls' Unitarian Church in Washington, asserted that "the national capital belongs to the entire nation and represents, not only its own residents, but all the American people."

"Your article in the Saturday Evening Post," he continued, "will therefore be of immense value in informing the country of matters which for too long have been overlooked and neglected."

WALTER WHITE BLASTS TEXANS AND ALL FORMS OF SOUTHERN DISCRIMINATION AND BIGOTRY

Says Eisenhower Is An Honest, Decent Person Who Will Not Bend To Bias

Levels Guns On Lyndon Johnson

HOUSTON, Texas, May 10, — (Special) — Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (Dem., Tex.) and Gov. Allen Shivers of Texas were boldly and heatedly attacked this week by Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

White also lambasted most of the other Dixie governors.

He praised President Dwight D. Eisenhower as "an honest, decent and sincere man."

The NAACP Secretary spoke to 1,700 Texans attending a Freedom Mass Meeting at the Antioch Baptist church here.

The 60 year old pioneer for equal rights for Negroes opened his address by verbally jumping squarely on the Southern governors.

"They (the Governors), led by their quarterback Jimmy Byrnes, thought they had Eisenhower in the bag on the race issue. I thought so at first too.

"But they had forgotten the facts. They had forgotten the President is an honest, decent and sincere man. He doesn't know about some of the nuances of political life, but he is learning.

"The President has assured the NAACP, both publicly and privately, that he will never permit one percent of public money to be spent on projects which permit segregation."

Leveling his guns on Senator Johnson, the secretary said the senior Senator from Texas past record on civil rights "at least has the attribute of consistency it is consistently against civil rights."

He said Negro voters in Texas should have 400,000 to 500,000 registered voters instead of the presently estimated 200,000.

"Then you will have Shivers paying more attention to you than to the handful of oil millionaires who support Sen. Joe McCarthy."

NAACP Leader Backs Bunche

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP) — Dr. Ralph Bunche, a top - ranking American in the United Nations and Nobel Peace Prize winner, went before a U.S. loyalty board again today for the second time in three days.

Walter White, another American Negro leader, told a reporter tonight that he (White) spent an hour-and-a-half before the board this morning testifying to Bunche's loyalty in the latter's presence.

After his first appearance before the board, Bunche declined to comment, saying all queries should be directed to the board.

White is executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People. Bunche is principal director of the U.N. Trusteeship Department and is on the NAACP's Board of Directors.

Walter White Says Talmadge Is Useful To Reds Of Russia

Globe

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 21—Herman Talmadge, governor of Georgia, was blasted here today as "more useful to the Kremlin than the whole American Communist party in creating distrust of the white western world."

Addressing the United Steelworkers of America, Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP, referred scathingly to Governor Talmadge's open defiance of the Supreme Court decision banning segregated public schools and to the Southern governor's recent statement that he doesn't care what the Communists say about his defiance of the law.

The civil rights leader declared it "fortunate" that most southerners do not agree with Talmadge.

Nashville Banner 9-22-54

MARTIN DE LARA NUPTIAL — Members of the wedding party, Mr. Bowles C. Ford, best man, groom and bride, Mr. and Mrs. Melchor De Lara, Miss Madeline Rose Martin, and little Dale Ford.

Miss Helen Jean Martin, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Martin of Atlanta, Ga., was united in marriage to Mr. Rudolfo de Lara, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melchor de Lara of Manila, Philippine, Islands, on Monday, December 28, 1953, at the family home on Sunset Ave.

The impressive rites were performed by the Rev. Homer C. McEwen, pastor of the First Congregational Church, before an altar of five giant fern-balls and twin candelaras flanked on either side with towering baskets of white flowers.

Mrs. Mildred Greenwood Hall, of Atlanta and Montgomery, Alabama, played nuptial music and Mr. W. H. "Chief' Aiken, who sang at the wedding of the bride's parents, twenty-seven years ago, sang "Because."

The bride entered the spacious and beautifully decorated living room on the arms of her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a pure-silk white ballerina-length gown, cut along princess lines with sleeves and neckline embellished in appliqued rosepoint lace which was embroidered in seed pearls. Her fingertip-length illusion veil was caught by an exquisitely gemmed tiara which enhanced the radiance of the youthful and beautiful bride. With this gown she wore white satin opera pumps and in her hand she carried a white leather Bible covered with a huge white orchid attached to a cascade of white ribbons showered with white stephanotis chains.

Her only sister, pretty Miss Madeline Rose Martin, was maid of honor. She was lovely in an American Beauty taffeta gown with which she wore shoes to match. Her small hat was of matching tulle and rosebuds. In her hand she carried a nosegay of white rosebuds and glad-florets attached to white satin ribbons.

Cute six year old Dale Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bowles Ford of Savannah, Ga., was her cousin's flower girl. She was dressed in white taffeta and tulle and carried a nosegay of white roses encircled in Better Times roses.

Mr. Bowles Ford, an insurance executive of Savannah, served as Mr. de Lara's best man. Vivacious Miss Lois Johnson, close friend and college roommate of the bride, kept the bride's book. She wore a two-piece navy dress made along princess lines and she used a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. E. M. Martin was very charming and gracious in an iridescent two-piece jeweled taffeta dress with which she wore a white orchid corsage. Miss Madeline White, aunt of the bride, lighted the candelabras in a stunning blue outfit with which she wore a white orchid corsage.

The first floor of the Martin home was beautifully decorated with many arrangements of white roses, carnations, gladioli and greenery. The bride's table covered in a handsome handmade tablecloth was graced with magnificent a three tiered wedding cake and surrounded with tapers, and groups of white-satins bows inserted with miniature wedding rings and bells. Mrs. Nellye Davis had charge of the decorations.

Immediately following the 11 a. m. wedding was an informal reception for relatives, a few close friends and business associates of the brides father.

The bride's maternal grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. White, pioneer citizens of Atlanta and her paternal grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Martin, Sr., also pioneer citizens of Atlanta. Her father, Mr. E. M. Martin, is prominently identified with Atlanta Life Insurance Company, an officer in the National Negro Ins. Association, a highly respected citizen who supports every worthwhile civic, religious and welfare program, and known throughout the country for his fight against racial discrimination and segregation. Mrs. Martin is one of six children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. White, one of whom is the famous Walter White, secretary of the NAACP.

Helen Jean is an alumna of Spelman College in Atlanta and Stanford University in Palo Alto, Calif. Mr. de Lara is a graduate of the University of Manila and also obtained a Master's degree in Civil Engineering from Stanford, University.

Mr. and Mrs. de Lara left during the early afternoon by motor to San Francisco where they will make their home.

Out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. John F. Hume, Tuskegee, Ala.; and Dr. Hume's mother, Mrs. Beatrice Hubbard of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Bowles C. Ford and family of Savannah, Ga. All are relatives of the bride.

Walter White's sister is buried

ATLANTA (ANP) — Final services for Mrs. Olive White Westmoreland, sister of Walter White of the NAACP, were held Saturday, Jan. 2, here.

Mrs. Westmoreland, a graduate of Atlanta University, died, Dec. 20, 1953, after a prolonged illness. She was the widow of William G. Westmoreland.

Besides White, the deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Bowles Ford of Savannah, Ga., and Mrs. John Hume of Tuskegee, Ala.; a son, William G. Westmoreland Jr. of Detroit, and two sisters, Mrs. Eugene Martin and Miss Madeline White of Atlanta.

A son, Lt. Walter D. Westmoreland of the U.S. Air Force, was killed in action in World War II.

Walter White Finds Unrest In Caribbean

NEW YORK—Back from a two-week tour of two American territories and six British colonies in the Caribbean, Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, this week expressed the opinion that political ferment in that region deserves the thoughtful attention of both races in America."

Accompanied by Mrs. White, the NAACP executive went and first to Trinidad to which he had been invited by Mrs. Leonora McSchine, of the League of Women Voters, and Cyril Dudley, president of the Colonial Life Insurance Company in that island. He spoke at a mass meeting arranged from him in Port-of-Spain, and conferred with leaders and rank and file citizens in that city and elsewhere.

PARTY LINE

In British Guiana he found "the tension greater than at the time of the revocation of the Constitution by action of Great Britain." There is little doubt, Mr. White asserted, that "the Communists exert considerable influence within the ranks of the Peoples Progressive Party which won a majority in the colonial legislature elected prior to the suspension of the Constitution. However, the maximum number of persons in the colony faithful following the Communist party line is estimated by the most conservative at no more than 20."

VAST SUMS

Communist propaganda in these countries has been facilitated, Mr. White stated, by the failure of the free world to make any substantial contributions to the improvement of conditions. "Vast sums have been made available to the mother countries," he said, "but, except for a few FOA and WHO projects, there is little evidence that the great powers are sharing international funds with the colonies."

Racial discrimination, Mr. White reported, while not as prevalent as in the United States, is widespread throughout the region. In Puerto Rica, he found a sharp wage differential maintained by the United States government. He cited the announcement of a vacancy at a U. S. Naval Station paying $6,032 for a citizen from the States and only $3.224 for a native Pureto Rican although the qualifications and responsibilities are identical.

Traveling at their own expense, the Whites visited the Virgin Islands, Grenada, Tobago, Barbados Antigua in addition to Trinidad, British Guiana and Pureto Rico.

Poppy White Directs NBC Food Airer

The South African born Poppy Cannon, wife of Walter White has been named food editor of NBC-TV's new women's service program "HOME." Presently food editor for "House Beautiful," the talented gourmet specialist is readying a new book for publication, "The Bride's Cook-Book." The Capetown South African, reared in Pennsylvania, holds degrees from Vassar and New York university. She is expected to contribute to foreign as well as native American variety.

Walter White Reports On Caribbean Tour

NEW YORK. — (ANP) —Walter White last week returned from a two-week tour of eight Caribbean countries and said that "The political ferment in that region deserves the thoughtful attention of both races in America."

Accompanied by Mrs. White, the NAACP executive secretary visited Trinidad, British Guiana, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Grenada, Tobago, Barbados and Antigua.

In Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, White addressed a mass meeting and confered with citizens in that city. Mrs. Leonora McSchine, member of the League of Women Voters, and Cyril Duprey, president of the Colonial Life Insurance Company, were hosts to the Whites during their Trinidad visit.

White found much tension in British Guiana whose constitution was suspended and prime minister ousted recently by the British. Choddi Jagan was ousted last year as prime minister for what the British termed the leftist trend of his government. Commenting on this issue, White said:

"There is little doubt that the communists exert considerable influence within the ranks of the Peoples Progressive Party which won a majority in the colonial legislature elected prior to the suspension of the constitution. However, the maximum number of persons in the colony faithfully following the Communist party is estimated by the most conservative at no more than 20."

Communist propaganda in these countries has been facilitated, White said, by the failure of the free world to make any substantial contributions to the improvement of conditions.

"Vast sums have been made available to the mother country," he said, "but, except for a few FOA and WHO projects, there is little evidence that the great powers are sharing international funds with the colonies."

White said further that racial discrimination is widespread throughout the Caribbean region.

Often he said, there is a different wage scale for whites doing the same work as Negroes. In Puerto Rico he found a sharp wage differential maintained by the United States government.

As an example, he cited an announcement of a vacancy at a U. S. Naval station paying $6,032 for a citizen from the states and only $3,224 for a native Puerto Rican although the qualifications and responsibilities are identical.

And Talmadge

White Lashes Byrnes

ATLANTA (ANP) —Walter White lashed out here last week at two Southern Governors who have been labeled the "worst enemies" of the Negro.

Objects of the NAACP executive secretary's verbal attack were Governors James Byrnes of South Carolina and Herman Talmadge of Georgia.

Mr. White

Speaking before more than 1,000 persons attending the NAACP rally at Wheat Street Baptist Church, White said the state chief executives were guilty of "McCarthyism at its worst."

* * *

HIS BLAST came in answer to a charge by Governor Byrnes that the NAACP and the Klu Klux Klan were an "equal menace" to peaceful relations between the races.

Denouncing this charge as a smear, White said Governor Byrnes ". . . knows that the KKK had defied the law, violated the constitutional rights of individuals, sought to be judge, jury and executioner, preached racial intolerance and debased human decency.

"The NAACP, on the other hand," Mr. White asserted, "has consistently operated within the framework of constitutional democracy, opposed racial discrimination and segregation which are the concrete expression of bigotry, and worked for democratic objectives."

* * *

WHITE THEN went on to say, "Fortunately, the days of Byrnes' political life are numbered, as are those of Talmadge and other demagogues who keep the race issue alive by appeals to ignorance and hatred.

"They face political extinction as the vote of the Negro and of enlightened white citizens expand throughout the region."

Appearing with White was Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the NAACP, who argued five school segregation cases before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Marshall attacked Governor Talmadge, saying, when the Georgia Governor predicted violence would follow integration of Georgia schools, "he wasn't speaking for anybody but himself."

The NAACP currently is in the midst of a campaign to increase Negro voting strength in this region to 3,000,000.

Truman Congratulates Walter White On Magazine Article

NEW YORK, Apr. 19.—(Special)—Former President Harry S. Truman has told Walter White of the NAACP that he read a current article by Mr. White describing racial discrimination in the nation's capital "with a lot of interest" and hopes "we will eventually come to the point where we can call the provisions of the Constitutions and the laws" into operation in Washington, D. C.

The article, "How Washington's Color Line Looks To Me," appeared in the April 3 issue of the Saturday Evening Post magazine.

"As you know," Mr. Truman pointed out to Mr. White, "I am acquainted wiht the matters to which you refer."

Mr. Truman's remarks were contained in a letter to Mr. White, who is executive secretary of the NAACP.

"How Washington's Color Line Looks To Me," portrayed the nation's capital as the scene of "ludicrous contradictions" in racial practices, with race bars lifted in restaurants, theatres and hotels, but maintained in housing, public schools, employment, hospitals and the Protestant churches.

Mrs. Eugene Meyer, a civic leader and wife of the publisher of the Washington Post, predicted that the article will "have a good effect in Washington."

"I think it is balanced and very hopeful," Mrs. Meyer said in a letter to Mr. White.

Several Washington churchmen wrote to Mr. White about "How Washington's Color Line Looks To Me." Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, presiding bishop of the Washington area of the Methodist Church, declared: "I hung my head in shame when I read the section regarding the Protestant churches."

"I have been working at this matter quietly, and I hope there may be distinct improvement as far as the Methodist situation is concerned in the not too distant future," he added.

The Rev. A. Powell Davies, pastor of All Souls' Unitarian Church in Washington, asserted that "the national capital belongs to the entire nation—and represents, not only its own residents, but all the American people."

"Your article in the Saturday Evening Post," he continued, "will therefore be of immense value in informing the country of matters which for too long have been overlooked and neglected."

32b 1954

NAACP

WALTER WHITE

N. A. A. C. P. Plans Way To Enforce Bias Ban

ATLANTA, May 22 (AP).—Negro leaders from eighteen states began planning a step-by-step course today to end segregation of the races in public schools and one official warned that any attempt to dodge the Supreme Court segregation decision would be met by firm legal action.

Some eighty state and regional officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People assembled here to decide how the ruling might be applied in the different states and communities the decision affects. The delegates included representatives from the District of Columbia and Illinois.

Walter White, executive secretary of the N. A. A. C. P., said the organization will fight through the courts any efforts, such as those mentioned in some Southern states, to "circumvent" the decision.

Will Use Courts

"The N. A. A. C. P.'s feeling is that the court ruling must be carried out regardless of the positions taken by local white and Negro leaders," Mr. White told a news conference as the meeting began.

He said that position applies to states which have drawn up plans to avoid the court ruling and to communities which may try to continue segregation quietly.

Thurgood Marshall, N. A. A. C. P. counsel who argued the segregation cases before the Supreme Court, was here advising the conference, which continues through tomorrow. He said the N. A. A. C. P.'s big problem is how integration of the races should be accomplished in states with differing customs and attitudes. Leaders agreed that no single, over-all plan would work in all states.

The Negro leaders heard a statement from the N. A. A. C. P.'s board chairman, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, urging that they show "calm reasonableness" and let "the spirit of give and take characterize the discussions."

Delay Attorneys' Session

ATLANTA, May 22 (AP).—A conference of state Attorneys General, scheduled here for Wednesday to discuss the Supreme Court segregation ruling, today was postponed until after Southern Governors meet on the issue.

Attorney General Eugene Cook of Georgia, who invited legal representatives of other states having public school segregation to assemble here, announced the postponement.

Gov. Thomas B. Stanley, of Virginia, has invited Governors of the affected states to a meeting in Richmond June 7.

Mr. Cook said eleven other Attorneys General had accepted his invitation but that some had suggested the session might be more productive if it was held after the Governors' meeting.

"THE DELEGATES refuse, however, to be a party to any plans calculated to postpone indefinitely, and in violation of the constitution, the integration of schools," he said.

Sat-6-19-54

The Atlanta Conference had instructed all local branches to petition their school boards to abolish segregation immediately and to assist those agencies in implementing the Court's ruling. The petitions had been prepared by the NAACP legal department.

AN ACCOMPANYING letter from the branches requesting a conference to discuss plans for meeting the Court's ruling as soon as possible was also sent.

"The petition was neither a threat nor a letter of supplication," he said. "We know from experience that schools can be successfully and expeditiously integrated. It can be done in South Carolina, Georgia, in Mississippi and, indeed, wherever the American flag flies. The Dixie politicians cannot turn back the clock to 1896." (This is the year when the doctrine of "separate and equal" was handed down in a Supreme Court ruling on transportation.)

"We cannot afford to hesitate now,' he said. "We can only move ahead towards the development of a society in which no one is either penalized or favored because of his race or color.'

WALTER WHITE
It's Futile

In Walter White Address

South's Stand On Mixed Schools Labeled "Futile

DURHAM, N. C.—"There is a pathetic futility in the recently reported agreement of certain southern governors and attorneys general not to conform "voluntarily" with the Supreme Court's decision (on segregation)," said Walter White, executive secretary of the NAACP in an address at a statewide NAACP meeting held June 13 at the White Rock Baptist Church in Durham.

Mr. White spoke against those who advise a period of "watchful waiting" until the Court renders its final decree after October hearings to determine how segregation shall be abolished. He cited the actions of various states and cities, Washington, D. C., among them, that have already decided to integrate in the fall school term.

"THE RULING of the Court was clear and unmistakable," he said. "Efforts to evade this ruling, to sneak around it in some shady, illegal way, will merely be a waste of time, energy and resources."

In what he regarded would be a healthier national situation, Mr. White spoke of the Atlanta meeting of the southern states NAACP delegates and their efforts to plan the action that would facilitate the desegregation in the public schools. He said that all delegates were aware that there would be problems and issues for the school officials arising from the ruling and all local leaders were ready to discuss these problems in good faith with the school boards or any other interested parties.

NAACP Executive Leaves Hospital

NEW YORK — Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has returned to his East Side residence where he is "doing well" his physicians report. The NAACP executive was admitted to New York Hospital on Oct. 12. He remained there until Nov. 20. Although showing steady improvement, Mr. White is not yet permitted to see visitors.

IMPETUS IS GIVEN NEGRO CAMPAIGN

Year's Gains Toward 1963 Goal of Ending Barriers Cited by Association

A ten-year campaign begun last year to clear away the remaining racial barriers by Jan. 1, 1963—the centennial of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation—is described in the 1953 annual report of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The report, made public here yesterday, is entitled "Ninety Years Plus Ten Equals Freedom." It covers the steps that led to the historic Supreme Court decision last May 17, abrogating public school racial-segregation laws.

The association, of which Walter White is executive secretary, reports that historians "may well look back to the year 1953 as the beginning of the end" of racial discrimination and segregation in the United States. For the second consecutive year, it notes, no lynching was recorded.

Reargument before the Supreme Court of five cases of the association, challenging the constitutionality of public school segregation, is detailed as a challenge promptly met. The report also hails the court's ruling against restrictive covenants in real estate.

Important activities of the association concerned education, housing, employment, travel, public accommodations and recreation, and the military. Other cited accomplishments include passage of a fair employment practices law in the Territory of Alaska, civil rights legislation in Oregon, and successful register-and-vote campaigns to increase the number of Negro voters in the Southeast to 3,000,000 by 1956.

Pending at the end of the year was a comprehensive complaint filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission against segregation of interstate passengers by railroads, stations and station restaurants.

On the debit side, the eighty-five-page booklet reports the association tried and failed to obtain enactment of a Federal anti-Jim Crow travel bill. It also tried, unsuccessfully, to curb Senate filibusters by a new cloture rule, to have a time set for hearings on a fair employment practices bill and to have attached to the Taft-Hartley Law an amendment branding racial discrimination an "unfair" practice.

The association's membership reached a total of 240,000 members, as compared with 215,000 at the end of 1952. The association expended $381,159 and ended the year with a surplus of $20,086.

POLICEMEN AND FIREMEN

AN EXAMPLE OF CIVIC PR[illegible]omery, Ala.—(SNS)—What has been "the Cradle of [illegible]eracy" is fast becoming Alabama's showpiece of progress. October 1, three Negro policewomen will begin duty directing traffic near the Negro-serving schools of Montgomery. The city already had four Negro policemen.

Front row reading from left to right are: Policewomen Jimmy Walton, Allean Thornton and Mary C. Johnson.

Back row reading from left to right are: Policemen L. E. Jarrett, Arthur G. Worthy, Willie C. Miller and Walter Lee Jarrett.

Montgomery becomes Alabama's first [illegible] only city to employ Negro policewomen. Some 33 Southern cities now employ a total of 117 Negro policewomen. There are 126 Southern cities which employ Negro policemen. In addition to Montgomery, Mobile, Dothan, Talladega and Hobson City, have Negro persons on their police force.

Commissioner of Public Affairs Dave Birmingham is credited with the addition of the seven Negro persons to the Montgomery Police force.

3 Negro Women To Become Cops

Three Negro policewomen have been appointed to direct traffic near Montgomery Negro schools, City Commissioner Dave Birmingham announced yesterday.

The appointments were announced after the city commissioner conferred for almost an hour with Mayor W. A. Gayle and a delegation of four Negro women.

Mayor Gayle said appointment of the women would free regular policemen from school duty.

Appointed to the policewomen jobs effective Oct. 1 were Aline Hodges Thornton, Jimmie Pearl Walton and Mary Christine Johnson.

Policemen, doctors—

Two urgent Negro needs cited here

"The 40 per cent of our population made up of Negroes is being let-down in at least two ways. By not employing Negro policemen to work among their own people and by not allowing Negro physicians the right to treat their patients in our tax-supported hospitals."

This view was expressed today by Miss Roberta Morgan, director of the Co-ordinating Council, before the Birmingham Protestant Ministers Assn. at First Methodist Church.

Describing the work of the council, Miss Morgan told of the research being done by the Inter-racial Committee. This committee, she said, is made up of 25 white and 25 Negro members.

Miss Morgan emphasized that two great needs of our community are a general relief fund and a family counseling service.

Dr. W. A. Shelton presided.

Ala. daily backs mixed Dixie police departments

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — "The final decision to hire colored policemen for Montgomery is wise; it should have been done years ago," says the Montgomery Advertiser, a white daily in that city.

Continuing, the newspaper, published by R. F. Judson, with Grover C. Hall as editor, says in its April 17 issue:

"It may be true that colored people fear a white cop more than they would a colored one.

'But That's Just The Point'

"But that is just the point: citizens, be they white or black, are more inclined to obey the law when they believe the law and the men enforcing it are just. Fear and resentment breed lawlessness.

". . . There is the natural resentment by colored citizens that the guardian of the law in their community is not one of them, but an outsider.

"The findings in other southern cities give every reason to expect that the employment of colored policemen in colored sections will be reflected in a lowered crime rate.

"There is no way of knowing how much trouble might have been avoided in the past if the plan had been put in effect long ago."

Seven Negroes Will Take Training For Police Jobs

Seven Negro men, all veterans of military service, next week will undergo training for jobs as patrolmen with the city Police Department.

The first of two weeks of schooling will be given at the Negro Branch Library, 409 S. Union St., Police Commissioner Dave Birmingham said.

The second week four of them will attend a city-sponsored police school at Gunter Air Force Base. Following that, they will be assigned to beats in colored districts of the city for the first time in the history of Montgomery.

To be trained are: William L. Carter, 1270 Mobile Rd.; Clyde Jones, Birmingham; Carlton M. Bullard, 456 Sharpe St.; Arthur G. Worthy, 3349 Loveless Curve; Willie C. Miller, Dillard Hall, Alabama State College; Lee E. Jarrett, 633 S. Ripley St.; Walter L. Jarrett, 2737 Chappell St., and David E. stances, city officials said.

Montgomery, Ala. Hires Negro Cops

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — ANP) — The first Negro policeman in Montgomery went on duty recently.

Four men completed their basic training and are now active members of the force here. They are: Lee Ernest Jarrett, Walter Lee Jarrett, Arthur G. Worthy and Willie C. Miller.

Negro Policewomen Sought For Schools

A delegation of Negro women conferred with Mayor W. A. Gayle yesterday in an effort to secure appointment of Negro and tendered a reqest for better recreational facilities for Negroes.

The group, headed by Prof. 40 minutes.

No immediate action was taken on the requests.

Negro Police For Montgomery

(From The Montgomery Advertiser)

The final decision to hire Negro policemen for Montgomery is wise. It should have been done years ago. There is nothing but good sound municipal practice in the move, as proven by the findings in upwards of 90 Southern cities already employing Negro police.

For some time many people have fallen back on the argument that, since most of the city's crimes occur among the Negro population, what is obviously needed is more respect for the law, not less. To replace white police in Negro areas lessens the respect and consequently increase the crime rate, the argument went.

The error in this kind of thinking is that respect is confused with fear. It may be true that Negroes fear a white cop more than they would a Negro. But that is just the point: citizens, be they white or balck, are more inclined to obey the law when they believe the law and the men enforcing it are just. Fear and resentment breed lawlessness.

It cannot be questioned that in years past here, as elsewhere, local police have needlessly bullied Negroes on occasions. Apparently, this situation has improved somewhat in recent years, but still there is the natural resentment by Negro citizens that the guardian of the law in their community is not one of them, but an outsider. Perhaps much of this resentment was uncalled for. Perhaps many Negroes were overly sensitive about being "dominated" by white cops.

But what ever the reason for it, there is a distinct point of friction where the white community of Montgomery extends its police force into the Negro community. In a city which prides itself, as Montgomery does, in the good relations between the races, it is surprising that this would have been tolerated as long as it was.

The findings in other Southern cities give every reason to expect that the employment of Negroes in Negro sections will be reflected in a lowered crime rate. There is no way of knowing how much trouble might have been avoided in the past if the plan had been put in effect long ago.

(Editor's note: On February 13, 1954 the Southern Regional Council, 63 Auburn Avenue, N. E., Atlanta, Georgia, informed us that there were 121 Southern cities with Negro policemen. Since that information was presented, Waycross, Georgia has added two Negro law enforcement officers. Montgomery will become the 123rd Southern city with Negro policemen. The total uniformed Negro policemen is 556.)

MONTGOMERY'S FIRST NEGRO POLICEMEN—Pictured are the Capital City's first Negro law enforcement officers who went on active duty officially Tuesday night, May 4. They were selected from a group of eight who reported for basic training Monday, April 26. Chief G. J. Ruppenthal of the Police Department released the picture for publication to The Advertiser-Journal. The officers are, reading left to right: Lee Ernest Jarrett, Walter Lee Jarrett, Arthur G. Worthy and Willie C. Miller.

Race Cops on Duty

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (ANP) — The first four Negro policemen in Montgomery went on duty recently.

Ruppenthal Hails Progress Of City's 4 Negro Policemen

By DON McKEE

Four Negroes who joined the Montgomery police force May 3 have done satifactory work, Chief G. J. Ruppenthal said yesterday.

"Their work has been all right," he said, "and there has been no complaint made against them so for during the seven weeks they have been working."

The officers are Lee E. Jarrett, Walter L. Jarrett, Willie C. Millen and Arthur G. Worthy.

Only Negro districts are patrolled by the four policeman who ride two to the car. A sergeant has been traveling with each car to supervise the officers during the training period.

Beginning this week, only one sergeant will work with the patrolmen, Ruppenthal said. He will alternate between the two cars during the eight-hour shift from 7 p.m. to 3 a.m.

One pair of Negro policemen patrol the Washington Park area which is bounded by Cleveland Avenue, Fairview Avenue, the Atlantic Coastline Railroad and Day Street.

The other two patrol the Bellaire district which is bounded by Pineleaf and Hall Streets, Carter Hill Road, Decatur Street, Highland Avenue and Houston Street.

Ruppenthal selected the four men from among eight who attended police training school for a week.

The men picked by him were given a week of instruction and practice with firearms at the police shooting range.

When announcement was made to receive applicants, 29 Negroes appield. The four who were chosen have had some college education and good credit standing and were approved by the Montgomery Personnel Board.

In Five Other Alabama Cities

Mobile has added two additional Negro policemen to its force. This is one of the five cities in Alabama to employ Negro policemen. Yet Birmingham, the largest city in this state, has not yet hired any. It is the only Southern city of its population class that has not placed them on its force.

Our leaders have not really organized a campaign for employment of Negro policemen. Nor have they gone so far as to push the suggestion. The Birmingham Interracial Committee has discussed and favored the idea but has not waged a fight for them. That is where the matter stands. This should be a hint to the voters who desire to see Birmingham keep pace, at least, with these five other Alabama cities.

Even Jackson, Mississippi

This does it. Now comes the announcement that Jackson, Mississippi is adding two Negro policemen to its force. This brings to 126 the number of Southern cities using Negro persons as law enforcement agents. Unhappily Birmingham is not in this list.

There is no valid argument which can be advanced for the failure of our city officials to put on Negro policemen. Because, should it be said that there is no money available for it, we can point to the plan used in Montgomery, Alabama where such was done without the addition of any more money. Should the question of recruiting Negro persons for this service, again we point to what the personnel board in Montgomery did to find suitable persons.

Could it be that our city officials just do not want to employ Negro policemen? Or could it be that such organizations as the Birmingham Interracial Committee, the Jefferson County Progressive Democratic Council, the City Federation of Women's Clubs and the Birmingham-Jefferson County Housewives League have all lost interest in getting Negro policemen for Birmingham?

Let's us remind the public that there are 25 Negro persons and similar number of white persons on the Interracial Committee. All of these are supposedly persons of influence, weight and respect. Let us remind them that part of their program calls for getting Negro policemen for Birmingham. The so-called quiet campaign has not accomplished anything concrete in this direction, it seems.

Montgomery Ala. Appoints Negro Police Women

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — (SNS) —Another step in the direction of civic advancement has been taken by the Montgomery City Commission who Sept. 22 announced the appointment of three Negro police to direct traffic near Negro-serving schools.

Appointed were Miss Aline Hodges Thornton, Miss Jimmie Pearl Walton and Miss Mary Christine Johnson.

The announcement was made by Commissioner Dave Birmingham, following nearly an hour long conference with Mayor W. A. Gayle and four women. The policemen are scheduled to begin duty Friday, Oct. 1.

Civic Advancement Symbols

In the South, Negro policemen represent new symbols of civic advancement. For law enforcement itself tends to reflect government that is in a democracy.

Five Alabama cities are among the 126 Southern cities using Negro persons on their police force. Unfortunately, the City of Birmingham, the "Magic City" is not among this number. It is Alabama's largest city and among the important consumer market cities of the South. No other Southern city of the influence, prestige and size of Birmingham is without Negro policemen.

In many ways, the City of Montgomery, is taking the lead in Alabama in the area of sound civic progress. It recently placed three Negro women on its police force to bring its number of Negro law enforcement officers up to seven. It is the first Alabama city to employ Negro women for school traffic purposes. Some 33 Southern cities are now using 117 Negro policewomen.

Much of the credit for the new directions of civic progress in Montgomery must go to Mr. Dave Birmingham, Commissioner of Public Affairs. It has been under his creative civic leadership that this progress is noted. Of course, he naturally must have had the cooperation of the other members of the Montgomery City Commission. Good leadership inspires cooperation.

Let us applaud progress wherever it is made and no matter who makes it. Let us cheer Montgomery on, hoping that one day our city of Birmingham will catch the spirit.

OFFICERS WILLIAM O. POWELL & WALTER P. JACKSON

ONE A TALLADEGA GRAD—Shown above in front of police headquarters building are Patrolmen William O. Powell (left) and Walter Perryman Jackson, who were recently added to the Mobile Police Department. Both took the civil service examination for their appointment as police officers. Powell, a 1940 graduate of Talladega College, made the highest grade among the five officers taking the examination. He is the father of two sons. Jackson's grandfather held a job with the Mobile Police Department for 27 years.

Two Negroes Appointed To Mobile, Ala. Police Force

BY MARCEL HOPSON

MOBILE, Ala.—(S N S) —"This has been my desire from childhood. The chance came and I got it."

"I am most happy to be identified with the Mobile Police department. Not only do I see this appointment as an achievement for myself but a great achievement for all of the people in this area."

These history-making statements respectively came from Officers Walter Perryman Jackson and William O. Powell Sr., who, earlier this month, became the first two members of the Negro group to become members of the Mobile Police department in the history of the gulf city.

ONE HAD HIGHEST GRADE

Jackson and Powell took the civil service examination for appointment as police officers for the City of Mobile. Officer Powell made the highest grade of the five officers taking the examination.

"The members of the City Commission, therefore, appointed these officers (Jackson and Powell) because they were on the list which was eligible for appointment," declared Police Commissioner Joseph N. Langan.

The two uniformed patrolmen began their work on February 1.

IN FOOTSTEPS OF GRANDFATHER

Officer Jackson's childhood desire to become a policeman was inspired by the fact that his grandfather held a job with the Mobile Police department for about 27 years, it was learned.

OUTSTANDING BACKGROUND IN SOCIAL WORK

Officer Powell enters his new employment with a wealth of background experience and knowledge in serving people of all walks of life.

After earning his Master's degree in Social Work at Atlanta University School of Social Work in 1942, he served one and one half years as executive secretary and director of the YMCA-Service Men's Club in Chattanooga, Tenn. Moving to Mobile in 1944 as executive secretary of the Dearborn Street Branch YMCA, he headed this organization for approximately six years, during which time the assets of the organization grew from virtually nothing to some $80,000.

He was promoted to position of associate secretary of the YMCA's Southern Area Council in 1949, and in 1951, he was assigned director of YMCA Work for Negro citizens covering 32 principal cities and embracing eight Southern states.

Officer Powell, born October 20, 1916 in Andalusia, Covington County, Alabama, attended the public school at Andalusia and completed his high school work at Talladega in 1936. He was awarded the A. B. degree from Talladega College in 1940.

He is happily married. The Powells have two sons and presently reside at 1313 Basil Street, Mobile. He is a member of Rho Alpha Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

Besides operating his dry cleaning business which he entered in 1951, Officer Powell worked at the Brookley Air Force Base, Mobile.

OVERSEAS NAVY VETERAN

Officer Jackson, the younger of the two new policemen, was born December 15, 1924, in Mobile, and completed seven years study at the Emmerson School there.

He served for two and one-half years in the United States Navy, putting two years in overseas duty. He was honorably discharged April 2, 1946.

He attended related study at Dunbar High School in Mobile and completed a course as body and fender repairman under the G. I. Bill of Rights. He was also an employe at Brookley Air Force Base.

BIRMINGHAM LAGS: MONTGOMERY AND TUSCALOOSA READY

While a move to ask the Birmingham City Commission to hire Negro policemen was voted down for last Monday morning's commission meeting, the cities of Montgomery and Tuscaloosa announced that they were taking steps to hire Negro policemen.

In Montgomery, Police Commissioner Dave Birmingham said that Negro policemen will be hired in that city within 90 days.

Tuscaloosa Public Safety Commissioner J. F. Livingston, in a statement, February 6, announced that the City Commission has reaffirmed its intention of adding two Negro policemen to the force and such a resolution is now before the Civil Service Commission.

Meanwhile an organized Citizens Group in Birmingham voted unanimously, February 8, to ask the City Commission to add a Special Service Division to the Police Department to investigate cases pertaining to juveniles and offenses against women.

In conjunction with the proposal, the grou pasked that two white and two Negro women special investigators be concluded on the Special Service Division staff; that the persons who are appointed be carefully selected and given special training in understanding the emotional needs of the individuals.

William Mitch, district president of the United Mine Workers of America, counselled the group:

"Birmingham should wake up and face its racial problems of an intelligent manner as has other cities that are using Negro policemen."

Colonel Paul L. Singer, director of police, told the group he approves the Special Service Division, and thought it a wonderful thing, but could not give them any encouragement otherwise.

NOW FOUR ALABAMA CITIES

The employment of Officers Jackson and Powell to the Mobile Police department brings to four the number of cities of Alabama with Negro policemen—all Negro town Hopson City near Anniston; Dothan, and Talladega (a week-end arrangement) being the other three cities.

Some 38 Southern cities now employ Negro law enforcement officers.

Powell and Jackson will patrol the predominantly Negro district. Mobile recently stripped away the racial restrictions around civil service tests.

Commissioners Okay Proposal On Trial Basis

Officers To Patrol, Arrest Only Members Of Their Own Race

By BOB INGRAM

In a precedent shattering action, Mayor W. A. Gayle disclosed yesterday the city plans to employ four Negro policemen within the next few days.

The decision to hire the Negro officers, of historical significance to Montgomery, came after the City Commission unanimously passed a resolution yesterday calling for an increase in the city's operating budget of the year.

Part of this additional revenue will be used in hiring the additional policemen.

"I would like to emphasize," Mayor Gayle said, "that the colored policemen will be screened very carefully by the City Commission. They will be hired on a trial basis."

In Negro Sections

"The Negro officers will be used only in the Negro sections of Montgomery," Gayle continued, "and will arrest colored people. White people will be arrested by colored police only under the most extreme, emergency circumstances."

The mayor said he and his fellow commissioners had studied the problem thoroughly before reaching a decision. He said they found other cities in the South had experienced no difficulty in hiring Negro police.

"I am asking the people of Montgomery, both white and colored, to cooperate with us in this undertaking," Gayle concluded.

Plans For Training

The decision to hire the Negro officers did not catch the Police Department off guard. Police Chief G. J. Ruppenthal said he had already completed plans for the training and use of the four additional men.

"I have already arranged a building where the men will be trained," Ruppenthal said. "They will be given the identical training which is required for all new policemen."

The uniformed Negro officers will work in pairs in patrol cars and will be assigned beats in the Negro sections of the city, Ruppenthal said.

"The Negro officers will work at night, probably from 7 p.m. until 3 a.m., although these plans I have worked out will have to be approved by the City Commission," Ruppenthal said.

Chief's Plans Okay

However, last night Mayor Gayle made it clear Ruppenthal's plans would be acceptable to the commission. "It's his department, and I'm sure the plans he has worked out will be acceptable to us," Gayle declared.

Ruppenthal said the Negro men will be in cars equipped with radios and will be in constant communication with their fellow white officers.

"This way, Negro police will be able to call for assistance should cases arise where white people are involved," the chief said.

Additional Protection

Ruppenthal explained the hiring of the four men will provide additional protection of the city. The Negro officers are not replacing any white policemen, but are merely additions to the force, thus allowing white officers who have previously worked the Negro sections of town to be used elsewhere.

Actually, the hiring of the Negro officers is only one of five undertakings which will be made possible as a result of the budget increase.

Mayor Gayle pointed out with the additional revenue the city would be able to complete four other important undertakings. They are: the completion of the Sixth Street project in North Montgomery; the setting up and operation of the dog control program in compliance with the recently-passed dog ordinance; the construction of a field house at Highland Gardens, and construction of a lighted athletic field at Floyd School.

The Sixth Street project calls for the opening of a through street from Parallel Street to North Court, an approximate distance of three-fourths of a mile. The opening of this street will enable truck traffic to travel east toward Chisholm without driving through the downtown business section.

The field house at Highland Gardens will provide dressing rooms and rest rooms for the children who play in the park. Recommended by the Park and Recreations Board, the construction of the field house will give that section of Montgomery an up-to-date park.

Completion Of Field

The completion of a lighted athletic field at Floyd School will bring to a conclusion a determined drive on the part of the City Commission to give every section of the city such facilities.

All of these projects were made possible through the increase of the city budget. Actually the budget was increased only $11,400, but other revenue has been made available through savings in other departments of the city.

The increase in the budget resulted from a rise in revenue coming in from real and personal property taxes. This is a direct result of Montgomery's current building boom.

"Good management on the part of department heads has resulted in this saving," Mayor Gayle said, "and we intend to put this extra money to good use." The budget was officialy increased from $4,411,060 to $4,422,460

The approval of the budget increase, with its added ramifications, overshadowed the other items of business transacted at the commission meeting.

Request Approved

The commission approved a request by the State Highway Department for blanket authority to close any streets during the widening of Fairview Avenue. The approval was given with one exception—the Highway Department canont simultaneously close Cleveland, Oak and South Court Streets.

First In Montgomery's History

Four Negro Policemen Being Hired By May 1

The city budget has been reshuffled to permit employing four Negro policemen this month.

Police Commissioner Dave Birmingham announced yesterday that four colored patrolmen will be on beats in colored districts by May 1. More are to be employed when the new budget is adopted in October.

"This should make for great improvement in law enforcement and increases respect for the law," Mr. Birmingham said in making the announcement. "They will patrol Negro areas only and will not have power to arrest a white man," he said.

The commissioner had said earlier the city planed to employ six colored policemen this month —the first ever to be hired by the city of Montgomery. Limited funds, however, cut the number to four.

Nearly 30 Negroes have applied for jobs. Nine passed the merit system exam, the same required of white officers. From these nine the four will be chosen. They will undergo extensive training at police headquarters. For the first few days on the beats, they will be accompanied by white policemen who will provide on-the-job training.

• • •

WHEN A COLORED officer feels he must arrest a white man, he will be instructed to call headquarters. A white officer will be sent to make the arrest, Police Chief G. P. Ruppenthal said.

After checking with many of the 87 Southern cities that now employ Negro law officers, Birmingham and Ruppenthal decided to try the system here in an effort to curtail the unusual high crime rate in Negro sections. Both men appear optimistic about the outcome.

Negro officers will wear the same uniform and draw the same salary as white officers.

In other police department news, the commissioner said that all 155 members of the department, including the chief, are taking training and refresher work this month at a special school being held at Gunter AFB.

Last week the traffic division attended. This week and next is being given over to patrolmen. The fourth and final week detectives will attend. The purpose of the school is to stress the "great responsibilities" of being law enforcement officers, as well as to teach better methods, Birmingham said.

Negro Police For Montgomery

Montgomery's Mayor W. A. Gayle announces that his city will employ four Negro policemen to patrol Negro areas "within the next few days."

The Montgomery City Commission reached the decision to use Negroes on the force after studying results in other Southern cities.

Birmingham is the only city of 250,000 or more in the South which does not have Negroes on its force. It is trailing many Alabama cities in this respect. Anniston, Dothan and Talladega have been using Negro policemen for some time. Mobile has changed its civil service regulations to permit employment of Negro officers.

Montgomery, Ala. Will Get Negro Police Soon

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Four Negro city policemen will be hired here in a few days, Mayor W. A. Gayle announced Thursday.

The decision to hire colored officers came after the City Commission unanimously passed a resolution Wednesday calling for an increase in the city's operating budget of the year. Part of this additional revenue will be used in hiring the additional policemen.

STUDIED PROBLEM

Mayor Gale explained that he and his fellow commissioners had studied the problem thoroughly before reaching a decision. He said they found most cities in the South had experienced no difficulty in hiring Negro police.

"I am asking the people of Montgomery, both white and colored, to cooperate with us in this undertaking," Mayor Gayle stated.

"I would like to emphasize that the colored policeman will be screened very carefully by the City Commission. They will be hired on a trial basis.

"The Negro officers will be used only in the Negro sections of Montgomery, and will arrest colored people. White people will be arrested by colored police only under the most extreme, emergency circumstances," Mayor Gayle continued.

TO TRAIN OFFICERS

Police Chief G. J. Ruppenthal said he already completed plans for the training and use of the four additional men.

"I have already arranged a building where the men will be trained," Chief Ruppenthal said. "They will be given the identical training which is required for all new policemen."

"These officers will work at night, probably from 7 p. m. until 3 a. m., although these plans I have worked out will have to be approved by the City Commission," he said.

In An Effort To Stop 'Blood-Letting'

Six Negro Policemen To Be Placed On City Force Within Three Months

Negro districts of the city will be patrolled by Negro policemen within the next three months, Police Commissioner Dave Birmingham told the Examiner this week.

This new practice is being adopted by the police department in an effort to curb the "extremely high" Negro crime incidence here.

Initially, six Negroes are to be hired. Eventually the police department plans to put about a dozen on the force.

"These Negro policemen," Birmingham emphasized, "are to patrol Negro districts only and will not have the authority to arrest a white man. If an occasion arises wherein a colored policeman feels he must arrest a white man, he will be instructed to radio or call headquarters and a white officer will come to make the arrest."

ACCORDING to Police Chief G. J. Ruppenthal, Negroes selected for the jobs will be given extensive training at police headquarters before being put on a beat. And for the first few days out, they will be accompanied by supervisors who will provide on-the-job training.

The Negroes are to wear the same uniform and receive the same salary as white policemen. A rookie begins at $200 a month.

Personnel Director Wade Moss said his office could supply the new policemen on a month's notice. Applicants, 28 to 40 years old, will be required to take a written examination.

Hiring the new policemen will not increase the police department's payroll Negroes will be added to the department as vacancies occur. At present there are two vacancies and Mr. Birmingham expects to have about four other vacancies in the next three months through normal personnel turnover.

MR. BIRMINGHAM said he and Chief Ruppenthal were sold on the idea of hiring Negroes after having written police chiefs in a dozen leading southern cities for their opinion. "Every city we checked gave favorable reports," the chief said, "and we believe this is the one sure way to curtail crime in Negro areas."

Eighty-seven Southern cities are now employing Negro law officers. Montgomery will be the fourth Alabama city to adopt the practice.

Two Negro Policemen Employed By Mobile

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 22 (AP)—William O. Powell and Walter P. Jackson were hired today to become the first full-time Negro policemen in the city's history.

They will go on the city payroll Feb. 1. After a training period they will be assigned to law enforcement duties in the Davis Avenue Negro section of the city.

Mobile Hires First Negro Policemen

MOBILE, Jan. 22 (AP)—The City of Mobile hired its first two Negro policemen today.

The new patrolmen, William O. Powell and Walter P. Jackson, will be assigned to law enforcement duties in areas occupied predominantly by Negroes.

They were among five new patrolmen appointed by the City Commission.

Powell and Jackson were on a list of personnel certified by the Mobile County Personnel Board for appointment under the county's civil service system.

The personnel board recently opened its examinations for patrolmen and other county jobs to Negroes as well as whites. Previously all examinations were restricted to whites.

Mobile Employs Two Policemen

MOBILE, Ala. — Mobile became the first large city in Alabama to employ Negro police officers when William O. Powell and Walter P. Jackson were assigned to patrol duty in the Davis area last Monday.

Police Chief [illegible] McFadyen said the city had intended to appoint seven Negro policemen to begin work last week, but that Powell and Jackson were the only two persons to qualify. About 16 Negroes took the exam.

Negro Policemen For Mobile

Another Alabama city has stepped out in front of Birmingham. Congratulations to the City of Mobile for adding two Negro patrolmen to its police force. Patrolmen William O. Powell and Walter P. Jackson were scheduled to begin duty yesterday.

Lack of money cannot be used as a valid reason for Birmingham's failure to add Negro policemen. In Montgomery without the creation of new funds a plan was worked out to place Negro officers on the force. It is simply to fill new vacancies with Negro officers until the number to be hired has been reached.

Some 88 Southern cities have Negro police officers. Birmingham is the South's only major city without them.

One thing, our authentic leadership has not gone to bat for Negro police officers as they should, it seems to us. The Birmingham Interracial Committee is on record advocating their employment. The Jefferson County Progressive Democratic Council has shown an interest in seeing employment of Negro policemen.

Birmingham must still play catch-up. It should be the other way as the state's biggest, most powerful, and most important city.

Mobile Gets Two Negro Policemen, Montgomery Next

MOBILE, Ala.—Mobile has become Alabama's first major city to add Negro policemen to its force.

Two uniform patrolmen—William O. Powell and Walter P. Jackson—began work Monday, Feb. 1.

This brings to four the number of cities in Alabama with Negro policemen—all-Negro town Hopson City, Dothan, and Talladega (a week-end arrangement) being the other three cities.

Some Southern cities now employ Negro law enforcement officers.

Powell and Jackson were among the five police officers hired who successfully passed a civil service test. They will patrol the predominantly Negro district. Mobile recently stripped away the racial restrictions around civil service tests.

In Montgomery, Ala., Police Commissioner Dave Birmingham has said that Negro policemen will be hired in that city within ninety days.

In Birmingham, a citizens interracial committee organized to help combat juvenile delinquency, alcoholism and related problems recommended the employment of two Negro and two white women police officers or investigators.

However, the city officials have made no recent statement with reference to putting on Negro policemen. The Birmingham Interracial Committee of the Jefferson County Coordinating Council for Social Forces has repeatedly urged that Negro policemen be placed on the law enforcement staff.

Two Negro Policemen Seen For Tuscaloosa

TUSCALOOSA, ALA.— (SNS)— The Alabama Citizen, Black Belt weekly, said here last week that the Tuscaloosa "City Commission has reaffirmed its intention of adding two Negro policemen to the force."

The citizen added that such a resolution is now before the civic Service Commission, Public Safety Commissioner J. F. Livington states.

Added the Citizen: "As first prescribed, these officers will have their headquarters at the Community Center. A section of the Gulf State Swimming Pool bath house has been designated for this purpose."

Mobile on February 1 placed Negro policemen on its force. Montgomery is expected to have at least six by the end of April.

Negro Policemen For Tuscaloosa

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. Feb. 15,—(Special) — The Alabama Citizen Black Belt Weekly, said here last week that the Tuscaloosa "City Commission has reaffirmed its intention of adding two Negro policemen to the force."

The citizen added that "such a resolution is now before the civic Service Commission, Public Safety Commissioner J. F. Livingston States.

Added the Citizen: "As first prescribed, these officers will have their headquarters at the Community Center. A section of the Gulf State Swimming Pool bath house has been designated for this purpose."

Mobile on February 1 placed Negro Policemen on its force, Montgomery is expected to have at least six by the end of April.

MOBILE POLICEMEN—Patrolmen W. O. Powell, left, and Walter Jackson are shown on the steps of Mobile's (Ala.) beautiful police building. They were the first Negro officers hired after the racial restriction clause was lifted from the examination.

Except Birmingham

Alabama Cities Add Negro Police

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Since September, 1953, twelve different cities in the South have added a total of twenty-three law enforcement officers.

Among the latest cities to join the growing number of Dixie cities with Negro policemen, is Mobile, Ala. Two other cities—Montgomery and Tuscaloosa—are expected to add them this year.

Birmingham is the South's only major city which is lagging in this respect.

It is Alabama's first city in size, resources, prestige and power. Nearly half of its population is of the Negro group. Yet it lags behind Dothan, Hobson City, Talladega and Mobile with respect to giving Negro citizens a hand in its protection.

* * *

RECORDS RELEASED by the Southern Regional Council, Atlanta, shows that there are 121 Southern towns employing Negro policemen and twenty counties using Negro deputy sheriffs.

In these cities and counties there are a total of 554 Negro uniformed policemen, eighty-nine plainclothesmen and 102 policemen.

Some media have been using the incorrect figure of "eighty-eight Southern cities with Negro policemen." This was short of the actual number as listed by SRC. These figures have been gathered by Miss Anna Holden, SRC research assistant.

HERE IS the list of cities which have placed Negro law enforcement officers since the September, 1953, SRC survey:

Mobile, Ala., two uniformed policemen; Belle Glade, Fla., two uniformed policemen; Athens, Ga., four policewomen school); Dalton, Ga., two uniformed policemen; Griffin, Ga., one policewoman (school); Rock Mart, Ga., one uniformed policeman; Thomasville, Ga., three policewomen (school); St. Landry Parish, La., one deputy sheriff; Shawnee, Okla., one uniformed policeman; Manning, S. C., one uniformed policeman; Spartanburg, S. C., four policewomen, and Bexar County, Tex., one deputy sheriff.

April 1 Is Date Set For Employing Negro Policemen

April 1 is the present target date for hiring Negro policemen in Montgomery.

Police Commissoiner Dave Birmingham said this week that the city budget will be readjusted April 1, that being the midway point of the fiscal year. When that readjustment is made, he expects to shift the surplus monies to the personnel department to be used for Negro policemen's salaries.

Birmingham is making plans to initially hire five colored patrolmen. It will be the first time Montgomery has ever employed Negroes on its police force.

Applicants will be required to pass the same merit system examination given white policemen, will wear the same uniform and be paid at the same rate. Their power to arrest, however, will be limited to Negroes, Birmingham said.

The decision to put colored lawmen on the city force was made in an effort to curb the high crime rate in Negro areas.

Negro Police For Montgomery

The final decision to hire Negro policemen for Montgomery is wise. It should have been done years ago. There is nothing but good, sound municipal practice in the move, as proven by the findings in upwards of 90 Southern cities already employing Negro police.

For some time many people have fallen back on the argument that, since most of the city's crimes occur among the Negro population, what is obviously needed is more respect for the law, not less. To replace white police in Negro areas lessen the respect and consequently increase the crime rate, the argument went.

The error in this kind of thinking is that respect is confused with fear. It may be true that Negroes fear a white cop more than they would a Negro. But that is just the point. Citizens, be they white or black, are more inclined to obey the law when they believe the law and the men enforcing it are just. Fear and resentment breed lawlessness.

It cannot be questioned that in years past here, as elsewhere, local police have needlessly bullied Negroes on occasions. Apparently, this situation has improved somewhat in recent years. But still there is the natural resentment by Negro citizens that the guardian of the law in their community is not one of them, but an outsider. Perhaps much of this resentment was uncalled for. Perhaps many Negroes were overly sensitive about being "dominated" by white cops.

But whatever the reason for it, there is a distinct point of friction where the white community of Montgomery extends its police force into the Negro community. In a city which prides itself, as Montgomery does, in the good relations between the races, it is surprising that this should have been tolerated as long as it was.

The findings in other Southern cities give every reason to expect that the employment of Negroes in Negro sections will be reflected in a lowered crime rate. There is no way of knowing how much trouble might have been avoided in the past if the plan had been put in effect long ago.

DETECTIVE — Sgt. A. J. Miller of Nassau visited Miami recently following the completion of an advanced course at Scotland Yard in London. The sergeant, a member of the Nassau Criminal Investigation Division, received a grade of 87.8, and received special commendations for his exceptional work from the commissioner of police and acting governor of Nassau. —Adams Photo.

33 1954

CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles Firemen Try Barring NAACP Lawyers From Integration Hearing

33 Calif

Los Angeles, Cal.—The weight of 600 brawny City firemen, planted against the door of the Fire Commission hearing room October 8, barred lawyers for the NAACP from the hearing for more than a half an hour, and turned the Los Angeles Fire Commission Building into a seething cauldron of racial tension.

Comments were heard on all sides in the chamber of "It can happen here," just as "it's" shameful racial outbreaks, had been happening in Baltimore, Md. and other Dixie cities all week as valiant Negro school children pressed forward in their determination to exercise their constitutional right to enjoy integrated public education.

The disturbance took place at 9 a.m. as NAACP attorneys Edward

Sought Admittance

Carter Maddox, Herbert Simmons, Thomas G. Neusom, Ca. Earles, and Jack Tenner presented themselves for admission to the chamber where Maddox planned to read a statement, calling for immediate transfer of firemen from jim crow stations 14 and 30 to other stations about the city, and the transfer of white firemen to the two all-Negro stations.

But for the firemen's lack of imagination in admitting a white lawyer, who was not recognized as a co-counsel for the NAACP, the NAACP lawyers would never have been admitted at all.

Hero of the skirmish was Tenner, who after gaining admission, told the Fire Commission of the barricade against his fellow attorneys.

In an ironic twist to the incident, the Commission instructed Fire Chief John Alderson, who has stubbornly refused to integrate the Department, to go out and escort the Negro lawyers in. Alderson did.

Pushed Back

The attorneys said that every time they tried to push their way to the door, they were pushed back; but that a way was cleared for white people to enter the chamber.

The incident called out not only the Police Department to quell the riot, but the Fire Prevention Bureau, which had to call to the attention of the Alderson forces that they were violating their own law in blocking the passageway.

With this warning and the arrival of police, the disturbance was put down.

While there may have been individual policemen in the mob, police spokesmen emphasied that the Alderson forces have no supporters in the Police Department officially.

Policemen present, even plain clothesmen, were on duty, called to keep the peace, officials stated.

L. A. Firemen Bar Lawyers

See Front Page

After gaining entry to the hearing room, the NAACP attorneys heard a motion by Richard Yeaman, Poulson-appointed president of the board, calling for an immediate transfer by Chief Alderson of such Negro personnel from 14 and 30 as was necessary to desegregate it. The motion failed for want of a second.

A second motion, to abandon the public hearings on the issue, was voted.

Their action interpreted as unsympathetic to the cause of racial integration and in support of Alderson, and a complete route of Mayor Poulson's instructions to integrate the department, the Commissioners were given by Mayor Poulson until Nov. 1 to comply, or be fired.

Fire Chief Agrees to 'Gradual' Integration

Courier, Pittsburgh, Pa. p. 5

LOS ANGELES—At long last Fire Chief John S. Alderson notified the Fire Commission on Friday that he will carry out its orders to integrate colored and white firemen—but he will do it "gradually."

Alderson informed the commission:

"By your order to integrate Negroes and whites in the department, you have placed me in a responsible position, but you must stipulate that this is to be a gradual process.

"The first consideration is the welfare of the people of Los Angeles. Secondly, the welfare of the Fire Department as a unit of city government," Alderson declared.

The chief said it would take about "thirty days" to get the program of integration started.

33 1954

CALIFORNIA

Police Commissioner Makes Appointments

LOS ANGELES—(ANP)—Greasping the opportunity to place two members of the race in positions where they could be of aid to minority groups, Herbert A. Greenwood, only Negro member of the Los Angeles Police commission, last week appointed George Bryant, insurance broker and Erskine Ragland, able young attorney, as housing examiners.

They will serve to December 1955, after which they may be reappointed.

Both men are outstanding citizens, successful in their professions and well able to fulfill their important duties. Bryant is active able in religious circles, having placed a spiritual singing choir, the Crusaders, on the air. Greenwood was appointed to the police commission when Dr. J. A. Somerville resigned last year.

Vote To Force Chief To Integrate Fire Department

Daily World Atlanta Ga. Wed. 11-3-54

LOS ANGELES—(ANP)— Three of this city's fire commissioners voted last week to compel fire chief John Alderson to end segregation in the city's fire department or fire him if he refuses.

Another commissioner, C. F. Joselyn, voted against the mayor's order while a fifth, Robert F. Day, was out of town.

Howard Yesman, commission president; W. H. Loller, vice president and Milton J. Brock were the three voting to expedite Mayor Norris Poulson's order.

ALL STATIONS

Mayor Poulson had ordered the commissioners to make the adamant fire chief integrate Negroes into all stations in the city or resign.

Alderson has successfully evaded for two months, orders by the commissioner and the mayor to integrate the stations.

The NAACP launched the fight to compel the city to integrate Negro firemen, now housed primarily in two stations within the confines of predominantly Negro sections of Los Angeles.

L. A. Mayor Hands Down Anti-Jim Crow Edict To Fire Department

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—(ANP) Mayor Norris Poulson handed down an edict to the city fire commissioner telling him in no uncertain terms that assignments to fire stations in the city must be made without reference to race.

There are 81 Negro firemen out of a total of some 2,600 on the city's payroll. Seventy-five stationed at two stations within the confines of the Negro sections. All the personnel at the two stations are Negroes.

The mayor has asked the fire commission to remedy the situation through "administrative decision."

Die-Hards Start Recall Move

Integrate, Mayor Tells Fire, Police Departments

Journal & Guide p. 1 Sat. 10-6-54

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—A group of Los Angeles police and firemen is threatening to launch a recall campaign against Mayor Norris Poulson if he persists in his demand that segregation of Negro members of the fire department be halted immediately.

The threat was hurled at the mayor Thursday after he gave members of the fire commission until the first of next month to integrate Negro firemen with the rest of the department.

THE MAYOR declared that unless "this serious problem" was solved by the first of the month, "in conformance with the laws of this land," he would "ask the City Council to approve the removal of any commissioner or commissioners who are blocking an orderly conclusion of this matter."

The city has about 70 Negro firemen. All except about five of them are assigned to two stations in the city's main Negro district.

THE COMMISSION met Thursday to consider a demand by Poulson that it issue a definite order to Fire Chief John Alderson that he integrate the Negroes and that it fire him if he refused to carry out the order.

While some 400 off-duty white firemen cheered, the commission stalled on the issue, taking no definite action.

THE THREAT to try to recall the mayor was contained in a letter issued by a police and fire department "recall committee."

It accused Poulson of trying to "disgrace and humiliate" Alderson and warned:

"If there is any further interference from Mayor Poulson, we shall be forced to start immediate recall proceedings."

Jim Crow Bows

Order L. A. Fire Dept. Integrated

Courier Pittsburgh Pa. 11-6-54

LOS ANGELES—The death knell of old jim crow in the Los Angeles Fire Department was finally sounded last Friday after the Board of Commissioners voted to outlaw segregated practices.

It was a magnificent victory for Mayor Poulson and the NAACP when the commission, by a 3-1 vote, ordered Fire Chief John Alderson to proceed with gradual integration of firemen throughout the entire department.

THE ONE DISSENTING vote came from a commissioner who opposed it because he claimed it had been agreed not to vote on this controversial issue until all five members of the commission were present. One commissioner was out of town.

The failure, however, to include a date to start integration, in the opinions of NAACP Attys. Herbert Simmons Jr. and Edward Maddox, is "fraught with danger, which is compounded by placing the administration of the order in the hands of Fire Chief Alderson, whose arrogance and bigotry have stamped him as an unfit administrator."

Transfer two Negro fire fighters to white stations

Integration of the Los Angeles Fire Department has begun.

Two veteran Negro firemen, solemnly aware of the responsibility which has been placed upon them, but confident that things will go smoothly, and a "year from now you won't know what the shooting was all about", commenced to work this week in previously all-white fire houses in San Fernando.

The news was a close-guarded 'scoop', given the Tribune in confidence by a white fireman sympathetic to integration Tuesday morning.

It was confirmed by Captain Conlin, of the Fire Dept.'s public relations office. However, the executive said he had "no official information" on it, but had merely heard it "by the grapevine".

He advised the Tribune to wait until Thursday morning and the Fire Commission meeting when a formal announcement will be made.

The Tribune deadline had been moved up, however, because of the New Year holiday; and it could not wait, but had to go to press with the information, no matter how sketchy.

Although they were reluctant to talk without official permission, both John T. Rhetta, 17-year-veteran, and George Winchester, who has been some 10 years with the department, confirmed the fact that they had been transferred.

They were assigned to Engine 78 in Coldwater Canyon. Rhetta was transferred Wednesday from the all-Negro unit, No. 30 at 14th and Central; Winchester Thursday from Engine No. 14 at 34th and Central.

Not even the members of Rhetta's family knew of the transfer. His mother, Mrs. Elmyra Rhetta, of 345 W. 66th st., a well-spoken woman with four living children who was once active in civil rights matters, regretted that her son would have to travel so far to go to work; but thought he would do his best to make the integration step a successful one.

Both men were obviously chosen for their balance and inteligence. In addition, Rhetta is something of a philosopher.

Even a provincial issue like integrating the Los Angeles Fire Dept., he sees as part of the "worldwide" struggle of depressed people for recognition of their basic human-ness.

He said the world is "at a crossroads", and each has to do what he can to demonstrate that people can "live together". Rhetta said he would apply his best efforts to what he is called upon to do.

Winchester felt confident of the ultimate outcome of integration.

Rhetta was reared in Los Angeles and educated at Jefferson high and Los Angeles junior college. The family comes from Alabama.

He has a grown daughter, and one grandson of whom he is very proud. He lives on the Westside and his hobbies are chess and construction. He plays the former at the stationhouse, where several of his working mates are devotees, and he has built a house by himself at the rear of his home.

He will miss his working buddies at 14th and Central, he said. "It's like a marriage, you know", he said, describing the intimacy of the men's lives when on duty.

LANIER D. TEMPLE (top photo) lieutenant of of the Alameda County Sheriff's Department in Oakland, Calif., succeeds retired Capt. William D. Terry as chief of the jail division. First Negro to hold this position, Temple began with the department in 1931 and has civil service positions of jailer, senior deputy, detective and lieutenant. His new appointment was effective in January of this year. In the lower photo Temple checks incoming reports with on-duty deputies Lowell H. Keck (left) and Eugene Saper.

SAN FRANCISCO'S NEW DEPUTY CITY ATTORNEY TAKES OATH.—Dion Holm (left), San Francisco city attorney, administers the oath of office to his newly appointed deputy city attorney, Raymond J. Reynolds, (center) in the presence of an outstanding community leader, Dr. William McKinley Thomas, a practicing physician in San Francisco and chairman of the board of the Trans-Bay Federal Savings and Loan association. Reynolds is a native of Topeka, Kas., a graduate of Washburn college and of the Washburn law school in Topeka. He is former president of the San Francisco branch of the NAACP, a member of the law firm of Adams and Reynolds and is an outstanding church and civic leader in the Bay area. He is married to Mrs. Diantha Reynolds, a school teacher, also formerly of Topeka, Kas. They have a daughter, Patricia. Dr. Thomas is formerly of Leavenworth, Kas.

Negro Firemen Serve In Two All-Race Outfits

LOS ANGELES—(ANP)—Howard J. Callanan, president of the Fire Commission and final witness before Superior Court Commissioner Clinton Redda, testified that there is racial segregation, but not discrimination in the Los Angeles Fire Department.

He stated that the segregation policy meets his approval because "it works for the best interests of the city."

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People seeks to end the jimcrow set up whereby about 80 Negro firemen serve in two all Negro fire stations. Under these conditions, they have little chance for promotion.

Callanan insisted that the practice is not discrimination "because the two stations in question have better than average buildings and facilities."

He further claimed the commission had received 1,700 letters from white firemen protesting the end of segregation and threatening to resign if such action was taken by the commission.

Callanan was asked if the letters were solicited by an assistant to Fire Chief John H. Alderson. The fire board president (Callanan) answered he "had no knowledge of that" and though he didn't think such a procedure proper, he added, "I see no objection to it."

In an earlier part of the hearing, Fire Chief John Alderson testified that the assignment of Negro personnel to all-Negro stations was no accident. Last month, Alderson testified the segregation policy has his complete approval.

The NAACP plans to continue the fight to end the present segregation policy.

Spokesmen of the NAACP say they will seek a conference with Mayor Norris Poulson who met with the commission last Jan. 7 and asked that the fire commission put an end to jimcrow "in the next six months."

(Under questioning Callanan admitted the matter had been shelved).

The next step planned by the NAACP is to ask the City Attorney to rule on the legal aspect of the fire department's policies.

If these measures fail, the NAACP plans court action.

The attorneys in the hearing held last week were Attys. Herbert Simmons and Edward Maddox.

L. A. Official Upholds Bias

LOS ANGELES (ANP) — Howard J. Callanhan, president of the Fire Commission and final witness before Superior Court Commissioner Clinton Rodda, testified that there is racial segregation, but not discrimination in the Los Angeles Fire Department.

He stated that the segregation policy meets his approval because it "works for the best interest of the city."

The NAACP seeks to end the jim-crow set-up whereby about eighty Negro firemen serve in two all-Negro fire stations. Under these conditions, they have little chance for promotion.

CALLAHAN INSISTED that the practice is not discrimination "because the two stations in question have better than average buildings and facilities."

He further claimed that the commission had received 1,700 letters from white firemen protesting the end of segregation practices and threatening to resign if such action was taken by the commission.

Los Angeles Fire Department Head Holds to Jim Crow

LOS ANGELES. — (ANP) — Howard J. Callanan, president of the Fire Commission and final witness before Superior Court Commissioner Clinton Rodda, testified that there is racial segregation, but not discrimination in the Los Angeles Fire Department.

He stated that the segregation policy meets his approval because "it works for the best interests of the city."

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People seeks to end the jimcrow set up whereby about 80 Negro firemen serve in two all Negro fire stations. Under these conditions, they have little chance for promotion.

Callanan insisted that the practice is not discrimination "because the two stations in question have better than average buildings and facilities."

He further claimed the commission has received 1,700 letters from white firemen protesting the end of segregation practices and threatening to resign if such action was taken by the commission.

Callanan was asked if the letters were solicited by an assistant to Fire Chief John H. Alderson. The fire board president (Callanan) answered he "had no such knowledge of that" and though he didn't think such a procedure propero, he added, "I see no objection to it."

In an earlier part of the hearing, Fire Chief John Alderson testified that the assignment of Negro personnel to all-Negro stations was no accident. Last month, Alderson testified the segregation policy has his complete approval.

The NAACP plans to continue the fight to end the present segregation policy.

Spokesmen of the NAACP say they will seek a confeernce with Mayor Norris Poulson who met with the commission last Jan. 7 and asked that the fire commission put an end to jimcrow "in the next six months."

(Under questioning Callanan admitted the matter had been shelved.)

The next stop planned by the NAACP is to ask the City Attorney to rule on the legal aspect of the fire department's policies.

If these measures fail, the N. A. A. C. P. plans court action.

The attorneys in the hearing held last week were Attys. Herbert Simmons and Edward Maddox.

Race Bias Test Asked In Fire Appointments

The Federation of Civic Associations last night urged the District Commissioners to reject any candidate for executive or administrative position in the Fire Department who has indicated racial bias.

The Federation also urged cooperation of its member associations with all other civic and citizens' groups to prepare for eventual integration of the present civic and citizens' associations.

Approval of actions by the District Commissioners, the Police Department and School Supt. Hobart M. Corning during the recent school disturbances was voted on motions by George Butler, vice president.

Support of a National Capital Housing Authority project adjacent to Area B in Southwest was urged, and a committee appointed to appear at a hearing on the project.

The group indorsed the guidance program of the Washington Urban League after hearing Lisle Carter of the league tell of opportunities for Negroes in engineering, electronics and other specialized occupations.

Dr. C. Herbert Marshall, president, conducted the meeting in the board room of the District Building.

Union Firemen Vote to Appeal Integration

Seek Delay for Consultation With D. C. Committees

About 600 of the city's firemen, said to represent some two-thirds of their union, have voted unanimously to appeal to the House and Senate District Committees to stop the Commissioners' order authorizing racial integration of the department.

At a meeting in Odd Fellows' Hall, 419 Seventh street N.W., dayside firemen last night passed a resolution which also called for organization of a committee to study ways and means of stopping the measure from altogether becoming effective. Earlier in the day, nightside firemen had also voted unanimously along these lines. It was decided that legal counsel will be employed in seeking a solution amenable to the firemen.

They are among the city from the District who belong to Local 36, International Association of Fire Fighters, according to Capt. George E. Tacey,, president of the local. Total membership of the department is about 1,050, of which 110 men are colored.

Lower Morale Seen.

The officer who presided at the meeting, which was closed to the press, said at its conclusion that "we have one of the most efficient fire departments in the country, and to integrate would lower morale with resulting loss of efficiency."

The resolution, read at both meetings, said Local 36 goes on record as opposing the Commissioners' order of August 19 calling for integration of white and Negro firemen.

It urged the Commissioners and Fire Chief Millard H. Sutton to stay the order until the return to the city of the members of the House and Senate District Committees. This was so "that all concerned may benefit of the wise counsel of these congressional members, who under the usual course of events share the responsibility of governing the District of Columbia."

This means, in effect, according to Capt. Tracy and Lt. Alvin E. Davis, the union's legislative representative, that the opposition is being deferred until January, 1955, when Congress returns.

Committee Named.

The union's Committee on Segregation has been selected by the group "to engage local counsel for the purpose of assisting in carrying out their duties."

The association, the resolution said, also "shall use every facility at hand, including among others, newspaper advertising, for the purpose of setting aside this order for integration of white and Negro fire-fighters."

The committee is composed of the following: W. H. Stuart, F. H. Williamson, H. I. Dove, S. G. Thomas, E. R. Brandt, W. I. Wagener, P. B. Grisso and H. A. Lang; also Capt. Tacey, Lt. Davis and D. J. Devine.

The meeting last night was told that, if the integration order is carried out before Congress returns, another meeting of the local will be held.

Chief Sutton is under the Commissioners' orders to end segregation by October 30 and to report on the steps being taken to execute the order. The Commissioners acted in line with President Eisenhower's policy of banning racial discrimination here.

CAPITAL'S FIREMEN FIGHT END OF BIAS

Association Takes Full-Page Ad; Sees Lower Efficiency in Forced Integration

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—The uneventful start of racial integration yesterday in this city's public schools is not being duplicated by the District of Columbia Fire Department, now under orders to end segregation practices.

Firemen were exempted when the District Commissioners, in November, 1953, ordered nondiscrimination in city government. Last month, however, the exemption was canceled by the commissioners.

The Firemen's Association, which yesterday sent its Segregation Committee to Commissioner Samuel Spencer to protest the cancellation, today placed a full-page advertisement in The Washington Star to make its protest public.

Addressed as "An Open Letter to President Eisenhower and the District of Columbia Commissioners," the advertisement had for its main slogan "Let's Not Discriminate in the Name of Non-Discrimination."

"Firemen don't just work together; they sleep, eat, live together as no other District Government workers do," the advertisement said.

Blow to Morale Seen

"There is no discrimination in the Fire Department in so far as appointments, working conditions, promotion and retirement are concerned. Forced integration of men who have to live together as wel as work together can serve no purpose other than lowering morale and efficiency."

Capt. G. E. Tacey, who signed the "open letter" as president of the Firemen's Association, said following its publication that the association of 870 members had voted to pay for the advertisement, which had been worded by its segregation committee. He said the department numbered 1050, of which 110 are Negro.

Captain Tacey said that the committee had been accompanied to Commissioner Snepcer's office by Col. Frank Collins, vice president of the Federation of Citizens' Associations, which earlier had sought to stop public school integration by injunction. The president of the Firemen's Association added that his group might seek a restraining order as its next step.

Eugene Davidson, president of the local group of the National Association of Advancement of Colored People, sent Commissioner Spencer a telegram urging him to "stand firm" integration order for firemen.

Union and Firemen Differ on Success of Racial Integration

A Fire Department spokesman yesterday said integration at firehouses is progressing satisfactorily, but a spokesman for the AFL Firefighters' Association said the plan is "not working."

Fire Capt. Charles Wolz told members of the President's Committee on Government Contracts, an anti-discrimination group, there have been no incidents since 14 Negro firemen were shifted to formerly all-white fire companies last week.

He said some of the firemen were probaly getting the "silent treatment" but predicted that the men would be absorbed into the companies when the "first hot fire" is fought.

But Fire Sergt. William H. Steuart, chairman of the Segregation Committee of Local 36 of the AFL union, said "integration is not working in the companies concerned.

". . . There is an apparent tension in the companies involved and the men appear to be passively resisting the integration," he said. He added that no "incidents" have occurred.

The Government Contracts Committee adopted a resolution directed to the national AFL in which it declared that Local 36 had been "less than helpful" in the implementation of the District Commissioners' order to end segregation in the Fire Department.

Fire Dept. Bias Curb in D. C. Hailed

From the Herald Tribune Bureau

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—A resolution commending the District of Columbia commissioners on their progress in racial integration of the Fire Department here was adopted today by the President's Committee on Government Contracts.

The committee acted after hearing from Capt. Charles Waltz, of the District Fire Department, an explanation of his department's position on desegregation, which was ordered by the D. C. commissioners Sept. 17. Since then, he said, fourteen surplus Negro firemen have been transferred from all-Negro stations to white stations throughout the city.

So far, he reported, no incidents have resulted from these transfers, despite objections expressed by Fire Fighters Union Local 36, an A. F. L. affiliate. Taking note that the local had been "somewhat less than helpful" in carrying out the orders of the D. C. commissioners, the President's committee directed that the attention of the national Firemen's Union be called to the local's attitude.

Advisers to President

The resolution adopted by the committee, which is an advisory aid to the President and has been concerned with the ending of segregation in the capital as part of his general policy of bringing an end to segregation throughout the country, was introduced by Mrs. Helen Rogers Reid, chairman of the board of the New York Herald Tribune, a member of the group.

The resolution said "That the committee was gratified and congratulated the commissioners of the District of Columbia and the Fire Department on the signal measure they have taken in integrating the fire department in order to carry out the ending of segregation in the nation's capital."

Transit Setup Topic

At today's meeting, which was presided over by vice-chairman J. Ernest Wilkens, Assistant Secretary of Labor, in the absence of the chairman, Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, the committee also heard from officials of the district Public Utilities Commission on its integration negotiations with the Capital Transit Co. of Washington.

The commission chairman, Robert E. McLaughlin, and Commissioner Robert M. Weston were unhappy with the attitude so far shown by the company. In July, they told the committee, a memorandum of understanding was reached between the company and the Public Utilities Commission in which the company undertook, in return for being allowed to pay a dividend and other things, to take steps to bring about the integration of its motormen. The commissioners had thus far had two meetings with the company and held a third this afternoon with regard to this integration, but so far no agreement has been reached.

33 1954

D.C.

Integration orderly, says Fire Dept. head

Afro-American Baltimore, Md.

Sat. 11-6-54

WASHINGTON

Fire Chief Millard Sutton predicted a smooth and orderly future for integration in the D.C. Fire Department this week "if the gentlemen just leave us alone."

P. 12

Chief Sutton's statement followed a report to the D.C. Commissioners in which he said that no incidents had marred the first month during which white and colored firemen have been assigned to the same stations.

ASKED ABOUT reports of silent treatment reportedly accorded colored firemen assigned to previously all white companies, Chief Sutton said that no official reports had been received.

Until we receive such reports, he said, no action is contemplated by the department. I am sure that we will make out all right if the gentlemen just leave us alone and keep us out of the papers.

— o O o —

SEGREGATION in the D. C. Fire Department was ordered ended by the Commissioners in a directive handed down on August 30.

Despite the opposition of individual white firemen and Local 36 of the AFL International Fire Fighters Association, 18 colored firemen from previously all colored stations were assigned to other houses.

Commissioner Samuel Spencer, president of the D. C. Board of Commissioners, said that Chief Sutton's report indicated a belief that the Department would be better off in the future because of the new policy.

For Outstanding Service

Fireman Bonds Got His Man, This Time as Policeman

Evening Star P. A-18

Washington, D.C.

Sun. 12-14-54

For Fire Department Pvt. Maceo Bonds, 37, valor is no new virtue.

In February, 1951, he was credited with pulling a woman out of a fire in the first block of Sixteenth street S.E.

In August, 1953, a different kind of emergency arose. In the 2000 block of Thirteenth street N.W., he noticed a man break the front left window of a car and, after spending a few minutes in the car, walk away.

The fireman, becoming a policeman for the moment, decided to follow. A short distance away, at Twelfth and U streets N.W., the man broke into another auotomobile and this time removed some golf balls and a pair of scissors.

MACEO BONDS.

Pvt. Bonds lost no time notifying policemen passing in a cruiser, and they made a quick arrest.

Further investigation proved the suspect also had broken into a third car and taken from it a registration card belonging to the owner.

The card and the stolen articles proved sufficient evidence for the successful prosecution of Earl Simpkins, 27, colored, of the first block of S street N.W. He was tried and convicted of all three counts.

Capt. Noble O. Teates, Pvt. Bonds' superior officer in Engine Company 7, recommended an award for the fireman as a result of his good police work. He was one of those whose names were placed in nomination for awards.

Another who nominated him was Battalion Chief G. L. Darling, chairman of the Board of Awards.

D. C. Firemen Protest Integration Order

WASHINGTON — Announcement by District Commissioner Samuel Spencer that the D. C. Fire department will be integrated within a matter of months touched off a new series of violent protests from white firemen and threats to enlist the support of Southern congressmen to back the pattern of segregation.

Local 36 of the International Association of Fire fighters said that it would use the same tactics to block integration.

However, Fire Chief Millard Sutton commented, "If that's what he (Spencer) wants, of course they can tell us what to do."

Two months ago, the Commissioners ordered an end to racial discrimination in the Capital, but exempted the fire department from the order. The original proposal to integrate was scuttled on Capitol hill. The matter has been hanging fire for more than two years.

James Donohue William Sanford Herman Payne

Three heroic Washington Policemen given awards at a luncheon of the Board of Trade.

Preventive Work Stressed

Race Relations Guide Issued to D. C. Police

By Eve Edstrom
Staff Reporter

The District's entire police force yesterday was charged with the responsibility of undertaking "preventive police work in the field of race relations."

In issuing "A Guide to Understanding Race and Human Relations" for use of all the city's men in blue, Police Chief Robert J. Murray declared in the foreword to it:

"In order to achieve professional standards for police work in the field of human relations, science and fact must replace the mixture of prejudice, myth and folk-lore which in many minds are used as guides in dealing with problems of human relations."

Copies for All

To this end, the manual will be distributed to all police commanding officers. They have been ordered to read portions of its contents at each roll call until the material is covered. Pocket-size copies will be distributed to each officer and they are "expected to thoroughly familiarize" themselves with its contents.

Chief Murray pointed out that when he attended a Philadelphia conference on human relations in April, he found that 23 chiefs of police have issued similar handbooks on race relations. He believed the District force could become more aware of everyday community problems through issuance of the booklet.

Because the police "are bound to deal with true and unbiased facts," the manual sets forth in detail our civil liberties as guaranteed by our Bill of Rights, the thirteenth and fourteenth Amendments and the equal rights statute.

It quotes in full FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's letter of September, 1952, to all law enforcement officials, who were told the quickest way they could bring public disrepute upon themselves was to be found guilty of a violation of civil rights.

And it contains in its entirety, the District Commissioners' policy order regarding the abolition of discrimination in the District government.

From these facts, Chief Murray finds "the police duty is not discharged merely by meeting violence with violence during a riot."

Preventive Work

"The best opportunity for the police to escape serious criticism is for them to undertake preventive police work in the field of race relations.

"Due to their constant contacts with all neighborhoods of a city, the police are in an ideal position to maintain constant vigilance over troubled areas and to assume the responsibility for making basic causes of unrest known to their commanding officers, through the proper channels, who will forward the information to agencies or groups that can eliminate or reduce them."

Practical police methods to be emphasized in race and human relations are listed, and include "absolute impartiality." This was spelled out to mean:

"Enforcement of the law against all violators without regard to race, color or religion; a human approach, regarding every individual as different from every other, and treating every person as an individual; avoid use of insulting terms and names; the same kind of enforcement in a minority group district as any where else in the city."

Facts on Minorities

The police officer also is told to recognize the problem and scope of human relations, develop a professional attitude, know the basic facts about minority groups and existing laws in this field. He also is told to recognize the factors underlying mob and crowd behavior and to promote techniques on handling incidents through the observation and reporting of symptoms of trouble and the development of a public relations policy.

The manual states further that police personnel should be distributed with consideration of local group tensions and police policy regarding the handling of individual members of such groups should be enforced with the aim of promoting harmony.

In stating that individual police officers must subordinate personal sentiments in a truly professional spirit, the manual cautions that "unwarranted police conduct which aggravates tension will only be minimized if each individual police officer has a complete sense of personal and social responsibility."

If a police officer gives any citizen the impression some groups can be attacked without fear of punishment, such an attitude "is obviously a serious menace to the public peace and to the prestige and effective ness of the police force itself," the handbook says.

Negro Transfers Begun

D. C. Fire Department Ordered Integrated

By Grace Bassett
Staff Reporter

The District Commissioners yesterday ordered racial segregation in the Fire Department ended Wednesday.

The first step will be to transfer 18 men out of the five overstaffed Negro houses into understaffed companies, according to Chief Millard H. Sutton. The city heads extended their general antidiscrimination order of last November to include the firefighting division, only group of city employes not previously ordered integrated.

Chief Sutton today will direct his men to assigned duties regardless of race or color. Firemen will be reminded that they may apply for transfer from present assignments to any fire company.

The order met immediate opposition from Capt. George R. Tacey, head of the Firemen's Association, Local 36, AFL, composed of from 80 to 90 percent of the total 1075 local firemen.

Tacey said he would call a meeting of the union tonight in the Odd Fellows Temple, 419 7th st. nw., to poll the union on record in "unalterable opposition" to integration.

Union members two years ago took a similar Commissioners' order to Capitol Hill where it was killed. Tacey said the men probably would protest formally. He planned to get in touch with the Federation of Citizens' Associations, which intends to try to block school integration this fall in court, to see if similar action may be taken against fire officials.

There are a total of 108 Negro firemen.

The shift contemplates moving six overquota Negroes from Engine 4, 931 R st. nw.; three from Engine 27, 4200 Minn. ave. ne.; four from Engine 13, 942 G st. sw.; three from Engine 7, and two from Truck 10, both at 347 K st. sw.

Companies usually low in personnel such a Engine 29, 4700 MacArthur boulevard nw.; Engine 26, 1340 Brent road ne., and Engine 25 and Truck 8, 3200 Nichols ave. se., presumably would be chosen to receive the overflow, officers surmised.

Chief Sutton said he would interview personally all prospective transferees. He will be assisted by Capt. C. C. Woltz and Lieut. A. O. Reader, who attended a six-week human relations course at Catholic University this summer in preparation for the long-expected integration order.

Men in understaffed companies also are expected to be called in for talks about mixed living.

Chief Sutton was asked to report back to the Commissioners by November 1 on antidiscrimination progress.

The chief admitted the order was bound to create a reaction, but predicted the transfer would result in a smoothly running department within months.

Prior to 1918, the department was integrated. In 1919, the first Negro company, No. 4, was set up, followed by No. 27 in 1945, No. 7 and No. 10 Truck in 1949 and No. 13 in 1950.

After initial transfers, the Commissioners plan to place new firemen from Civil Service lists wherever vacancies occur. Commissioners did not contemplate that Negro officers would be placed over white firemen, it was stated.

Chief Sutton was understood originally to have urged overnight and near-equal mingling of white and Negro firemen throughout the city. Commissioner Samuel Spencer said the city had rejected any "violent" turnover in favor of a gradual and in a sense voluntary integration.

300 Firemen Vote to Ask Delay in D.C. Integration

Night Shift Seeks 60-Day Wait; Move Subject to Day Side Approval

By S. L. Fishbein
Staff Reporter

Some 300 night shift firemen yesterday voted unanimously to ask the District Government to delay Fire Department integration for 60 days.

The firemen, members of Local 36, AFL Firemen's Association, also voted to name a special committee to carry their demands to Fire Chief Millard H. Sutton.

Sutton was ordered by the District Commissioners on August 31 to end segregation in the department and to report 60 days later on the steps taken to carry out the order.

The Commissioners acted in line with their general anti-discrimination order of last November and with President Eisenhower's avowed policy of removing racial bars in the Nation's capital.

Sutton favored the integration move as a means of relieving a situation whereby the five all-Negro fire companies are overstaffed while a number of white companies are undermanned.

The firemen's union has continuously opposed integration and defeated a previous Commissioners' order two years ago with help from Capitol Hill. Congress, however, is not in session at present.

Engineer Commissioner Louis W. Prentiss yesterday said any decision on the request for a 60-day delay would have to be made by a meeting of all three Commissioners.

Capt. George A. Tacey, head of Local 36, announced after yesterday's meeting that the firemen present were unanimously opposed to integration.

Tacey did not reveal the contents of the resolution but details were learned from firemen present. Action taken at the meeting is subject to approval by day shift firemen.

The firemen at the meeting in IOOF hall voted to take their case to the public in paid newspaper advertisements.

There was some discussion of demands for a 40-hour week. Under the current 48-hour week firemen eat and sleep at the fire house and much of the opposition to integration stems from the necessity for close personal relationships under this setup.

Fire Company Integration Starts Today

14 Negroes Due To Be Transferred To White Divisions

The District Fire Department will put its racial integration program into actual effect at 6 p.m. today with the transfer of 14 Negro "surplus" privates into seven understaffed white fire-fighting companies.

Two additional Negro privates are being shifted to the administrative division. Another pair, who had been declared "surplus," were deleted from that category and assigned to a fuel truck stationed in the company to which they have been assigned for some time.

The transfers, a long time in the making, are, in officials' eyes, expected to be made without incident.

Commissioner Samuel Spencer, president of the Board of District Commissioners who is directly in charge of Fire Department matters, took this view:

"I feel confident that these transfers will work out satisfactorily. In the long run the new racial integration policy in the department will, I believe, work out to the advantage of the Fire Department and the citizens of the District of Columbia alike."

Sutton Echoes Views.

Fire Chief Willard H. Sutton voiced the same sentiments.

"I am sure," he said, "that it will be a success, that there will be no difficulty."

Top officials of the firemen's union—Local 36, International Fire Fighters' Association of America—could not be reached for comment. The union has consistently opposed abandonment of the segregation policy, which has prevailed in the department since World War I.

Stations Affected.

The fire fighters involved heretofore have been in all-Negro companies for years, except that, in most cases, they have had white commanding officers. Their transfers, in pairs, are to these outfits:

Truck No. 15, Brentwood road and Rhode Island avenue N.E.

Engine No. 5, Dent place and Wisconsin avenue N.W.

Truck No. 16, Pennsylvania avenue and Twenty-eighth street S.E.

Engine No. 24, Georgia avenue and Rock Creek Church road N.W.

Truck No. 14, Connecticut avenue and Porter street N.W.

Truck No. 3, Thirteenth and K streets N.W.

Truck No. 1, New Jersey avenue and E street N.W.

The administration division to which two Negroes are being assigned, actually has had integration for years.

Sharing Quarters Big Issue.

The fire-fighting units have proven the balky element in the integration picture. Their complaint, as expressed frequently by the firemen's union, is against white and colored fire-fighters sharing quarters in the fire houses.

Firemen's tours-of-duty alternately cover 10 to 14 hours daily in weekly changeovers. This means using the same sleeping quarters and sharing eating and other facilities.

A fact not often mentioned is that, before World War I, such living conditions actually prevailed in the fire companies here, one veteran Fire Department official pointed out.

Men Carefully Screened.

In selecting the Negro firemen involved in the big shift, a careful screening process was applied. The men finally chosen, according to Chief Sutton, "are all intelligent and have made fine records as members of this department.

"They will be useful fire-fighters in their new stations," the chief added. "And what we are interested in is a good fire-fighting organization like we have had for many years."

Department officials were inclined to doubt that more than a handful of white firemen would resign in protest against the integration move.

"After all," one spokesman said, "in the last examinations for jobs (August) 500 applicants took the test." "This was the biggest number since the 1930's.

Those Reassigned.

The reassignments are:

Milton C. Early, 29, of 4669 Benning road S.E., two years on the force, and James I. Lipscomb, 25, of 810 Gallatin street N.W., three years, both to Truck No. 15.

Paul A. Galloway, 30, of 1452 Savannah street S.E., five years, and Ivan R. Elmore, 30, of 2413 Seventeenth place S.E., both to Engine No. 5.

Oliver D. Davenport, 26, of 2415 Shannon place S.E., two years, from Engine No. 7, and Joseph L. Smith, 31, of 1509 Fifty-second avenue N.W., four years, both to Truck No. 16.

Samuel W. Jefferson, 31, of 845 Twenty-first street N.E., four years, and James N. Ross, 37, of 1800 Rhode Island avenue N.E., four years, both to Engine No. 24.

William E. Davis, 39, of 2128 Eighteenth street N.W., nine years, and Calvin Watson, 26, of 467 Adams street N.W., two years, both to Truck No. 14.

Algie R. Lewis, 33, of 733 Sixth street S.E., four years, and Norbert M. King, 36, of 3818 Hayes street N.E., seven years, both to Truck No. 3.

William B. Tompkins, 33, of 2001 Savannah street S.E., five years, and Oscar E. Lyles, 31, of 4454 E street S.E., both to Truck No. 1.

Charles G. Fagans, 38, of 758 Fairmont street N.W., 11 years, and Edgar P. Lee, 42, of 3543 Eleventh street N.W., 12 years, both to the administrative division.

Integration of Firemen

There has currently been an expression of opinion on the part of the overwhelming majority of the group of men who are dedicated to the protection of life and property in the District of Columbia. This expression of honest preference appears to be at variance with the modish approach of the day, wherein all practical factors are out the window in a campaign of hysteria which draws its license by leaning upon the very respectable desire to improve the lot of our colored citizens. The firefighters of the District of Columbia are by no means inclined to disparage the attempt honestly to improve the status of all citizens under the rights guaranteed by the customs, traditions and legal provisions of this great Nation.

The choice of a highly trained emergency service for a showcase experiment in turnabout racial relations is an unfortunate one to say the least. Pressure groups, operating in an understandably strategic manner, might do well to examine the facts of Fire Department operation before pulling out all the well-worn stops and hackneyed expressions that have long since outlived their dramatic usefulness in the light of the rush to make definite concessions to the colored race in the City of Washington.

There is no discrimination in the Fire Department on any level that denies the rights and privileges enjoyed by white firefighters to their colored colleagues. Appointments are made without recourse to racial lines; promotions are open to all on a competitive basis and working conditions are on an identical basis. There is no friction between the men on the basis of color, and the interjection of anything approaching tension along these lines has been the work of tub-thumpers who have nominated the department as "target for today" in their attempt to impose a particular philosophy of life which carries definite political implications.

The great majority of promotions to officer rank have been accomplished by colored aspirants in a manner that has not been enjoyed by their white counterparts, and this very privilege was a definite component factor based on a segregated department operation. Should the system face abolishment, it would naturally follow that the solid basis for the promotion of colored officers regardless of eligibility might face total extinction and a definite case in point be made for the retraction of such steps.

The proposal that an arbitrary directive be applied to allow the fortunate firefighters of both races immediately to junk the natural antecedents that have provided for efficient fire service and racial harmony what interests stand ready to reap the nebulous benefits of a drastic upheaval that holds no promise for the Fire Department of the District of Columbia?

CAPT. G. E. TACEY,
Pres., Local 36,
Firemen's Association.
Washington.

Disruption of necessary precision teamwork in fire companies, and the subsequent scattering of colored units, would be the inevitable result of the arbitrary amalgamation of the men of the Fire Department in a dubious effort to effect social reform as opposed to emergency service of the highest order. In this connection it might be well to pose this pertinent question: Just social customs.

The men of the Fire Department have no quarrel with their colored co-workers, and it is extremely suspect that the Negro firefighters could honestly sponsor the proposed program of forced integration with anything approaching sincerity. Firefighters of both races have been performing their duties, side by side, in a most effective manner for "Lo, these many years."

is at once audacious and somewhat silly. The natural inclination of the Negro has been to form social and recreational groups composed of members of the colored race, thereby exhibiting the very same tendency that has prompted similar groupings of white and other racial strains—not one race against another, but, to each his own, to facilitate the sharing of common interests and

Text of Racial Relations Pamphlet Issued by D. C. Police Chief Murray

Text of a pamphlet on racial relations issued by Police Chief Robert V. Murray for the guidance of the Metropolitan Police Department.

P.22 M.

Foreward

This pamphlet offers members of the Department concrete, practical, and accurate information on the racial aspects of human relations. It is not intended to provide policemen with ready made answers to all their problems in this field, but merely to create a guide for their thinking and information.

Police officers are conscious of their responsibility to the public. The public has every right to expect that the Police Department, as well as other branches of civil government, will seek to operate as efficiently as possible, and to assume that law enforcement personnel are equally anxious to raise their performance to a high professional level. In order to achieve professional standards for police work in the field of human relations, science and fact must replace the mixture of prejudice, myth, and folk-lore which in many minds are used as guides in dealing with problems of human relations.

Therefore, this pamphlet has been prepared for study and reference. Every member of the Department is expected to thoroughly familiarize himself with the contents, problems, and suggested procedures developed herein.

UNDERSTANDING RACE AND HUMAN RELATIONS

The contacts between the various races and nationalities have been multiplied a thousand-fold in the world of today. We live in a world in which the boundaries of racial and nationality groups are constantly changing. In the year 1880, the major racial and nationality groups were separated by oceans and continents; today, they intermingle and are separated only by a few blocks or houses in a city street. When this nation was founded, it was proper to say that racial and political frontiers were one and the same. However, in our day the racial frontiers of the world are within nations rather than between nations. They are in the streetcars and buses; the beaches along the waterfront; the parks where the different nationalities and races meet in seeking recreation; in restaurants and movie theaters; as fellow employees in government and in large industrial concerns where men and women of different color, religion, and even language work together. Industrial changes of the past 150 years have brought men together in the factories and shops of our urban centers from every corner of the globe and from every racial and religious origin. The expansion and growth of America has necessitated a vast migration of North and South Europeans, of colored races from Africa and the Orient. They have been brought together out of separate cultures and isolated worlds into a relationship which has necessitated the interpreting of their strangness and difference to each other.

POLICE BEAR BRUNT OF RACE RELATION RESPONSIBILITY

This situation is of unquestioned seriousness to each and every member of American society. However, it is of even greater significance for those individuals and authorities with whom the whole community has lodged the responsibility for maintaining order and protecting rights and liberties. Not only are they charged with securing the community against riotous outbreaks, but they are the ultimate guarantors of our individual liberties. This thrusts upon the police authorities the need for an extraordinary exercise of caution and judgment in order that their actions will not prove to be a source of further aggravation and hostility. Unwarranted police conduct which aggravates tension will only be minimized if each individual police officer has a complete sense of personal and social responsibility. This must be associated with an understanding as to the possible consequences of employing varied and alternative measures.

POLICE OFFICER STANDS AS A SYMBOL OF IMPARTIAL AUTHORITY

The role of the police officer in these explosive situations is admittedly a difficult one. On one hand, as a person, he is a product of the same social experiences to which all of us are exposed. It is possible, therefore, that he has absorbed some of the prejudices toward minority groups. As a person, he would be almost superhuman if he were not in some degree influenced by these prejudices. However, it must be stressed that, as an officer of the law, and as a member of the police profession, he stands as the symbol of the impartial authority of society. There rests with him the task of peacefully mediating the antagonisms and conflicts between various segments of the community.

DISTINGUISH BETWEEN PRIVATE NOTIONS AND DISCHARGE OF DUTY

The police officer is confronted with a most difficult task in the fulfillment of his high purpose. He must bring under control his personal sentiments and prejudices and subordinate them in a truly professional spirit. In this manner, and only in this manner, will he be able to treat fairly and impartially with the contenders in any dispute. The private views of an individual policeman may be of such a nature as to make questionable his capacity for fairness and impartiality. He must refrain from expressing private notions in discharging the duties of his office. This entails a capacity to distinguish between his own rights as a private citizen and his responsibilities as a police officer.

Post and Times Herald

NEEDS TO DEVELOP SENSE OF PROFESSIONALISM

In order that the police officer can function in a role that lies outside the area of his personal prejudices, it is necessary to develop in him a real sense of professionalism. Just as in medicine, law, and the teaching professions, his is a high "calling." It is not merely another occupation distinguished only by a uniform and the size of the wage or salary. Policing is increasingly recognized as requiring a high degree of technical knowledge and skill. This, however, is only one mark of a profession. There is the distinguishing emphasis upon public duty and service to the community. The time has long passed in enlightened police circles when a man became an officer of the law by merely donning a uniform and flashing a badge. Training, dedication, and understanding are the cornerstones of modern police science. The police officer must become increasingly aware of the role he plays as a symbol of society's authority—aware that only by examining the relation of his personal sentiments and feelings to his public duties can he achieve true impartiality and neutrality. This is an educational problem in its own right, and it is equal in importance to the acquisition of new information as to the technicalities of crime detection.

Washington Post 5-24

RESPECT FOR THE AUTHORITY OF SOCIETY

The average citizen's respect for the authority of society is dependent upon the degree to which that authority is impartially exercised. This is especially true of the members of the minority groups, who may have little reason to respect law if it is apparent that they do not receive equal protection from the authorities who are administering it. The impartial enforcement of the law builds necessary respect for the authority of society. Only by commanding such respect can a police officer begin to cope successfully with the various conflicts which may arise between social groups.

AS POLICE WE ARE BOUND TO DEAL WITH TRUE AND UNBIASED FACTS

The reasonable man is distinguished by his preference for truth and fact. We, as competent police officers, share this preference. Furthermore, it is of fundamental importance that the impartial exercise of authority is uncompromised by racial beliefs which are unsupported by the verified facts.

LAWS REGARDING CIVIL LIBERTIES AND CIVIL RIGHTS

Human Rights Programs are based upon law, much of which dates from the beginning of this Nation. These laws are quite specific and are not simply broadly stated principles.

There are two kinds:

1. Our Civil Liberties granted by the Bill of Rights, amendments to the Constitution and Supreme Court decision. In general, these liberties are legal protection of the individual against arbitrary action by the government. Freedom of speech, press, assembly and religion go into this section.

2. Our Civil Rights or protection of the individual against arbitrary action of other individuals. In this classification, we think of the Equal Rights Statute, Educational Opportunity, and the like.

FEDERAL LAWS

The Declaration of Independence upon which this country was founded states:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident. That all men are created equal and are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights. Among these are Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness. To secure these rights, Governments are instituted among men deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

The guarantee of Civil Rights is contained in the following amendments to our Constitution:

The 13th Amendment: Abolished Slavery.

The 14th Amendment: States that no State shall abridge the privileges and immunities of citizens, the State cannot deprive anyone of Life, Liberty or Property without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Title 18, Section 241: Any two or more citizens who conspire to interfere with a citizen in exercise of rights guaranteed by the Constitution is guilty of a felony which carries a maximum penalty of $5,000.00 fine or ten years in a Federal penal institution.

Title 18, Section 242: This section provides that any person under color of law who commits either of two offenses violates this Statute:

1. Denies rights and privileges guaranteed under the Constitution.

2. Subjects person because of alienage, color or race to different punishment.

POLICE AND MINORITY GROUPS

The absorption of racial and national groups has been accompanied by conflicts during the development of the country. The great movements of population during the war and new environments for minority groups which resulted from these migrations brought to many communities tense situations and some actual clashes between members of different racial, religious, or national groups. Competition for job opportunities, housing, educational opportunity, and recreation led to natural antagonism.

Texts of Hoover Letter, Spencer Order in Full

Murray included in the pamphlet the full text of a letter on Civil Rights written by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and forwarded to all law enforcement officials on September 1, 1952. Hoover urged complete protection by all policemen of Civil Rights and stressed that members of law enforcement bodies take the initiative in correcting defects.

The pamphlet also included the complete text of a policy order on non-discrimination issued by District Commissioner Samuel Spencer on November 25, 1953. It ordered immediate integration in all District departments and agencies with a few exceptions. Integration applied to employment and advancement and use of all public facilities.

In some instances these antagonisms were and are encouraged by professional agitators who found a fertile field for subversive infiltration. So, in recent years particularly, a special problem of the police has been their necessary concern with those actual or potential conflicts arising out of minority group relationships.

The primary responsibility of the police is to maintain the peace; consequently they cannot avoid censure when large-scale disorders occur. Moreover, the police duty is not discharged merely by meeting violence with violence during a riot. The best opportunity for the police to escape serious criticism is for them to undertake preventive police work in the field of race relations. Due to their constant contacts with all neighborhoods of a city, the police are in an ideal position to maintain constant vigilance over troubled areas and to assume the responsibility for making basic causes of unrest known to their Commanding Officers, through the proper channels, who will forward the information to agencies or groups that can eliminate or reduce them.

Sound police administration is necessary to prevent violent outbreaks between different groups. Recruitment, training, organization, and distribution of personnel all need to be considered in terms of the particular local group tensions and trouble areas. Sound police policy regarding the handling of individual members of such groups also needs to be clearly established and enforced to make certain the police activities will promote harmony and not add to whatever discord may already be present.

The Police Department of any city is in fact a tremendous force for molding public opinion. The activities and attitudes of individual policemen can influence citizens to respect the rights of others or can give them the impression that they can attack some groups without fear of punishment. The latter attitude is obviously a serious menace to the public peace and to the prestige and effectiveness of the police force itself. If all policemen understand these facts, as well as the causes of friction between different groups, and comprehend the correct method of action in various situations involving members of such groups, every man in the department can become a positive force in developing a public attitude favorable to efficient police handling of any disturbance between groups.

SUMMATION

In summing up the material contained in this pamphlet, we must realize that our greatest opportunity for solving the problems involved, lies in the preventive field. The practical police methods that we need to emphasize in race and human relations, therefore, are as follows:

1. Recognition of the problem and scope of human relations.

2. Need for development of a professional attitude and professional knowledge on the part of police officers.

3 Absolute impartiality.

a. Enforcement of the law against all violators without regard to race, color, or religion.

b. A "human" approach, regarding every individual as different from every other, and treating every person as an individual.

c. Avoid the use of insulting terms and names.

d. The same kind of enforcement in a minority group district as anywhere else in the city.

4. Knowledge of basic facts about minority groups.

5. Thorough knowledge of existing laws in this field.

6. Factors underlying mob and crowd behavior.

7. Develop suggestions and techniques on how to handle incidents.

a. Observe and report symptoms of trouble.

b. Develop a public relations policy.

c. Investigate inflamatory publications or agitating groups which promote prejudice against other groups.

8. Rumors and their effects on human behavior.

a. Study suggested means of investigation and control of rumors.

Guide Seen Furthering Eisenhower Pledge

The District's race relations guide for policemen is considered another step in the execution of President Eisenhower's pledge to end discrimination in Washington.

The D. C. Commissioners earlier took steps to ban discrimination in municipal government hiring and promoting and to insist that government contractors do likewise. The Commissioners also have enforced long dormant bans on discrimination in restaurants.

At the same time, movie and theater operators have dropped racial bars on admission and many hotels have followed suit.

Date of Fire Department Integration Uncertain

Evening Star
Washington, D.C.

No date has been set for racial integration of the Fire Department, Commissioner Samuel Spencer said last night. P. 29

The department, he said, "is not ready for it." Speaking on "Your Commissioners Report" on WMAL-TV, The Star television station, Mr. Spencer recalled he had previously said integration among firemen "may be a matter of months." That is still true, he said. Star 6-10-54

The subject came up as reporters followed up remarks of Commissioner Renah F. Camalier, who said the only welfare institutions in the city that will still have race segregation when the Children's Village at Laurel opens will be the Industrial Home Schools.

Municipal Segregation Nearly Ended

Post and Times Herald

Recent racial integration in the Fire Department marks the end of practically all segregation within the District Government, Commissioner Samuel Spencer said last night.

There are a few places of a minor nature where integration is not complete," Spencer noted in his appearance on WWDC's weekly radio program, "Report to the People."

The exceptions include, he said, the Lorton Reformatory, the Workhouse at Occoquan and the D. C. Village (formerly the Home for Aged and Infirm) at Blue Plains, where eating and sleeping segregation is maintained.

Aug-Amsterdam P. 32 Bassinger

'NEVER LOST A MAN' — Joseph E. Hodges receives congratulations from District Municipal Court Judge Andrew J. Howard Jr. in Washington, D.C., as he completes his 20th year as a United States deputy marshal. Mr. Hodges boasts that "I never lost a man and I always caught my man."

Special Officer

J. P. BASS

Former Los Angeles, Calif., police officer, is now special officer here in Jax. He is a well known Jaxon, and is doing an excellent job.

Negro Policemen For Pensacola

Pensacola, Florida is now among the 124 Southern cities employing Negro policemen. One June 25, this Florida city hired Joe Jordan, Jr., 26 and John McDaniels, 25. This brings to 560 the number of uniformed Negro police officers employed in Dixie cities.

In Montgomery recently, the chief of police praised the work of its Negro law enforcement officers. This is typical of the appraisal of the excellent work of Negro police men. Similar comment has come from city officials in Mobile in regard to the service of their Negro policemen.

Yet Birmingham, the largest city in Alabama, has not yet made a move toward the hiring of Negro police officers. This is rather strange in light of the boasting by some of our leaders about their contacts in City Hall. It hardly reflects the strength and influence of the Birmingham Interracial Committee which included securing of Negro law enforcement officers in Birmingham as one of the major features of its program.

What more can be done than now to bring about the employment of Negro policemen here is something which should concern all of us. We can hope that the time is not far off wher Birmingham will have Negro police officers like Dothan, Talladega, Montgomery, Hobson City and Montgomery.

Pensacola Takes On First Negro Policemen

PENSACOLA, Fla., June 25 (AP) —Pensacola hired two Negro policemen for its force today for the first time in its history.

The new additions, Joe Jordan Jr., 26, and John McDaniels, 25, were selected from civil service rolls. They will receive about three weeks training before going on duty.

Police Chief Crosby Hall said they would be assigned to work primarily in Negro sections of the city.

Negro Policemen Added To 12 Different Cities In South

Since September, 1953, twelve different cities in the South have added a total of 23 law enforcement officers.

Among the latest cities to join the growing number of Dixie cities with Negro policemen is Mobile, Ala. Two other cities—Montgomery and Tuscaloosa—are expected to add them this year.

Birmingham is the South's only major city which is lagging in this respect. It is Alabama's first city in size, resources, prestige and power. Nearly half of its population is of the Negro group. Yet it lags behind Dothan, Hopson City, Talladega and Mobile with respect to giving Negro citizens a hand in its protection.

Records released by the Southern Regional Council, Atlanta, Ga., shows that there are 121 Southern towns employing Negro policemen and 20 counties using Negro deputy sheriffs.

In these cities and counties there are a total of 554 Negro uniformed policemen, 89 plainclothesmen and 102 policemen.

Some media have been using the incorrect figure of "88 Southern cities with Negro policemen." This was 33 short of the actual number as listed by SRC. These figures have been gathered by Miss Anna Holden- SRC research assistant.

Here is the list of cities which have placed Negro law enforcement officers since Sept. 1953 SRC surveys:

Mobile, Ala., two uniformed policemen

Belle Glade, Fla., two uniformed policemen

Athens, Ga., four policewomen (school)

Dalton, Ga., two uniformed policemen

Griffin, Ga., one uniformed policewoman, (school)

Rockmart, Ga., one uniformed policeman

Thomasville, Ga., three policewomen (school)

St. Landry Parish, La., one deputy sheriff

Shawnee, Okla., one uniformed policeman

Manning, S. C., one uniformed policeman

Spartanburg, S. C., four policewomen (school)

Bexar County, Tex., one deputy sheriff.

545 Negro Cops Work In Dixie

ATLANTA — South Carolina leads the Southern states in the use of Negro police and firemen, according to the results of a recent poll just announced by the Southern Regional council.

The poll of 112 cities, towns and counties in 13 states revealed 545 uniformed Negro police, 87 plainclothesmen and 90 policewomen. They are used in predominantly Negro areas.

According to the poll, authorities in these areas are almost universally satisfied. They agree that the use of Negro police has cut crime and delinquency rates in Negro communities.

South Carolina with 19 communities employing Negro police, leads by proportion. Numerically the larger states of North Carolina and Florida lead. North Carolina has 23 cities, towns and counties using Negro cops. Florida has 22.

Alabama and Mississippi are the lowest states with only two each. The council points out the difference between South Carolina and Mississippi, the states where Negro and white populations are most nearly equal.

Increased Use Of Negro Police Officers In Southern States

(An Editorial)

IT IS TRULY encouraging to find that in 13 southern states a total of 112 cities and 18 counties now employ 545 uniformed Negro policemen, 87 plainsclothes officers, and 90 policewomen, and that no single official who has commented on their use was anything but highly laudatory.

By states, the number of cities and counties employing colored men or women, or both, in law enforcement, is as follows:

Alabama, two; Arkansas, four; Florida, 22; Georgia, six; Kentucky, five; Louisiana, five; Mississippi, two; North Carolina, 23; Oklahoma, eight; South Carolina, 18; Tennessee, six; Texas, 18; and Virginia, ten (seven cities and three counties).

The use of colored police officers is steadily growing in the South. Durham, N. C., has one police lieutenant who is a Negro. A summary of the typical comment from sheriffs and police chiefs reads like this: "A great help, very satisfactory, doing a splendid job, of great value, an asset to our city, thoroughly sold on use of Negroes."

Coupled with the figures we reported in these columns some months ago on the increasing use of Negroes in municipal fire departments, this is a picture of increased municipal employment of persons of our group that is quite encouraging.

Much greater opportunities need to be opened up, of course. There are too many cities and counties which still have not shown the progressive and realistic attitudes demonstrated by the 112 currently employing Negroes.

In other spheres of municipal and county employment, exclusive of teaching, the Negro is scandalously discriminated against, almost without exception throughout the entire Southland.

Negro Policemen In 122 Southern Cities, None In Birmingham

There are now 122 Southern cities with Negro policemen.

But Birmingham, Alabama is not listed among them. Mobile, Dothan, Hobson City and Talladega already have them. Montgomery is expected to employ eight or ten during the month.

Birmingham Police Director Paul L. Singer was scheduled this week to attend a meeting on interracial problems in Philadelphia, Pa. It is sponsored by the National Association of Intergroup Relations.

"A story in The Birmingham Post Herald March 20 said: "The stool pigeon bill for the Birmingham Police Department during February was $180.

"Officers paid the money to a half dozen informers. Average informer claim was $15, but some were larger-up to $25-and some were as low as $3."

Recently Waycross, Georgia added two Negro policemen.

33 1954

GEORGIA

Rape Alleged

Seek Ouster Of Savannah Negro Cops

SAVANNAH, Ga.—An assault charge against Policeman Virgil Demery involving two white women has brought forth a petition to dismiss all Negro policement from the Savannah force.

Patrolman Demery is alleged to have picked up the two women, young wives of carnival workers, at a Negro cafe and repeatedly drove them to his home.

The case was bound over to Superior Court charging the officer with assault with intent to rape one of the women and the city court on charges of assault and battery and pointing a pistol at them.

Race Cops for West Point

WEST POINT, Ga. — Employment [illegible] authorized in West Central Georgia border town last week.

Eleven New Negro Policemen Assigned

Eleven new Negro policemen Saturday were given regular assignments after finishing two months of recruit training, Police Chief Herbert Jenkins announced. The city now has 10 Negro men officers and 10 Negro police traffic women.

NEGRO COPS ASSIGNED JIM CROWED PRISONERS

Atlanta (ANP).—Negro policemen were assigned last week to guard colored prisoners in the city jail here. The prisoners occupy the fifth floor of the jail.

The move is the outgrowth of criticism leveled at the police department over treatment of the Negro prisoners. Herbert Jenkins, police chief, said colored officers probably would be better suited to handle the prisoners.

Georgia Town To Hire Negro Cops

THOMASVILLE, Ga. — City commission last week voted unanimously to employ two Negro policemen.

The action, which was the subject of much discussion, was initiated by Commissioner Dud Harvard.

BEGINS DUTY AS TURNKEY — Officer Willard Strickland becomes the first of the Negro policemen to assume duty as turnkey on the fifth floor of the city jail. A Negro patrolman will the job around the clock, Chief Jenkins said. All of the Negro officers on the force will serve on turnkey duty by rotation. — (Photo by Perry)

HIRED IN GEORGIA — The City Commission of Thomasville, Ga., appointed Augusta Flowers (left) and Willie Cook to the city's police force recently, setting a precedent for the town. The two were sworn in Sept. 1 in the presence of Mayor Heeth Vernedoe, City Manager L. B. Craig and Police Chief Noah Stegall. W. J. Varner, principal, Douglass High School, headed the committee which selected the two men. (Shaw Photo)

ROOKIE POLICEWOMEN — Two new Policewomen have been added to the force for duty at busy intersections in the neighborhood of Elementary schools. But like all rookies they must be trained for their jobs. In left photo, veteran officer Ernest Lyons instructs Mrs. Gladys Smith how to handle a situation at the Mitchell and Tatnall Streets area. In right photo, officer Clarence Perry gives Mrs. Anna Morgan some important information at the Nathan Forrest School. — (Perry's Photo)

MRS. ADDIE HOLT becomes the latest addition to Atlanta's contingent School Traffic Policewomen. Mrs. Holt, who resides at 186 Bower Circle, is stationed at the Thomas Slater School. — (Perry's Photo)

Daily World Atlanta Ga. Wed. 11-3-54

LATEST ADDITION to Atlanta's contingent of school traffic Policewomen is Mrs. Carrie C. Andrews of 1081 Fountain Drive. Mrs. Andrews began working the Hunter-Ashby Streets beat Monday. (PERRY'S PHOTO)

Let The Facts In The Case Come Out

Daily World Sun. 11-28-54

According to a news release the City Council of the City of Savannah has received a petition demanding the removal of all Negro policemen in that city, because a Negro police has been charged with "attempting to force his attention upon two white women." This petition was filed last Wednesday by a former white policeman and bore some two hundred and seventy-five signatures. The number of Negro police has been raised to twelve officers in Savannah and everywhere Negro policemen have served throughout the South, they have received excellent commendations of praise and otherwise notable citations.

Atlanta Ga.

Along with others, we are interested in the findings of facts in order that justice and truth might appertain.

The sudden and wholesale attempt to involve the entire personnel of Negro officers would suggest incredibility of the charges, and the same being filed by a former police officer, would further suggest that there could be a wholesale move on the part of a certain segment to get rid of all Negro police in Savannah. Such a sudden sweep in its broadness would not lend merit to the original charge, but would rather lend prestige to the unpleasantness derived on the part of some who view as repugnant the sight of Negroes bearing the arm of the law in their performance of their constituted and sworn duties.

While it might be expected that certain reprisals would come because of this fact, surely no one could claim to have the best interest of law and order at heart in designing a sinister pattern by which a whole group of men, might be punished because of the alleged offense of one.

As we have said, we are interested in the truth; we want that obtained under all circumstances; we are on the side of the law through the mediums of justice, but as we have also said, the sudden move to get rid of the whole personnel before the truth is heard, would surround the whole affair with sinister suspicions that in the end would not lend merit to the accusation.

Let the truth be found.

Memphis Rolls Out Red Carpet For Chicago Cop

FRED COFFEY (left) Chicago detective, returns to Chicago with his prisoner, Freddie Jackson (center). Coffey, who had been assigned to bring Jackson from Memphis to Chicago to face grand larceny charges, reported that the Memphis police treated him royally—after finding he was a police officer. Coffey was at first greeted with "What do you want, boy?" in the Memphis police station. Defender photo by Lyles.

Memphis police headquarters he was greeted by "What do you want, boy?" — so typical of the South.

However, when Coffey produced papers for Freddie Jackson, 34, the Memphis policemen immediately warmed up and the red carpet was spread for Coffey.

Two policemen took the Chicago officer on a tour of Memphis and Coffey was later escorted around the city by a police captain.

Coffey returned to Chicago last Friday morning with his prisoner who had waived extradition.

Jackson had fled the city after allegedly taking $4,000 from the office of the tavern where he worked, at 2 E. Cermak rd., on April 5.

Coffey said Jackson lived over the tavern, owned by Arnold Braverman. Jackson fled with the money after Braverman's mother surprised him in the tavern office.

The accused man, who was arrested by Memphis police, said he did not get $4.000 in the theft.

A Chicago policeman, assigned to bring a prisoner from Memphis, Tenn., to Chicago to face grand larceny charges, saw a bit of the better side of the prejudice ridden South last week.

When Fred Coffey, a crack detective assigned to Chicago's second police district, walked into the

Blueitt Becomes Third Chicago Police Captain

Kinzie Blueitt, 53, only Negro commissioned officer in the Chicago Police department was promoted to Captain Thursday, by Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor.

Blueitt commands the 5th district, the "world's busiest."

Also promoted to captain on the same order were Lt. John Golden, head of the homicide detail, and William McGuire of the 2nd district.

McGuire was first on the list, Blueitt second and Golden third. Blueitt achieved his spot on the KINZIE BLUEITT, Chicago's only Negor police captain was elevated to that rank late last week after a five-year 'indoctrination' period as acting commander, of what was once described as the busiest police station in the world. He is seen here (right) receiving some brand new silver bars from two men of his command, Wilbur Higgins, (left) and Herman Tarleton.—Defender photo.

ROBERT COLIN, a Chicago policeman for 16 years, has been appointed chief of police of the Village of Robbins, a suburb of the Windy City with a population of approximately 8,000 people. The village has a reserve and active force of 16 men. Colin is a Northwestern university graduate and was a member of the football squad during his undergraduate days. While on the Chicago force, he spent several years at the Detective bureau as a member of the Scotland yard robbery detail.

The 53-year-old captain is the third of his race in the city's history. The others were John T. Scott and Harry B. Deas, both retired.

Blueitt is married. He and his wife, Olivia, live at 3028 Walnut st. He joined the police force in January, 1929, and was promoted to sergeant in July of 1948. He was made a lieutenant in May of 1944, and placed in command of the 5th district, March 1, 1949.

During his time there, Capt. Blueitt first called attention of the city to the narcotics menace as a contributor to other crimes and developed a system of identifying drug addicts. Under his command, the 5th distrist processed more than 200.000 complaints.

Police captain

CHICAGO — (ANP) — Kinzie Blueitt last week became the third colored man elevated to the rank of captain in the local police corps.

Blueitt, acting captain for five years, was among 13 officers promoted by Timothy O'Connor, police commissioner. He will remain at Wabash ave. station where he has been since his appointment as acting captain.

Blueitt now joins John Scott and Harry Deas as colored policemen who have earned a captain's rank. Scott and Deas, however, now are retired.

Native Georgian One Of 'Chicago's Finest'

By LEE BLACKWELL

For little more than a quarter century a former railroad brakeman has flirted with danger and dedicated his life to the protection of thousands of Chicagoans he has never met.

This 20th century Sir Galahad is Fred Riley, a serious, cigar-smoking veteran of more than two decades of crime fighting as a topnotch member of the Chicago police department.

When Riley became eligible for retirement on his 57th birthday last Oct. 15, he merely looked back on the adventures that had befallen him since he donned Star No. 2405 on March 1, 1929, then announced he was going to continue in the work that had occupied almost half his life.

Riley had worked as a railroad brakeman and fireman during World War I and left Columbus, Ga., to come to Chicago in the early 1920s. Before taking the oath of a policeman he worked as a mechanic for the Yellow cab company.

Most of Riley's quarter-century on the force has been spent as a detective in several of the Chicago police districts. Hair-raising brushes with death became commonplace early in the fearless officer's career.

On one occasion a 21-year-old bandit attempted to strongarm Riley and his partner, Fred Goodloe, at 5th st. near Wabash. The bandit stuck a revolver in Riley's face and pulled the trigger twice. Twice the pistol snapped and Riley whipped out his own gun and fired on the bandit, striking him twice in the body. The would-be-robber fell, seriously wounded.

FRED RILEY

UNUSUAL ARREST

Earlier in his career Riley and a bandit engaged in a gun duel, both emptying their guns in the exchange. As the bandit fled, Riley took aim and hurled his empty gun at the fleeing man, hitting him in the back of the head. The gunman fell in an inert heap and fearless Riley got his man.

As a rookie patrolman Riley was assigned to guard a polling place at 5534 State st., first precinct of the 17th ward. The officer said a worker for James G. Coyle, candidate for alderman, had come too near the polling place soliciting votes. The policeman said he ordered the worker away, whereupon he returned with several other men. When a squad from the detective bureau arrived, Riley had driven them away without aid.

While assigned to the old Stanton ave. district, Riley was commended by a coroner's jury for fighting a gun battle with five men he caught stealing auto accessories. He shot and killed one of the thieves.

Riley and Joseph Geeter were given creditable mentions for the capture in 1932 of a bandit specializing in robbing milk wagon drivers.

To get their man the officers posed as tramps. Dressed in rags, they trailed milk wagons, slunk in hallways and climbed back stairs. On one occasion a woman who mistook them for bums threatened to "call the police."

LONG WATCH PAYS OFF

The climax to their long vigil came one morning when a tall youngster brushed against them in a hurry to get into a nearby hallway. As the youth crouched panther-like in a hallway preparing to spring upon a victim, the "bums" identified themselves and arrested the boy. Riley searched him and found a .32 caliber revolver bound tightly under his belt. The youth identified himself as Walter Lewis, 18, of 4105 Wabash, and admitted holding up more than 20 milk delivery men.

In 1942 Riley and Det. Warren McCallen captured a three-man bandit gang, tripped up by the leader who always ate apples.

In 1935, while assigned to the winoe-infested Maxwell st. district, Riley was cut when he entered a tavern on Blue Island ave. to answer a complaint that a drunken man was creating a disturbance. The man lunged at Riley with a knife, cutting him on the left side of the face.

The veteran officer is a widower. He was married to the former Annie Shephard of Columbus, who died about 18 years ago.

33 1954

KENTUCKY

On the Racial Front, Quiet Progress

LOUISVILLE took two quiet forward steps last week. The Louisville Park Theatrical Association lifted all racial bars at the Iroquois Amphitheatre with the simple announcement that tickets to all its productions henceforth "will be offered for sale to the general public." And Fire Chief JOHN KRUSENKLAUS announced that, as a result of the new Civil Service policy requested several weeks ago by Mayor ANDREW BROADDUS, Negro firemen are now to be assigned on a where-needed basis to station houses formerly manned exclusively by white firemen, instead of just to those already manned exclusively by Negroes.

These two sensible steps are fresh evidence of a growing pattern of common citizenship that speaks well for both races in this city. Aside from the question of justice involved, the ultimate gainer from this pattern is neither of the two races but the entire community. There is nothing but gain for the Fire Department and the City in making the services of Negro firemen available on a non-segregated wherever-needed basis. And the Park Association, with its new program of "no discrimination whatsoever," can expect new and welcome support for its productions from a large segment of the community hitherto lost to it by the ancient barrier of custom and prejudice.

Full citizenship for our colored citizens is not yet a reality. But the last few years have seen great progress made toward that goal. Negroes have taken their rightful place in the University of Louisville and its faculty, in our school musicals, sports events, golf courses, and in our Free Public Library, and they hold a growing number of responsible positions in local government. The gradualness of the pattern is understandably irritating to some, but it undoubtedly accounts in large part for its quiet success and for the fact that the road to further progress remains welcomely open, the atmosphere clear of the fog of haste-made friction.

STEVEN A. BOND

JESSE JOHNSON

HOWARD H. DURHAM

Police Photos

GEORGE H. KEELING

Younger Police Force Due With 5 Men Over 62 To Retire

A younger police force will start shaping up Saturday. Five of seven officers retiring then are required to do so because 62 is the new age limit.

Police Chief Carl Heustis said yesterday the group will be the first to retire under the new policy. "We will be retiring them all year and we expect to have everyone over 62 retired by 1956."

"This is the first time we have been in a position to do this," Heustis added. "Naturally, it will mean a younger and more vigorous police department."

Another Year Granted Some

Some over 62 are being kept on the force because they requested and were granted permission for another year of service before the mandatory retirement order went into effect.

The seven retiring men represent 199 years of police service. They are:

Steven A. Bond, 62, of Eureka Avenue, Louisville Route 8. Bond, a city policeman for 31½ years, served on park and traffic details. The department received several letters commending Bond for his courtesy.

In Service Over 29 Years

Howard H. Durham, 64, of 5005 New Cut Road. He has been a beat patrolman and ridden radio cars for over 29 years.

Sgt. Jesse Johnson, 67, of 1208 Becker Avenue, Okolona. Johnson, with over 33 years service, has been a district sergeant for nearly 20 years.

George H. Keeling, 60, of 131 N. Hite, has gotten everything from letters of thanks from citizens to a kick from a Derby Day horse in over 25 years of police work. Keeling worked as a detective.

Known as 'Fashion Plate'

John Hayden, 66, of 3221 Hale, was known as "Fashion Plate" for his natty clothing in his younger days. He joined the police force almost 27 years ago and worked on the vice squad and in the detective office.

James Murphy, 70, of 126 Stevenson, was laid up for 18 days from a wound received in a gun fight at Jackson and Lampton in 1939. He has worked as a park and a beat policeman for 25 years.

James E. Sheppard, 71, of 1705 W. Chestnut, worked as a district officer for almost 27 years.

JOHN HAYDEN

JAMES E. SHEPPARD

JAMES A. MURPHY

6 Named To Police Dept.

Appointment of five Police Patrolmen and one Motor Mechanics helper to the N. O. Police Department was announced this week by Mayor deLesseps S. Morrison in a special interview with members of the Executive Committee of the Orleans Parish Progressive Voters. The Mayor also thanked the OPPVL for bringing to the attention of City Officials the great desirability of having Negroes in all branches of the Police Department.

Stating that for the first time a Negro has been employed as a Motor Mechanics helper—and listing him as Walter Thomas, the City Official named the following as having been appointed Patrolmen and placed in training: John H. Pitts, 3301 Law Street; Matthew Jones, 1946 Gravier; Oliver F. Jackson, 8830 Cohn; Ellsworth W. Frank, 1329 Alabo; Percival A. Johnson, 1913 Josephine Street.

It is stated by Mayor Morrison that the recent appointments bring the total number of Negroes in the Police Department to forty-two now.

Special Investigator Attends Confab

Robert Penn, detective, special investigator of Pendleton Detective, Inc., and special deputy sheriff of St. John the Baptist Parish, will attend the annual board meeting of the Texas Negro Peace Officers Assn. in San Antonio, Texas, April 25.

The purpose of this meeting is to consolidate the peace officers throughout the South into one group, Penn said. It is also a meeting to formulate ideas to organize peace officers where there are none.

Several other parishes of Louisiana will be represented by the attending of its peace officers.

To Strengthen Law Enforcement

Negro Policemen To Patrol Rampart St.

For the first time since the placement of Negroes on the New Orleans police force, Negro policemen have been assigned to duty on Rampart street following a shakeup in the department last Friday. Police Supt. Joseph L. Scheuering told a Louisiana Weekly newsman Monday that the move was the first of a series to strengthen law enforcement.

Supt. Scheuering said the placement of two Negro policemen to the Rampart section will enable them to gain a wide variety of experience in doing police work. "I plan to give all of the Negro policemen an opportunity to work this section," he said.

Six Negroes are scheduled to graduate from the police training school the latter part of this week and will be assigned to the juvenile department and those already in that department will be transferred to another section, he said.

"I plan to place two to four in the homicide department in the near future," he continued. "From all indications, these men have lived up to expectations and are making some fine policemen."

The police department is still terribly short-handed and these transfers are not filling vacancies, yet it enables the department to use each man to the fullest, he pointed out.

"All of our men come through civil service examinations and are selected in the order in which they score on the exams providing they meet all of the other qualifications (no arrests and physical conditions)," the police head said.

All transfers went into effect today, he said, and this action is an attempt to solve our serious manpower shortage.

The transfers came on the heels of a police department probe conducted by the commission council.

Scheuering said the action resulted from a conference between four top ranking officers and himself last Thursday night.

The graduation of six rookie cops this week will up the total of Negro cops to 19, according to Scheuering.

Officers transferred to new assignments were:

Ptn. J. Raphael, Det. Bureau to First District.

Ptn. W. Biagas, Det. Bureau to First District.

Ptn. H. Price, Third District to Juvenile Division.

Ptn. H. Bennet, Third District to Juvenile Division.

Ptn. W. Aubry, Det. Bureau to Third District.

Ptn. C. Pecot, Det. Bureau to Third District.

Four Negro Deputy Sheriffs Appointed In Louisiana

OPELOUSAS, La.—For the first time since the turn of the century four fully-qualified Negro deputy sheriffs were administered oaths of office last Friday in the Clerk of Court's office.

The new deputies are Dr. A. C. Terrence, Sidney Sittig, Russell Lemelle and Henry Lemelle, all of Opelousas.

Sheriff D. J. Doucet, in a statement to the press said that the four are "honorary" deputies in that they are not on the payroll, but that they have the full authority of any other deputy sheriff. They are covered by bonds, as required by law, under a blanket bond arrangement of the office and will serve for the remainder of Doucet's term or at his pleasure, he said.

Appoint 4 Negro Deputy Sheriffs In Opelousas

Opelousas, La.—For the first time since the turn of the century, four fully-qualified Negro deputy sheriffs were administered oaths of office last Friday in the clerk of court's office.

The new deputies are Dr. A. C. Terrence, Sidney Sittig, Russell Lemelle and Henry Lemelle, all of Opelousas.

Sheriff D. J. Doucet, in a statement to the press said that the four are "honorary" deputies in that they are not on the payroll, but that they have the full authority of any other deputy sheriff. They are covered by bonds, as required by law, under a blanket bond arrangement of the office and will serve for the remainder of Doucet's term or at his pleasure, he said.

New Orleans Negro Policeman Suspended

NEW ORLEANS—A Negro police officer was ordered suspended here Friday following an altercation with two traffic officers who arrested him on a charge of speeding.

Suspended was Patrolman George Dalmas 25, of 3025 Broadway, a member of the Juvenile division. Dalmas was arrested following a chase Thursday night for speeding over 50 miles per hour in a 30 mile zone near Clairborn and Hydras streets.

Patrolmen Bertrand Breire and Raymond Thorne said officer Dalmas talked back to them and resisted arrest. They also said that office Percival Johnson, a partner to officer Dalmas urged him to go along quietly with the arresting officer to the first district.

At the station he was booked for speeding and having no brake tag on his car. Dalmas told police that he and officer Johnson had been off duty only 35 minutes. Detective Chief Harry Daniels ordered Dalmas suspended for conduct unbecoming an officer.

Suspension Stands Until Department Probe Completed

Charges of resisting arrest and speeding against a Negro policeman were dismissed by a municipal court judge Friday night. The officer has been on the suspended list since the incident last Thursday night, pending departmental investigation.

The charges against the involved patrolman, George Dalmas, 25, 3025 Broadway, were dismissed by Judge Edwin A. Babylon.

According to Traffic Patrolmen Raymond Thorne and Bertrand Brierre, Dalmas and his partner, Patrolman Percival Johson, 31, 1913 Josephine, were in a car driven by Dalmas going up Claiborne when the automobile was stopped at Hydras.

When the officers told Dalmas he was under arrest for speeding, they said he jumped out of the car and allegedly said, "You can't book me because I am a police officer, too." Officer Thorne said that Dalmas unbuttoned his coat and told them that they would have to take him.

Dalmas and Johnson denied that Dalmas resisted arrest. They said that Thorne allegedly drew his pistol and Johnson stepped in front of Thorne and Brierre in front of Dalmas.

Dalmas said that the officers wanted to take him in and leave his car where he was stopped with the motor still running. The officer, however, decided to let him drive his car to the station.

Upon reaching the station Thorne grabbed Dalmas by the arm and became angered when Dalmas pushed his hands away, the victim said.

In dismissing the case Judge Babylon told the arresting officers that certainly such "treatment of one of our fellow officers is most unusual . . . If he had gone anywhere, we certainly would have caught him sooner or later."

Police said that Dalmas was going 55 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone. Dalmas admitted that he was speeding, because he and his partner had just gotten off duty after working late, but he was not going that fast.

The suspension was ordered shortly after the officer's arrest by Chief of Detectives Harry Daniels. When contacted Monday evening concerning the status of Dalmas, a La. Weekly reporter was referred to Capt. Walker of the juvenile department where Dalmas is assigned.

Capt. Walker said that Dalmas was still on the suspended list. He said that the charges were under departmental investigation. "After the investigation has been completed it will be sent to the superintendent of the police department. I am not sure when this will be done nor what disposition will be taken."

Police Benevolent Ass'n Bars Negro Policemen

In the wake of the fourth anniversary of the recent addition of Negro policemen to the New Orleans police department, the City Police Mutual Benevolent association showed little concern for its darker brothers last week in overwhelmingly voting against the admission of Negro officers into the lily-white organization.

It was learned late Monday night that a petition had been filed against the organization, protesting the omission of Negro officers solely because of race and color. The complete text of the petition or its origin was not available at press time.

Reports concerning the petition were denied by Police Capt. Al Rankin, recording secretary of the association. "If there had been one," he continued, "certainly I would have been one of the first to see it."

Members of the association voted 529 to 42 against changing the group's by-laws and constitution to permit Negro officers to become members.

Announcement of the voting results was made by Capt. Rankin of the police personnel department.

Commenting on the situation, Capt. Rankin said, "Despite the voting results, I feel that eventually Negroes will gain membership into the organization."

He added that it might be possible next year, at which time the voting will be held. The police captain said that an increase of about 30 more Negro policemen would better their chances of becoming members. However, nothing definite was disclosed as to whether Negroes would be integrated into the association.

The members cast their votes by voting machines located at police headquarters.

The organization is designed to assist disabled and retired members of the police department, according to Capt. Rankin. The association now consists of about a thousand members, he said.

Negro Policemen Prove Their Worth

By O. C. W. TAYLOR

NEW ORLEANS. — (ANP) — Three rookie policemen, all Negroes, brought to light the fact that Negro policemen in New Orleans have proven their worth. New Orleans was the last major southern city to hire colored policemen, but now the Crescent City has more Negro policemen than any other southern city, and they probably have more power and less circumscription than any Negro policeman in any other city.

Last week, the three rookie policemen, just on the force three weeks, accounted for the arrest of more narcotics violators in one day than ever before in the history of police work in New Orleans. Twenty-seven suspects were seized and charges accepted against them. Five more are now wanted list.

Rookies Lloyd Everett, Lloyd Richards and Lester Dyer lived with the dope pushers for nearly two weeks. They were arrested and jailed with them. They bought their products. They spoke their language. They got the lowdown on their producers and purchasers. Then they and others in the police department cracked down. Department officials say the dope peddlers will be very careful about working in New Orleans in the future. They will hardly know whom to trust.

Negro police have done other commendable work in the city. They have cleaned up neighborhoods around the various low-rent housing projects where a woman could hardly walk and be unmolested, where robbery was rampant and where dope peddling was common. They have cleaned up the city recreational centers where juvenile delinquency was at its height and where sexual orgies were not uncommon.

New Orleans police department heads says the city may have been the last to hire Negro policemen, but they also may be said to be the last to fire them. They say, too, that Negro policemen in the city, have more powers than those in many other cities. They work all over the city and arrest any and all law violators. They are not restricted to the arrest of Negroes.

They work in all departments and have done well in all of them. They work in and out of uniform best of all, "they work."

EARMUFFS AND ALL—Because of the wintry winds, Mrs. Doris Alton, 1303 Bayard st., Baltimore, Md., has added earmuffs to her police department uniform. Her post is near School No. 134. She and husband, William, have four youngsters.

3 appointed as detectives in Baltimore

BALTIMORE

Three policemen have been assigned to the detective bureau.

Two of them, Officers Milton O. Gardner, 2518 Druid Hill ave., and William A. Burke, 1075 Ellicott driveway, are from Northwestern police station.

The third officer, Furrie L. Cousins, 333 Presstman, served at Northeastern station.

5 In Bureau

With these selections, there are now five colored policemen serving with the bureau. The other two are Sgt. James Butler and Detective Roy Johnson.

The assignments were made Jan. 25, by Capt. George J. Murphy, head of the bureau.

"I thought it would be more beneficial to the department and to the public by adding three more," he commented.

"I feel they're capable of doing a good job. They were outstanding men in their respective districts and already several suspects have been apprehended for holdups and larceny through their efforts," he added.

Detective Gardner, 47, was appointed to the police force July 28, 1938. Though regularly assigned to Northwestern, he served three years with the Police Boys Club.

Full Pledged Officers

When the new assignment was made, Detectives Burke and Cousins, both 28-years-old, had just completed their two-year terms in the police force, Jan. 17, which made them full-fledged officers.

Detective Burke did his training at Northwestern while Detective Cousins was assigned to Northeastern.

For the present, Detective Gardner is serving with the homicide squad; Burke, assault and robbery detail and Cousins, the detective squad at Northeastern.

HARD AT WORK — Fireman Thomas Chambers gathers up hose after warehouse fire has been extinguished. There are now 40 colored members of Baltimore's integrated fire department. Twenty more are to be added soon.

Nine men from three areas among 50 new firemen

BALTIMORE

Five men from the Northwest Baltimore and two each from Cherry Hill and East Baltimore, were among 50 rookie firemen who graduated rom the Fire Department's training school Friday.

The firefighters were presented engraved certificates and permanently assigned to companies. Graduates included:

Littleton B. Wyatt of 2533 Arunah ave., who was assigned to Engine Company No. 29 at Park Heights ave., near Classen st.

Alfred Clinkscales, 1411 Division st., Engine Company No. 21 at Roland and Union aves.

Yeubert L. Poe, 2726 Harlem ave., Engine Company No. 52. Auchentroly Terr., and Woodbrook.

Edward R. Bunch Jr., 2737 Riggs ave., Engine Company No. 44 at Upland rd., near Roland ave.

Herman Williams Jr., 920 Bethune rd., Engine Company No. 35, Pontiac ave., and 5th st., Brooklyn.

Charles R. Thomas, 2568 Edmondson ave., Engine Company No. 36, Edmondson ave., and Bentalou st.

Raymond N. Purnell, 1236 E. Lafayette ave., Engine Company No. 28, Mt. Royal and Guilford aves.

Eugene P. Watson, 1524 May ct., Engine Company No. 34, Carol and Gough sts.

Hilton L. Roberts, 1602 Booker ct., Engine Company No. 46, at Reisterstown rd., near Belvedere ave. in Arlington.

The 41 other graduates are Edward J. Kropfelder, James Crockett, Robert Sauerhoff, William H. Wahl, Harold O. Burrows, Charles W. Ambrose, Theodore Baker, John M. Wetzelberger, Robert S. Wengert, John T. Murray, James Edwards, and Wade Morgan.

Also, Gordon G. Dugan, Hammond W. Rice, John G. Feeheley, William J. Heckman, George W. McAleer Sr., Edward G. Flowler, Benjamin W. Patterson Jr., Harry W. Head, John G. Everett, Henry L. Rippert, Frank R. Santmyer, and Louis J. Boeh Jr.

Others include Bernard J. Klipa, Alfred B. Daniels, James Johnson, Alfred Boyd, James L. White, Elwood L. Proescher, William A. Cavallo, Walter A. Middleton, Albert Bigger, John Bernhard.

The six other men are Louis J. Maciolek, and William A. C. Ward, William J. Spicer, Anthony M. Sheldon, William F. Brown, and John H. West.

Afro American Sat. 10-9-54

33 Md

P. 22 Baltimore

SHERIFF'S AIDES PRAISED — Sheriff Neil Duffy of Essex County (left) commends his deputies, George Davis (center) and Hardy Stevenson for arresting Ivan Street and Charles Spruill, young registered narcotics addicts with long police records caught with $40,000 worth of stolen furs. Officers are examining seven-inch butcher knife Street pulled on the officers while being questioned about the furs. This is Spruill's 11th arrest since Oct. 16, 1950, and Street's fifth since Oct. 5 1953, all involving posssession of narcotics and other counts. Four more warrants, two by the state, are pending against them.

Afro American Baltimore, Md. Sat. 11-6-54 33 P. 6 Md

NEW BADGE—Police Deputy Inspector Edward M. Payne pins badge on newly-promoted Captain James N. Reaves as Inspector Allen B. Ballard looks on, Friday, in Mayor's City Hall reception room in Philadelphia.

Detroit's first woman constable begins work seeking a rent dodger

Afro-American

DETROIT — Mrs. Madelin Smith, 54, who polled the largest number of votes in the Fifth Ward to win election as this city's first woman constable, picked up her first summons last week in the office of Judge William Krueger.

Taking the summons for nonpayment of rent, Mrs. Smith said "I was a little excited when I won the election, but I'm even more excited today. I believe this is the happiest day of my life."

Sat. 1-23-54

Mrs. Smith is married to Exley Smith, 57, a Ford maintenance worker. Before her election, she was a real estate broker.

Want Qualified People

Jackson Decides To Hire Race Cops

JACKSON, Miss.—(ANP)—This city has finally decided to catch up with the rest of the South and hire Negro policemen.

Jackson is one of the few large cities in the South without Negro policemen.

Mayor Allen C. Thompson said last week that the city will hire two Negro policemen and a Negro youth counselor as soon as qualified personnel can be found.

"The only thing that's holding us up is finding qualified persons to fill the jobs," Thompson said. "I hope we can find them right away. When we do, they will be put to work."

* * *

THE MAYOR added somewhat aplogetically, "We are not trying to stir up anything. Negro police are common all over the South. All I'm interested in is more efficient law enforcement and we have been told by competent experts that this will do the job."

The Mayor said the policemen, when hired, would be assigned to the Negro district.

He also said an extensive screening process was on, but that "we just haven't been able to find a qualified Negro man who is willing to take a job as policeman . . . Those we hire must be topnotch or it just won't work."

Jackson to Hire Negro Policemen

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 19 (AP)—Two Negro policemen and one Negro youth counselor — the city's first — will be hired as soon as qualified personnel can be found, the City Council said Thursday.

Mayor Allen Thompson said the resolution to hire Negroes was made several years ago and Jackson is one of the few Southern cities not using them.

The only reason for the lack of Negro officers, he said, is lack of qualified personnel.

Cities using Negro police officers have reported excellent results, Thompson said.

Jackson, Miss. Will Hire 2 Negro Cops

JACKSON, Miss. — (ANP) — This city has finally decided to catch up with the rest of the South and hire Negro policemen.

Jackson is one of the few large cities in the South without Negro policemen.

Mayor Allen C. Thompson said last week that the city will hire two Negro policemen and a Negro youth counselor as soon as qualified personnel can be found.

"The only thing that's holding us up is finding qualified persons to fill the jobs," Thompson said.

33 1954

MISSOURI

A Bad Egg On Our Police Force

The police officer who used abusive language and displayed an attitude of racial intolerance when he accosted one of our leading business men last week should be severely reprimanded, if not dismissed from the force.

Call 33 Mo

The officer's use of the objectionable term, "n-----," his use of profanity and his insulting manner should not be tolerated by Chief Bernard Brannon and the board of police commissioners. His conduct was most unbecoming an officer. Such a man is a disgrace to the department.

Pilb Tri 1-1-54

We do not protest the officer's actions because it happened to be a highly respected citizen and business man whom he insulted. Had the same treatment been given a citizen of less prominence than Walter Jolevette, our indignation would have been just as great. A police officer should treat any person whom he approaches with courtesy and respect, even though he may be arresting him for a violation of the law.

We have heard citizens say that the police officer who gave them a ticket was so courteous and quiet-spoken that they gained a new respect for law-enforcement officers. So, all of our policemen are not like Officer MacCreary. Police brutality has declined noticeably in Kansas City in the last few years. At least, fewer cases are reported to The CALL and the NAACP than in years past. Officer MacCreary must want to see a return to the "old days" when policemen hit citizens over the head with their billies upon the least provocation.

Chief Brannon cannot control the personal feelings and prejudices of his officers, but he can have them to understand that they cannot let their prejudices influence their actions and their speech in public. A police officer, like all public servants, must treat all citizens with respect, regardless of the color of their skin or their religion.

An officer who "doesn't allow no 'n------' to talk back to him" and who feels that there are "too d--- many 'n------' down here anyway" has no place on our police force. Mr. Jolevette, in a Christian-like spirit, says that he does not want the man fired. He merely wants him reprimanded so that others will not be subjected to similar treatment. If Chief Brannon decides to give this man another chance, he should watch him carefully and if such language and attitude are displayed again, he should certainly be asked to turn in his badge.

Name Editor Sweets To Missouri Police Retirement Board

33

JEFFERSON CITY, MISSOURI — (ANP) — Nathaniel A. Sweets, editor and publisher of the St. Louis American, was named a trustee of the Missouri police retirement system last week. The seven trustees handle the state police pension system and control several million dollars.

Want to become a state trooper?

Here are requirements you must meet

'Integrity, intelligence, physical fitness' emphasized to applicants by superintendent

TRENTON—"The State Police entrance examination is open to everyone who meets the requirements, regardless of race, creed and color."

This assurance was given last week by superintendent Russell A. Snook in a letter to Benjamin A. Collier, industrial secretary, Urban League of Essex County.

Mr Collier had sent a letter to Mr. Snook in which he asked several questions concerning the examination for applicants for the State Police.

Requirements Listed

In a brochure distributed to applicants, a copy of which was sent to Mr. Collier, these requirements are listed:

Applicants must be a citizen of the United States and a resident of New Jersey for one year.

They must be between the ages of 22 and 35.

They must have a high school education or equivalent.

Physical Qualities

They must be not less than five feet, eight inches and not more than six feet, four inches in height.

They must weight not less 150 pounds nor more than 225 pounds.

They must have a 20-20 vision without glasses.

They must be of good moral character.

They must be in excellent physical condition.

Must Be Real He-Man

If you wish to seek a career as a State Trooper, read these excerpts from the brochure for applicants carefully:

"The New Yersey State Police wants men who wish to make the police profession their life's work.

"It takes a real he-man to do a man-sized job; therefore, the standards of the New Jersey State Police are necessarily high.

"You must have these qualities to become one of them!

Exam Set Jan. 29

"Remember this: If you earn the right to wear the uniform of the New Jersey State Police your career in the police profession is assured."

Another written examination will be held for applicants on Jan. 29 in 11 cities and towns.

For further information write to:

Personnel Bureau, New Jersey State Police, Trenton 7 N. J.

Salary Told

While in training as a recruit you receive $200 per month.

Following graduation you advance to the annual minimum salary of a trooper, which is $3,660 plus maintenance.

Annual increments of $180 are granted until you receive a maximum salary of $4,560 plus maintenance.

There are opportunities for advancement in 10 classifications.

Neptune gets policewomen

Ex-show girl guards pupils

By J. IRVIN HUGHES

NEPTUNE N.J. — Three policewomen, one of whom is white, began traffic control duties in school districts in Neptune Township last week for the first time.

They are Mrs. Vurssie Harmon, 39, of 1945 Heck ave.; Mrs. Dorothy Lofton, 38, of 1037 Heck ave.; and Mrs. Jean Hafner, 31, of 804 Old Corliss rd., white.

Police Chief S. William Maas said the policewomen, who will guard school children at busy intersections, going to Neptune and Asbury Park, will work four hours daily.

Hours, Assignments

They will be paid $1.25 an hour. This is about half what a regular patrolman would cost, the police chief said.

The work hours are: from 8 to 8:30 a.m.; 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.; and 2 to 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. Harmon is stationed at Myrtle and Springwood aves.; Mrs. Lofton at Ridge and Heck aves. (Ridge ave. School); and Mrs. Hafner on the Old Corliss rd.

Mrs. Lofton was formerly connected with show business, and appeared in productions at the Lafayette, Harlem Opera House and the Appollo Theatres in New York City where she was born.

She also worked as a barmaid at Monmouth Elks Lodge No. 122, the Hampton Inn and at Catherine's Cafe in Philadelphia.

She is a past daughter ruler of the Pride of Asbury Elks Temple No. 64, having served two terms, and is a member of Frederick Dempsey Post, American Legion Auxiliary.

There are two colored township police officers, Robert Woolridge and Willie (Peewee) Lyons, both of whose records have been excellent, the police chief said.

FIRST POLICEWOMEN in Neptune, N.J. Seated left to right: Mrs. Dorothy Lofton, Mrs. Jean Hafner, Mrs. Vurssie Harmon; standing: Patrolman Robert Woolridge, Police Chief S. William Maas, Patrolman Willie (Peewee) Lyons.

Editorials

State Police Jobs

Colored Republican leaders, and Urban League and NAACP officials tried unsuccessfully to get Republican state administrations to integrate the personnel of the State Police.

It is quite possible that the lily-white policy so long in vogue in this Division will be terminated under the administration of a Democratic governor, Robert B. Meyner.

In his campaign addresses to colored and interracial audiences, the able former state senator and astute lawyer assured his questioners on the subject that, if elected governor, he would see to it that the man he appointed to head the State Police would be one who would not tolerate or encourage a lily-white personnel.

Increasing traffic on the Turnpike and the demands envisioned when the Garden State Parkway is completed make it necessary not only to bring the State Police up to its full strength, but also to expand its personnel to meet pressing traffic requirements.

Job opportunities in this field for young men between 22 and 35 are therefore excellent.

The Urban Leagues of New Jersey this week issued an appeal—in which this newspaper joins—for those interested in becoming State Troopers to take a written examination for the State Police, scheduled for January 29 in 11 cities and towns. A front-page story gives more information.

NAACP officials in Trenton have tried in the past to interest young men in a career with the State Police by conducting special briefing sessions on State Police examinations for those who are interested.

The Urban League has been calling the attention of our high school and college graduates to State Police jobs for many years, pointing up the necessary requirements through its annual Vocational Opportunity programs and through assembly lectures and conferences with guidance counsellors.

We wish to emphasize, for the benefit of those who would like to become State Troopers, two important things:

1. Forget about this type of employment if you do not intend to make a career of it. 2. Although no educational requirements are listed in the bulletin about the written examination on January 29 sent to Urban Leagues—your educational background is a key factor in your chances to pass all the examinations.

There are three other examinations you must take beside the written one—the next is a medical and physical test, and the final is listed as an "all-examination."

It is a common knowledge that most white examiners make it as tough and difficult as possible for colored applicants to pass tests for certain state jobs, especially those that have long been maintained with the halo of the caste system—but this should always constitute a challenge to be met victoriously.

Not so long ago, the examiners at West Point and Annapolis used to flunk colored men seeking careers in the Army and Navy—but our young men of a new generation crossed those rubicons with flying colors.

The New Jersey State Police can't remain lily-white forever—the quickening trend toward integration on all levels will not permit it.

But, with a sympathetic and understanding Democratic governor in the State House, it is up to our young men with intelligence, character, integrity and fortitude—especially those who were born anew mentally, spiritually and morally in combat in foreign lands to preserve democracy at home—to make sure that our State Police is integrated in 1954.

State troopers' jobs available

The Urban Leagues of New Jersey on Tuesday appealed to young men between 22 and 35 to take the written examination for the State Police to be held in various communities on Jan. 29.

Benjamin Collier Jr., industrial secretary of the League in Essex county, points out that several vacancies exist because of the need for more State Police for duty on both the Turnpike and the Garden State Freeway.

A bulletin announcing the examination by Major William O McNicol, deputy superintendent of the State Police, gives this information to prospective applicants:

Other Information

They must be five feet, eight inches in height, but not more than six feet, four inches without shoes.

They must bring to the examination center well sharpened pencils and erasers.

Those who pass the written examination will be notified to appear in February for medical and physical examinations.

All Exam Last Test

Those who pass these examinations will then be given an "all examination" which is the final test.

Application blanks will be completed after the written examination.

No educational or residence requirements are listed on the bulletin announcing the examination.

The written examination will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Jan. 29 at the following places:

Orange — the National Guard Armory, 261 William st.

Paterson — the National Guard Armory, 475 Market st.

Lawrenceville — the National Guard Armory.

South Jersey Areas

Toms River — the Town Hall.

Mays Landing — the Fire House on Route 50.

Vineland —the National Guard Armory.

Woodbury — the high school.

Bordentown Center

Bordentown — the State Police headquarters on Route 130.

Red Bank — the Senior high school.

Washington — the high school.

Newton — the Presbyterian church recreation hall.

Neptune gets policewomen

Ex-show girl guards pupils

By J. IRVIN HUGHES

(See Picture Page 5)

NEPTUNE — Three policewomen, one of whom is white, began traffic control duties in school districts in Neptune Township last week for the first time.

They are: Mrs. Vivian Harmon, 39, of 1945 Heck ave.; Mrs. Dorothy Lofton, 38, of 1037 Heck ave.; and Mrs. Jean Hafner, 31, of 804 Old Corliss rd., white.

Police Chief S. William Maas said the policewomen, who will guard school children at busy intersections, going to Neptune and Asbury Park, will work four hours daily.

Hours, Assignments

They will be paid $1.25 an hour. This is about half what a regular patrolman would cost, the police chief said.

The work hours are: from 8 to 8:30 a.m.; 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.; and 2 to 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. Harmon is stationed at Myrtle and Springwood aves; Mrs. Lofton at Ridge and Heck aves. (Ridge ave. School); and Mrs. Hafner on the Old Corliss rd.

Mrs. Lofton was formerly connected with show business, and appeared in productions at the Lafayette, Harlem Opera House and the Appollo Theatres in New York City where she was born.

She also worked as a barmaid at Monmouth Elks Lodge No. 122, the Hampton Inn and at Catherine's Cafe in Philadelphia.

She is a past daughter ruler of the Pride of Asbury Elks Temple No. 64, having served two terms, and is a member of Frederick Dempsey Post, American Legion Auxiliary.

There are two colored township police officers, Robert Woolridge and Willie (Peewee) Lyons, both of whose records have been excellent, the police chief said.

Afro American p. 3 Newark, N.J. Sept. 4-17-54

FIRST POLICEWOMEN in Neptune, N.J. Seated left to right: Mrs. Dorothy Lofton, Mrs. Jeanne Hafner, Mrs. Vurssie Harmon; standing: Patrolman Robert Woolridge, Police Chief S. William Maas, Patrolman Willie (Peewee) Lyons.

33 N.J

Afro American p. 5 Baltimore, Md. Sept. 9-25-54

RESORT OFFICER — Thomas Almond, one of the senior colored members of the Atlantic City police force, is chief juvenile officer and is also in charge of the teletype department which connects the resort department with a large police network.

Police Commissioner Thomas J. Gibbons (right) extends congratulatory handshake to Capt. James N. Reaves as newly appointed police captains are sworn in at the Mayor's reception room at City Hall. Awaiting their turns are Capts. Brooks J. Lowe, Jr. (in center of group) and Frederick W. Dohrmann, Jr.

COMMISSIONER ADAMS, LT. ROBERT J. MANGUM, PAUL MANGUM, MRS. GLADYS MANGUM

At Swearing In Ceremony in New York City.

NEW DEPUTY POLICE COMMISSIONER:

Appointment of Mangrum cited

NEW YORK — Appointment by Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams of Robert J. Mangrum, 32, former police lieutenant, as seventh deputy commissioner has won the praise of leaders in all walks of life.

After Mr. Mangrum had been sworn in, Commissioner Adams received the following telegram signed by nine leaders, including Joseph Monserrat, director of the NYC office of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico:

"Congratulations on excellent appointment of top - flight career man Robert Mangum as seventh deputy commissioner. His unusual preparation and experience with community organization make him ideal choice for this important office.

"We will give fullest support to the new commissioner in his program of developing sounder relations between the community and the police department."

Signers listed

Signers were:

Walter Homes, president, Bronx Chamber of Commerce; Elias Karmon, chairman, Bronx advisory committee, Urban League of Greater New York; Edward S. Lewis, executive director of the league; Urbain C. LeGost, general chairman, Bronx region, national Conference of Christians and Jews;

Joseph Monserrat, director, NY office, Commonwealth of Puerto Rico; Munro R. Scheinberg, director, Anti-Alepamation League of Bnai Brith; Mrs. Elizabeth Spears, executive secretary, Bronx Welfare and Health Council; Rudolph Thomas, executive director, Harlem YWCA, and Herbert Miller, associate director, Protestant Council of Churches of NYC.

Mr. Mangrum, a native of Petersburg, Va., succeeds William L. Rowe, the city's first deputy police commissioner, whose resignation was effective last Friday.

12 Years In Uniform

During his 12 years in the police department, Mr. Mangrum served in the juvenile bureau for the greater portion of the time. He held the rank of sergeant in 1950 when he was installed as president of the Guardian association.

At 32, he becomes the city's youngest deputy commissioner in the city's history. As the result of his advancement, he will receive a boost in pay from $5,830 to $9,000 a year.

Mr. Mangrum was brought here at the age of 12 after attending elementary and high school in his native city, Petersburg, and earned his degree from City college in 1942. He was appointed to the police force the same year.

Advancement Rapid

He was advanced to the rank of sergeant in 1950 and to lieutenant in 1951. Most of his work being of a social nature, he held the title of unit supervisor in the juvenile aid bureau.

A World War II veteran, he served in the Army from April 1944 to October 1946, rising from buck private to first lieutenant. While in the Army, he did a tour of duty in Manila as court - martial officer.

Besides his City College degree, Mr. Mangrum also holds a law degree from Brooklyn Law school. He was admitted to the New York State Bar in November 1949.

At present he is doing graduate work at New York university, where he is studying social psychology.

Work Cut Out For Him

Expecting to draw heavily upon Mr. Mangrum's social work background, Commissioner Adams says he hopes to use him to help improve the relations of the police department with social and welfare agencies.

Mr. Mangrum resigned his position in the uniformed force prior to taking the oath of office from Commissioner Adams in the board room at police headquarters on Wednesday.

Wife, Son See Ceremony

Following the swearing - in ceremonies, Commissioner Adams said:

"I am confident that Commissioner Mangrum will make a great contribution in the field of intergroup and interfaith relations, both within the department and with the community at large, and by that I mean groups of all kinds."

The ceremonies were witnessed by the new deputy commissioner's wife, the former Miss Gladys Scott, and their son, Paul, 4. The family makes its home at 2235 Fifth ave.

High Police Post Taken By Negro

Robert J. Mangum, thirty-two-year-old Negro police lieutenant, was sworn in yesterday as Seventh Deputy Police Commissioner by Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams.

Commissioner Mangum succeeds William L. Rowe, Negro newspaper man and press agent who was appointed to the post in October, 1951, and resigned on Friday.

Commissioner Mangum is the first man chosen directly from the ranks of the department for the deputy commissionership which was created in 1946 by Mayor William O'Dwyer for his old friend, the late Frank C. Bals. Mr. Bals had been a police officer but had retired years before his appointment.

Commissioner Mangum, a member of the bar, resigned at noon after eleven years in the Police Department, so that he could accept the $9,000-a-year civilian post. His salary as a lieutenant was $5,830.

Commissioner Mangum took the oath in the presence of his wife and his son Paul, four. A native of Virginia, he has lived in New York for twenty years and now resides at 2235 Fifth Ave. He was formerly supervisor of Unit 5, Juvenile Aid Bureau, at the Alexander Ave. Station in the Bronx. He is a graduate of City College and received a law degree at Brooklyn Law School in 1949. He is now taking a post-graduate course in Sociology at New York University. He is a veteran of World War II and served as an Army court-martial officer in Manila.

The new deputy commissioner is active in the Urban League of Greater New York and a director of the 110th St. Community Center. He is a past president and founder of the Guardians Association of the Police Department and a member of its St. George Association. He joined the department in December, 1942, became a sergeant in January, 1950, and a lieutenant on Dec. 31, 1951.

"I am confident that Commissioner Mangum will make a great contribution in the field of intergroup and interfaith relations, both with the department and with the community at large, and by that I mean groups of all kinds," said Commissioner Adams.

Don Rice

Robert J. Mangum, new 7th Deputy Police Commissioner, in his office.

LONGEST TOUR OF DUTY:

Harlem police officer set to retire after 34 years

Afro-American p. 9

NEW YORK — The head of the Manhattan East Youth Squad, Capt. Emanuel Kline, a member of the New York Police force for 34 years, will retire May 16.

Assigned to the 32nd Precinct, Captain Kline, now 61, joined the force in 1920, shortly after his discharged from the Army.

A native of Beauford County, S.C., the police officer was the youngest of 15 children. When he joined the force, he said, there were only five or six colored policemen.

His 34 years of service is the longest tenure of any other colored policeman. He has received three departmental commendations, five citations for excellent duties and the pistol shot medal.

In his many years of service Captain Kline says he has never shot anyone, nor has been shot, although he has been in many shooting scrapes.

Following retirment, the police officer intends to sell insurance and continue his work in the Harlem community with churches, youth groups and other social organizations.

Herald Tribune p. 13

Don Rice

Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams congratulating Patrolman Vincent Beckles during a ceremony at Police Headquarters yesterday in which he commended members of the force for meritorious service. Patrolmen Beckles and Charles J. Garri (right foreground) were honored for apprehending two men accused of killing a fisherman at Coney Island. Patrolman Beckles was also honored for capturing a thug who attacked him with a knife.

Congratulations From the Commissioner

Eighteen policemen who have performed acts of the "highest quality" in recent weeks were personally congratulated by Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams in informal ceremonies at Police Headquarters yesterday. Those congratulated included Patrolman Vincent Beckles, of the W. 100th St. station, who was honored for two feats. One was the arrest on July 6, with Patrolman Charles J. Garri, of two youths suspected of fatal bludgeoning of a fisherman at Coney Island, and the other the capture of four purse-snatching suspects. Patrolman Garri also was honored. Captain Walter Clarke, of the W. 68th St. station, and several of his men were congratulated for preventing a forty-five-year-old woman from a suicide leap from a window of the Hotel Endicott, 440 Columbus Ave., last July 7. Other acts which brough praise included the capture of gunmen, the disarming of an armed man and the saving of a knife victim's life through the proper application of pressure at vital points.

33 1954

NEW YORK

James E. Amos, Top FBI Man Dies In New York

NEW YORK — (ANP) — James E. Amos, ranking Negro FBI special agent, died Saturday of a heart attack at his home, 107-01 [illegible] Place, Jamaica, L. I. Amos, 74, who had been valet and body guard for President Theodore Roosevelt was born in Washington, D. C.

RODE WITH ROOSEVELT

His father, Joseph F. Amos, a mounted policeman, rode with President Roosevelt on his daily canters in Rock Creek Park. The President once asked the policeman if he had a son who would be willing to work for him. That was James, then 22, got his start in the White House. Twenty years later, 1921, Amos joined the FBI, working in the New York office until his retirement last October.

He received several personal commendations from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. Amos was a crack shot and a tough man to fool.

Seldom did he visit Harlem—except in the line of duty. Whenever the stocky, gray-eyed Amos was seen in upper New York, the word was out he was on a man hunt.

ARRESTED MARCUS GARVEY

Long before he won special commendation for his part in exposing the spies operating in New York (made famous in the movie the "House on 82nd Street" in which 33 persons were sentenced for having helped steal United States secrets for Nazi Germany, Amos had established his reputation.

It was Amos who arrested Marcus Garvey while he was aboard a New York Central train returning to Harlem from Chicago meeting. Garvey planned to go directly to Grand Central Station in West 42nd Street where a throng of his followers awaited him. But Amos boarded the train at Harmon where it stopped to change engines, went directly to Garvey's compartment, placed him under arrest and removed him at 125th Street before anyone knew what happened.

SEA-PLANE DROPPED

Amos was equally as tough on Hubert Julian, then widely advertising his contemplated plane flight to Africa. Julian has an old sea-plane moored in the Harlem river near 133rd street. A great crowd was on hand that Sunday to see the self-styled "Black Eagle" take off on a flight to Africa. Julian's ship did take off but when he was over the Flushing Meadows—just about ten miles from the site of the take-off, the sea-plane dropped a pontoon and crashed in the salty Flushing marshes.

Julian went to a local hospital and one of his first visitors, as Amos often related it, was Amos himself. Amos was watching every act Julian performed and had he not taken off that afternoon, Amos was prepared to place him under arrest.

Amos' hero was Theodore Roosevelt—whom he styled the "real Roosevelt." He went everywhere with the President, except to Milwaukee—and that was when the President was the victim of a near assassination. Amos often recalled that visit and could never understand why "Teddy" left home.

An expert marskman, Amos had a valuable collection of revolvers. He also passed on all the guns given Roosevelt—one of the greatest hunters ever in the White House. If Amos refused to pass the gun—it was returned.

Billy Rowe Defender Quits N. Y. Police Post

Chicago, Ill. Sat. 2-6-54

NEW YORK — William "Billy" Rowe, noted newspaper columnist and New York City's only Negro deputy police commissioner, resigned last Thursday from the police post. P. 2

Rowe submitted his resignation in a letter to Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams, who accepted the resignation and thanked Rowe for services rendered the department during the past two years.

The 40-year-old Rowe, who plans to enter private business in the film industry, was named seventh deputy commissioner in August, 1951. He is known nationally for his column on the entertainment world, which appears weekly in the Pittsburgh Courier.

Youngest Man On Record To Acquire Post

33 NY

NEW YORK — (ANP) — A youthful Negro police lieutenant was named last week by Mayor Robert Wagner to replace ex-newsman Billy Rowe as seventh deputy police commissioner of the city of New York.

The new commissioner is Robert Mangum, 32, a police department career man who was a $5,230-a-year police lieutenant at the time of his appointment. In his new post he will earn $9,000 a year as a boss of "New York's Finest."

Commissioner Mangum is the youngest police deputy of any race ever to be sworn into office. Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams conducted the swearing in ceremonies. Sun 2-7-54

OTHER JOBS

His promotion climaxes a career of 11 years in the police department during which Mangum has served as a supervisor of Unit 5, Juvenile Aid Bureau, and in other jobs. He joined the force as a patrolman in 1942, was promoted to sergeant, Jan. 1, 1950 and to lieutenant, Dec. 31, 1951.

Mangum is the son-in-law of Walter Scott, former manager of the Hotel Theresa. He is married to the former Gladys Scott, and they have a 4-year-old son, Paul. Born in Petersburg, Va., he spent most of his childhood in New York after a short period of time in Detroit.

A veteran of World War II, he is a graduate of City College of New York and the Brooklyn Law School. He was admitted to the bar in November, 1949. Currently he is enrolled in graduate courses at New York university in sociology.

POLICE OFFICERS

Active in community affairs, Commissioner Mangum is the founder of the Guardians Association of police officers and a member of the New York Urban League, the 110th Street Community Center, the Bronx council of the New York Youth Board, Abyssinia Baptist church, Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity and the Gaylords.

Mangum said he is interested in better relations between the police department and the community. He is the second Negro named to this post.

The first was Rowe, appointed two years ago by the then Mayor Vincent Impelliatterri. Rowe resigned two weeks ago to take a high executive position with a movie company, Federated Films, Inc. He worked as a liaison with minority groups, the same job Mangum will do, and received several citations for his intergroup and interfaith relations work.

NEGRO QUITS POST AS POLICE OFFICIAL

Times-Picayune, La.

33 NY

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—William Rowe, only Negro ever appointed as a deputy police commissioner in New York city, resigned the $9000 a year post Friday to head a motion picture concern. Sun. 1-31-54

Rowe said in his letter of resignation he was assuming the presidency of Federated Films, Inc., which recently produced "The Joe Louis Story." The firm has offices in Chicago and Hollywood. P. 12

He said he was getting a "substantial increase" over his police salary and that pressure of responsibilities to his family caused him to forego a personal preference to continue in public service.

N.Y. Cop Now Commissioner

New Commissioner— Paul Mangum, 4½, shines the badge of his dad, Lieut. Robert J. Mangum, New York's newly appointed Seventh Deputy Commissioner. Looking on at Police Headquarters are Mrs. Gladys Mangum and Police Commissioner Adams. Mangum, a career policeman, succeeds Billy Rowe, who resigned the $9,000-a-year post.

Negro Police Officer Resigns

Seventh Deputy Police Commissioner William L. Rowe, the first Negro to become a Deputy Police Commissioner, sent his resignation yesterday to Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams. Commissioner Adams accepted it in a note expressing appreciation of Mr. Rowe's services.

Mr. Rowe said he resigned to become president of the Federated Films, Inc., of 156 W. 44th St., the corporation which produced the "Joe Louis Story." His salary as deputy commissioner was $9,000.

PAUL MANGUM, four and one-half years old, is shown shining the badge of his father, Lieutenant Robert J. Mangum. The youthful police lieutenant was recently appointed deputy police commissioner by Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City. Mangum is the seventh such commissioner to be appointed and he succeeds Billy Rowe, New York newsman in the post. — (N. Y. Daily News Photo)

Afro American
P. 13
Newark, N.J.
Sat 2-13-54

FIRST IN 50 YEARS—Officers William Hill, left, and E. L. Haynes, Wilmington's (N.C.) first officers of their race in more than 50 years, pay a call on T. C. Jervay, president of the Business and Professional Men's club, which spearheaded the drive for their appointment. (Photo by Howard)

Journal
Wilmington, N.C
P. 1
Sat. 5-1-54
33
N.C

NEW POLICE OFFICER — Wilmingtons' third Negro policeman to be appointed since last December is Geo. W. Davis, above. The first two officers have made a good record, according to police department officials, and are receiving wholehearted support from Negro and white citizens. — Howard Photo.

Small Town Hires 2 Negro Police Officers

BY EWEL CARTER

CLINTON, N.C. (ANP)-- This North Carolina city last week named two Negro officers to its police department, according to Police Chief E. L. Grumble.

The officers are James Lee Faison and Zack William Landis, the first members of their race to serve on the Clinton police force. They will begin their new duties on July 1, the police chief said.

Faison, who is a native of Rocksboro, N.C. is 29 years old, married, and a veteran of 28 months service in the U.S. Army. He was graduated from Fayetteville State Teachers College last year.

A native of Creedmoor, N.C. Landis is 25. He also attended Fayetteville State Teachers College for two years. He is a graduate of the American Detective School in New York City.

Burlington

FAMILY SCENE

Earl Berry Jr. says goodbye to his 6-month old daughter, Earldene, before going on duty. A policeman since 1949, Mr. Berry is 32 and a veteran of World War II. He served with the 899th Combat Engineer Battalion in Europe. Mrs. Berry is the former Roberta Cooke, of Burlington.

(Photos By Scott Henderson)

Police Chief In All-Negro N.C. Town Attacked, Cut

Special to Journal and Guide

TABORO, N. C.—The chief of the police force in North Carolina's all-Negro town of Princeville near here, was seriously cut last week when he tried to protect a white man from unprovoked attack.

Chief Jim Jones was brought to a local hospital Sunday morning suffering from knife wounds inflicted by a man identified as 'Professor' Jimmy Jackson of West Palm Beach, Fla.

THE PEACE officer was slashed about the stomach, writst and leg when he reportedly tried to keep 'Professor' Jackson from "jumping on" an unidentified white man.

Edgecombe county authorities joined in the search for the assailant who fled the scene of the attack and found him, after a four-hour search near Leggett.

He is being held in the county jail here pending outcome of Chief Jones' condition.

Lumberton Hires Negro Policemen

LUMBERTON, Oct. 31—For the first time in the history of the City of Lumberton, Negroes have been employed by the police department.

Police Chief W. M. Harris announced today that two men have been employed and will begin their official duties Monday. Both men are Lumberton residents.

Chief Harris said the two would work Monday, although their uniforms have not yet arrived. They have been sworn in by Judge W. B. Ivey and will work with full authority, although in training.

When they are finished with training, the two Negro police will patrol the South Lumberton area regularly and will have a police sub-station there with telephone call box.

Provisions for the two Negro policemen, Gerald ~~and~~ Regans, was made in the annual city budget this year and applicants for the job have been carefully screened for several months. As is department custom, they will be on probation until their training period is completed and will be assured of permanent jobs if they qualify in training.

Second Fire Captain Named At Ohio City

TOLEDO, O. — (ANP) — Promotion of the second Negro fire officer to the rank of captain was announced here last week.

Fire Lt. Robert D. Herron, 44, will become captain Jan. 16 and be assigned to a fire station located outside a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

The new captain was named to the fire department July 16, 194 He was promoted to fire lieutenant Sept. 1, 1951.

The first Negro to be made fire captain was Alfred Stuart, who has held the rank since July 16, 1952. He was named a lieutenant in 1948.

Toledo gets 2nd fire captain

TOLEDO, Ohio (ANP)—Promotion of the second colored fire officer to the rank of captain was announced here last week.

Fire Lt. Robert D. Herron, 44, will become captain Jan. 16 and be assigned to a fire station located outside a predominantly colored neighborhood. He was named to the fire department in 1940 and made a lieutenant in 1951.

The first colored person to be made fire captain was Alfred Stuart, who has held the rank since 1952. He was named a lieutenant in 1948.

Negro Named Fire Capt.

TOLEDO, Ohio (ANP)—Promotion of the second Negro fire officer to the rank of captain was announced here last week. Fire Lieut. Robert D. Herron, 44, will become captain Jan. 16.

Policewomen make too few arrests, shifted

TOLEDO, O. (ANP)—Lack of arrests in so-called colored night club districts resulted in the sudden transfer of an interracial policewomen team from the morals squad to the women's bureau.

The two officers, Nina Hunt and her white partner, Olive Casida, had made only 15 arrests, mostly for common drunkenness in the four months preceding the transfer, their superior officers said. They were the first of their sex in the Toledo police department to wear uniforms. On their new assignment in the women's bureau they were ordered out of uniforms into street attire.

Second Negro Lieutenant

TOLEDO, Ohio — Detective Sgt. Roy Shelton has been promoted to detective lieutenant, the first Negro policeman to achieve that rank under civil service here.

Shelton's promotion was made possible by the retirement of a veteran white detective, who will forego three weeks vacation by leaving the police department at this time.

A GRADUATE of Wilberforce and Ohio State Universities, Shelton is a veteran of fifteen years on the force.

The only other Negro to attain the rank of lieutenant was the late Detective Edward R. Harris, who died in 1949.

Retire police officer after 34 years duty

TOLEDO, Ohio (ANP) — William Gordon, a policeman here 34 years, has retired. Gordon is on extended sick leave and vacation and his retirement date will become effective July 1.

His departure leaves four patrolmen, two policewomen and one detective lieutenant who are colored, in the Toledo police department.

Named Police Inspector at Columbus, Ohio

COLUMBUS, O.—(ANP)—A Negro police captain here has become one of the highest ranking police officials of his race in the nation.

Capt. Harvey H. Alston's elevation to the rank of inspector, second highest police office in the city, became automatic upon the death of Inspector Thomas A. Scully.

Alston, 48, is widely known as one of two brothers in the city's safety services, the other being Fire Capt. Coy T. Alston.

Expressing regrets at the death of Inspector Scully, Alston said:

"I consider it (promotion) a very high honor. Uppermost in my mind, always, will be the public good and that of the Columbus police department."

Columbus has one of the highest ranking Negro fire department officers in the nation, in Battalion Chief Herman Harrison. The city also has three fire department captains—John C. Johnson, Carl R. Jones and Alston, and eight Negro lieutenants scattered throughout the fire department.

Alston entered the police department in 1937. He became a sergeant in 1946, lieutenant in 1948 and captain in 1952. All his promotions were results of civil service examinations. He missed becoming chief of police in examinations last spring by a narrow margin.

Prominent in civic and fraternal affairs, Alston is president, Frontiers club, a 32nd degree mason, NAACP member and serves on an Ohio State university juvenile research committee.

Married, his wife is Mrs. Fannie Alston; they have two children, Harvey Jr., 7 and June Frances, 9.

In Columbus, Ohio

Name Alston Inspector of Police Force

(Staff Correspondent)

COLUMBUS, Ohio—The highest-ranking Negro police official in the nation is 48-year-old Harvey H. Alston, who last week became inspector of this city's vast police force.

He missed out earlier in the year as chief of police, following a civil service test, by a fraction of a point.

* * *

ALSTON, WHO joined the police force in 1937, rose from the ranks by dint of hard work. From patrolman, he advanced in regular stages to the vice squad, street sergeant, lieutenant and captain.

Alston, also the first Negro police captain in the city, became eligible for the position of inspector earlier this year. During a competitive examination for the appointment as police chief, he was edged out by George Scholer by .3 of a point.

Thus, Alston headed the qualified list for inspector . . . and when Inspector Thomas A. Scully died in a local hospital last week, Alston succeeded him.

AS INSPECTOR, Alston will be charged with carrying out general supervision of the Police Department, under Chief Scholer's direction. When Scholer is out of the city . . . or away from active participation . . . Alston will take over as Acting Police Chief. In an exclusive statement to the Courier, Alston said:

" . . . Uppermost in my mind always, will be the public good and that of the Columbus Poilce Department."

This city, capital of Ohio, with a population of more than 300,000, is one of the major communities in the Midwest.

* * *

BORN IN Graham, N. C., in 1906, Alston came to Columbus in 1913, with his family, and finished elementary and high school.

HARVEY ALSTON

After working in the steel mills of Chicago and Gary, young Alston returned to the city in 1927 as an insurance salesman. With the depression, he joined the Ohio National Guard maintenance unit, working up from private in 1930 to captain in 1940.

In 1937, encouraged by Col. Hoard C. Gilbert of the ONG and a city policeman for twenty-seven years, Alston took both the police and fireman's examinations. He finished first in fire; eighth in police, but took the police appointment.

RECOGNIZED AS an expert on drugs and drug addicts, he also headed the Juvenile Bureau, starting in 1950.

Friends insist that much credit for Alston's sensational rise in the city's police department must go to State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

Rhodes, while Mayor of the city, cleaned up civil service and ordered the Civil Service Commission to appoint men and women from the list, without regard to race, color or sex.

It was only after this order went into effect, that Alston started moving ahead. He became sergeant, lieutenant and captain while Rhodes was in office.

QUESTIONED ABOUT his influence, Rhodes insists: "Harvey made the grade because he had the qualifications. He moved ahead on his own."

Alston lives with his charming wife, Fannie, in their Columbus home, along with two children, Francis, 9, and Harvey Jr., 7. He has two other daughters by a previous marriage. They are Mrs. Adelaide Bland and Mrs. Verna Jean Spann.

His brother, Coy T. Alston, is a captain in the local fire department.

THE NEW inspector is a Past Exalted Ruler of Franklin Lodge, IBPOEW, a 32nd degree Mason, a Shriner, president of the local Frontiers Club and a trustee of Second Baptist Church.

He is also a member of the newly created Ohio State University Research Committee, studying services to juvenile delinquents in state institutions.

Captain Harvey H. Alston Named to Inspector's Job

World Birmingham, Ala.
Tues. 11-23-54
P. 1
P. 5

COLUMBUS, O. — (ANP) — A Negro police captain here has become one of the highest ranking police officials of his race in the nation.

Capt. Harvey H. Alston's elevation to the rank of inspector, second highest police office in the city, became automatic upon the death of inspector Thomas A. Scully.

Alston, 48, is widely known as one of two brothers in the citys safety services, the other being Fire Capt Coy T .Alston.

Expressing regrets at the death of Inspector Scully, Alston said:

"I consider it (promotion)a very high honor. Uppermost in my mind, always, will be the public good and that of the Columbus police department.

Columbus has one of the highest ranking Negro fire department officers in the nation in Battalion Chief Herman Harrison. The city also has three fire department captains—John C. Johnson, Carl R. Jones and Alston, and eight Negro lieutenants scattered throughout the fire department.

Alston entered the police department in 1937. He became a sergeant in 1946, liutenant in 1948 and captain in 1952. All his promotions were results of civil service examinations. He missed becoming chief of police in examinations last spring by a narrow margin.

Prominent in civic and fraternal affairs, Alston is president, Frontiers club, a 32nd degree mason, NAACP member and serves on an Ohio State university juvenile research committee.

Married, his wife is Mrs. Fannie Alston; they have two children, Harvey, Jr., 7, and June Frances, 9.

Firemen file suit in Ohio

Afro-American
Sat. 11-27-54

Ask membership in locomotive union

NEW YORK — A. Philip Randolph, chairman of the Provisional Committee to Organize Colored Locomotive Firemen, announced that a suit was filed last week in the Federal Court in Cleveland Ohio, to vindicate the rights of colored firemen to membership in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Mr. Randolph stated that this is a test case and that the colored firemen and his organization are prepared to carry it all the way to the Supreme Court if that should prove necessary.

Baltimore, Md.

HE ADDED that his organization had retained the services of Joseph L. Rauh Jr. of Washington, an attorney, to direct the litigation. Walter C. Kelley is acting as local counsel in Cleveland.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen represents both the colored and white locomotive firemen in collective bargaining with the various railroads, Mr. Randolph paid, but it refuses to admit colored men to membership.

In fact, he said it has an explicit provision in its constitution and by-laws forbidding colored people from becoming members.

Captain Harvey H. Alston Named to Inspector's Job

Daily World P. 1
33 Ohio

COLUMBUS, O. — (ANP) — A Negro police captain here has become one of the highest ranking police officials of his race in the nation.

Atlanta, Ga.

Capt. Harvey H. Alston's elevation to the rank of inspector, second highest police office in the city, became automatic upon the death of inspector Thomas A. Scully.

Sun. 11-21-54

Alston, 48, is widely known as one of two brothers in the citys safety services, the other being Fire Capt. Coy T .Alston.

Expressing regrets at the death of Inspector Scully, Alston said:

"I consider it (promotion)a very high honor. Uppermost in my mind, always, will be the public good and that of the Columbus police department.

Columbus has one of the highest ranking Negro fire department officers in the nation in Battalion Chief Herman Harrison. The city also has three fire department captains—John C. Johnson, Carl R. Jones and Alston, and eight Negro lieutenants scattered throughout the fire department.

Alston entered the police department in 1937. He became a sergeant in 1946, liutenant in 1948 and captain in 1952. All his promotions were results of civil service examinations. He missed becoming chief of police in examinations last spring by a narrow margin.

Prominent in civic and fraternal affairs, Alston is president, Frontiers club, a 32nd degree mason, NAACP member and serves on an Ohio State university juvenile research committee.

Married, his wife is Mrs. Fannie Alston; they have two children, Harvey, Jr., 7; and June Frances, 9.

Four New Policemen Assigned To No. Tulsa

By Thelma T. Gorham

Part of a campaign promise made to the voters of North Tulsa by Police Commission-John W. Henderson was fulfilled Tuesday, Nov. 30, when four carefully screened and highly recommended young Negroes were sworn in and assigned to duty in the section of the city that has been most under-staffed in police officers.

A quota of eight new policemen, which would bring the total strength to 23 Negro patrolmen in North Tulsa, has been approved by the police commissioner. This week, out of a total of five new men hired for the police department, four were Negroes, whom Commissioner Henderson has approved as a part of his program to hire the finest young men available for the Tulsa police department. A fifth Negro, hired last week, is on leave to play professional football, and will begin active duty January 1.

All of the men were subjected to intensive screening by the Tulsa Urban league, and come highly recommended by M. M. Taylor, Urban league executive director, and other prominent citizens of the North Tulsa community. They were all hired strictly on their merits and without any "political pull" whatsoever.

Proud of New Men

"We are proud of these new officers," Chief of Police Joe McGuire declared this week.

Chief of Police Joe McGuire was particularly impressed with the new officers who passed the civil service tests, mental and physical examinations required by law and thorough background checks with "flying colors." "We are proud of these new officers," the police chief said. "They are the cream of the crop and we expect a lot of them." McGuire gave credit to the Tulsa Urban league for having done "an outstanding job of screening over 50 men to get these four."

The four new policemen, who will be assigned to duty as uniformed field patrol officers in radio patrol cars, are:

Herbert Herman Hunter, 23 years old a graduate of Booker T. Washington high school, Tulsa, who lives at 776 East Queen street. A former B. T. W. Washington football star and pro football player, Hunter was born in Tulsa. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Herbert Hunter, formerly of Haskell. He has had to years of college training at Tennessee State university, where he also played on the grid team. A former Marine of two years' service, he is married and has two children, Albert M. and Brenda Joyce.

James Oliver Wimberly, 30, of 1105 1-2 North Lansing avenue, is a graduate and former basketball star of Booker T. Washington high school, Tulsa. He is a navy veteran of two years, ten months service. He is married to the former Naomi Williams, talented young pianist and television artist, and is the father of two children, Sherryl Ann and James Clayton.

James Hollis Jennings, 22 years old, who lives at 1065 North Madison avenue. He is a native of Tulsa and a graduate of Booker T. Washington high school of this city. He was graduated in the B. T. Washington class of 1948. He is married and has three children.

Lloyd Bryce Monroe, 26, 2631 North Quaker avenue, was formerly a mail carrier in Tulsa. He is a graduate of Lincoln high school, Kansas City, Mo. He spent three years as a student of the University of California at Berkeley, where he pursued a pre-med course with a major in physiology. Monroe spent 11 months in the Army Air corps. He is married and has one son, Lloyd B. Monroe, Jr., 17 months old.

Fifth to Start Jan. 1

A fifth officers who will not assume his duties until January 1, 1955 is Harold Turner, former Booker T. Washington grid star. He is on leave to finish out the season as a player with the championship professional Detroit Lions football team. Turner was hired last week. He has had three years of college training, two as a student at Tennessee State university and one year at Langston university.

After January 1, all of the new police officers will be assigned to the Police Training academy for an intensive course in modern police methods, under the direction of Captain Clinton E. Riggs, training officer.

The Police Training academy, which is held at Tulsa university, is conducted at the college level of study and courses, which accounts for the special emphasis that has been placed on securing men with at least a high school education for these positions, according to Capt. Riggs.

Meanwhile, the new rookie officers also will have access to one of the finest police libraries in the country to help them in their quest for law enforcemen tand related information. Moreover, Capt. Riggs emphasizes that every effort will be made to help them develop into the kind of officers who will be a credit to their race and their community.

ADDED TO NORTH TULSA'S 'FINEST' officers. They were photographed during swearing-in ceremonies this week at the office as the oath of office was being administered by Police Commissioner Henderson and Chief of Police Joe McGuire. From left to right, shown here are: Herbert Hunter, James Hollis Jennings, Herman Lloyd Bryce Monroe, James Oliver Wimberly, Tulsa Police department, and Chief of Police McGuire, Hen. Guire.

OFFICER UPPED; LIEUTENANT IS MADE SERGEANT

TULSA — A series of important changes in police personnel, training and services which will have direct bearing on police practices and protection in the North Tulsa area were instituted here this week by Police Commissioner John Henderson. Earlier, in a joint announcement by the new police commissioner and Police Chief Joe McGuire, Negro Detective, Lt. A. W. (Skippy) Berry had been reduced to the rank of sergeant and Officer John Smitherman, another Negro, had been promoted to detective sergeant.

Anent that action, Commissioner Henderson declared that there was "nothing personal" in the demotion of Berry. "He is a good officer," Henderson asserted in regard to the former police lieutenant. "But the equitable thing was to move Smitherman back up there because he also is a good officer."

To Emphasize Training Personnel

More emphasis on the training of personnel is being planned, the commissioner told an Oklahoma Eagle reporter this week. An indication of this new emphasis is noted in the move to create a captaincy in training and personnel.

The new captaincy, to which Capt. Clinton Riggs, a Northwestern university trained man and former Tulsa police Sergeant, has been recommended, will fill a long time need for specialized recruitment and training of personnel, according to Henderson. It will be the job of the new captain of training and personnel to recruit and train new personnel as well as to train personnel already in service, he said.

Plans are also being made to analyze and study practices of personnel in each specific department in order to make recommendations to prove more efficient service in all departments, the commissioner said.

One of the most far-reaching phases of the new commiissioner's plans, and one calculated to greatly improve police methods throughout the city of Tulsa, is the assignment of four officers to attend the Southwestern Homicide Investigators' seminar, May 24 to May 28, at Oklahoma City.

Scheduled to be held at the University of Oklahoma School of Medicine, the seminar staff will include a number of persons who are prominent in criminology throughout the state and nation. Counselors will include Wayne Harbolt, chief of detectives, Oklahoma City and Capt. Harry Stege, homicide detail, Tulsa police department.

Capt. Stege is one of the quartet of Tulsans who will attend the seminar. There will be no Negro officers in the group assigned to attend the seminar, but all Tulsa police officers, Negro and white, alike, will benefit from the training given at the seminar, according to the commissioner. "Those who attend will come back and pass on what they have learned in our local training program," he stated.

The subjects to be covered in the Homicide Investigator's seminar are all calculated to definitely step-up methods in homicide investigation and follow-up detail and hasten the decrease of unsolved crimes in Tulsa.

Some of the subjects to be covered are: police duties at scene of crime, viewing bodies, problems of identifying a body, functions of a medical examiner, identification of skeletal remains, differentiating accidental death, suicide and homicide, X-ray studies in establishing identity and manner of death, bodies recovered from fires, abortion, death of infants, poisoning (homicidal, suicidal, accidental), errors in homicide investigation, sexual perversion and homicide.

Tulsa Gets Four More Negro Police

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 4—Part of a campaign promise made to the voters of North Tulsa by Police Commissioner, John W. Henderson was fulfilled Tuesday, Nov. 30, when four carefully screened and highly recommended young Negroes were sworn in and assigned to duty in the section of the city that has been most understaffed in police officers.

A quota of eight new policemen, which would bring the total strength to 23 Negro patrolmen in North Tulsa, has been approved by the police commissioner. This week, out of a total of five new men hired for the police department, four were Negroes, whom Commissioner Henderson has approved as a part of his program to hire the finest young men available for the Tulsa police department. A fifth Negro, hired last week, is on leave to play professional football, and will begin active duty January 1.

All of the men were subjected to intensive screening by the Tulsa Urban League, and come highly recommended by M. M. Taylor, Urban league executive director, and other prominent citizens of the North Tulsa community they were all hired strictly on their merits and without any "political pull" whatsoever.

Proud Of New Men

"We are proud of these new officers," Chief of Police Joe McGuire declared this week.

NAACP Asks For Negro Firemen

Quiz of Mayor, Fire Commissioner Planned

Eagle Tulsa Oklahoma

A demand for Negro firemen in the Tulsa city fire department was issued this week by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People following a special meeting of local NAACP leaders. At this meeting the NAACP also declared its interest in quizzing the mayor and the fire commissioner on this subject and about what has happened to promises made in this connection.

In a statement made to the Eagle the NAACP spokesmen declared:

"The NAACP and the colored people of Tulsa want to know what are city officials going to do about their pre-election promises and post-election promises to hire Negro firemen.

"Before they were voted into office, the mayor, the fire commissioner and others personally told the Hungry Club, the Greenwood Chamber of Commerce and other groups of Negroes in North Tulsa that they definitely would employ colored firemen if they were elected.

"After getting into office, they repeated the promises.

"Today, six months have passed, and we still hear nothing more than promises. We are tired of statements; we want some action. To us, action means Negro firemen on duty."

The leaders cited the following sequence of what they call a "runaround" on the subject of Negro firemen in Tulsa:

After publicly declaring themselves in favor of Negro firemen, city officials hired 24 new white firemen, then told Negroes they had no more money. They asked them to wait until the new fiscal year began in July. Last July has come and gone, but so far nothing has been said about hiring Negro firemen.

Several Negroes have been screened, but no jobs have come up. The city has the names of Negroes interested in working for the fire department, but the city has done nothing about them.

Citing the fact that Oklahoma City has 12 colored firemen, and numerous cities throughout the South use Negro firemen, the NAACP leaders said:

"We are taxpayers, too. We deserve the right to jobs that are paid for by money collected as taxes. Therefore, we want the mayor and the fire commissioner to know that we have not forgotten their promises to hire Negro firemen in Tulsa."

Appointments fair, Cunningham says

Afro-American
Baltimore, Md.

PHILADELPHIA

The promotion of four colored officers to the rank of police inspectors and the placing of two others on civil service eligible list is evidence of the fairness of the present city administration. Sat. 1-9-54

This is what Civil Service Commissioner E. Luther Cunningham stated to the AFRO, on Monday. P. 22

The declaration was in response to a question raised last week by a newspaper as to whether or not the failure of the administration to include a colored officer among the seven promoted to police inspector was due to discrimination.

At the same time, the Rev. Mr. Cunningham, who is pastor of Saint Paul's Baptist church, criticized the newspaper article as "An example of dishonest, yellow journalism. . . ."

Officers Lauded

The minister praised the policemen who were certified on the eligible lists established for police inspector, captain and lieutenant promotions.

These officers who have achieved positions on these eligible lists did so on a basis of proven ability in a fairly administered examination, the civil service commissioner declared.

He added: "It cost them nothing. They made no contribution to any ward leader. They did not have to demean themselves to obtain the favor of certain powerful political figures.

"They did not have to ask anyone either to intervene or intercede for them.

"They were adjudged eligible for the examinations. They entered the competition and they earned their certified rating."

Politics Seen

He said that in some sections of the press these facts had been distorted "for obvious political advantage.

"This is to me an example of dishonest journalism . . . . They seemingly would rather stress their biased political interest than report truthfully to the community the situation as it really is," the civil service commissioner concluded.

Criticism has been leveled at the police department with the implication that discrimination prevented the swearing in of Allen Ballard, who ranked ninth on the inspector's eligible list.

A total of seven inspectors was sworn in, and this fact was used as proof of discrimination.

Francis' Statement

Administrative Analyist John Francis of Managing Director Robert K. Sawyer's Office, confirmed Commissioner Cunningham's stand that both the examinations and appointments were fairly administered.

"Back in July, of this year, the budget for the Police Department was approved" Francis said.

"This approved budget cut the number of inspectors from 13 to 11. Of the 11 authorized inspectors four were permanent. Upon the establishment of the eligible list for this category, there were only seven vacancies. The first seven men were appointed.

He said the approved budget document is available for any citizen to inspect. It spells out the facts and the allocation of $71,280 for salaries for inspectors in the police department.

Results of the recent examinations for the rank of inspector in the police department were as follows:

William F. Quirk, Albert N. Brown, Howard R. Leary, Franklin P. Luckman, Albert J. Trimmer, John F. O'Neill, John J. Kelly, Dennis P. Rooney, Allen B. Ballard (colored), Robert J. Selfridge, Howard T. Kennedy, Joseph J. McGurk, Joseph E. Brennan, Howard R. Gatter, Albert E. DuBois, Harry J. Wilhere, William M. Stockman, William P. Britton, Joseph F. Halferty, John J. Hannan, Clarence F. Jones (colored), Aloysius F. Trevi, Theodore D. Mitchell, David H. Roberts, Leonard J. O'Regan, James F. Keane and Joseph P. Cunnane.

There were 458 applicants for the inspector's position.

Those earning a passing grade totaled 27, while 92 failed to report for the examination. After applying for the application, one policeman resigned.

Cunningham also indicated that some colored policemen are on the eligible lists for additional promotions in the Police Department.

Allen Ballard named inspector of police in Philadelphia

Afro-American

PHILADELPHIA

Allen B. Ballard, 49, of Germantown, Thursday, was appointed an inspector in the Philadelphia Police Department, becoming the first person of his race to reach such a high post in the history of the department.

A member of the local police force since May 15, 1941, he had been made a deputy inspector from the rank of the lieutenancy on Dec. 23, 1953. A former Virginia Union star athlete, he is married to Mrs. Hilda Ballard, and has three sons, two of them now in the Army.

1st Negro In Penn. Patrol

Chron. 33
Phila. Pa.

HARRISBURGH, Pa—(I N S)—The first Negro Recruit in history of the Pennsylvania State police has been admitted to the organization's training school at Hershey.

He is John H. Dudley, 22 of Wilkes-Barre, the son of a coal miner and a veteran who served in Germany and Japan.

If Dudley passes the requirements of the training school he will become the first Negro State Trooper in the enforcement agency's 49 year existence.

Gov. John S. Fine said he was "most delighted" to learn that a racial barrier has been shattered.

First Negro Studies To Be Pa. State Policeman

Journal & Guide
Norfolk, Virginia

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(INS)—The first Negro recruit in the history of the Pennsylvania State Police has been admitted to the organization's training school at Hershey. P. 3

He is John H. Dudley, 22, of Wilkes-Barre, the son of a coal miner and a veteran who served in Germany and Japan.

If Dudley passes the requirements of the training school, he will become the first Negro state trooper in the enforcement agency's 49-year existence.

Gov. John S. Fine said he was "most delighted" to learn that a racial barrier has been shattered.

LADY POLICEMEN — These women, among the 12 recently appointed by the traffic bureau of the Spartanburg police department, are (from left), at top Mrs. Ruby B. Epps of 250 Cudd st., Mrs. Mattie L. Nichols of 258 Cudd st. (lower), Mrs. Cora B. Taylor of 211 Young, and Mrs. Mrs. Inez Jones of 366 Concord st.

FIREMEN—Discussing a technical problem are four members of Columbia's all-colored fire station. They are housed in a $150,000 building, one of the most modern in the state. Left to right: A. Coles, Oscar Donaldson. T. L. Jones, and B. F. Frazier.

CALLING IN—Officer G. L. Eleazer, veteran of six years on the police force, checks in by phone with headquarters. With him is John H. Wilson, also a police officer.

4 policewomen assigned to duties in Spartanburg

Afro American

33 S.C.

SPARTANBURG, S.C. — Four colored women were among the 12 policewomen recently appointed and assigned to traffic duty here.

P. 13

The new policewomen have taken up duties at four of the city's schools. They are:

Mrs. Ruby B. Epps, graduate of Cowpens high school, and mother of one child, Carolynn Epps. She has been a local resident for 15 years, residing at 250 Cudd st.

Mother Of Four

Mrs. Mattie L. Nichols is the wife of George Nichols and mother of four children, George, Herbert, Norma and Charles. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jenkins, Mrs. Nichols lives at 256 Cudd st.

Mrs. Cora B. Taylor, native of Spartanburg, lives at 211 Young st., with her two small children. She is a graduate of Carver high school.

Aug 54

Mrs. Inez Jones, a native of Greenville, is a graduate of Bettis Junior college in Trenton, and the mother of three sons. The family lives at 368 Concord st.

West Tenn. Negro Appointed Marshal

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 9 (AP)—A Negro was appointed deputy U.S. marshal for west Tennessee today.

Raymond Lynom, a florist, is probably the first member of his race to hold such a position here since Reconstruction Days.

Negro Named Deputy, Then Chief Resigns

Courier p5

Pittsburgh Pa.

MEMPHIS—(ANP)—A veteran Negro Republican last week was appointed deputy U. S. marshal for West Tennessee, and the white chief deputy marshal subsequently resigned in protest. Sat. 7-24-54

The new marshal is Raymond Lynom, Memphis florist, who has the support of George W. Lee, Negro GOP leader in this state.

Immediately after the announcement of Lynom's appointment, Clifford J. West resigned.

Resignation in order

Over the bitter objection of the chief deputy, a Memphis florist, Raymond Lynom has been named a deputy by William E. Smith, the new Republican - appointed United States Marshal of West Tennessee.

Deputy Lynom has taken over a post that had been kept lily-white without exception since Reconstruction days.

Chief Deputy Marshal Clifford J. West, a former chief of the West Tennessee Highway Patrol, immediately announced his resignation with the comment:

"I told Bill Smith that if he hired a colored deputy I would be through and I am through."

It's good that he resigned.

His trouble was that as chief deputy, West wanted to dictate appointments in his own office, an unheard of procedure.

Any time a mere deputy thinks he has the right to tell the chief whom to hire, he's clearly out of line.

He should have been fired.

Negro Policeman At Grand Prairie

GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas — Henry Redmon, 35, is Grand Prairie's first Negro policeman. Redmon, who will be assigned mostly to night duty, is a patrolman in Grand Prairie's fast growing Negro residential area (Dalworth Park) south of Jefferson Boulevard and west of the downtown district.

Mayor John W. Daugherty said Redmon's employment increased the Grand Paririe police department to twenty-six men.

Swear In Negro Cops In Tyler

TYLER, Texas — Two Negroes were recently sworn in as patrolmen to become the first members of the race to serve on this city's police force.

Willie Johnson, 33, and Ira Brown, 29, both Tyler citizens, were slated to assume their duties as policemen the end of last week.

Police Chief Duncan Butler said he planned to start the officers by assigning each to a patrol car with a white officer "so they can get the feel of it and learn how the departments operates."

The two officers will probably be assigned a patrol car together after their preliminary training. They will patrol the Negro areas of the city.

The employment of the two men was authorized by the city commission.

Patrolman Johnson holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Butler College and was motor truck operator prior to joining the force. He served 28 months in the Army. His fellow officer has six years of Army service and was a freshman at Texas College when he was appointed to the force.

EARL WILLIAMS

The 2nd Negro Detective For Houston Is 'In'

HOUSTON — Earl "Scobie" Willims, local police officer has been promoted to the rank of "Detective" on the local force according to an announcement this week by the civil service. Mr. Williams' promotion gives Houston two Negro law enforcement officers with the rank of detective.

Detective Williams was a member of the first Negro police officer's school held here in 1948. He is a former Jack Yates and Texas Southern University football, basketball and track star. Williams was an all-around athlete and was selected on the all-state softball teams a number of years in the forties.

Of the 110 taking the exam for detective, Mr. Williams finished 13 in the group. He is considered a smart sleuth and has been instrumental in solving some very tough homicide cases here.

He is married to the former Ledessa Banks, also formerly of TSU. The couple lives at 4749 Brinkly Street with their two children.

T. I. Blakley is the other Negro detective on the force.

POLITICAL

34 1954

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

Neither of Tennessee's candidates for Governor, Frank Clement, incumbent, and ex-Governor Gordon Browning have announced their stands on the segregation issue. Judge Raulston Schoolfield of Hamilton County's Criminal Court and purportedly an advocate of separate schools, may enter the field as a candidate, himself, if the two favorites for the Aug. 5 primary fail to announce their position. Courier P.7

* * *

A $475,000 bond issue floated here includes a Negro recreation center for College Park, Ga., a suburb of Atlanta. The Negro vote played a key role in the voting of the bond issue.

Pittsburgh, Pa.

John Adams Jr., who served in the Nebraska State Legislature from 1935 to 1943, has his hat in the ring this year as a candidate to the California State Legislature's Seventeenth District. He has lived in Berkeley, Calif., for the last nine years.

Sat. 8-5-54

Lucius Lomax, California publisher, is seeking a seat in the State Assembly from the Sixty-third Assembly District. Running against him is the incumbent G. Delbert Morris.

* * *

In New York, Assemblyman Bertram L. Baker was named coordinator of the new Sixth AD by the Democratic party. This gives Baker control over the patronage in his district and an intro to high party deliberations.

* * *

Lionel Hampton was among the many recent visitors to the office of State Auditor James A. Rhodes who is reportedly getting a lot of support for his gubernatorial aspirations from rank and filers among Democrats.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

PINE BLUFF—Atty. Harold Flowers' all-out support of Senator John L. McClellan in his bid for renomination in Arkansas last week brought plenty of lifted eyebrows. Flowers' ardent plea for McClellan is believed to have influenced several voters and was an important factor in the Senator's narrow margin of victory. Courier P.7

* * *

DURHAM, N. C.—C. E. Boulware and James T. Taylor, both college professors, are among seven nominees for a vacancy on the Durham City Board of Education.

Three other Negroes, A. T. Spaulding, G. W. Cox, insurance men, and J. H. Wheeler, banker, are also being mentioned.

Mrs. C. R. Hauser and C. B. Sessoms are the white candidates.

Sat. 8-7-54

* * *

SHREVEPORT, La.—Dr. C. O. Simpkins, local dentist, polled 4,582 votes in last Tuesday's Democratic primary election as the first Negro to seek a position on the Caddo Parish School Board. Dr. Simpkins was last in a field of six candidates.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

Six File for Office

SEATTLE, Wash.—Six Negroes have filed for places on the coming primary ballot here. In the Thirty-seventh District, Benjamin F. McAdoo and William Henry Hawkins, Democrats, and Robert V. Hargrove and Hercules F. Anderson, Republicans, seek nomination to the State Legislature, while former legislative member Charles M. Stokes filed for the Senate. In the Thirty-third District, Isaiah Edwards, Democrat, has filed for the State Legislature.

Courier P.6 Pittsburgh, Pa.

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(ANP)—A white pastor has backed a Negro in his campaign to become the first of his race to be elected to the North Little Rock City Council.

Rev. John Wilson said from the pulpit of the Roso City Methodist Church that he would vote for Roland Smith as a "calm, casual endorsement of a principle."

Sat. 8-14-54

Georgia's Negro Democrats, meeting recently in Atlanta under the auspices of the Association of Citizens Democratic Clubs, failed for the first time in nine years to agree upon the support of a candidate in the current race for Governor.

* * *

Atlanta's John Wesley Dobbs will return to the political arena of Georgia, Aug. 21, with a state-wide Civic-Political League meeting in Macon . . . The meeting may throw either light or darkness on present gubernatorial races!

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

 In Memphis, Tenn., "Old Guard" Republicans were victorious in the recent primaries. Atty. B. L. Hooks topped all other candidates in the race for State Representative and Lieut. George Lee was the leading state committee candidate. Mr. Hooks is a Memphis attorney and Mr. Lee is a long-time GOP stalwart.

Pittsburgh, Pa.

 Atty. Roger M. Yancey of Newark became the fifth Negro appointee in the office of the Attorney General, Trenton, N. J., when he was sworn in as a deputy last week by U. S. Attorney General Grover C. Richman Jr.

Sat. 8-21-54

34 1954

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

TOLEDO, Ohio—Two Negroes . . . a Democrat and a Republican . . . will seek nominations for State Representative next Tuesday in the primary elections. The aspirants are:

WILLIAM N. THOMAS, an attorney, seeking nomination on GOP ticket.

Courier

RUPERT STOKES seeking nomination on the Democratic ticket.

Date 5-1-54

Of the two men, Thomas is considered to have the stronger chance. He is one of five endorsed for five places on the GOP slate. Stokes has his party's blessings, but he is one of eleven persons endorsed for five positions. Lucas County has never elected a Negro to the Ohio General Assembly.

Pittsburgh, Pa.

BEDFORD, Va. — One Negro candidate is among twelve parents seeking election to the Town Council here on June 8. He is the Rev. S. S. Sutton, pastor of Washington Street Baptist Church. In addition to his pastoral duties, the Rev. Mr. Sutton is actively interested in the educational, economic and civic advancement of his race and the residents of the town.

* * * P. 7

ATLANTA, Ga.—The trusty "right arm" of Georgia Republican Chairman William (Bill) Shartzer in getting around the Southern Empire State . . . building up the party and contacting prospective district and state candidates . . . is none other than this city's W. J. Shaw, affectionately known as Georgia's "Mr. Republican."

* * *

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Taylor C. Hayes, 46-year-old civic and business leader, announced last week as an independent candidate for the lower house of the Tennessee Legislature. Hayes, vice president of T. H. Hayes Funeral Home, oldest Negro business firm in the state, told the Courier: "I believe Negroes should have a part in making the laws we live by." A Wilberforce graduate, former football coach at LeMoyne, a 32nd-degree Mason, an Elk, a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, he served for three years as president of the National Negro Funeral Directors' Association. Dr. J. E. Walker announced support of Hayes by a large group of outstanding leaders.

* * *

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—The May 4 Democratic primary will see a Negro entered in the contest of twenty-eight candidates for seven seats in the House of Representatives from Jefferson County, it was learned here last week.

The lone Negro candidate is 50-year-old Arthur D. Shores, prominent attorney. He's first Negro to run for office since Reconstruction Days.

* * *

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Miss Roberta Church, national minority groups representative, U. S. Department of Labor, will visit in Baton Rouge May 4 and 5 and in this city May 6 and 7. She will be guest of the Rev. Nathaniel Williams, minority group consultant, Louisiana State Department of Labor, Division of Employment Security.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

COLUMBUUS, Ohio — Ohio's primaries have passed . . . and out of the voting came six Negroes GOP winners . . . and no Democrats. More significant is the fact that Republicans nominated EVERY NEGRO they named, while the Democrats, who named three . . . failed to nominate even one.

Negro Republicans who won out follow:

Hon. Harry Davis, Cleveland, re-nominated for State Senate.

Courier

Francis Young, Cleveland, nominated for Congress, Twenty-first District.

P. 7

Hon. Perry B. Jackson, Cleveland, Municipal Court to Common Pleas Court judge.

Fred Bowers, Dayton, State Representative.

Bruce McClure, Cincinnati, re-nominated for State Representative.

Pittsburgh, Pa.

William Thomas, Toledo, State Representative.

Biggest disappointment was failure of Democrats to nominate John Holly for Congress from Cleveland's heavily Negro-populated Twenty-first District.

Date 5-15-54

PORTLAND, Ore.—Fred L. Baker, a local resident for eight years; an active member of the Urban League and the NAACP, has announced his candidacy for State Representative from the city's Seventh District.

* * *

ATLANTA, Ga.—The Atlanta Executive Committee has clamped the "no politics" participation on its members, including Attorney A. T. Walden and Miles G. Amos. Walden has been named parliamentarian for the group.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Jackson V. Acox, who registered a "first" here last week, when he was sworn in as one of three staff investigators by the new District Attorney, is active in local politics as secretary of the Orleans Parish Progressive Voters' League. He has been assigned to an official car with two-way radio.

* * *

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Judge John Matthias, nominated to the Ohio Supreme Court bench in one of the most smashing elections upsets in Buckeye history, received more support from this newspaper than any other in the state. We supported him because of his excellent record of justice and fair play.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

CLEVELAND, Ohio—Voters of Republican persuasion are making every effort to bring in the name . . . this week . . . of Judge Perry B. Jackson of the Municipal Court. Jackson is seeking elevation to Common Pleas Court. He has been endorsed by two daily newspapers, The News and The Plain Dealer.

Courier * P. 7 34

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—Eight race leaders filed last week for election to the Garland County Democrat Committee in this summer's primaries. Five will seek seats from Second Ward . . three from Fifth Ward . . . both with heavy Negro populations. Running in Second Ward are Mrs. Lula Ezielius, A. J. Eden, Thomas Pepers, A. L. Logan and A. L. Harris. In Fifth Ward . . . Mrs. Datie Henderson, Mrs. Winnie Graves, George E. Brown. All will have white opponents.

Pittsburgh *, Pa.

COLUMBUS, Ohio—When State Auditor Rhodes won the Republican nomination for Governor, political observers say that he cut deep into the Negro vote. Said Rhodes, as he checked the figures: "I'm going to go deeper into this important segment of voters."

Meanwhile, local Democrats are starting a new movement among their young voters, with a meeting scheduled at American Legion Hall this week.

Date * 5-8 * 54

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—George W. Lee, insurance executive and nationally-known Republican leader, was appointed to a regional position in the Eisenhower Administration's Small Business Administration. Lee, a director of the Atlanta Life Insurance Company, said he would accept the appointment. The local business leader has been advised that the committee selection is limited to outstanding business men of the nation.

* * *

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—Negro political leaders are of the opinion that their lot will be strengthened regardless of what the outcome will be in this week's elections.

34 1954

Courier
AMERICA'S BEST WEEKLY

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1954

Politics USA
A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES of Birmingham, Ala., author of the daily syndicated column "This Morning," a supposed "essence" of the Dixie white Protestant mind, comments dubiously on the announcement that Atty. Arthur Shores has qualified as the first minority candidate for the State Legislature in seventy years.

With reference to the Birmingham barrister, Mr. Graves suggests: ". . . would Shores be his own mouthpiece from Jefferson, or mouthpiece of the NAACP? I think a number of white people would vote for him if they had assurance on that, for he is a man of intelligence and fine character, native-born, educated, widely popular."

REV. SHEPARD
. . . he's "with" the Mayor

THE BATTLE to amend the Home Rule Charter of Philadelphia has not only brought about a cleavage among white Democrats, but also among Negroes.

Councilman Raymond Pace Alexander and the Rev. Marshall L. Shepard, Commissioner of Records, "go along" with Mayor Joseph H. Clark Jr. as opposed to any amendments.

The recent debate between the Rev. Mr. Shepard and Austin Norris, who seeks to amend the charter, was a center of conversational intensity last week. The debate, already presented in the Philadelphia edition of the Courier, may be on the air waves and TV by the time you read this report.

IN CROWLEY, La., David L. May, principal of Ross High School, and Joseph A. Pete, barber shop proprietor, have become the first members of the minority to qualify as candidates for the office of City Councilman. Their hats are in the ring for the April 15 elections.

MANCHESTER'S (Ga.) Democratic Party Chairman James S. Peters predicts that the U. S. Supreme Court will render a four-to-four split decision on the jim-crow cases and that Chief Justice Warren will excuse himself from participation. Is this Southern Democratic hope or hokum?

* * *

DIXIE DEMOCRATS cling to Thomas Jefferson as the "daddy" of their party and originator of "states rights" philosophy. They quote him often on that point (especially making reference to an obesrvation he made in 1816 at the age of 73).

They ignore what a more vigorous Jefferson said upon the occasion of his presidential inauguration in 1801: ". . . bear in mind this sacred principle, that though the will of the majority is in all cases to prevail, that will to be rightful must be reasonable; that the minority possess equal rights, which equal laws must protect, and to violate would be oppression."

* * *

THE OHIO SCENE: Saxbey gets first jump on Bender . . . Governor Lausche (embracing Ike in D. C.) makes good wire copy . . . Rhodes queries Lausche about a supposed 22,539 "friendship whiskey deal" . . . Burke opposes the Bricker amendment . . . Rep. Fred Bowers of Dayton mending fences in effort to lead GOP ticket again . . . Lawrence Payne playing master cards (close to the vest) in staying out of congressional race . . . Is John Holly's entry mere window-dressing for Boss Frank?

* * *

ONE OF THE REASONS Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States Supreme Court has not yet been confirmed is that Southern Senators are "hedging." They fear he won't vote their way on the controversial school segregation issue.

Politics USA
A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

CHICAGO—Illinois is slated for big Federal appointments for Negroes, it was rumored in political circles here this week. Among names in hopper were Atty. William Booker, long-time Republican, and Representative Charles Jenkins, whose terms up in Illinois Assembly soon.

ALEXANDRIA, Va.—Virginia's Tenth Congressional District might lose GOP representative because of factional differences concerning Senator McCarthy's political value. One side ignoring his successees in Maryland in 1950 . . . Connecticut . . . and his own Wisconsin in '52.

WASHINGTON—GOP leaders are examining one more handicap in proposal teams to debate which party has done most for Negroes. A majority of GOP's best speakers are Federal employees and governed by Hatch Act. How to get around restrictions being studied.

NEW ORLEANS—Mrs. Moweaner W. Mauldin, 36, announced her candidacy last week for State Representative from Ninth Ward. She is first Negro woman to seek political office in history of First Congressional District. Mother of two children, she is a junior at Xavier.

* * *

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio — Allen Morgan, former vice president of Ohio League of Republican Clubs, who has battled his county chairman openly and behind closed doors, cleared him for Federal appointment this week. This is big time.

* * *

WASHINGTON—Democrats have come up with most appealing campaign issue in $700 wage-tax exemptions for low-income carners. It is proposal that Republicans fear to oppose, even though enactment would increase budget deficit. Funny thing though . . . during twenty years of Democratic rule, Democrats ignored this issue completely.

* * *

ATLANTA, Ga.—When the Republican Central Committee meets next month to elect a chairman to replace Gen. Elbert Tuttle, who is now counsel of the Treasury Department, it will run into a hornet's nest. Republicans of the area want to make sure that a "big" man, comparable to Mr. Tuttle, is elected and that the party won't sink to a low level of all-out patronage "deals."

Politics USA
A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

KINGSTON, Jamaica — J. E. D. Carberry, senior Puisne Judge of Jamaica, has been appointed Chief Justice of Jamaica, in succession to Englishman Sir Kenneth O'Connor, who has been shifted by London to Kenya. Carberry, born in Grenada, has made history by being the first Negro appointed to that high office in Jamaica.

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Backing Jimmy Roosevelt in his race for Congress are Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins and Day Allen. Fay Jackson, whose name was used by mistake last week in this column, is an outstanding Republican and her name is up for a big government post.

ATLANTA, Ga.—A possible field of four candidates seeking the Fifth District Congressional spot, lessens the chance of anyone unseating James C. Davis, widely known for his "racist" and ultra-conservative views. The men in race—Ex-Mayor Roy LeCraw of Atlanta and Wyman C. Lowe are from Fulton County. Atty. Morris Abram, who might run, is also from the same county. Davis, from DeKalb County, profits by unit voting.

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Democrats will see the fur fly when a leading Republican woman whom Governor Lausche picked, is appointed to the Cosmetology State Department. She goes to work this week. Her initials . . . E. A.

NEW YORK—Chalk up one more debit for the Negro side of the political ledger in this city. Last week the announcement was made that an Italian had been named to the post of Deputy Commissioner of Correction. This spot, according to grapevine, was to have gone to former Deputy Housing Commissioner Fred Weaver.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Among eight candidates qualified to run for Mayor here in a recall election is a Negro newspaper publisher, Curtis Hyatte. Mr. Hyatte said, however, that he has not yet decided if he will make the race. Election date: May 11.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Harold A. Odom Sr. of Fort Worth, Tex., has been appointed Racial Relations Officer in the Public Housing Field Office at Fort Worth.

Odom, 37, and a graduate of Prairie View, is a charter member of his city's Negro Chamber of Commerce . . . is first Negro member of Board of Directors of Metropolitan YMCA, does a daily broadcast and operates a retail flower shop. He's married and the father of three sons.

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Candidacy of Judge John Mattias for State Supreme Court Judge is gaining widespread support of Negro voters. 'Tis said that Mattias had done more to improve race relations thany any other judge in years.

CLEVELAND, Ohio—City Councilman Charles Carr is heading the campaign of John O. Holly, who is making a stiff bid for the Democratic nomination to Congress. He's a dangerous candidate . . . and his campaign is gaining headway weekly.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

Gordon Browning, former Governor of Tennessee and seeking the Democratic nomination in August, is now running on a pro-segregation platform with the following stand: "The instinct of racial purity was planted in the breast of both races by God Almighty, and accounts for the overwhelming urge within both for separate activities."

Courier P.7

Bill Hendrix, former Ku Klux Klan grand dragon, has announced that he will run for the governorship of Florida on a platform against the mixing of races in the schools. Hendrix said that if he is elected he will recommend that "every Negro who wants to go to white schools be shipped to Minnesota."

Pittsburgh Pa

Roy V. Harris, Georgia's "governor-maker," has called on voters to purge all candidates who do not indicate that they are for segregation.

Sat 10-12-54

U. S. Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana in bidding for Negro votes, says, "I have fought to maintain our Constitution. I was accused of being against the Negroes of my state, and the Lord only knows that I am not."

* * *

Representative Pat Sutton, seeking the Tennessee Democratic nomination to the seat now held by Senator Estes Kefauver, says that he will support any "legislation to correct the injustice done to the Negro and to the white by the decision of the Supreme Court."

* * *

Chicagoans are whispering that GOP friends of Senator Christopher C. Wimbish, former Third Ward Democratic Committeeman ousted by Representative William L. Dawson in his "purge," would like to put him up as an opponent of the Democratic leader.

* * *

H. D. Montieth, physician-banker and native Columbian, is a candidate in the Richland County, S. C., race for the State General Assembly.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

Neither of Tennessee's candidates for Governor, Frank Clement, incumbent, and ex-Governor Gordon Browning have announced their stands on the segregation issue. Judge Raulston Schoolfield of Hamilton County's Criminal Court and purportedly an advocate of separate schools, may enter the field as a candidate, himself, if the two favorites for the Aug. 5 primary fail to announce their position.

Courier P.7

* * *

A $475,000 bond issue floated here includes a Negro recreation center for College Park, Ga., a suburb of Atlanta. The Negro vote played a key role in the voting of the bond issue.

Pittsburgh Pa

John Adams Jr., who served in the Nebraska State Legislature from 1935 to 1943, has his hat in the ring this year as a candidate to the California State Legislature's Seventeenth District. He has lived in Berkeley, Calif., for the last nine years.

Sat 6-5-54

Lucius Lomax, California publisher, is seeking a seat in the State Assembly from the Sixty-third Assembly District. Running against him is the incumbent G. Delbert Morris.

* * *

In New York, Assemblyman Bertram L. Baker was named coordinator of the new Sixth AD by the Democratic party. This gives Baker control over the patronage in his district and an intro to high party deliberations.

* * *

Lionel Hampton was among the many recent visitors to the office of State Auditor James A. Rhodes who is reportedly getting a lot of support for his gubernatorial aspirations from rank and filers among Democrats.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

JACKSON, Miss.—(ANP)—The Perry Howard faction of the Republican party for many years called the official GOP in Mississippi, but recent losers of the name to the so-called lily-white faction, has taken on a new name.

The party will be known from now on as the Black and Tan Grand Old Party.

P. 7 Courier

* * *

COLUMBUS, Ohio—People here in this city are calling the Rev. Archibald Carey of Chicago, alternate delegate to the United Nations . . . a real prophet. During a speech here one week before the High Court acted, Carey told word for word what the Supreme Court would do. It was uncanny!

Sat

* * *

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Mercer M. Mance made history here recently by being the first Negro ever to be nominated to run for a judgeship in this state.

Pittsburgh Pa

Mance will run for Superior Court No. 3 on the Democratic ticket. The local attorney is managed by his friend, Dr. Ralph Handley . . . and is getting surprisingly enthusiastic support from Republicans. If elected, he would serve the people of Indiana well.

MERCER M. MANCE

* * *

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Insiders are whispering that if the administration would consider Thurgood Marshall for a top Federal judgeship . . . now . . . that Negroes throughout the country would hail the action.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Matt Anderson, well-known local politician, won the Democratic nomination for State Legislature from the First Legislative District here Tuesday. He had organization support. The Rev. S. Amos Brackeen, fighting pastor of a local church, running independently on the Democratic ticket for the same position in the Fifth District, was defeated. He polled 1860 votes.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

* Edward B. Law has entered the race for county tax receiver in Savannah, Ga.

* Several prominent Atlanta "Roosevelt Democrats" who visited Washington, D. C., recently, confessed last week that the nation's capital has a "changed air" and observed that President Eisenhower "must be a man of his word" on improving things.

Courier P.7

* James H. Browne, Atlanta Life Insurance Company executive, has been named chairman of the Kansas City, Kansas Civil Service Commission.

Pittsburgh Pa

* Lucas County (Ohio) Sheriff William Hirsch of Toledo has named John Landry, ex-insurance agent, to his staff of deputies.

* In Ohio Maynard Dickerson and Johnny Holly are running around seeking someone who will take a state job.

Sat. 6-19-54

* Mrs. Marjorie Jackson, has been named a candidate for co-leader of the Sixth Assembly District, Brooklyn, N. Y., by Assemblyman Bertram L. Baker. She has the backing of the regular Democratic organization.

* Two Negro Democrats and one Republican were nominated for Assembly seats in California primary races. Augustus Hawkins, Democratic nominee, was also the GOP nominee in the Sixty-second District over GOP rival Atty. Walter Gordon Jr. Lucius Lomax copped the Democratic nod in the Sixty-third and Atty. Rayfield Lundy took the GOP nomination in the Fifty-fifth District.

* Atty. B. L. Hooks, 29, and William C. Weathers, 42, Universal Life Insurance Company agent, both of Memphis, have announced themselves candidates for the GOP nomination to the Tennessee State Legislature.

Voters And Newspapers, Yes; Candidates, No

IN MAY the Democrats will have a primary to nominate their candidates. If Alabama were politically normal, there would be a Republican primary on the same day in the same place. Then, in the November election, the Democratic nominees would run against the Republican nominees. But Alabama is abnormal with its one-party system and there will be no GOP primary in May. An evidence of this Alabama abnormality is that the GOP has decided to forego a primary and, instead, to nominate its November candidates by the convention method.

This decision was made for reasons that are as plain as a pikestaff: the state's GOP recognized that a primary would be useless since the main show will be under the Democratic top and the great mass of Alabamians will be there.

p. 4 ★

THEREFORE, the GOP will nominate its candidate by means of a convention. Although the convention method choice proclaims the obvious weakness of the GOP in local Alabama politics, there is nothing disreputable about the convention method.

In fact, some two-party states, such as Connecticut, Delaware, Indiana, Maryland, New York, do their nominating by convention instead of a voters' primary.

Furthermore, there is the obvious fact that presidential candidates are nominated, not by primaries, but by convention.

Wed. 2-17-54

FEW people realize it, but Alabama law invests the state executive committees of the Democrats and GOP with such large powers that, if they chose, they would have no primaries at all.

If the State Democratic Executive Committee wished, it could, for example, nominate Sparkman and Folsom without consulting any voter.

The Advertiser considers that Alabama has returned in large measure to the two-party system on the presidential level, but that the two-party system obviously has not taken root when it comes to electing governors, senators and sheriffs.

The Hill-Sparkman Democratic Executive Committee, the lawful dictatorship of the Democratic Party, evidently agrees with our view that Alabama has become doubtful territory in presidential elections. In trying to nip this in the bud, the committee recently turned the crank on a stiff new provision that unless you voted for Sparkman for vice-president in 1952, you cannot be a candidate this year.

When the same thing arose on the national scene, Adlai Stevenson made the barbed statement that it would have been better if nobody had ever mentioned loyalty pledge. But there is no question of the Alabama committee's legal power to crack down on those who refused to support Sparkman.

★

HOWEVER, that applies only to candidates. The committee was afraid to bar the 150,000 who voted for Ike. They can vote, but they can't run for office.

One illustrative result of this is that the Negro lawyer, Arthur Shores, is running for the legislature in Birmingham, but Gessner McCorvey, of Mobile, cannot run for the committee because he did not vote at all in the '52 presidential election.

Or, to take a case closer at hand: E. D. Nixon, a former state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has been duly qualified to run for the Montgomery Democratic Committee, but Banker Jim Flowers cannot run for re-election to the Montgomery school board in the primary because he voted for Ike.

★

THUS we see that candidates are barred from the primary, but that voters and newspapers, a majority of which supported Ike, are welcome to participate.

This is at least practical because there is no feasible means of imposing security-risk tests on voters and there would be no way to hold an election unless the newspapers performed their function.

In most American states, voters split their ballots between candidates of the two parties and it is commonplace to see a newspaper supporting a Democratic candidate for senator and a GOP candidate for governor. This Americanism is said by some to be undemocratic in a Republican country.

Wed. 2-17-54

Politics

USA
A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Coyness L. Ennix, local attorney, has qualified to run for the Tennessee State Legislature from Davidson County. He is the lone Negro among forty-four candidates seeking one of the six positions which will be contested for in the Aug. 5 primary.

Atty. Ennix

LITTLE ROCK—W. L. Jarrett, Mrs. L. Routon, Mrs. E. E. Fisher and Thad D. Williams become the first Negroes to run for membership on the Pulaski County Democratic Committee in the primary to be held in August.

* * *

NEW YORK—Selection of Atty. Oliver D. Williams, prominent Brooklyn lawyer, as the Sixth A. D. organization's candidate for the State Senate was announced last week by Assemblyman Betram Baker, head of the United Action Democratic Association.

* * *

WASHINGTON—The American Civil Liberties Union urged President Eisenhower last week to consider vetoing a bill amending the Virgin Islands Organic Act, asserting that the bill "strikes us as an unwarranted retreat from the principles of self-government and the responsibility of the elected representative of the people in favor of the powers of a governor appointed by the President and subject to no local control."

* * *

ATLANTA, Ga.—Gubernatorial candidate Charles Gower made a direct bid for the vote of the Georgia Negro when he declared: "I am willing to state that I am glad to have the support of the colored people of Georgia." No other candidate has made such a straight bid.

Senator Archibold

* * *

NEW YORK—State Senator Julius A. Archibold will seek renomination in the September Democratic primary in Manhattan's Twenty-first Senate District despite Tammany Hall's recent designation of another candidate to succeed him.

* * *

SHREVEPORT, La.—Dr. C. O. Simpkins, local dentist, is seeking election to the Caddo Parish School Board in the Democratic primary this week.

* * *

ST. GEORGE'S—Second election to be held under the franchise granting this colony universal adult suffrage will be held in September, and already political parties are girding themselves for the battle. Main political leaders are the Hon. Eric Gairy, with candidates in every constituency, and the Hon. T. A. Marryshow, C.B.E. If he is elected, he will have a record of thirty years unbroken service.

Courier
AMERICA'S BEST WEEKLY
SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1954

Politics USA
A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

ALEX L. HERMAN, Mobile (Ala.) insurance executive, is running for county committeeman in Ward Seven in the Democratic primary. The Negro registration outnumbers that of the whites in his area.

THE MICHIGAN House State Affairs Committee shelved the Crampton Bill for the remainder of this session, thus knifing FEPC. Two Democrats voted for the bill, six Republicans opposed it. Courier P.7

William Brooks, top, named by Columbus Mayor Sensnebrenner to the Civil Service Commission talks over a few things with State Auditor Rhodes, GOP nominee for Ohio's Governorship.

EISENHOWER will have an opportunity to appoint thirty new Federal jurists if Congress approves legislation creating thirty new U. S. judgeships. Negroes being mentioned for these plums include Chester Gillespie of Cleveland, George E. C. Hayes and James Nabritt of Washington, D. C. Pittsburgh, Pa.

IN COLUMBUS, Ohio, William Brooks is still waiting for that appointment to the Civil Service Commission. Ray Hughes, who is currently holding the post, may stil hold on as the GOP City Council has held up Democratic Mayor Senenbrenner's appointee.

Sat. - 2-13-54

ATLANTA'S West Side Voter's League has accused the county tax office of discrimination. The charges include: higher tax assessments on Negro-owned property, separate "colored" tax notices for Negro taxpayers, "offensive" treatment of Negro taxpayers, and, the use of separate windows to collect taxes.

IN NEW ORLEANS, the Orleans Parish Progressive Voter's League, which supported two white candidates for the Councilman-at-large positions in the recent Democratic primary, is in a delicate spot. The two candidates, incumbent Commissioner Victor Schire and Mrs. Martha G. Robinson, finished second and third and are pitted against each other in the March 9 run-off.

NOT A SINGLE NEGRO filed for the Legislature race from Franklin County, Ohio, on either the Republican or Democratic tickets.

Politics USA
A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

DOWN IN BIRMINGHAM, one of the most steadfast centers of anti-Negro populism, Atty. Arthur D. Shores, 45, has qualified as a candidate for the Alabama Legislature . . . the first such qualification since 1884. Five other minority candidates have announced for various public posts in Tuskegee, Montgomery and Mobile; bringing an end to political lily-whitism in the State of Alabama.

Courier * * *

OTHER ALABAMANS seeking posts include Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, a Tuskegee Institute, Ala., departmental director, who seeks a post on the Macon County Board of Education; the Rev. Terry M. Batts, mortician Alex Herman and insurance salesman Clarence H. Montgomery, all of Mobile, who seek posts on the Mobile County Democratic Executive Committee. E. D. Nixon of Montgomery seeks a similar position in that city. P.7

MRS. GUZMAN

Sat. 2-20-54

OHIOANS are wondering if last week's conference between John Holly, first Ohio Negro candidate for the U. S. Congress on the Democratic ticket, and the incumbent Gov. Frank J. Lausche was "off the record."

Pittsburgh, Pa. *

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The National Council of Negro Women, through its president, Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, has addressed an anti-Bricker Amendment letter to President Eisenhower. NCNW "unreadiness" was based on the "States Rights" aspects of the Bricker instrument.

* * *

"HUMMON'S" SUCCESSOR?—Atlanta's minority was smiling this week after noting that Georgia House Speaker Fred Hand of Pelham, a successful businessman, had announced for the gubernatorial race . . . pointing up the fact that Gov. Herman L. Talmadge cannot succeed himself. Mr. Hand, incidentally, does not have "Hummon's" blessings.

* * *

GEORGIANS of color will miss the important work of the late Rev. A. L. Brewster, AME stalwart and civic worker. He was the behind-the-scenes man in many Georgia political battles . . . particularly with reference to the minority vote.

* * *

HOUSING ADMINISTRATOR Albert M. Cole is planning to implement strong administrative policies which would protect the housing rights of minority families which is in line with his outdoing of his predecessors.

* * *

The Franklin County Republican Club, made up of young men and veteran politicos, gives Columbus its first new GOP organization in fifteen years. The club has thirty-one members.

Politics USA
A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

TOLEDO, Ohio—Two Negroes . . . a Democrat and a Republican . . . will seek nominations for State Representative next Tuesday in the primary elections. The aspirants are: Courier

WILLIAM N. THOMAS, an attorney, seeking nomination on GOP ticket.

RUPERT STOKES seeking nomination on the Democratic ticket. Pittsburgh, Pa.

Of the two men, Thomas is considered to have the stronger chance. He is one of five endorsed for five places on the GOP slate. Stokes has his party's blessings, but he is one of eleven persons endorsed for five positions. Lucas County has never elected a Negro to the Ohio General Assembly.

* * *

BEDFORD, Va. — One Negro candidate is among twelve parents seeking election to the Town Council here on June 8. He is the Rev. S. S. Sutton, pastor of Washington Street Baptist Church. In addition to his pastoral duties, the Rev. Mr. Sutton is actively interested in the educational, economic and civic advancement of his race and the residents of the town. P.7

* * *

ATLANTA, Ga.—The trusty "right arm" of Georgia Republican Chairman William (Bill) Shartzer in getting around the Southern Empire State . . . building up the party and contacting prospective district and state candidates . . . is none other than this city's W. J. Shaw, affectionately known as Georgia's "Mr. Republican." P.7

* * *

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Taylor C. Hayes, 46-year-old civic and business leader, announced last week as an independent candidate for the lower house of the Tennessee Legislature. Hayes, vice president of T. H. Hayes Funeral Home, oldest Negro business firm in the state, told the Courier: "I believe Negroes should have a part in making the laws we live by." A Wilberforce graduate, former football coach at LeMoyne, a 32nd-degree Mason, an Elk, a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, he served for three years as president of the National Negro Funeral Directors' Association. Dr. J. E. Walker announced support of Hayes by a large group of outstanding leaders.

* * *

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—The May 4 Democratic primary will see a Negro entered in the contest of twenty-eight candidates for seven seats in the House of Representatives from Jefferson County, it was learned here last week.

The lone Negro candidate is 50-year-old Arthur D. Shores, prominent attorney. He's first Negro to run for office since Reconstruction Days.

* * *

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Miss Roberta Church, national minority groups representative, U. S. Department of Labor, will visit in Baton Rouge May 4 and 5 and in this city May 6 and 7. She will be guest of the Rev. Nathaniel Williams, minority group consultant, Louisiana State Department of Labor, Division of Employment Security.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—According to Andrew Walker, who spoke before the local NAACP recently, Macon County Negroes could represent 82.51% of the qualified voters of the county. He gave the following figures: In '48, Negro voters constituted 5.38% of the vote; 18.18% in '50; 19.52% in '52 and 22% in '54. Negroes have potential of 14.539 . . . vote 855; whites have potential of 3,081 . . . vote 3,007. Simple arithmetic, eh!

* * *

ATLANTA, Ga.—Georgia's Democratic party chairman, Peters, declared last week he views the Negro's influence in politics, not as a "Southern issue alone any more." He claims "it has become a major political issue in the North, too."

Courier P. 7

* * *

BALTIMORE, Md.—Maryland's first Negro assistant Attorney General . . . Harry T. Cole. . . has filed for candidacy for State Senator. Rated as good political timber, the young attorney lost a city councilmanic race a few years ago by 400 odd votes.

Sat - 5-22-54

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Democratic National Committeeman Frank Ellis qualified last week in Baton Rouge as a candidate in the U. S. Senate Primary for July 27. He will oppose Senator Allen J. Ellender. Ellis is out for the Negro vote, and is speaking before Negro audiences.

Pittsburgh Pa

* * *

BROOKLYN—Democratic leader Joseph T. Sharkey's reported plan to reorganize the borough and set up a district in heavily populated Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant section, has drawn favorable response in Negro circles. According to a daily columnist, Assemblyman Bertram L. Baker "is being mentioned as a possibility to head up the new district."

* * *

CHICAGO—Sydney P. Brown, local attorney, was renamed last week to the Chicago school board. Brown was one of two named by Mayor Kennelly.

* * *

MACON, Ga.—The issues of segregation, especially as it relates to public school education, and the county unit system, under which Georgia rural areas override progressive city ballots, will provide the major explosions of the summer gubernatorial campaign, Governor Talmadge told Macon Rotarians last week.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

In Savannah, Ga., businessman Edward M. Law lost out in his attempt to capture the post of tax receiver for Chatham County. Law garnered 3,642 votes while running third in a five-man race.

Courier

Representative Adam C. Powell's amendment to the Virgin Islands Organic Act was adopted by the U. S. House of Representatives by a unanimous vote. The New York Democrat's motion calls for greater autonomy for the Caribbean U. S. possession.

Pittsburgh Pa

In California, Gordon Bernahn, Eighth District Councilman in Los Angeles, has nominated John H. Dial Jr. for appointment to the local government Consolidation Study Commission.

Sat. 7-3-54

Former State Auditor Joe Ferguson is facing a real battle in Ohio in his attempt to unseat Roger Tracy, incumbent State Treasurer.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

* A fish fry sponsored in Muskogee, Okla., made a lot of Negro enemies for Democrat Senatorial nominee Robert S. Kerr when Negro Democrats were ordered out of the serving line by the master of ceremonies who announced the fish was for white people. Mr. Kerr was there and delivered the main address.

Courier P 7

* Ten Negroes will work at the polls in Shreveport, La., during the July 27 Democratic primary.

Pittsburgh, Pa

* In Monroe, La., the Rev. Benjamin F. Martin, pastor of Mount Zion Baptist Church is a candidate for the Ouachita Parish School Board.

Sat. 7-17-54

* Atlanta's Atty. J. C. Daugherty and the Rev. R. H. Shorts qualified for Fulton Democratic Committee executive posts in the Third (mainly Negro) Ward.

* Hulan Jack, New York City's Manhattan Boro president, has a new opponent in the person of Mrs. Mary Walker who announced her break with his camp and her support of Noel D. Austin for the State Assembly.

* Atty. James L. Watson is seeking the State Senate seat in New York now occupied by Senator Julius A. Archibald on the Democratic ticket.

* Atty. William M. Chisholm is running for New York's State Senate in the new Eleventh District on the Democratic ticket. He is sponsored by the Bedford-Stuyvesant Political League.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

34

* Georgia's Attorney General Eugene Cook has thrown a block in the path of Republican hopes for Congressional candidates in the fall election. He ruled that petitions must name candidates and contain the names of at least 5 per cent of the registered voters of a Congressional district.

Courier P. 7

* Atty. Frank S. Bledsoe is believed to be the first presiding Negro magistrate in St. Louis.

Pittsburgh, Pa

* Mrs. Evelyn C. Stuart has been elected a member of the Shelby County Primary Board following a meeting of the State Executive Committee in Nashville, Tenn. The board has full control of the primary election in 160-odd Memphis and Shelby County precincts. Mrs. Stuart is president of the Lincoln League of Republican Women.

Sat. 7-10-54

* A lot of money is being poured into Hubert Bruce's attempt to unseat Democratic Congressman Adam C. Powell of New York City. Representative Powell has answered charges of his opponent with a detailed listing of his activities during the year in Congress. Mr. Powell is currently attending the annual session of the World Conference of Parliamentatrians in London as an American delegate.

* Irvine I. Turner, real estate broker, and a former newspaper editor was sworn in last week, along with eight others as a member of Newark's City Council. He is a Democrat and former home secretary to Congressman Hugh J. Addonizio. He is believed to be the first Negro ever elected to public office in Newark.

First Negro To Qualify

Member Of Tuskegee Faculty Seeks Macon Education Post

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Feb. 9 (AP)—A longtime Tuskegee Institute faculty member has qualified as the first Negro ever to run for office in heavily Negro populated Macon County.

Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, director of the Tuskegee Institute division of records and research, filed to run for a place on the County Board of Education now held by a white lawyer, Robert Varner of Tuskegee.

Varner hasn't qualified for renomination in the May 4 Democratic primary which leaves the Negro educator unopposed so far.

Mrs. Guzman, a Tuskegee faculty member 29 years, is a graduate of Howard University and holds a Master's degree from Columbia.

She has been responsible for collecting material for Tuskegee's annual lynching report.

Her husband, Ignacio Guzman, also is a member of the college's faculty.

Mrs. Guzman explained that she decided to run for the school board because she had long been interested in education and felt "that I could be of service to the educational forces of the county."

Negroes outnumber whites about four to one in Macon County.

Negro Enters Democratic Primary Here For First Time In County's History

For the first time in history a Negro will seek nomination for a Macon County office in the Democratic primaries this Spring. Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, director of the department of records and research at Tuskegee Institute, Monday qualified as a candidate for member of the Macon County Board of Education.

Opposiong her in the race for the only Board of Education post open this year will be B. L. Balch, present superintendent of education, who is retiring from that office on July 1. The two will be seeking to succeed Robert Varner, who is not seeking reelection.

Aside from the two entries in the Board of Education race, the only additional entry during the past week was G. O. Bush, who qualifiedd with the secretary of state at Montgomery as a candidate for the Legislature. Mr. Bush has previously served one term in the House.

Deadline for candidates to qualify for the Spring primaries is March 1 and there was little speculation concerning possible additional entries in any of the races. Reports were current that one more candidate may enter for the post of Tax Collector in which three have already qualified.

Mr. Balch, whose retirement this year is compulsory due to age, said he decided to make the race for board member so he could continue to serve the cause of education. He has had 40 years experience in the field of education.

Mrs. Guzman also has had long years of experience in education, both as a teacher and in an administrative capacity.

Woman Is First Negro Candidate For Public Office

TUSKEGEE INTITUTE, Ala., Mar. 22—(Special)—Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, candidate for membership on the Macon County Board of Education, opened her campaign here Sunday in a speech before the Tuskegee Civic Association at the Mt. Olive Baptist Church, pastored by the Rev. Sinclair T. Martin.

She spoke on the subject, "Government and Politics in Macon County and Tuskegee." Mrs. Guzman is believed to be the first Negro person ever to seek public office in this county. She is opposed by B. L. Balch, retiring superintendent of schools.

C. G. Gomillion is president of the TCA.

Jessie Guzman Files Papers For Macon Education Position

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala., Feb. 14—Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman of Tuskegee, Ala., filed her qualification paper for a position on the Macon County County Board of Education. This position is held by Robert Varner, young attorney of Tuskegee. Varner is running to succeed himself.

Mrs. Guzman filed her candidacy with the Macon County Democratic committee Monday, Feb. 8. At this writing it is not known whether anyone other than Varner and Mrs. Guzman is seeking the post.

Mrs. Jessie Parkhurst Guzman, editor of the Negro Year Book, and director, Department of Records and Research, Tuskegee Institute, is a native of Savannah, Ga. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Cook Parkhurst, among the early Negro business pioneers of that city and foster daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. John P. Wagg, who established the Agency Secretary system of the American Bible Society and who reared Mrs. Guzman. In 1929, in connection with an annuity endowment gift, Dr. Wagg named the agency which he began the William Ingraham Haven Memorial Agency Among Colored People of the United States, in memory of an appreciation for the interest which Dr. Haven, secretary of the American Bible Society and his father, Bishop Haven of the Methodist Episcopal Church, had in the progress of the Negro race.

Mrs. Guzman was graduated from the elementary and high school departments of Clark University, Atlanta; from the College of Arts and Science, Howard University; from Columbia University, with the Master of Arts degrees, and pursued advanced courses in sociology and history at the University of Chicago under a General Education Board Fellowship, working on a study relating to the role of the Negro woman during slavery. Her research interest lies in the fields of the history of the Negro and in race relations.

Work experience includes public school teaching, Greensboro, N.C.; the teaching of history at New Orleans College and at Alabama State Teachers College, and teaching and research at Tuskegee Institute, where for more than 15 years she was assistant to the late Monroe N. Work, founder and director of the Department of Records and Research, editor of the Negro Year Book from 1912 to 1938 and editor of the Bibliography of the Negro in Africa and America published in 1928, and other researches.

For six years Mrs. Guzman was Dean of Women at Tuskegee Institute and in 1944 became director of the Department of Records and Research, which is noted not only for publishing the Negro Year Book and for its records pertaining to lynchings in the United States, but also for helping to keep the pubilc informed on the progress and status of the Negro. Students from public schools, high schools, colleges and universities, scholars studying various phases of Negro life and the general public look to this department to furnish needed data.

Membership is presently held in the following organizations: The Southern Regional Council; The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; The Association for the Study of Negro Life and History; The Society of American Archivists; The Scuthern Sociological Society; The Alabama State Teachers Association; The American Teachers Association; The Tuskegee Civic Association; The Tuskegee Woman's Club, also, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and Washington Chapel Church.

She is married To Ignacio L. Guzman, a native of Puerto Rico, with his associate professor in the School of Mechanical Industries, Tuskegee Institute.

B. L. Balch to oppose Negro for Macon County school job

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Feb. 13 — Macon County School Supt. B. L. Balch, who will retire from that post next July, has qualified as candidate for the place on Macon's Board of Education being sought by a Negro teacher, Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman.

They are running in the May 4 Democratic primary for the post being given up by Robert E. Varner, Tuskegee, who said he could not qualify for renomination because of the Democratic loyalty oath.

Mr. Balch, who has been Macon superintendent since 1946 and who has been in the teaching profession more than 40 years, qualified for the board place, after being urged to run by a committee of prominent Macon County citizens. He was school superintendent of Fayette County for 10 years before coming to Macon.

Mrs. Guzman, veteran teacher at Tuskegee Institute, is the first member of her race to run for a public office in the history of Macon County, which is predominantly Negro populated.

Mr. Balch is a graduate of Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, University of Alabama and has taken post-graduate work at Columbia University. Mrs. Guzman is a graduate of Howard University and Columbia.

School board candidate— B. L. Balch.

THIS AND THAT

Both Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman and Schools Supt. B. L. Batch who are runing for a post on the Macon County Board of Registrars have done post graduate work at Columbia University. However, Mrs. Guzman holds a master's degree from that institution. . . 25 of the 95 persons registered by the Mobile County Board of Registrars at its last one-day session were Negro applicants. . . The Alabama Republican Party will hold its nominating convention at the Rutwiler Hotel, Friday, May 28. There will be 565 delegates invited.

TCA GUEST SPEAKER—Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman will be the speaker Sunday, March 14, when the Tuskegee Civic Asciation discuss the topic: "Government and Politics in Macon County and Tuskegee." Mrs. Guzman, who is a candidate for a position on the Macon County Board of Education, the first Negro ever to run for public office in Macon County, will make her first appearance since entering the race. She will announce her platform at this time, it is stated. The meeting will be held at Mt. Olive Baptist Church, beginning promptly at 3:30 p.m. C. G. Gomillion, president of the TCA, announced Frank J. Toland, chairman of the TCA membership committee, is asking that all workers close out their solicitation of members on this date and make final reports to him. The Rev. Sinclair T. Martin is pastor of Mt. Olive Church.

Women Step Out Boldly For Office In Alabama

BY WILLIAM P. MITCHELL

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. — (SNS) — Women have stepped out boldy into office-seeking politics in Alabama.

Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, Georgia-born, educational research leader, is seeking a position on the Macon County Board of Education.

She is filed for the position now held by Robert Varner, young Tuskegee attorney. Mr. Varner reportedly will not offer for election in the Democratic primary because he is said to have voted for President Eisenhower. This would disqualify him under the recent "loyalty pledge" adopted by the Alabama Democratic Executive Committee.

However, it was learned last Saturday that County Superintendent Blach had also qualified to run for this post.

Macon County has an estimated 3,300 voters of which an estimated 950 are Negro electors. About 30 per cent of the county's population is of the Negro group.

Mrs. Guzman filed her candidacy with the Macon County Democratic Committee Monday, Feb. 8.

She is editor of the NEGRO YEAR BOOK, and Director, Department of Records and Research, Tuskegee Institute, is a native of Savannah, Georgia. She is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Cook Parkhurst, among the early Negro business pioneers of that city and foster daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. John P. Wagg, who established the Agency Secretary system of the American Bible Society and who reared Mrs. Guzman. In 1929, in conection with an annunity endowment gift, Dr. Wagg named the agency which he began the William Ingraham Haven Memorial Agency Among Colored People of the United States, in memory of an appreciation for the interest which Dr. Haven, Secretary of the American Bible Society and his father, Bishop Haven of the Methodist Episcopal Church, had in the progress of the Negro race.

Mrs. Guzman was graduated from the elementary and high school departments of Clark University, Atlanta; from the College of Arts and Science Howard University; from from Columbia University, with the Master of Arts degree; and pursued advanced courses in sociology and history at the University of Chicago under a General Education Board Fellowship, working on a study realting to the role of the Negro woman during slavery. Her research interest lies in the fields of the history of the Negro and in race relations.

Work experience includes public school teaching, Greensboro, North Carolina, the teaching of history at New Orleans College and at Alabama State Teachers' College; and teaching and research at Tuskegee Institute, where for more than 15 years she was assistant to the late Monroe N. Work, founder and director of the Department of Records and Research, editor of the NEGRO YEAR BOOK from 1912 to 1938 and editor of the BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE NEGRO IN AFRICA AND AMERICA published in 1928, and other researches.

MRS. JESSIE P. GUZMAN

For six years, Mrs. Guzman was Dean of Women at Tuskegee Institute and in 1944 became director of the Department of Records and Research, which is noted only for publishing the NEGRO YEAR BOOK and for its records pertaining to lynchings in the United States, but also for helping to keep the public informed on the progress and status of the Negro. Students from public schools, high schools, colleges and universities, scholars studying various phases of Negro life and the general public look to this department to furnish needed data.

Membership is presently held in the following organizations: The Southern Regional Council; The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; The Association for the Study of Negro Life and History; The Society of American Archivists; The Southern Sociological Society; The Alabama State Teachers Association; The American Teachers Association; the Tuskegee Civic Association; the Tuskegee Woman's Club also Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and Washington Chapel Church.

She is married to Ignacio L. Guzman, a native of Puerto Rico, who is associate professor in the School of Mechanical Industries, Tuskegee Institute.

Mrs. Guzman To Be Guest InMontgomery

Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, Tuskegee, Ala., will be guest speaker Sunday at 4 p.m. at the First Congregational Christian Church on High St. at Union, the Rev. G. Franklin Lewis, minister when the Montgomery City Federation of Colored Women's Clubs will observe "Know Your State Federation Day."

Mrs. Guzman, who is a candidate for a position on the Macon County Board of Education, is the first Negro ever to run for public office in Macon County.

Mrs. Sadie Brooks, president of the City Federation, states that the program committee and the social committee with Mesdames Zelia S. Evans, Arthur Mae Norris, Cora McHaney and Miss Susie Whetstone as co-chairmen respectively, are working hard for an afternoon planned for the pleasure and benefit of all federated club women and the entire community.

Other features of the program will be the History of the City Federation by Mrs. Janie Lowe Clayton, the History of the State Federation, Mrs. Leola W. Whitted and musical selections by the Dora Beverly Club with Mrs. A. W. Smiley director and Mrs. Ruth D. Frazier accompanist.

An informal reception will be held at the City Federation's South Union Street Community House immediately following the program at the church.

Members of all Federated Clubs are urged to be present to share this program.

34a(2) 1954

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

Picture above shows Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, candidate for Macon County (Ga.) Board of Education, being congratulated by C. G. Gomillion, president, Tuskegee Civic Association after Mrs. Guzman completed initial speech recently.

Courier Dat. 4-10-54

They're In!

CROWLEY, La.—L. C. Voinche, chairman of the Crowley Democratic Executive Committee, has admitted that Prof. David L. May, high school principal, and Joseph L. Pete, barber shop owner, have virtually won elections to Crowley City Council. Said Voinche: "It was bound to happen. Negro names have been appearing on ballot for years."

Pittsburgh, Pa.

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Congressman George Bender, candidate for the late Bob Taft's Senate seat, did not invite Negro reporters to his press breakfast last week . . . and Saxbe has yet to appoint a Negro to aid his efforts. Both are Republicans. Wonder if they've ever heard of too little . . . too late?

* * *

P. 7

ATLANTA, Ga.—Georgia Republicans plan to have forty or more candidates for the State Legislature and candidates for Congress in three or four districts . . . especially in Atlanta's famous Fifth . . . in the state-wide elections this fall.

* * *

City Commissioner!

NOWATA, Okla.—John H. Morgan, a plastering and cement contractor, defeated three white candidates to win the post of city commissioner by a majority of eighty-eight votes. Morgan will serve in the city's predominantly Negro ward.

* * *

TOLEDO, Ohio—Why did somebody turn down Negro leaders, who asked to use the Naval Armory for a community affair? Congressman Reams and Senator John Bricker are plenty hot . . . and the saying is . . . "somebody's gotta go."

* * *

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Richard N. (Dick) Satterfield, former chief deputy of Circuit Court here, has announced his candidacy for county trustee. General election will be held on Aug. 5.

ALABAMA

* * *

SULLIVAN, Ind. — (INS) — House-to-house political campaigning apparently is going the way of the old gray mare and the nickel cigar. A local politician confessed he believes he's done himself out of a dozen votes by: (1) Calling at homes in the morning and afternoon and thereby antagonizing housewives who were watching television soap operas. (2) Calling at homes in the evening and antagonizing the family watching TV programs.

* * *

COLUMBUS, Ohio — State Auditor James Rhodes, GOP candidate for Governor, has a good one coming up for Governor Lausche next week. Insiders say it will make the lights really burn in the State House, with faces turning many colors. Money, money . . . who got the money?

* * *

COLUMBIA, S. C.—Wilbert A. Kennedy, local lawyer, is running for the city school board here, and Dr. H. D. Monteith is a candidate for the General Assembly. Monteith is one of a field of seventeen candidates. An intensive registration drive, to last until April 10, is under way.

MRS. JESSIE P. GUZMAN

MACON COUNTY'S FIRST NEGRO CANDIDATE—Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, the first Negro ever to run for a political position in Macon County, entered the home stretch for a seat on the Macon County Board of Education by holding a political rally in the local courthouse. She is shown holding some of the money she was showered with at the conclusion of her speech. She is opposed by B. L. Ralch, superintendent of education.

Woman Educator Opens Campaign For Seat On Alabama School Board

TUSKEGEE, Ala.—Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, an educator here for 33 years and the first Negro ever to run for public office in the ed her campaign for a seat on the Blackbelt county of Macon, open-Mocan County Board of Education with an address Sunday at Olivet Baptist church.

Mrs. Guzman rapped the Jim Crow school board setup and said he rplatform included "democratic distribution of public school funds." She said membership on the board will afford her a nopportunity to make a "constructive contribution" to the welfare of all school children in the county, regardless of race.

"As presently constituted, our County Board is undemocratic", Mrs. Guzman said, "because it is representative of only one segment of our population, but it administers school affairs for the total population. My election to the school board will remedy this situation."

While the election of Negroes to public office may be unique in this county, the speaker enumerated many southern cities that had elected qualified Negroes.

In appealing to her audience to correct the undemocratic composition of the Macon County Board of Education, Mrs. Guzman reported that there are 25,771 Negroes in the county, and only 4,777 whites. She said further that there are 6,872 children enrolled in Macon County's public schools, and of this number 5,818 are Negroes and 964 are white.

She believes that the Negro children, who represent 86.0 per cent of the school population, could best be represented by a member of their race on the board.

"No child's education, regardless of his race, is more important than that of any other. Public funds provided for the education of all of the children of the county should be so distributed that not one cent more shall be spent on one child than on the other," Mrs. Guzman said.

The well-known educator pointed out that there are three schools for whites in the county and 52 for Negroes, but more public funds are expended, proportionately, on white schools than on the Negro schools.

Mrs. Guzman said that when she is elected that she will encourage citizens' groups to take a greater part in the administration of the affairs of the schools.

State Federated Club Women Hear Address By Mrs. Guzeman

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — "Negro club women in Alabama have a dual role to play in our present American society," stated Mrs. Jessie P. Guzeman on Sunday afternoon speaking to a group of federated club women in Montgomery, "they have duties as American citizens and additional duties and responsibilities as members of America's largest minority group."

The occasion was the annual observance of "Know Your State Federation" as sponsored by the Montgomery City Federation of Women's Clubs in a public program at the First Congregational Christian Church. Mrs. Guzeman, director of research activities at Tuskegee Institute and a candidate for a place on the Macon County Board of Education in the May 4 primary, emphasized the fact that Negro women must play a more and more important part in encouraging voter-registration and must encourage their people not to be disturbed when registration board officials seek by divers means to delay or deny their registration.

She cited Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, of Washington, D. C. pioneer club woman who even at the age of 91 is still an example of what a club woman's activities and interests should be in a changing society. She expressed the hope that Alabama will soon join with Georgia, North Carolina, and Kentucky in political liberalism.

Mrs. Guzeman was introduced by Mrs. JoAnn Robinson, president of the Montgomery Womens Political Council. Mrs. Leola Hudson Whitted told of the early efforts of Alabama Club women in the area of human welfare and emphasized especially the contributions of the women of Montgomery and environs in these efforts. She cited the late Mesdames Booker T. Washington and R. R. Moton and also Mesdames H. M. Gibbs, Louise Streety, and Sadie Brooks for their current efforts in the work. Other women of Alabama were listed for their contributions to the program since the organization of the state federation in 1899 at the Old Ship Church in Montgomery.

Mrs. Janie Lowe Clayton traced the history of the Montgomery Federation from its beginnings in 1930 with Mrs. Mabel Lee as its first president and Mrs. Alice Martin as vice. The following club groups comprised the original organization: Phyllis Wheatley, Vesta Art, Ten Times One Is Ten, and Anna M. Duncan. She traced the growth of the organization under the presidencies of Mesdames Hattie Alexander, Janie L. Clayton, Zenobia M. Johnson on up to the present administration of Mrs. Sadie Brooks. Among the specifics mentioned by her were the furnishing of the USO headquarters and also personnel for same, scholarships, welfare work, work with the State Industrial School, and the purchase and equipment of the Community House involving an expenditure of more than $15,000, with no present indebtedness.

Mrs. Sadie Brooks, president, acknowledged cash contributions from each of the 17 gathered groups; also the installation of the water fountain by the Agnes Lewis Club, a member of which had made the solicitation of the fountain itself; the presentation of a contribution of one hundred dollars from the Junior League for gymnastic equipment for the Community House; some pieces of equipment for playground use by the graduate chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, headed by Mrs. Daniel Clayton and also by the Dora Beverly Club headed by Miss Willie M. Stone.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the choral group of the Dora Beverly Club with Mrs. Ruth Frazier at the piano and by Mrs. Essie P. Smart, soprano soloist. Platform guests were federation officers and presidents of participating clubs. The program was directed by Mrs. Zelia Stephens Evans and Mrs. Arthur Mae Norris. An informal reception at the Community House was directed by Mrs. Cora McHaney and Miss Susie Whetstone and attracted a large number of club women and their friends.

Mrs Jessie Guzman Enters Race For Board Of Education Position

Herald

Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, director of the department of records and research at Tuskegee Institute and for many years active in educational affairs of Macon County and Alabama, Monday qualified with the County Democratic Executive Committee as a candidate for member of the Macon County Board of Education in the forthcoming Democratic primaries. Jus. 2-9-54

Tuskegee, Ala.

Her entry marked the first time in history a Negro has ever entered a Democratic primary in Macon County and the first since Reconstruction days that a member of the race has sought political office in Macon County.

Mrs. Guzman is one of several of her race entering the Democratic primaries over the state for the first time this year, among them being Arthur D. Shores, Birmingham attorney, who has qualified as a candidate for the Legislature.

P. 1

Interviewed concerning her entry into the primaries, Mrs. Guzman recalled her long years of service in educational affairs and said she felt the Macon County educational set-up would reflect a more balanced expression of public opinion if a Negro were elected.

"I have visited schools over the county for many years and have been closely associated with those in a supervisory capacity in education," said Mrs. Guzman. "I feel that my long experience has given me something that I can contribute to the educational situation in my county.

"I am not merely interested in better education for children but for all the children of Macon County."

In other races in the county F. Conyers Thompson, incumbent, and Richard E. Carr. Shorter, have qualified for members of the Board of Revenue from District 3. G. O. Bush, former representative from Macon County, qualified to seek a place in the Legislature.

In the tax collector's race John Hugh Reynolds filed to make the race to succeed himself. Opposing him will be Joe Pattillo, of Notasulga, and Henry Grimes, of Tuskegee. Reports have been current that one or more others may get in this race.

A contest in the State Senate race became assured when Sam Engelhardt, of Shorter, seeking elevation from the House, and Henry Neill Segrest, of Tuskegee, former member of the House, both qualified with the secretary of state to become candidates.

Three present office holders, Sheriff Preston Hornsby, Tax Assessor Harold Hendon and Charles Huddleston, member of the Board of Revenue, District 1, all filed qualification papers and up to Tuesday were without opposition.

Herald
Tuskegee, Ala.
Jus. 2-9-54
P. 1

MRS. JESSIE P. GUZMAN, candidate for member of the Macon County Board of Education in the forthcoming Democratic Primaries.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE CITIZENS OF MACON COUNTY, ALABAMA

News P. 4B

April 12,1954

My dear Fellow Citizens:

This is the second in a series of three letters requesting your vote in the coming Primaries of May 4 and June 1. The first letter contained what I considered important from the points of view of my qualifications for membership on the Macon County Board of Education and some biographical information. This letter sets forth my platform. Its four planks are all concerned with our democratic way of life, namely:

Tuskegee, Ala.

I believe in the democratic form of government
I believe in the practice as well as the theory of democracy
I believe in the democratic distribution of public services
I believe in, and shall work for, the democratic administration of public education

Thurs. 4-15-54

To you as American citizens, it is not necessary for me to explain what is meant by democracy, for we all know that the democratic ideal is set forth in our country's fundamental documents—the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States and the Bill of Rights.

It is necessary, however, to point out that for democracy to have real meaning, it must operate as well here in our local community as it does in any other community, regardless of location. It must apply without distinction to each citizen living under the jurisdiction of our government.

Education is a public service supported by all of the people of the State and of the county, for all of the children in the county. It goes without question that each child is entitled to an equal share of this public service. The Course of Study for our school sets forth training for citizenship as one of the main purposes of the schools. Can good citizens for a democratic society be trained by an undemocratic institution?

Our County Board of Education as presently constituted is undemocratic, because the 5 members presently on it represent only 4,790 of our people. The other 25,771 have no representation on the Board of Education, neither have they representation elsewhere in our government.

If I am elected to the Board of Education, I shall work for the democratic administration of public education for all of our people, the entire 30,561 persons who make up our total population.

Sincerely yours,

Tuskegee, Ala.

Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman

(Paid Pol. Adv. by friends of Mrs. Guzman,)

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

Courier

DOWN IN BIRMINGHAM, one of the most steadfast centers of anti-Negro populism, Atty. Arthur D. Shores, 45, has qualified as a candidate for the Alabama Legislature . . . the first since 1884. Five other minority candidates have announced for various public posts in Tuskegee, Montgomery and Mobile; bringing an end to political lily-whitism in the state of Alabama.

Pittsburgh Pa

* * *

OTHER ALABAMANS seeking posts include Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, a Tuskegee Institute, Ala., departmental director, who seeks a post on the Macon County Board of Education; the Rev. Terry M. Batts, mortician Alex Herman and insurance salesman Clarence H. Montgomery, all of Mobile, who seek posts on the Mobile County Democratic Executive Committee. E. D. Nixon of Montgomery seeks a similar position in that city.

Sat 2-20-54

MRS. GUZMAN

* * *

OHIOANS are wondering if last week's conference between John Holl, first Ohio Negro candidate for the U. S. Congress on the Democratic ticket, and the incumbent Gov. Frank J. Lausche was "off the record."

P. 7

* * *

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The National Council of Negro Women, through its president, Mrs. Vivian Carter Mason, has addressed an anti-Bricker Amendment letter to President Eisenhower. NCNW "unreadiness" was based on the "States Rights" aspects of the Bricker instrument.

* * *

"HUMMON'S" SUCCESSOR?—Atlanta's minority was smiling this week after noting that Georgia House Speaker Fred Hand of Pelham, a successful businessman, had announced for the gubernatorial race . . . pointing up the fact that Gov. Herman L. Talmadge cannot succeed himself. Mr. Hand, incidentally, does not have "Hummon's" blessings.

* * *

GEORGIANS of color will miss the important work of the late Rev. A. L. Brewster, AME stalwart and civic worker. He was the behind-the-scenes man in many Georgia political battles . . . particularly with reference to the minority vote.

* * *

HOUSING ADMINISTRATOR Albert M. Cole is planning to implement strong administrative policies which would protect the housing rights of minority families which is in line with his outdoing of his predecessors.

* * *

The Franklin County Republican Club, made up of young men and veteran politicos, gives Columbus its first new GOP organization in fifteen years. The club has thirty-one members.

Women Step Out Boldly For Office In Alabama

BY WILLIAM P. MITCHELL

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. — (SNS) — Women have stepped out boldy into office-seeking politics in Alabama.

Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, Georgia-born, educational research leader, is seeking a position on the Macon County Board of Education.

She is filed for the position now held by Robert Varner, young Tuskegee attorney. Mr. Varner reportedly will not offer for election in the Democratic primary because he is said to have voted for President Eisenhower. This would disqualify him under the recent "loyalty pledge" adopted by the Alabama Democratic Executive Committee.

However, it was learned last Saturday that County Superintendent Blach had also qualified to run for this post.

Macon County has an estimated 3,300 voters of which an estimated 950 are Negro electors. About 80 per cent of the county's population is of the Negro group.

Mrs. Guzman filed her candidacy with the Macon County Democratic Committee Monday, Feb. 8.

She is editor of the NEGRO YEAR BOOK, and Director, Department of Records and Research, Tuskegee Institute, is a native of Savannah, Georgia. She is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Cook Parkhurst, among the early Negro business pioneers of that city and foster daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. John P. Wagg, who established the Agency Secretary system of the American Bible Society and who reared Mrs. Guzman. In 1929, in conection with an annunity endowment gift, Dr. Wagg named the agency which he began the William Ingraham Haven Memorial Agency Among Colored People of the United States, in memory of an appreciation for the interest which Dr. Haven, Secretary of the American Bible Society and his father, Bishop Haven of the Methodist Episcopal Church, had in the progress of the Negro race.

Mrs. Guzman was graduated from the elementary and high school departments of Clark University, Atlanta; from the College of Arts and Science Howard University; from from Columbia University, with the Master of Arts degree; and pursued advanced courses in sociology and history at the University of Chicago under a General Education Board Fellowship, working on a study realting to the role of the Negro woman during slavery. Her research interest lies in the fields of the history of the Negro and in race relations.

MRS. JESSIE P. GUZMAN

Work experience includes public school teaching, Greensboro, North Carolina, the teaching of history at New Orleans College and at Alabama State Teachers' College; and teaching and research at Tuskegee Institute, where for more than 15 years she was assistant to the late Monroe N. Work, founder and director of the Department of Records and Research, editor of the NEGRO YEAR BOOK from 1912 to 1938 and editor of the BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE NEGRO IN AFRICA AND AMERICA published in 1928, and other researches.

For six years, Mrs. Guzman was Dean of Women at Tuskegee Institute and in 1944 became director of the Department of Records and Research, which is noted only for publishing the NEGRO YEAR BOOK and for its records pertaining to lynchings in the United States, but also for helping to keep the public informed on the progress and status of the Negro. Students from public schools, high schools, colleges and universities, scholars studying various phases of Negro life and the general public look to this department to furnish needed data.

Membership is presently held in the following organizations: The Southern Regional Council; The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; The Association for the Study of Negro Life and History; The Society of American Archivists; The Southern Sociological Society; The Alabama State Teachers Association; The American Teachers Association; the Tuskegee Civic Association; the Tuskegee Woman's Club also Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and Washington Chapel Church.

She is married to Ignacio L. Guzman, a native of Puerto Rico, who is associate professor in the School of Mechanical Industries, Tuskegee Institute.

Negro Woman Seeks Education Post in Macon County Race

Herald Union Springs Ala.

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — (Special) — A Negro woman, the wife of I. L. Guzman, is seeking a post on the Macon County Board of Education in the forthcoming election. She is the first member of her race to run for a public office in Macon County history.

Thurs. 3-4-54

B. L. Balch, superintendent of education of Macon county, who will retire from his office July 1, has qualified and will run for the office himself. He entered the race, it was stated, after being urged by a committee of prominent Macon County citizens to qualify.

P. 1

The position sought by the two candidates is being vacated by Robert E. Varner, who could not qualify to run for re-election because of the loyalty oath imposed by the Macon County Democratic Committee.

The race for a seat on the Macon County Board of Education is perhaps an indication of trends to come in the county, which is the home of the famous Tuskegee Institute, and which is also a predominately Negro populated county.

FILES FOR EDUCATION BOARD:

Mrs. Jessie Guzman seeks position in Macon county

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. —Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman of Tuskegee recently filed her qualification paper for a position on the Macon County Board of Education. This position is held by Robert Varner, an attorney.

Mrs. Guzman filed her candidancy with the Macon County Democratic committee Feb. 8.

She is editor of the Negro Year Book, and director, department of records and research, Tuskegee Institute. A native of Savannah, Ga., she is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Cook Parkhurst.

Colleges Attended

Mrs. Guzman was graduated from the elementary and high school departments of Clark university, Atlanta, the college of arts and science, Howard university and from Columbia university.

Her work experience includes public school teaching, Greensboro, N.C., the teaching of history at New Orleans college and at Alabama State Teachers' college; and teaching and research at Tuskegee Institute.

Becomes Director

For six years, Mrs. Guzman was dean of women at Tuskegee Institute and in 1944 became director of the department of records and research, which is noted for helping to keep the public informed on the progress and status of the colored citizen.

She is married to Ignacio L. Guzman, a native of Puerto Rico and associate professor in the school of mechanical industries, Tuskegee Institute.

Mrs. Guzman Opens Drive ForEducation Board Post

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. — (SNS) — "I shall strive to see not only that Christian principles operate, but that social justice will prevail", when I am elected a member of the Macon County Board of Education.

Mrs. Guzman who has given 33 years of her life to educational work is being opposed for the board by B. L. Balch who has served as superintendent of Macon County public schools since 1946.

In her opening campaign speech Mrs. Guzman asserted that (1) she believes in the theory as well as the practice of democracy, (2) that she believes in the democratic distribution of public school funds, and (3) that she believes in the participation of citizens' groups in the educational affairs of the country.

The first Negro ever to run for public office in the Blackbelt County of Macon, a resident of this county for 30 years, Mrs. Guzman said that she had seen its best school as well as its worst. Mrs. Guzman believes that membership on the Macon County Board of Education will afford her an opportunity to make a "constructive contribution" to the welfare of all the school children in the county.

"As presently constituted, our County Board is undemocratic," Mrs. Guzman said, "because it is representative of only one segment of our population, but it administers school affairs for the total population. My election to the school board will remedy this situation."

While the election of Negroes to public office may be unique in this county, the speaker enumerated many southern cities that had elected qualified Negroes.

In appealing to her audience to correct the undemocratic composition of the Macon County Board of Education, Mrs. Guzman stated that there are 25,771 Negroes in the county, and only 4,777 whites. She said further that there are 6,782 children enrolled in Macon's County's public schools, and of this number 5,818 are Negroes and 964 are white. She believes that the Negro children, who represent 86.0 per cent of the school population, could best be represented by a member of their race on the board. "No child's education, regardless of his race, is more important than that of any other. Public funds provided for the education of all of the children of the county should be so distributed that not one cent more shall be spent on one child than on the other," Mrs. Guzman said.

She pointed out that there are three schools for whites in the county and 52 for Negroes, but more public funds are expended, proportionately, on white schools than on the Negro schools.

Mrs. Guzman said that when she is elected that she will encourage citizens' groups to take a greater part in the administration of the affairs of the schools. She called the audience's attention to the Alabama law which provides for a public meeting with the school board on the second Tuesday in May of each year.

"When I am elected to the school board, I shall make the welfare of all of the 55 schools in the county my special concern, such concern to be based on actual study," Mrs. Guzman said.

With that declaration of fairness to all, Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, opened her campaign for a place on the Macon County Board of Education at a meeting held at Mt. Olive Baptist Church here.

While Mrs. Guzman commended the Macon County Board of Education for achievements in the length of school term; transportation facilities; increased teachers' salaries and other expenditures for education, she stated that "improvement is not enough. We as citizens should not be satisfied until each inequality in education in the county is discontinued."

In pointing out further that funds handled by the present school board have not been equitably distributed, Mrs. Guzman stated that it was brought out in the State Supt. of Education report that $3,340,000 was needed to bring the Negro schools in Macon County up to the ideal, while the white schools needed only $280,000 to reach this standard.

Mrs. Guzman said that "public education is basic and each of our children should have an equal opportunity to prepare for life's situation. The people of good-will of this community must get together and vote in members of the County Board who will practice Christian principles in public matters as well as in private matters."

"The curriculum of the State of Alabama provides for civic education, so that our children will develop ideals and practices that will prepare them for good citizenship. In our county we will be setting the proper example when democracy operates in the school system beginning with the school board," Mrs. Guzman stated.

"When I am elected, I shall strive to see not only that Christian principles operate; but also that social justice will prevail," Mrs. Guzman concluded.

FOR BOARD OF EDUCATION

I hereby declare myself a candidate for member of the Macon County Board of Education, subject to action of the Democratic Primaries of May 4 and June 1, 1954.

Your vote and influence will be very much appreciated.

MRS. JESSIE P. GUZMAN

(Paid political advertising by Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, Tuskegee, Ala.)

Alabama Negroes Contest For Offices

By EMORY O. JACKSON

BIRMINGHAM, — (ANP) — Alabama Negroes are on the march politically. The watering down of the poll tax law encouraged more Negroes to register and vote than ever before in the history of the state since Reconstruction days.

In Mobile, Montgomery, Tuskegee and Birmingham, Negroes ran for office. Mobile was the only city in which they were successful, however, and the Mobile County Democratic Committee seats which they won were not important from a state wide standpoint. Their victory showed that Negroes could win and the excellent races put up in other sections were encouraging.

In Mobile, Alex Herman, connected with the Booker T. Washington Burial Association, and Clarence H. Montgomery were elected to the County Democratic committee. They ran in the seventh ward which is almost entirely Negro. Four other Negroes were candidates for the same office in other wards but were defeated.

In Tuskegee, Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, editor of the Negro Year Book and long time faculty member of Tuskegee institute, ran for a place on the county school board. Macon county in which Tuskegee institute is located is predominantly colored but the election machinery is in the hands of the whites who despite the large concentration of highly educated Negroes in Tuskege institute and the Tuskegee Veterans hospital refuse registration on one subterfuge or another.

Macon county has only 855 Negro voters. There are 3 007 white voters and practically all of them struggled to the polls to vote. Mrs. Guzman polled 716 votes for a place on the school board. Some 2,365 whites voted for the white candidates.

In Montgomery, E. D. Nixon, president of the Montgomery NAACP, was defeated for a place on the Montgomery County Executive committee by Joseph W. Carroll, a white man. Nixon, a former Pullman Porter and a staunch fighter for racial rights, ran a close race getting 802 votes to Car-rolls 1,090. In Beat 2 where Nixon ran, there are an estimated 600 Negro votes. That means he had more than 300 white votes.

Birmingham's Arthur D. Shores, nationally-known lawyer, ran for the state legislature. There were seven representatives to be elected from Jefferson county in which Birmingham is located. Shores ran 28th in a list of 29 candidates. 48,000 votes were cast. There are only 5,250 Negro voters registered in the county.

See: Code-34a(2)-1954

Jessie Guzman Files Papers For Macon Education Position

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala., Feb. 14—Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman of Tuskegee, Ala., filed her qualification paper for a position on the Macon County County Board of Education. This position is held by Robert Varner, young attorney of Tuskegee. Varner is running to succeed himself.

Mrs. Guzman filed her candidacy with the Macon County Democratic committee Monday, Feb. 8. At this writing it is not known whether anyone other than Varner and Mrs. Guzman is seeking the post.

Mrs. Jessie Parkhurst Guzman, editor of the Negro Year Book, and director, Department of Records and Research, Tuskegee Institute, is a native of Savannah, Ga. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Cook Parkhurst, among the early Negro business pioneers of that city and foster daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. John P. Wagg, who established the Agency Secretary system of the American Bible Society and who reared Mrs. Guzman. In 1929, in connection with an annuity endowment gift, Dr. Wagg named the agency which he began the William Ingraham Haven Memorial Agency Among Colored People of the United States, in memory of an appreciation for the interest which Dr. Haven, secretary of the American Bible Society and his father, Bishop Haven of the Methodist Episcopal Church, had in the progress of the Negro race.

Mrs. Guzman was graduated from the elementary and high school departments of Clark University, Atlanta; from the College of Arts and Science, Howard University; from Columbia University, with the Master of Arts degrees, and pursued advanced courses in sociology and history at the University of Chicago under a General Education Board Fellowship, working on a study relating to the role of the Negro woman during slavery. Her research interest lies in the fields of the history of the Negro and in race relations.

Work experience includes public school teaching, Greensboro, N.C.; the teaching of history at New Orleans College and at Alabama State Teachers College, and teaching and research at Tuskegee Institute, where for more than 15 years she was assistant to the late Monroe N. Work, founder and director of the Department of Records and Research, editor of the Negro Year Book from 1912 to 1938 and editor of the Bibliography of the Negro in Africa and America published in 1928, and other researches.

For six years Mrs. Guzman was Dean of Women at Tuskegee Institute and in 1944 became director of the Department of Records and Research, which is noted not only for publishing the Negro Year Book and for its records pertaining to lynchings in the United States, but also for helping to keep the pubilc informed on the progress and status of the Negro. Students from public schools, high schools, colleges and universities, scholars studying various phases of Negro life and the general public look to this department to furnish needed data.

Membership is presently held in the following organizations: The Southern Regional Council; The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; The Association for the Study of Negro Life and History; The Society of American Archivists; The Southern Sociological Society; The Alabama State Teachers Association; The American Teachers Association; The Tuskegee Civic Association; The Tuskegee Woman's Club, also, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and Washington Chapel Church.

She is married To Ignacio L. Guzman, a native of Puerto Rico, with his associate professor in the School of Mechanical Industries, Tuskegee Institute.

News Of Colored People

By MARY K FRAZIER

Mrs. Jessie Guzeman, director of department of research and records at Tuskegee Institute, will be the speaker of the annual observance of "Know Your State Federation" as sponsored by the Montgomery City Federation of Womens' Clubs on Sunday at 4 p.m. at the First Congregational Christian Church.

An interesting supporting program has been planned by the committee headed by Mrs. Zelia Stephens Evans and will include a statement of the program of the state work by Mrs. Leola H. Whitted and a similar statement concerning the program of the work in the city of Montgomery by Mrs. Jane Lowe Clayton. Music will be furnished by the choral groups of the Anna M. Brown and the Dora Beverly Clubs.

Mrs. Guzman is a graduate of Clark University and of Howard University. Her M.A. degree was won from Columbia University and she has done advanced study in sociology and history at the University of Chicago under a General Education Board Fellowship, working on a study relating to the role of the Negro woman during slavery.

The general public is cordially invited to share the program, which will be followed by a reception at the Community Center operated by the City Federation. Mrs. Sadie Brooks is president of the sponsoring organization.

Buck-McCray School of Business

CERTIFICATE

Certificate awarded to Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman served as a builder of the Tuskegee Institute Community through successful participation in political activities of Macon County. ....

See- Code: 34a(2)folder 1954

State Federated Club Women Hear Address By Mrs. Guzeman

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — "Negro club women in Alabama have a dual role to play in our present American society," stated Mrs. Jessie P. Guzeman on Sunday afternoon speaking to a group of federated club women in Montgomery; "they have duties as American citizens and additional duties and responsibilities as members of America's largest minority group."

The occasion was the annual observance of "Know Your State Federation" as sponsored by the Montgomery City Federation of Women's Clubs in a public program at the First Congregational - Christian Church. Mrs. Guzeman, director of research activities at Tuskegee Institute and a candidate for a place on the Macon County Board of Education in the May 4 primary, emphasized the fact that Negro women must play a more and more important part in encouraging voter-registration and must encourage their people not to be disturbed when registration board officials seek by divers means to delay or deny their registration.

She cited Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, of Washington, D. C. pioneer club woman who even at the age of 91 is still an example of what a club woman's activities and interests should be in a changing society. She expressed the hope that Alabama will soon join with Georgia, North Carolina, and Kentucky in political liberalism.

Mrs. Guzeman was introduced by Mrs. JoAnn Robinson, president of the Montgomery Womens Political Council. Mrs. Leola Hudson Whitted told of the early efforts of Alabama Club women in the area of human welfare and emphasized especially the contributions of the women of Montgomery and environs in these efforts. She cited the late Mesdames Booker T. Washington and R. R Moton and also Mesdames H. M Gibbs, Louise Streety, and Sadie Brooks for their current efforts in the work. Other women of Alabama were listed for their contributions to the program since the organization of the state federation in 1899 at the Old Ship Church in Montgomery.

Mrs. Janie Lowe Clayton traced the history of the Montgomery Federation from its beginnings in 1930 with Mrs. Mabel Lee as its first president and Mrs. Alice Martin as vice. The following club groups comprised the original organization: Phyllis Wheatley, Vesta Art, Ten Times One Is Ten, and Anna M. Duncan. She traced the growth of the organization under the presidencies of Mesdames Hattie Alexander, Janie L. Clayton, Zenobia M. Johnson on up to the present administration of Mrs. Sadie Brooks. Among the specifics mentioned by her were the furnishing of the USO headquarters and also personnel for same, scholarships, welfare work, work with the State Industrial School, and the purchase and equipment of the Community House involving an expenditure of more than $15,000, with no present indebtedness.

Mrs. Sadie Brooks, president, acknowledged cash contributions from each of the 17 gathered groups; also the installation of the water fountain by the Agnes Lewis Club, a member of which had made the solicitation of the fountain itself; the presentation of a contribution of one hundred dollars from the Junior League for gymnastic equipment for the Community House; some pieces of equipment for playground use by the graduate chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority headed by Mrs. Daniel Clayton and also by the Dora Beverly Club headed by Miss Willie M. Stone.

Folsom Winner Over Six Foes WithoutRunoff

Faulkner Refuses To Concede Defeat In Governor Race

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 5 (AP) —Tremendous majorities in rural counties today gave the Democratic nomination for governor to ex-Gov. James E. Folsom, whose antics during his first term brought him the nickname of "Kissing Jim."

Folsom, running far ahead of six opponents, got a majority of the heaviest vote ever cast in Alabama history, either in a primary or general election. He was ahead in 62 of the 67 counties.

Returns from 2,607 of the state's 2,715 boxes gave:

Folsom 274,518; State Sen. Jimmy Faulkner 140,352; Lt. Gov. James Allen 57,399; Bruce Henderson 41,329; C. C. (Jack) Owen 20,105; Henry Sweet 2,667, and Winston Gullatte 2,452.

Sen. John J. Sparkman also outdistanced three opponents for the senatorial nomination. Sparkman had been charged with "carrying water on both shoulders" on the civil rights plank of the 1952 Democratic platform when the Alabama senator was the party nominee for vice president.

He hotly denied that he was ever anything but a believer in allowing the states to settle their own racial problems.

Returns from 2,570 boxes gave: Sparkman 281,042; Rep. Laurie Battle, of Birmingham, 184,814; Adm. John Crommelin, retired, 16,198, and William C. Irby, of Jacksonville, 3,919.

The incumbent senator, who had ardently championed the Tennessee Valley Authority, rolled up wide majorities in the TVA region of north Alabama, but had comfortable leads elsewhere through the state as well.

But despite the widening majorities in both the senatorial and gubernatorial contests, neither of the two closest competitors would concede victory to Folsom or Sparkman.

Faulkner, who gained statewide political prominence almost overnight with a series of talkathon radio-television appearances, held steadfastly to a hope that the missing returns would reverse the trend and give him a second chance in a runoff on June 1.

The weekly newspaper publisher and radio station owner from Bay Minette in south Alabama declared he would insist on a runoff no matter how great Folsom's lead if the ex-governor failed to win in the first primary.

There was no further statement from him as later returns gave Folsom a clear-cut majority.

Battle, the most outspokenly critical of Sparkman's opponents, had nothing to say.

Even before the last votes were counted, the total surged far ahead of the previous record of 426,000 ballots cast in the 1952 presidential election. The recent adoption of a constitutional amendment softening Alabama's poll tax requirements had added an estimated 200,000 new voters to the lists.

Nine congressmen also were nominated in yesterday primary — eight of them incumbents — along with a new state legislature and scores of candidates for lesser state and local office.

Folsom, a Cullman insurance executive, made his first statewide race in 1942 when he was an unsuccessful candidate for governor. He was elected governor in 1946 when he was first in a five-man field in the first primary and won a wide margin in the runoff.

Defeated As Delegate

While governor he ran for delegate at large to the 1948 Democratic National Convention but was defeated, finishing last in a seven-man race for four places in the runoff.

Sparkman, who came from a poor farm family, worked his way through the University of Alabama where he received his law degree. He practiced law at Huntsville, where he makes his home, and was elected to Congress in 1936. He was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1946 to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. John H. Bankhead, and was reelected in 1948.

How They Voted

BIRMINGHAM, May 5 (AP)—The unofficial county-by-county vote for governor:

County	Boxes	Allen	Faulk.	Fo's'm
Autauga	19 of 19	196	842	1,724
Baldwin	28 of 29	276	4,297	3,177
Barbour	28 of 29	320	857	2,300
Bibb	26 of 26	97	381	2,261
Blount	44 of 44	630	1,140	6,055
Bullock	21 of 21	302	199	1,036
Butler	49 of 50	365	1,035	2,515
Calhoun	49 of 52	2,950	4,289	6,181
Chambers	37 of 37	843	2,680	3,198
Cherokee	37 of 37	777	739	3,461
Chilton	27 of 27	476	1,854	3,519
Choctaw	32 of 36	169	451	2,036
Clarke	40 of 40	412	1,058	3,565
Clay	23 of 26	476	1,119	2,715
Cleburne	16 of 19	243	527	1,925
Coffee	33 of 36	148	695	5,301
Colbert	28 of 29	691	2,893	7,899
Conecuh	35 of 37	174	829	2,562
Coosa	12 of 21	107	514	1,289
Covington	48 of 48	386	2,167	6,310
Crenshaw	24 of 30	523	2,135	8,553
Dale	24 of 25	227	911	2,725
Dallas	24 of 24	1,015	1,823	1,685
DeKalb	62 of 62	1,019	1,173	6,306
Elmore	24 of 30	288	1,238	3,263
Escambia	36 of 36	268	1,791	4,400
Etowah	54 of 55	5,859	3,823	12,307
Fayette	34 of 38	360	1,386	3,132
Franklin	25 of 26	279	1,703	3,896
Geneva	29 of 29	167	706	4,349
Greene	16 of 16	201	151	526
Hale	11 of 18	133	166	335
Henry	26 of 26	172	595	2,579
Houston	34 of 34	740	1,220	4,653
Jackson	45 of 47	369	1,848	4,521
Jefferson	299 of 299	11,934	25,560	24,173
Lamar	31 of 31	90	3,291	2,843
Lauderdale	25 of 33	568	3,447	4,245
Lawrence	31 of 31	677	970	3,407
Lee	39 of 39	1,086	2,211	2,465
Limestone	28 of 82	647	1,437	2,738
Lowndes	22 of 22	85	291	853
Macon	12 of 15	126	392	1,294
Madison	36 of 36	2,188	3,503	5,133
Marengo	28 of 29	330	395	1,305
Marion	30 of 39	190	1,474	4,698
Marshall	45 of 45	829	2,066	9,611
Mobile	218 of 221	4,694	11,953	12,954
Monroe	32 of 33	752	1,253	1,829
Montgomery	69 of 69	2,114	6,557	8,723
Morgan	59 of 61	2,158	2,601	6,256
Perry	20 of 20	350	661	1,142
Pickens	9 of 26	38	359	420
Pike	33 of 33	394	1,782	3,534
Randolph	24 of 27	357	950	3,100
Russell	14 of 23	158	198	1,003
Shelby	27 of 29	473	2,361	3,815
St. Clair	30 of 31	378	1,210	2,777
Sumter	18 of 23	77	369	370
Talladega	66 of 66	1,451	4,223	6,610
Tallapoosa	20 of 31	387	1,787	3,707
Tuscaloosa	59 of 59	2,869	4,487	8,472
Walker	68 of 71	670	3,048	10,058
Wash'ton	[illegible] of 25	136	514	2,369
Wilcox	20 of 26	39	81	431
Winston	20 of 21	196	584	1,185

The Lie Loses In Alabama!

By Ralph McGill, Editor, The Atlanta Constitution

Alabama has given us a national story.

In a time when "the lie" seems to have so much strength, with many preferring it to the truth, the news from the Alabama Democratic primary which gave United States Senator John Sparkman a clear majority over all his opponents is like a hand under the heart.

Voters of the state repudiated vicious and false campaign methods thrown against Sparkman. In the eyes of the race-baiters, in the minds of the old hard core of Dixiecrats, who in 1948 took over the political machinery of Alabama and had the fascist-like effrontery to refuse to place the names of the party's nominees on the ballot, Sparkman had committed the unpardonable sin. He had not only accepted the second highest honor within the gift of his party, the vice presidential nomination, he had agreed to a reasonable, compromise platform. Because he did not join them in hate they hated him.

History

To be sure, not all those who opposed Sparkman were Dixiecrats. But it was this distorted mentality which was most articulate with the smear, the lie and the cry of "Nigger! Nigger!" And this force did not need to stint financially.

There was spent for Sparkman's opponent, say Alabama newspapermen of character, a tremendous sum of money. They point to an almost unprecedented use of the most expensive television time and to other obvious costly procedures.

They don't know where the money came from. They believe it came "from Texas." There are men of wealth in this country, and seemingly most of this type seem to hail from the Lone Star State, who did not learn anything from Hitler. Their counterparts in Germany helped Hitler to power because he helped them get rid of some things they didn't like. They believed they could control him. Once in power, he made them captive and, eventually, detroyed them.

History, like lightning, rarely strikes twice in the same place, but, again like lightning it often repeats itself in devastating manner. These "Texas millionaires," who are legendary in our time, might well look at history.

Alabama repudiated them, refusing to be bought.

Jim Folsom

There was another half to the Alabama primary which also has national implications.

"Kissing Jim" Folsom, who went out of office four years ago with so many charges of corruption against his administration that political soothsayers said he was forever dead, led the ticket for nomination to the governorship.

It is a story with national implications because his large lead over the field indicated discontent. His vote was a protest vote. It was a protest against the state government, against the national government, and against all the vague and undefined forces which the faceless voters feel, but cannot see.

Folsom's opposition showed photostatic copies of letters which they said he had written while governor in which, they charged, he was asking for a kick-back from those persons doing business with the state. Thousands of voters ignored these. I asked a Birmingham News man why. He, strongly opposed to Folsom, said, cynically:

"I guess they thought they might as well vote for a fellow who was open about it as one who covered it up."

This hardly explains it, but there was evidence in the campaign that there was resentment against the special interests which for so long have been privileged and which have dominated the state's politics in most elections.

Certainly none can deny the Folsom vote was revealing of a state of discontent with government and conditions.

So, out of Alabama, we have evidence that the old smear tactics, the cry of "Nigger! Nigger!" and the lie do not always succeed. A fine and able senator was renominated against strong opposition. And, in addition, we have evidence of discontent.

Is it confined to Alabama?

Campaign Comments

50 Million Frenchmen

Sylacauga News—There is an old saying that "50 million Frenchmen can't be wrong," and the same goes for 300 thousand Alabama voters. As the next governor of our state, I intend to give the big guy a break just like I used to ask people to do for my friend Harry Truman.

Examiner P. 4

Distance To Two Parties

Brewton Standard—The distance btween the present primary method and a two-party system of politics in this county can be best measured by the difference between eight and 7723.

Eight people attended a Republican meeting to elect party officers, while 7723 turned out to vote for public officials in the Tuesday primary. It's quite a way to go.

Phen - 5-13-54

Second More Restrained Than First

Lee County Bulletin—It is to be hoped that in his second administration Mr. Folsom will be more restrained than he was in his first. If he is, he should get off to a better start with the Legislature than was the case eight years ago. It is most imporant that Folsom and the Legislature be able to work together. Neither can be expected to be a rubber stamp for the other. But serious problems facing Alabama during the next four years demand a spirit of harmony and cooperation between executive and legislative branches of the state government.

Montgomery, Ala.

Jimmy Faulkner, the runner-up, should feel that he has no apologies to make for the type of campaign he conducted or for the size of his vote. As we said last week, nothing that he said or did in the campaign made The Bulletin regret its editorial support of Mr. Faulkner.

The Sparkman Victory

Birmingham News—Despite the hard fight made against him U.S. Senator John Sparkman has, on unofficial returns, achieved a decisive victory over his three opponents and won renomination in the first primary. This paper believes that the voters have made a wise decision in this race and extends its congratulations and good wishes to Senator Sparkman. He can well take deep satisfaction in this tribute to him, this endorsement of a long record of able service.

Alabama Negroes Contest For Offices

Cal

By EMORY O. JACKSON

BIRMINGHAM. — (ANP) — Alabama Negroes are on the march politically. The watering down of the poll tax law encouraged more Negroes to register and vote than ever before in the history of the state since Reconstruction days.

Pitts. Pa. 5-28-54

In Mobile, Montgomery, Tuskegee and Birmingham, Negroes ran for office. Mobile was the only city in which they were successful, however, and the Mobile County Democratic committee seats which they won were not important from a state wide standpoint. Their victory showed that Negroes could win, and the excellent races put up in other sections were encouraging.

In Mobile, Alex Herman, connected with the Booker T. Washington Burial Association, and Clarence H. Montgomery were elected to the County Democratic committee. They ran in the seventh ward which is almost entirely Negro. Four other Negroes were candidates for the same office in other wards but were defeated.

In Tuskegee, Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, editor of the Negro Year Book and long time faculty member of Tuskegee institute, ran for a place on the county school board. Macon county in which Tuskegee institute is located is predominantly colored but the election machinery is in the hands of the whites who despite the large concentration of highly educated Negroes in Tuskege institute and the Tuskegee Veterans hospital refuse registration on one subterfuge or another.

Macon county has only 855 Negro voters. There are 3,007 white voters and practically all of them struggled to the polls to vote. Mrs. Guzman polled 716 votes for a place on the school board. Some 2,365 whites voted for the white candidates.

In Montgomery, E. D. Nixon, president of the Montgomery NAACP, was defeated for a place on the Montgomery County Executive committee by Joseph W. Carroll, a white man. Nixon, a former Pullman Porter and a staunch fighter for racial rights, ran a close race getting 802 votes to Carrolls 1,090. In Beat 2 where Nixon ran, there are an estimated 600 Negro votes. That means he had more than 300 white votes.

Birmingham's Arthur D. Shores, nationally-known lawyer, ran for the state legislature. There were seven representatives to be elected from Jefferson county in which Birmingham is located. Shores ran 28th in a list of 29 candidates. 48,000 votes were cast There are only 5,250 Negro voters registered in the county.

Two Win Mobile Democratic Executive Committee Posts

BY EMORY O. JACKSON

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (SNS) — Two Negro candidates were elected to the Mobile County Democratic Executive Committee in the May 4 primaries. The state-wide Democratic primaries also saw former Governor James E. (Kissin' Jim) Folson nominated for the Governorship and Senator John Sparkman winning over three other candidates to win the Senatorial nomination.

Wonsed

Phila. P.

Shores Loses Bid For Legislature; Folson, Sparkman Wir

Winning Executive Committee posts in Mobile were Alex L. Herman, insurance executive and Clarence H. Montgomery, a former president of the Mobile Branch NAACP.

Alexander

They were elected from the Seventh Ward where 4,400 of the 1,627 voters are Negroes. Herman and Montgomery polled 624 and 667 votes respectively. A third Negro candidate, Rev. Terrell M. Batts polled 322 votes coming in third in the five man race in which the two white candidates placed last, polling less than 100 votes apiece.

OTHER WARDS

In other Mobile wards, Negro candidates did not fare so well. In Ward 3, Conrad Deane, a Negro, lost to James Tew (white) by the slim margin of 40 votes. Deane polled 257 votes while Tew won 297 votes for the Executive Committee seat.

Rev. L. Boykins lost his bid for an Executive Committee post from Ward 27 while in another ward, Jesse Thomas, vice president of the Alabama State Federation of Labor, ran third in a three-candidate race.

LOSES LEGISLATURE BID

Unofficial results near the close of the tabulations for the Alabama House of Represeneatives from Jefferson County (Birmingham) revealed that Atty. Arthur D. Shores was running 28th in a field of 29 candidates.

Kansas

Shores, bidding for his first public office, was the first Negro to seek election in Birmingham since 1901. The incomplete vote-count showed him with 3,105 votes. There are 5,250 Negro voters listed for Jefferson County.

5-6-54

In Tuskegee, Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman was trailing her white opponent in the contest for membership on the Macon County Board of Education on the basis of unofficial returns. The late count gave her 657 votes against 1,356 votes for B. L. Balch, retiring superintendent. Macon County has 855 Negro voters and 3,007 white voters.

Wonsed

E. D. Nixon of Montgomery lost his bid for membership on the Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee by less than 200 votes. Running in Beat 2 ("Beat" being the equivalent of "Ward"), he polled 800 votes to 1,000 for his white opponent. It was estimated that Nixon attracted approximately 300 white votes in that there are only 600 Negro voters in the beat with only 500 voting.

Phila. 5-6-54

Atlanta

Sparkman's Victory

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch

THE renomination of Sen. Sparkman in Alabama was a healthy vote, particularly for the South. Just as the reactionary elements bitterly fought against Alabama's senior senator, Lister Hill, when Mr. Hill was last up for re-election in 1950, so did the same interests try to retire Sen. Sparkman with the vigorous candidacy of Congressman Battle of the Birmingham area.

Birmingham

The opposition to Sen. Sparkman was due in part to his generally progressive record in the Senate and in part to the fact that he was the Democratic vice-presidential nominee on the ticket in 1952 with Adlai E. Stevenson, who refused to compromise on civil rights. The political preferment that made Sen. Sparkman known nationally actually heightened the prejudice against him at home.

Pa. 5-21-54

Since nomination is equivalent to election in Alabama, one United States senator has already been as good as reelected. And since John Sparkman was given an all-out battle by the forces of reaction, his renomination can be put down as a good omen for 1954. The omen is all the better because he won a clear majority victory over the field against him which made a runoff primary unnecessary.

Alabama has been one of the best represented states in the Senate for a decade or more. Return of John Sparkman to sit with Lister Hill will assure continuation of that distinction.

34a(2) 1954

ALABAMA

The Sparkman Victory

Sparkman Wins

Arkansas Gazette (Little Rock)

Senator John J. Sparkman, who had been marked for the block by Republicans and extremists inside his own party, has won first primary renomination in Alabama.

His victory must be interpreted first of all as a heartening sign for party loyalists everywhere in the South. But beyond that it was a triumph of reason over unreason. In Representative Laurie Battle and Adm. John Crommelin, Senator Sparkman faced two determined campaigners whose honest dissent from his basic political philosophy afforded no lack of valid campaign issues. However, the campaign shook down in its final stages to an unreasoning and essentially spurious isue: The question of whether John Sparkman was "soft" on FEPC. It was the interjection of the murky race issue that caused so many outside observers to predict that the senator was in "a battle for political survival," and that if Sparkman fell, Senator Lister Hill would be next.

Actually, John Sparkman's principal sin, like that of Alabama's senior senator, is that he is a good Democrat. Senator Sparkman accepted his party's 1952 vice presidential nomination proudly, and, like Senator Hill, assiduously campaigned for the success of the ticket he shared with Adlai Stevenson.

The fate that many quarters supposed would befall John Sparkman in Alabama is one that is often reserved for moderates in the rough-and-tumble of politics. This time the people refused to be befuddled. The truth is that middle-roaders like John Sparkman and Arkansas's Representative Brooks Hays deserve much of the credit for the fact that the Democrats' 1952 civil rights and cloture plank was no stronger than it was. This time, fortunately, enough of the people of Alabama recognized the truth despite the concerted effort to divert them.

Mr. Sparkman's absolute majority vote in a field of four is reward for his party regularity in his own state, and his work for party unity over the nation.

The issue against him in Alabama was his loyalty to the Democratic Party when the Dixiecrats staged the revolt in 1948, and when the hard core of the Dixiecrat movement again combined with the Republicans in 1952.

Senator Sparkman accepted the nomination for the vice presidency in 1952 with full knowledge that some planks in the party platform might prove unpopular among certain elements in his home state, and that he was carrying the standard for party liberalism and progressiveness.

Representative Laurie Battle of Birmingham presumably was carefully picked by the forces who would seek to discredit party unity at the national level by sending to Washington one whose stand would fit that of the Republican "Old Guard" more than of the Democratic Party.

Undoubtedly these forces, not only in Washington but in many sections of the nation, were watching the Alabama election in the hope of finding indications of disintegration in Democratic ranks. Certainly this had helped inspire opposition to Mr. Sparkman in one way or another.

The vote of the Democrats of Alabama thus spoke in no uncertain terms in support of the party for the campaign of November, 1954, and again in 1956.

Thomas L. Stokes

Sparkman's Victory Is Sign of Future

WASHINGTON—The healthy and sane aspects of the Alabama senatorial primary are easily overlooked, but should be noted. They may be construed fairly safely as symptomatic of the new spirit of tolerance that is moving in the South. At least that seems to be the underlying meaning of the renomination by a thumping majority of Sen. John Sparkman, which is tantamount to election in his state.

Let us take a look at this interesting case study. Sen. Sparkman was a delegate to the 1952 Democratic national convention. He was a member of its resolutions committee. He helped to draft the plank in the party's platform dealing with civil rights which, among other commitments, advocated federal legislation to secure effectively for everyone "the right to equal opportunity for employment." As its final act, the convention nominated Sen. Sparkman as its candidate for vice-president to run with Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois.

Jack Spalding is on vacation

Surely, there's nothing unusual there, other than a typical American success story of the son of a tenant farmer who pushed himself forward and upward.

Yet, there is something unusual there. You might not think it, but it is risky still for a Southern political leader to be a party to a civil-rights plank and then to identify himself with the platform and the national party by being so bold as to accept its nomination for vice-president. The risk became clear when it came time for John Sparkman, who never got to be vice-president, to run again for his seat in the Senate.

For he became the victim of the "usual," as so often happens in the South to progressive political leaders such as John Sparkman. The old familiar cry of "nigger, nigger" was raised in the campaign against him, though more adroitly and politely this time. He was branded by his political foes as a civil-rights supporter like Adlai Stevenson. John Sparkman, however, was not so coupled with the head of the ticket by many outside the South.

However, the issue was good enough in Alabama. At least it was for those who exploited it to try to unseat John Sparkman, including powerful economic groups that spent plenty of money again, as they have before, to eradicate a voice, vote and an influence in the Senate which they consider hostile to their private interests.

But the folks—white and black—have come to look on Sen. Sparkman as their friend. They aroused themselves and rallied about to give him a 100,000 majority.

The appeal to racial prejudice seems to have lost its magic. No longer apparently can it be exploited as formerly to becloud economic benefits such as higher wages; better farm prices; decent housing, urban and rural; owner-operated farms; cheap electric power for homes and plants, all of which Alabama's Senators Sparkman and Lister Hill have espoused through the years. We like to think, too, that increasing tolerance is a part of the Alabama story.

The surprising wide margin of victory for John Sparkman seems also to have another meaning that is significant for the future and in assessing possible future political trends nationally. It appeared to indicate a receding of what might be called the Dixiecrat tide.

'Righters' Win 1st District Demo Posts

MOBILE, May 7 (AP)—Eight candidates who ran with the endorsement of states rights leaders were elected to the State Democratic Executive Committee from the first district.

Complete returns from the seven counties in the district showed they defeated a slate of party loyalists in last Tuesday's Democratic primary.

All of those named from the first district are newcomers to the committee. They are:

Sam Blount, Millry; Alston F. (Dick) Devan, Mobile; Albert H. Evans, Butler; Roy E. Haag, Fruitdale; Grady W. Hurst Jr., Chatom; Wallace H. Linsey Jr., Butler; H. H. Matthews, Camden, and Richard E. McPhearson, Butler.

Hurst led the ticket in the committee race, receiving 24,353 votes. For the loyalists, James G. Bedsole Jackson, was the leader with 17.474.

SPARKMAN FACES FIGHT ON TUESDAY

Record 550,000 Votes Likely in Alabama's Primary—Folsom in Governor Race

Special to The New York Times.

MOBILE, Ala., May 1—Senator John J. Sparkman, accused of double talking during his unsuccessful Vice Presidential campaign two years ago, faces stiff opposition in Tuesday's Democratic primary. A record vote of 550,000 is expected.

Mr. Sparkman, seeking another six-year term, insists he never deviated in his opposition to civil rights measures. His chief opponent, Laurie C. Battle of Birmingham, a Representative for the last eight years, sharply criticizes him, however, for a "two-faced" stand on the issue.

Mr. Battle, who has the endorsement of a majority of the big city newspapers, stressed that Mr. Sparkman had run for Vice President on a platform calling for racial rights and anti-filibuster action. This latter is the main weapon of Southern Representatives against enactment of racial rights legislation.

In his campaign for re-election, Senator Sparkman cited his eight-year experience in the Senate, his seniority on various important committees and his constant work for veterans and housing. He also pointed to his knowledge of foreign policy and to his selection as a delegate to the United Nations.

State's Rights Supporter

Mr. Battle accuses him of talking one way in Alabama, and another in Washington on the important racial issues. The Birmingham Representative describes himself as a staunch supporter of state's rights and strong opponent of racial rights issues.

As one of his Congressional accomplishments, Mr. Battle listed the "Battle act" which forbids shipment of strategic material to Communist nations. He also called attention to his war record in the Pacific.

Others in this race are John C. Crommelin, a retired admiral, and William C. Irby.

The other race of state-wide interest involves seven candidates for Governor—including former Gov. James E. Folsom. They are seeking the post now held by Gordon Persons, who by law cannot succeed himself.

"Folsomism" is the big issue in this campaign. Despite the scandals that arose following his administration four years ago, the 6-foot, 8-inch Mr. Folsom is considered the man to beat.

His biggest opposition comes from State Senator James Faulkner, a weekly newspaper publisher from Bay Minette, and Lieut. Gov. James B. Allen of Gadsden.

Mr. Faulkner virtually was an unknown until he began a series of television and radio "talkathons" that have proved so successful in Arkansas and Florida political campaigns. In a few short weeks he has become a leading contender.

As in his highly successful 1946 campaign, Mr. Folsom, now a married man, is touring the state with a string band and a bucket to collect contributions. Mr. Faulkner also calls for contributions to what he terms "my campaign for decency."

While the other candidates daily accuse him of wrongdoings in his last administration, the former Governor calmly ignores them. He merely states he pleads guilty to all charges made by the "lying newspapers."

Other candidates in the race are J. Bruce Henderson, Millers Ferry; Henry Sweet, Birmingham, former State Docks Director under Mr. Folsom; C. C. (Jack) Owen, Montgomerg, and Winston Gullatte, Dallas County.

Only three of Alabama's nine Congressional seats are contested. Representative Frank W. Boykin of Mobile, dean of the state's House delegation, faces a tough opponent in John E. Manderville, clerk of the Mobile Circuit Court, and a former Army colonel.

Representative Kenneth A. Roberts of Anniston, wounded during the wild shooting fray in the House of Representatives several months ago, is opposed by Tarver Rountree of Selma.

Seeking the spot vacated by Mr. Battle are A. H. Albright, George Huddleton Jr., and James Adams.

The unopposed candidates for Congress are Representatives George M. Grant, George W. Andrews, Albert Rains, Armistead I. Selden Jr., Carl Elliott and Robert E. Jones Jr.

2 win Democratic Committee seats

Afro American

Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. Guzman loses in Tuskegee; Nixon defeated in Montgomery

By EMORY O. JACKSON

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (ANP)—Alabama is on the march politically.

P. 14

The watering down of the poll tax law encouraged more colored citizens to register and vote than ever before in the history of the state since Reconstruction Days.

In Mobile, Alex Herman, connected with the Booker T. Washington Burial Association, and Clarence H. Montgomery were elected to the County Democratic Committee. They ran in the seven[illegible]

Sat. 5-15-54

Mrs. Guzman Loses

In Tuskegee, Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, editor of the Year Book, and faculty members of Tuskegee Institute, ran for a place on the county school board.

Macon County, in which Tuskegee Institute is located, is predominantly colored but the election machinery is in the hands of the whites who refuse registration on one subterfuge or another.

Macon county has only 855 colored voters. There are 3,007 white voters and practically all of them struggled to the polls to vote. Mrs. Guzman polled 716 votes for a place on the school board. Some 2,365 whites voted for the white candidates.

Nixon Defeated

In Montgomery, E. D. Nixon, president of the Montgomery NAACP, was defeated for a place on the Montgomery County Executive Committee by Joseph W. Carroll, white.

Nixon, a former Pullman Porter and a staunch fighter for rights, ran a close race getting 802 votes to Carroll's 1,090. In Boat 2 where Nixon ran, there are an estimated 600 colored votes. That means he had more than 300 white votes.

Shores Defeated

Birmingham's Arthur D. Shores, lawyer, ran for the state legislature. There were seven representatives to be elected from Jefferson County in which Birmingham is located.

Shores ran 28th in a list of 29 candidates, with 48,000 votes cast. There are only 5,250 colored voters registered in the county. There are however approximately 102,000 of voting ago.

Birmingham voters went solidily against "Bull" Connor who was seeking to regain political power in the race for sheriff of Jefferson County. Connor was defeated.

Mobile Smashes Tradition

ALEX HERMAN and Clarence H. Montgomery, businessmen of Mobile, Ala., will be the first Negroes in post-Reconstruction history to sit on the Mobile County Democratic executive as a result of victory in last week's primary election.

Courier

There were two of the nine Alabama Negroes who ran in the primary, the largest number to offer themselves to the electorate in several generations.

There was no miracle about the victories of Messrs. Herman and Montgomery because there are close to 5,000 registered Negro voters in Mobile County—the largest single bloc of black votes in the state.

P. 6

The Democrat machine backing the re-election of Senator John J. Sparkman will take cognizance, we are sure, of the fact that while he won the renomination (which is tantamount to election in one-party Alabama) by a majority of close to 80,000, the 40,000 registered Negro voters almost solidly cast their ballots for him.

Pittsburgh

True, Senator Sparkman in his campaign speeches stressed, as he always has, that he is unalterably opposed to the whole civil rights program, always has been and always will be, but Alabama's Negro voters believe him to be a liberal who is simply giving lip service to jim crowism for the sake of expediency.

So tradition has been smashed all around, what with two Negro candidates winning important posts, and the bulk of colored voters casting ballots for an avowed white supremacist, a circumstance which must have confounded professional racists on both sides.

Jubilation over this return of the Negro voter in Alabama must, however, be tempered by the fact that only 40,000 registered for the primaries while the total Negro population of the state is about one million, with a voting potential almost twenty times greater than the reality.

Sat. 5-15-54

If 40,000 Alabama Negroes can qualify for the suffrage, what is stopping the others from doing likewise in these days of universal education and employment?

Clearly, Negro leadership in Alabama has its work cut out for it, as has such leadership throughout the South—and North.

Alabama Settles Several Issues

BESIDES the personal fortunes of Senator JOHN J. SPARKMAN, two if not three issues of wide importance hung on Tuesday's election in Alabama. One of these was the prestige of the Democratic party's national leadership and its political and social philosophy.

Courier-Journal

Senator SPARKMAN was ADLAI STEVENSON's running mate in 1952. Noisiest arguments against the Senator's renomination grew out of details of the Democratic party's platform which SPARKMAN, as the party's vice presidential candidate, supported as a natural course. He could not do otherwise, unless he left the ticket. For that matter, he could not do otherwise and be consistent with the progressive thought that has guided most of his career as Representative and Senator.

It was an unfair attack, but one which nevertheless was pressed with force and large money. It implied antagonism to the national party's course—but it lost with SPARKMAN's clear majority. Perhaps it was pressed only as a matter of expediency. The cry that a Southerner is a "traitor and turncoat" if he supports, even though only by association, a program of enlightened and modern race relationships is a handy cry.

Courier-Journal 5-6-54

As a second issue that SPARKMAN's clear victory settled, attacks of this sort as a general course got a solid rebuke for their own sake, viewed apart from a matter of party loyalty. And as a third, Alabama's conservative financial interests, centered in Birmingham and to a lesser degree in Mobile, lost once more (as they have lost in most races since 1944). Alabama showed that it prefers the kind of representation that JOHN SPARKMAN and LISTER HILL have given consistently in the Senate. It is to the state's credit.

Nixon Will Speak At Mass Meeting Sunday Afternoon

Advertiser

E. D. Nixon will present his cause to a gigantic mass meeting Sunday afternoon, March 28 at 2:30. The scene of the historic occasion will be the Oak St. AME Zion Church of which the Rev. A. W. Nixon is running for Democratic committeeman.

P. 3

Montgomery

The purpose of the meeting will be to allow Nixon to explain the nature of the office which he seeks, to allow different groups to make financial contributions and to get over to the voters of Precinct 2 the importance of going to the polls on May 4.

Nixon is highly encouraged by the support coming from white and colored leaders.

The mass meeting was planned at an enthusiastic meeting held at the Metropolitan AME Church. The meeting was under the chairmanship of R. L. Lowe and others of the beauticians association, Mrs. W. C. Starks and Mrs. Odessa Wilson of the Ladies Auxiliary to Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, Wagstaff, C. R. Williams and other resourceful citizens.

Everyone present volunteered to bring some type of contribution from some organization with which they happen to be affiliated. The mass meeting is being called at the special request of Nixon himself.

SHORES The Family-Made Man: Reading left to right Barbara, 8; Helen Glenn, 12; Mrs. Theodora H. Shores and Atty. Arthur D. Shores, candidate for the State Legislature.

Atty. Arthur D. Shores, The Family Man, Seeks Seat In State Legislature

BY GERALDINE H. COOK

One would suspect that because of the diverse activities in which he engages and the many responsibilities which he has, Arthur D. Shores, candidate for the State Legislature from Jefferson County, would have little time to enjoy real family life. But one who visits in the Shores home is soon convinced that Attorney Shores gives the same interest and careful attention to his home and family as he does to the various duties which he performs with such remarkable efficiency.

Arthur D. Shores, the son of Richard H. and Pauline (McGhee) Shores was married to Theodora H. Warren, of Fairfield, Alabama in 1938. When Mr. Shores completed a law course and announced to his friends that he intended to practice law in Birmingham, almost invariably he met with expressions of surprise and dismay at the utter "impossibility" of the thing which he contemplated doing. When he actually embarked upon this stupendous task of breaking down barriers and setting a precedent for other Negroes in the South, he faced threats to his personal life and security. Again, many of his friends were annoyed and irritated by his persistence and tried to influence him to give up in favor of something less hazardous.

But there has been one person who has been kind, understanding, helpful and willing to stand by Attorney Shores no matter what happened-the devoted, lovable, hard working little lady who is his wife. Attorney Shores attributes much of his success to the inspiration and general helpfulness which she has given. He also takes pride in informing visitors to their beautiful home that Mrs. Shores has a "knack" for interior decorating, which is in evidence in the artistic treatment which she has given her own house. She also sews beautifully; she made almost all of the curtains and drapes for the house in which they now live. If the way to a man's heart is through his stomach," it is no wonder that Mrs. Shores won the attorney so completely for she is also gifted to a remarkable degree in the culinary arts.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Shores like flowers, and Mr. Shores spends most of his leisure time working with the yards and flowers. He has all the "tools" of the trade, and derives some of his greatest pleasures from keeping his own yards attractive. Both Mr and Mrs. Shores like people and are never too tired to be pleasant company for any of their many friends who stop by to see them, or in any other ways, share a felowship with them.

The Shores' have two attractive daughters, Helen Glenn, 12, and Barbara, 8. The girls keep their own room and help their mother with little chores about the house. They are both attending the Lutheran School and are in the seventh and third grades, respectively.

Attorney Shores says that he "gets a big kick" out of playing with the children. The baby girl likes to follow him about. She has been one of his staunchest supporters in his campaign for the legislature.

Five little chow puppies were added to the Shores household soon after Attorney Shores qualified for the legislative race. Barbara, younger of the two girls, and a lover of dogs, was heartbroken when she found that her father intended to give away two of the puppies. She was so anxious to keep all of them that she gave up her weekly allowance to help feed the litter. When Barbara came home from school one day and found that two puppies were gone, in spite of all her pleading, she just couldn't exactly understand why. Shortly afterward she heard her father talking about running for the State legislature, and suddenly, with eyes that beamed with a mixture of adoration for him ,and confidence in his ability to do almost anything, and in a little voice that almost trembled with excitement, she burst out with, "Daddy, if you are elected, will you pass a law that willl let me keep all five of my puppies?" With childish confidence that her father can and will pass a law which she desires, little Barbara has put her whole heart into getting him elected.

To spend an evening with Shores family is to share the richness of an ideal family life in a setting which is only exemplary of the ceaseless efforts of a man to make life happy and comfortable for his loved ones-a setting which does not take one iota from the simplicity, the congeniality, and the "down-to-earth" personalities of Attorney and Mrs. Shores.

Arthur D. Shores, candidate for the State Legislature, is a native of Birmingham; holder of the Bachelor's Degree from Talladega College and the LL B. Degree from the University of Kansas; former teacher and principal of Dunbar High School, Bessemer; regional director of the National Bar Association; president of Jones Valley Finance Company; member of the national legal counsel of the NAACP; member of the Board of Trustees, Talladega College; member of the Shriners, Masons, Elks, and Knights of Pythias; member of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity; author of "The Negro at the Bar-South;" and a devout member of the First Congregational Christian Church. He is a man who is playing his part in the game of life-strongly, steadfastly, heroically.

One great writer has said that "it is indeed at home that every man must be known by those who would make a just estimate either of his virtue or felicity; for smiles and embroidery are alike occasional, and the mind is often dressed for show in painted honor and fic-

Viewing Arthur Shores

A Symbol of Progress

By J. King Chandler, III, President of Payne College

As I look at Mr. Arthur D. Shores and tamper with the ramified implications of what he is doing to the historical development of Alabama and all of its Citizens, I am deeply elated and gratified. This idea that is being persented is one which is more of a personal emotional tone and attitude than an article to be reproduced in ink and paper. Several important words come to the foreground; namely, qualifications, democracy, courage vested with integrity and zeal and a type of renaissance for a segment of the deep south. All of this implies most certainly the type of progress that we are happy to be making in our hometown cradle.

QUALIFICATIONS OF OUR CANDIDATE

Part of my high school days were spent under Mr. Shores' Administration while he was serving as Principal of Dunbar High School in Bessemer, Alabama. In 1939, as I remember, someone persuaded him to resign his work at Dunbar High School or should I say someone motivated his life to the great task of legal liberation of a struggling group. He left the corriders of teaching and invaded a novel field. Certainly, I feel he has made a success as well as a contribution to the City of Birmingham. The work of Mr. Shores is to be lauded by all of us because of the great and untold consequences of it.

Mr. Shores is well trained: being a graduate of Talladega College, Talladega, Alabama and the University of Kansas Law School He has had broad experiences in numerous leadership capacities in education, politics and religion.

In education, he was principal of Dunbar High School, in politics; president of the Progressive Democratic Council and in religian Trustee of the First Congregational Church. Presently, he is Chairman of the Eighteenth Street Branch Y.M.C.A. Executive Board. These abbreviate services indicate the calibre of person who is representing us in this most important campaign. He is really the best we have from any angle and deserves entirely the support of all.

Sat. 4-10-54

Sincerely and strongly I recognize the impact of his influence the extent of his integrity and the very significant role that he will play when he is elected. His presence if nothing was said—would secure our freedom and interest more than millions of dollars at this time. I believe that every citizen should take an optemistic outlook and be positively assured that he must win. The pessimistic attitude will become positive because of participation, on the part of those who doubt.

DEMOCRACY IN ACTION

Democracy in Dixie is more prolific when in action than in the North. The greast possibilities for a functioning democracy is ours now. Shores was quilified and is so recognized by all who are cognizant with State affairs in elections. Other elected offices will be standing there too, subsequently, for those interested and qualified citizens who are determined to make "home" a better place in which to live and to earn a loving. God bless our dynamic and growing South and extend to it more light and civilization. Our resources are unlimited and we must seek immediately to top them and to cultivate them for the general good of all.

Every Negro has a definite responsibility: to play his part well in seeing to it that Attorney Arthur D. Shores will be elected to the State Legislature. Every citizen who is a lover of a growing Democracy in Dixie—whether Jew or Gentile—has a role of responsibility to see to it that Shores is elected. Eternal faith and vigilance coupled with diligence in every sphere is the cost of his election. Let us play our part and see that things will go well.

This is my view of our Candidate and, offers unlimited implications to the general welfare of all of the Citizens of Alabama. I believe we need him and that all of us should adopt his slogan "Be Sure With Shores."

Arthur Shores Appears Shy Of Negro Bloc Vote

Post Herald p. 10

Wed. 5-12-54

Arthur Shores, first Negro candidate for the Legislature since reconstruction days, apparently did not have a "bloc" vote of Negroes in Jefferson County.

In the 11 boxes which have more than two thirds of the Negro vote in Birmingham (not Jefferson County) Shores got only a little more than 46 per cent.

In these boxes there are 2660 Negro voters. Of these, Shores got only 1238 votes.

In Precinct 9, District 1, Shores got only 262 votes. The box had 641 Negro voters. This is the largest Negro box in the city.

At Precinct 9, District 4, the situation was similar, with Shores getting 259 votes. The box has 544 Negro voters.

Shores got a total of only 3980 votes.

The Negro candidate had some strength in every box in the county, and in Mountain Brook got more than 200 votes.

Other boxes used in this survey were:

	Negro Voters	Shores
9- 8	103	73
10- 7	115	83
10-12	172	91
21- 9	145	38
21-10	223	92
21-11	176	70
21-13	256	121
29- 1	158	93
29- 3	127	56

Political profiles—

Woman lawyer, jeweler, insurance man and Negro leader are county candidates for state Legislature

BY EDWIN STRICKLAND
News staff writer

Today we conclude the political profiles on the candidates for the Legislature, with four people, three of whom are seeking public office for the first time.

Included in today's list of candidates are a woman lawyer, a Birmingham jeweler, an insurance man from the Bessemer Cutoff and a Negro lawyer who is the first one of his race to enter the legislative race in Alabama since the days of Reconstruction.

Mrs. Rossie Rogers Taylor is one of the two women seeking a place on the seven-member House delegation from Jefferson County.

T. O. Ellis, a jeweler and a candidate for the Legislature four years ago. He also ran for one of the associate City Commision posts in 1952.

Claude E. Shell is an insurance man from Bessemer and one of two candidates running for the Legislature from the Cutoff.

Arthur Shores, prominent Negro attorney, is seeking a House post on a platform of cutting down juvenile delinquency and aid to education.

SHELL, 42, is general southeastern agent for the Southern States Life Insurance Co., and a native of Jefferson County.

He attended Minor High School and the University of Alabama.

He is married to the former Mary Nette Kincaid, daughter of Dr. John L. Kincaid. They have three children and make their home in Bessemer.

Shell is a strong supporter of civil service and advocates the optional right of women to serve on juries in Alabama.

He said he is pledged to work for a stronger school program and more pay for teachers.

Promising to "serve the best interests of Jefferson County and the state" if elected, Shell said he will work for legislative reapportionment.

He is a member of the First Baptist Church of Bessemer of which he is a former deacon.

Shell said he is running for the Legislature because he believes the Cutoff should have representation on the delegation.

ELLIS, WHO polled more than 12,000 votes for the Legislature in 1950, operates a watch repair concession at Pizitz.

He has announced a 15-point legislative program, which features more aid to schools, and opposition to new state taxation.

Ellis is married to the former Frankie Nell Morgan, of Woodlawn. They have three children and live at 1330 Bush Blvd.

Ellis has been engaged in the jewelry and watch business in Birmingham for nearly 40 years. He is widely known through his activities in political campaigns as well as his work with civic and fraternal groups.

He is a member of the Hunter Street Baptist Church, a Mason and Shriner, a member of the Eagles, Lions Club, Knights of Pythias, Young Men's Business Club, Elyton-West End Civic Club and Watchmakers Guild of America.

In House race—Rossie Rogers Taylor.

From Cutoff—Claude E. Shell.

Actively campaigning for one of the seven places on the Jefferson County legislative delegation, Ellis has carried his bid for votes into many sections of the county and into clubs and luncheon groups.

MRS. TAYLOR is a member of a Scotch-Irish pioneer family and was born in North Alabama, the only daughter of John A. and Emma Davis Rogers. Her father was a life-long teacher in the public schools.

Mrs. Taylor has lived since her childhood in Birmingham, attended public schools and Birmingham-Southern College here.

She has practiced law here for the past 15 years, having been admitted to practice before the federal and state courts and the U. S. Supreme Court.

Mrs. Rogers has taught women's Bible classes in various churches, and has lectured to civic groups in the interest of good government and an informed public.

She has served as attorney for the Birmingham Womens' Civic Club, and has held membership in Zonta, a business women's service club, the Business and Professional Women's Club, the First Methodist Church and Jeffersion County Sportsmen's Assn.

Seeks House spot—T. O. Ellis

She is particularly interested, she said, in legislation affecting schools, health and social welfare, especially relating to children and the aged.

Mrs. Taylor said she is not on any slate. She is for reapportionment; retention of the Bessemer Cutoff as it is; is opposed to annexation of adjoining municipalities with the City of Birmingham unless these municipalities vote to join Birmingham.

She is opposed to any new taxes, and thinks the state should be aware "of its continuing obligation to its veterans."

SHORES IS president of the Alabama Progressive Democrats Assn., and heads the Jefferson County division of that association, which is made up of Negro Democrats.

He is vice chairman of the Interracial Committee of the Coordinating Council of Social Forces (Community Chest Agency); is chairman of the 18th Street Branch, YMCA Board of Adjustment; a trustee of the First Congregational Church and on the board of Talladega College.

Lawyer runs—Arthur D. Shores.

He is president of Jones Valley Finance Co., and is a practicing attorney.

Shores is a 33rd degree Mason, a Shriner, Elk, and member of the Knights of Pythias.

He is married and has two daughters.

The 49-year-old attorney favors periodic motor vehicle inspection and continued development of our road and highway systems.

He will work to promote, he said, good relations between labor and industry. He opposes and promises to work for repeal of "any legislation repressive to labor's right to organize and work."

He favors more aid to the aged and needy, and larger appropriations to public institutions dealing with mental health patients.

In Alabama Primary—

Two Negro Candidates Out Of 9 Are Elected

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two of nine Negro candidates won nomination for office in Tuesday's Democratic primary in Alabama.

Victories scored by the two, who were running for the Mobile County Democratic Executive Committee, were the first in the history of the county.

They are Alex Herman, burial insurance company executive, and Clarence H. Montgomery, a barber. The two led the ticket in Mobile's Seventh Ward, which is predominantly Negro.

Four other Negro candidates for the Mobile Democratic Committee were defeated.

Shores Runs 28th

Arthur Shores, Birmingham Negro attorney and first of his race to qualify for a race in Jefferson County since Reconstruction Days, ran 28th in a field of 29 candidates for the seven Jefferson seats in the State House of Representatives. Shores polled 4015 votes.

Mrs. Jessie P. Cuzman, member of the Tuskegee Institute faculty, was defeated for a place on the Macon Tuskegee County Board of Education.

Polls 716 Votes

The first Negro woman ever to run in Alabama, she polled 716 votes to 2365 for B. L. Black, retiring Macon County school superintendent.

The other Alabama Negro candidate in the Tuesday primary, E. D. Nixon, was defeated for a place on the Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee.

Nixon, a former state president of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, received 802 votes to 1000 for Joseph W. Carroll, a white man.

Negro Vote Wins For Sparkman

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Senator John J. Sparkman, controversial Democratic nominee for vice-president in 1952, last week was renominated to a full six-year term on the strength of almost solid backing by Negro voters of the state.

Two of nine Negro candidates for office Alex Herman and Clarence H. Montgomery, of Mobile, won seats on the Mobile County Democratic executive committee, the first to win in a Democratic primary in the county's history.

The number of Negro candidates was the greatest since Reconstruction days.

Herman is a burial insurance company official and Montgomery, a Mobile barber.

Sparkman, who was supported by organized labor in the last week's primary, incurred the wrath of the Dixiecrats in 1952 when he announced he would support the liberal platform of the Democratic party.

In Birmingham, Atty. Arthur D. Shores ran 28th among 29 candidates for seven seats in the state legislature. Mrs. Jessie Guzman, the only Negro woman candidate in the primary and a faculty member of Tuskegee institute, failed in her attempt to win membership on the Macon County School board.

Four other Negroes seeking executive committee posts in Mobile were defeated. Another lost a bid for a similar post in Montgomery.

Meanwhile, in Prentiss, Miss., Isaac Hertzog, 49, a farmer, lost in his bid for election as a member of the Jefferson County board of education.

The first Negro in the county's history to qualify for election, Hertzog, running out of Beat four (the county is divided into five Beats,) lost to Lawrence Polk by 310 to 139 votes.

Hertzog got most of his support from three largely Negro precincts which he carried 129 to 15. The election was held in connection with the new Mississippi school equalization program.

ALABAMA NEGROES WIN AND LOSE IN EFFORT TO GAIN PLACE IN POLITICAL ARENA OF STATE

Blank Dispatch

Two Elected to Mobile Democratic Central Committee First Time Since Reconstruction

Oklahoma City Okla.

MRS. GUZMAN LOSES BID FOR TUSKEGEE SCHOOL BOARD

Date 5-15-54

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (ANP) — Alabama Negroes are on the march politically. The watering down of the poll tax law encouraged more Negroes to register and vote than ever before in the history of the state since Reconstruction days.

In Mobile, Montgomery, Tuskegee and Birmingham, Negroes ran for office . Mobile was the only city in which they were successful, however, and the Mobile County Democratic Cimmittee seats which they won were not important from a state wide standpoint. Their victory showed that Negroes could win, and the excellent races put up in other sections were encouraging.

In Mobile, Alex Herman, connected with the Booker T. Washington Burial Association, and Clarence H. Montgomery were elected to the County Democratic Committee. They ran in the 7th ward which is almost entirely Negro. Four other Negroes were candidates for the same office in other wards but were defeated.

In Tuskegee, Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, editor of the Negro Year Book and long time faculty member of Tuskegee Institute, ran for a place on the county school board. Macon county in which Tuskegee Institute is located is predominantly colored but the election machinery is in the hands of the whites who despite the large concentration of highly educated Negroes in Tuskegee Institute and the Tuskegee Veteran's hospital refuse registration on one subterfuge or another.

Macon county has only 855 Negro voters. There are 3,007 white voters and practically all of them struggled to the polls to vote. Mrs. Guzman polled 716 votes for a place on the school board. Some 2,365 whites voted for the white candidates.

Date 5-15-54

In Montgomery, E. D. Nixon, president of the Montgomery N. A. A. C. P. was defeated for a place on the Montgomery County Executive Committee by Joseph W. Carroll, a white man. Nixon, a former Pullman Porter and a staunch fighter for racial rights, ran a close race getting 802 Negro votes. That means he had more than 300 white votes.

Birmingham's Arthur D. Shores, nationally known lawyer, ran for the state legislature. There were seven representatives to be elected from Jefferson county in which Birmingham is located. Shores ran 28th in a list of 29 candidates. 48,000 votes were cast. There are only 5,250 Negro voters registered in the county. There are however approximately 102,000 Negroes of voting age.

Associated Press Wirephoto

WINS IN ALABAMA

Big Jim Folsom

Sparkman, Folsom Win In Alabama

Constitution

P. 1

Compiled From Constitution Wire Services

Tremendous majorities in rural Alabama counties yesterday gave the Democratic nomination for governor to ex-Gov. James E. Folsom, whose antics during his first term brought him the nickname of "Kissing Jim."

Folsom, running far ahead of six opponents, got a majority of the heaviest vote ever cast in Alabama history. He was ahead in 62 of the 67 counties.

Returns from 2,627 of the state's 2,715 boxes:

Folsom, 281,228; State Sen. Jimmy Faulkner, 141,006; Lt. Gov. James Allen, 58,381; Bruce Henderson, 42,411; C. C. (Jack) Owen, 20,400; Henry Sweet, 2,710, and Winston Gullatte, 2,433.

Charley Johns LeRoy Collins

Sen. Sparkman also outdistanced three opponents for the senatorial nomination. Sparkman had been charged with "carrying water on both shoulders" on the civil rights plank of the 1952 Democratic platform when the Alabama senator was the party nominee for vice president.

In Florida, a runoff will be necessary to decide the governorship. Acting Gov. Charley E. Johns and State Sen. Leroy Collins ran one-two in a close race which eliminated J. Brailey Odham, the third candidate, who threw his support to Collins after conceding.

Sparkman asserted that he had always believed in allowing the states to settle their own racial problems.

The count in 2,609 boxes:

Sparkman, 286,291; Rep. Laurie Battle of Birmingham, 189,600; Adm. John Crommelin, retired, 16,370, and William C. Irby of Jacksonville, 3,991.

Ohio Republicans chose Rep. George H. Bender to oppose Democratic Sen. Burke in November for the Senate seat of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

In New Mexico, rancher-legislator Alvin Stockton defeated Mayor Holm Brusum of Socorro in the race for the GOP gubernatorial nomination. Brusum was the personal choice of Gov. Ed Mechem, who will challenge Democratic Sen. Clinton P. Anderson in November.

Indiana's entire congressional delegation of 10 Republicans and one Democrat was renominated. Gov. George Craig made some headway in his fight with Sens. Capehart and Jenner for control of the state GOP organization, but the result was inconclusive.

Other highlights:

Alabama — In three congressional races, sizable leads were held by Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts, Rep. Frank W. Boykin and George Huddleston Jr., who sought Battle's seat.

Florida — Democrats renominated Reps. Robert Sikes, A. S. (Syd) Herlong and James A. Haley. State Rep. Dante Fascell won the nomination for the congressional seat being vacated by Rep. Bill Lantaff.

ALABAMA NEGROES FILE IN CONTESTS FOR OFFICE

By Emory O. Jackson

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—(ANP) Alabama Negroes are on the march politically. The watering down of the poll tax law encouraged more Negroes to register and vote than ever before in the history of the state since Reconstruction days.

In Mobile, Montgomery, Tuskegee and Birmingham Negroes ran for office. Mobile was the only city in which they were successful, however, and the Mobile County Democratic Committee seats which they won were not important from a state wide standpoint. Their victory showed that Negroes could win, and the excellent races put up in other towns were encouraging.

In Mobile, Alex Herman, connected with the Booker T. Washington Burial association, and Clarence H. Montgomery were elected to the County Democratic committee. They ran in the seventh ward which is almost entirely Negro. Four other Negroes were candidates for the same office in other wards but were defeated.

In Tuskegee, Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, editor of the Negro Year book and long time faculty member of Tuskegee institute, ran for a place on the county school board Macon county in which Tuskegee institute is located is predominantly colored but the election machinery is in the hands of the whites who despite the large concentration of highly educated Negroes in Tuskegee institute and the Tuskegee Veteran's hospital refuse registration on one subterfuge or another.

Macon county has only 855 Negro voters. There are 3,007 white voters and practically all of them struggled to the polls to vote. Mrs. Guzman polled 716 votes for a place on the school board. Some 2,365 whites voted for the white candidates.

In Montgomery, E. D. Nixon, president of the Montgomery NAACP, was defeated for a place on the Montgomery County Executive committee by Joseph W. Carroll, a white man. Nixon, a former Pullman porter and a staunch fighter for racial rights, ran a close race getting 802 votes to Carroll's 1,090. In Beat 2 where Nixon ran, there are an estimated 600 Negro votes. That means he had more than 300 white votes.

Birmingham's Authur D. Shores nationally known lawyer, ran for the state legislature. There were seven representatives to be elected from Jefferson county in which Birmingham is located Shores ran 28th in a list of 29 candidates. Forty-eight thousand votes were cast. There are ohly 5,250 Negro voters registered in the county. There are however approximately 102,000 Negroes of voting age.

Mobile Elects Two

Claims Negro Voters Backed Sen. Sparkman

Birmingham.—The Negro vote in the Democratic primary in Alabama contributed to the re-nomination of Senator John Sparkman in the election of May 4, W. C. Patton, president of the Alabama State Conference of NAACP branches, concluded today after a study of the returns. The nomination is equivalent to election in Alabama.

According to Mr. Patton, who conducted an intensive drive to enlarge the Negro vote in the state, practically all of the colored voters cast their ballots for Mr. Sparkman as "the lesser of the evils." Mr. Patton estimates the registered Negro vote in the state at between 50,000 and 60,000.

Two Negroes were elected to the Mobile County Democratic Executive Committee. There were nine Negro candidates for various offices in the state of which number only Alex Herman and Clarence H. Montgomery in Mobile were elected.

Mr. Patton also reported that the Negro vote in Birmingham went solidly against "Bull" Connor who was seeking to regain political power in the race for sheriff of Jefferson County. Connor was defeated.

Alabama Is In A Pretty Good Humor

ALABAMA evidently is in a pretty good humor politically. At the least there is little evidence just now of embittered divisions or irreconcilable minorities. Most seem "to accept the Universe."

The good humor, if we correctly read the Alabama mood, is chiefly evidenced by the overpowering nature of the Folsom and Sparkman victories.

A lot of Alabamians voted against Sen. Sparkman, but his victory seems to have ended the matter and the grievances will presumably not carry over as continuing issues. Lloyd's would probably insure his death in the United States Senate.

The breadth of the Sparkman victory was, it would seem, serviceable to Senator Hill. Any politician who may consider running against Hill two years from now will have haunting recollections of the Sparkman victory.

THE news hasn't reached the backwoods columnists of the northeastern provinces, but the Democrat-Dixiecrat issue was effectively settled four years ago. The Dixiecrat efforts this time were mere death rattles.

The Democratic loyalists have won a yet greater majority on the State Democratic Executive Committee. The committee has applied a harsh discipline against bolters and even neutralists—one that is highly exceptional in the United States and one that the national party recoiled from.

The Democratic committee rule is that an officeholder who "fails to support" the presidential nominees of the party is barred from running for office. Thus even if an officeholder merely remains away from the polls and never even tells his wife what he's thinking, he has "failed to support" the party and is denied office.

But, as we are saying, there is no rebellion over this harsh rule and it is part of the pattern of good humor in Alabama.

THE magnitude of the Folsom victory has evidently won him a majority in the legislature. In the current run-offs, it will be yet easier for Folsom to influence the results. He has a candidate for the Alabama Supreme Court and, barring a resourceful counter-attack, the Folsom candidate will win; the same is true of the run-off for secretary of state.

305,000 Alabamians are obviously in a good humor with Folsom personally, and are inclined to favor his choices in other races.

THE preachers and newspapers have less reason for good humor than others. The preachers got nowhere with their effort to elect a dry legislature: the people preferred, instead, a wet Folsom legislature.

We leave our friends in the pulpits to defend the observation that the church has no influence, for the newspapers are fending for themselves in a similar circumstance.

Alabama dailies were almost evenly divided between Sparkman and Battle. Newspaper influence operated strongly in the Senate race, though not in the governor's race.

Newspaper editors were stunned, if not demoralized, by the scope of the Folsom victory. But the voice of 305,000 Alabamians of all classes and stations and in 61 of the 67 counties is a thunderous noise not to be frivolously disputed.

A few newspapers have had the candor to express their misgivings over the prospect of the Folsom Administration, but all have made their bow to the multitude's decision and have cheerfully announced the clearing of the slate. The newspapers are therefore contributors to the state's mood of good humor.

And finally, The Advertiser is pleased to say, Folsom himself has made the contribution of the Happy Warrior by a conciliatory statement designed to reassure the anxious and pledge his best.

The Advertiser cannot promise that the general mood of complacency and reconcilement will prevail until the last syllable of recorded time, but the dust is for the time settled on the battlefield.

Our Opinions

Sparkman's Victory

Considering the type campaign waged against him, the victory of Senator John Sparkman in the Alabama primaries last week is of far more than local significance.

Sparkman was Adlai Stevenson's running mate in the 1952 presidential election and he endorsed fully the Democratic platform. The platform included several liberal recommendations on the question of race relations.

The Senator's opponents in the recent Democratic primary seized upon this and several of his statements made during the 1952 campaign in an attempt to discredit him in the eyes of southern voters.

Seldom has a man undergone such vilification as was heaped upon the Senator. He was called a turncoat and Nigger lover.

It was the assumption of those opposing Sparkman that all southerners are consumed with racial prejudice and close their minds to any liberal thought.

All the old discredited fears based on racial ignorance were ressurected. Appeals were made not to the intellect, but to the emotions and ignorance.

But election day brought with it a revelation to those still living in the ante bellum days. First the assumption that all white voters in the South can be won through appeals to prejudice proved wrong. Secondly, the power of the Negro vote was discounted. His victory was brought about through a combination of emancipated white southerners who are awaking to the fact white superiority is just a device of those who want to control ignorant masses, and assertive Negroes who are seizing upon and using their votes to support their friends and destroy their enemies.

Sparkman's victory over pride and prejudice is an approval by intellgient whites and Negroes in the South of his attitude in the past and a mandate for him to step further forward with the liberal ranks of his party.

It is likewise a guidepost to other public office holders in the South and to those who aspire to public office.

It is an emancipation from the degrading practice of sowing hate, discord and distrust to gain political favor in the South.

The day is surely approaching when a man can be intellectually honest and speak his real convictions and still get the support of the voters in the South.

CITY LIMITS

• • • By JOE AZBELL • • •

Folsom Inaugural Plans Proceed Amain

THOUSANDS of man hours will go into the production of one of the biggest inaugural spectacles in the history of Alabama. The big event will come off Jan. 17 when James E. Folsom is sworn in as the new governor of Alabama.

Joe Azbell

Montgomery will be overrun with thousands of Alabamians coming here from every county to take part in the huge parade and balls which are planned. Probably no other governor in the United States has ever had a ceremony of such magnitude and involving so much planning.

More than 1,000 people are serving as chairmen or co-chairmen of the inaugural ceremony committee. Another thousand are helping to coordinate the loose ends. Still other thousands are building floats, arranging transportation, working out themes and generally planning roles in the ceremony.

Some 100 bands from throughout the state will take part in the parade—and figuring an average of a minimum of 30 people to the band, that would be more than 3,000 people.

Every motel, hotel, and rooming house in Montgomery are arranging for special facilities to handle the estimated 5,000 to 10,000 people expected to come here for the event.

There will be every feature of the old fashioned inaugurals of Andrew Jackson and Sam Houston and Huey Long from the grouping of the crowds to watch the inauguration ceremony to the balls at the coliseum and Alabama State College for Negroes.

How It's Organized

EXPECTED to be one of the big events of the inaugural, the Negro ball is being planned by a committee headed by Dr. H. Council Trenholm, P. M. Blair and Dr. J. D. Hardy. Folsom won the support of Negroes in his race for governor and the Negro ball apparently is intended as a recognition of that support.

The Folsom supporters planning the parade, balls and inaugural ceremonies have set up a military-like organization with both line and staff personnel.

The line personnel includes a director in each county with various subordinates working out details of that county's participation. The staff personnel includes experts in coordinating the overall program ranging from publicity to housing to transportation.

The overseers or chairmen of various committees are all Montgomerians. They include Melvin Dawkins, parade; Judge Anna Lola Price, reception; Bill Lyerly and Tom McGough, transportation; Ed Reid and George C. Wallace, municipal; Frank Boswell and Leon Loeb, housing; Pleas Looney, balls; Ralph Hammonds, publicity; and the Negro leaders, Negro balls.

Each day there is much coming and going at 32 S. Perry St., which is the office of Charles Pinkston, attorney who has been named Folsom's chief of staff, and Pleas Looney, chairman and assistant chairman respectively of the inaugural event.

Biographical Float

PROBABLY the most interesting float in the parade will be the Coffee County one which will portray Folsom's life from the farm to the Capitol. Falsom was raised in Coffee County. Cullman County, which is now Folsom's home, will lead the parade and each of the county floats will move into the parade in the order they were admitted as counties in the state.

Every county will be represented with delegates and only about three counties will not have floats in the parade "because of budgetary limitations."

On the county levels, the probate judge of each county are serving as county inaugural chairmen with mayors of the cities in each county serving as co-chairmen.

Montgomery County is expected to have a big representation in the parade—and the county float will have as its theme, "Stars Fell On Alabama." The city of Montgomery will not have a float as it is acting as host and is cooperating in police, fire, housing, transportation and other departments.

"We believe this parade will be the biggest in the history of Alabama," Looney said. "We know it will be the best planned of any event of its type ever held in Alabama."

For Both Races

Folsom Inauguration Plans Booming

Two inaugural balls, one for white guests and the other for Negroes, will be staged here the night James E. Folsom takes office as governor.

Plans for the separate-but-equal balls were announced here yesterday at a press conference. Folsom aides said the governor and his entire cabinet would pace courtesy call at the Negro ball after attending the ball for white guests which will be held at the Alabama Coliseum.

The Negro ball and dance will be held at Alabama State College for Negroes.

Press Secretary Ralph Hammond and inaugural chairman Charles M. Pinkston also disclosed yesterday the four-hour inaugural parade and the swearing-in ceremonies will be televised over a statewide network and also will be broadcast to radio listeners throughout Alabama.

The recently completed educational television station located atop Mt. Cheaha will televise the event on Channel 7 as its first program, Pinkston said. Commercial TV stations which will televise the parade and program are WABT and WBRC in Birmingham and WSFA and WCOV in Montgomery.

The programs will begin at 9 a.m. and conclude at 1 p.m.

Pleas Looney, vice chairman of the inaugural committee, said 110 bands and 72 floats were already definitely assured of participating in the parade, tabbed the biggest and most colorful ever held in the South.

Looney said every county in Alabama but one would be represented in the parade, either with a band or a float or both.

He said the parade would begin at 8:30 a.m. promptly, forming at Five Points and marching down Montgomery street to Dexter avenue, up Dexter to Decatur, then will circle the Alabama Highway Department building block and pass in review in front of the Capitol.

Each Theme Individual

Looney said there was no overall theme for the floats, with each county to devise its own particular theme.

The Folsom spokesmen also announced bleachers will be erected on the south side of Dexter between McDonough and Decatur for the convenience of those who do not wish to stand during the long parade. Looney said the approximately 4,000 bleacher seats would be sold at a nominal cost. Chairs also will be placed along both sides of Dexter avenue.

National Guard troops will be used to assist Montgomery police in handling the large crowd anticipated, Pinkston said.

Open House Planned

Immediately after Folsom and Lt. Gov.-elect Guy Hardwick are sworn in by Chief Justice J. Ed Livingston of the Alabama Supreme Court, an open house will be held at the governor's office in the Capitol.

From 3 to 5 p.m. another open house will be held at the Governor's mansion.

The inaugural balls will begin at 9 p.m. and it was stressed no invitation is necessary for admittance.

"We want to emphasize everybody is invited," Pinkston said.

34a(2) 1954

ALABAMA

Rankin File

'P.M.,' The Happy Mayor Of Bronzeville

By Allen Rankin

IT IS NOT SO surprising that Pluie McPherson Blair won the race for "The Mayor of Bronzeville" last year as that a slate of seven candidates ventured to run against him for the honor of being mayor of, and top-spokesman for, Montgomery's 50,000 Negroes.

Pluie, known to thousands as "Mr. Mayor," and to hundreds of intimates just as "P. M.," has things made, locked up and bolted down like no other citizen or politician we know.

You find P. M. in the knotty-pine-panelled offices of the Hall Street dry-cleaning plant he started as a high school boy on a capital of $1.50 and developed into a $50,000 business. A flaming-red new Buick convertible stands outside his door.

Big and burly as a stevedore (he's five-feet-nine and weighs 265), the Mayor of Bronzeville reigns rather than sits at the office desk at which he receives dozens of admirers and favor-seekers a day. His smiling, expansive bulk houses a winsome and cagey "man of the people."

Keys To Power

Why was he elected without a run-off by a clear plurality over seven other candidates?

P. M. grins. "The only thing I can figure," he says, "is my willingness to serve the people, regardless. I try to do everything, little or big, that is worth doing for the people, and I try not to do anything, little or big, that is not worth doing for the people.

"I am," P. M. further disclosed, "not only a member of practically every organization in town that is worth being a member of, but I am a member of the marching units within those organizations. Finally, he revealed, "I am called on to announce (emcee) practically every social function of any sort—of any note, at least—in town."

Here are just a few of what Blair calls his "participations" at the time he land-slid into the mayorship: He was illustrious Potentate of the Shaban Temple of the Shrine; President of the Alpha Eta Sigma Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Greek Fraternity, Inc.; and executive secretary of the board of trustees, Protective Order of the Elks of the World and state director of education for the Elks.

He was also a member of the board of trustees at Hale's Infirmary; member of the board of directors of the YMCA; member of the board of directors of the Farm City Enterprise, the only Negro-owned co-op in town; member of the board of the Knights of Pythias; a 33rd Degree Mason; adviser to the registrar, Selective Service; and a member "in good standing" of the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church.

Non-Drinking Connoisseur

On P. M.'s desk is a small, barrel-shaped silver decanter containing liquid refreshments for callers who want same.

"I'm a connoisseur of the best whisky," says P. M., "but I myself never partake of alcohol. Whisky is too strong, beer is too bitter, and wine is too sweet."

How, we asked, does he know he's a connoisseur of alcohol if he never takes a drink? "By the effect it has on my friends," answered P. M., "and by the kind of liquor it takes to make some of 'em feel as good as I do without it."

Above, Bronzeville's Mayor Blair emcees at the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Fashionette Show at the City Auditorium. He is proudly exhibiting the Potentate's cane of the Shrine. Blair leads practically all parades and "Gala Days" of his race here.

Neither does P. M. smoke. "My special hobby," he revealed, beaming, "is delectable tidbits of femininity." Numerous evidences of the Mayor's hobby were pictured around his desk and walls. Twice during our interview, further evidence drove up in large, shiny cars to confer with "Mr. Mayor," about matters of state.

P. M. is a bachelor and says that if he does not remain in the blissful state, "at least I will not be caught standing still." He is 52, but officially, he says, "waives that age limit," and remains a youthful 39.

The Mayoral Function

On Blair's walls also hang commendations for services rendered "the other Mayor" and various special boards and civic groups.

Pluie Blair won one commendation for his work as one of seven mediators in the recent City Lines bus strike. In his official capacity he also recently met with the City Commissioners to help decide who Montgomery's four new Negro policemen would be. Of the 10 men Blair recommended seven came out ahead of the 29 applicants who took the merit system examination for the job. The four who finally were placed on the City Police Force were all Blair choices.

His work with the United Appeal, which he serves on the board of directors of both the social-planning and the budget committees, has been outstanding. He is also a member of the board of directors of the USO.

Our eye caught a certificate signifying P. M.'s service on "The Imperial Council, Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, of North and South America and Jurisdiction, Inc." The cryptic words at the top read: "Aleikum es Salaam . . . Es Salumu Aleikum."

"What does that mean?" we asked P. M. "Now that IS a problem!" he answered.

Weakest Link?

Pluie McPherson Blair, a self-made man, was born the son of a well-to-do farmer near Troy. The Blairs owned a warehouse, a cafe and a fish market in Troy, and as P. M. puts it, "we had enough to live at home. We never lived in a rented house.

"When we boys would go to plow in the new ground, our daddy was always telling us what he'd do to us if we broke a trace-chain on a stump. When we'd break the chain, anyway, he'd tell us, 'a chain is only as strong as it's weakest link.'" And, said P. M., "I'm only as strong as my weakest link."

"What is your weakest link?" we asked him. P. M. looked surprised and answered, "I haven't had a chance to give that matter much introspection."

'Real Town'

The Bronzeville Mayor is cagey on the issue of segregation, simply says, "Education will be the answer," and "water will seek its own level."

He adds, happily, "The relationship between whites and Negroes in Montgomery is the best I've ever seen it anywhere. I've got my first time to feel out of place or not at home with any group or any class here. Montgomery is a real place, full of real people."

Note: This will be my last article in The Advertiser-Journal for an indefinite period. Being a glutton for punishment, I am going to try another siege of free-lance writing. It's with regret that I depart on an indefinite leave of absence from this friendliest of newspapers, readerships and towns. So long, and thanks for a good seven years.

Affectionately
ALLEN RANKIN.

Abernethy Vows To Keep Segregation

GOP Candidate Assails Ruling

CAMDEN, Aug. 26 (AP) — Tom Abernethy, first Republican to wage an aggressive campaign for governor of Alabama in years, promised tonight to preserve racial segregation in the state if he is elected.

Abernethy, a Talladega newspaper publisher and former States Rights elector who bolted the Democratic National ticket in 1948, brought his campaign into the heavily Negro-populated Black Belt section.

He made a similar promise in an earlier speech today at Demopolis. He also pledged to continue the fight against vice in Phenix City if elected governor.

Sees Problem

Abernethy is opposing the Democratic nominee, Ex-Gov. James E. Folsom, in the November general election.

"We must face together the problem created by the Supreme Court decision of last May aimed at doing away with racial segregation in our schools," he said.

"We know that was but the first step. It was a decision shamefully of politics and not of law, and it was deliberately designed to lay the basis for elimination of all legal racial segregation and to force amalgamation upon us."

Abernethy said the Supreme Court decision was "pointed directly at the bedroom door and it will get there by and by unless we stand with calm resolution in the way."

The publisher complained that neither major political party is now sensitive to the "peculiar problems" of the South, and "neither will be so long as one-party politics prevails."

Outlines Stand

He contended the Supreme Court de-segregation ruling "was the final payoff for political cowardice and for our voluntary disenfranchisement in national affairs through all these decades."

Alabama has strayed from the Democratic fold only once since Reconstruction days. That was in 1948 when States Righters put up their own candidates for President and vice president and Alabama gave its electoral votes to them.

In making his vow to fight for segregation, the candidate said:

"And as I preserve it, I shall preserve our schools and hold them together to their appointed and irreplaceable duty.

Makes Pledge

"I shall recognize without any degree of reservation whatsoever the responsibility of Alabama to all her children, white and black alike.

"Whatever the sacrifices of us, the doors to opportunity shall be kept open for them. But they shall be — today, tomorrow, and forever—separate doors."

Abernethy said he believes segregation can be maintained through the exercise of the state's police power, through the districting authority of local school boards and municipalities, and by other means which he didn't spell out.

The candidate's schedule calls for speeches tomorrow at Monroeville, Evergreen, and Brewton.

'Bull' Connor Defeated

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — With the Negro vote lined up solidly against him, Bull Connor was defeated in his race for sheriff of Jefferson County Tuesday. Connor is the man who has declared time and time again that Negro athletes would never compete against white athletes while he was in power.

Tom Abernethy says most Negroes want segregated schools

ANDALUSIA, Ala., Sept. 9—(AP) —Tom Abernethy, Republican candidate for governor, said in speeches here and at Luverne yesterday he is convinced a majority of Alabama Negroes do not want to end segregated schools.

That conclusion, the candidate said, "emphasized my belief that we must stand for segregation for the protection of all Alabamians."

"We must stand for it without bitterness or hatred, but with calm resolution that outside agitators shall not destroy our way of life."

THE TALLADEGA EDITOR, making his first intensive GOP campaign for governor in modern Alabama history, said segregation combines law and custom in the South.

Abernethy said he began warning Alabamians of dangers from foes of segregation when he took part in the States Right revolt from the Democratic Party in 1948. He then was a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

THE REPUBLICAN candidate reminded his hearers that James E. Folsom, then Alabama's governor and now the Democratic nominee for another term, sued the state's 11 electors including Abernethy "to make us break our pledged word" and vote for the re-election of President Truman.

Folsom's suit against the electors was unsuccessful and the state's electoral votes in 1948 went to the States Right ticket of Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina for president and Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi for vice president.

NAACP Officer Says Negroes Will Help To 'Bury' Abernethy

The Associated Press

Republican gubernatorial candidate Tom Abernethy said today that a Mobile NAACP executive committee member had promised that he would be snowed under by an avalanche of votes in the general election Tuesday.

Abernethy said he had received a letter signed by A. H. Harris, who had identified himself with the NAACP, which declared, "We are going to help bury you beneath the greatest avalanche of votes ever a so-called Republican in this state was buried under."

Harris told reporters in Birmingham over the telephone that he did send the letter to Abernethy, but stressed that he did so as an interested individual and not as any official action on the part of NAACP.

Abernethy has vowed to maintain racial segregation in Alabama if elected governor Tuesday. He is waging the first serious Republican campaign in Alabama since reconstruction days.

Meanwhile, ranking Alabama Democrats prepared to join Monday night in a final appeal for an avalanche of votes Tuesday that will head off any surprise victory of Republican candidates.

Their principal target will be Talladege newspaper editor Abernethy.

The one-time States Rights Democratic leader has been ripping into his former party wich charges that its leaders have been indifferent to corruption and are taking a weak stand on racial segregation. Other GOP nominees have had little to say.

Democratic Gov.-nominate James E. Folsom, U.S. Senators Lister Hill and John Sparkman, Lt. Gov.-nominate Guy Hardwick, Alabama' congressman and other Democratic nominees will appear on a radio-television "victory hour" program at Birmingham Monday night.

The session will start at 8:30 p.m.

"They will urge Alabama Democrats to be on the alert and vote," said state party chairman Ben F. Ray.

Folsom, seeking his second term in office, will campaign this weekend in north Alabama territory where the Republicans are strongest. He has speeches scheduled Saturday at Arley, 10 a.m.; Addison, 11:30; Double Springs, 1:30 p.m.; and Haleyville, 2:30 p.m.

Eleven Negro Political Candidates To Be Honor

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Eleven Negro political candidates, two of which were elected, are scheduled to be cited at a rally sponsored by the Alabama State Coordinating Committee for Registration and Voting set for Sunday, Oct. 24 here.

In making the announcement, W. C. Patton of Birmingham, chairman of the committee, revealed neither where in Montgomery the mass meeting would be held nor the names of the key persons who would appear on the program.

Listed for honoring are Alex L. Herman and C. H. Montgomery, Mobile, who were elected to the Mobile County Democratic Executive Committee; Conrad Deane, the Rev. T. M. Batts, Jesse Thomas, also of Mobile, and the Rev. L. Boykins, of Pritchard, who made unsuccessful bids of party offices in Mobile County.

Atty. Arthur D. Shores of Birmingham who ran for the State Legislature; Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, of Tuskegee, who ran for a place on the Macon County Board of Education and E. D. Nixon of Montgomery, who sought a spot on the Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee.

L. C. Lamar, educator-politican of Huntsville, who ran for the Huntsville City Council and Edward Robinson of Fairfield, who ran for the Fairfield City Council will round out the list of honorees.

The presentations will be made by Emory O. Jackson of Birmingham, on behalf of the committee. W. P. Mitchell of Tuskegee is scheduled to preside.

A workshop for leaders in the field of voter-registration is scheduled for the morning of Oct. 24 at the Elks Home. Reports will be heard from the committee's nine district chairmen. Panel discussions and business meantime are on the agenda.

Magic City Negro Qualifies For State Legislature Race

A Birmingham Negro attorney yesterday became perhaps the first of his race to qualify for a place in the Alabama Legislature since reconstruction days.

Arthur D. Shores, 42, filed to run for one of Jefferson County's seven seats in the House of Representatives in the May 4 Democratic primary.

Election officials at Birmingham said Shores is the first Negro to qualify in Jefferson County for the Legislature since Civil War days.

Negro candidates previously had filed to run for county Democratic committee posts at the state's other two larger cities, Montgomery, the state capital, and Mobile.

Registration Mounts

The devolpment follows stepped up voter registration over the state under a constitutional amendment liberalizing Alabama's poll tax law.

Voters ratified the amendment Dec. 15 cutting off the back pay feature of the $1.50 a year levy at two years. Formerly those between 21 and 45 had to pay up all back taxes to qualify as voters.

An Associated Press survey recently indicated Alabama will have approximately 125,000 new voters this year, many of them Negroes, setting the stage for a record vote in the May 4 Democratic primary.

Shores, who has practiced law in Birmingham 16 years, filed with State Democratic Chairman Ben F. Ray in Birmingham and mailed his qualifying papers to the Secretary of State's office here.

He is president of the Alabama Progressive Democrats Association, and a member of the legal committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

E. D. Nixon, former state NAACP president, qualified to seek a place on the Montgomery Democratic committee Friday. Three other Negroes had previously filed as candidates for the Mobile County committee. They are Alex L. Herman, the Rev. Terry M. Batts and Clarence H. Montgomery.

States Righters Qualify

Meanwhile, two former States Rights electors of 1948, were pitted against each other as candidates for the State Senate from the 17th district (Butler, Conecuh and Covington).

Robert B. Albritton of Andalusia, one of those who parted company with the National Democratic party over the civil rights plank of the party platform, qualified Friday.

State Rep. Tully Goodwin of Florala, also an elector in 1948, previously had filed for the post. Both cast their votes for the Thurmond-Wright State Rights ticket as electors.

Qualifying with Chairman Ray's office yesterday were:

Henry V. Salemi of Birmingham for the House from Jefferson County.

James A. Hare of Selma for re-nomination as solicitor from Fourth Judicial Circuit (Bibb, Dallas, Hale, Perry, Wilcox).

Lee Roy Mims of Opelika for place No. 2 in the House from Lee County.

E. B. Haltom Jr., of Florence for House place No. 2 from Lauderdale County.

J. B. McKinney of Talladega for House place No. 2 from Talladega County.

Rep. Charles Thomason of Anniston for re-nomination to his House seat No. 2 from Calhoun.

John W. Brown of Baoz for re-nomination as solicitor of the 27th Judicial Circuit (Marshall).

Rep. Jack Hankins of Vernon for re-nomination to the House from Lamar.

George T. Knight of Headland, Route 2, for House seat No. 1. from Henry.

Albert Davis of Aliceville for the Senate from the 14th District (Pickens and Sumter).

J. Greeley McGowin II of Chapman for House seat No. 2 from Butler.

Richard S. McKee of Faunsdale for House seat No. 2 from Marengo.

Qualifying Friday:

Herbert B. Byars of Greensboro for Hale County's seat No. 1 in the House.

J. L. Willie Ross of Eufaula for seat No. 1 in the House from Barbour.

Harlan G. Allen of Cullman for the Senate from the Third District (Blount, Cullman, and Winston).

Henry Neill Segrest of Tuskegee for the Senate from the 26th District (Bullock and Macon).

William (Bill) Lowe of Lanett for Chambers County place No. 2 in the House.

B. T. Alverson Jr., of Birmingham for the House from Jefferson.

Rep. Willard Pienezza of Tallassee for re-nomination to seat No. 2 from Etowah.

Francis Pratt of Centreville for the Senate from the 18th District (Bibb and Perry).

Lewey Stephens Jr., of Elba for re-nomination as solicitor of the 12th circuit (Coffee and Pike).

Edward A. Ling of Bessemer for the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Shores To Kick Off Campaign Tomorrow

Atty. Arthur D. Shores is scheduled to kick off his campaign for a seat in the State Legislature at a banquet next Friday night, Mar. 19, at Eighteenth Street YMCA.

The banquet is being sponsored by friends of Atty. Shores who are interested in his campaign.

Atty. Orzell Billingsley, Shores' campaign manager, announced that a full speaking schedule was being worked out for Shores.

Files as a Democrat—

Arthur Shores, Negro attorney, seeks seat in State Legislature

Arthur Shores, 42-year-old Birmingham Negro attorney, today filed his qualifying paper to run for the State House of Representatives from Jefferson County in the May Democratic primary.

Officials said he was the first Negro to qualify for the House from Jefferson since Reconstruction Days.

Shores, who has practiced law here 16 years, filed his papers with State Democratic Chairman Ben F. Ray, Birmingham, and mailed others to the secretary of state's office in Montgomery.

He was graduated from Talladega (Ala.) College and received his law degree from the University of Kansas.

Shores is president of the Alabama Progressive Democrat Association, vice chairman of the Interracial Committee of the Jefferson County Coordinating Council, and a trustee of Talladega College.

Negro in Alabama Race

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 6 (AP)—Arthur Shores, forty-two-year-old Birmingham Negro attorney, today filed qualifying papers to run for the State House of Representatives in the May Democratic primary. Officials said he was the first Negro to qualify for the House from Jefferson County since Reconstruction days.

Seeks House Post In Ala. Democratic Primary

ATTY. ARTHUR D. SHORES

Atty. Arthur D. Shores 49-year-old lawyer who has qualified as a candidate from Jefferson County for the Alabama House of Representatives in the May 4 Democratic Primary. He has practiced law in Birmingham for 16 years. When he sought to run for a similar post Feb. 27, 1942, his papers were refused on racial grounds. But Friday, Feb. 5 he filed his papers with State Democratic Chairman Ben F. Ray.

Arthur D. Shores, 49-year-old lawyer, last week qualified to run for a seat in the Alabama State legislature in the May 4 Democratic primary.

Several years ago racial bars prevented him from qualifying to run in the "white only" Democratic primary but February 5 he encountered not the slightest difficulties.

Shores becomes the third Negro candidate to seek public office in Alabama this Spring. Other candidates are expected to file for office in Tuskegee, Abbeville and Montgomery.

The Rev. Terry M. Batts, pastor of El-Betherl Primitive Baptist Church of Mobile qualified February 4 to run for the Mobile county executive committee from Ward 7 in Mobile. The day before, Alex Herman, entered for a similar post. Two places are to be filed. They are opposed by Murray Wiseman, a white candidate.

Ward 7 has a predominantly Negro vote which could elect both Rev. Batts and Mr. Herman.

Born in Birmingham, Shores is the father of two children, Helen G. and Barbara S. He is a graduate of Talladega College, President of Jones Valley Finance Company, chairman of the YMCA Board and president of the Alabama Progressive Democratic council. He is married to the former Theodora H. Warren. He is a member of the NAACP's National Legal Committee, Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, and the First Congregational Church.

Shores For Legislature Banquet Set

"Shores for the Legislature" banquet is scheduled for 8 o'clock Friday night, March 19 at the 18th Street Branch YMCA.

This banquet will formally launch the campaign by which Attorney Arthur D. Shores seeks a seat in the Alabama State Legislature in the May 4 Democratic primary. Some 29 candidates are seeking the seven seats from Jefferson County.

Meantime Attorney Orzell Billingsley, Jr., the campaign manager for Shores announced yesterday that the top level campaign staff had just about been completed. They include, Billingsley said, Attorney Peter A Hall, chairman of the strategy committee: Emory O. Jackson, chairman of the publicity committee; Robert F. Coar, chairman of the fund-raising committee; Lawson Tellis, chairman of the banquet committee; Arthur G. Gaston, chairman of the budget and finance committee (treasurer); Henry J. Williams and Mrs. Lucinda B. Robey, chairman and co-chairman respectively of the get-out-the-vote committee.

Billingsley said that a speaking schedule for Shores would be announced in a few days.

Campaign headquarters for Shores are located in the candidate's Masonic Temple law offices. Shores indicated this week that he would address himself to the main issues in the campaign and let the public know where he stands and what he stands for.

Birmingham Lawyer Qualifies For State Legislature Race

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (SNS) — Atty. Arthur D. Shores 49-year-old lawyer who has qualified as a candidate from Jefferson County for the Alabama House of Representatives in the May 4 Democratic Primary. He has practiced law in Birmingham for 16 years. When he sought to run for a similar post Feb. 27, 1942, his papers were refused on racial grounds. But Friday, Feb. 5 he filed his papers with State Democratic Chairman Ben F. Ray.

Shores becomes the third Negro candidate to seek public office in Alabama this Spring. Other candidates are expected to file for office in Tuskegee, Abbeville and Montgomery.

The Rev. Terry M. Batts, pastor of El-Betherl Primitive Baptist Church of Mobile qualified February 4 to run for the Mobile county executive committee from Ward 7 in Mobile. The day before, Alex Herman, entered for a similar post. Two places are to be filed. They are opposed by

ATTY. ARTHUR D. SHORES
Murray Wiseman, a white candidate

Ward 7 has a predominantly Negro vote which could elect both Rev. Batts and Mr. Herman.

Born in Birmingham, Shores is the father of two children, Helen G. and Barbara S. He is a graduate of Talladega College, President of Jones Valley Finance Company, chairman of the YMCA Board and president of the Alabama Progressive Democratic council. He is married to the former Theodora H. Warren. He is a member of the NAACP's National Legal Committee, Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, and the First Congregational Church.

Doubt Vote Force Of Ala. Negro Candidates

BIRMINGHAM—Alabama's Negro candidates for the State Legislature, the first since Reconstruction days, are given little chance to win.

Seasoned observers here believe that their election, outside of minor posts chosen by voters in a few precincts or districts where Negroes are predomant, is an impossibility.

The recent filing of papers by Negroes in four Alabama cities to qualify as candidates in the May 4 Democratic primary election for the Legislature, County Democratic Executive Committee and County Board of Education places, however marked the first time this had been done since Reconstruction days.

ONCE HAD POWER

In the years immediately following the Civic War the Alabama Legislature, as those of other Southern states, was made up almost entirely of Negroes and carpetbaggers. But after native democrats regained control of the state government, no Negroes had sought to run for membership in the Legislature until last week.

While Negroes running for public and party office is new to Alabama, a number of them have posts in some other Southern states.

For instance, five Negroes were elected to city councils in North Carolina last year for the first time in those municipalities since the Reconstruction period.

SIX FILED

In 1951 Dr. J. E. Walker, first Negro to run for a Memphis office in almost 50 years, polled about one-third of the total vote for a seat on the Board of Education.

The six Negroes who have filed for governmental and public office in Alabama, are:

Arthur D. Shores, 45, Birmingham attorney, who filed as candidate for one of Jefferson County's seven seats in the House of Representatives; E. D. Nixon, former Montgomery NAACP state president, qualified for place on Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee; and at Tuskegee, Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, veteran Tuskegee Institute teacher, filed for aplace on the Macon County Board of Education.

At Mobile, Clarence H. Montgomery, a barber; the Rev. Terry M. Batts, a Baptist minister, and Alex L. Herman, head of a burial insurance company, all filed for membership on that county's Democratic committee.

Birmingham Votes May 4 On Shores

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Whether Jefferson county is willing to send a Negro to the state legislature will be decided at the polls May 4, date of the Democratic primary here.

Central figure in the issue is Arthur D. Shores, 49, first Negro candidate for a legislative seat in the state since reconstruction.

An attorney, Shores is one of 28 seeking the seven House of Representatives seats of Jefferson county. He is relying heavily upon his membership in the Shriners, Elks, Knights of Pythias and Masons for support.

The list of candidates will be cut by the May 4 primary and a run-off among the top contenders will be held June 1. Shores said he had received "encouraging" offers of support from a number of white citizens of the county.

The office seeker is president of the Alabama Progressive Democrats association and heads the Jefferson county division of that group. Shores is also president of the Jones Valley Finance company and chairman of the interracial committee of the Coordinating Council of Social Forces, a Community Chest agency.

Atty. Shores is a graduate of Talladega college. His platform includes cutting down juvenile delinquency, increasing aid to education and more aid to the aged and needy.

Shores seeks Alabama seat

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Alabama has its first colored candidate since Reconstruction days for the Legislature.

Arthur Shores, 50, Birmingham, is among 28 seeking the seven House of Representative seats for Jefferson County in the May 4 primary.

While the county's population is about one-third colored, its white voters are estimated to outnumber colored voters by at least 15 to 1.

Mr. Shores said he had received "encouraging" offers of support from a number of white voters in the county.

A native of Jefferson County, Mr. Shores was graduated from Talladega college. He received his law degree from the University of Kansas and began practice in Birmingham in 1937.

He is a former school teacher and an active member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

5 Ala. Negroes To Run For Public Office May 4

Five candidates for public office from the Negro group have filed to run in the May 4 Democratic primary.

They are: Atty. Arthur D. Shores, Birmingham, seeking one of the seven spots for the Alabama House of Representatives from Jefferson County. He sought to run for a similar post February 27, 1942 but his qualifying papers were refused on racial grounds.

Alex Herman, fraternal and business man; Rev. Terry M. Batts, pastor of El-Bethel Primitive Baptist Church and Clarence H. Montgomery, president of the Mobile Branch NAACP, all of Mobile, seeking membership on the Mobile County Democratic Executive Committee from Ward 3. Two places are to be filled.

E. D. Nixon of Montgomery, president of the Montgomery Progressive Democratic Association, is running for the Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee from Precinct 2.

E. D. Nixon To Run For Alabama Demo Executive Group

MONTGOMERY, ALA. — E. D. Nixon, president of the Montgomery Progressive Democratic Association on February 5, filed to run for the Montgomery Democratic Executive Committee from Precinct 2, in the May 4 Democratic Primary.

Mr. Nixon is former presdent of the Montgomery Branch NAACP and the Alabama State Conference of NAACP Branches. He was secretary of the short-lived Alabama Voters League.

He is a member of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters.

Candidate For Demos Executive Committee

E. D. NIXON

MONTGOMERY, Ala. -(SNS)- E. D. Nixon, president of the Montgomery Progressive Democratic Association, has qualified as a candidate for the Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee.

Sen. Sparkman asks reelection on his record

BY FRED TAYLOR
News staff writer

Alabama's political campaigning took on added interest today as Sen. John Sparkman formally launched his bid for reelection, while Lt. Gov. James B. Allen drew strong new support in his race for governor.

Sparkman, who said he would run on his record, declared "I have always stood with the Southern senators in fighting all efforts to destroy our Southern traditions."

A STRONG NATIONAL party Democrat, Sen. Sparkman pointed out that "I have always vigorously opposed the civil rights program" and "have never deviated from this opposition."

Hitting at Dixiecrats and certain industrial and business interests which have long been gunning for him, the junior senator said:

"Regardless of any smokescreen, the fact is that my opposition stems primarily from my stand as a Democrat.

"The forces that have brought out opposition to me now are the same forces and elements who in 1952 tried unsuccessfully to lead the people of Alabama to break away from the party of their fathers and also certain groups who, for selfish reasons, have not approved of my efforts in behalf of rank-and-file people of Alabama."

ALLEN'S CANDIDACY got a three-way boost here when John S. Foster and State Rep. Larry Dumas, both Birmingham attorneys, and Holt Rast, contractor and former All-American football player at Alabama, became spearheads in his drive for the governorship.

Seeks reelection—Sen. John Sparkman

Foster, a Democratic Party wheelhorse, became chairman of Allen's Jefferson County campaign committee with Dumas and Rast as co-chairmen.

Their appointment was announced by State Rep. Ed Miller, Gadsden attorney and Allen's state campaign manager.

Rep. Dumas, eight years chairman of the Jefferson legislative delegation and an outstanding lawmaker, had announced earlier in the week he would not be a candidate for reelection.

MEANTIME, TUSCALOOSA Atty. James J. Mayfield, member of University of Alabama law school faculty, filed as candidate against Alabama Supreme Court Justice Preston Clayton.

And the state agriculture commissioner race became a three-man affair, with Ashland's Ray A. Tomlin qualifying for this post.

Already running were Montgomery's Haygood Paterson, twice elected agriculture commissioner and R. C. (Red) Bamberg Jr., Perry County farmer and extension service leader.

Running against Sen. Sparkman are Birmingham Congr. Laurie Battle, Montgomery's retired Adm. John G. Crommelin and William C. Irby Sr., 75-year-old Jacksonville attorney and former South Carolina legislator.

Congr. Battle, who has said he likewise is running on his record, had lashed out at Sparkman, charging him with "toting water on both shoulders" on the Taft-Hartley law and civil rights question.

The Ninth District congressman was referring to Sen. Sparkman's running with Adlai Stevenson on the 1952 Democratic Party platform embodying the touchy civil rights plank.

Sparkman, who filed qualifying papers for the May 4 Democratic primary, will come to Birmingham Saturday to address a state convention of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

IN TEEING OFF his drive for reelection, Sparkman struck back at this line of attack, declaring "I believe in the principles of States' Rights" and adding:

"My stand on civil rights, as every one knows is that the so-called federal civil rights program is simply a political football which is put into play each election time in an attempt to influence votes. I have always vigorously opposed this civil rights program. I have never deviated from this opposition."

"STANDING WITH other Southern senators, I have helped prevent adoption of civil rights measures in the Senate," Sparkman pointed out.

"I have always been a loyal Democrat. I believe in the two-party ssytem. Along with the other Southern senators, I know that if a senator is to serve best the people of his state he must have his party's recommendations for key committees and be taken into the confidence of his party's councils.

"As a Democrat, I stand on my record of service to the people of Alabama and I ask for approval of that record."

The junior senator, who has represented the Eighth Congressional District for 10 years, was first elected to the Senate in 1946 to serve the unexpired term of the late Sen. John H. Bankhead. He was reelected in 1948.

In pointing to his record, Sen. Sparkman said:

"I will continue to support full employment; fair and workable labor legislation; social security; unemployment compensation; old-age pensions and benefits for the blind and for dependent children; hospitals; REA, rural telephones and TVA; fair prices for farmers and consumers, farm-to-market roads, soil conservation and development of our waterways.

"BETTER SCHOOLS, school lunch program, veterans' benefits, decent housing for our people, tax relief, anti-monoply and small business benefits; clean government and other measures to better the welfare of all our people."

Citing his support of United Nations, to which he was U. S. delegate in 1950, Sparkman declared "I have supported other programs of international cooperation to combat communism and to build a peaceful world."

Both Judge Clayton, who was appointed to the vacancy caused by death of the late Justice Joel B. Brown, and Mayfield are running for Brown's unexpired term.

Mayfield, a leader among national party loyalist Democrats, was toastmaster at the Alabama League of Young Democrats' fund-raising dinner rally here Saturday.

A War II veteran, Mayfield enlisted as private, saw service in the South Pacific and came out of the Air Force a lieutenant colonel. His 19th Heavy Bombardment Group won the Presidential Citation with three oak leaf clusters.

Former national college director of Young Democratic Clubs of America, Mayfield served as temporary chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee. He is former assistant attorney general of Alabama, served as U. S. conciliation commissioner for Northern District of Alabama, was vice chairman of Alabama Democratic finance committee and chairman of the Democratic Speaker's Bureau. He was first president of the Tuscaloosa Optimist Club. A native of Montgomery, Mayfield has practiced law at Tuscaloosa since 1932.

Other qualifiers included:

J. C. Griffin, Marion, for reelection to the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Bert Holmes Grace of York for the Alabama House of Representatives Post No. 1 from Sumter County.

Thomas H. Boggs of Linden for renomination as solicitor of the 17th Judicial Circuit (Greene, Marengo and Sumter Counties).

Benjamin Grady Wilson, Jasper, state committee from seventh.

Rowan S. Bone, Gadsden, state senator from Sixth District (Etowah and St. Clair).

A. N. McKinney, Sheffield, state senator from 31st District (Colbert, Franklin and Marion).

James S. Coleman, Eutaw, state senator from 32nd District (Greene and Hale).

Lawson M. Lynn, Somerville Rt. 2, House place No. 2 from Morgan.

Reginald Richardson, House, from Colbert.

Rep. Reginald Richardson, renomination to L. W. Brannan Jr., Foley, State House place No. 1 from Hale. Democratic Executive Committee

Francis A. Long, Florence, from Second District.

House place No. 1 from Lauderdale. B. G. Robinson Jr., Carrollton, state committee from Seventh.

H. W. McCoy, Oneonta, House place No. 1 from Blount. Leslie C. King, Gadsden, and J. W. Lovelace, Dadeville, for state committee from Fifth.

Former State Sen. John E. Gaither, Heflin, House, from Cleburne.

Thomas S. Roberts, Abbeville, House place No. 2 from Henry.

Harry J. Huddleston, Sheffield,

The Issue: Reliability Of Character

The racial issue will be raised again against Sparkman.—The Anniston Star.

If it's raised it won't be raised by The Advertiser. And our rather firm impression is that it won't be raised by Sparkman's opponent, Congressman Laurie Battle.

The Advertiser abhors race baiting. This newspaper possesses more formal recognitions of its friendship for the colored man than any other Alabama newspaper.

This newspaper has outraged many of its readers in support of the colored man, as is amply shown from time to time by the letters column.

The Advertiser would consider it a corruption and a debauchery of its long and not undistinguished traditions if it ever stooped to misuse of the Negro or any other minority.

Further than that, it may be remembered that last year we carried an editorial expressing the happy belief that Alabama had progressed to a point of enlightenment where probably no politician can be elected again by a raw use of the race issue.

So The Star, published up there in "Annie's Town", is ill-advised indeed if it means to suggest that The Advertiser means to employ the race issue against Hon. Sparkman.

The Advertiser's indictment of Sparkman is based on the unreliability of his political character.

It is not his viewpoint on race relations. It is his demonstrated faithlessness in having been a participant in Southern filibusters as long as he sought only the vote of Alabamians and then abruptly, in 1952, giving support to FEPC to win the votes of Northern minorities.

Sparkman's civil rights statements were so hot that Senator Hill publicly disassociated himself.

Our contention is that unreliability of character is the most grievous offense of a politician entrusted with large powers. Our contention is that the colored man in Alabama can no more depend on Sparkman than can the white man. Both the Negro and the white man have the same grievance against Sparkman.

In his present campaign for votes in Alabama, Sparkman will soon be solemnly assuring Alabama that his attitude on civil rights has never changed, that he is against FEPC and even a slight tampering with the segregation pattern.

The Negro voters of Alabama probably will stick with Sparkman, but they know he isn't telling the truth when he says that.

The Negro voters know that in 1952 Sparkman said repeatedly that he was "in complete accord" with Adlai Stevenson on civil rights.

Is it not the record?

Billingsley To Direct Shores Bid For State Post

Youthful Aty. Orzell Billingsley, Jr., Birmingham-born barrister and Talladega College graduate, has been selected campaign manager by Attorney Arthur D. Shores, candidate for the State Legislature in the Democratic Primary, May 4.

Meantime Mr. Billingsley announced that Emory O. Jackson has been named chairman of the publicity committee. The campaign chairman said that he would announce other staff workers in a few days.

Mr. Shores who is vice chairman of the Birmingham Interracial Committee, said yesterday that he was completing his statement of ideas and was preparing for a vigorous campaign. He indicated that numerous invitations to make speeches were coming to him since he announced for the State House.

Campaign headquarters for Mr. Shores will be located in Masonic Temple. He was discussing plans yesterday for a formal kick off of his campaign. Despite the formal kick off, Mr. Shores said that he had been working in the interest of his election since he announced that he was a candidate for the State Legislature.

Ex-Gov. Folsom formally opens 1954 campaign

BY FRED TAYLOR
News staff writer

Ex-Gov. James E. Folsom, who has been stumping for months with his "Corn Grinders," today formally opened his campaign for another term as governor in Northwest Alabama's Hamilton.

While he was preparing for a kickoff speech at 3 p.m., Bessemer's Henry Sweet, who was hired and fired by Folsom as State Docks director, was challenging the former governor to a debate on the segregation question.

Sweet, who said he would debate Folsom "at any time or place," added that "I'm going to smoke him out on segregation."

AND LT. GOV. JAMES B. ALLEN, pushing his drive for the governorship in Randolph and Clay Counties, called for an outright appropriation to the Alabama Highway Patrol. He said he favored this over use of funds from a part of fines levied on traffic violators arrested by the patrol.

Sen. John Sparkman, who had cracked down earlier on "Republican sponsorship of his opposition," launched his reelection campaign here by declaring he would

In race—James E. Folsom.

"continue to stand with other Southern senators" in fighting for segregation and maintaining Southern traditions.

"MY OPPOSITION comes from the fact that I'm a loyal Democrat," said Sparkman. "I think a man should be a Democrat or a Republican. I've chosen to be a Democrat."

The senator did not refer to Birmingham's Congr. Laurie Battle, one of his three opponents, by name in his speech over WABT last night. But he obviously was referring to Battle when he struck back at those who have charged the senator with "toting water on both shoulders" on civil rights questions.

Sparkman declared that what he would present in this campaign would "come out of my own mind and out of my own heart" and "not on falsehood and false insinuations."

He pointed out that it is easy to criticize, but that "presenting a positive program is difficult for some people."

"LIKE ALL SOUTHERN senators, I earnestly hope that the Supreme Court will do nothing to change our laws providing for segregation in our schools," said Sen. Sparkman. "Until this Republican administration, it has been consistently held that the matter of segregation was for each state to decide for itself.

"I firmly believe in that principle. As your senator, I will continue to stand with other Southern senators in doing whatever we can to maintain that principle."

Sparkman appealed to both old and new voters, saying he is confident they "will join hands and work with me for programs that will benefit all our people, and not for just the benefit of the few."

SPARKMAN WILL speak at 8 p.m. today over a 36-station radio hookup originating from Huntsville, his home town.

George Huddleston Jr., Birmingham attorney and son of a former congressman, also formally opened his campaign for the Ninth District congressional post Battle is giving up.

Huddleston lashed out at the move to have government defense contracts "channeled inequitably to other sections of the country."

"We have been poor a long time down here," he said. "And now when we are coming into our own, we must not be deprived of our share of these defense contracts, and I would fight this executive order to the hilt."

Huddleston rapped "interference from demagogues and agitators" in handling Southern racial and social problems. And he declared that, if elected to Congress, "it will be one of my objectives to prevent the intrusion of the federal government into matters that should be decided by the states. I refer to such bills as FEPC and other so-called civil rights laws which deal with local problems."

CITING HIS background as former assistant U. S. district attorney and state American Legion commander, Huddleston said "we must get rid of Communists who have infiltrated our government."

But he emphasized that this should be accomplished "calmly and in the interest of the security of the United States and not for the advancement of any individual or political party."

Referring to the service of his father in Congress. Huddleston recalled that "What went on in the halls of Congress was dinner-table talk, and what the people of this district wanted was the concern of the whole family when my father served this district in Congress."

Huddleston employed background shots of the national Capitol, war ships, planes, the U. S. Flag, along with such subtitles as "Foreign Relations," "Taxation and Balanced Budget" on the television screen in his speech over WBRC-TV.

SWEET, IN SPEECHES at Gadsden, Ashville and Springville, said he would fight to uphold Southern traditions in segregation of whites and Negroes in Alabama schools. He scheduled appearances today at West Blocton, Centreville, Brent and Marion.

The former docks director has devoted his campaign speeches mostly to whamming the Folsom administration, under which he served three years. He was fired by Folsom for refusing to support Philip Hamm for governor in 1950.

Sweet goes to Mobile tomorrow to address a civic club luncheon, make a TV appearance tomorrow night and also address Mobile Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Allen, who spoke at Lineville, Ashland, Roanoke, Wadley and Wedowee, stressed the need for a school building program to aid both whites and Negroes in providing equal educational facilities. He declared earlier his opposition to abolishing the public school system and setting up private schools to replace it.

THE LIEUTENANT governor declared that, if elected, he would work to bring at least one new industry to each of the 67 counties. He spoke from "Allen's Bandwagon," the truck from which he is campaigning. Featured are pretty Judy and Terry Brown playing the electric organ and accordion.

Mrs. Allen again made a hit with audiences, declaring "Believe me, you can trust this man, Jim Allen, on what he promises you. I can vouch for that."

State Sen. James H. Faulkner pushed on to Jacksonville State Teachers College for a speech today, as he stepped up the tempo of his campaign for governor.

Faulkner said that if he is elected governor, he would do "everything in my power" to help in the development of the Warrior-Tombigbee waterway. He added that one of Alabama's greatest natural resources is its river system and he would help develop it.

Faulkner's statement was in response to a questionnaire sent to all gubernatorial candidates by the Warrior-Tombigbee Development Assn., of which Newton Debardeleben is president.

"Back Jack" backers of Jack Owens were preparing to kick off his gubernatorial drive at a barbecue at 1 p.m. Saturday stepped up their vote drives.

The other candidates for governor—Elbert Boozer, Bruce Henderson and Winston Gullatte—also at Centreville.

County-by-county in governor's race

News P. 2L Birmingham Ala. News. 5-6-54

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The unofficial county-by-county vote for governor:

County	Boxes	Total Boxes	Allen	Faulkner	Folsom
Autauga	19	19	196	842	1,724
Baldwin	41	44	276	4,297	3,177
Barbour	28	29	320	857	2,300
Bibb	26	26	97	381	2,261
Blount	44	44	630	1,140	6,055
Bullock	21	21	302	199	1,036
Butler	49	50	365	1,035	2,515
Calhoun	49	52	2,950	4,289	6,181
Chambers	37	37	843	2,680	3,198
Cherokee	37	37	777	739	3,461
Chilton	27	27	476	1,854	3,519
Choctaw	32	36	169	451	2,036
Clarke	40	40	412	1,058	3,565
Clay	23	26	476	1,119	2,715
Cleburne	16	19	243	527	1,925
Coffee	33	36	148	695	5,301
Colbert	28	29	691	2,893	7,899
Conecuh	35	37	174	829	2,562
Coosa	12	21	107	514	1,289
Covington	48	48	386	2,167	6,310
Crenshaw	24	30	116	588	2,201
Cullman	46	46	523	2,135	8,553
Dale	24	25	227	911	2,725
Dallas	24	24	1,015	1,823	1,685
DeKalb	62	62	1,019	1,173	6,306
Elmore	24	30	288	1,238	3,263
Escambia	36	36	268	1,791	4,400
Etowah	54	55	5,859	3,823	12,307
Fayette	34	38	360	1,386	3,132
Franklin	25	26	279	1,703	3,896
Geneva	29	29	167	706	4,349
Greene	16	16	201	151	526
Hale	11	18	133	166	335
Henry	26	26	172	595	2,579
Houston	34	34	740	1,220	4,653
Jackson	45	47	369	1,848	4,521
Jefferson	299	299	11,934	25,560	24,173
Lamar	31	31	90	3,291	2,843
Lauderdale	25	33	568	3,447	4,245
Lawrence	31	31	677	970	3,407
Lee	39	39	1,086	2,211	2,465
Limestone	28	28	647	1,437	2,738
Lowndes	22	22	85	291	853
Macon	12	15	126	392	1,294
Madison	36	36	2,188	3,503	5,133
Marengo	28	29	330	395	1,305
Marion	30	39	190	1,474	4,698
Marshall	45	45	829	2,066	9,611
Mobile	218	221	4,694	11,953	12,954
Monroe	32	33	752	1,253	1,829
Montgomery	69	69	2,114	6,557	8,723
Morgan	59	61	2,158	2,601	6,256
Perry	20	20	350	661	1,142
Pickens	9	26	38	359	420
Pike	33	33	394	1,782	3,534
Randolph	24	27	357	950	3,100
Russell	14	23	158	198	1,003
Shelby	27	29	473	2,361	3,815
St. Clair	30	31	378	1,210	2,777
Sumter	25	25	188	759	614
Talladega	66	66	1,451	4,223	6,610
Tallapoosa	20	31	387	1,787	3,7
Tuscaloosa	59	59	2,869	4,487	8,472
Walker	68	71	670	3,048	10,058
Washington	23	25	136	514	2,369
Wilcox	20	26	39	81	431
Winston	20	21	196	584	1,185

Split Ticket Voting Shown In County's Total For GOP

News Tuskegee, Ala. Nov. 11-4-54 P. 1

Macon County went safely Democratic—as expected—in Tuesday's general election but for the first time since Reconstruction days a Republican candidate for governor polled a substantial vote. Although James E. Folsom was given an overwhelming margin of 1,272 against 257 for GOP Candidate Tom Abernethy, the balloting gave convincing evidence that many Macon County voters split the ticket.

This trend toward voting for individuals rather than for a straight party ticket was seen to a lesser degree in the U. S. Senate race, where John Sparkman was re-elected by a vote of 1,291 to 143 for his opponent, J. Foy Guin, Jr. In the one contested place for justice of the Supreme Court the court was James J. Mayfield (D) 1,321, Milton H. Lanier (R) 133.

In these three state races the Republican candidates ran well ahead of the GOP candidates in the other races, indicating that many voters had "scratched" the ticket by voting for Republicans while giving their support to the Democrats for the remainder of the ticket. Except for these three state races, the GOP nominees got less than 100 votes each.

In the only county contest, between B. L. Balch (D) and John Fletcher Segrest (R), for a place on the Board of Education, Mr. Balch won easily by a margin of 1,326 to 188.

The heaviest margin in any race in the county was given John Patterson, son of A. L. Patterson, Phenix City vice crusader who was killed after his nomination last June for state attorney general and was replaced by his son for the nomination. Patterson piled up a total of 1,413 votes against only 67 for Max J. Howard, Republican candidate.

ALABAMA POLITICS—

NAACP Blast Is Revealed By Abernethy

Post-Herald Birmingham, Ala. Sat. 10-30-54

Top Demos To Hold Rally Here Monday

Tom Abernethy, Republican candidate for governor ~~who has pledged~~ himself to maintain racial segregation in Alabama, yesterday disclosed receipt of a letter from a Mobile executive committee member of the NAACP declaring "we are going to help bury you beneath the greatest avalanche of votes ever a so-called Republican in this state was ever buried under."

Meanwhile top Alabama Democrat leaders, in a final appeal for an avalanche of votes, planned a big rally for 8:30 p.m. Monday in Birmingham. P. 1

Democratic Gubernatorial Nominee James E. Folsom, Lt.-Gov. Nominate Guy E. Hardwick and Sens. Lister Hill and John Sparkman will appear on a radio-television "Victory Hour." They will urge Alabama Democrats to be alert and vote, said State Party Chairman Ben F. Ray.

Abernethy, at Talladega, said the handwritten letter was signed by A. H. Harris of 1011 Selma-st., Mobile.

"You have prated up and down the length and breadth of Alabama, talking out of turn against us Negroes," the letter stated. "On Nov. 2 we are going to help bury you beneath the greatest avalanche of votes ever a so-called Republican in this state was buried under.

"You seem not to have gumption enough to know that Negroes are voting in ever increasing numbers and that there are some thoughts one may have that are best kept to himself."

Abernethy declared that "the worst enemies of most Alabama Negroes are radicals of the NAACP and others of that stripe."

The Talladegan recalled that the NAACP has been the leader in the preparation and filing of petitions in towns over the state asking for an immediate end of racial segregation in the schools.

"Thoughtful Negroes as well as whites realize the monstrous folly of such a move," he said. "They realize that neither race is served by the agitation of professional trouble-makers and radicals in a time of tremendous tension like this."

At Mobile, Harris confirmed the fact that he was the writer of the letter.

"I wrote as a private citizen and not in any official capacity of my office in the NAACP," said Harris. He said he is a member of the executive committee of the Mobile Chapter of the NAACP.

"I think Mr. Abernethy has done both races a great disservice by spreading discord and discontent in the state," Harris said. "The color of a man's skin makes no difference to me. I'd as soon help a white man as a Negro. I only stand for what is right, and that's what the NAACP does."

Abernethy said the fact that "an official of the NAACP should write me of his support of my opponent comes as no surprise.

"My sole reference to racial questions has been a vow that for the sake of all Alabamians, I shall preserve racial segregation. I have vowed to call an immediate special session of the Legislature for that express purpose.

"James E. Folsom, a long time associate of radicals beloved of the NAACP, has flatly refused to say that he will call a special session in defense of segregation.

"His attitude in this greatest crisis of Alabama's modern history obviously is one acceptable to the leaders of the NAACP and others who would destroy our social system with no thought of the consequences."

TO THE VICTOR—State Sen. A. W. Todd, of Russellville (left), is congratulated by R. C. Bamberg, of Perry County, after the State Democratic Executive Committee nominated Todd at Birmingham yesterday. Todd succeeds the late Haygood Paterson as the Democratic nominee for commissioner of agriculture and industries. Gov.-nominate James E. Folsom backed Todd. State Party Chairman Ben F. Ray stands behind the two men.

AP Wirephoto

Todd Nominated Farm Chief By 38-28 Vote Of Committee

BIRMINGHAM, July 31 — Arnel Woodfin Todd, 36-year-old Russellville lumberman and state senator, won Democratic nomination for state commissioner of agriculture and industries here today.

The State Democratic Executive committee made the selection after Gov-nominate James E. Folsom had personally brought his influence to bear for Todd.

Todd was chosen, 38 to 28, over R. C. (Red) Bamberg who had run second in the Democratic primary last May 4. Haygood Paterson, who was the party nominee, died.

Folsom Not Present

Folsom did not attend the committee session and his name was not mentioned in the nominating speeches for the two candidates, but one backer of Bamberg made it plain he was speaking of Folsom when he said Bamberg "has no man upstairs telling him what to do."

Bob Bell, committee member from Birmingham for 20 years, said "I have never seen such pressure brought to bear on this committee as there has been in this case."

Bell added that "there is more at stake in this nomination than our commissioner of agriculture. The whole structure of our voting system is at stake."

Bell referred to the law which places appointment of boards of registrars in the hands of the governor, the state auditor and the state commissioner of agriculture and industries.

All Registered

Folsom and Todd both denied there was any thought of getting control of voter registration machinery in Todd's candidacy. Folsom said "all the people who want to vote in our section of the country have already registered, anyway."

Todd was nominated by Charles Cashion Jr., Russellville, who described his candidate as "a good business man and farmer."

Todd was born at Belgreen, Franklin county, and was graduated from Alabama Polytechnic Institute in Agriculture in 1940. For many years he was a book salesman, and later became owner of the Franklin Lumber Co., and of the Todd Tractor Co., both at Russellville.

He was elected to the State Senate in 1951, his first public office. He is married and has two daughters.

After naming Todd to the agriculture post, the committee quickly nominated State Rep. W. Emmett Oden to the house place from Franklin county being vacated by Todd.

Oden had not offered for renomination in the spring primary and Todd had been picked for the place.

The committee filled four vacancies on the 72-member group at the start of the morning session. Two were in the First (Mobile) District and the other two in the Seventh District.

In the first, A. F. DeVan of the Mobile Water Works Board was chosen to replace Ben F. Glover, who had resigned, and Richard McPherson, Butler attorney, was named to the seat formerly held by the late Vernon Lowery, Mobile.

They were nominated by former state chairman Gessner T. McCorvey, Mobile.

New members named from the Seventh District were Robert Wilson, Jasper Attorney, and Wade H. Weaver, Haleyville lawyer.

Wilson, succeeded Judge J. B. Powell, Jasper, whose letter of resignation was read at the session. Weaver takes over in place of the late Bart Cowart, Haleyville.

Their nominations were placed before the committee by Circuit Judge Roy Mayhall, state vice chairman.

How Committee Nominated Todd

BIRMINGHAM, July 31 (AP)—The State Democratic committee vote for commissioner of Agriculture and Industries:

For Todd (38):

Second District — Brantley Flowers, Goodwin, Mizell.

Third District—Boswell, Davis, Faulk, Horn, Hughes, Williams.

Fourth District — Embry Goldberg, Gray, Lester, Hugh Merrill.

Fifth District — Allen Jacoway, Lovelace, Rains, Smith.

Sixth District — DeGraffenried, Mayfield, Partlow.

Seventh District — Cashion James, Kimbrell, Mayhall Miller, Petree, Wilson, Weaver.

Eighth District — Anderson Blair, Horton, McBurney O'Neal, Russell.

Ninth District—Gwin.

For Bamberg (28):

First District—Devan, Johnston, Jordan, Matthews, McCorvey, McPherson, Means Thornton.

Second District — Albritton Beeland, Brannen.

Third District—Oakley.

Fourth District—Dixon, Walter Merrill, Salter.

Fifth District — Green McCord.

Sixth District—Fuller, Maxwell, McQueen.

Eighth District—Collier, Malone.

Ninth District—Allgood, Bell, Edwards, Ray, Smyer, Snyder.

Second Negro Candidate Qualifies In Mobile

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 4 (AP)—A second Negro qualified today as a candidate for the county Democratic Executive Committee.

Qualifying as a candidate from Ward 7 was the Rev. Terry M. Batts, pastor of the El-Betherl Primitive Baptist Church. Alex Herman, president of a burial insurance company, qualified yesterday. They are the first Mobile County Negro candidates in a Democratic primary in history.

One white candidate is also seeking one of the two Ward 7 places. He is Murray Wiseman.

There are more Negro qualified electors in the ward than white.

Since the two-year poll tax amendment was adopted Dec. 15, about 2,000 Negroes have registered and paid poll taxes. The county now has about 5,000 Negro voters in all.

Negro Is Candidate For Committeeman

MOBILE, Feb. 3 (AP) — Alex L. Herman today became the first Negro candidate in a Democratic primary in Mobile County.

Herman qualified as a candidate for county Democratic commiteeman from Ward 7, where Negro qualified electors outnumber whites. Thus far he has no opposition.

Herman is president of a burial insurance company and was the first "King Alexis," ruler or Negro festivities of Mobile's annual Mardi Gras celebration, in 1940.

Mobile County now has an estimated more than 5000 qualified Negro voters. Some 2000 have registered and paid poll taxes since Dec. 15 when the two-year poll tax amendment was adoptd.

Herman Seeks Public Post

ALEX. L. HERMAN

MOBILE, Ala. — (SNS) — Alex L. Herman, business and fraternal leader of this city is one of the six Negro candidates for the Mobile County Democratic Executive Committee in the May 4 primary. All of them are opposed by white candidates.

Born in Mobile, he received his early training at the St. Patrick's and Cooper grade school and Tuskegee Institute. He is the son of the late George X. and Alice Sigmund Herman.

He launched in business with his father after leaving Tuskegee. In 1928 he connected with the Unity Burial Association as an agent. He climbed to secretary, treasurer and president of the company, the last position he still holds.

Mr. Herman is the exalted ruler of Gulf City Lodge No. 244 (I. B. P. E. W.). He is grand chairman of the degree team of the national order. He is a member of the Knights of Peter Claver and past Grand Knight, past District Deputy of Alabama and Mississippi. Presently he is the national treasurer of the Fourth Degree of the same order.

He is a board member of the local YMCA, member of the original Eutopia Social Club and numerous other benevolent societies. Mr. Herman is a member of the Heart of Mary Catholic Church and Holy Name Society.

Mobile has an estimated 50,000 voters of which approximately 7,000 are Negro voters.

Half of the six Negro candidates for party elective positions are entered in Ward 7. They include the Rev. Terry M. Batts, minister of the El-Betherl Primitive Baptist Church and Clarence H. Montgomery, barber.

The Rev. L. Boykin of Prichard qualified as a candidate for the Mobile County Executive Committee.

A total of nine Negro candidates for party and public office are listed for the May 4 primary. E. D. Nixon of Montgomery is seeking a spot on the Montgomery County Executive Committee. Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman is seeking a position on the Macon County Board of Education, Tuskegee.

Atty. Arthur D. Shores is one of the 29 candidates seeking one of the seven places from Jefferson County in the Alabama House of Representatives.

City Gets Two Negro Cops

Mobile Citizens Becoming More Politically Active

MOBILE, Ala. — Negro citizens in Mobile have become politically active since the new city commissioners have moved into City Hall. There was spirited balloting during the last local election for City Commissioners, but Henry Luscher, Charles Hackmeyer and ex-Senator Joseph Langan emerged victorious over the long-seated incumbents.

ONE OF THE reasons for this beehive of political activity is that under the present city administration racial restrictions have been lifted from many local civil service jobs including policemen and clerks. For the first time, Mobile has colored policemen. Two, W. O. Powell and Walter Jackson have already been hired and several more may become employed. More recreational facilities have been promised also.

For the first time since reconstruction days, Negroes are running for political posts previously all held by white citizens. Five Negroes are running for ward committeemen in an unprecedented move. In the Seventh Ward which is predominantly colored, there are three candidates, the Rev. T. N. Batts, Alex Herman and Clarence Montgomery plus one white candidate. In the Fifth Ward, Conrad Dean, former national CIO organizer, is running and in the Twelfth Ward, Jessie Thomas.

The Negro vote in Mobile has finally become a reckoning power and has more than tripled during the past few months. There is a mounting enthusiasm among social and civic clubs as well as civic organizations to "get out the vote."

* * *

IT IS HOPED that one of these candidates will win a place so that it will pave the way for better jobs in the city and possibly the state set-up for Negroes.

MR. E.D. NIXON, MONTGOMERY
MONTGOMERY COUNTY
DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Nixon Pushing Campaign Plans Forward For May

E. D. Nixon is busy pushing his campaign for the Democratic Committee of Montgomery County. He is one of nine Negro candidates seeking office in the May 4 primary.

On Wednesday night, March 17, Chairman Rufus Lewis will hold another pep session at the Elk's Home on Cleveland Ave. Chairman Lewis and Campaign Manager Dr. W. D. Pettus, will attempt to further coordinate the various committee porgrams, look for new ideas and examine further plans in the campaign.

Among the highlights of the promotional side will be a mass meeting, place and date to be announced later, and a banquet at the Hotel Ben Moore, date also to be announced later.

The campaign is being enthusiastically supported by men and women from all walks of life. At the last meeting, O. L. Campbell accepted the responsibility of chairman of the banquet, C. W. Lee reported finance plans and Nixon himself expressed a firm conviction that he will be supported by both races in District 2.

Nixon has a sound record in labor and civic affairs in the community and throughout the country. The public is cordially invited to the meeting on Wednesday night at 7:30.

E. D. NIXON TO GIVE

The P-TA of Abraham Vineyard will hold a public meeting at the community school house tonight at 7:30. E. D. Nixon, president of the Progressive Democratic Club, will be the main speaker.

Other contributions to the occasion will include Dr. Solomon S. Seay, secretary of evangelism for the AME Zion Church.

Nixon Supporters Plan Mass Meeting Sunday

On Sunday afternoon at 4:30, citizens for E. D. Nixon will lay plans for a gigantic mass meeting. R. D. Mathews will preside over the occasion. Nixon has expressed satisfaction with the progress of the campaign but he feels not enough people have been given the opportunity to serve.

All committee chairmen are especially urged to be present Sunday so as to get the final low down on the overall campaign strategy.

Chairman Lewis is calling all organizations throughout the city to send a representative out to help the people of precinct 2 put a creditable showing in the May 4 primary.

A Colored Man Seeks Office In Montgomery

By Geoffrey Birt
Staff Writer, The Advertiser

ONE FINE day a year ago, a well-known Montgomery citizen, E. D. Nixon, took a short stroll while he turned over in his mind an article he had read in a newspaper.

He saluted an American flag fluttering above a school and made an important decision. Nixon had decided to run for some insignificant public or Democratic Party office and prove to the U. S. that "Montgomery people really practice what they preach."

Birt

Late last month Citizen Nixon qualified to run for a place on the Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee, from Beat 2.

Candidate Nixon is a Negro.

His white opponent, J. W. Carroll, is a bookkeeper, living on W. Jeff Davis Ave.

QUESTION—What do Montgomery people preach?

NIXON—Most white residents here, and their political leaders, tell me they believe the Negro ought to have equal opportunity to serve and participate in the life of the community and the counsels of a political party, just as any other American and Alabama citizen, in accordance with ability and proved experience.

Q.—Last Thursday night a top official of The Advertiser wished you well, wished you luck, and ordered that your story be told. If this story was not printed, many white people in Beat 2 might have voted for you, unaware you are a Negro. Won't this publicity injure your chances of election?

NIXON—I think my neighbors and friends in this beat will agree I am qualified to serve in the small office I seek. I hope they will make their choice without regard to race or color. But even should I lose the race because of this fact, I would wish it that way. I would not like any voter to be misled. I wish them to know the truth. They then can be given a fair chance to decide for themselves.

Duties Thereof

COMMITTEE members receive no pay. One committeeman represents each county beat. A new committee is elected every four years, and meets only two or three times to transact a few technical party matters at county level. Their chief duty is to accept the State Executive Committee's regulations for qualifying candidates at local level in Democratic primaries. They have no alternative but to adopt such regulations.

The county committee does have the right to say how large the qualifying fees shall be for local candidates like those for sheriff, tax collector, etc. It also organizes and administers the Democratic primary at county level by appointing poll officials, etc—and often it's hard to find enough people willing to undertake such a day-long chore. So there's very little in the job itself. It's more of an honor than anything else.

NIXON

$22,000 Idea

NIXON was born here, 1899, the eldest of four boys in a typical poor Negro family. "My father was a Baptist minister who pastored several churches in Lowndes County," he said. His mother died when he was 10. Things were hard for the Rev. Nixon and the four little boys.

At 10 Nixon began earning a little money at a local grocer's store. He got his education the best he could; at 54 he is still at it, reading, attending lectures, etc.

Thirty years ago he landed a job with the L. & N. Two years later he transferred to the Pullman Company, with which he has remained for 28 years. Today, Nixon is a highly regarded and long-trusted member of this company, and president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, Montgomery Division.

Some years ago he had an idea which would improve the comfort of railroad travelers. He sketched a plan and sent it with an explanation to the then president of the L. & N., the late J. B. Hill. Hill liked the idea and sent it to the Engineering Department. After checking it, they reported favorably. Hill wrote Nixon to thank him personally, and said though the adaption would cost the company $22,000, they were adopting the suggestion.

"Being a pullman porter is an educational job," Nixon says. Nixon's duties these days are on the Montgomery-New York run of the Crescent Limited. He said: "You get to meet and talk with presidents, cabinet members, governors, and leading businessmen."

Last month Nixon "received" fellow-townsman Gov. Gordon Persons on the Crescent, when the chief executive was en route to New York. "He recognized me and talked with me," said Nixon.

The first New York trip Nixon made for the L. & N. "was at the time of the Dempsey-Carpentier big fight."

But in all the years he's been going there since, Nixon has remained a stranger in Gotham.

"When I was younger, 20 years or so ago, I might have got around a bit in my New York stopovers," he says, "but now I'm tired when I get in and I buy a paper or a book, read a bit, and go to bed.

"I never was much of a one for fun," he confesses, "and mebbe I have always been a little too serious. I'm not opposed to drinking, but I don't drink."

Nixon's first wife died. He has been married to his present wife, a Floridian, "20 years come July 22." By his first wife he has a son, E. D. Nixon Jr., aged 24.

Dateline Beat 2

LIKE THE average white man who lacked the benefit of a good schooling and college education, he envies those who have, and saw to it young Nixon had this advantage.

When the boy was completing high school, it was obvious he had potentially a good voice and loved music. Nixon senior sent him to the New York School of Music for two and one-half years, where his baritone voice was cultivated. "Then the Army got him," said Nixon, "for the next two years."

Now out of service, with GI privileges, young Nixon is continuing musical studies in Mexico City.

The Nixons own their two-storied home on a paved street, Clinton Avenue, which is nicely furnished and well-appointed. "I did most of the carpentry myself," Nixon says with satisfaction, adding, "I'm not a carpenter, but necessity made me do it."

Politics has always interested him. He has been a familiar figure in Montgomery political life many years. He is currently president of the Montgomery Progressive Democratic Association, a political group. He is also a member of the Bethel Baptist Church; a Mason, member of the A. A. Peters Lodge No. 900; an Elk, and always is prominent in civic and welfare drives.

"I have lived in Beat 2 for 24 years," he said.

In Mobile six Negroes are running for places on the Mobile Democratic County Committee. In Birmingham, Atty. Arthur Shores is a candidate for the Legislature. In Tuskegee, a Negro woman is seeking a place on the Macon Educational Board.

But if Beat 2, Montgomery decides Nixon is the best qualified candidate to represent them on this small local committee, news that the Cradle of the Confederacy has so placed its stamp of approval on a Negro citizen, will be a story in Detroit, New York and across the nation.

NOTE:NEGRO CANDIDATES

SPARKMAN VICTOR IN ALABAMA VOTE

Senator Certain of Re-election —'Big Jim' Folsom Wins in Race for Governor

By JOHN N. POPHAM

Special to The New York Times.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 5—Senator John J. Sparkman, nominee for Vice President in 1952, was re-nominated to a full six-year term on the basis of nearly completed returns in yesterday's state-wide Democratic primary election.

In Alabama the Democratic nomination means certain election.

James E. (Big Jim) Folsom, the colorful former Governor and one of the most controversial figures in Alabama politics, won the party's nomination to another four-year term as Governor.

Two of nine Negro candidates for office were successful, both winning seats on the Mobile County Democratic executive committee, the first to win in a Democratic primary in the county's history. The number of Negro candidates was the greatest in Alabama since Reconstruction days.

With 2,593 voting boxes reported out of 2,715, Senator Sparkman received 283,771 ballots to 188,114 for his principal opponent, Representative Laurie C. Battle of Birmingham.

On the same list of returns there were 16,136 votes for retired Admiral John G. Crommelin and 3,941 for William C. Irby, a 75-year-old lawyer.

Wins Clear Majority

Senator Sparkman therefore had a 77,580 majority of all the votes cast. Under Alabama law, where any one candidate fails to get a majority the two top candidates meet in a run-off contest.

Senator Sparkman's candidacy had the support of organized labor and all indications were that the Negro electorate, estimated at some 40,000 registered voters, had backed him solidly. He has a reputation as a political liberal.

Much of the opposition to Senator Sparkman stemmed from intraparty feuding between the Dixiecrats, a dissident faction that broke with the national party leadership in 1948, and the party "regulars," who have hobbled the dissidents with disciplinary action under the leadership of Mr. Sparkman and his colleague, Senator Lister Hill.

The voting pattern in the Senatorial race showed that Senator Sparkman's strength was in the more populous northern section of the state, of which he is a native, and which gave him thumping majorities to offset losses in the southern section, where Dixiecrat sentiment is centered.

The 2,593 voting boxes tabulated late today gave 274,518 ballots to former Governor Folsom and 139,489 to his closest contender, State Senator James Faulkner. Mr. Folsom had a majority of 11,201 votes in the field of seven candidates. He made an unexpected show of strength in the last hours of the ballot reporting to beat off Mr. Faulkner's threat of a second race.

Mr. Folsom was Governor from 1946 to 1950, and was succeeded in office by the incumbent, Gordon Persons. In Alabama a Governor cannot hold successive terms in office.

The gubernatorial campaign largely centered around charges that Mr. Folsom had been involved in financial irregularities when he was Governor. He countered that the charges were "made by my opponents and those lying newspapers."

Negro Candidates Win

The Negro candidates who won in Mobile were Alex Herman, a burial insurance company official, and Clarence H. Montgomery, a barber. They were elected from a predominantly Negro ward.

Four other Negroes seeking similar executive committee posts in Mobile were defeated. A seventh Negro also lost a bid for a similar post in Montgomery, the state capital.

Mrs. Jessie Guzman, the only Negro woman candidate in the primary and a veteran faculty member at Tuskegee Institute, was defeated in her attempt to win memebership on the Macon County School Board. In Birmingham, Arthur D. Shores, Negro, lawyer, ran twenty-eighth among twenty-nine candidates for seven seats in the State Legislature.

Balch Leads By Far In Macon County Race

TUSKEGEE, Ala., May 5 —Macon County Sheriff Preston Hornsby has been reelected by an overwhelming majority. Hornsby polled 2,253. Opponent W. Grady Byson received 908.

Also sucessful in holding his position as tax collector was J. H. Reynolds with 1,329 votes. Emmett M. Sego received 792; Joe Patillo, 604; Henry H. Grimes 482.

In the race for state senator to represent Macon and Bullock's 26th district, Macon County voters gave Sam Englehardt Jr. 1,609. Henry Neill Segrest polled 1,432.

G. O. Bush was winner in the house of representatives race. Bush received 1,194; J. J. Rodger 724; S. H. Stough 547; and W. W. Ruff 586.

Winner in the board of revenue race for District No. 1 was C. A. Huddleston with 1,981. Frank Sego recieved 1,123.

In the second district revenue race F. C. Thompson was top man with 2,030. Richard E. Carr received 1,021.

An overwhelming majority for the board of education post was B. Balch with 2,365 votes. Jessie P. Guzman received 716.

Negro Candidates Running Behind In Alabama Vote

Birmingham, May 6 (AP)—The first Negro to run for the Alabama Legislature since Reconstruction Days lagged far behind his white opponents on the basis of unofficial returns from Tuesday's Democratic primary.

Arthur Shores, veteran Birmingham Negro attorney, was next to last in a field of 20 candidates seeking the seven House seats from Jefferson County, Birmingham.

In another contest almost-complete returns from predominantly Negro Macon County showed Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, the first Negro woman ever to run for office in Alabama, losing out by a 2-to-1 vote in her bid for the County School Board.

Alabama's Negro Candidates Given Little Chance of Win

Bid for Seats in Legislature First Since Reconstruction Days

By FRED TAYLOR

Staff Writer, The Birmingham News
Special to The Atlanta Journal-Constitution

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 13—Does the entry of a half-dozen Negro candidates for public and party offices in Alabama mean that members of the race soon will be able to get elected to such jobs in this state?

Seasoned observers don't think so, unless possibly for minor posts chosen by voters in a few precincts or districts where the Negroes predominate.

Even so, the recent filing of papers by Negroes in four Alabama cities to qualify as candidates in the May 4 Democratic primary election for the Legislature, County Democratic Executive Committee and County Board of Education places marked the first time this had been done since Reconstruction days.

In the years immediately following the Civil War, the Alabama Legislature was made up almost entirely of Negroes and carpetbaggers, as were law-making bodies of other Southern states.

But after the native Democrats regained control of the state government in the post-Civil War days, no Negroes had sought to run for membership in the Legislature until last week. Neither had they sought any other offices.

Attorney First

Arthur D. Shores, 45-year-old Birmingham Negro attorney, who filed as candidate for one of Jefferson County's seven seats in the House of Representatives, became the first. He has been a Negro political leader here for years, although the Negro vote has been comparatively light in Birmingham, in Jefferson County and throughout the state.

Shores is president of the Alabama Progressive Democrats Assn., made up of what he calls "Negro Democrats." He also heads the Jefferson County branch of this organization, and estimates that there are some 10,000 Negro voters in this, the largest Alabama county.

ALABAMA

Estimates of the total number of qualified Negro voters in the state vary from 30,000 to 50,000. No one actually knows how many there are, although Negroes have been voting in Democratic primaries in Alabama for several years. Their vote is actively sought by white candidates in some of the counties.

Heavy registration of new voters since the people of Alabama ratified the two-year ($3) poll tax amendment last Dec. 15 has seen additional egroes qualified. But they have been very much in the minority, with only a few thousand of them included among approximately 125,000 voters' names added to poll lists in recent weeks.

Well over 500,000 ballots are expected to be cast in the upcoming primary. This would be about 100,000 more than voted in the Democratic primary four years ago and about 80,000 more than cast in the presidential election in 1952.

Of the other Negro candidates who have already filed and paid their qualifying fees to enter the primary races, one lives at Montgomery, three at Mobile and one at Tuskegee.

E. D. Nixon, Montgomery, former state NAACP president, qualified for one of the places on the Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee.

At Mobile, Clarence H. Montgomery, a barber; the Rev. Terry M. Batts, a Baptist minister, and Alex L. Herman, head of a burial insurance company, all filed for membership on that county's Democratic committee.

And at Tuskegee, Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, veteran Tuskegee Institute teacher, filed for a place on the Macon County Board of Education. A graduate of Howard University and holder of a master's degree from Columbia University, she has been on the Tuskegee faculty 29 years.

While Negroes running for public and party office is new to Alabama, a number of them have been elected to governmental posts in some other Southern states.

Five Negroes were elected to city councils in North Carolina last year for the first time in those particular municipalities since the Reconstruction period.

Dr. J. E. Walker, first Negro to run for a Memphis office in almost 50 years, polled about one-third of the total vote for a board of education seat in 1951.

Negro Candidates In Alabama

FIVE Negroes are now campaigning for office in the Democratic primary, which is a logical and entirely foreseeable result of the expanding affranchisement of Negro voters.

One of the Negroes, Lawyer Arthur Shores, is running for the legislature in Jefferson County. The other four are running for minor party offices, three in Mobile and one in Montgomery.

The Montgomery Negro, E. D. Nixon, a former state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is running for election to the County Democratic Executive Committee. His name will appear on the ballot only in the Hamner Hall-Washington Park section of the city.

The office Nixon seeks is non-salaried and is purely that of party functionary. Members handle some party funds, rubber-stamp what the state committee does and enjoy the party honor.

Many Alabamians are not aware that there are already a million or so Negro voters in the South (nobody knows the precise number) and in Alabama something like 25,000 to 40,000.

By 1952, Negroes had run for office in more than 40 Southern cities and they won election in such cities as Richmond, the Second Capital of the Confederacy, Greensboro, Nashville, San Antonio and Atlanta.

They are a growing force in Alabama politics, and since at this stage of their political development they are voting in blocs (like Rotarians and labor union members), 30,000 of their votes could easily be decisive in a statewide race.

The same is true of Montgomery County, and all of our city and county officials campaign discreetly but aggressively for their vote, which is proper.

It is natural that Nixon runs for a seat on the Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee. The Republican Party was the party of his fathers, but the c man in America had the indep nce to bolt to the Democratic Party when it bid higher.

The vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee is the able Negro congressman, Bill Dawson. Nixon seeks a similar party office here. He will be on sound ground if he reminds the white Democrats in his district, as he did the day after the 1952 presidential election, that it was only a few hundred Negro votes that kept Montgomery County from going for Ike.

6 Colored Candidates Qualify in Alabama

By the Associated Press

MOBILE, Ala., Mar. 3.—A sixth colored person, the Rev. L. Boykin of Prichard, qualified last night as a candidate for the Mobile County Democratic Executive Committee.

The May 4 Alabama Democratic primary will be the first in which a colored person has sought election to a public office in Mobile County.

All of the colored persons seeking committee posts have white opposition.

STARTING RACE—Atty. Arthur Shores.

Negro Candidates In Alabama

(From The Montgomery Advertiser)

Five Negroes are now campaigning for office in the Democratic primary, which is a logical and entirely foreseeable result of the expanding affranchisement of Negro voters.

One of the Negroes, Lawyer Arthur Shores, is running for the legislature in Jefferson County. The other four are running for minor party offices, three in Mobile and one in Montgomery.

The Montgomery Negro, E. D. Nixon, a former state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is running for election to the County Democratic Executive Committee. His name will appear on the ballot only in the Hamner Hall-Washington Park section of the city.

The office Nixon seeks is non-salaried and is purely that of party functionary. Members handle some party funds, rubber-stamp what the state committee does and enjoy the party honor.

Many Alabamians are not aware that there are already a million or so Negro voters in the South (nobody knows the precise number) and in Alabama something like 25,000 to 40,000.

By 1952, Negroes had run for office in more than 40 Southern cities and they won election in such cities as Richmond, the Second Capital of the Confederacy; Greensboro, Nashville, San Antonio and Atlanta.

They are a growing force in Alabama politics and since at this stage of their political development the yare voting in blocs (like Rotarians and labor union members), 30,000 of their votes could easily be decisive in a statewide race.

The same is true of Montgomery County, and all of our city and county officials campaign discreetly but aggressively for their vote, which is proper.

It is natural that Nixon runs for a seat on the Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee. The Republican Party was the party of his fathers, but the colored man in America had the independence to bolt to the Democratic Party when it bid higher.

The vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee is the able Negro congressman, Bill Dawson. Nixon seeks a similar party office here. He will be on sound ground if he reminds the white Democrats in his district, as he did the day after the 1952 presidential election, that it was only a few hundred Negro votes that kept Montgomery County from going for Ike.

He Breaks The Political Ice

When Atty. Arthur D. Shores of this city qualified as a candidate for the Alabama House of Representatives from Jefferson County, he broke the political ice for the Negro group. Noteworthy is the fact that he has been accepted in a primary which was closed to him in 1942. This reflects in some degree the improved climate of thinking in this state.

In Mobile, at the moment, three Negro candidates and in Montgomery, one, are seeking membership on the county executive committee. It is too early, and our information is too meager, to comment fully on these entries.

Seven members of the House are to be selected from Jefferson County. It is too early for more than the barest comment on the political picture locally for the time being.

Sheer community pride and recognition of the growing political enlightenment in Alabama serve to provide us with encouragement over Mr. Shores' decision to bid for public office. Those who have a deep and healthy concern for democracy and their country and community more and more should offer themselves for public office, it seems to us.

We are glad to congratulate Mr. Shores for becoming a candidate for the Alabama Legislature.

Shores, Civil Rights Champion, In Primaries

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Arthur Shores, 45, an attorney who has figured in several U. S. Supreme Court civil rights cases, has qualified for the spring Democratic primary as a candidate for the Alabama House of Representatives. He is the first Alabama Negro since reconstruction to qualify.

Shores is one of several Negro candidates, including insurance man Alex L. Herman, who is conceded a good chance to win a post on the Mobile County Democratic Committee, and Mrs. Jessie Guzman, a veteran teacher, who is campaigning for a seat on the board of education of Tuskagee, site of famed Tuskegee Institute.

Shores, who received his law degree from the University of Kansas, has practiced here 16 years.

The state political picture, while solidly Democratic in 1952 and expected to be just as solid this time, nevertheless has several new faces, including a vastly increased electorate.

Poll tax reform ratified last December by a huge majority has eliminated the backlog taxes many voters faced when they tried to qualify, and has opened the gates for streams of new ballots.

On the other side of the racial picture, most of the state's eight gubernatorial candidates and record breaking number of legislature candidates have officially pledged to work for continued school segregation.

Alabamans seek offices

Shores qualifies for legislature

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (ANP)—Arthur D. Shores, 42, noted attorney, last week was declared eligible to run in the Democratic primary in Jefferson county for a seat in the Alabama state legislature. He is believed to be the first person of his race to qualify as a candidate here since Reconstruction Days.

A practicing attorney for 16 years, Mr. Shores filed correct qualifying papers with Ben F. Ray, state Democratic chairman, and the papers were mailed to the office of secretary of state in Montgomery.

In Birmingham Shores is president of the Alabama Progressive Democrat association, vice-chairman of the Jefferson County Coordination council and a trustee of Talladega college.

He is a graduate of Talladega and the law school of the University of Kansas.

Four Others File

In other Alabama election news, it was announced that one colored persons in Montgomery and three in Mobile have qualified to seek posts on their local Democratic committee.

In Montgomery, E. D. Nixon, former president of the Alabama state NAACP and local civic leader, had filed for the Dem-Democratic committees.

Alex L. Herman, the Rev. Terry M. Batts and Clarence H. Montgomery are seeking committee posts in Mobile.

Concerning Negroes—

Shores Formally Opens Campaign For Legislature Tomorrow Night

BY W. ARNETT BRYANT
Phone 56-4418

Attorney Arthur D. Shores formally will launch his campaign for a seat in the Alabama Legislature tomorrow night at a banquet and rally at Eighteenth Street Branch YMCA.

Shores is seeking a place in the Jefferson County delegation in the May 4 Democratic Primary.

Atty. Orzell Billingsley, Shores' campaign manager, announced that the campaign staff had been completed. The staff includes Atty. Peter A. Hall, chairman of the strategy committee; Emory O. Jackson, chairman of the publicity committee; Robert F. Coar, chairman of the fund-raising committee; Lawson Tellis, chairman of the budget committee; A. G. Gaston, chairman of the budget and finance committee; Henry J. Williams, Jr. and Lucinda B. Robey, chairman and co-chairman of the get-out-the-vote committee.

According to Billingsley, Shores will discuss his platform at the banquet tomorrow night. He said he would release the full schedule of the candidate speaking schedule at the banquet. Billingsley also stated that "Shores would make an appeal to the whole electorate and that his message would be directed at all of the voters."

Campaign headquarters for Shores are located in his law offices in the Masonic Temple.

States' Rights Leaders Opposed In May Primary Senatorial Race

By GEOFFREY BIRT

Twenty-one more candidates filed qualifying papers for the May 4 primary yesterday—17 of them for legislative seats.

Of special interest were the entries into races for the State Senate by Atty. Robert B. Albritton of Andalusia, and Henry Neil Segrest of Tuskegee.

By qualifying to represent the 17th senatorial district—Butler, Conecuh and Covington counties—Albritton has apparently set the stage for a battle between two States' Rights leaders.

This follows since Rep. Tully A. Goodwin, Florala, also qualified for that Senate seat 10 days ago.

In 1948 Goodwin and Albritton were two of Alabama's 11 electors who cast the state's Electoral College vote for the Dixiecrat presidential ticket of former Govs. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Fielding Wright, of Mississippi.

Colorful Race In 26th

Segrest's candidacy to be the next senator from the 26th senatorial district (Bullock and Macon) may also cause a colorful race.

This year it is Macon's turn to supply the senator from this district, and on Jan. 28 Macon Rep. Sam Englehardt Jr., qualified for this position. Englehardt, son-in-law of veteran Wilcox Sen. J. Miller Bonner, is a big Macon County cotton planter. He is ending his first term in the lower House of Representatives, where he unsuccessfully sponsored a bill to abolish the public school system, in favor of private schools, if the U.S. Supreme Court knocks out segregation in the schools.

Segrest, an attorney, and veteran in the civic and political life of his county and area, is a trustee of Tuskegee Institute, where he is popular.

Skidmore Seeks Renomination

BIG CROWD HEARS ATTY. SHORES IN OPENING DRIVE STATE POST

Citizens in numbers which overran the banquet space set up in the auditorium hall of the 18th Street Branch Y. M. C. A. heard Atty Arthur D. Shores kick-off his campaign for the State Legislature where he can have "a chance to use my talents . . . to serve all the people of (this county and state) for our common good."

He was speaking at a $2.50-a-plate banquet and rally sponsored by his friends. The crowd was so large that the over-flow had to served in rotation as others finished their meals who were seated.

SHORES ON RADIO AND TV SEMICAST FRIDAY NIGHT

Atty. Artnur D. Shores is scheduled to speak in the interest of his campaign over WBRC-TV (channel 6) and WBRC from 6:30 P. M. to 6:45 P. M. Friday night, March 26.

Mr Shores, accompanied by his wife who sat next to him at the guest table was introduced by A. G. Gaston, Sr., local business man. C. J. Greene. insurance executive, served as toastmaster after being introduced by Prof. B. M. Montgomery of Homewood.

Candidate Shores discussed "our school problem" in which he asserted that 'the solution to this problem (is) more money." Others phases of the problem in public education which have become a subject of discussion in the eight-candidate governor's race were not mentioned in the speech.

He said that "we cannot permit our road building program to lag" a s he discussed his ideas of "expenditures for highways" which he said was a matter second to education in importance in this state He can out "compulsory car inspection" which would be subject to "only a small fee."

On the question of juvenile deliquency, Mr. Shores advocated "more recreational facilities" and charged that "The state has barely scratched the surface in providing and equipping state parks and places for recreation." He pointed out that "There is a cause for every delinquent, dependent or neglected child" and insisted that it was the proper way "trying to correct the mistakes through panel institutions." He suggested that "The school grounds could be more adequately equipped to serve the community needs for recreation, after school hours.

Discussing methods for combating "killer diseases" and more assistance for mental institutions Mr. Shores said he would "With the help and advise of the medical profession, I would propose the needed legislation to continue our forward movements in eradicating those diseases on which we already have the know-how."

"Many persons have been dropped from the welfare rolls," Mr Shores said, "because through lack of understanding they failed to comply with some regulation under the new law, which a more enterprising case worker could have easily cleared for him." He pledged "my efforts to correct this situation and to work for a sum (of money) to cover at least the basic needs for our aged and needy."

He said that "present tax structure, with a slight alteration, is sufficient" to yield the necessary revenue to put across such a program. "There is no deficiency in our program that an adequate amount of money would not alleviate." He added that "The chief trouble is that our tax laws are not applied fairly and impartially. Our tax structure in some areas would yield at least half again the amount of revenue it now yields, if everyone in the same category pays his fair share under the existing tax rate. I feel that I would be in a more strategic position than any other candidate to focus attention upon any expenditures and insist upon any economies that would provide additional funds for any other needed projects. There may be some few items that are now exempt from sales tax which could well be covered without adding to our already heavy tax."

STAIN ON LABOR

"Jefferson County is a great industrial center. The needs of both labor and capital must be served. Organized labor has come a long way during the past 20 years, but of late, those not so favorable to labor have been gradually whittling away the gains made by labor, so much so, until the very foundation of labor's right to organize and bargain has been jeopardized. I propose to work for a harmonious labor-management relation and repeal of any legislation which jeopardizes labor's right to organize and bargain collectively.

He came out for helping Alabama capture more industires, new businesses and tourist trade.

Mrs. Gregory Durr White, Ullman High school music teacher, gave the organ prelude with Mrs. Seretha Jackson leading in the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner." The Rev. J Clyde Perry, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church offered the prayer. Henry J. Williams, secretary of the Jefferson County Progressive Democratic Council made a five-minute pep speech with responses coming from H D. Coke insurance executive and Atty. Orzell Billingsley, Jr., campaign manager for Mr. Shores.

Meantime a meeting of the JCPDC is scheduled for 7:30 Thursday night in Masonic Temple.

State Funeral Directors To Hear Shores

TUSKEGEE, Ala.—(SNS)— Atty. Arthur D. Shores is scheduled to deliver the keynote address at the two-day annual convention of the Alabama State Funeral Directors set for April 22-23 at the Propeller Club here.

Assistant Secretary James R Weatherly of York said that there would be a roundtable discussion of: elimination of Sunday funerals; long waits at Veteran Administration hospitals and funerals of veterans, membership on the State Board of Embalming; the Georgia border situation; cooperative purchasing power insurance, cars etc.; price differentials and non-licensed embalmers, new problems.

Other speakers listed by the announcement for opening day include Former Gov. James E. (Big Jim) Folsom, and Dr. T. T. Tilden. There will be a recreational affair at the Elks Club.

Speakers listed for Friday session include Mrs. Clarie C. Harvey, representative of the National F. D. and R. H. Haile, Jr., Southern vice president, Epsilon Nu Delta, Mortuary fraternity. There will be a barbecue at the Elks Club.

ATTY. ARTHUR D. SHORES KICKS-OFF FOR THE STATE LEGISLATURE at a banquet held last Friday night March 19, at the 18th Street YMCA. Seated to the left of him is his wife, Mrs. Theodora Shores. On the right of him is C. J. Greene, manager of the Birmingham District of Atlanta Life, who served as toastmaster.

THERE WERE NOT ENOUGH SEATS TO ACCOMMODATE the outpour of enthusiastic supporters of Atty. Shores who came to hear him launch his campaign for the state House.

Atty. Arthur D. Shores To Make Bid For Votes

Atty. Arthur D. Shores is scheduled to make a bid for votes in his campaign for the Alabama State Legislature with a simulcast over WBRC-TV and WBRC-Radio at 6:30 to 6:45 tonight.

His campaign plans call for his not only using the air lanes but stumping in an appeal for votes from the whole electorate, according to his campaign manager, Atty. Orzell Billingsley, Jr.

Billingsley said that Mr. Shores had been invited to address a banquet and rally scheduled by the Tittusville unit of the Jefferson County Progressive Democratic Council in the South Elyton Civic League at eight o'clock Monday night, April 5, at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church. M. W. Pippen is unit chairman and C. Lewis Price is league president. OCEA's S. J. Bennett is scheduled to serve as toastmaster.

He also announced that Mr. Shores has been invited to speak at the annual "Business On Parade" sponsored by Iota Phi Lambda Sorority at 7:45 o'clock Tuesday night, April 13 at Masonic Temple.

Mr. Shores is scheduled for a radio broadcast over Station WILD at 8:15 p. m. Friday night, April 2 and Wednesday night, April 7. He is scheduled to speak over Station WAPI at 8:30 Wednesday night, April 14 and 9:30 Monday night, May 3. He is speaking over Station WSGN at eight o'clock Thursday night, April 22.

SHORES STEPPING UP DRIVE FOR STATE LEGISLATURE

Attorney Arthur D. Shores, stepping up his campaign for the State Legislature has a full schedule of speaking engagements for the next few days.

He is scheduled to speak at a meeting set for 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, April 18 at Union Bethel Independent Methodist Church pastored by the Rev. T. L. Lane.

Monday night, April 19, he is scheduled for a speech at Adamsville.

The Birmingham-Jefferson County Housewives League is featuring Mr. Shores as a "county-wide mass meeting" scheduled for 8 o'clock on Wednesday night, April 21 at the Thirgood CME Church, pastored by the Rev. L. S. Brannon.

Mrs. Ruth J. Jackson, president of the league said that "The 10 units of the Jefferson County League have pledged their moral and financial support to Attorney Shores through the citizens committee of which A. G. Gaston is treasurer."

She listed unit directors as Mrs S. B. Davis, Birmingham, Mrs. Ida Crenshaw, Frenchtown; Mrs. Estelle Ray, Pratt City; Mrs. Viol Marshall Hooper City; Mrs. Martha Washington, Honeysuckle Hill Mrs. Elizabth Pool, Southside; Mr Cora Fields, Woodlawn; Mrs. Bertha Newell, Sherman Heights.

Howard Scott yesterday announced that Mr. Shores would speak at a "Support Shores Rally" set for 7 o'clock Monday night April 26 at the Metropolitan Community Churh of which the Rev R. W. Hayden is the pastor.

NEGRO SEEKS SEAT IN ALABAMA HOUSE

Special to The New York Times.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 19 —Alabama's first Negro candidate for the Legislature since Reconstructions days is entered in the May 4 Democratic primary.

Arthur D. Shores, 50-year-old Birmingham attorney, is one of twenty-eight seeking the seven House of Representatives seats of Jefferson County. The county's population is about one-third Negro, but its white voters are estimated to outnumber its Negro voters by at least 15 to 1.

Mr. Shores said he had received "encouraging" offers of support from a number of white citizens of the county.

The field will be cut by the May 4 primary and a run-off among the top contenders will be held June 1.

A native of Jefferson County, Mr. Shores is a graduate of Talladega College for Negroes. He received his law degree from the University of Kansas and started practicein Birmingham in 1397. He is a former school teacher and a past vice president of the National Teachers Association. He has been an active member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Carries Campaign to Ala. Voters

Birmingham Man Seeking Seat in State Legislature

Courier p. 10 Pittsburgh Pa Sat 4-3-54

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Seeking a seat in the Alabama State Legislature in the May 4 Democratic primary, Atty. Arthur D. Shores last week began to carry his message to the voters over TV, radio, in newspapers, letters and on the stump.

He has outlined seven radio programs and two TV programs. Mr. Shores is scheduled to speak on the Iota Phi Lambda Sorority's "Business on Parade" program at 7:45 Tuesday night, April 13, at the Masonic Temple.

Courier p. 10

Monday night, April 5, he will deliver a pep speech at a banquet and rally sponsored jointly by the Tittusville Unit of the Progressive Democratic Council and the South Elton Civic League.

Pittsburgh Pa

* * *

CITIZENS, IN numbers which overran the banquet space set up in the athletic hall of the Eighteenth Street Branch YMCA heard Atty. Arthur D. Shores kick-off his campaign for the State Legislature where he can have "a chance to use my talent to serve all the people of (this county and state) for our common good."

He was speaking at a $2.50-a-plate banquet and rally sponsored by his friends. The crowd was so large that the overflow had to be served in rotation as others finished their meals who were seated.

Mr. Shores, accompanied by his wife who sat next to him at the guest table, was introduced by A. G. Gaston Sr., local business man. C. J. Greene, insurance executive, served as toastmaster after being introduced by Prof. B. M. Montgomery of Homewood.

* * *

CANDIDATE SHORES discussed "our school problem" in which he asserted that "the solution of this problem (is) more money."

He said that "we cannot permit our road building program to lag" as he discussed his ideas of "expenditures for highways" which he said was a matter second to education in importance in this. He came out for "compulsory car inspection" which would be subject to "only a small fee."

On the question of juvenile delinquency Mr. Shores advocated "more recreational facilities" and charged that "the state has barely scratched the surface in providing and equipping state parks and places for recreation."

* * *

HE POINTED out that "There is a cause for every delinquent, dependent or neglected child" and insisted that it was not the proper way "trying to correct the mistakes through penal institutions."

He suggested that, "The school grounds could be more adequately equipped to serve the community needs for recreation after school hours."

He said that the "present tax structure, with a slight alteration, is sufficient" to yield the necessary revenue to put across such a program. "There is no deficiency in our program that an adequate amount of money would not alleviate."

He added that "The chief trouble is that our tax levies are not applied fairly and impartially."

* * *

HE CAME out for helping Alabama capture more industries, new businesses and tourist trade.

Mrs. Gregory Durr White, Ullman High School music teacher, gave the organ prelude with Mrs. Seretha Jackson leading in the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

The Rev. J. Clyde Perry, rector of St. Mark Episcopal Church, offered the prayer.

Henry J. Williams, secretary of the Jefferson County Progressive Democratic Council, made a five-minute pep speech with responses coming from H. D. Coke, insurance executive, and Atty. Orzell Billingsley Jr., campaign manager for Mr. Shores.

BANQUET AND RALLY—An overflow crowd turned out to hear Birmingham Atty. Art Shores unlimber the opening salvoes in his campaign to be elected a member of the Alabama State Legislature. Among those present were: left to right, Mrs. Theodora Shores, wife of Atty. Arthur D. Shores (center and speaking), and C. J. Greene, district manager of Atlanta Life Insurance Company, serving as toast master, at a banquet and rally Friday night, March 19, held at the Eighteenth Street Branch YMCA. Mr. Shores is the only Negro candidate among the twenty-nine seeking the seven seats allotted to Jefferson County.

ARTHUR D. SHORES

- Alabama born and Educated Practicing Attorney 15 years.
- Former School teacher and principal.
- Church worker, Civic leader.

CANDIDATE OF ALL THE PEOPLE

Would Appreciate Your VOTE and SUPPORT

Qualified by training and experience to serve the people of Jefferson County and Alabama in the State Legislature.

HEAR ARTHUR D. SHORES

CANDIDATE FOR LEGISLATURE

Series Of Radio Talks

WILD

TONIGHT 8:15 To 8:30

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 7, 8:15 To 8:30 P. M.

WAPI

WEDNESDAY, April 14, 8:30 To 8:45 P. M.

MONDAY, May 3, 9:30 To 9:45 P. M.

WSGN

THURSDAY, April 22, 8:00 To 8:15 P. M.

Vote For (X) ARTHUR D. SHORES For State Legislature

"BE SURE WITH SHORES"

(Pd. Pol. Adv. by Arthur D. Shores Campaign Committee, Birmingham, Ala. Orzell Billingsley, Jr., Chm.) Subject to the May 4 and June 1 Democratic Primary.

VOTE for ARTHUR SHORES

"BE SURE WITH SHORES"

ARTHUR D. SHORES

Meaning:

Arthur D. SHORES

Your Candidate for the Legislature Qualified by Training and Experience to serve the people of Jefferson county and Alabama in the State Legislature . . .

"ALABAMA BORN AND EDUCATED" . . . ATTORNEY AND FORMER SCHOOL TEACHER AND PRINCIPAL . . . "THE CANDIDATE FOR ALL THE PEOPLE" WHO DOESN'T SPEAK IN GLITTERING GENERALITIES ("DECENCY", "PROGRESS"); WHO DOESN'T SERVE ANY SPECIAL INTEREST GROUP; BUT, A CANDIDATE WHO WILL "SERVE ALL THE PEOPLE FOR OUR COMMON GOOD."

PLATFORM:

1. Curbs for Juvenile Delinquency through more Recreational Facilities.
2. More Assistance for the Aged and Needy.
3. More Funds for Public Institutions Caring for Mental and Health Patients.
4. Better Highway Safety Program through Compulsory Safety Examination.
5. Increased Teacher Salaries and Adequate School Facilities.
6. Continued Development of the Roadway Program.
7. Harmonious Labor-Management Relations and Repeal of Any Legislation Repressive to Labor's Right to Organize and Work.

"BE SURE WITH SHORES"

Radio Talks

WAPI . . .
April 14, 8:30-8:45 P. M.

May 3, 9:30-9:45 P. M.
WSGN . . .
April 22, 8:00-8:15 P. M.

(Subject to Action of the Democratic Primary)

(Paid Pol. Adv. by Arthur D. Shores Campaign Committee Birmingham, Ala., Orzell Billingsley, Jr., Chairman).

POLITICS

Atty. Arthur D. Shores, who is seeking a seat in the state House, has a busy speaking schedule. It isn't political speaking but it will keep him talking to the public. He speaks at a banquet sponsored by the South Elyton Civic League and the Tittusville Unit of the Progressive Democratic Council Monday night, April 5 at the Lutheran Church. April 10 he will speak to a group at Fraternal Hall in Westfield. He has been invited to address a banquet sponsored by a section of the RFL state convention in Masonic Temple April 20. He is speaking at nine tonight before the Royal Thrift Club at 1723-24th Avenue No. He is slated for a talk before the Funeral Directors Association at Tuskegee, April 22.

2 Arkansans Qualify For Primary Race

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Negroes have entered two contests in the forthcoming primary election here.

Atty. Wiley A. Branton, 31, of Pine Bluff, has filed as a candidate for state representative from Jefferson county. He will oppose Jess Walth, of Altheimer, and Habis Capel, of Pine Bluff.

President of Branton taxi company, Branton is making his first bid for public office.

In North Little Rock, Roland A. Smith, 35, a grocer, has filed as a candidate for alderman from the second ward.

A member of the Pulaski County Democratic Central committee, Smith will oppose incumbent Ed Skinner and Walter Lenggenhager, an automobile salesman.

Smith said he entered the race because he believes the "city council should have representatives from all groups in the city."

WHITE MAN BACKS NEGRO

Arkansas Minister Claims Matter Of 'Principle'

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Rev. John F. Wilson, a white minister, said Tuesday he's supporting a Negro candidate for alderman here because he thinks Negroes are entitled to a voice in public affairs.

The Methodist pastor announced from his pulpit Sunday that he would vote for Roland Smith as a matter of "principle."

Smith forced incumbent Ed Skinner into a runoff in last Tuesday's primary. Mr. Skinner got 934 votes; Smith 747.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson said personalities are not involved in his decision to support the Negro candidate. He said he is a friend of Mr. Skinner, but has never met Smith.

White Pastor Backs Negro For Alderman

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. —(ANP)— A white pastor has backed a Negro in his campaign to become the first of his race to be elected to the North Little Rock City Council.

Rev. John Wilson said from the pulpit of the Rose City Methodist church last Sunday that he would vote for Roland Smith as a 'calm, casual endorsement of a principle."

The principle is Rev. Wilson's belief that a city with as many Negroes as North Little Rock should afford them more civic representation.

PRIMARY ELECTION

"I feel he could well represent his people and his area," Rev. Wilson said. He said he was speaking of his own vote and was not telling anyone how to mark his ballot in the Aug. 10 primary election when Smith will oppose long-time Ald. Ed Skinner for the Second Ward seat.

Rev. Wilson said he had a deep regard for Skinner and that personalities were not involved in his decision.

"I have not met Smith, and I am not endorsing him individually, but just on the basis of principle," Rev. Wilson said.

During his campaign Smith has said he is not seeking radical changes in race relations, but only trying to insure the city's Negro population fair representation on the council.

White Pastor Backs Negro For Alderman

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. —(ANP)— A white pastor has backed a Negro in his campaign to become the first of his race to be elected to the North Little Rock City Council.

Rev. John Wilson said from the pulpit of the Rose City Methodist church last Sunday that he would vote for Roland Smith as a 'calm, casual endorsement of a principle.

The principle is Rev. Wilson's belief that a city with as many Negroes as North Little Rock should afford them more civic representation.

PRIMARY ELECTION

"I feel he could well represent his people and his area," Rev. Wilson said. He said he was speaking of his own vote and was not telling anyone how to mark his ballot in the Aug. 10 primary election when Smith will oppose long-time Ald. Ed Skinner for the Second Ward seat.

Rev. Wilson said he had a deep regard for Skinner and that personalities were not involved in his decision.

"I have not met Smith, and I am not endorsing him individually, but just on the basis of principle," Rev. Wilson said.

During his campaign Smith has said he is not seeking radical changes in race relations, but only trying to insure the city's Negro population fair representation on the council.

Ark. Pastor Who Aided Negro, Quits Church

Defender Chicago, Ill. Sat. 10-9-54

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. —(ANP)—A white minister who recently urged the election of a local Negro to the city council, last week abruptly tendered his resignation as pastor of the Rose City Methodist church here.

He is Rev. John Wilson, who said he only wished to return to teaching, his former profession. He plans to teach in Philadelphia.

Recently Rev. Wilson became embroiled in a controversy over his support of Roland Smith, Negro candidate, in his unsuccessful bid as a candidate for the city council in the Democratic primary elections.

But Rev. Robert E. L. Bearden, superintendent of Conway Methodist district, pointed out that no "pressure" has been put on the minister because of his support of Smith.

Pastor Who Backed Negro In Arkansas Quits, Heads North

Tri. 10-8-54

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — (ANP) — A white minister who recently urged the election of a local Negro to the city council, last week abruptly tendered his resignation as pastor of the Rose City Methodist church here.

He is the Rev. John Wilson, who said he only wished to return to teaching, his former profession. He plans to teach in Philadelphia.

Recently Rev. Wilson became embroiled in a controversy over his support of Roland Smith, Negro candidate, in his unsuccessful bid as a candidate for the city council in the Demicratic primary elections.

But Rev. Robert E. L. Bearden, superintendent of Conway Methodist district, pointed out that no "pressure" has been put on the minister because of his support of Smith.

MR. AND MRS. FRED W. MARTIN

Defender Chicago, Ill.

Wins City Post In Hot Springs

P. 3 Sat. 11-20-54

Thousands of Chicagoans were overjoyed this week to learn of the good fortune which has overtaken a former city resident and CHICAGO DEFENDER employee, Mary Lewerette Martin. Mrs. Martin is the wife of Fred W. Martin of Hot Springs, Arkansas, who made history in the recent elections by becoming the first member of his race elected to the city council. Running as an independent and defeating two white opponents, Martin will represent the pre - dominantly Negro - populated Second Ward.

As wife of the first Negro alderman in the history of the Southern city, Mrs. Martin automatically assumes an enviable civic and social position as the first lady of the Negro community and looks forward to a busy schedule to aid her husband in his unprecedented job.

Martin, 60, has held official positions in Hot Springs for a number of years and enjoys an immense popularity. Born and reared in Hot Springs, he resides at 326 Grove street with his wife. They have no children, although Martin has a deceased son by a former marriage. A grandson is serving in the navy. The alderman-elect graduated from Langston High school and is a steward of Cottrell Chapel Methodist church.

ONE OTHER IN HISTORY

The only other Negro who has held elective office in Hot Springs, according to local politicos, was elected city judge about 1900, defeating nine white opponents and serving a two-year term.

In a statement to the press, Martin declared: "I am deeply grateful for the way the voters of Hot Springs accepted my candidacy. I shall ever endeavor to do nothing to disrupt the city government, but will work for the improvement of Hot Springs. I think it is wonderful for the people to elect a Negro to have a part in the city government, not because of my race, but because of the recognition as a citizen."

Martin, a Democrat, who has never before sought election, made a clean sweep of all boxes in the Second and Fifth wards and ran close up in several predominantly white precincts.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

Courier

JOE KENNEDY has filed as a candidate for State Assemblyman from San Francisco's Twenty-fourth District. Attorney Kennedy has been endorsed by the Volunteers for Unity. He was accompanied by the Rev. Hamilton T. Boswell, minister of Jones Methodist Church, and Terry A. Francois, 'Frisco attorney, who is Kennedy's campaign manager.

Rev. Boswell, Joseph Kennedy and Terry Francois

In Atlanta, Republican politicians are viewing State Central Committee vice chairman John Wesley Dobbs' nomination of the defeated opponent of chairman Bill Schwartzer as the result of "frustration."

Pat 4-3-54

Crowley, La., will be the first city with elected Negro city officials after April 13. School principal David L. May and Joseph A. Pete, a barber, filed several months ago as candidates for City Council against white aldermen Russell Chachere and Frank Schenkel, incumbents. Chachere died March 18, too late for another candidate to qualify, and last week it was disclosed that Schenkel has withdrawn from the race due to ill health. Thus, it is conceded that May and Pete are virtually elected.

Atty. Arthur D. Shores of Birmingham, Ala., seeking a seat in the State Legislature, is using TV, radio, letters and newspapers to get his message over to the voters.

Pittsburgh, Pa.

A total of eight Negroes are in the running for the May 4 Democratic primary. Two are running for political office and six for party offices. They are Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman of Tuskegee, membership on the Macon County Board of Education; E. D. Nixon, Montgomery, membership on the Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee; Alex L. Herman, the Rev. Terry M. Batts, Clarence H. Montgomery, all of Mobile, and the Rev. L. Boykins (Pritchard, Ala.) are all in the running for the Mobile County Democratic Executive Committee.

In Toledo, Ohio, a new Young Republican Club endorsed Bill Thomas for the Legislature and Jim Rhodes for Governor in its first act.

Bender and Saxbey of Columbus, now running for Senatorial nomination, have been naming managers and state charimen for the last two weeks, but neither has named a Negro on his team.

CORRECTION: Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Clements of Rock Hill, S. C., attended the Democratic Committee's Southern States dinner held in Miami Beach, Fla. The politics column of March 13 said that the Clementses hailed from Rockville, S. C., which was erroneous.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

Pat. 4-10-54

Picture above shows Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman, candidate for Macon County (Ga.) Board of Education, being congratulated by C. G. Gomillion, president, Tuskegee Civic Association after Mrs. Guzman completed initial speech recently.

They're In!

CROWLEY, La.—L. C. Voinche, chairman of the Crowley Democratic Executive Committee, has admitted that Prof. David L. May, high school principal, and Joseph L. Pete, barber shop owner, have virtually won elections to Crowley City Council. Said Voinche: "It was bound to happen. Negro names have been appearing on ballot for years."

Courier

* *

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Congressman George Bender, candidate for the late Bob Taft's Senate seat, did not invite Negro reporters to his press breakfast last week . . . and Saxbe has yet to appoint a Negro to aid his efforts. Both are Republicans. Wonder if they've ever heard of too little . . . too late?

Pittsburgh, Pa.

* *

ATLANTA, Ga.—Georgia Republicans plan to have forty or more candidates for the State Legislature and candidates for Congress in three or four districts . . . especially in Atlanta's famous Fifth . . . in the state-wide elections this fall.

Pat. 4-10-54

City Commissioner!

NOWATA, Okla.—John H. Morgan, a plastering and cement contractor, defeated three white candidates to win the post of city commissioner by a majority of eighty-eight votes. Morgan will serve in the city's predominantly Negro ward.

P. 7

* * *

TOLEDO, Ohio—Why did somebody turn down Negro leaders, who asked to use the Naval Armory for a community affair? Congressman Reams and Senator John Bricker are plenty hot . . . and the saying is . . . "Somebody's gotta go."

* * *

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Richard N. (Dick) Satterfield, former chief deputy of Circuit Court here, has announced his candidacy for county trustee. General election will be held on Aug. 5.

* * *

SULLIVAN, Ind.—(INS)—House-to-house political campaigning apparently is going the way of the old gray mare and the nickel cigar. A local politician confessed he believes he's done himself out of a dozen votes by: (1) Calling at homes in the morning and afternoon and thereby antagonizing housewives who were watching television soap operas. (2) Calling at homes in the evening and antagonizing the family watching TV programs.

* * *

COLUMBUS, Ohio — State Auditor James Rhodes, GOP candidate for Governor, has a good one coming up for Governor Lausche next week. Insiders say it will make the lights really burn in the State House, with faces turning many colors. Money, money . . . who got the money?

* * *

COLUMBIA, S. C.—Wilbert A. Kennedy, local lawyer, is running for the city school board here, and Dr. H. D. Monteith is a candidate for the General Assembly. Monteith is one of a field of seventeen candidates. An intensive registration drive, to last until April 10, is under way.

Politics USA

A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

DURHAM, N. C.—Earl Brown, assistant editor of Life Magazine and New York City councilman, chats with R. N. Harris, first Negro councilman here.

Mr. Brown and Mr. Harris

Brown told an audience at the North Carolina College that it was more significant that the people of Durham elected Harris than his election in New York.

In the question and answer period, Brown called McCarthy a threat to democracy at home and a menace to America abroad. He called the Wisconsin Senator a plague on both the Democratic and the Republican parties.

Courier * P. 7

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—The Rev. Roy Love, president of the Negro Baptist Pastors' Alliance, learned this past week that he was barred by a law (barring ministers) from running for the Tennessee State Senate.

Pittsburgh, Pa.

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Negroes are looking at the record of Governor Lausche's appointments. He appointed 188 judges; up to date one Negro judge who lost his election when he did not support him for re-election.

Pat. 3-27-54

ATLANTA, Ga. — The first question asked of Gov. Herman Talmadge by touring Austrian Government officials last week:

"How are race relations in Georgia?"

He replied: ". . . most amicable."

* * *

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The Rev. W. R. Johnson has announced his candidacy to become a member of the Pinellas Board of Public Education in the May 4 Democratic primary. He is pastor of Stewart Memorial CM Church.

Courier Politics

USA
A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

JOE KENNEDY has filed as a candidate for State Assemblyman from San Francisco's Twenty-fourth District. Attorney Kennedy has been endorsed by the Volunteers for Unity. He was accompanied by the Rev. Hamilton T. Boswell, minister of Jones Methodist Church, and Terry A. Francois, 'Frisco attorney, who is Kennedy's campaign manager.

Rev. Boswell, Joseph Kennedy and Terry Francois

In Atlanta, Republican politicians are viewing State Central Committee vice chairman John Wesley Dobbs' nomination of the defeated opponent of chairman Bill Schwartzer as the result of "frustration."

Crowley, La., will be the first city with elected Negro city officials after April 13. School principal David L. May and Joseph A. Pete, a barber, filed several months ago as candidates for City Council against white aldermen Russell Chachere and Frank Schenkel, incumbents. Chachere died March 18, too late for another candidate to qualify, and last week it was disclosed that Schenkel has withdrawn from the race due to ill health. Thus, it is conceded that May and Pete are virtually elected.

Atty. Arthur D. Shores of Birmingham, Ala., seeking a seat in the State Legislature, is using TV, radio, letters and newspapers to get his message over to the voters.

A total of eight Negroes are in the running for the May 4 Democratic primary. Two are running for political office and six for party offices. They are Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman of Tuskegee, membership on the Macon County Board of Education; E. D. Nixon, Montgomery, membership on the Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee; Alex L. Herman, the Rev. Terry M. Batts, Clarence H. Montgomery, all of Mobile, and the Rev. L. Boykins (Pritchard, Ala.) are all in the running for the Mobile County Democratic Executive Committee.

In Toledo, Ohio, a new Young Republican Club endorsed Bill Thomas for the Legislature and Jim Rhodes for Governor in its first act.

Bender and Saxbey of Columbus, now running for Senatorial nomination, have been naming managers and state charimen for the last two weeks, but neither has named a Negro on his team.

CORRECTION: Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Clements of Rock Hill, S. C., attended the Democratic Committee's Southern States dinner held in Miami Beach, Fla. The politics column of March 13 said that the Clementses hailed from Rockville, S. C., which was erroneous.

Voters Can Protest Issues and Candidates in Primary Elections

By JOHN L. CLARK

Indifferent and uniformed citizens are forced to bear with prejudiced public officials and live under restrictive conditions when they take no protective action in primary elections

People who take no part in primary contests, pass up a decisive opportunity to nominate candidates favorable to their ideals, standards of living and constitutional rights.

Those who vote every four years are inconsistent in the belief that they are giving full support to the man of choice to run the business of the United States Government.

* * *

Any President, Democrat or Republican, must have a favorable Congress in substantial majority of numbers, if he is to redeem his legislative promises.

Congressmen, in the lower branch, are elected every two years.

The Senate, called the upper branch of Congress, is composed of one elected member from each State every six years—unless vacancies occur because of deaths, resignations, or recalls, which are rare.

"The voter for President" goes the limit to elect a favorable Congress for the first two years, but stays away from the polls in the next two-year-election, permitting the opposition to take command of the Congressional majority.

To demonstrate interest in cities, towns, states and the nation, citizens must vote in all elections, regardless of party affiliation.

It is not possible in some states for citizens to pass judgment on candidates in the preliminary stages.

* * *

IN MUCH of the South, Republicans select candidates in state conventions.

Voters in that party are represented by delegates but have no direct voice in approving or rejecting candadates.

That system is partially responsible for low registration of Republicans in the South and apathetic interest in the party.

Democrats, in many sections, follow a policy of "steam-rollinf" their personal choices on election slates without any regard for wishes of the rank and file voter.

Where this practice prevails, Negroes in primary elections have the choice of "voting for the lesser of two evils" when more than one candidate seeks the same office.

Or, they can show resentment by entering a member of their own race and voting solidly for this choice, regardless of the final outcome after votes have been counted.

* * *

THIS RECOMMENDATION, or alternative, amounts to what has been called "bloc voting," a method employed by whites, nationality groups, religious and fraternal organizations all over the United States.

The writer makes no apology for championing "bloc voting."

Democrats and Republicans are battling for control of Congress in this year's elections.

Communism, employment, taxes and the Indo-China war, will be issues but the entire pattern has not been decided on by either party.

Primary elections were held in Illinois on April 13 and in New Jersey on April 20.

* * *

THESE elimination contests continue from May to September and will produce candidates for local and state offices, as well as for the Congress of the United States.

Citizens who failed to qualify to vote in primaries, may register and take part in the final contests on Nov. 2 (except in Maine where general elections are held on Sept. 3).

As a service to Courier readers, dates for primaries and deadlines for registering before the general elections follows.

Primary Date	General Election
April 13, Illinois	Oct. 4
April 20, New Jersey	Sept. 23
May 4, Alabama	Oct. 23
May 4, Florida	Oct. 2
May 4, Indiana	Oct. 4
May 4, New Mexico	Oct. 4
May 4, Ohio	Sept. 23
May 18, Pennsylvania	Sept. 11
May 21, Oregon	Oct. 2
May 29, North Carolina	Oct. 23
June 8, California	Sept. 8
June 1, Nevada	Sept. 27
June 1, South Dakota	Oct. 25
June 7, Iowa	Oct. 22
June 21, Maine	Sept. 13
June 28, Maryland .. Baltimore,	Sept. 17
Rest of State,	Oct. 2
June 29, North Dakota	(?)
July 6, Oklahoma	Oct. 22
July 13, South Carolina	Oct. 2
July 13, Virginia	Oct. 2
July 20, Montana	Sept. 17
July 24, Texas	(?)
July 27, Louisiana	Oct. 2
Connecticut	Oct. 9
Delaware	Oct. 16
July 27, Arkansas	(?)
Aug. 3, Michigan	Oct. 4
Aug. 3, Missouri ..	Varies thruout State
Aug. 3, West Virginia	Oct. 2
Aug. 5, Tennessee	Oct. 13 to Oct. 23
Aug. 3, Kansas	Oct. 12 to Oct. 22
Aug. 7, Kentucky	Sept. 3
Aug. 10, Idaho	Oct. 30
Aug. 10, Nebraska	Oct. 22
Aug. 17, Wyoming	(?)
Aug. 24, Mississippi	Sept. 14
Sept. 7, Arizona	Sept. 27
Sept. 8, Georgia	Runoff Sept. 29
Sept. 14, Massachusetts	Oct. 1
Sept. 14, Minnesota	Oct. 12
Sept. 14, New Hampshire, Cities,	Oct. 23
Sept. 14, New York	Oct. (?)
Sept. 14, Utah	Oct. 22
Sept. 14, Vermont	(?)
Sept. 14, Washington	Oct. 1
Sept. 14, Wisconsin	Oct. 20
Sept. 20, R. I. Democrats	Oct. 2
Sept. 29, R. I. Republicans	Oct. 2
Sept. 14, Colorado	Oct. 18

GENERAL

Democrats capture record number of assembly seats

Afro-American Baltimore Md.
Sat. 11-13-54

CHICAGO (ANP) — Chicago and New York led the nation with the number of colored candidates who took office.

Fred (Duke) Slater (D.) was re-elected as judge of Chicago's municipal court. George Barnes (D.) was also elected to the court.

In the state senate race, Fred J. Smith (D. 3rd) was elected to succeed C. C. Wimbish. Rep. Corneal Davis (D) was re-elected to the state house of representatives from the First district, while James Y. Carter won in the Third.

Democrats Charles M. Skyles and Kenneth Wilson were re-elected from the Fifth district. Republicans William H. Robinson and Ernest A. Greene won, bringing the number who will go to Springfield to seven.

— o O o —

IN NEW YORK, colored Democrats running for office in the boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx and Brooklyn were swept into office in one of the worst Republican defeats in the state's history.

In one of the quietest campaigns in Harlem in years, Democratic candidates swamped Republican hopefuls.

From the 21st district race for state senator, Democrat James Watson beat John A. Ross, 42,932 to 13,780. For the assembly from the 11th district, James C. Thomas (D) whipped Albun Martin 12,166 to 2,525.

The first colored woman to hold office in the state assembly is Democrat Bessie Buchanan who polled 21,575 to her opponent, Lucille Rickett's 5,737 votes.

Other results showed Kenneth Phipps (Dem.) polled 2,415 votes while his opponent Walter Gumbs picked up only 243. Over in the Bronx, republican James Webb registered 2,345 but 16,772 voted for his opponent, Walter Gladdin.

In the Sixth district, Joseph B. Williams' 3,159 failed to stop Bertram Baker who tallied 9,562 votes.

WHILE NEW YORK and Chicago election large number of colored candidates to public office, others were also setting unprecedented records around the country.

A bathhouse attendant was elected to the Hot Springs (Ark.) city council to become the first of his race to sit on the council in modern political history.

Fred W. Martin best out two white candidates to win the council seat in the Second ward.

Unofficial returns gave Martin 2,834 notes, incumbent Alderman O. O. Miles, 2,559 and Ralph Wright 2,284. Another colored aldermanic candidate, Raymond Tweedle, lost in the Fifth ward by more than 2 to 1 to councilman Lonnie Freeman.

— o O o —

IN OHIO, Democrat Frederick Bowers was re-elected to the Ohio house of representatives for the third time. Bowers ran in Marion county where Dayton is located.

A 42-year-old attorney, William N. Thomas, was defeated in Toledo on his second try for state representative to the assembly.

The first of his race ever to receive Republican nomination for any office in Lucas county, he finished eighth in a field of 10 seeking five seats from the county to the house of representatives.

His defeatt was attributed by observers to the fact that he failed to pile up solid votes in predominantly colored wards which normally vote Democratic.

IN ST. LOUIS, Jordan W. Chambers, Democratic committeeman and boss of the powerful 19th ward, was re-elected constable of the Third district over Republican Leonard Brown, 11,675 to 3,337.

John W. Harvey, Democratic candidate for magistrate of the same district defeated Ellis Outlaw.

In Kansas City, Kan., Cordell D. Meekes was re-elected second district country commissioner in a Democratic sweep which brought success to the entire ticket.

Meeks won by 800 votes over his opponent, James Cox, in a district almost equally divided between white and colored voters. Both Meeks and Cox are colored.

In the only other race involving colored candidates, Democrat Dr. Eldrew Browne had apparently won over Republican incumbent Myles C. Stevens in the Eighth district representative race for a seat in the Kansas legislature.

A recount was due as Browne was leading by less than 100 votes, with counting still going on late last week.

Stevens was author of the Fair Employment Practices bill which passed in the last legislative session.

— o O o —

CONTINUING on the victory trail with colored candidates, in Los Angeles, Augustine Hawkins was elected to the city assembly. A Democrat, he was unopposed for his seat as no Republican candidate ran in the district.

Another candidate's outcome was still in doubt. Lucious Lomax Jr., publisher, Los Angeles Tribune, was trailing Republican white incumbent, G. Delbert Morris, 10,112 votes to 12,815 with 150 out of 249 precincts reporting in a race for the state assembly.

Elsewhere around the nation, colored candidates, although in general making good showings, failed to win.

In Indianapolis, a colored lawyer, for the first time ran for the judgeship of superior court and ran a close second to his Republican opponent.

He is Mercer Mance, former juvenile court referee here.

Atty. I. L. Harden, on the same ticket, was defeated in his bid for a chair in the state house of representatives.

The lone colored candidate in Tulsa, Okla., C. L. Johnson, lost in a bid for justice of the peace. Johnson, running as a Republican, lost in the overall balloting 29,571 to 22,778.

— o O o —

IN LOUISVILLE, Ky., Rev. Daniel J. Hughlett, candidate for the Louisville board of education, ran a distant fourth in a four-man race for three positions. He tallied only 9,515 votes while the third ranking white candidate picked up 19,245.

In two other large cities, colored candidates failed to win major offices.

Atty. Laurence H. Banks from Ward Nine and Atty. Harry Elam from Ward 12, running on the Republican ticket, failed to capitalize on the re-election of Republican Gov. Christian A. Herter.

Banks was beat by 2,055 votes although he was the only colored candidate for the office of state representative in the predominatly colored ward.

Elam was defeated in a curious campaign in which Jewish merchants who openly supported him were in turn boycotted by their customers. One merchant was almost put out of business.

In Philadelphia, five were returned to the setate assembly. All Democrats, they are: Susie Monroe, Samuel Floyd Granville, E. Jones, J. Thompson Pettigrew, and Sarah A. Anderson.

Young Loses In Ohio

CLEVELAND (NNPA) — The twenty - first Congressional district, which Republicans have been seeking to wrest from the Democrats by running a colored candidate, remains in Democratic hands.

Charles A. Vanik, who defeated Representative Robert Crosser in the Democratic primary, was victorious in Tuesday's election over Francis E. Young. Mr. Vanik polled 76,317 votes to 24,043 for Mr. Young.

Colored voters here also were handed two jolts when the veteran State Senator, Harry E. Davis and the veteran Municipal Court Judge Perry B. Jackson went down to defeat.

Davis, a Republican, had served in three previous legislatures and was unusually popular with colored voters. With six State Senators being elected from Cuyhoga County, Davis ran eighth, polling 169,872 votes. The winners were all Democrats.

Clayborne George also was defeated for judge of the Juvenile Court. He ran third in a five-man race, polling 97,853 votes against the winner's 125,906.

Judge Jackson was beaten by John J. Mahon, who polled 187,529 votes to 179,628 for Jackson.

Five Negroes Running for U.S. Congress

Courier Pittsburgh Pa.

WASHINGTON—A possibility of two more Negroes being elected to congressional seats in major metropolitan districts was seen this week as the nation prepares to go to the polls next Tuesday in an all-important election.

Sat. 10-30-54

In Detroit, State Senator Charles Diggs Jr., a Democrat, stands an excellent chance of being elected to Congress as the first Negro to represent Michigan in Washington.

In Philadelphia, Beverly Carter, popular public relations expert, is getting tremendous backing in his bid for election to Congress on the Republican ticket.

Also running, in Cleveland, is Francis Young, Republican nominee, who is given little opportunity to defeat his Democratic opponent.

Incumbent Congressman William Dawson of Chicago finds himself in a heated race with Genoa Washington, strongest Republican opponent to face the Democratic incumbent in recent years.

The Rev. Adam C. Powell seems to have things his own way in New York City and is expected to be re-elected without any difficulty.

Negro Candidates Fail To Win In Boston And Philly

Baltimore Md.
Sat. 11-6-54

New York, Nov. 10.—(DSN)—In two large cities where Negroes are concentrated, colored candidates failed to win major offices. Negro candidates for state office from Boston failed to get enough votes from wards 9 and 12 to secure election.

Atty. Harry Elam from ward 12, running on the Republican ticket, failed to capitalize on the re-election of Republican Gov. Christian A. Berter.

Banks was beat by 2,055 votes although he was the only Negro candidate for the office of state representative in the heavily populated predominately Negro ward.

Elam was defeated in a curious campaign in which Jewish merchants who openely supported him were in turn boycotted by their customers. One merchant was almost put out of business.

In Philadelphia, the Negro candidate for congress, W. Beverly Carter, was defeated by Earl Chudoff.

Sat. 11-20-54

However, five Negroes were returned to the state assembly. All Democrats, they are: Susie Monroe, Samuel Floyd Granville, E. Jones, J. Thompson Pettigrew, and Sarah A. Anderson.

Political observers here commented that although the results were in many instances disappointing, the election and running of Negroes in certain sections of the South and border states was heartening.

Michigan sends one

Afro-American Baltimore Md.
Sat. 11-6-54

- Charles Diggs, new member, is only 32
- Bill Dawson, A. C. Powell re-elected

WASHINGTON

For the first time since the Reconstruction Era, at least three colored representatives and perhaps four, will take their seats when the first session of the new 84th Congress convenes in January.

The newest addition is expected to be 32-year-old Charles C. Diggs Jr., of Michigan's 13th District in Detroit.

Political forecasters were unanimous in predicting Diggs' election, pointing to the fact that the District, comprised of about half colored and half white voters, has consistenely sent Democratic candidates to Congress for the past 25 years.

— o O o —

DIGGS WAS opposed by Landon Knight, son of the newspaper magnate and publisher of the influential Detroit Free Press.

The fourth possible colored member of the House of Representatives is Beverly Carter Jr., a Republican, seeking election from Pennsylvania's Fourth District in Philadelphia.

Carter, formerly city editor of the Philadelphia AFRO, was given only a 50-50 chance to unseat Chudoff, a long time proponent of Federal FEPC legislation.

— o O o —

THE TWO other Congressmen, virtually assured of re-election are the veteran Democrats, William L. Dawson of the First District, Illinois, in Chicago and A. Clayton Powell Jr., of New York's 16th Congressional District.

Mr. Powell's Republican opponent, Harold Burton was given no chances whatsoever to unseat the dynamic and popular Mr Powell. Powell also was opposed by Formington L. Taylor, who was the Liberal Party's candidate.

So confident of re-election was Chicago's Bill Dawson, he didn't bother to campaign against his Republican opponent, Genoa Washington.

— o O o —

DAWSON, WHO is vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, during the campaign was delivering speeches just about everywhere but his home district, helping Democrats less sure of victory in other states.

Only in Michigan was the racial issue raised against the four Congressional candidates. Landon Knight sought to inflame voters in the 13th District against Diggs because of his color.

Diggs, who served four years as a Michigan State Senator, before aspiring for the Congressional seat, is the son of a wealthy Detroit undertaker.

Mr. Diggs attracted nationwide attention last summer when he purchased a fleet of six new air-conditioned Cadillac limousines at an estimated cost of $40,000.

A Third Congressman

For 10 years, Negroes have boasted of two United States Congressmen, one from Illinois and the other from New York. Last week's election gave us a third member of the House. In January, Michigan will send Charles C. Diggs to Washington to join William L. Dawson and Adam Clayton Powell.

Diggs' victory was a sensational one. In defeating the son of the publisher of Detroit's greatest daily newspaper, the Free Press, he demonstrated the power of the Negro vote. Diggs is no novice in politics, having served in the Michigan state senate since 1951.

Though young in years, he is well seasoned and will not have to go through "growing pains" when he gets to Washington. He should be able to plunge right in and make a mark as a freshman congressman.

Congratulations to the voters of Michigan's 12th district in electing a man like Diggs to represent them. First Illinois, then New York and now Michigan. Which state will be the fourth to send a Negro to Congress? Missouri, at St. Louis, has tried several times but has not quite made it. Perhaps in another two years, the Show-Me state will come through. We doubt that it will be another 10 years before some state produces a fourth congressman.

For the first time since Reconstruction, there will be three Negroes in the House of Representatives, when the 84th Congress convenes in January.

Youthful Charles J. Diggs of Detroit, will begin his freshman term in the historic session along with veterans William L. Dawson of Chicago, and Adam Clayton Powell of New York. All three are Democrats.

In addition to returning to the capital for his seventh term, Congressman Dawson will again take over the chairmanship of the committee on Expenditures in the Executive department, as the Democrats reorganize Congress.

CONG. POWELL

CONG. DAWSON

Democratic victories across the nation saw New York elect its first Negro city judge, six other Negroes were elected to the legislature by Democrats, and one won on the Republican ticket.

In Hot Springs, Ark., Fred Martin made history by defeating two white candidates for the post of alderman of the second ward. Baltimoreans elected two Negro state representatives, the first in 68 years.

Liberial Chicagoans, white, Negro, Jewish, Japanese-American and Puerto Rican joined to re elect Cong. Barratt O'Hara. His opponent, Richard Vail had campaigned on racial and religious prejudice.

Charles J. Diggs Wins In Detroit

HEADED FOR CONGRESS is Charles C. Diggs, jr., (right) shown here with his family in their Detroit home. Diggs soundly defeated Landon Knight, jr., son of Publisher John Knight, for a seat in the U. S. House of Representatives. With him in photo are (left to right) Denise, Alexis, Mrs. Juanita Diggs, and Charles III.

Negro candidates for the state legislature from Shelby county (Memphis), Tenn., ran far behind their white opponents on the Democratic ticket. Sen. Estes Kefauver polled a higher vote in Negro districts than did Benjamin Hooks, T. L. Spencer and William Weathers, who were seeking state office. They are Republican.

Bids by two Negroes to be elected to the Louisville, Ky., Board of Education failed at the polls. So did the campaign of Atty. Louis P. McHenry of Paducah.

Congressman Diggs, a member of the Michigan legislature himself, is the son of a former State Senator. He is the first Negro to be elected to Congress from his state.

Only 33-years old, Cong. Diggs is a member of one of Detroit's leading families, and has been active in politics and business circles for all of his adult life.

Congressman Dawson, 68, is probably the most powerful Negro in the country, politically. His district embraces Chicago's heavily populated 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 20th wards, including the famous "Loop" business and shopping district.

Often a target for attack by the metropolitan press, he is the spiritual leader of the city's Negro population, and spokesman for them in the national party councils.

Congressman Powell, who will begin his sixth term, is the New York counterpart of Dawson, but does not wield his power. A striking figure and moving orator, he is also pastor of Abbysinnia Baptist church in Harlem.

New Yorkers who were swept to victory along with Powell and Judge Dickens are James Watson, state senator, Mrs. Bessie Buchanan, Walter H. Gladwin, James C. Thomas, Kenneth M. Phipps, and Bertram Baker.

Chicago returned four Negroes to the legislature, and elected three new assemblymen. They are State Senator Fred J. Smith, and Assemblymen Corneal Davis, Ernest Greene, William Robinson, James Carter, Kenneth Wilson and Charles Skyles.

Judge Fred "Duke" Slater and County Commissioner Edward Sneed were also re-elected by Chicagoans.

Michigan State Sen. Cora Brown was reelected, and Reps. Charline White, George H. Edwards, Frederick Yates and Hiaram McNeeley, were also returned to office. Wayne County Coroner Samuel Milton was reelected. All are Democrats.

Mrs. White and her disc jockey husband, Leroy, recently won acquittal of charges growing out of the FHA investigations.

The two Negroes elected to the Maryland House of Delegates are Truly Hatchett, 62, Democratic real estate man, and Emory H. Cole, 60, a Republican lawyer. A third Baltimorean, 33-year-old Harry R. Cole, lost his bid for a seat in the legislature by a 38 vote margin. He is seeking a recount.

Maryland rejected two white supremacy candidates to reelect Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin and State Sen. Edward Turner.

In Ohio, Democrat Frederick Bowers was reelected to the House of Representatives for a third term. He ran in Marion county, where Dayton is located. William N. Thomas lost a similar bid in Toledo.

Jordan W. Chambers of St. Louis was relected constable of the third district. John W. Harvey was elected magistrate of the district. Both are Negro.

Kansas Citians reelected Cordell Meeks as a county commissioner. A recount loomed in the contest for the legislature between Myles C. Stevens. Republican incumbent and Dr. Eldrew Browne, Democrat. Borne had a 100-vote lead.

In Los Angeles, Augustine Hawkins was elected to the city assembly.

Beverly W. Carter lost his bid for a seat in Congress from Philadelphia, but five judges, all Democrats, were returned to the state legislature. They are: Susie Moore, Samuel Floyd, Granville D. Jones, J. Thompson Pettigrew, and Earah A. Anderson.

Politics

USA — A COURIER EXCLUSIVE

ATLANTA, Ga.—According to gubernatorial candidate M. E. Thompson, racial segregation will be the main plank tossed about in the coming campaign. This means racism, ugly utterances, will reach new high. Talmadge, who can't succeed himself, has said race segregation issue will be main theme of election. From past records, Talmadge will be pitching for candidate who talks harshest and influences most county unit votes.

* * *

CLEVELAND, Ohio — The Holly-for-Congress campaign is waxing hot. Our information is that disc jockey Bill Hawkins and radio commentator Rey Gillespie have spurred vote registration. Registration has increased 16,600 over '53 and on last day, 80 per cent of registrants came from city's thickly populated Negro sector.

Meanwhile, Jean Capers, councilwoman, in copyrighted article, has charged Holly with selling Negroes down the river . . . saying he's in race to beat Crosser, Twenty-first District Democrat Congressman. What next!

* * *

NEW ORLEANS, La.—A two-party system may be on way here. GOP entered candidate in last week's mayoralty election for first time since 1930. He polled 11,793. Democratic Mayor deLesseps S. Morrison got 50,408. But . . . there are only 2,700 local voters registered as Republicans. Where did 9,000 votes come from?

* * *

CHICAGO—Illinois goes to polls this week . . . and Genoa Washington will oppose Bill Dawson for Congress in November. Negroes can nominate two Negroes for post of County Commissioners—Golden B. Darby and Dr. John Feaman—and four people are battling for Charles Jenkins' seat in General Assembly. Other posts also at stake.

Put. 4 - 17 - 54

TOLEDO, Ohio—With less than a month to go, the drive for nomination of William N. Thomas as GOP candidate for State Representative has moved into high gear.

Thomas, an attorney, is one of five GOPers endorsed by Lucas County organization for post. He's been busy speaking to groups of all races . . . and has vital and active support of Mrs. Florence Morris, GOP national committeewoman from state. Mrs. Morris tells audiences: "Attorney Thomas did not seek candidacy . . . the party sought him." No Negro has ever been elected to Legislature from this city.

* * *

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Negro leaders Fay Jackson and Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins are actively campaigning for James Roosevelt in his campaign for Congress for state's Twenty-sixth District.

Political Pot Boils

Holly Loses in Ohio; 50,000 Vote in Ala.

CLEVELAND, Ohio — The stunning defeat of John Holly in his bid for Congress in the city's Twenty-first District . . . the nomination of a Negro Republican, Francis E. Young, for the same position, and the nomination of five other Negroes for state offices on GOP slates throughout the state . . . highlighted Ohio's primary campaign last Tuesday.

Significant indeed is the fact that every Negro who ran for office on the Republican ticket (six in all) won out and will go into the general election; while every Negro who ran for nomination on the Democratic ticket (three in all) lost out.

Holly's defeat, in particular, has angered Negro voters, who are murmuring the time-worn alibi . . . "double-cross." Perhaps there might be some truth to this statement, but the fact remains that Negro voters themselves are largely responsible for Holly's defeat.

HOLLY HIMSELF, as president of the Future Outlook League, had fought for years to open the doors of economic opportunity for Negroes in the city.

Democrats claimed 16,000 registered Negro votes in the Twenty-first District. All of the churches in the district supported Holly. He had the support of the pres . . . and Governor Lausche himself had declared for the fighting Holly.

But the 6,463 votes Holly received (Vanick (white) polled 8,400 and Crosser (white) the incumbent got 7,910) tell their own story.

* * *

ON THE other side of the ledger, Senator Harry Davis (Republican) was re-nominated; Francis Young will run on the GOP ticket from the same district where Holly was beaten and Judge Perry B. Jackson was nominated for election to a higher judicial post. All of these nominations were in Cleveland, and they give the Republicans a potent weapon in the November elections.

Elsewhere in the state, Bruce McClune was re-nominated for State Representative from Cincinnati; Fred Bowers runs for State Representative from Dayton and William N. Thomas won out for State Representative from Toledo, Ohio . . . marking the first time a Negro has been nominated from that city. A Negro, Rupert A. Stokes, running for the same post on the Democratic ticket, was defeated.

* * *

MOBILE, Ala. — With 50,000 Negroes going to the polls in this state last Tuesday, two of nine Negro candidates for various offices, emerged victorious.

Winners were Alex L. Herman and Clarence R. Montgomery, who were elected to the Mobile County Democratic Executive Committee. Four other Negroes lost out.

Because of the heavy Negro voting, polling places here and in Birmingham remained open for several hours after closing time. Voting machines were used for the first time.

Put. 5 - 15 - 54

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Atty. Arthur D. Shores, first Negro to run for the State Legislature, polled 4,015 votes to run twenty-eighth in the twenty-nine-candidate race.

* * *

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — Mrs. Jessie P. Guzman was trailing her white opponent in the contest for membership on the Macon County Board of Education. She polled 657 votes. B. I. Balsh (white) polled 1,356 votes.

* * *

MOBILE, Ala.—Jesse Thomas, vice president of the Alabama State Federation of Labor, ran third in Ward 12 in losing a three-candidate race for membership on the executive committee. He polled 172 votes. Opponents polled 319 and 309.

* * *

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—E. D. Nixon lost his bid for membership on the Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee by less than 200 votes. He polled 812 votes to 1,016 by J. W. Carrett, his white opponent. Nixon polled 300 white votes; there being only 600 registered Negro votes in Beat 2.

NAACP OFFICIAL DENIES LINK WITHPOLITICS IN GA. AND MISSISSIPPI

Not Policy To Endorse Any Political Party, Sec. Says

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (INS) — An official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People denied Saturday that the organization is giving money to political candidates in Georgia and Mississippi.

Mrs. Ruby Hurley, Southeastern Regional Secretary for the NAACP said the statement was issued to refute charges that the group spent large sums of money to aid certain campaigns."

She said the charges had been made in both Georgia and Mississippi.

Her statement said in part:

"Every branch and unit of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is well aware of our policy.

"Everyone else who has real knowledge of the association knows that we do not endorse candidates. We do not endorse any political party.

"We do not spend any money in any political campaign. It takes more money than we can raise to pay the cost of winning freedom which is rightfully ours under the laws of God and our country."

She added:

"Any statements by local candidates to the effect that the NAACP is in any way supporting another candidate is either a deliberate falsification to confuse the voters of evidence or woeful lack of knowledge."

The secretary also charged that efforts have been started to run the NAACP out of the state (of Mississippi) as was promised by the winner of the senatorial nomination and several of the legislators."

She added:

"We have had numerous complaints about threatening telephone calls and visits by white persons to our branch offices in several sections of Mississippi, but although the Negroes are terribly annoyed they are not frightened as they might have been a few years ago."

Welcome revolution

Southern candidates, who had hoped to make political capital out of the Supreme Court's school decision, have been caught short.

In primary after primary, proof has been offered that the former sure-fire cry of white supremacy surprisingly has lost its magic.

Tennessee has just offered the most striking example.

Pat Sutton, seeking to unseat Senator Estes Kefauver, pulled out all of the stops in his effort to ride into office on a platform of bigotry.

After accusing Kefauver of being against segregation, Sutton pledged that if he were elected, he would secure enactment of a constitutional amendment preserving segregation in the face of the court's ruling.

The accusation and the pledge went for naught.

Senator Kefauver, refusing to be stampeded, pointed out as a fact that the highest court had made its decision and expressed hope that all law-abiding citizens would obey.

The voters chose Senator Kefauver by more than two to one.

Senator Alton A. Lennon was soundly trounced by North Carolina voters after he had conducted an old - fashioned, race-baiting campaign against former Governor W. Scott Kerr.

Gov. Allen Shivers discovered that even Texans have become too smart to be distracted by the race issue.

His loud and labored flailing of the Supreme Court's decision backfired so badly he failed of nomination and has been forced into a runoff election.

Earlier in the spring, Alabamans summarily rejected impassioned appeals of his opponent to prejudice by sending Senator John Sparkman back to Washington for another term.

Rejoicing is clearly in order.

The fact that men of principle and good-will can now survive the onslaughts of unprincipled demagogues is a welcome revolution in the South.

It is a significant trend that could spell political suicide for the Byrneses, the Eastlands, the Talmadges and others of their ilk who would again lead the South down the blind alley of anarchy.

F.C.C. Bars Discrimination In Political Broadcasting

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (UP).— The Federal Communications Commission ruled today that radio and television stations cannot discriminate against any political candidates and must charge them commercial advertising rates.

Because of the imminence of the November Congressional elections, the commission said the new rules are effective immediately rather than after the normal thirty-day waiting period.

Spokesmen for both the Republican adn Democratic National Committees said everyone was satisfied with the new regulations. They said the rules apparently will give all candidates a "fair shake" as far as radio and TV time is concerned.

Discrimination Charged

The regulations apply to AM and FM radio stations and TV outlets. They govern the charges such stations may make for political broadcasts. There have been scattered charges of discriminatory rates in the past.

The rules state that no station, in making time available to candidates for public office, "shall make any discrimination between candidates in charges, practices, regulations, facilities or services." Furthermore, stations must charge candidates no more than they charge commercial advertisers for similar time and use of facilities.

The new regulations state that rates charged all candidates for the same offic be uniform and shall ... rebated by any means, direct o. indirect."

Equal Terms

If discount privileges are offered to commercial advertisers, the same privileges shall be available on equal terms to all candidates for public office.

The rules also provide that no station can make a contract or agreement "which shall have the effect of permitting any legally qualified candidate for any public office to broadcast to the exclusion of other legally qualified candidates for the same public office."

The commission regulates the practices of radio and TV stations and has the power to suspend a company's license if it abuses its authority or violates F. C. C. rules.

34a(2) 1954

GEORGIA

The Ocilla Outrage

The shocking incident in which two brothers, Curtis and Ernest Davis, well known business men of Ocilla, have reportedly been threatened and shot at while in the car of policemen should receive more than passing notice.

Press reports have indicated that one of these brothers, Ernest Davis had paid the fee as qualification requirements for entry as a candidate for city council in Ocilla.

Filing for running on Monday, Davis was visited that night by two men, one in police uniform and the other in plain clothes. One of these men expressed great disfavor at Davis' entering the race and finally shot at the candidate.

At any rate, the brothers managed to get away to safety and Davis' wife later withdrew his qualification fee.

This outrageous situation, in which the only offense committed was the dare to run for public office, which is the right of any qualified citizen, must not be bypassed nor compromised.

Not under any circumstances should the right to vote or run for office be compromised. These are the rights of every citizen and in his peaceful pursuits of these rights the law should not wink at molestation.

Ours is a free government of a representative nature, and the citizens at the polls should be the only arbiters as to who should or should not run for and obtain office.

When any interference whatever is countenanced, there is removed a basic fundamental upon which the whole organism of our Democracy rests.

To allow the civil rights of a citizen to be openly violated, with no efforts of redress, the flood gates are opened for the same visitation upon any citizen.

As has been said, the right to vote and the right to run for office cannot be compromised. Such would rout the whole of our Democratic procession, with our good offices at home and abroad being thrown into jeopardy. Those outside of the law will have the invitation to come in and seize from organized authority, the sanctity of the law and carry on in the fashion that made Phenix City gain such a rating that it has been called "The city of sin."

This outrage should be investigated and proper action speedily and vigorously taken by both state and federal officials. If reports are correct, both state and federal laws have been violated.

Shot at by Policeman

Bows to Ga. Terror, Quits Council Race

OCILLA, Ga.—Ernest Davis, local businessman was forced out of the race for City Council last week after his family underwent a "night of terror" and being shot at by a man he described as a uniformed policeman.

Davis, a contractor and dry cleaning shop operator, posted his $5 entrance fee for a post on city council after consulting white officials and citizens.

He was told that they had no objections to his race,

BUT, SHORTLY after midnight of the same day, Davis reported two men in a police car, one of whom was dressed in a policeman's uniform, visited the Davis' house and ordered him and his brother, Curtis, to get into the automobile.

Davis reported that the man in the uniform told him "things had gone as far as they could go" then he was going to kill Davis "if he went to hell for it."

The uniformed man pulled out a pistol and fired into the backseat, Davis said, "the bullet going between me and my brother."

The brother of Davis jumped out of the car and ran across a field, the contractor said.

* * *

AT THIS time the driver of the car scuffled with the uniformed man for the pistol and told Davis to get out and go into the house.

Davis said he left the car which drove off a few minutes later then returned and "kept going back and forth in front of the house all night long." The Davises spent a night of terror.

Mayor Claude McNeil and police officials denied any knowledge of police intimidation of the candidate.

The intimidated candidate's wife withdrew the $5 fee without offering an explanation.

* * *

DAVIS TOLD reporters that his purpose in entering the race "was a hope that something might be worked out in harmony about this transition through which we are going as a result of the U. S. Supreme Court integration ruling and other matters that might concern my race."

The contractor expressed belief that his rights had been intruded upon.

A World War II veteran, Davis is a graduate of Ocilla Industrial High School. Five of his brothers also served in the armed forces.

According to registration officials, there are some four hundred Negro voters and 500 white voters in Ocilla.

Located in South Georgia, Ocilla is the seat of government in Irvin County.

Race-Segregation Backer Wins In Georgia

Griffin Supports Plan Advanced By Talmadge

Atlanta, Sept. 9 (AP)—Lieutenant Governor Marvin Griffin, exponent of the Talmadge white-supremacy political philosophy, was a landslide winner of Georgia's Democratic nomination for governor.

Leaving eight others in the field far behind, the 47-year-old Bainbridge newspaper publisher won nearly 300 of the state's 410 county-unit votes in yesterday's ballot-box test.

President Eisenhower has set up his own "F.E.P.C." covering $30,000,000,000 worth of work on Government contracts, David Lawrence says on the Editorial Page.

The unit votes, distributed among the counties on a basis of two for each representative in the Legislature, go to the popular-vote leader in each county and decide the winner.

Assured election in November in the one-party state, the Governor-nominate planned after a short rest to take the stump for a so-called private-school amendment proposed by Governor Herman Talmadge as a way of keeping racial segregation in the schools.

The amendment, to be voted on in the November election, would permit the State to aid pupils individually instead of supporting public schools. Its exponents hold that the children could then attend segregated private schools without court interference.

In tabulation of returns from 1,450 of 1,810 precincts, Griffin amassed 184,187 popular votes to 125,915 for M. E. Thompson, a former acting Governor.

Senator Richard B. Russell and seven of 10 United States representatives were renominated without opposition. Representative James C. Davis of the Fifth District, made up largely of metropolitan Atlanta, beat off an energetic challenge by Morris Abram, attorney and Rhodes Scholar.

Representative W. M. "Don" Wheeler of the south-Georgia Eighth District trailed Georgia's leading woman politician, petite and vivacious Mrs. Iris Blitch.

Soliator General John J. Flynt, Jr., Griffin, a former legislator, apparently had captured the Fourth District seat left vacant by the death of Representative A. Sidney Camp.

Ernest Vandiver, Jr., 36-year-old nephew by marriage of Senator Russell and Talmadge politically, easily won the lieutenant-governor nomination.

Associated Press Wirephoto

THE WINNAH! . . . Governor Herman Talmadge, right, raises the hand of Lieutenant Governor Marvin Griffin, winner of Georgia's Democratic primary for governor.

'Night-Ride' Terrorism Hits Ocilla Council Candidate

Daily World
Atlanta, Ga.

OCILLA, Ga. — (SNS) — Ernest Davis, a contractor who qualified to run for city councilman in this South Georgia town, had his $5 qualifying fee quietly withdrawn yesterday after being terrorized by two white men, one of whom he described as a uniformed policeman.

Sat. 10-13-54

The "night of terror" was also experienced by his family and brother, Curtis Davis, after the two brothers were taken from their homes Monday night.

The contractor entered the race for the city council Monday after consulting white officials who told him they had no objections. However, two men in a police car forced the two brothers in the car shortly after midnight, Davis told reporters.

Continuing, he said they got into the back seat and "the man in uniform told me things had gone as far as they could go. He said he was going to kill me if he went to hell for it."

FIRED PISTOL

Then, the uniformed man pulled out a pistol and fired into the back seat, "the bullet going between me and my brother," Davis added.

Davis said his brother, Curtis, "jumped out of the car and ran across a field. The driver of the car scuffled with the uniformed man for the pistol and told me to get out and go into the house."

The car left the house for a few minutes Davis said, "but returned to the house and stayed a long time."

The automobile "kept going back and forth in front of the house all night and my family and I spent a night of terror," he reported.

Mayor Claude McNeil expressed knowledge of Davis' qualifying and withdrawing from the race, but averred he had no plans for calling an inquiry of the city council on the alleged violence.

Davis quoted the police chief as saying that the officers were not authorized to act in such a manner and that an inquiry would be made.

However, Police Chief Reid Barrineau said he did not believe police were involved in the incident, because "none of the official cars had a bullet hole" in the rear seat.

Daily World

City Clerk A. G. Young stated Davis' wife withdrew her husband's name and collected the $5 qualifying fee without giving an explanation.

Atlanta, Ga.

Apparently, it is quite possible that Davis would have been elected to the city council if his name had been left in the race. There are approximately 400 Negroes and 500 whites registered in Ocilla.

Lamenting the incident, Davis said he believes his rights have been "intruded upon, but I do not hold the city council responsible. They told me I had a right to run if I wanted to."

Sat. 10-13-54

In addition to his contracting business, Davis operates a dry cleaning establishment. He graduated from the local high school.

Thompson To "Open Doors, Hide No State Secrets" If Nominated

An "open door" policy will be in effect at Georgia's capitol if Melvin E. Thompson is nominated in the September 8 primary. The former acting governor has pledged "no state secrets will be kept from you" if I am elected.

Thompson insists that "Each week a day will be set aside so that any and every Georgian who comes to the Governor's office may see me without a prior appointment."

He said, in regard to state services:

Atlanta

"There is no way to have an adequate educational program, good roads, welfare and health services agriculture and labor departments and all other services without collecting taxes to pay for them.

"The need for increased services is obvious. We must meet it. At the same time, I know that the state budget can be balanced without any new taxes..."

Thompson re-affirmed previous statements that he intends to continue a separate state-supported public school.

SCHOOLS NOT ONLY PROBLEM

"Maintenance of our present school system, however, is far from the only problem facing the next governor of Georgia. Economic issued are of extreme importance. Farm prices have fallen. Unemployment is above normal. In Georgia, we must take every means to restore prosperity. We must get every possible share of federal funds including relief for today's withering drought and drought-prevention for the future.

"We must continue to expand and support such projects as the REA and look after the needs of old folks and dependent children whose income from welfare funds has not risen in proportion to the rise in the cost of living."

Marvin Griffin meanwhile lashed out at liquor interest. He charged Fred Hand with soliciting the support of an alleged Atlanta liquor baron.

Griffin said his first official act as governor will be to "prohibit advertising liquor in newspapers, radio, television and billboards.

He repeated the charge that he is the only candidate that can be trusted to maintain segregation and the county unit system.

Fred Hand at the same time was outling his platform as being for "segregated public schools, a business-like administration, a purging of racketeers, and no new taxes.

Charlie Gowen lashed the "School of Politics" seeking to recapture control of the state government.

He urged the public not to return to office men "schooled in the arts of asphalt, liquor racketism contract negotiating, pardoning and political pie cutting.

34a(2) 1954

GEORGIA

Thompson Is Runner-Up; Gowen Rates Fourth In Tabulations

With the incomplete state-wide returns available at midnight last night Marvin Griffin was leading in the gubernatorial contest. M. E. Thompson was running second and picking up strength in the late hours.

The figures were: For Griffin, 105,613 popular votes and 248 County Unit votes; Thompson, 70,526 popular votes and 68 County Unit votes. The candidate ranking third was Fred Hand, with 42,779 votes. Candidate Charles Gowen was in fourth place at press time.

Thompson led Gowen in some of the Negro precincts in Atlanta with a margin of about four to one.

Candidate Gowen was the first to send congratulations to Mr. Griffin and pledge his cooperation with him.

Congressman Davis was leading Morris Abram in both DeKalb and Rockdale County on the unit basis he seems renominated.

S. Ernest Vandiver led decisively in the race for Lieutenant-Governor with W. B. Barrett, William T. Dean and John W. Greer trailing.

In addition to the governor's race, Georgians went to the polls to nominate a U. S. senator, 10 representatives and numerous other state and local officials in yesterday's Democratic Primary election. Those nominated by a record turnout of voters are virtually assured success in the November general elections.

TWO MAN RACE

Former Acting Gov. M. E. Thompson and Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin had prophesied that it would be a two man race between them despite the strong backing given Fred Hand by Atlanta newspapers.

Both Thompson and Griffin had described, Tom Linder, Mrs. Grace Thomas, Charles Gowen, Ed Barfield, Ben Garland and Arthur Neeson as "splinter candidates."

The governor's race was marked by claims of Talmadge support as Griffin, Hand and Linder jumped on the bandwagon of Gov. Herman Talmadge, who was ineligible to succeed himself, by his failure to specifically and unqualifiedly endorse his successor brought charges and counter charges, name-calling and mud-slinging with plenty of liquor thrown into the contest.

CONG. RENOMINATED

Congressmen renominated without opposition were Prince H. Preston, J. L. Pilcher, E. L. Forrester, Carl Vinson, Henderson Lanham, Phil M. Landrum and Paul Brown

Morris Abram was the major opponent against Incumbent James C. Davis, two men sought the seat of Don Wheeler and three candidates were in the race for the seat of the late A. Sidney Camp.

U. S. Senator Richard B. Russell had no opposition.

Gov. Thompson was the leading anti-Talmadge candidate having come up through the ranks as a school teacher, school superintendent, revenue commissioner and governor. Also alligned against the Talmadge machine was Glynn County representative Charlie Gowen, opposition floor leader in the house where he has served for 15 years.

Allied in the pro-Talmadge ranks were Agriculture Commissioner Tom Linder, who came up the political ladder with Gene Talmadge, Gov Marvin Griffin who started with Ed Rivers then served with Gov. Ellis Arnall before teaming up with young Herman in 1948, and House Speaker Fred Hand, who lined up with Herman in 1947, in the two-governor battle.

Yesterday's primary was the first major election in 28 years in which no Talmadge was running for office But the Talmadge name played a part in Georgia voting since Eugene Talmadge first appeared as a candidate for commissioner of agriculture in 1926.

Yesterday's election race was the third for Thompson. He opposed Young Talmadge in 1948 and 1950.

Early predictions of a record turn out among Negro voters began to fade in the late election hours. At 4:10 P. M., Poll Manager George J. Avery reported only 1,000 of a possible 3,100 voters had visited the Forest Avenue School.

OUT OF TOTAL

At David T. Howard high voters were slowed by the lack of pencils. Poll workers said early arrivals had taken all available pencil. M. Randy Dodd reported only 950 out of a total of 3,200 voters had shown up.

Balloting at the Walker Street was a mere drizzle throughout the day. Of a possible 505 voters only 200 voters had been counted at 5.05 P. M.

H. S. Murphy, poll manager at the University Home Library was enthusiastic over the 1,000 or more voters who had been tallied.

R. O. Johnson, poll manager at E. R. Carter school reported 922 voters had been counted through 6 P. M.

The University Homes Library gave the bulk of its votes to Former

Associated Press wirephoto

Gov. Herman Talmadge, right, raising the hand of Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin yesterday in victory sign.

Talmadge Man Wins In Primary

ATLANTA, Sept. 9 (AP).—Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin, a supporter of Gov. Herman Talmadge's plan to abolish Georgia's public schools if necessary to preserve segregation, today won this state's nomination for Governor.

M. E. Thompson, Mr. Griffin's nearest opponent in a race featuring nine gubernatorial candidates, had clung all night to the hope that he would pick up enough votes to meet Mr. Griffin in a run-off election. But at 11:40 a. m., Mr. Thompson said: "It is apparent that Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin has won the election. I am making a personal call to him to extend my congratulations and offer my co-operation."

Returns from 1,491 of the state's 1,893 precincts gave Mr. Griffin a probable 296 county unit votes. In this state, the candidate who gets most of a county's popular votes gets all that county's unit votes. It takes only 206 unit votes for victory.

In popular votes, Mr. Griffin had 183,019; Mr. Thompson, 119,292; Fred Hand, 63,987; Charles Gowen, 61,134; former Agriculture Commissioner Tom Linder, 58,481; Mrs. Grace Thomas, 5,652; Ben Garland, 2,120; Edmund Barfield, 587, and Arthur Neeson, 435.

Under state law, Gov. Talmadge could not succeed himself.

Gov. Talmadge and Mr. Griffin last night began celebrating their Democratic primary victory, which is tantamount to election in heavily Democratic Georgia. Mr. Griffin's campaign camp was a boisterous collection of Talmadge supporters.

Gov. Talmadge said Mr. Griffin will "pick up the torch" of his segregation program. The plan includes setting up a private school system in the state if necessary to maintain the color line.

The Lesson Of The Primary

Incomplete results in yesterday's Primary are pretty much what we expected except in two respects. First, we are frankly surprised at the strength demonstrated by Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin, although we were aware that he was considered the strongest candidate of the present state administration. Second, we are frankly surprised at the extent to which candidates Gowen and Mrs. Thomas drew votes that would have otherwise, perhaps gone to Former Gov. Thompson. Yet, from the Atlanta precincts in which the registrants are predominently Negroes, Mr. Thompson, carried them by a margin of over four to one. This indicates most of our readers saw the campaign and the top issue just as we saw them. We congratulate them upon their political acumen.

Another significant revelation of this primary is the extent that racism still plays in a gubernatorial election. Our big objective was to try to defeat it. Governor Talmadge's comment on how he voted should be a tip to our readers. He said he voted for "his strongest friend." It is obvious who that friend is. That is a statement that should be carefully considered.

To defeat racism we are going to have to put up a solid racial vote. That is the only answer. The members of our race who oefected to two other candidates who drew their strength mainly from voters who would have gone to Mr. Thompson should take careful note, especially the leaders.

In a later issue we shall give a careful analysis of this campaign and we believe it is going to be revealing and provide helpful advice that our people can use in the future.

Folsom Overwhelmingly Elected As Governor

Despite a vigorous 67-county campaign, Dixiecrat Tom Abernethy, GOP candidate for Alabama governor, lost to Democratic James E. (Big Jim) Folsom overwhelming last Tuesday here.

Incomplete unoffocial returns gave Folsom 170,811 to Abernethy's 65,864.

Abernethy lost the support of the Lincoln Republican Club when he injected the race issue into the campaign.

An estimated 30,000 Democrats split the ticket in support of Abernethy.

Negro Republican leaders indicated that they merely passed over Abernethy's name but did not support the Democratic ticket.

It is believed that the bulk of Negro votes in Alabama went to the Democratic ticket.

Race Question Is Big Issue In Georgia Vote Wednesday

ATLANTA, Sept. 4 (AP).—Georgia will vote on a successor to Gov. Herman Talmadge and nominate a United States Senator and 10 Representatives in a state Democratic primary election Wednesday.

United States Sen. Richard B. Russell and 7 of the state's 10 Congressmen have no opposition.

Democratic nomination virtually assures election in this one-party state.

Terms of all state officials are four years and only the Governor is ineligible to succeed himself.

Except for segregation, the campaign has developed no issues of national interest. Since Georgia went safely Democratic in 1952, there has been no party loyalty question raised.

Eight men and one woman are locked in a bitter campaign for the nomination to succeed square-jawed, cigar-smoking Talmadge, the South's most outspoken foe of the United States Supreme Court decision striking down public school segregation.

Integration Big Issue

Once again in this state of rural political domination, the race question has been made a major issue. And in the current campaign, the fires have been fanned by the stark reality of the ruling outlawing separation of races in schools.

Also, the pardon, liquor and highway scandals of past administrations, with which all major candidates have had some connection, have been thoroughly aired.

Only Mrs. Grace Wilkey Thomas, Atlanta lawyer, Sunday school teacher and grandmother, is campaigning on a platform that calls for compliance with the Supreme Court ruling. She is expected to poll only a scattered vote.

The eight men are pledged to preserve school segregation by one means or another. They are former Gov. M. E. Thompson, who twice unsuccessfully opposed Talmadge; Lieut. Gov. Marvin Griffin and House Speaker Fred Hand, Talmadge legislative lieutenants; Agriculture Commissioner Tom Linder, one-time protege of the late Gov. Eugene Talmadge; State Rep. Charles Gowen, antiadministration leader in the Legislature; Ben Garland, Ed Barfield and Arthur Neeson.

Talmadge, who also won two years of his father's unexpired term and is completing six years in office, has publicly taken no active part in the campaign. But his proposed constitution amendment which would permit operation of private schools, if necessary to maintain segregration, has been an issue. And he has been credited with supporting Griffin.

Political veterans see the possibilty that none of the nine candidates for governor will get the required majority of county unit votes. That would necessitate a runover between the two top contenders September 22.

Only a plurality of county unit votes is required for nomination to other state offces.

Georgia's county unit system gives a county two unit votes for each member it has in the state House of Representatives. The candidate getting a plurality of popular votes in a county gets the county's entire unit vote.

Although based on representation, the system is so weighted that it gives political domination to the 121 small rural, or so-called "two-unit," counties. The eight largest, with nearly 14 percent of the population, have six unit votes each. The next 30 largest have four unit votes each.

500,000 Expected to Vote

Voting will be from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. (EST) under general state law, but many counties have local acts setting up different hours. In Fulton County (Atlanta) the polls will remain open until 8 p. m. There are 1826 precincts in the state.

Generally, estimates are that the total vote will be 500,000 to 600,000.

Congressmen who will be renominated without opposition are Prince H. Preston, J. L. Pilcher, E. L. Forrester, Carl Vinson, Henderson Lanham, Phil M. Landrum, and Paul Brown. James C. Davis and Don Wheeler have two opponents each, and three seek the nomination to succeed the late A. Sidney Camp.

The other state offices at stake are lieutenant governor, attorney general, comptroller general, secretary of state, treasurer, superintendent of schools, labor commissioner, two public service commissioners, commissioner of agriculture, two supreme court justices and four court of appeals judges.

"Must Play Fair, Provide Equal Education," Thompson

Former Acting Gov. Melvin E. Thompson said he wants it "understood that we must play fair with the Negro people. He said if elected in the Sept. 8 primary, he would provide "not only separate, but good schools for Georgia Negroes."

Thompson outlined a program that while maintaining separate schools would guarantee that schools for the races would be of the highest standards and staffed with trained personnel which would insure a first class education.

Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin went on record as the only candidate running for the Georgia governorship who "has consistently upheld Gov. Herman Talmadge's hand."

Griffin in praising Talmadge charged that the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation "is tyranny in its rankest form" and said he would call out the state patrol and militia to maintain segregation.

NAACP SUPPORT CHARGED

He accused Former Acting Gov. Melvin E. Thompson of having the support of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People and said that opposition of Hand and Linder to Talmadge's amendment "is nothing more than a veiled pledge of allegiance to the NAACP."

Harking back to 1942 when the two broke with the late Eugene Talmadge, Griffin said "the hands of Linder and Hand which plunged Ellis Arnall's dagger deep into the back of Eugene Talmadge in 1942 are again this year seeking to plunge the Arnall dagger into the back of his son, Gov. Herman Talmadge."

Fred Hand reviewed the political record of Griffin and repeated his promise to "go to jail" to maintain segregation.

Hand also charged that Thompson is supported by the NAACP and exhibited a copy of a pardon Griffin signed for himself while executive secretary to Gov. E. D. Rivers.

Mr. Gowen threw bouquets at [illegible] campaign, which he said was "really rolling."

He said his 26-hour talkathon in Atlanta convinced him the governorship can't be bought and predicted the people will elect him.

"SPECIAL INTERESTS"

Gowen charged that special interests are backing Griffin and Thompson in an effort to take over the Highway, Revenue and Purchasing departments.

On the other hand, Thompson continued to brush off the attacks of his opponents. Saying the help of every Georgian will be needed to carry out his program, he predicted "we will get help even from those who are a little cross with me now."

To achieve a balanced budget he proposed (1) collect taxes that are due the state, and (2) reduce spending by promoting efficiency and economy and by eliminating duplication of efforts and services.

In addition, Thompson said "we can't pass a law against bad weather but we can and must and will do all we can to help prevent future droughts as well as to bring relief to those affected by them."

9 GEORGIANS RACE FOR GOVERNERSHIP

8 in Wednesday Primary Say They Can Maintain Racial Segregation in State

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Sept. 4—Eight of Georgia's nine Gubernatorial candidates have promised in one way or the other to maintain racial segregation in the State's public schools in their bids for the voters' favor in next Wednesday's Democratic primary election.

The ninth, Mrs. Grace Wilkey Thomas, Atlanta Sunday School teacher and grandmother, is calling for compliance with the Supreme Court's anti-segregation ruling.

The Gubernatorial race, with one of the largest fields of candidates in history, has overshadowed other contests, since Senator Richard B. Russell and seven of Georgia's ten representatives are without opposition.

Regarded as front-running candidates for Governor are M. E. Thompson of Valdosta, former acting Governor; Marvin Griffin of Bainbridge, present Lieutenant Governor; Fred Hand, Pelham merchant and Speaker of the Georgia House of Representatives; Tom Linder of Hazlehurst, Commissioner of Agriculture, and Charles Gowen, Brunswick lawyer and member of the Georgia House of Representatives.

Talmadge Is Silent

Other Gubernatorial candidates are Edmund F. Barfield of Atlanta, Ben Garland, Jackson attorney, and Arthur H. Neeson of Gwinnett County.

Both Mr. Griffin and Mr. Hand have been top lieutenants of Gov. Herman Talmadge. Mr. Talmadge has not publicly endorsed any candidate, but he has been reported as privately supporting Mr. Griffin. Mr. Hand has repeatedly emphasized that the Governor has stated he would not endorse any candidate.

Governor Talmadge cannot succeed himself under State law.

Mr. Thompson, along with Governor Talmadge, were the key figures in Georgia's two-Governor controversy of 1947 after Mr. Talmadge's father, Gov.-elect Eugene Talmadge, had died before taking the oath of office.

Mr. Thompson contended he was legally the Governor because he was Lieutenant Governor-elect. Mr. Talmadge based his claim on having the second-largest number of votes for Governor in the general election in which his father had been elected.

The Georgia Supreme Court decided in favor of Mr. Thompson. Mr. Talmadge defeated Mr. Thompson in the 1948 election and again in 1950.

Mr. Griffin has campaigned on a platform plank to abolish the public school system in Georgia's 159 counties if and when the Supreme Court ruling is enforced. He proposes to establish a system of State-subsidized private schools, as advocated by Governor Talmadge.

Mr. Hand has repeatedly said he could maintain segregation without abolishing the public school system. He has stated segregation could be kept intact in Georgia through budgetary control and has promised to go to jail rather than sign any check for the spending of state money for racially mixed schools.

Linder Favors Censure

Mr. Linder's plan for maintaining school segregation calls for giving citizens a choice of attending segregated or non-segregated schools. He suggested taking a census of Georgians on what type of school they wanted their children to attend.

Mr. Gowen has called for a law empowering local school superintendents to designate schools and classes to which pupils would go, thereby maintaining segregation by assigning white students to one school and colored students to another.

Mr. Thompson, who has drawn fire from several of his opponents as being the candidate of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has said school segregation could be maintained under present Georgia laws that prohibit the spending of tax money on "mixed" schools.

A survey among Georgia's Negro voters brought claims that Mr. Thompson, Mr. Gowen and Mrs. Thomas would take most of the state's 150,000 Negro votes. Dr. Robert Brisbane, a Georgia Negro leader, said there would be no "bloc" voting among the Negroes.

Runoff May Be Needed

If none of the nine candidates gets a majority of the state's 410 county unit votes, a runoff will be held between the two top contenders Sept. 22.

The county-unit system employed in Georgia specifies that each county shall have two unit votes for each member it has in the State House of Representatives. [illegible] entire unit vote str[illegible] a county goes to the cand[illegible] getting a plurality of popular votes.

The unit system is strongly weighted in favor of Georgia's 121 small rural counties with two unit votes each. Each of the State's eight largest counties, including Fulton (Atlanta) with almost 14 per cent of the State population has six unit votes. The next thirty larg[illegible] counties have four unit votes.

Congressional campaigns are being waged in the Fourth, Fifth and Eighth Districts.

In the Fifth, comprising heavily-populated Fulton and DeKalb Counties, and rural Rockdale County, Representative James C. Davis is opposed by Morris Abram and Wyman C. Lowe, both of Atlanta.

The contest in the Fourth District is for the House seat of the late Rep. Sydney Camp. Candidates are William Trotter, John Flynt and Frank Adamson.

Representative W. M. (Don) Wheeler is opposed in the Eighth District by Mrs. Iris Blitch, a member of the Georgia General Assembly, and W. A. Wraggs.

A total of 1,200,000 Georgians are registered to vote in Wednesday's primary.

GOWEN GETS NEGRO GROUP ENDORSEMENT

Only 'Small Fringe', Atlanta Leaders Call Organization

Gubernatorial candidate Charles Gowen Saturday received the endorsement of the State Organizing Committee, a statewide Negro group which claims a following of 100,000 Negro voters.

But other Negro leaders in Atlanta disclaimed the announcement, saying the Organizing Committee speaks for only a "small fringe" of Negro voters.

Other Georgia political stories on pages 6, 7A and 1F.

The Gowen endorsement was only one major development in a politically sizzling week end. Other happenings:

* * *

1. CANDIDATE TOM LINDER said it is now too late for any official to endorse a candidate for governor. Mr. Linder, in an obvious though non-specific reference to Gov. Talmadge, said "the people know" a great deal about the candidates by now, and won't be influenced by endorsements at this stage.

2. FRED HAND dismissed Candidate Marvin Griffin as a "dead candidate." Speaking to a big crowd in Moultrie, Mr. Hand also cited what he called "proof" that the NAACP is backing Thompson. He waved a document which he said was a letter from the NAACP giving instruction to Thomasville Negroes on how to vote. They were told to vote for Thompson, Hand charged.

* * *

3. MR. GRIFFIN, also talking to a big crowd in Americus, said that a vote for any of the other Talmadge candidates is a vote "thrown away." He urged the voters to get together behind him.

* * *

4. M. E. THOMPSON in Rochelle confidently predicted his own victory. He hit efforts of Mr. Griffin to get all the Talmadge vote behind the Griffin candidacy as the efforts of a "frantic" man.

* * *

5. CHARLES GOWEN at Sandersville charged that Georgia will have at least two governors if either Mr. Thompson or Mr. Griffin is elected.

He said former governors Ellis Arnall and Ed Rivers would share the governor's chair with Mr. Thompson, and that Gov. Talmadge would be sitting alongside Mr. Griffin.

Meanwhile, in the meeting of the executive committee of the State Organizing Committee in Atlanta, officials of the committee predicted that the group's recommendation will be accepted by "not less than 80 per cent of the state's Negro population."

* * *

THE COMMITTEE hailed Mr. Gowen for his "long clean record in the Legislature."

Atlanta Negro attorney A. T. Walden, reached at his law office, differed with the committee. He said that "it can speak for only a small fringe of Negro voters."

* * *

ATTORNEY WALDEN took issue with the committee's statement that it was the "only working political organization among Negroes in the state."

He said the organizing committee was formed by J. M. Atkinson, a Brunswick friend of Mr. Gowen, and a few other "former members of our association."

Mr. Walden heads the Georgia Assn. of Citizens Democratic Clubs.

* * *

THE OFFICERS of the committee endorsing Mr. Gowen include J. H. Calhoun, Atlanta, and the following district leaders: Mr. Atkinson, Brunswick, chairman; V. W. Hodges, Atlanta, vice chairman; T. B. Hooper, Macon, secretary, and Daniel Young, Monroe, treasurer.

The various district chairmen are: J. M. Gaynor of Savannah, District one; Joe E. White of Cairo, District two; E. G. Jenkins of Columbus, District three; Edward Worthy of Thomaston, District four; C. W. Greenlea of Atlanta, District five; J. [illegible] Clayton of Macon, District six; F. W. Harper of Rome, District seven; J. T. McLean of Douglas, District eight; Austin C. Brown of Gainesville, District nine, and C. H. S[illegible]yons Jr. of Athens, District 10.

* * *

ALL THE CANDIDATES were delivering Sunday punches Saturday as the next-to-the-last-week of campaigning ended.

Practically all the major candidates were claiming the race lies between them and somebody else and predicting victory.

Mr. Griffin said Georgians are not going to waste their votes on "any of the decoy candidates" he said were put in the race by the Atlanta newspapers and professional politicians.

And again he called Mr. Linder a "splinter candidate."

At a big rally in Gainesville, Mr. Linder shucked his coat for more "fodder pulling" and observed to the throng:

"One of the candidates has called me a splinter candidate. Well, this is some splinter here this morning."

Mr. Linder, in his comment on talk about who will endorse who, apparently was also aiming at reports that a friend of his might come out for Mr. Griffin in an effort to help beat Mr. Thompson.

Griffin supporters [illegible] enue Commissio[illegible] Redwine might [illegible] inent political fig[illegible] come out for Mr. Griffin.

Mr. Redwine, [illegible] ed as personally co[illegible] tenant governo[illegible] the governor for an hour Friday and commented later:

"I'll do whatever it takes to beat M. E. Thompson."

Fred Hand leveled some heavy blasts at Mr. Thompson. He pulled "a case from the files of the [illegible]te Highway Department" to back charges that Mr. Thompson negotiated highway contracts during his term as acting governor.

Mr. Thompson said he has a "bandwagon really rolling" and that his "frantic" opponents won't be able to stop it.

Mr. Hand's campaign manager, Roy Harris, jumped into the affray with a statement from his Atlanta headquarters.

Mr. Harris said Mr. Griffin's supporters are "frantic" because they have discovered "that his campaign from one end of this state to the other has collapsed."

Ben Garland, another candidate for governor, called for those who want to close package stores for liquor sales to "rally to the bone-dry referendum plank" in his platform.

He spoke on a Macon radio station, where he said he understood a petition to dry up Bibb County was being circulated.

Candidate Thomas Says She Is For Democracy

To The World Editor!

A few days ago a letter from my headquarters appeared in the Atlanta Constitution concerning the publicity being given my candidacy I wrote this letter because the newspapers were failing to quote my statements and the merits of my platform, and were simply classifying me as the anti-segregation candidate and completely ignoring me otherwise. A lady does not like being ignored.

In order to clear up any false beliefs or misconceptions emanating therefrom, I wish to state sincerely and emphatically my position. I believe that God created all men in his own image and that "God is no respecter of persons." (Chapter 10 Acts of the Apostles) As a lawyer I am trying to appeal to REASON rather than PREJUDICE and EMOTION. I am also appealing for justice. I sincerely believe in all of the principles expressed in my platform and the principles expressed in our great Constitution. Our U. S. Constitution was founded on Christian principles for the benefit of all men regardless of race, color or creed and there is no race, creed, or hatred in my platform. Georgia was one of the framers of our great Constitution. Legally — our Constitution means what the U. S. Supreme Court says it means.

American demagoguery aids communism. I have not changed my position. I think it is morally wrong and is a disgrace to the intelligence of our people for political campaigns to be conducted by race baiting tactics.

I want us to have REAL DEMOCRACY in Georgia. This can only be accomplished through UNITY under the Constitution of our great nation, with a re-evaluation of spiritual values. All men were created in HI Simage. Realizing this great fundamental TRUTH, and through unity of all of our people we can strike a deadly blow to communism in Georgia and throughout the world.

GRACE WILKEY THOMAS Candidate for Governor

EDITOR'S NOTE: We carried a rewrite story from candidate Thomas' previous statement disclaiming that she was the anti-segregation candidate because we considered the statement news worthy since by inference she had made the question an issue in her campaign. We contend that segregation is not a bona-fide issue in the contest for governor. It is a legal issue and has been taken under the jurisdiction of the federal courts. Nothing pro nor con that any candidate says about segregation will have any great bearing on the ultimate disposition of the issue.

Georgia Woman Named To Run for Congress

Associated Press

Mrs. Iris Blitch

HOMERVILLE, Ga., Sept. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Iris Faircloth Blitch is the second woman to win a Democratic nomination for Congress in Georgia.

The 42-year-old wife of a Homerville druggist, Mrs. Blitch defeated young Representative W. M. Wheeler of the Eighth District whom she had charged with lack of party loyalty. She carried thirteen of her district's twenty counties in Wednesday's Democratic primary. Her popular vote was 25,729 in final unofficial returns. Mr. Wheeler received 24,343 votes and a third candidate, Wesley R. Wraggs, had 5,724

Mrs. Blitch is serving her second term as a State Senator and is one of the top leaders in the Herman Talmadge administration. She is Georgia's national Democratic commiteewoman and is one of the eight members of the Democratic National Committee's Executive Committee.

Georgia Confirms Talmadge's Dynasty

LIQUOR, racial segregation in schools, and the pardon racket were platform issues in Georgia's race for the governorship. The real issue, however, was the TALMADGE machine, and it won.

Although three of the nine candidates in the field were "TALMADGE men"—meaning they have been closely associated with Governor HERMAN TALMADGE, only one had the real TALMADGE blessing. He was MARVIN GRIFFIN. His easy win promotes him from Lieutenant Governor to Governor.

Furthermore it seems to indicate that Georgians will vote in November for a constitutional amendment permitting abolition of the public school system, if necessary, to maintain racial segregation. TALMADGE is senior on the idea and the Georgia General Assembly already has approved it, just as Mississippi's did this week, and as Alabama's is in the process of doing.

GRIFFIN was not the only one of eight Georgia candidates flatly endorsing the TALMADGE plan. The ninth, Mrs. GRACE THOMAS, campaigned on a vow to uphold the United States Constitution—meaning that she would work toward desegregation—and nobody ever thought she had a chance. One odd aspect of the latter days of the race was that while the eight segregation candidates were trying to outdo each other on this issue, The Atlantic Journal, supporting Speaker of the House FRED HAND, raised the question whether GRIFFIN wasn't really a desegregationalist in disguise.

In a front page column signed Piney Woods Pete, The Journal remarked: "Of the segregation ruling, MARVIN wrote in his own newspaper (The Bainbridge Post-Searchlight): 'We will buck and raise sand and say we won't but in the end we will have to bend under.' And he's been waving the bloody shirt and hollering 'NIGGER, NIGGER' and in general bucking and raising sand just like he said . . ." This obviously did not impress the voters. Neither did charges that GRIFFIN, while executive secretary for Governor ED RIVERS, had dealt out improper pardons or that he was a great friend of a man described as Georgia's liquor czar.

The name of TALMADGE has flared big and important in Georgia politics ever since 1927, when HERMAN's father, the late EUGENE TALMADGE, took office as secretary of agriculture. Cultivating the rural voters he later called his "wool hat boys" he built up a powerful following in the country counties which, under Georgia's peculiar county unit system, can be counted on to elect a Governor. He ran for that office and won in 1933. He was reelected two years later.

Then he had a losing streak, failing two attempts at the U.S. Senate. His 1940 comeback, however, re-established the TALMADGE legend—a combination of political cunning and high-handedness. He lost again in 1942—this time to ELLIS ARNALL—but had the satisfaction of winning once more in 1946, dying before his inauguration.

Lieut. Governor M. E. THOMPSON (one of those who lost to GRIFFIN this week) claimed the office, but young HERMAN did too—maintaining he had been "elected" by the legislature. By changing the locks in the capital one night, HERMAN's crowd got control of the executive offices but the State Supreme Court frowned on the proceeding and HERMAN withdrew—not for good. He entered the 1948 primary and won hands down.

MARVIN GRIFFIN may not resort to using troops to get his way with fractious officials, as the elder TALMADGE sometimes did, or to changing locks as the younger did, but the segregation issue will furnish fuel to keep his administration hot. And Georgia politics being what they are, it is a safe bet that the TALMADGE name has not faded from the map, and that the TALMADGE machine has now become a dynasty.

A Seal of Approval For the Bond Issue

DIRECTORS of the Louisville Chamber of Commerce are successful businessmen. They know a sound investment when they see one and have no more taste for extravagance with public money than with their own.

So it is that their unanimous endorsement of the $7,500,000 city bond issue for a garbage incineration plant and for street improvements constitutes a certificate of worth. Mayor BROADDUS, himself a former director of the Chamber of Commerce, outlined his plan to the board members. It provides $2,280,000 for top priority street improvements, $3,500,000 for an incineration plant, and $1,720,000 for additional street improvements—a sort of reserve in event federal matching funds become available.

Louisville's sinking fund has assured income enough to retire the bond issue without new taxes. The chamber's taxation committee attested that the issue "is well within the financial capacity of the city." Louisville citizens could ask for no better assurance that the bond issue deserves their votes.

GRIFFIN CARRIES GEORGIA PRIMARY

Talmadge Protege, Adherent of 'White Supremacy,' Wins Over 8 for Governorship

By JOHN N. POPHAM

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Sept. 9—Lieut. Gov. Marvin Griffin today won the Democratic nomination to succeed Gov. Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia on the basis of almost completed returns from yesterday's primary election.

Mr. Griffin swept to an easy victory in a field of nine candidates for the four-year term. In this one-party state, the winner in the Democratic primary is assured of victory in the subsequent general election.

Governor Talmadge, whose term expires next January, could not seek a successive term under Georgia's statutes.

Political circles considered the primary result a powerful demonstration of the strength and efficiency of the organization headed by Mr. Talmadge. Many held that the voting pattern showed that the Governor's forces possessed a cohesion unsurpassed in the state's political history.

Also, political leaders emphasized the significance of the Talmadge organizational strength relative to any plans that the Governor might have in 1956 to seek the United States Senate seat now held by Walter George, the state's senior member of Congress.

Unofficial returns from 1,616 of the state's 1,825 voting precincts indicated a popular vote of 201,164 for Mr. Griffin. This put him in the lead in counties that carried a total of 298 unit votes. To win the primary a contestant required 206 county unit votes out of the total of 410.

Mr. Griffin's closest contender M. E. Thompson, former Acting Governor, an arch political foe of Mr. Talmadge had 135,148 popular votes, or 56 unit votes.

None of the other seven candidates was a factor in the final stages of the contest.

Under Georgia's county unit system, each of the 159 counties has either two, four or six unit votes, depending on its population.

While Governor Talmadge did not publicly support any candidate, it was tacitly understood throughout the campaign that he was giving behind-the-scenes aid to Mr. Griffin, an avowed adherent of Mr. Talmadge's pledge to maintain "white supremacy" and particularly to keep racial segregation in Georgia's public schools.

Mr. Griffin is 47 years old, and a veteran of Army service in the Pacific theater in World War II. He has held many political offices in the state and is publisher of a weekly newspaper in Bainbridge.

The election brought to the forefront of the anti-Talmadge forces a new statewide political personality in State Representative Charles Gowen of Brunswick. He rand fifth in the gubernatorial contest but his scholarly presentation of campaign issues was much discussed.

Another new political figure was Ernest Vandiver, who easily won the nomination to succeed Mr. Griffin as Lieutenant Governor. A former Air Force pilot, 36, Mr. Vandiver is a close personal friend of Governor Talmadge, and his wife is the niece of Senator Richard B. Russell, the most influential politician in the state.

Senator Russell and seven of Georgia's ten Representatives were unopposed in the primary. Representative James C. Davis of the Fifth Congressional District defeated Morris Abram, Atlanta lawyer and prominent Southern liberal, and John J. Flynt, a lawyer from Griffin, bested two opponents in the bid to represent the Fourth Congressional District, a post left vacant by the death of A. Sidney Camp.

Mrs. Iris Blitch, National Democratic Committeewoman, wife of a Homerville durggist, won nomination to represent the Eighth district.

GEORGIA PRIMARY TESTS RACE ISSUE

Voters Select a Successor to Talmadge—Governor's Political Sway at Stake

By JOHN N. POPHAM

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Sept. 8—Georgia voters went to the polls today to select a Democratic nominee to succeed Gov. Herman E. Talmadge, the South's foremost spokesman of "white supremacy."

An estimated 500,000 to 600,000 ballots were expected to be cast. In this one-party state, the winner in the Democratic primary primary is assured of victory in the subsequent general election.

The contest attained broad regional interest in the closing days of the campaign when it became apparent that the powerful political forces led by Governor Talmadge and welded in part by rigid opposition to removal of traditional race barriers were facing a major test for continued state-wide control.

Nine candidates bid for the opportunity to take over the state's administrative reins at the expiration of Governor Talmadge's four-year term next January. Under state law, the Governor cannot hold office for successive terms.

Political circles were generally agreed that on the eve of the election the two front-running candidates appeared to be Lieut Gov. Marvin Griffin, a close Talmadge associate and supporter and a former Acting Governor, M. E. Thompson, a political foe of the incumbent Governor.

Tom Linder, Commissioner of Agriculture, was credited with making great strides among voters in the last two weeks. His rural voting strength, many believed, could either win him the nomination in a last-minute spurt or force Mr. Griffin and Mr. Thompson into a run-off election on Sept. 22.

Mr. Linder is identified as a member of the Talmadge camp, mainly because he has a hard core of followers who adhered for many years to the leadership of Eugene Talmadge, father of Herman. In the current race, however, Mr. Linder has attacked vigorously the record of Herman Talmadge as Governor.

Governor Talmade has not publicly endorsed any candidate, but it is widely understood that he is giving behind-the-scenes aid to Mr. Griffin.

From these developments there stemmed the possibility that the Talmadge administration, one of the richest and most powerful in Georgia history, might lose political control of the Governorship and its political patronage.

Such results, many political circles asserted, would create serious problems for any plans Governor Talmadge might have to seek in 1956 the seat in the United States Senate now held by Walter George.

Another interesting aspect was the racial segregation picture, particularly with regard to Mr. Talmadge's personal role in expressing opposition to the Supreme Court's decision of last May 17 banning public school segregation laws.

Governor Talmadge has said repeatedly that Georgia would never accept any measure of racial integration in public schools. He has asserted that a departure from segregation customs would result in "bloodshed" and that Georgia would boycott the Supreme Court hearing this fall on proposals for implementing the desegregation ruling.

Eight of the nine candidates have promised to maintain public school racial segregation. Mrs. Grace W. Thomas, an Atlanta lawyer and Sunday school teacher, has urged compliance with the court edict, but she is believed to have no chance in the race.

However, many Georgians assert that election of a "non-Talmadge" nominee, while not resulting in any move toward compliance with the court decision, possibly could produce a softer official line and permit church and educational groups to be heard on the matter in a different atmosphere.

Other leading candidates are Fred Hand, Speaker of the Georgia House of Representatives, and State Representative Charles Gowen. Three other candidates, who are not believed to have a chance, are Edmund F. Barfield of Atlanta, Ben Garland of Jackson, and Arthur H. Neeson of Gwinnett County.

To win the first primary, a contestant must get at least 208 of the State's 410 county unit votes. Each of Georgia's 159 counties has either two, four or six unit votes, depending on the size of its population.

Senator Richard B. Russell and seven of Georgia's ten Representatives are unopposed in the primary. There is widespread interest here in the effort of Morris Abram, prominent Southern liberal, to unseat conservative Representative James C. Davis of the Fifth Congressional District, which embraces Atlanta and two neighboring counties.

Griffin Hits Thompson On College Segregation

By CHARLES POU
Journal-Constitution Staff Writer

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Sept. 4—Candidate Marvin Griffin, making two big efforts Saturday to win possibly key voters here in north Georgia, predicted Negroes will enter Georgia colleges within a year if M. E. Thompson is elected.

He threw out that assertion here, in a section where Mr. Thompson's supporters claim great strength, and earlier in Cartersville had this to say:

"I'm going to see to it that the Highway Department builds you some roads in north Georgia. I don't believe you have had your share, but I am going to see that you get them."

MR. GRIFFIN, observing his 47th birthday Saturday, began the week in north Georgia and came back to it for his final Saturday rally. He has touched all sections of the state in the meantime.

He started the week mainly talking about Tom Linder, but concluded it with mention of only one opponent—Mr. Thompson—as he went after both north Georgia and the former acting governor.

But he did make an unnamed reference to Mr. Linder in Gainesville, where he talked to a big crowd at the local park. He said one candidate keeps talking about "fodder-pulling."

His voice rising, he added: "Where I come from it's too late to pull the fodder. We're going to shell the corn next Wednesday—and we ain't got time to shuck nubbins."

That was his only departure from Mr. Thompson.

"I say to you with candor, that if M. E. Thompson is elected governor . . . Negro students will be matriculated at the University of Georgia, and Georgia Tech and other colleges in the university system before next year ends," he declared.

He once more said he personally stands ready to use the state patrol and National Guard to keep classrooms segregated.

And he again declared he is the only candidate who is supporting Gov. Talmadge's "private school" plan amendment. "Those of us who are determined to keep our classrooms separate know that this amendment is our best and only insurance," he said.

"Those who seek to destroy segregation want to hog-tie our General Assembly, but Marvin Griffin is in favor of giving our legislators full authority to protect your interests."

* * *

DISMISSING his other opponents as winners of "possibly seven or eight, or at the most 10 counties," he hurled these charges at Mr. Thompson:

1. That he was "brain-washed" by the Rosenwald Foundation. "I am mad at them," he said. "They took M. E. Thompson, a Georgia boy, and brain-washed him and sent him back here an ultra liberal to change the Georgia way of life."

2. That he is financed by "two big, juicy contractors" and has entered into "a deal" with contractors to junk county road building contracts.

3. That Mr. Thompson is not for segregation. "If he were," said the candidate, "the NAACP newspaper in Atlanta, the Atlanta Daily World, would not have endorsed him three times in a row.

4. That he is promising the same state jobs to different people. Mr. Griffin said in Waynesboro Friday that he personally has not done any job promising.

"M. E. has already promised eight men that he would name them revenue commissioner," said Mr. Griffin, "and every sergeant in the state patrol is going to be director."

Predicting a win on the first ballot, he said a recent poll of justices of the peace showing him ahead in 75 counties was a good indication of it. But he almost doubled the number of counties allotted him by the poll, declaring, "We are confident of a first-ballot victory of 131 counties on election day."

Quits Georgia Council Race After Threats

OCILLA, Ga. — Ernest Davis, a local contractor, canceled his bid for a post on the city council of this South Georgia town following a night of terror.

Davis told reporters last week he entered the race after consulting white officials and citizens who told him they had no objections.

Around midnight of the day he filed, Davis said two men in a police car, one dressed in a patrolman's uniform, visited his house and ordered him and his brother, Curtis, to get into the car.

Davis said they got into the back seat and "the man in uniform told him things had gone far as they could go, threatening to kill the candidate if he went to hell for it.

Davis said the uniformed man pulled out a pistol and fired in the back seat, "the bullet went between me and my brother."

Curtis jumped out of the car and ran across a field, Davis said. After that the driver of the car scuffled with the uniformed man for the pistol and told Davis to get out and go into the house, Davis said.

He said the automobile continually drove back and forth in front of the house all night.

Davis is a veteran of World War II. Five of his brothers have served in the armed forces. He operates a dry cleaning plant in addition to being a contractor.

Staff Photo—Hugh Stova

FIVE OF SIX CANDIDATES DROP NAMES INTO THE POLITICAL HAT

From Left, M. E. Thompson, Fred Hand, Charles Gowen, Ben Garland, Marvin Griffin

5 Candidates Trade Licks On Segregation and Unit

By DERICK DANIELS

Two gubernatorial candidates Wednesday night attacked the record of former Acting Gov. M. E. Thompson as five of the six men in the race met before the television cameras. The attacks were launched by Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin and House Speaker Fred Hand.

Thompson, also on the WSB-TV Press Gallery said the time was too short for discussion of a program or campaign issues and made no reference to his opponents.

The candidates reiterated their stands against mixing races in Georgia schools.

Hand, in the first attack on Thompson, said:

" . . . Thompson, contrary to his repeated promise to the people . . . is the man who vetoed the white primary in 1946. In 1947 he promised the county unit system would be written into the Georgia Constitution, and then turned around and wrote in his personal newspaper in May, 1951:

"'This county unit system in general elections and primaries is wrong.' "

Hand went on: "I say nobody knows what M. E. Thompson is for or what he is against."

Hand also turned a few scathing phrases in the direction of Griffin. He said:

"Our lieutenant governor has spewed fire and brimstone . . . declaring that he will maintain segregation regardless of the Supreme Court decision. He is also the same man who on Sept. 14, 1950, wrote in his newspaper, the Bainbridge Post-Searchlight: 'Georgia will have to abide by decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court. We will buck and raise sand and say we won't, but in the end, we will have to bend under.' "

Griffin charged that "the Atlanta press" has attempted to play down and minimize the two uppermost issues, which, he said, are segregation of schools and the county unit system.

"NEGRO VOTE"

Griffin in his attack on candidate Thompson said he received the Negro bloc vote in 1946, 1948, 1950 and "is scheming the best he can" to get it Sept. 8. The lieutenant governor also touched on Thompson's veto of the white primary "with no explanation" and attributed to Thompson a statement to the effect that the county unit system is "wrong."

Thompson, who outlined his campaign itinerary to the TV audience and called for volunteer campaigners, touched only for a moment on the segregation question. He said:

"On Friday I will present a definite plan for the protection of segregated schools to the Georgia Education Commission."

GOWEN PLAN

Candidate Charles Gowen of Glynn County repeated his plan for maintaining segregated schools and his disapproval of Gov. Talmadge's private school plan which, he said, "would deprive our children and grandchildren of an adequate education."

In answer to a question by Constitution Political Editor M. L. St. John, Gowen said he would not allow "deadwood" employes of the state to hide behind the merit system. He said this "deadwood" would be cleared out to save money which would be applied to teachers' salaries.

He added that he would respect the merit system as protection for necessary employes. Gowen also said he would "end chiseling and tax dodging" and reduce overhead in the state executive department if he is elected. "It is unfair," he said, "for a favored few not to pay taxes."

"WHISKY CROWD"

Lashing out at the "whisky crowd," candidate Ben Garland said, "If the people of Georgia want to close every liquor store in the state and return to democracy as far as the liquor problem is concerned, I am their man."

He charged that 27 wet counties now impose their will upon the 132 other counties.

Garland again put forward his proposal to give the veterans of World War II and the Korean War a $40,000,000 bonus to be financed over a 10-year period.

Garland said he favors a loan shark law with "teeth," liberalization of workmen's compensation and an adequate program of education to eliminate shanty schools and provide better teacher pay. He said he favors the doctrine of separate but equal school facilities for the races.

He favors application of the sales tax on the wholesale level, Garland said, adding that such a plan would increase state revenue $25,000,000 a year.

The sixth announced candidate, Agriculture Commissioner Tom Linder, declined an invitation to appear on the program.

Ralph McGill, editor of The Constitution, was moderator of the 30-minute panel discussion where each candidate was allotted three minutes for a statement. One question was put to each candidate by M. L. St. John.

Gowen Says Ellis Arnall Will Influence Ex-Gov. Thompson

Charges that Former Acting Gov. M. E. Thompson would be a "peppet of ex-governors" and has the "support of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People" have enlivened the gubernatorial race as it moved down to the wire of that September 8 primary.

Charlie Gowen said at Sandersville that Georgians shouldn't be fooled into electing a governor who will be a puppet of ex-governors Mr. Thompson he accused, would let former governor Ellis Arnall and former governor Ed. Rivers influence his (Thompson's) administration.

Candidate Fred Hand offered a supposed NAACP endorsement of Thompson by producing a letter from H. D. Thomas, a businessman of Thomasville.

Hand cited the letter as "proof" of the support of Thompson by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People which he said was instructing Thomasville Negroes on how to vote.

The letter he showed — a photostatic reproduction carried no designation of any organization but was signed "H. D. Thomas, group leader."

Gubernatorial candidate Marvin Griffin shaved the nine-man gubernatorial field down to himself and Former Acting Governor M. E. Thompson and insisted that votes for splinter candidates were being thrown away and stood on his pledge to maintain segregation and the county unit system.

Griffin hammered away at the thesis that "If you want a governor who is opposed to segregation, the county unit and is subserviant to the NAACP then, to vote for M. E. Thompson.

"If you want Thompson," Griffin cried, "vote for him. That's your privilege. But don't beat around the bush and waste your votes on Tom Linder and these splinter candidates."

Griffin supporters said Revenue Commissioner Charles D. Redwine may be the next prominent political figure to endorse the lieutenant governor. Dixon Oxford, a member of the State Highway Board, came out for Mr. Griffin this week after a lengthy conference with Governor Herman Talmadge.

Tom Linder told listeners that "It is too late for any official or anybody else to endorse a candidate for governor, but the time is just right for fodder pulling."

Referring to an Effingham caucus to merger Linder, Griffin and Hand votes to beat Thompson, he said "it won't happen. Oil and water don't mix."

34a(2) 1954

Thompson, Hand Backer Made Deal, Griffin Says

By M. L. ST. JOHN
Constitution Political Editor

SWAINSBORO, Aug. 24—Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin Tuesday charged that Speaker pro tem George Smith of Swainsboro, although helping to manage Fred Hand's gubernatorial campaign, has "made a deal" with gubernatorial candidate M. E. Thompson for the post of House speaker.

Addressing a crowd in Smith's home town, Griffin said:

"George Smith is my friend, and I am not coming into his home town and attack the honesty or his integrity or his standing in the community.

"But I do say this: he and Roy Harris have made themselves a deal. Although they are managing Fred Hand's campaign, they have a clear understanding with M. E. Thompson."

Then, Griffin added:

ROY HARRIS

"Only a few months ago, M. E. Thompson and George Smith left Swainsboro to go to Augusta to see Roy Harris and work out the deal. I would not object to George being speaker of the House, but he cannot get it by backing Fred in the daytime and M. E. at night."

Asked by a reporter later if he was specifically charging Smith had made a deal for the House speakership, Griffin replied: "Yes."

He predicted Harris will stick to Hand until "the last bean is gone in the commissary" and "then he will rush to Thompson."

Griffin turned his guns on the Atlanta newspapers for their current attack on candidate Thompson—attacks which Griffin contends are for the purpose of confusing the people.

"The Atlanta papers backed Thompson in 1948 and again in 1950," Griffin said. "The stuff they are getting mad with him about now occurred before the 1950 election. Thompson has not had any public record since the Atlanta papers supported him in 1950. They are just trying to confuse people by subterfuge."

PROTECT SEGREGATION

He predicted Georgians will not be "bull-dozed" and forecast they will elect him on the first ballot to protect segregation.

Tuesday night, Griffin spoke at Sylvania.

He promised to open a factory to be operated by the physically handicapped so they can support themselves. It would be patterned after the Georgia Factory for the Blind.

At Sylvania Griffin was introduced by Rep. Colbert Hawkins. Hawkins praised the lieutenant governor as a fair and impartial presiding officer.

Griffin Lays Side Deal to Hand Man

Marvin Griffin Tuesday fired a new charge at the Fred Hand political campaign when he charged that House Speaker pro tem George Smith, assisting in the Hand campaign, has made a side deal with M. E. Thompson.

Griffin Out, Hand Says As He Assails Thompson

By DERICK DANIELS
Constitution Staff Writer

GRIFFIN, Aug. 24—Fred Hand, engineering his campaign train south Tuesday, blew a full-whistle warning to voters along the wayside to stop, look and listen for a candidate "who will not besmirch the good record of Georgia."

Attempting to shunt Marvin Griffin onto a siding in the governor's race at the first political whistlestop on the track south, Hand told a radio audience:

"Now we've got to attend to Mr. M. E. Thompson."

CHARGES MADE

Shoveling coal into the boiler, he charged that Thompson during his tenure as acting governor "let a notorious racketeer sell millions of dollars worth of liquor in dry counties."

Hand made the accusation that Thompson's highway contracts were "shady."

Later in the day in two television appearances in Macon, Hand charged that Thompson and Griffin were sending rumormongers across the state to confuse the voters.

But, Hand said, "the people are fast finding out the truth and rallying to my cause."

Hand repeated his ridicule of Griffin's plan to maintain school segregation by increasing school boards to 100 members and by barring out-of-state students for one year. He challenged Griffin to explain how such a plan could preserve segregation, and said Griffin is "ashamed" to talk further about the plan.

He promised the voters a trade four years of consecrated service in return for your time and effort in the remainder of the campaign.

SAYS GRIFFIN OUT

Griffin is out, Hand said, because his stand as Ed Rivers' "faithful lackey caught up with him." He said the people had forgotten and had to be reminded that Griffin "issued all those hundreds of pardons to criminals all over Georgia and that he pardoned himself."

Smith denied the charge in Atlanta and called Griffin an "unscrupulous liar." He said he was supporting Hand "without reservation."

Tom Linder, meanwhile, proposed legislation which would control meetings of the NAACP and other "organizations outside the state" which he said incited racial problems and Charlie Gowen inserted a new plank in his platform, pledging to restock Georgia fishing streams if elected.

NEED BUSINESSMAN

In Griffin, House Speaker Fred Hand told an audience that a "safe and sane" businessman was needed to give the industrialists and investors confidence in the state. He said they would not trust a state which had for its governor a man who was mixed up in pardon or liquor rackets.

M. E. Thompson, ignoring barbs thrown at him by Griffin and Hand, reiterated his pledge to maintain separate schools and oppose toll road legislation.

LIAR

Griffin made his charge against Smith while addressing a group in Smith's home town of Swainsboro. He said Smith was a "friend" but that he made a deal with Thompson to become House Speaker in the event Thompson is elected. "He can't get it by backing Fred in the daytime and M. E. at night," Griffin said.

Smith, contacted in Atlanta, said:

"Marvin Griffin is an unscrupulous liar. Fred Hand has been my friend for over 10 years and the people of my county know that I am supporting him without reservation because I know him to be the best qualified man in the race."

Hand told his Griffin listeners during a radio speech that industry and investors must be guaranteed that they will have a government they can trust and one which will be stable. He said they would not have any trust in the state if they elected a governor who "has a reputation of being mixed up in a pardon racket" or who "operated a liquor racket when he was in office."

Speaking in Rome and Carrollton, Linder said Georgia's school troubles were not originated by white or colored people in Georgia but from outside the state. He named the NAACP as one of the organizations and proposed a law which would prevent such organizations from holding meetings without a permit from the governor.

Charlie Gowen Thursday plans to take his Talkathon to Macon for a 15-hour session of chatting with voters and answering questions. Hand announced he will address a rally at Warner Robins Thursday at 8:15 p.m. and Linder will appear on a program in Dillard with all candidates for agriculture commissioner Wednesday.

Gowen bore down on his alle-

Mrs. Thomas Hits "Anti Segregation" Label

Former Acting Gov. M. E. Thompson cited the migration of Georgia farm families to urban centers as a key plank in his platform as he continued to bring home the dominant issues of the campaign while ignoring the frantic mud-slinging of his opponents.

Thompson insists that declining farm population in the small rural counties of the state jeopardized their existence and measures should be placed before the Legislature which would make rural life more attractive and guarantee the farmer an income in keeping with that obtained by industrial workers in metropolitan centers.

He said Georgia's most pressing need is for small industry to locate

Mrs. Grace Thomas expressed resentment in an Atlanta newspaper on being dubbed the "anti-segregation candidate."

Mrs. Thomas wrote: "I am not offering on a platform of segregation or anti-segregation. I have clearly stated, in writing and orally, that:

(a) The Constitution of the United States must be upheld inviolable maintain law and order.

(b) That each branch of the government must be respected.

CITES MIGRATION

The First Big Test Of Our Political Intelligence

We started out with this campaign to show and prove to our people that segregation was not and could not be an issue in this gubernatorial contest. We held, along with other reasonable thinkers, that it was a legal question and had been accordingly dealt with by the constituted court whose business and function in government were to interpret and say what the law is and what the law is not. Therefore, it had no place on a campaign stump, although the strategists who set up this campaign, sought skillfully and unceasingly to make it so.

It has been seen in the public press and heard over radio and TV, that many people are still confused and are led to think that they are voting for or against segregation, when such is not the case.

Georgians have no excuse for being misled by these strategists, who know that the real issue is just what it was in 1948 and 1950. It is to beat the candidate who exploits — racial prejudice.

Up in our sister state, Tennessee, segregation was hardly mentioned. In the governor's race there it was so negligibly injected, that few people heard about it and the candidate who attempted its use got only some 14 thousand votes, to his opponent's some three hundred thousands. This strange ratio shows just where the people in Tennessee stood and how they felt about a legal issue attempting the province of a political contest. They have shown conclusively that race-baiting does not pay off up in Tennessee and thereby set an example for all future candidates, that if they would have the suffrage of those bold scions of the coon-cap, they must come by the way of real issues. That is as it should be.

The people of Georgia are met with the same opportunity.

For the record's sake, be it stated here, that had former Governor Thompson gone before the commission setting up this condition, he would not have had a ghost of a chance in this great race that he is avowedly leading today. In spite of the position he took, which hardly had an option, his record in the governorship and his broad spirit have made him a terror to those who mean to ride in on a program of intolerance and race-baiting. Those who noted the position in which the candidates were thrust, now see clearly that the whole thing was a political trick, meant for the elimination of the former governor in this gubernatorial campaign. The people will not fall for the trick and their sympathy goes out for those who had to come into this situation in which it took fire to fight fire.

Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin has drawn the racial line. He reserved for himself among the various candidates, preference in who would be the most severe in a crisis which requires sanity and serious thinking and planning.

Here is our real test of our political intelligence. We will show now by our votes, whether race-bating still pays off in a political campaign. If we stand this test, we will, like our sister Tennessee, write off one of the most destructible menaces that ever confronted the people of this state.

in the state's rural areas and provide job for persons being driven off farms by declining farm prices and mechanization.

He said his administration would work to locate new industries throughout the state.

TALMADGE SUPPORT

Meanwhile, Gov. Herman Talmadge put his faction behind Marvin Griffin by accusing Fred Hand of lying.

Talmadge stepped into the feud between Hand and Griffin, his legislative leaders for the past six years, after Hand said the pardon granted Griffin in 1941 was temporarily removed from records in the governor's office.

Talmadge, in support of Griffin, said, "whoever says the record in the Executive Department, has been tampered with or removed or anything else is lying."

Talmadge's blast at Hand, plus his recent statement that he has complete trust in Griffin, makes it clear that he wants Griffin who is on record as warning "White votes only."

Some political observers believe Talmadge will eventually stump for Griffin, citing a precedent set by the late Eugene Talmadge, who campaigned for Charlie Redwine when Redwine attempted to succeed him in 1936.

While Talmadge was entering the fray on behalf of Griffin, Fred Hand put in a bid for Talmadge and anti-Talmadge votes by asking for votes "on both side the fence."

Hand said: "Georgians are tired of this political feuding. And this present race offers them their first opportunity in a quarter of a century to end it."

Charlie Gowen stepped up the pace of his campaign by stating "voters are tired of hearing political orations about segregation. If the politicians will leave us alone, we can keep segregation in our schools without any trouble."

Thompson meanwhile picked up more editorial support. The Macon Teleraph said in anouncing support for him: "Without any prior commitment. The Telegraph has during the first half of this campaign studied and analyzed the type of race each candidate is offering for administration of state affairs. The principles he has espoused and the record he has made in previous public service...has carefully, analytically and objectively and without haste come to the conclusion it is...'Melvin Thompson.'"

Borders, Pinkston, Other Top Leaders Back M. E. Thompson

Two top churchmen, along with three other Negro civic and political leaders, have come out with open endorsement of M. E. Thompson for the governorship.

In an open letter to the Negro voters of Georgia, Rev. William Holmes Borders, head of the Georgia Baptist Missionary and Educational convention and Rev. L. A. Pinkston, vice president of the National Baptist Convention, threw their support to M. E. Thompson for governor here this week.

In addition to Rev. Borders and Rev. Pinkston, Attorney A. T. Walden, President of the Georgia Association of citizens Democratic Clubs; Rev. [illegible] George, president of the Atlanta Baptist Ministers Union and Walter "chief" Aiken, president of the Fulton County Citizens Democratic Club, endorsed the former acting governor.

The churchmen, civic and business leaders said in a written endorsement:

"As we approach the Democratic Primary September 8th, we felt that a statement should be made concerning the candidates, and the one candidate for governor, who in our opinion would serve the best interest of all the people of the state of Georgia."

The leaders went on to say that there has been much confusion in this primary election and that many attempts have been made to divide the vote. They charged that the issues in this campaign is the same as it was in 1948 and 1950, the days during which "race-baiting candidates," defeat churchmen and leaders added:

The churchmen made an excellent record while acting governor in a great political sacrifice, vetoed the so-called "White Primary Bill. This was a bill which was aimed at circumventing the Supreme Court decision, giving Negroes the right to vote in the Democratic Primary."

The leaders further that M. E. Thompson has generally conducted a campaign of high order and has not injected the race issue per se.

"We are therefore, asking the Negro voters to support M. E. Thompson, as the one candidate who has a chance of winning and who is opposed to race baiting politics," they added.

Flynt, Wheeler Pledge No Appeal On Racial Basis

John J. Flynt, candidate for Congress from the Fourth District, has signed the League of Women Voters tolerance pledge to refrain from appealing to racial or religious prejudice in his campaign.

William M. (Don) Wheeler, candidate for Congress from the Eighth District, also wired the League that he would be "happy to sign the pledge."

The pledge is designed to "obtain greater dignity and morality in Georgia's political campaign."

Dr. L. M. Huff, who is a candidate for Public Service Commissioner, has signed the pledge. It was erroneously reported in Wednesday's Constitution that he had not signed it.

34a(2) 1954

GEORGIA

MacRae, Lowe Quit Contests As Campaign Deadline Nears

A down-to-wire mass meeting at Wheat Street Baptist Church tonight at 8 o'clock will climax a series of mass meetings sponsored under the auspices of the Fulton Citizens Democratic Club. Attention will be directed towards county, state and congressional races at this wrap-up voter get-together

Voters who attend the rally at Wheat Street Church tonight will hear the real meaning for the withdrawals of two candidates in the current election. Announcing their withdrawals yesterday were William C. MacRae, running for DeKalb County Commissioner and Wyman C. Lowe, a candidate for Congress.

Area voters will have their last opportunity to hear and see the candidates state their platforms before tomorrow's all important elections which will have direct bearing on Georgia's future for the next four years.

Walter H. (Chief) Aiken, president of the Fulton Citizens Democratic Club, will preside at tonight's meeting. A similar rally under the sponsorship of the Fulton County Organizing Committee will be in progress at Big Bethel A. M. E. Church.

LEADERS EXPECTED

A number of Atlanta's outstanding leaders will be in the forefront of the election eve rally at Wheat Street. In addition to Mr. Aiken on the platform and in the auidence will be Atty. Austin T. Walden, Rev. W. W. Weatherspool, Dr. William Holmes Borders, Dr. Benjamin Joseph Johnson, Rev. D. T. George, Rev. W. M. Jackson, C. A. Scott, Dr. L. A. Pinkston, Atty. J. C. Daugherty, Rev. R. B. Shorts and J. W. Dobbs and other key citizens.

An announcement will be made as to the approval of candidates will be made at this final rally. This information will be for the enlightment of citizens as they go to the polls Wednesday.

Leaders point out the issues are the same in the gubernatorial race as it was in '48 and '50 when the Negro vote concentrated against race and those who would exploit the race for selfish purposes.

Atty. D. L. Hollowell will preside at the voter rally at Big Bethel. Last night Charlie Gowen appeared under the auspices of the State Oranizing Committee at West Hunter Baptist Church, Rev. A. F. Fisher, pastor.

This was the first time that a gubernatorial candidate has appeared at a city-wide mass meeting for Negro voters. He stated that he welcomed the support of Negroes as citizens as he will be governor of all the people of Georgia without special commitments to anyone.

He is also scheduled to appear at the Big Bethel meeting tonight.

John Wesley Dobbs sponsored a rally at Big Bethel AME Church where a plea was made for the support of Mrs. Grace Thomas.

He told those present to vote the way they think as they have a right to do so, then stated that in the gubernatorial race, he will cast his vote for Mrs. Grace Wilkey Thomas.

"She is the only candidate in the race who has said she will uphold the United States Constitution," he declared.

LEAGUE ENDORSEMENT

The Atlanta Negro Voters League has endorsed Former Acting Gov. Melvin E. Thompson and tonight a last minute appeal in his behalf will be made. Simply put, the Fulton County Democratic Club says the prime issue is that of opposition to the reactionary Talmadge regime.

M. E. Thompson, the League points out is the only candidate that can beat the machine. and remove race baiting, inflamatory pronouncements and vitrolic anti-Negro utterances from future campaigns.

The cleavage in the Talmadge ranks, according to spokesmen has been demonstrated by the three Talmadge faction candidates—Fred Hand, Tom Linder and Marvin Griffin—in the race.

A united vote in favor of Thompson, they say ,would remove the race issue once and for all from state politics.

A million, two hundred thousand persons are eligible to vote in Wednesday's state and congressional elections and leaders emphasize that race vote solidarity will have an important bearing on the outcome.

Atlanta Negroes Seek 500,000 Signatures Against Candidate Attacking U. S. Supreme Court

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 12 — A committee of 100 Atlanta Negroes have called on Georgians to repudiate any candidate for office who proposes to defy the Supreme Court segregation ruling or who uses appeal to racial prejudice.

The committee will try to get the signatures of 500,000 persons in support of its campaign before the Sept. 8 primary.

